"There's an enormous amount of information about this woman that seems to be missing, yet all we deleted were the eyes," Conrad said.

It's as if one is seeing into people's brain and to their soul, which isn't too far off the mark.

Conrad explained how the brain encapsulates the eye, to a point almost cup-like.

"The next time you look into someone's eyes, you can say 'I see your brains,'" he half-jokingly said.

Establishing the importance of the eye in both delivering and receiving the power of art, Conrad presented in the latter part of his lecture an inventive device that could revolutionize the way blind people view art.

"We can do better," Conrad said, referring to crude Braille art images used by some museums for outreach to blind people. "Why not produce more detail?"

His proposal can be split into two devices.

Conrad's first device would function similarly to a conventional copier only producing what Conrad calls crinkly three-dimensional art reproductions in either punched metal, a shrunken plastic or a special paper. The second device would take the 3-D image one step further by adding the element of color.

"How do you tell anyone what color is?" Conrad asked, setting up his proposal to create the second device, which would function by either creating warm and cool temperatures or assorted sounds that would suggest varying

• See ART Page 8

▶ K-STATE-SALINA

Technology class designs new packaging system

Dave Katzer
staff reporter

A wrong number turned into a class project for two engineering professors and their students at K-State-Salina this semester.

Dinah Terrill, co-owner of Dinah's Noodles Inc. in Clyde thought she was calling the Small Business Development Center this summer when she reached Greg Spaulding, assistant professor of mechanical engineering technology. As it turned out, the noodle company was looking for help with its automation processes, and Spaulding was just the person the company was looking for.

Spaulding and another K-State-Salina professor, Richard LeBoeuf, associate professor of mechanical and electronic engineering technology, each involved one of their classes in the project.

Spaulding's design technology class is designing a system for packaging frozen noodles. When completed, the system will replace the three-person system with an automated machine that will shake flour and ice crystals off the noodles, weigh the desired amount of noodles and then load them into the machine for packaging.

The class of 23 is nearly done with its part of the project.

"There's still a few questions left to be answered, but we hope to deliver some working equipment," Spaulding said.

LeBoeuf's industrial instrumentation and controls class has already finished its portion of the project, which was to increase the speed of the packaging machine. LeBoeuf and his three students traveled to Dinah's Noodles and reprogrammed the packaging machine. This resulted in 50-percent higher production of the machine.

"We primarily work in the lab, but are always looking to incorporate real-world projects," LeBoeuf said.

Spaulding, who has been working within industry for the last 12 years, said the projects are important.

"One of the things I wanted to accomplish was a strong tie between industry and academics," Spaulding said.

Spaulding said the project taught his students how real problems don't always have one correct answer, as lab-oriented projects often do.

Board of Student Publications discusses opening satellite office

Chad Helin
staff reporter

The Board of Student Publications voted to begin discussions about Student Publications Inc.'s opening a satellite office in the K-State Student Union.

Patrick Carney, chairman of the board, said the space could be used to sell the Royal Purple and advertisements, and to answer general questions.

The discussions between Ron Johnson, director of Student Publications, and Union director Bernard Pitts would begin negotiations.

"Basically, we could offer a better location than Kedzie," Carney said.

Johnson said he would meet with Carney before contacting Pitts and then begin talks as soon as possible.

Carney presented the rough draft of a proposal that would place a negative check-off box for the Royal Purple on tuition statements beginning as early as fall 1997.

This would mean students would pay to receive the yearbook unless they checked the box on their statement.

The board passed the proposal with the stipulation that more changes need to be made by Carney and agreed something needs to be done now that the University has gone to mail-in fee payments.

Carney said the University is looking into other possibilities, but the board hopes to sell the yearbook with a check-off box on the statement the way athletic tickets might be sold.

Carney spoke out against board members for discussing the article that ran in the Dec. 6 issue of the Collegian concerning the arrest of Student Senator Chris Avila.

"As chairman, I do not feel, nor will I ever feel, it is this board's responsibility to discuss the content of the Collegian," he said.

Carney said the Collegian runs stories about DUIs, rapes and other things that the board doesn't discuss, and this should be no different.

He also pointed out that the reporter is a third victim who is not being considered by those who are upset.

"She didn't perform the act. She didn't complain to the police," Carney said. "She reported on a story that was in a police blotter, which is public information."

A bundle of choices for your bundle of joy!

Childbirth Preparation Classes
Our certified childbirth educators can help prepare you for labor, birth and early parenthood. We offer six week courses and a four hour refresher course. Included is a guided tour of our newly remodeled Birthplace. Call 587-5413 for fees and times.

Getting Fit for Motherhood
This aerobics program is specially designed for pregnant and postpartum women and is facilitated by a certified aerobics instructor. Access to our Fitness Center is also available. You may enroll at anytime in your pregnancy or postpartum with your doctor's approval. Call the Mercy Health and Fitness Center at 587-5485 for fees and times.

Nature's Way Breastfeeding Class
Breastfeeding success begins with education. Our international board certified lactation consultants and certified breastfeeding educators are trained to assist breastfeeding families in all stages of lactation. The Nature's Way Breastfeeding Class is offered monthly to expectant couples and those with new arrivals. Call 587-5413 for times.

Breastfeeding Support
Breastfeeding mothers seeking support or assistance can contact our staff of international board certified lactation consultants and certified breastfeeding educators. If you are returning to work or to school and wish to continue breastfeeding, we can help you develop an individualized plan of care to meet your personal breastfeeding goals. Call 587-4264 or 776-3300, extension 314, for more information. After hours, call 776-3300, extension 314.

Sibling Classes
This class helps to prepare children ages three and older to welcome a new sister or brother. Call 587-5413 for times.

CPR and First Aid Training
CPR and first aid training is offered for parents and expectant parents, day care providers, babysitters, grandparents, and teachers. Call 587-5413 for times and fees.

Every New Mom
Every new mom receives a diaper bag and baby's first T-shirt.

High Risk Obstetric and Neonatal Intensive Care
The Birthplace is the only service of its kind in a 60-mile radius of Manhattan, providing expert care for mothers, well babies, premature babies, and babies with medical complications.

Call Maurenne Griese, RNC, BSN, Certified Childbirth and Breastfeeding Educator, at 587-5413 for more information or to register for a class.

MERCY HEALTH CENTER OF MANHATTAN
Mercy Health Center on Sunset
1105 Sunset Avenue
Manhattan, KS 66502
(913) 776-3300

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
• Free pregnancy testing
• Totally confidential service
• Same day results
Located across from campus
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5

American Legion
BINGO
Sunday 2 p.m.
Tuesday 1:30 p.m.
Wednesday 7:30 p.m.
$1 per card
Up to 300 Cards Played

Dilly's Deli
Graduating?
Get your meat and cheese trays.
Call about prices.
537-5113
1219 Bluemont • Aggieville

Help fill the Flint Hills Breadbasket.

From now through December 1996, for every canned good you bring to 103 Kedzie, we'll give you 50 cents off a Collegian classified ad.* Student Publications Inc. will donate all items to the Flint Hills Breadbasket as part of the Cats for Cans food drive.

Just fill out this form and take it to 103 Kedzie to place your classified ad. Deadline for classified ads is noon the day before publication. The last day to place classified ads this semester is Dec. 12.

(*Value of cans cannot exceed cost of ad.)

Name_____
I.D. number_____
Address_____
Phone number_____
Message (No last names or phone numbers accepted in personals)_____

kansas state COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie (east of the Union) 532-6555

Reserve Your Place at Our Graduation Buffet
On December 14, the Holidome will feature their annual Graduation Buffet from 11:30 a.m.- 2:30p.m. & 5-9p.m.
Come & Enjoy
•Carved Prime Rib
•Create-your-own Pasta
•Peel and Eat Shrimp
•5 Entrees
•2 Vegetables
•Array of Delectable Deserts
Reservations are recommended
Adults $12.95 Children(6-12) $5.95
Sr. Citizens $10.95 Children 5-under free
Holiday Inn
530 Richards Dr. 539-5311

Hair Experts Design Team
Santa's Bag Deal!
25% Off
Anything you can fit in the bag!
Includes:
• Hair Care Products
• Skin Care Products
• Styling Tools
All Gift Certificates 10% Off
1323 Anderson Ave. 776-4455

kansas state collegian

OPINION

IN OUR OPINION

Football team's success should not make gods

Football is not God.

Sure, it's fun to watch, and sometimes it's the only decent way to occupy a Monday night. But as K-State works its way toward becoming a football powerhouse in the Big 12 and in the nation, it's time to re-examine our attitudes toward our own team.

WHY WE CARE

In light of the football team's success, K-State should keep perspective and ensure team members are not allowed special treatment.

When some people think of Notre Dame and Nebraska, they think of football, and our neighbors to the east are known for their basketball team. If K-State continues on its current path, and if the team ever beats Nebraska, football will become even more powerful on this campus.

On football-intensive campuses across the nation, players and coaches are sometimes treated differently and afforded more consideration than so-called ordinary students. At some colleges within our conference, football mania reaches a fever pitch every weekend.

Although it seems the days of football players driving around in new Porsches are over and might never arrive at K-State, it sometimes seems football stars are the squeaky wheels that get the grease.

Sure, they have a special talent, but so do chemical-engineering students who complete a rigorous program in four years and graduate on the path to a much better life. If recognizing such achievements has become less important than football, K-State needs to take a second look at its priorities.

Football does benefit the school, bringing in millions of dollars and putting Manhattan in the spotlight. No one can deny that. And that's great. On New Year's Day in Dallas, the stands should be filled with purple, and our best players should show Brigham Young how it's done in Manhattan.

But when our main concern is who's going to be able to play in the Cotton Bowl, and not whether our football players remain good ambassadors of the school and role models to future K-Staters, our perspective has gotten out of whack.

If we're someday going to be on a par with Florida or Notre Dame on the field, let's make sure we still look like K-State off the field — the same K-State where things other than football and basketball will bring students recognition.

Because, in the end, it's just a game.

In Our Opinion, an editorial discussed and chosen by a majority of the editorial board, is written by the editorial board. For information on who is an editorial board member or how you can become a member, contact Sera Tank at (karolyi@ksu.edu).

Student teaching grants rewards long-term friendships couldn't

MYVIEW

Christy LITTLE

I am graduating Saturday. All the signs are there.

1. My mom ran off with my graduation announcements. I haven't seen them since.

2. My friends and I are comparing tassel colors.

3. People are sending me gifts with apples on them. Apple calendars, apple earrings, apple socks.

You could probably guess what I'm going to be when I grow up (a point in maturity I will reach when I am able to take control of my own graduation announcements). I'm going to be a teacher.

Listing things is an especially effective way to communicate with high-school students. Listing is only one of many changes in my life these last six months. Truthfully, though I have loved every day of student teaching, my life has gone through the equivalent of personal hell the last six months.

I could go as far as to say only teaching has pulled me out of a funk from which I was certain I could not return.

This is best explained by telling you a little bit about my summer.

I worked at an exclusive girls' camp in Maine this last summer. It was a promising job: I would create the biweekly newsletter and supervise a cabin of 13-year-old girls for eight weeks. The girls were fine, for 13-year-olds. They were the high points of my summer.

I worked for a beautiful, rich princess going through menopause all summer.

She questioned everything I did and suggested I had no talent. I was an idiot from Kansas at her disposal. And as the camp director's wife, she could send me home at any whim during the eight weeks.

I am excellent at accepting criticism. You have to be, working at the Collegian for three years, being bullied by your professors about an article in front of 300 people.

But as this woman slowly broke down, being sent on little vacations to Marthas Vineyard to pull herself together, she was taking me with her.

My ego didn't know its right from its left. And as a maternal figure for a clan of lonely girls who had been dropped off as mom and dad headed for Italy, I couldn't let my growing insecurity penetrate that bunk. I went running every day so I could burst into tears in complete privacy.

I watched my life back home crumble away. My friends muttered excuses after I cried to them on the phone, begging off to return to work. My closest friends were involved in enough turmoil that I couldn't bog them down. And my so-called love life took a turn out of a sick, late-night soap opera. Even worse, spiraling from my exciting love life, the comments of other friends were coming back to me. It seemed all my acquaintances were rejoicing in my misery.

I returned home alive, though I did nothing but cry for days. I was going into student-teaching, where I would be evaluated, watched and judged for four straight months. I would probably be razzed to death by a bunch of 16-year-olds.

My ego was a disaster. As the first day of school approached, I wished any physical ailment upon me so that I would not have to go, fearful that the face of the princess was behind the mask of any of my superiors. Meanwhile, the nasty comments and snubs continued to roll in from Manhattan.

I can be thankful for having the kindest, smartest, gentlest teachers alive to work for. I have no idea if I came in acting like the emotional wreck I was, but I simply could not have been treated better if anyone tried.

I sought their respect and friendship and began to forget about people who hurt me. And the students were something else. While I had to win their respect, I wasn't initially treated in any way that would have sent me running and bawling from the classroom as I feared.

I realized the basis of many of my former friendships had to do with trying to make people like me. I wanted them to think I was fun, thoughtful, attractive. I wanted to be noticed. I wanted to be admired.

With the students, I think I took very much a background role. I felt good when they wanted my advice, and I respected them when they didn't take it. I loved encouraging them and giving compliments.

Students get a sparkle in their eye when they ace a test. They run up to you and say, "Look! Look what I did! Thanks so much!"

My life had changed to where I found I much preferred making others happy and noticed rather than trying for all the attention myself.

Of these last six months, I would not relive a minute outside the classroom if someone put a gun to my head. But slowly, through people who loved me enough to help me when I fell low, through the constructive criticism of women I truly admired, and through the lives of my students — Kristen, Brad, Ian, Scott, Jana, Adam, you're the very best — I face the future with a new outlook and a peaceful calm that I am going to enjoy the rest of my life.

I will enjoy it because I am a teacher.

Christy Little is a senior in secondary education English/journalism.

Attic treasures form beauty perspective

MATT HAWKINS/Collegian

MY VIEW

Keely SCHIELDS

And now, more on the weaker sex.

Not too long ago, I was at home rummaging through the attic, where my family stores all manner of clothing we should just throw away. It doesn't seem terribly likely that we'll figure out any further use for acid-washed jeans that would squeeze the slim hips of a junior-high-aged boy or for the sport coats my dad was wearing around the time I was born.

But then, fashion is cyclical, and you never know when a relic will become a treasure — like that old, fitted wool blazer of my mom's. This particular blazer probably hadn't parted with its hanger since Nancy Reagan became first lady, yet it slipped off easily enough.

It didn't slip on quite so easily.

The blazer fit like a dream through the body, accentuating the curve of my waist and flaring at the bottom to allow freedom of the hips. The sleeves stopped at just the right spot past my wrists. However, they were simply too tight in the upper arms.

I pulled the blazer off again and looked at the tag. To my horror, it was a size 10. I've never been any size 10 — especially not on the top half. Whoever had sized that blazer had to have been mistaken.

When I went to my mom and expressed my disbelief, she offered her theory that sizes had changed over the years. Overall, women were getting bigger — taller, more muscular — and clothing sizes had grown right along with them.

I buy that — and it strikes me as something good.

It's encouraging to see clothing sizes have grown along with the physical fitness of women. Certainly, women have become more athletic over the past 20 years. In terms of lifetime health, regular exercise is probably the best thing to happen to women since contraception.

On the whole, women today are physically stronger than their mothers and grandmothers. That might strike you as an unimportant type of strength until you consider how closely intertwined it is with mental, spiritual and emotional strength.

When one type of strength is neglected, the others inevitably suffer, too.

In her utopian novel "Herland," Charlotte Perkins Gilman presents a society without men. Of course, the women of Herland couldn't logically be the weaker sex, because there is no other sex. But as the three American men who visit Herland discover, these women match or exceed them in every kind of strength — even physical strength.

Obviously, there are problems with a society made entirely of women. I, for one, don't think it would be any fun.

The criticism Gilman was making of her own society, however, was that weakness was still part of the idea of feminine beauty. Weakness attracted men, which was fortunate, because weakness also made women dependent.

I don't mean to sound so generationally biased, though. It's not as if women woke up one morning and were suddenly better.

Often at the rec, I find myself lifting beside women who appear to be 50, 60 and older — women who probably wore a size 10 at my age, even though they were about my size. It's at these times that I realize with whom my own ideal of beauty began.

Are women still the weaker sex? Physically, sure we are. We'll never match men's physical strength, but that's all right. It's not a competition.

It's more about being considered beautiful for the same reasons a man might be considered beautiful: He is fit, he is smart, he is spiritual, and he feels.

That's how it would be in my utopia.

Keely Schields is a senior in English/creative writing. You can reach her at (milan@ksu.edu).

kansas state collegian
SPORTS

EDITOR: JEREMY KELLEY 532-0732 (WEASAL1@KSU.EDU) TUESDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1996

▶ Want the inside scoop on Dallas? On the Cats? On BYU? We're there for you this bowl season with in-depth coverage in the six-page Collegian Cotton Bowl Guide. Your copy is in Wednesday's Collegian.

K-State, 4-1, wins on the court

JEREMY KELLEY
sports editor

K-State improved to 4-1 Saturday night with a win over the Bradley Bears in Illinois. The Wildcats won an impressive game after trailing at halftime by three.

The Bears controlled the first half, but K-State hung around until Bradley went on a short run to end the half. Bradley was in front 29-26 at halftime and 40-37 midway through the second half. But the Cats used an 11-2 spurt for a 48-42 advantage. After the Braves cut the deficit to 48-46, K-State scored nine straight points for a 57-46 lead. Then the teams traded baskets until the end.

K-State's run in the second half was concentrated on its pressure defense, but Coach Tom Asbury said he couldn't define the term pressure.

"That's an innocuous question," he said. "I'm not intelligent enough to know what pressing means. We do use full-court pressure, though."

Asbury said it was an impressive win for the Cats, especially because Bradley played Michigan so well a week ago.

"It was good to come back and win after the loss to Wichita State," Asbury said. "After you start looking at all the goofy potential things, we saw that it was a good win."

K-State walloped the Bears in the second half, outscoring them 47-32 in the half.

Asbury said after playing five games, his team's offensive-rebounding effort is still lacking.

"The bottom line is we have just been lazy," he said. "I'll start putting the hook out on some of the guys. We've got to go to the offensive glass every single time."

Gerald Eaker led the Cats in scoring with 17 points and grabbed a game-high eight rebounds. Eaker's offensive prowess was completely null and void in the game against Wichita State, but he came back against Bradley and dominated the inside game.

"He was awfully solid against Bradley. Maybe his best overall performance since he's been here so far," Asbury said.

Asbury said he didn't feel as if K-State's winning teetered on whether Eaker had a good game offensively.

"Our mindset on the team is not to rely on one person," he said. "To be a good team we all need to perform well, and all cylinders need to be clicking."

It was only the fifth loss in the past 49 home games for the Braves, who were playing without their top player, Anthony Parker. He was sidelined with a broken foot.

Aaron Zobrist topped Bradley with 17 points, and Abebayo Ankinkule added 16.

Aaron Swartzendruber and Mark Young each had 13 points for the Cats.

K-STATE 73, BRADLEY 61

K-STATE (4-1)

Dies, 1-3, 1-2, 3; Reid 3-4, 0-0, 7; Eaker 8-13, 1-1, 17; May 2-5, 2-2, 6; Swartzendruber 3-9, 6-6, 13; Vasiljevic 1-1, 0-0, 3; Young 5-9, 3-4, 13; Griffin 1-1, 4-6, 6; Rhodes 2-9, 0-0, 5. Totals: 26-54, 17-21, 73.

BRADLEY (1-2)

Rigby 2-6, 1-5, 5; Burrell 7-15, 1-2, 15; Akinkunle 7-15, 2-4, 16; Zobrist 6-17, 0-0, 17; Roberson 3-4, 0-0, 6; Lee 1-3, 0-0, 2; Dye 0-0, 0-0, 0; Schairer 0-1, 0-0, 0; Cage 0-0, 0-0, 0. Totals: 26-61, 4-11, 61.

Halftime—Bradley 29, Kansas State 26. 3-pointers—Kansas State 4-11 (Reid 1-2, May 0-1, Swartzendruber 1-3, Vasiljevic 1-1, Young 0-1, Rhodes 1-3), Bradley 5-15 (Zobrist 5-13, Roberson 0-1, Schairer 0-1). Fouled out—None. Rebounds—Kansas State 36 (Eaker 8), Bradley 30 (Burrell 7). Assists—Kansas State 14 (Young, Griffin 3), Bradley 17 (Roberson 6). Total fouls—Kansas State 14, Bradley 19. A—9,360.

"All I have asked for is for the opportunity to be where we deserve to be. It's obviously a very deserving opportunity for the young guys in this program. We have done many things to allow for this opportunity, and the people in this program have worked extremely hard to achieve this."
• Coach Bill Snyder

On behalf of K-State, Bill Snyder accepts the long-awaited

COTTON BOWL BID

STORY BY JEREMY KELLEY • PHOTOS BY DARREN WHITLEY

All the purple people heard the word on Sunday.

On Monday football coach Bill Snyder gave his sentiments on the first New Year's Day bowl game for the Wildcats.

"All I have asked for is for the opportunity to be where we deserve to be. It's obviously a very deserving opportunity for the young guys in this program," he said. "We have done many things to allow for this opportunity, and the people in this program have worked extremely hard to achieve this."

Snyder said he couldn't express enough gratitude about K-State's Cotton Bowl bid and especially looked forward to matching up with the BYU Cougars.

"BYU will be a tremendous opponent," he said. "They have one of the most prolific offenses in the country. We'll have our hands full."

Snyder empathized with BYU's feelings of disappointment at this time, because it was rejected by the Alliance.

"There was certainly some room for consideration on their part, but I feel for LaVell. He's an awful good person."

K-State is set to play in its fourth-consecutive bowl game, but Snyder said his team wasn't going to be overconfident.

"There's a difference here. In BYU we are talking about a team who has been to bowl game year in and year out. We certainly have no room for overconfidence," he said.

Later in the day, Cotton Bowl president Rick Baker extended his excitement in this year's match-up.

"Dallas is very excited about K-State, and they are ready for the purple wave to get in," he said. "We think this could truly be one of the classic bowl match-ups."

Baker was adamant about the fact that an influx of K-State fans was already preparing to go to Dallas.

"We have been impressed with how polite and friendly the fans have been. We have had to add six new phone lines today, because we have had such an amazing number of calls," he said.

Baker said he was enthused that the purple people had already purchased 13,000 tickets; furthermore, Baker said there were about 10,000 tickets left for the game.

"We have always had good support from the community of Dallas," he said. "There is always a tremendous demand for tickets, and we have had a good history of selling out the Cotton Bowl."

Football players are just as enthused as anyone else about the Jan. 1 bowl ticket.

"It's great. This is our fourth-straight bowl, and a New Year's Day Bowl is another step for this senior class," quarterback Brian Kavanagh said.

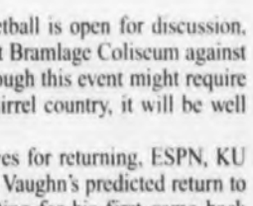
Cornerback Joe Gordon said it was a sweet feeling to be in the game and to get a chance to go home to Texas and see friends and family.

"I'm happy about the opportunity," he said. "We owe it all to the hard work, and this is a reward for the long season."

ABOVE. BILL SNYDER, listens to Cotton Bowl officials talk about ticket sales Monday at KSU Stadium. K-State fans got a headstart on Brigham Young University by reserving tickets far in advance of the Cotton Bowl's official announcement. Demand has caused the Cotton Bowl to add six phone lines, which hasn't happened since 1993.

LEFT. RICK BAKER, Cotton Bowl executive director, speaks to members of the media about the invitation extended to the Wildcats Monday at Vanier Football Complex. Baker said the quality of the competition is becoming as important as national ranking, so K-State's fans were considered important.

Winter offers a multitude of sporting events for all



All right, I'm sure at this point in the week you're only focusing in on spell-checking and studying, but before you escape from Aggieville for the blessed winter break, look at the bigger picture. Once you're gone, you've got about four weeks of free time away from squirrels, lack of parking spaces and everything else that defines this campus.

During this time period, your planner will probably be full of activities to do in the hometown. However, if you find the to-do section void of activity one day, what could you do?

Well, there's always that non-stop laugh-o-rama "A Chipmunk Christmas" to watch. Or perhaps it's time to consult grandpa's so-called medicine cabinet and concoct a wicked bowl of eggnog that will have the relatives dancing jigs on the coffee table.

Yet, if none of these little holiday traditions melts your mistletoe, perhaps your body craves something more enthralling, more couch potato-ish, more ... sporty.

MY

Jon
BALMER

Yes, that's it, sports! The armchair quarterback's guiding force in life. And for those who crave televised athletics like holiday ham and hot biscuits, the winter break is your feeding frenzy.

How can this be the sports buff's dream vacation, you ask? Well, Wildcat kids, let me run by the sports-to-see from start to finish and judge for yourself whether break time is the ultimate sports celebration.

On Dec. 21, the first day after finals conclude, the NCAA Division 1-AA Football Championship takes the field. Although the teams do not feature as many skilled players as Division 1 does, the game represents everything the first division should be: Two teams that have earned their way through playoffs in order to meet head-to-head to decide the national champion.

That's it. No Alliance bids. No "No. 3 vs. No. 5" match-ups. Just one contest to decide the undisputed champ. Simple and practical.

Aside from this issue, the contest could present home-field advantage to one squad. You see, the game is being played in Huntington, W.Va. at Marshall University. This school is still alive in the playoffs, and if it makes it to the show, look for the Thundering Herd (already champs of the coolest college nickname) to take home the championship.

Now, back to the Division I offerings. Throughout the first 12 days of break, bowl mania will happen almost every night. One night, you might be watching unheard-of Houston battling in Memphis, while the next might offer the big daddy of them all, the Poulan Weed Eater Independence Bowl.

Because K-State's bowling site and opponent have been argued about more than a Ricki Lake topic, I'll leave it be.

However, Cat basketball is open for discussion, particularly the battle at Bramlage Coliseum against Kansas on Jan. 4. Although this event might require a road-trip back to squirrel country, it will be well worth it.

Among the incentives for returning, ESPN, KU ('nuff said) and Jacque Vaughn's predicted return to the hardwood. The setting for his first game back couldn't be any more perfect. And who knows, even though the Cats bowed down to one in-state rival, perhaps another more-hated, higher-ranked rival will produce different results in the form of an upset.

If you can't witness this sporting episode, never fret. The same weekend also offers the start of NFL playoffs by way of AFC and NFC Wild Card games. Although the Denver Burros are the only playoff lock at this point, it's never too early to start predicting playoff turnout.

On the AFC side, the Broncos are unfortunately starting to look more and more like Super Bowl representatives because of the Mile High Stadium advantage. However, never count out an upset (think back last year and remember the Arrowhead Stadium massacre).

Who might this Super Bowl spoiler be?

Perhaps the Houston Oilers. It sounds farfetched, but if this team can squeak into the playoffs, it might stir up some trouble. If this happens, credit two things: rookie running back Eddie George and playing on the road. Normally this is a disadvantage, but because the team's relocation to Nashville in the next year or two, Oilers' home games resemble deserted ghost towns, and those who do show usually show up in anti-Oiler fatigues.

If Houston can inch into the playoffs, the team will play better as the visitor.

I still say Green Bay is the team to beat in the NFC, and if it can lock down home-field advantage, look for the 12th man known as Lambeau Field to carry them to New Orleans. Although Carolina is a bandwagon favorite, the Panthers are just not ready for playoff atmosphere.

And there you have it, just a few of the many sports galas spanning the days of college off-time. There's plenty more out there, so if you find yourself looking forward to a rousing evening of holiday Pictionary with the family, remember, the tube could just be your sports savior.

Jon Balmer is a freshman in pre-journalism and mass communications. You can reach him by e-mail at (jkb2004@ksu.edu).

kansas state collegian

DIVERSIONS

EDITOR: PORTIA SISCO 532-6556 (ANDRA@KSU.EDU) | TUESDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1996 | PAGE 6

DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 Writer Janowitz
5 Recipe measure
8 Madison Avenue award
12 The beginning — era
13 GIs' entertainers
14 Zest source
15 Warships of a sort
17 Farming: prefix
18 Instigate
19 Book after Nehemiah
21 Caustic solution
22 Revue segment
23 Rudimentary lesson
26 Joan of —
28 Klutzy
31 Mountaineer's foothold
33 "Mayday!"
35 Waxed
36 Bottom line
38 Sweet potato
40 "No seats" sign
41 Tar, in Tijuana
43 Bumped into
45 Catchphrase
47 Swoop suddenly
51 Blue hue
52 Fishing vessels
54 Initial stake
55 Charged particle
56 First course, maybe
57 CEO
58 LPs' successors
59 Mayberry marshal

DOWN
1 Dandy, in Soho
2 Curly hairdo
3 Cripple
4 Jockey Cordero
5 Slooplike craft
6 Exploitation
7 Assumes an attitude
8 Fruit-packer's activity
9 Flat-bottomed barges
10 Concerning
11 Skunk's defense
16 Writer Seton
20 Tackle moguls
23 Legislation
24 Sib
25 One-masters
27 Flirtatiously shy
29 Apiece
30 Feeding time?
32 Uses mouthwash
34 Far Eastern vessels
37 Actress Thompson
39 Catcall?
42 Playful prank
44 Major oil city
45 Attempt
46 Letterman's rival
48 Night light
49 Gunk
50 Catch sight of
53 Steiger or Serling

Solution time: 21 mins.

C	O	C	O	■	A	S	K	■	B	L	I	P
A	J	A	R	■	R	I	O	■	R	A	R	E
E	A	R	R	I	N	G	S	■	A	V	O	N
N	I	P	■	V	A	N	■	S	C	E	N	T
■	■	■	N	E	Z	■	U	K	E	■	■	■
C	A	P	E	S	■	A	B	I	L	E	N	E
A	L	E	C	■	I	I	■	E	R	I	N	■
T	A	N	K	A	R	D	■	S	T	A	N	D
■	■	■	L	I	E	■	G	A	S	■	■	■
M	A	D	A	M	■	M	O	N	■	U	S	A
E	R	I	C	■	P	E	N	D	A	N	T	S
W	E	R	E	■	A	D	Z	■	S	T	O	P
L	A	T	S	■	L	E	O	■	H	O	W	S

Yesterday's answer

11-27

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

11-27 CRYPTOQUIP

KDU BLLBF GBF TCOUH ALOUG KL GRF DU'G GLRH MCKD KDU MLHAT.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: MY APATHETIC MAID DOES NOTHING MORE THAN ONLY SWEEP THE ROOM WITH A GLANCE.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: B equals K

JUSTIN STAHLMAN'S

MARK ILICH'S

MATT HAWKINS'

Ensemble features worldwide music

ERICA DUNCAN
staff reporter

Sticks and stones may break your bones, but the K-State Percussion Ensemble won't hurt you.

The K-State Percussion Ensemble will perform at 8 p.m. Wednesday in McCain Auditorium.

Eleven graduate and undergraduate students make up the ensemble. The typical snare drums, bass drums and cymbals, as well as sticks, a bamboo rod and other unusual instruments, will be in the performance.

A trio even plays a challenging piece using only triangles.

The ensemble will play a combination of music from around the world. This semester the ensemble is playing works from Asia, Europe and South America.

It will play two traditional Gautemalan pieces and "Ritmica No. 5," an early percussion ensemble piece that combines American and Brazilian themes.

Many of the pieces are 20th-century works, but there is one transcription piece.

The piece was originally written for a string ensemble but was transcribed into a work for percussion.

The ensemble will also play a Japanese piece written for western instruments that uses Japanese sounds, feelings and scales.

"This is the most aural program," Tony Di Sanza, assistant professor of music, said. "The sounds and textures are amazing."

The ensemble will play pieces that combine pulse time, where the conductor sets the beat, with improvisation.

They will also play a piece that is pulsed, but the students choose what they play. No piece will ever be the same, Di Sanza said.

▶ REVIEW

Singers bring smiles to audience during art center performance

DANA LEHNER
staff reporter

Flint Hills Masterworks Chorale Director RubyAnn Poulson, said the word amateur is derived from a Greek word meaning love or the love of something. If this is true, there were plenty of amateurs at the Flint Hills Masterworks Chorale performance.

The Celebration Singers were also on hand to assist the Masterworks Chorale with their presentation of "Missa Brevis" by Zoltan Kodaly and "Te Deum" by John Rutter on Sunday at the Manhattan Center for the Arts.

The love of music was apparent as the singers belted out their songs.

It was obvious to audience members that they were there to enjoy their music by the smiles on all of their faces.

The goal was not to impress the audience with singing ability, fancy sets or their costumes, but to show them their love of music.

Their aim was to send all the audience members home with smiles on their faces.

The performance, sponsored by Manhattan Christian College, was a great way to kick off the holiday season. The two groups performed in a quaint atmosphere in front of about 75 people.

The Flint Hills Masterworks Chorale opened the program with its performance of "Missa Brevis."

"Missa Brevis" was a perfect choice for early December as we prepare to hit the home stretch of the holidays. With songs like "Kyrie," "Gloria," "Sanctus" and "Benedictus," the Chorale set a heavenly mood across the small but attentive audience.

> "You have members of the Flint Hills Masterworks Chorale who have sang all their life for the love of it, and you have a younger group in the Celebration Singers that are just getting started. It was a joy to work with them both."
>
> • RUBYANN POULSON
> CHORALE DIRECTOR

The Celebration Singers then followed suit with their rendition of "The Heavens Are Telling" by Franz Joseph Haydn and "Give Praise and Thanks" by Jane Marshall.

The young group of singers showed their youth with a performance filled with energy and excitement.

"These are two completely different groups of people that we are working with," Poulson said. "You have members of the Flint Hills Masterworks Chorale who have sang all their life for the love of it, and you have a younger group in the Celebration Singers that are just getting started. It was a joy to work with them both."

The groups wrapped up the concert by bringing youth and experience together. Both groups joined to present "Te Deum," an ancient production of Christian liturgical texts.

SPEED

▶ The Flint Hills Masterworks Chorale performed Sunday with the Celebration Singers at the Manhattan Center for the Arts.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
AUTOMOTIVES
ADVERTISING 532-6560

Battery Problems?
If You Don't Know See the Battery Experts.
Get ready for winter with a free battery and alternator analysis. Know for sure if your battery can make it through the cold.
60 month warranty as low as $44.95 plus tax & trade in
Have a safe and happy holiday season!
Get your FREQUENT FUEL CARD for savings on gas.
776-3298 917 N. 3rd St. Manhattan
3rd Street Battery
VISA Texaco

Home of the Wildcats

GOODSON AUTO TRIM
Complete Upholstering & Fabric • Custom Made Auto & Truck Seat Covers
Convertible Tops • Headliners
Boat Upholstery & Covers • Vinyl Tops • Window Tinting
1-800-773-7679
201 Sarber Lane Between K-Mart & Walmart 776-7679

Rose MUFFLER HOUSE
"Our business is exhausting"
MUFFLERS & TAILPIPES
DUAL SYSTEMS
AUTOS (American & Foreign)
RVs LIGHT & HEAVY DUTY TRUCKS
CUSTOM PIPE BENDING
COMPLETE BRAKE SERVICE FOR AMERICAN, FOREIGN, & LIGHT TRUCKS
SHOCK ABSORBERS & STRUTS
Rose HOUSE OF TINT
GLASS TINTING SERVICES AVAILABLE FOR YOUR AUTO, HOME OR BUSINESS
DRAW-TITE
TRAILER HITCHES - SALES & INSTALLATION
Mon.-Fri. 7:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
2049 Ft. Riley Blvd.
776-8955 or 1-800-439-8956
Take advantage of our courtesy van for rides to school and home while your vehicle is being serviced.
Same Location!
FREE ESTIMATES

Western Auto
YOUR TOTAL AUTOMOTIVE HEADQUARTERS!!
*Complete Line of Automotive Accessories and High Performance Parts
*Discount Auto Parts
*Professional Installation Available
*Convenient Store Hours
*Fast, Friendly Service
Western Auto
MANHATTAN, KANSAS
The Auto Supply Company
539-0535
Tuttle Creek Blvd. & Kimball Ave.
Next to Dutch Maid Supermarket
LOW DISCOUNT PRICES EVERY DAY OF THE WEEK
SEARS DISCOVER VISA

CLASSIFIEDS

GET THE WORD OUT

• DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classified display must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.

• HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an established account with Student Publications Inc.

Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks.

•CALL OR STOP BY

To place your classified, call 532-6555.

Place your classified ad in 103 Kedzie.

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010

Announcements

ATTENTION ALL students!!! Grants and scholarships available from sponsors!!! No repayments, ever!!! $$$ Cash for college $$$ for information: (800)243-2435.

HTTP://WWW.PURE-SOUNDMKT.COM WHERE emerging Musicians perform their songs. World wide exposure and distribution. (310)556-3530.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 539-3733.

BUY SELL TRADE
Video Games
& Computer CD Roms
PLAYSTATION, SEGA, NINTENDO, ETC.
GAME GUY
709 N. 12th
Aggieville
537-0989
www.flinthills.com/~gameguy

THOUSANDS...IN scholarship funds will be awarded to students starting classes January 1997 in hair design, ethnic hair design, nail technology, skincare and make-up artistry. Call Crum's Beauty College admissions office, 776-4794. VA approved, financial aid available.

020

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

PICTURES FOUND in parking lot A-3. Color prints of trip to Scotland. Call to claim, 532-6226.

050

Parties-n-More

ADD A extra touch of class to your next party. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub. 537-7587 or 539-7561.

ADD A touch of class to any party with cigars. Dinners receptions, Frat-parties, or formals. Enjoy the services of the old fashioned cigarette girl 537-7444.

PARTY TIME? Go with a Manhattan tradition since1985! Rent a hot tub for your next party. Call Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tub Rentals. 537-1825.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartments. Close to campus, first month rent free. 537-1666 or 537-1015.

AVAILABLE SECOND semester. Three dandy apartments, all sizes, close to campus. Washers/ dryers air-conditioned. Very reasonable, pets considered. 539-9345.

BEST DEAL in town. Three-bedroom apartment. $300. Close to campus.539-9101 or (913)273-2628.

FULLY FURNISHED: Kitchen table with chairs one-bedroom, one bath couch, chair, love seat, very nice. $585/ month, ask for Brent.

ROOMMATE WANTED for very nice two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. Call Brian at 539-4420 or Tracinda at 539-2649.

SEMESTER LEASE: four-room basement apartment, close to campus, private entrance, all utilities paid, deposit required. $300 month. 539-8493.

THE MCCORMICK apartments. One and two-bedrooms available Jan 1, 1997. One block from campus. Furnished and unfurnished. Call 539-5759.

TWO-BEDROOM, THREE blocks east of campus, ample parking, quiet conditions, reasonable rent. Available Dec. 1 or Jan. 1. 776-3624.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

617 KEARNEY. No pets. Two-bedroom, main floor. New carpet/ paint/ blinds. Off-street parking, laundry hook-ups, ceiling fans. $460. 776-8548.

AFFORDABLE, SPACIOUS, one-bedroom apartment for spring semester. Park Place Apartments location. One small pet allowed. Deposit paid. Call 776-8434.

AVAILABLE DEC: Clean, spacious two-bedroom, big bath, apartment for rent in quiet apartment complex. 2125 Buckingham Apt. 5. $499 . Dishwasher, laundry facilities, two pools, water/ trash paid. Call 537-6046.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartments. Close to campus, first month rent free. 537-1666 or 537-1015.

AVAILABLE JAN 1, two-bedroom, $350/ month, three blocks to campus, laundry. 776-9140

AVAILABLE JANUARY, One-bedroom, second floor, 814 Leavenworth, $295, KPL, deposit, 539-3672.

AVAILABLE NOW or January Short-term leases. Large one or two-bedroom. Clean, quiet, most utilities paid. No pets. 537-8389.

AVAILABLE NOW. Two-bedroom. $350 plus utilities. 537-4832.

Apartment Living At Its Best
Large 2-Bedrooms
Sandstone Apts.
Cambridge Sq. Apts.
Hill Investment
537-9064

AVAILABLE NOW. 915 Claflin, three-bedroom apartment heat, water, trash paid. Newly redecorated. No pets. $525. Call 539-3085.

CLEAN, COZY, economical one-bedroom apartment in Ogden, appliances included, window air-conditioning, $150 a month, call 565-0194 for more information.

CRESTWOOD APARTMENTS. Two-bedroom, one and one-half bath, washer/ dryer, flexible lease. $425- 480, 776-3345, M-F, 9-5.

FEMALE COLLEGE student wanted for third roommate. Will pay one-half of deposit. 565-0005.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM apartment. Across the street from campus in Wildcat Inn, 1807 College Heights. Available Jan. 1. Rent $410, call 776-9511.

LEE CREST Apartments. One-bedroom, $365, furnished. One block from campus. Washer/ dryer on each floor. 539-7961.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom. Close to campus and City Park. $475/ month. Available immediately. 776-1771, Elaine.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT available immediately, large with balcony and fireplace. Westchester Park Apartments, call 565-9193 or (913)272-3812.

ONE MONTH rent free! Two-bedroom available in January. $460. 1026 osage, four blocks from campus. Water and trash paid. On-site laundry facilities. Built-in student desk with shelves in each bedroom. Call 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT for rent. Large bedroom and living room. Brand-new carpet. Washer/ dryer. Water/ trash paid. One-half block from campus, one block from Aggieville. Call 537-7931.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT two-bedroom basement by campus. 537-1550. Lease until July 97 on.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January 1. 1122 Gardenway, $360, water and trash paid, on-site laundry, pool, across from Westloop, 537-1307.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE in Dec., 1222 Laramie, $375 all bills paid. In the heart of Aggieville. Pets accepted. Call 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE now at Royal Towers, 1700 N. Manhattan. $395. Includes stove, refrigerator, dishwasher, disposal, microwave. Water and trash paid. On-site laundry facilities. Call 776-3804 for viewing.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. Just remodeled. Across from Ford Hall. All utilities paid except phone and cable. Washer and dryer. Cats allowed. $325/ month. 537-3744, leave message.

ONE-BEDROOM NEAR Aggieville available now. 1124 Fremont. $325. Water, trash paid. Call 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus. Available mid-December. Five month lease. Call 565-9003.

ONE-BEDROOM, ONE block from the University. Available Jan. 1, 1997. 539-0410 or 539-2857.

ONE-BEDROOM, WATER/ trash paid, central air, west-side location, no pets. $325/ month. June lease. Call 587-4111 or after 6p.m. 776-0221.

ONE-BEDROOM, WITH study, located in an apartment complex, water and trash paid, $410 a month, close to campus. 776-0154.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS leasing one, two and three-bedroom apartments. Two pools, hot tub, horseshoes, volleyball. 539-2951.

QUIET, AIRY, two-bedroom basement apartment, 1619 Pierre. Air, washer/ dryer. No smoking, no pets. $380/ month, about $50 utilities. 776-2480.

SECOND SEMESTER special. Two-bedroom apartment close to campus and Aggieville, Washer/ Dryer. Lease from January to end of May. 776-2484

SLEEPING ROOM one block from the University. Available Jan. 1, 1997. 539-2857 or 539-0410.

THREE-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, one and one-half bath. Near campus. Laundry in complex. 537-1746.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath $500/ month, water/ trash paid 1626 Leavenworth, 776-6772.

TWO BLOCKS from campus, two-bedroom; $360, four-bedroom; $440. 587-0399.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. $380/ month Across street from Ahearn Field House. Available January 1. Lease and deposit required. 537-7794.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT located southeast of campus. Not in a complex, available spring semester, washer and dryer. Call 539-7277.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE now near city park. 405 N 10th. $405. Water, trash paid. No pets. Call 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, utilities paid, no lease, no pets, one-half block east of campus. $350 month, 776-7922, evenings.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment on LeGore Lane single or double occupancy available immediately. Lease and rent negotiable. 537-2156.

TWO-BEDROOM DUPLEX. Only one-half block from campus. Main floor. Off-street parking. Available now. $420 with water and trash paid. 537-7852.

TWO-BEDROOM TRI-LEVEL remodeled this year, new carper, paint, stove. Both bedrooms very large. two blocks from campus, one block from Aggieville. $450/ month 539-6951 or 565-0135.

TWO-BEDROOM, $285, deposit, no smoking, no pets, Juliette, 537-4016.

VERY NICE one-bedroom available at Woodway Apartments. On-site pool and laundry. Call Sara at 537-7007.

WALKING DISTANCE, two-bedroom and studio available now. Water/ trash paid, laundry facilities. 539-6318.

WILDCAT INN several one-bedrooms available in Jan. at 925 Denison and 1722 Laramie starting at $385, includes dishwasher, water and trash. On-site laundry; sorry no pets. Call 776-3804.

WORTH SEEING. Available 12/23/96. Three-bedroom $375 per month. Eighth block of Laramie St. 537-0588.

115

Rooms Available

ONE ROOM available 12/20/96. Very close to campus, $155 a month, lease will 5/97, one-sixth of utilities. Call 539-1269 or 539-3672.

PRIVATE, QUIET room. No smoking. Off-street parking. Adjacent campus. Stockwell Real Estate. 539-4073.

TWO ROOMS available in large house $220/ month plus utilities, large kitchen, two bath, two living rooms, basement with laundry,m large porch, unlimited parking, call Becky 539-6582.

TWO ROOMS available in three-bedroom house, bills split, free trash, washer/ dryer, $145/ month great location 776-1954.

120

For Rent- Houses

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Four-bedroom, one study house. Close to campus. $1,100 non-negotiable rent. Call 776-1340.

BRAND NEW DUPLEX: 1125-1127 Ratone. Four-bedroom, two bath, washer/ dryer on each side. $800/ month Available January 1, 1997. Six month lease. 539-3767.

FOUR-BEDROOM COUNTRY home. Two bath, finished walk out basement, fireplace, garage, $800, no pets. 539-2255

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE. Two blocks from campus washer/ dryer. Fireplace. Lots of room $720/ month. Jan. 1, 776-9163.

ONE, TWO and three-bedroom for non-smoker, drinker. No pets please. 539-1554.

ONE, TWO, three-bedroom for non-smoking, non-drinking, no pets. 539-1554.

TWO BLOCKS FROM CAMPUS! Five-bedroom, two bath, two kitchens. Excellent condition. $225-$275 per room plus utilities. 1020 Bertrand. Call Tammy 539-3737.

TWO-BEDROOM HOUSE with new interior, fenced yard for pet. 929 Colorado, $500. 776-1660.

145

Roommate Wanted

A BLOCK from campus! Roommate to share spacious four-bedroom house. Central air/ heat, washer/ dryer. Friendly atmosphere. Short term lease possible. No smoking/ pets. $225. 776-9719.

A ROOMMATE needed. Three-bedroom close to campus and Aggieville. $275 plus one-third bills. Non-smoker. Call 537-6169 now.

FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommate for a two-bedroom apartment one block from campus, free washer/ dryer. Call 539-6005.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed spring semester. Nice three-bedroom house. Washer/ dryer, $210 plus utilities. Call 539-0975.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for two-bedoom apartment in Cambridge Square. Call 537-2409.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom house. Three blocks from campus. Non-smoker preferred. Call Julie at 587-9041.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for two-bedroom house, one block east of campus. $225 a month, utilities paid, pets considered call 537-4947.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted $210 rent plus one-third utilities. Walk to Aggieville and campus. 539-0543.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share four-bedroom, two bathroom apartment, close to campus. Call 539-9165.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted; Jan.- May; close to campus and Aggieville; call 539-6115.

FEMALE SEEKS roommate, two-bedroom, cheap rent, great place and atmosphere, can't beat it! Call 537-7872. No experience needed.

FEMALE, 4195/ month plus one-third utilities, washer/ dryer one and one-half blocks from campus, non-smoker, leave message 539-6499.

FEMALE, NON-SMOKER to share clean, comfortable apartment for spring semester. Private bedroom, large closets/ storage areas, carpet, dishwasher, washers/ dryers, central air and much more! Next to campus on Anderson. Caged pets allowed. Water and trash free. $235 plus one-third some utilities. Must see! Please call 776-4723. Available January 1.

MALE OR female to share two-bedroom townhouse with female and pets. Close to campus. Washer/ dryer, close to campus. Fenced yard. $170 plus one-half utilities. Call 776-7836.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Very nice two-bedroom apartment next to campus. 267/ month plus one-half utilities. Available January 1. No smokers, no pets. 565-9250

MALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring semester. Two-bedroom apartment by Aggieville. 565-0268. Derek

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apartment. Two blocks from campus, water and trash paid. 539-6537

MALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring semester. Four-bedroom house. Call Chad (913)782-9431.

MALE WANTED for furnished basement. No smoking/ drinking/ pets, please. Walk to KSU. 539-1554.

MALE/ FEMALE roommate wanted for five-bedroom house. $150/ month. Washer/ dryer. Three blocks from campus. Call Ricky or Aaron 537-1621.

MALE/ FEMALE roommate wanted to share two-bedroom westside apartment. $190/ month call 565-0858.

NEEDED: FEMALE roommates, three-bedrooms, two full bathrooms, one-half block west of campus. Call 539-6449.

NON-SMOKING ROOMMATE, own room, $157.50 plus phone and cable. Washer/ dryer, 776-7336.

ONE-HALF BLOCK from campus. Two-bedroom house. Laundry facilities available. Split utilities. 539-9110.

ROOMMATE (M/F) for three-bedroom apartment $230/ month plus utilities. Close to campus; available as soon as possible. Call 587-9767.

ROOMMATE FOR Thurston street house, three blocks from campus, short-term lease, December rent free. $200/ month, one-fourth utilities. 539-0206 or 539-6314.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for a four-bedroom house. Rent $212.50/ month plus utilities, trash, etc. Non-smoker preferred. Male or female. Call 539-3075 ask for Scott or Andrew.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share two-bedroom. One and one-half bath. Rent negotiable. Call 565-0397.

ROOMMATE NEEDED: five-bedroom, close to campus, washer/ dryer, $175/ month plus utilities. Call 776-8574.

ROOMMATE WANTED for farmhouse. Secluded yet accessible location, 10 minutes from Manhattan. $140/ month plus one-half utilities. 539-2029.

ROOMMATE WANTED for spring semester. One block from campus. Very nice and clean. $230 month rent call 537-9081.

ROOMMATE WANTED for very nice two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. Call Brian at 539-4420 or Tracinda at 539-2649.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share clean three-bedroom house. Close to Aggieville and campus, backyard. $275 and all utilities paid plus cable. Washer and dryer. 776-9548

ROOMMATE WANTED-Male/ female. Close to campus. $210/ month. Available now. Call D. O'Conner, manager, 537-7087.

ROOMMATE WANTED-Own bedroom in four-bedroom two bath apartment next to Durland. $250/ month, one-fourth utilities, 539-1995.

ROOMMATE WANTED. Six month lease Spring 97 $217/ month, water/ trash, no deposit. Close to campus. 776-4884, Kurt or Wes.

ROOMMATE WANTED: three-bedroom apartment, nice condition, close to campus. $235/ month. Call at 539-9476.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Male non-smoker to share four-bedroom house. January- August lease. Call 587-8480 or 587-0490.

STUDENT WANTS to share room and rent, non-smoker, call Greg. (913)736-2799 leave message.

TO SHARE three-bedroom mobile home. All utilities paid $200/ month except phone, available now flexible lease quiet and furnished. Call TJ at 776-3829.

WANTED ROOMMATE(S): to share nice four-bedroom house for spring semester. Call Shauna after 5. 776-3130.

WANTED: A non-smoking female roommate to live in a friendly house. Washer/ dryer. Great location! $188/ month plus one-seventh utilities. Call 587-0754.

150

Sublease

AVAILABLE DECEMBER 17. Large, one-bedroom. Rent $345, I will pay $50 of your rent, you pay $295. Call 587-9763.

AVAILABLE JAN 1- July, two-bedroom, water and trash paid. Swimming pools and tennis courts. Westchester Park nice and quiet complex $244 each, Call Jennifer at 776-8707.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, very spacious one-bedroom apartment. Close to campus. On-site laundry facilities. May have small pets, off-street parking, water/ trash paid. $325/ month. Call 565-9116.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Female to share two-bedroom. Apartment near campus and Aggieville. Furnished plus fireplace. $237/ month plus one-half utilities. Call 565-0589, ask for Amy.

AVAILABLE NOW! Female roommate needed. Two blocks away from campus and Aggieville. $230 monthly. Water and Trash paid 539-3926.

BEAUTIFUL ONE-BEDROOM apartment nice complex dishwasher private patio pool tennis courts near stadium, trash and water paid. Available in December. $440/ month, 776-9647.

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted to sublease a three-bedroom apartment one-half block from campus. Call 776-5580.

FOR SPRING semester. Two-bedroom apartment at Chase Apartments. Call 537-4617.

FURNISHED ONE-BEDROOM apartment to sublease, across from Marlatt Hall. Quiet complex, large bedroom. $390/ month, January paid. Call 587-9415.

NEED MALE Roommate to sublease apartment across the street from campus. Second semester $245/ month 539-4908. Ask for Shay.

NEXT TO CAMPUS. One/ two-bedroom units across from Goodnow and Marlatt dorms. Two-bedroom units across from Haymaker. Call/ message 539-2702.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT for rent. Overlooking pool. Call 537-4713.

ONE-HALF BLOCK from campus on Thurston. One-bedroom with study , $390, Jan- June sublease or take lease over, 565-9312.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for two-bedroom, two bath with washer/ dryer three blocks from campus. $200 month and one-fifth utilities. Call 776-0598.

SPRING SEMESTER, large one-bedroom, across from campus, on-site laundry and off-street parking. $250/ month. 539-0938

SUBLEASE TWO-BEDROOM apartment. Quiet location. New carpet. Available Jan. 1. Call 539-6977.

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY

210

Resume/ Typing

A PERFECT resume and all your other word processing needs. Laser printing. Call Brenda 776-3290.

HELPING HANDS typing service. (913)494-2398 ask for Christy. Speedy service.

235

Child Care

TWO OPENINGS for licensed afterschool program, certified teacher, structured activities, computer, art, pets, field trips, transportation from school provided, 587-8356.

250

Automotive Repair

ROYAL PURPLE PAINT, BODY & GLASS. Quality collision repairs, glass replacement, vandalism claims. 776-6920, 1100 "C" Hostetler Rd. (2 Blks north of Wal-Mart) 8:30- 5:30 M-F.

255

Other Services

GET YOUR DEPOSIT BACK! Fisthole Repair Co. We fix party-damaged walls. Free estimate. Call Eric 776-4999 evenings and weekends.

300 EMPLOYMENT/CAREERS

310

Help Wanted

$1750 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars. No experience required. Begin now. For info call (202)298-1335.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Midwest Distributors P.O. Box 624, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate Response.

DATABASE PROGRAMMER (8-12 hrs/ week, 4GL, Delphi, SQL). Advanced training provided. At least a Junior in Computer Science or related degree. Experience in Database programming is required. Salary based on capabilities, equal opportunity employer, KSC-Emp, 1640 Fairchild Avenue, Manhattan KS. 66502.

FILM: SEEKING intelligent, mature, reliable assistants for pre-production work on feature film. Budget, script, and casting assistants. Photographers needed for location scouting. Non-paying positions only. Contact Steve at 565-0682.

FORTUNE 5000 Tired of no money? I was too, until I found Fortune 5000. Work from your home and get paid every week starting the first week you call. Serious inquires only, (800)811-2141 ext.1955. Operators standing by.

GREAT NEW coffee oasis and cafe opening January. Barista positions available. Experience preferred, love of coffee required. 539-7479.

JUNIORS AND SENIORS. Do you need a break from school? Are you low on $$$? Consider a Spring semester, 13 week internship with "It's Greek To Me, Inc. " You would be traveling with two other people to campuses throughout the Big 12 region, selling sportswear to fraternities and sororities. *All appointments are made for you in advance, no cold calling! *The job will be full-time, beginning mid-January and ending May 1st. *You can earn 3 hours of college credit. *We pay all travel expenses. Call Bob Lund at 537-8822 for more information or to schedule an interview.

LEASING CONSULTANT. Upscale apartment complex seeking individual to assist with leasing. Part-time during school, full-time in summer. 3.0 GPA. Sales experience preferred. Outgoing personality and excellent people skills. Training provided. Send resume to: P.O. Box 483, Manhattan, KS 66505-0483.

LOOKING FOR a career? Dick Edwards Ford is looking for the right person in his auto sales department. Excellent benefits, salary plus commission. Five- day work week. Call 776-4004, ask for J.C. or Lou.

LUNAR TUNES- is looking for DJ's and photographers for next semester. Will train the right individual. 776-9140

NAIL-TECH POSITION available as soon as possible. Must be friendly, outgoing, professional person. Prefer experience with sculpture, gels, fiberglass. Flexible hours, commission based compensation preferred, but space for rent available. Please call Christina at 776-7874.

NEED HELP delivering Kansas City Star newspaper over Christmas break. Only two hours a day. $120/ week. Call 537-5064. Leave message.

NETWORK ADMINISTRATOR (10- 20 hrs/ week, NT, Novell, Windows). Advanced training provided. At least a Junior in Computer Science or related degree. Experience in network support is required. Salary based on capabilities, equal opportunity employer, KSC-Emp, 1640 Fairchild Avenue, Manhattan KS. 66502.

NEW BAGEL and Bread Cafe opening Jan. in Aggieville. Needs two bakers. Experience preferred. Wage negotiable. 539-7479.

PART-TIME MAINTENANCE person needed for 60 apartments. Basic electrical, plumbing and carpentry skills required. 587-0399.

SALES REPS- Immediate opening at your University. Offering exceptional pay and very flexible hours. Call Accent Screen Printing (800)234-7941.

SILVERADO SALOON is now hiring bartenders, waitstaff and DJ's. Apply at 531 N. Manhattan, Tuesday through Saturday 6p.m.-2a.m..

TEMPORARY CASHIERS to work approximately January 10- 31. Day, evening and week-end shifts available. Must be able to work at least a three hours time block. Cashier and customer service experience preferred. Apply service counter, K-state Student Union Bookstore by January 18, 1996. Equal opportunity employer.

THE DEPARTMENT of Mechanical Engineering has an opening for a student hourly office position. Availability on Tuesdays and Thursdays is preferred. Applications are available in the Department of Mechanical Engineering, 302 Durland Hall.

WEB ASSISTANT (10- 20 hrs/ week, HTML, CGI). Advanced training provided. Experience in Internet communications is required. Salary based on capabilities, equal opportunity employer, KSC-Emp, 1640 Fairchild Avenue, Manhattan KS. 66502.

400 FOR SALE OPEN MARKET

405

Wanted to Buy

WANTED: IBM compatible computer with 386 or 486 processor. Will pay up to $250. 537-4944, Nick.

410

Items for Sale

A BEAUTIFUL wedding dress for sale. Could be worn any time of year. Call and leave message at 539-3602.

BEER SIGNS, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, antiques, collectibles, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit $14.95. See ALL the channels (800)752-1389.

CHRISTMAS GIFT baskets available! Customized to fit the recipient and your budget. For details Call 776-9912.

FREE CELLULAR phone-nokia 636! Free leather case! Free cigarette lighter adapter! Free programming! Call 539-1090, today!

GET A free make over for the holiday season. Great gift or for yourself. Artistry Cosmetics. 539-5873.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS!! New Combat boots, saftey-toe boots, overshoes. Wool blankets, gloves and socks. Field jackets. Camouflage clothing. Sleeping bags. Also CARHARTT WORKWEAR. Monday- Friday 9- 5:30, Saturday 9- 5. Open Sundays until Christmas 12- 4. St. Marys Surplus Sales. St. Marys, KS (913)437-2734.

GREAT CHRISTMAS Gift! A 12-month subscription to Kanhistique, the Kansas History & Antique publication. Our 21st year! Stories about Kansas History & Antiques every month! Guaranteed satisfaction. Only $18 including sales tax. Send check to Kanhistique, Box 7, Ellsworth, KS 67439. We'll send gift card.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

JERRY'S WHOLESALE carpet. Carpet remnants and vinyl remnants. 2501 Stagg Hill Road. Monday- Friday, 8:30a.m.- 5:30p.m. Sat. 8a.m.- 12p.m. Open to the public.

430

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Flea Market 7000 square feet, 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

435

Computers

28.8 V.34 internal faxmodem with software. One year old- lifetime warranty. $70. Lotus Smartsuite 96 CD-ROM for Windows 95 (includes Lotus 1-2-3, Word Pro, Freelance Graphics, Approach, Organizer, etc.) $40. Smartsuite for Windows 3.1 $30. Word Pro for Windows 3.1 $15. All software current and fully licensed. Or best offer. 587-4697.

COREL WORD Perfect Suite7 32 bit office: graphics/ internet power. Kyung Joo 776-4253 or 532-1312, still in package, $90.

GATEWAY 2000 486DX-2 66, 4MB RAM 340 MB HD, 14-inch monitor, 4x CD-Rom, CAnnon Bubble Jet printer. $1000. 587-8567.

I'VE GOT computers and laptops XT through 486 low price $150- $475. Must sell Paul 784-5650. Guarantee 90 days.

445

Music Instruments

RICKS MUSIC Shop 314 Tuttle Creek Blvd. Fender, Guild, Alvarez, Gibson Epiphone, Rickenbacker. Guitar Repair and guitar lessons. 539-5900.

WELCOME TO The Music Co.! I'd like to take this opportunity to thank all the bands, individuals and businesses that have made 1996 another successful year. Have a warm and wonderful Holiday Season. Doug Jones, Proprietor. The Music Co., 523 S. 17th Street, in the Midtown Plaza. 539-1958.

455

Sporting Equipment

TWO FOOSEBALL tables for sale. $125 each. 537-7587 or 776-8076.

465

Tickets to Buy/Sell

COTTON BOWL, six tickets, 30 yard line, under upper deck. (972)243-8595.

FOR SALE: Two basketball season tickets, section 23, row 3, seat 3. $50 or best offer, (800)577-7468 pin# 258-1616.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1983 HONDA Acord. New motor and clutch. $2000. Call 537-7583.

1983, TOYOTA Camry. Manual. Power steering, fuel injection, four door, excellent condition. Asking $2000, Call 587-0790. Call after 5:00p.m.

1984 OLDS Cutlass Ciera. Good condition, $920, AM/ FM cassette. Call Kim 539-5122, negotiable.

1984 PONTIAC Parisienne. Great condition inside and out. 113K must see to appreciate, 539-4783.

1985 HONDA Prelude SE, red, 5-speed, CD player, sunroof, power, $2400 or best offer. 776-5263

1986 HONDA Civic four cylinder; five-speed, great school car, four-door, $1700 or best offer. 1987 Dodge Automatic $700. 532-7855.

1988 PONTIAC 6000. Burgundy four-door, automatic, 150k. Make offer 565-0587.

600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

610

Tour Package

30 SHOPPING DAYS LEFT! Now is the time to guarantee the lowest rates and best hotels for spring break. Leisure tours has packages to South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica and Florida. (800)838-8203.

A LOT CAN BE SAID ABOUT A LITTLE BIT OF SPACE:
It works
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
532-6555

FOR MORE INFORMATION
UNIVERSITY APARTMENTS
2215 COLLEGE AVE
CALL 539-0500

COMMING SOON
"Stay in class at the University"
Leasing '97 - '98 Schoolyear

▶ QUILT PROJECT

Faculty member puts together diversity

ALISSA GOOD
staff reporter

One K-State faculty member is piecing together diversity in a quilt.

Clairressa Goad, psychology intern at the University Counseling Center, is making a quilt composed of squares that express different cultural customs, themes, morals and meanings.

She has handed out 20 12-inch squares to a variety of students who will place designs on them that represent their culture. The design can be anything and can be placed on the square in a variety of ways.

Some designs are being embroidered, painted or sewed on. Cultures can also be represented by poems, recipes, quotations and music. Some squares will have pockets placed on them to hold objects.

"I am open to what people are able to do. I want an expression of culture, not artistic ability," Goad said.

She said she hopes the squares will be completed by Jan. 16. At that time, she will sew all the squares together to form the finished product.

Some country's cultures that will be represented on the quilt are China, Korea, Finland, Germany, Pakistan, Finland, Iran and South Africa.

Goad said she hopes the quilt will be displayed in the K-State Student Union upon its completion. It will then permanently be placed in the counseling center.

"The great thing about the quilt is it has given me and others the opportunity to learn about other cultures," Goad said.

Anyone interested in working on the quilt can contact Goad at 532-6927.

AIRPORTS
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Saturday.

He said the new airport will present a lot better face to Manhattan. It will attract more businesses and help the local economy. Many companies will not go to a town that does not have a good airport.

"The airport is the first thing that potential businesses see when they come to Manhattan," Prater said. "You never know how much those first impressions count."

Babcock also said local businesses will be able to better service long-distance customers and possibly extend the market to a greater area. They can also conduct their business in a more timely manner.

Another positive outcome will be the increase in the number of airlines that will service Manhattan.

"More airlines will create more competition, which will help lower prices," Babcock said.

Manhattan is lucky to receive the federal funding, but smaller towns will continue to suffer.

Babcock explained there is talk of developing an airport improvement committee at the state level, but until then, small towns are on their own.

DECISION
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Then, however, the Kansas Supreme Court said the law violated Hendricks' due-process rights because it allowed him to be committed without proof he is mentally ill.

Attorney General Carla Stovall immediately appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, keeping Hendricks confined. She expects the court to question whether Hendricks' alleged mental abnormality merits confinement.

"The key is that the court has never ruled exactly what you have to have for that mental condition," Stovall said. "Mr. Hendricks' 40-year history of abusing children is much more than idiosyncratic behavior."

Stovall contends that Hendricks, who was not treated for sexual deviance during his Kansas prison term, should continue to receive the 30 hours of weekly therapy Larned provides.

"We're spending almost $100,000 per predator at Larned for their care, custody and treatment," she said. "The average tends to be about $20,000 per inmate in the Department of Corrections system, so it's clear we're doing something very, very different for these predators vs. the inmates."

Hendricks' lawyer, Thomas Weilert of Wichita, said the confinement is an extension of his criminal sentence that violates constitutional protections against double jeopardy.

"It's a second prosecution for the same acts that occurred in 1984," Weilert said.

The law was passed largely in response to the 1993 slaying of Stephanie Schmidt, a 19-year-old student at Pittsburg State University. Donald Gideon was convicted; he had been on parole after serving 10 years for raping and sodomizing a woman in 1982.

The Kansas law is the first significant attempt to expand the types of people the state can confine, said Chris Hansen, an attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union in New York.

Traditionally, he said, only people convicted of crimes or found insane can be locked up. The Kansas law creates a third category — people likely to commit crimes based on past behavior.

"That has very strong potential ramifications," Hansen said. "It can be extended beyond pedophiles."

CROPS
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

what other different seeds that bag contains," Gibson said.

For the plant and seed identification, the team had 90 minutes to identify 200 samples, Gibson said. The contestants have about 400 possible plants and seeds to pick from.

Willis won top honors overall at both the Kansas City and Chicago contests. He placed first in both seed analysis and plant identification at both contests, seventh in grain grading at Kansas City and third in grain grading at Chicago.

Caplinger placed second individually overall at the Kansas City contest and third individually at Chicago. At Kansas City, he was first in grain grading, second in seed analysis and 10th in plant identification. At Chicago, he was first in grain grading, fifth in seed analysis and fifth in plant identification.

Young took second individually overall at Chicago and third individually at Kansas City. He was second in plant identification, fifth in grain grading and fifth in seed analysis at Kansas City. In Chicago he took first in grain grading, second in plant identification and fifth in seed analysis.

The team started preparing for its season last August. Young said the team spent 10-15 hours each week practicing, not to mention the studying members did on their own.

"The most unique thing about this year's team is that they're the brightest bunch of students I've been involved with," Gibson said. "They picked up things quickly."

Caplinger said the reason the team did so well was its dedication.

"The work and time we spent taught us discipline," Caplinger said. "It's probably the best thing I've done in college so far and will ever do."

Read the Collegian.

ART
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

"That's as far as I could figure out to design the system," Conrad said.

However, he has made plans with William Hudson, associate professor of electrical and computer engineering, to offer a course that would explore the proposals and attempt to produce a machine.

The course is offered for spring 1997, and although there are no prerequisites, students must be of junior standing and have an interest in developing assistive technology.

"We need to be using technology to assist people in all facets of life," Hudson said, referring to mandates in the Americans with Disabilities Act that require assistive provisions for physically impaired people.

Hudson said that although Conrad's proposal is being sold as something for the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art, the ideas it represents need to be considered for the classroom as well.

The course will first begin posing some questions of who would use assistive devices, how they would be used and what they should accomplish, Hudson said.

Hudson said he is approaching the planning of the course so as to leave room for exploration from various viewpoints, for engineering and arts and sciences majors.

He said it would be optimistic to think an actual device would be finished in one semester.

Conrad's proposed assistive device could revolutionize museum-going for both museum staff and patrons, if several factors can be overcome.

Kathrine Walker, education coordinator of the art museum, said she sees Conrad's proposal as a realistic and inexpensive way for smaller museums to offer more to blind patrons.

"The biggest problem is that so far it's been really expensive, so only the big institutions have been attempting it," Walker said.

A small museum like K-State's, Walker said, could not afford the technological investment of Braille images of its art, because exhibitions change frequently.

Walker said she is interested in Conrad's idea of sensing color through temperature or sound.

"If it's really pursued, it will have been a marvelous thing for K-State to develop," she said. "It would be great for biology and engineering, but also for the museum to bring this to the museum community."

Walker said the Beach art museum could only offer a Braille guide to the galleries at this point, although the signage in the museum was designed with visually impaired persons in mind.

She said many museums have turned to audio guides that explain each painting in detail or magnified photographs to better aid visually impaired patrons.

Conrad's main course of research is the development of the human cornea, which he has explored during the past 25 years at K-State while having been continuously funded by the National Institutes of Health.

"This is a very great honor for any K-State faculty member," Conrad said. "This award really celebrates the intellectual diversity of this fine University."

Before proposing his imaging devices, Conrad overviewed the thrust of his research, which has investigated unusual animal cornea characteristics for clues to understand and perhaps cure various human sight abnormalities.

Two other faculty members, Jan Leach in plant pathology and E. Wayne Nafziger in economics, have received the award for 1996. The award includes a $2,000 cash prize courtesy of Commerce Bank.

Timothy Donoghue, vice provost and dean, said it is rare for three faculty members to receive the award in one year.

"We're generally restricted to two a year, but we found three who were without exception this year," Donoghue said.

ABBOTT MANAGEMENT
225 McCall Rd.
(913) 776- 9124
AA Pack'n Ship
•Shipping UPS for all your holiday needs
•We'll pick up, wrap, pack and ship
NEW SERVICE
U-HAUL Dealership

bad coffee sucks.
A whole new coffee experience coming to Aggieville in mid-January.

"Let me listen to me and not to them"
-Gertrude Stein
Claflin Books and Copies

The Community Sanctuary
FREE
•Children for kids up to age 12.
•A ride anywhere you need to go
•Tutoring
Mon.-Fri. 8:30
SATURDAYS 9 a.m. - 12 p.m.
First Congregational Church
700 Poyntz
Call 537-7000 for more information

GLASS IMPRESSIONS
FUN GIFTS
LOTS OF NEW ARRIVALS!
Variety of Glass Oil Candles and Much, Much More...
GLASS IMPRESSIONS
329 Poyntz Ave. 539-4610
Tues-Fri 12-6 • Sat 10-4 • Sun 1-5

VARNEY'S WILL BUY YOUR BOOKS for CASH starting Tuesday!
10% off any Non Textbook items at Varney's Book Store in Aggieville "We Give You Our Best"
SELL YOUR BOOKS AT VARNEY'S
(regardless of where you bought them)
AND GET YOUR YELLOW TOKEN
PLUS
A COUPON GOOD FOR 20% OFF K-STATE SPORTSWEAR
Get your yellow token, which is good for 10% off any non-textbook items. You decide what the token is worth by the amount you purchase. THE MORE YOU BUY THE MORE YOU SAVE! You can use the token whenever you want. Use it for gifts to take home, for something for yourself or for next semester when you buy your school supplies.
BUY BACK SCHEDULE
Tuesday-Saturday, Dec. 10-14 9 a.m.-9 p.m.
Sunday, Dec. 15 Noon-5 p.m.
Monday-Friday, Dec. 16-20 8:30 a.m.-9 p.m.
Saturday, Dec. 21 9 a.m.-9 p.m.
Sunday, Dec. 22 Noon-5 p.m.
Varney's Book Store in Aggieville
9-9 MON.-SAT. "We Give You Our Best" Noon-5 SUN.

Tuesday Nights Live at Chance
Rusty's
MOKSEE from Manhattan
THE SWITCH from Lawerence
LAST CHANCE SALOON
PARTAKE OF OUR
• $1.50 Coronas
• $1.50 Margaritas
• All U can eat tacos only $1.00
from 5-7
1209 Moro Aggieville, U.S.A

Exp. Date 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

kansas state
COLLEGIAN

(HTTP://COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU/) WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1996 VOL. 101, No. 73

Canty issues apology for actions

SPEED

▶ Chris Canty issued a statement of apology Tuesday concerning his actions early Monday morning. He also withdrew his name from the Jim Thorpe Award ballot.

JEREMY KELLEY
sports editor

Just one day after he committed an act that left many people asking why, junior cornerback Chris Canty issued an apology about his actions Monday morning.

Canty's apology came in a press release from K-State Sports Information: "Please accept my sincere apology for the embarrassment I have caused Kansas State University, the people of Manhattan and the state of Kansas," Canty said. "My indiscretion has hurt a lot of people, including my teammates, coaches and family, for which I am truly sorry."

In the same press release he thanked K-State.

"I greatly appreciate the opportunities that I have offered here at Kansas State and will certainly work very hard at presenting myself as a more positive role model in the future," Canty said.

Canty

At press time, Canty could not be reached for further comment.

Not only did Canty make an apology, but he also removed his name from all three top-defensive award ballots. Canty was a finalist for the Jim Thorpe Award, which was to be named Thursday, the Bronko Nagurski Trophy and the Maxwell Defensive Award.

"He decided that there was no integrity in keeping his name on a list after what he had done," Clark Schafer, KSNW-TV sports anchor, said. "So he sent letters to all three awards and asked to be taken off the ballot."

Schafer said the Thorpe award committee was getting word of the incident and that Canty's hopes of receiving the award were slowly dwindling.

On Tuesday evening, the K-State defensive superstar was named a first-team all-American by the Sporting News, just days after he was named Defensive Player of the Year by the Touchdown Club of Columbus. Canty certainly was a forerunner for the Thorpe award.

His roommate, free safety Mario Smith, said he could not comment on the situation because it was team policy not to talk to the press unless Coach Bill Snyder had a chance to speak first.

In a press conference Monday afternoon, Snyder said he was not familiar with the situation and could not make a fair assessment on what was going to happen in the future.

"I cannot comment on the situation, because I don't know what the situation is at this point in time," Snyder said.

Canty led K-State this season with five interceptions and anchored what was perhaps the best secondary in the nation, and K-State has the numbers to back up the statement. The Cats' passing defense is ranked fourth in the nation.

Canty is one of the most highly touted youngsters in the country who have the possibility to go to the NFL after this season. However, Canty has still not not made an announcement of whether he will make the jump.

Cotton Bowl bound Cat fans, it's here!

▶ Want the inside scoop on the Dallas showdown? On the Cats? On BYU? We're there for you this bowl season with in-depth coverage in the six-page Collegian Cotton Bowl Guide. Your copy is in today's Collegian.

▶ Show your spirit with the limited edition Collegian Cotton Bowl commemorative poster. This poster is available Friday and Monday at two locations — the Student Publications Inc. office (Kedzie 103) from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and in the K-State Student Union from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

High court hears Kansas sex case

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — In a case pitting public safety against individual freedom, the Supreme Court was urged Tuesday to let states keep sexually violent predators locked up after they complete their prison sentences.

Confinement is justified when someone has been diagnosed as mentally abnormal and likely to commit new acts of sexual violence, Kansas Attorney General Carla Stovall said.

But an admitted pedophile's lawyer argued the Kansas law creates unconstitutional double punishment for the same crime.

"I don't believe we can incarcerate people solely because they have the possibility of committing a criminal act," said Thomas Weilert, the lawyer for Leroy Hendricks, who was convicted five times of child molesting.

"What is the state supposed to do, just wait until he goes out and does it again?" Chief Justice William Rehnquist asked.

Hendricks has said his death is the only way to guarantee he will not commit new crimes against children.

But the Kansas Supreme Court said the law violated his right to due process, because it let the state confine him without proof of mental illness.

The Kansas law requires a judge or jury to decide whether someone convicted of a sexually violent crime has a mental abnormality and is likely to commit new predatory acts.

Anyone committed to a mental-health facility under the law is entitled to a new evaluation every year.

Five other states have similar laws: Arizona, California, Minnesota, Washington and Wisconsin.

Justice Sandra Day O'Connor said the Kansas law seemed to be a new category of confinement based on a diagnosis of some sort of mental abnormality instead of mental illness.

She noted the justices have let states set their own definitions of mental illness.

"What's the magic to the term mentally ill?" added Justice John

● See COURT Page 6

Alliance sought to unite GTAs

CHARLE SIOUX CHARLETON
staff writer

Five K-State graduate teaching assistants hope to start a dialogue between themselves and other GTAs on campus.

The Organizing Committee for the Graduate Employee Alliance wants to find a mechanism for discussion, to gather information and articulate effective, long-lasting changes, said Bruce Reid, a graduate student in sociology and a GTA.

"We want to form a graduate employees alliance to channel information to and collect information from grad students," Reid said. "Our biggest concern is the quality of education."

There seems to be a real lack of a voice in decision-making in the classrooms, Reid said. But for him, the guts of the University happen in the classroom.

"We need horizontal communication. That is the only way it will work. This University will always survive. The question is, how well?" Reid asked.

Wes Beal, graduate student in English, and another GTA said they were looking more to support other GTAs, not to antagonize anyone. For example, he said, some people might think the issue was money, as in salaries for GTAs. Beal said that's not the case.

"I'm graduating in May, I'm not going to put time and effort in for money I'm never going to see," Beal said. "It's not about

● See GTA Page 6

Tenants discuss telecom proposal

ERICA DUNCAN
staff reporter

Residents of Jardine Terrace Apartments discussed a University proposal that they fear might cause them to lose their right to choose a long-distance carrier.

The Jardine Residents' Council met Monday and said it planned to send a letter to Chuck Werring, director of the Department of Housing and Dining Services, voicing its concerns and urging the proposal be postponed until their requests have been met.

The residents are concerned about their loss of choice if the University decides to implement the telecommunications plan in use by the residence halls.

"It is unfair for the University to not allow a choice in long-distance carriers," Justin Carlson, senior in music and philosophy, said.

The rates available through the University are substantially higher than the rates available through long-distance carriers such as AT&T, MCI or Sprint, the residents said.

International calls made from the University's telecommunication service cost up to $7.50 per minute, 10 times more expensive than services available through other long-distance carriers.

Most of the residents in the residence halls are from the United States, but many Jardine

● See JARDINE Page 6

ANDY PARK, senior in pre-medicine, and Gretchen go back inside after taking a late walk. Gretchen is a female dalmatian.

Not just the topic of a Disney movie, dalmatians could very well be

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

... then again, maybe not according to one veterinarian

STORY BY JACQUELINE BONE ● PHOTOS BY CLIF PALMBERG

Those 101 dalmatians may be cute, but they may not make the best pets.

Dalmatians are a breed of dog famous for racing alongside fire trucks and for having a loud, spotted coat.

The breed was developed to run alongside fire-engine stagecoaches and trucks, so it has great stamina and energy. It has since become a popular pet, although maybe not a very good one in some instances.

"They are very energetic dogs," said Dr. Susan Nelson of Westside Veterinary Clinic. "If people want a calm dog, this is not the dog for them."

Dalmatians require lots of exercise, Nelson said. They are very strong and can also be aggressive.

"They can be suspicious of strangers," Nelson said.

They can be wary of people but should be fine around family members the dog is used to, Nelson said.

Besides being energetic, dalmatians are susceptible to deafness. Potential buyers should be aware of the possibility that the dog may be deaf and take necessary precautions. Try testing the dog by slapping two pans together when it is not looking, Nelson said.

There is a test available through the College of Veterinary Medicine to test hearing in dogs. It is sometimes referred to as the Brainstem Auditory Evoked Response test. Dr. Wally Cash tests the dogs, and a test costs $40 plus Cash's $75-an-hour fee. The test does not take very long, Cash said.

Deafness is hereditary. It is best to research the breed before deciding to purchase a puppy.

Nelson said she recommends buying from a reputable breeder rather than a puppy mill and asking if the puppies and the parents have been tested for deafness. If not, buyers should ask that the puppy be tested before purchasing it. The pan test may not detect partial deafness.

Also to consider before buying one of these seemingly adorable puppies is the fact that they are puppies. They chew. They make messes in the house, and even though they are short-haired, they shed, said Nelson.

Any puppy should have proper training. Dalmatians are no exception.

"I would especially recommend obedience training for dalmatians," Nelson said.

Puppies need health care as well. Starting at about 8 weeks old, puppies should visit the veterinarian for vaccinations. Boosters need to be given about every three to four weeks after that until the dogs are 16-18 weeks old, Nelson said.

Submitting stool samples to check for internal parasites is also a good idea, Nelson said. Owners should put the puppy on a regular heartworm preventative as well.

All this care adds up quickly. A single visit to the veterinarian for annual vaccinations, worming and heartworm testing, and medication can cost about $40.

If owners want to sterilize their pet to guard against accidental parenthood, neutering can cost about $30-$60, depending on where the procedure is done and whether the animal is male or female.

Before buying any puppy, people should research the breed to see if it fits their lifestyle. Consider all costs, safety, care, exercise and environment for the dog.

Be aware of the potential problems concerning dalmatians. Find out if the dog has hearing problems. They need room to run, lots of exercise and someone with the love and patience to understand them.

Faculty Senate amends, clarifies tenure policies

ANDREW FRANCIS
staff reporter

Faculty Senate amended a section of the faculty handbook and added three new sections to clarify the dismissal process of tenured professors Tuesday.

Section C31.5 gives an overview of the performance guidelines of tenured professors. The section describes how a tenured professor's chronic low achievement can mean consideration for dismissal.

Senate also accepted the Faculty Affairs committee's proposal to rewrite a line in section C31.5.

According to the original line, department faculty would have input into any decisions on individual cases, if requested by the tenured faculty member in jeopardy of dismissal.

The amended line states eligible departmental faculty will have input into any decision on individual cases unless the faculty member requests otherwise.

Although the change may seem insignificant, senators said it was necessary to clarify matters of faculty privacy within their respective departments.

The amendment led to the drafting of three new sections which were also accepted. Sections C31.6, C31.7 and C31.8 were added to the faculty handbook to clarify C31.5.

C31.6 was adopted to clarify revocation of tenure.

C31.7 states that before dismissal is considered, less drastic actions should be taken. The section says the department or unit should determine if the duties assigned to the faculty member are reasonable.

C31.8 was drafted to clarify the relationship between annual evaluations for merit, salary and promotions.

David Balk, Faculty Senate president, said the changes to the handbook were necessary because the Office of the Provost asked faculty to review terminology that did not clearly define overall performance.

Jennifer Kassebaum, Senate member and assistant to the university attorney, opposed the amendments. She said it is impossible tc make the questionable terms explicit. She said there are many things a lawyer, on behalf of a faculty member, can do to pick the amendments apart.

John McCulloh, professor of history, said the Faculty Senate thought the changes were unnecessary, but the Kansas Board of Regents refused that answer.

McCulloh said the amendment to C31.5 made the three new sections necessary.

"Once you start, you need the rest of it," McCulloh said.

24 HOURS IN REVIEW

NATION WORLD

• DOCTOR SAYS ORGAN ALLOCATION METHOD COSTS LIVES. A 66-year-old man with chronic liver failure died recently in Pittsburgh after hovering for three days waiting for a liver transplant.

At the same time, liver patients who were not as ill received organs in several distant cities. Some of these lucky patients could have lived many more months without a transplant, but under a national organ-distribution system, they were favored because they lived closer to the donors than did the 66-year-old.

This, said Dr. John Fung, director of a transplant program at the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center, is the main problem with the way donated livers are allocated in the United States.

"Geographic allocation of organs is the single most controversial factor in the liver transplantation field," said Fung. "It is costing lives."

• MARCHERS PROTEST SERBIAN PRESIDENT. Their motives may differ, but independent union leaders hope workers soon will find a place in the mass demonstrations against Serbian president Slobodan Milosevic.

Workers, afraid of losing their jobs and minimal salaries, have been hesitant to join protesters who have vented their anger daily for three weeks in the most serious challenge to Milosevic since he came to power in 1987.

Marches through the capital streets have attracted up to 150,000 students and sympathizers calling for Milosevic's resignation. The protesters have moved beyond their original demand — that Milosevic honor the opposition victories in Nov. 17 local elections, results that later were overturned.

Opposition leaders planned a symbolic boycott of today's first session of a new federal parliament, which represents Serbia and its only remaining partner in Yugoslavia, tiny Montenegro.

• HONG KONG TO MAINTAIN U.S. TIES. High-level defense contacts between the United States and China will continue, and American warships will keep visiting Hong Kong after China regains sovereignty over the British colony, Pentagon officials said.

Defense Secretary William Perry and Chinese Defense Minister Chi Haotian made progress on a range of such military contacts during sessions at the Pentagon on Monday, officials said.

But Perry warned China that continued weapons sales to Iran could backfire if conflict erupts in the region, which China is relying on more and more for oil, said a senior defense official.

Gen. Chi Haotian replied he would consider the point but maintained reports of the sales had been exaggerated.

CITY CAMPUS

• PHOTOS DISPLAYED IN UNION. "Developing Images: the 51st Annual College Photographer of the Year Competition," featuring nearly 75 award-winning photographs from colleges and universities from around the country, will be on display in Union 212 today and Thursday.

The display will be open from noon to 4 p.m. each day.

• RUSSIAN-AMERICAN SCIENCE LECTURE. Yakov Korenman, distinguished professor of chemistry from Voronezh State Technical Academy, Russia, will visit K-State Thursday to present a lecture featuring "The Results of the International Ecological Congress and Opportunities for the Russian-American Scientific Cooperation."

Korenman, an analytical/environmental chemist, will lecture at 3:30 p.m. in Bluemont 343.

Senate agenda

The Student Senate meeting is at 7 tonight in the Union Big 12 Room.

Call to order
Roll call
Approval of minutes
Open period
Announcements
Committee reports
Director's reports
Second readings

Bill 96/97/69	1997-98 election campaign regulations
Bill 96/97/70	Amendment to the SGA by-laws concerning parking and campus safety standing committee and student affairs and social services standing committee
Bill 96/97/71	Educational opportunity fund-allocation procedures
Bill 96/97/72	Constitutional revision: by-laws amendment process
Bill 96/97/73	Constitutional revision concerning constitutional revisions
Bill 96/97/74	Continuance of KSDB-FM 91.9 fee

First readings

Res 96/97/50	Commendation to K-State livestock judging team
Res 96/97/51	Commendation to state representative-elect Jeff Peterson
Resl 96/97/52	Commendation to K-State crops judging team
Bill 96/97/77	Constitutional amendment concerning the definition of candidates for office
Bill 96/97/78	Constitutional amendment concerning absences and proxies

Held in committee

Bill 96/97/75	Student Governing Association spring 1997 special allocation

Open period
Reference of legislation
Announcement of constitution and/or by-law revisions
Adjournment

POLICEBLOTTER

Reports are taken from K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. Because of space constraints, we do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations.

K-STATE POLICE

• MONDAY, DEC. 9

At 6:55 p.m. a fire was reported in a trash chute at Marlatt Hall. Manhattan Fire Department responded.

At 11:49 p.m. Dawn Baker reported being struck by a vehicle in Lot A-5/A-7. An investigation is ongoing.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE DEPT.

• MONDAY, DEC. 9

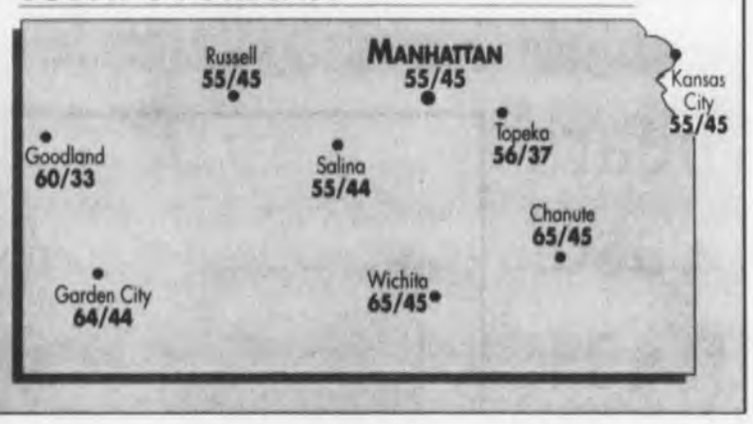
At 2:15 p.m. Les Depew reported damage to a double-pane window at the Manhattan High School east campus. Loss was $1,000.

GO AHEAD. SLEEP IN.
You can still read the Collegian. Look at us online at
(http://collegian.ksu.edu).

WEATHER FORECAST



Later today

Partly cloudy with a high around 55 and lows around 45 degrees. West wind 5-15 mph.

Thursday

Partly sunny with a high around 50.

TODAY'S FORECAST

kansas state
COLLEGIAN

Editor in chief	Kevin Klassen
Managing editor	Claudette Riley
News editor	Kimberly Hefling
Photo editor	Jill Jarsulic
Design team coordinator	Scott M. Ladd
Arts and entertainment editor	Portia Sisco
Campus editor	Sara Edwards
Assistant campus editor	Dan Lewerenz
City/government editor	Nicole Kirby
Copy chief	Rachel Aberle
Opinion editor	Sera Tank
Sports editor	Jeremy Kelley
Electronic Collegian editor	Kady Guyton
Advertising manager	Stacy Foulk
Assistant advertising manager	Karah Levely

By phone
newsroom — 532-6556
campus — 532-0731
city/gov — 532-0731
opinion — 532-0730
darkroom — 532-0735
advertising — 532-6560

By e-mail or on the Web
(collegn@ksu.ksu.edu)
(http://collegian.ksu.edu)

By snail mail
Kansas State Collegian
116 Kedzie Hall
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020) a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc. Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167

© Kansas State Collegian, 1996

BULLETIN BOARD

• The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Carolyn Diana Smith at 12:30 p.m. today in Bluemont 261A.

• The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Abbas Khaleel at 9:30 a.m. today in Chemistry/Biochemistry 437.

• International Coordinating Council meets at 6:30 p.m. Wednesdays in the International Student Center.

• The Society of Professional Journalists will present a photo display titled "Developing Images: the 51st Annual College Photographer of the Year Competition" from noon to 4 p.m. today in Union 212. Anyone is welcome to stop by and take a look.

• German Stammtisch will meet at 7 tonight at the Espresso Royale Caffe in Aggieville.

• Ag Ambassadors/REPS will meet at 6 p.m. Thursday in Waters 328.

• Pre-Physical Therapy Club will meet at 6 p.m. Thursday at the Aggieville Pizza Hut.

• CSP Tutoring is now accepting applications for the spring semester. Call 532-5701 to find out how you can help area youth.

• Help an international student with spoken English, and learn firsthand about a different culture. Be a volunteer for the Conversational English Program.

Contact Alan Aubert at the International Student Center, 532-6448, or e-mail him at (aaubert@ksu.edu).

Your ad could be here!

Call 532-6555 for details.

MARY WALGRAVE rakes leaves into piles along the wall along Manhattan Avenue on Monday. Walgrave spent about two hours raking the leaves.
CLIF PALMBERG Collegian

Television broadcasters propose rating system for programming

Associated Press

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The TV industry is moving toward a six-tier rating system similar to the one used for movies, ranging from TV-G designating material suitable for all audiences to TV-M for mature audiences only.

The plan would flag children's shows, using a K.

The proposed system was described today by broadcasters and government officials who spoke on condition of anonymity. It is expected to be unveiled next week.

The TV industry has said it plans to begin rating broadcast, cable and public TV shows by January.

But the proposal, under attack by children's advocacy groups, must be approved by federal regulators before taking effect. Critics hope to win changes in the regulatory process.

Under the proposed plan, shows would be rated using the following categories: K, material suitable for children of all ages; K-7, material suitable for children 7 and older; TV-G" material suitable for all audiences; TV-PG,"parental guidance is suggested; TV-14, material may be inappropriate for children under 14; and TV-M, for mature audiences only.

Specific definitions are being worked out. The Washington Post, citing internal industry documents, provided some of the details in today's editions.

For instance, a TV-G rating means the program may contain infrequent coarse language, limited violence, and some suggestive sexual dialogue and situations, the Post reported.

The rating TV-14,"the Post said, means programs may contain sophisticated themes, strong language and sexual content. The rating TV-M means the program may contain profane language, graphic violence and explicit sexual content.

> "Parents want to know is it violence or is it sex? But if it is all in one huge category, it is fairly useless."
> • EDWARD MARKEY, DEMOCRAT REPRESENTATIVE, MASSACHUSETTS

Rep. Edward Markey, D-Mass., who wrote legislation calling upon the industry to rate programs, wants a system that gives viewers more information about a program's content, including sex, violence and language.

"Parents want to know is it violence or is it sex? But if it is all in one huge category, it is fairly useless," he said.

It has been widely known that the industry has been focusing on an age bracket rather than a content-based rating system.

Facing an end-of-the-year deadline, some lawmakers, children's advocacy groups, the National Parent Teacher Association and others say they will put more pressure on the industry to try the content approach.

They propose a system similar to the one used by cable networks and premium movie channels that provides viewers with information about sex, violence and language in the show and the intensity of each.

If an age-based ratings system is adopted, cable networks now using a content-based system may continue doing so, cable executives said.

Eventually, the ratings system will work with a computer chip, dubbed the V-chip, that would be installed in new TV sets to allow people to block programs from their TV screens.

▶ AGRICULTURE

Search continues to fill teaching vacancy

> "It's a very long process. This is definately not a snap decision."
> • MILES MCKESS PROFESSOR OF ANIMAL SCIENCES AND INDUSTRY AND CURRICULUM COORDINATOR

Debbie Wood
staff reporter

The College of Agriculture is trying to find someone to teach its anatomy and physiology course that has been vacant for two years.

Dan Upson retired in 1994, which left no one to instruct the students. The class was originally designed to fulfill graduation credits, but because the professor retired and no one could teach the class, the agriculture college did not hold that against the students.

"Much of the material is covered in other courses, such as farm animal reproduction and many of our beef courses. Not having this class has never been a hindrance to graduate," said Miles McKee, professor of animal sciences and industry and curriculum coordinator for the agriculture college.

Originally, the College of Veterinary Medicine taught the course as a service for non-veterinary students. Then a crunch in the budget forced the teaching to a close.

Now the agriculture college wants this class to be under its wing and is looking to hire a new professor.

To find a replacement, the college has placed advertising in nationwide journals.

As a result, a large number of résumés have been sent in and screened for the three or four candidates to be interviewed.

"It's a very long process. This is definitely not a snap decision," McKee said.

▶ NATION

Conservatives attack MCA, Geffen records

Associated Press

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Former Education Secretary William Bennett, an outspoken conservative voice on issues of morality, said Tuesday that Universal Studios Inc. is violating a commitment not to distribute profane or violent music.

Universal Studios, formerly MCA Inc., sells music recordings under the MCA and Geffen labels.

"MCA now joins other corporations in America in trying to make as much money as it can out of the wreckage of civilization," Bennett said at a news conference. "Their word is not worth anything."

When Interscope Records — the label behind some of music's most controversial rappers — moved to MCA in February, MCA said it would not profit from or distribute music it found offensive, said Bennett's aide, Christian Pinkston.

Interscope artists included gangsta rapper Snoop Doggy Dogg and the late Tupac Shakur.

But so far, MCA has failed to live up to its commitment, said Bennett, Sen. Joseph Lieberman, D-Conn., and C. DeLores Tucker of the National Political Congress of Black Women, who previously have teamed up to criticize gangsta rap and other music containing violent and sexually explicit lyrics.

"Gangsta rap, pornographic pedophile rap, containing those insidious thuggish and denigrating lyrics is race-driven, drug-driven, violence-driven and — the bottom line for these drooling corporate executives — monstrously greed-driven," Tucker said.

MCA Music Entertainment Group said Tuesday that it is monitoring the content of its releases and as a result of the process, MCA has chosen not to release certain music. This is a subjective process and not everyone will always agree with these decisions.

Hilary Rosen, president of the Recording Industry Association of America here, said MCA declined to release "Death Row's Greatest Hits," an album of gangsta rap.

"MCA passed on distributing that record, and it's probably going to make a lot of money," Rosen said. "Just because Mr. Bennett and Ms. Tucker found some record that MCA does distribute and they don't like. That's always going to happen."

MCA's acquisition — a deal valued at $200 million — came after Time Warner Inc. dropped its Interscope stake in September 1995 in the midst of attacks about explicit lyrics.

Among the critics were Bennett and Bob Dole, then a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

As part of the agreement, MCA reserved the right to pass on so-called objectionable records Interscope might be considering releasing.

Gangsta rap accounts for less than one-fifth of Interscope's sales.

Records deemed unacceptable were to be manufactured, distributed and marketed by unrelated companies, and MCA would not share in the profits.

Our Commitment To You Goes Beyond Entertainment...
Others: Expensive installation fees; Huge dishes; Extra equipment to buy; Channel bleeds or moves
Heartland: Free installation; Not a satellite dish; No equipment to buy; Crystal clear reception
Problems: Constant adjustments; High repair costs; Expensive fees
Benefits: Basic cable plus 2 premiums; Local sales & service; Local news & weather; Affordable family entertainment
Call Today! Basic Cable plus HBO & Cinemax Just $29.95
HEARTLAND WIRELESS COMMUNICATIONS, INC.
1562 Hayes Drive Manhattan, KS 66502
1-913-776-3512 1-800-416-5640
...Heartland Wireless, There's Just No Comparison!
Some restrictions apply. Offer expires 12/31/96.

Ho, Ho, Ho! Need Some Dough?
Christmas cash coming up short this season? New donors can receive $20 on their first visit , or they haven't returned within six months. For more information call the friendliest staff in town at 776-9177!
MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER
1130 Gardenway
Mon.-Fri. 9-6:30 & Sat. 9-2
(We will be closed Christmas Day)

Our Gift To You...
With our thanks for your business throughout 1996.
20% Off Storewide
All Fall and Winter Regular Priced Merchandise
Now Through December 24
1225 Moro Woody's ladies Aggieville
Open till 8:00 p.m. Mon.-Thurs. Beginning December 9th.

WHOLESALE BEAUTY CLUB
539-5999 CLUB BEAUTY SALON 409 Poyntz
Open Mon.-Sat. 9 a.m.-8 p.m., Sun. 1-5 p.m.
Extended Hours on Sunday Noon-6 p.m
Christmas Watches! Only $9.99
Other Fashion Watches and Clocks Only $8.88
Great Hair Dryer Sale! Many Professional Dryers Only $9.99
Paul Mitchell & Nioxin Buy 1 Get 1 at 1/2 Price!
Joico: Christmas Duo Pak - 8 oz. Triage 8 oz. Integrity, Only 6.65 (that's half price)
Helen of Troy: -Hot Setter #1344 Only $14.99 (reg. $19.99)
•Free Volumizer #6076 with Purchase of Hair Dryers #6096, #6097, #6098
OPI: Nail Polish Only $2.99 ($5 Value)
SAVE ON DESIGNER FRAGRANCES
* DUNE EDT Spray 1.7 oz - Only $29.99 Reg $45
* WHITE DIAMONDS EDT Spray 3.3 oz-Only $29.99 Reg. $42
* POISON EDT Spray 1.7 oz - Only $29.99 Reg. $53
* BODACIOUS Gift set Only $29.99 Reg. $45
* COOL WATER EDT Spray 2.5 oz - Only $29.99 Reg. $42.50
* LAGERFELD Cologne Spray 2.5 oz - Only $19.99 Reg. $32
* NAUTICA EDT Spray 1.7 oz - Only $19.99 Reg. $30
* CLUB BEAUTY SALON SPECIALS *
A Day of Beauty at Club Beauty Salon 25% Off!
Haircuts Only $10 Up Do's $15
Hair Color Starting at Only $25
Full Set Artificial Nails Only $20
Christmas Manicure Special Only $10
(Holiday Nail Art Included)
Manicure, Pedicure Combo Only $20
Message Therapy $10 off First Time Clients GIFT CERTIFICATES!
Purchase a $25 Gift Certificate and Receive $5 of FREE Merchandise

iomega Get Zip . It's Hip.
It helps you make the grade.
Back to school!
get up to a $70 rebate
iomega. ...Because it's your stuff™
Offer expires Jan. 31,1997
Give 'em ZIP for the Holidays!
COLD CASH or COOL STUFF with zip
Zip is the one drive for all your stuff.
•Unlimited hard drive expansion
•Easy backup -- for all your stuff
•Portability -- goes anywhere
•Low price for affordable solutions
•Reliability you can count on
•100MB capacity per disk
•Great for all your multimedia and web page stuff
K-State Student Union Bookstore 532-6583

kansas state collegian
OPINION
EDITOR: SERA TANK 532-0730 (KAROLYI@KSU.EDU) WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1996 PAGE 4

IN OUR OPINION

Get the books; catch up on the notes; get started

Procrastination is going to catch up with you.

Finals week is almost here. It's closing in on you. Quickly.

Save yourself a headache and a sleepless night spent cramming for your French test, and start your studying now.

WHY WE CARE

Finals week is creeping up on us. Getting a headstart on test preparations could alleviate an enormous amount of stress.

Monday will be here before you know it. Time always goes faster when you don't want it to. Finals week is no exception to this rule.

Now would be a good time to buy those books you've been neglecting to purchase all semester. And, since you've spent the money to buy the book, you might as well study it.

If you had a problem with attending classes, now might also be a good time to become fast friends with your classmates — the ones who have attended lectures and already have the book. Heck, it might even be nice if they have some highlighted sections in the book.

You wouldn't really be using them — it's more of a last-minute bonding session. It'll be fun.

Go to the review sessions. Many professors will give you keen hints as to what you will see on the final. They will at least give you some kind of guide as to which sections of the materials are most in need of your utmost attention.

And the most important part of your finals week: Verify the times, dates and locations of every one of your tests. Don't just trust the syllabus. During all those classes you've missed, the professor might have changed the times. Ask that new, studious friend of yours.

And when finals week is finally over, breathe a sigh of relief. It's all over — until next semester, anyway. But let's not harp on that.

Go to Aggieville. Dance the dance, and drink a beer.

But be considerate in your post-test festivities. Just because you're done with your finals on Wednesday doesn't mean your roommate or neighbors are.

Keep the whooping, hollering and loud music at the bars.

In Our Opinion, an editorial discussed and chosen by a majority of the editorial board, is written by the editorial board. For information on who is an editorial board member or how you can become a member, contact Sera Tank at (karolyi@ksu.edu)

Women, ethnic groups not celebrated, represented in holiday festivities, icons

Ever notice how the cast of most holidays is dominated by the male of the species?

MY

Page GETZ

In examining the images of American (or Americanized) holidays as the media projects them, two trends become evident: the dominance of the male image or of the androgynous-but-implied male character and gender stereotypes prevalent in the few female roles in children's holiday films and books.

Women's roles are limited to three categories, including what I would call the media-type, consisting of the witch or vamp seductress (i.e. Elvira), the young and naive, but flawlessly beautiful belle (i.e. the angel), the nurturing and older maternal figure (i.e. Mrs. Claus) and the wicked old-maid-type witch.

In every case, black is used to symbolize evil and white to symbolize good. In most stories, for example when Santa visits a family, the people involved almost are always affluent or upper middle class.

The exception to this is usually the Christmas stories revolving around the kind family that is down on its luck, a theme especially prevalent in stories originating during the Great Depression.

Families are almost always two-parent nuclear households with sophisticated working fathers and nurturing housewives, but always heterosexual couples.

An interesting and more subtle trend are the depictions of husbands often appearing much older than their wives.

Christmas, being the significant Christian holiday, reflects the patriarchal tradition of Jesus and the apostles, the wise men and the drummer boy, all male.

Even most secular holiday images in children's stories are almost completely male.

Popular male characters include Frosty the SnowMAN, Santa Claus and the elves, the Gingerbread MAN, Rudolph and all the reindeer, Jack Frost, the Grinch that stole Christmas, Scrooge and even the Velveteen Rabbit.

The only significant female roles are the Virgin Mary, whose only function is in childbearing, and Mrs. Claus, whose significance is limited to her role as the servant, or wife, of Santa.

Angels are also usually female, appearing in white, symbolic of purity and innocence. But the implication is always that they are the agents or employees of the male God figure.

In older depictions of Christmas, girls wear dresses and almost always have blond hair, usually long, and about half of the young girls in these depictions carry dolls, while the boys carry teddy bears, if anything.

Older girls may carry dolls, too, or their sisters.

Halloween, as it is celebrated in contemporary American culture, is generally secular, and its cast is almost exclusively media-generated reproductions of the traditions of both sexism and European folk horror.

Dracula, Frankenstein, the Headless HorseMAN, werewolves, mummies, trolls, ghosts and ghouls, demons, the scarecrow and the Great Pumpkin are all male, usually violent, oppressive and dominant, sometimes seductive, usually targeting a helpless woman.

Female characters, such as Elvira or some witches, are sexualized as evil and exotic, often seducing the prey or whose power is strictly sexual.

Most common portrayals of women are of the evil, ugly, old witch hermit whose physical appearance is the most frightening of all her powers.

Easter, St. Patrick's Day and Valentine's Day are less significant, having fewer characters.

The Easter Bunny, while ambiguously genderless, is referred to as male.

St. Patrick was male as well as all leprechauns. St. Valentine as well as Cupid were male, too.

Thanksgiving portrayals, without exception, revolve around the women in the kitchen, cooking and slaving very cheerily while the patriarch is at the head of the table and is responsible for cutting the turkey.

In historical depictions of Thanksgiving day, Native Americans were portrayed as happy, almost servant-like savages, eager to help the white man.

Notable also is the celebration of the contributions of men.

These include Columbus Day, Washington's birthday and Lincoln's birthday. There are also holidays celebrating male-dominated fields: President's Day, Veterans' Day, United Nation's Day, Labor Day (which, in 1882, when it was first observed, was primarily male) and Armed Forces Day.

The only person of color observed is Martin Luther King Jr., and no women are represented in any national holiday other than Mother's Day.

Page Getz is a sophomore in journalism and women's studies. You can e-mail her at (namaste@ksu.edu).

It's the law

Hypocritical thinking rationalizes, overlooks the crime at hand

MY

Russell FORTMEYER

Manhattan meets Dodge City.

Or, as a dear friend jokingly says, "If hypocrites could fly, this place would be an airport."

Although his line is usually targeted at Student Governing Association, it could be increasingly pointed toward the campus community.

This semester, as I have served on the Collegian's editorial board and generally just observed campus life in my usual way, a recurring theme in many so-called controversial stories has been that breaking the law isn't so bad anymore, depending on which law you break.

In fact, if you get caught, you had better hope there is something more controversial, such as roofies or masturbation, to overshadow the mere fact you have broken a law.

Take the early semester's alleged roofies case involving under-age sorority women partying at a fraternity.

It doesn't matter which house.

Several of them passed out because of what they thought was a roofies poisoning.

The ensuing controversy had the women blaming the men for getting them into physical trouble when many of them had no idea how they made it back to their sorority and into bed.

You know, folks, I've always considered myself to be a liberal and not too stuffy (I write stuffy, yeah, but I'm not too stuffy), but I asked my fellow editorial-board members to forget the roofies aspect of the case for one minute.

How did the story read now?

Under-age sorority women were drinking alcoholic beverages at a fraternity. I remember when this and this alone could get someone in trouble with the law.

Luckily for greek culture on this campus, the University and city have made it more than easy for these very types of parties to proliferate. For all the superficial issues events sponsored by Greek Affairs, this issue might be addressed, but never seriously.

Where is the fine line between high-school drinking and trouble, and college drinking and fun?

Why are our parents outraged to find a freshman in high-school drinking, yet see college under-age drinking as completely normal?

It's laughed off as something kids just do.

I'm not a purveyor of pop psychology, but could this relative acceptance of under-age drinking by the establishment lie behind the problems facing society as these under-age drunks grow up drinking excessive amounts of alcohol to enjoy life?

I dare this administration, or our state lawmakers, to forget giving some state university address about the budget and address this widespread problem instead.

Well, you and I both know that will never happen.

As my column addressing the elitist campus culture illustrated, the very people at the root of the problem have little, if any, desire to face it for fear of finding an ugly truth.

Why upset a regimen of systematic law-breaking when it works so well?

This issue of hypocrisy is more than a local one (although one could argue Manhattan to be the cradle of Kansas hypocrisy).

Voters in California overwhelmingly approved the medicinal use of marijuana although it is illegal in this country — last time I checked.

BILL KRAAI/Collegian

No matter. Critically ill patients continue to use it. I don't condemn relieving the pain of these patients, but I do condemn breaking the law.

If marijuana is such a necessary remedy, where is the research evidence that proves to the government to legalize it on a widespread scale?

Until this happens, how can people continue to knowingly break the law?

This past week, the Collegian reported on the effect of the Brady Bill on gun sales.

Apparently, it's just as easy to purchase a gun from the illegal market as it is to legitimately buy one. As my friend points out from a bumper sticker, "The West wasn't won with a registered gun."

A gun-shop owner was quoted in the story as saying the Brady Bill is more or less a waste of time, because people will steal the guns they can't buy. With responsible, law-abiding citizens like him selling guns, I feel so much safer.

> "There is a growing faction of our society that believes breaking the law — as long as you get away with it — isn't so hard or wrong to do."

The fact this story merited little attention then or now is a sad public comment. In past years, a gun-shop owner who fueled lawlessness would not have continued to own a gun shop for much longer.

To tell the truth, I would advocate widespread prostitution before I would grant this owner a retail gun license.

Of course, prostitution has that unwelcome stamp of being treated as both an illegal crime and a religious taboo.

These cases add up to a crisis, in my opinion. There is a growing faction of our society that believes breaking the law — as long as you get away with it — isn't so hard or wrong to do.

It's when people start hypocritically standing up for this false right that things get ugly.

Russell Fortmeyer is a senior in architectural engineering. You can reach him by e-mail at (rmf@ksu.edu).

READERS WRITE

• To submit a letter

1. Visit the Collegian newsroom. Submit letters to Sera Tank at Kedzie 116.
2. Drop it in the mail. Send letters to Letters to the Editor, c/o Sera Tank, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506.
3. Send it by e-mail. Our e-mail address is (collegn@spub.ksu.edu).
4. Remember this. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo ID will be necessary for hand-delivered letters. Letters must be in prose form. No poetry will be accepted. Letters may be edited for length, clarity and grammar.

Former roommate says Avila's past actions are most important

Editor,

As a former roommate and longtime friend of Chris Avila, I want to to point out that the front-page story of him in last Friday's paper really infuriated me. Everybody who has a rational mind can see, the coverage of only one side of a story would simply ruin another person's life. (As I know, his job already asked him to resign.) I don't want to comment on the story. It's his private life and has nothing to do with Rebecca Baalmann, who peeked across the street.

I simply want everybody who read this paper to know what a nice person I think Chris is. When I first arrived here from another country two years ago, it was Chris who became my friend and helped me to adapt to this new society. It was also Chris who drove 300 miles in his brand-new car to pick me up last Thanksgiving after my car broke down in a small town in Oklahoma. It was he who gave me a first real Christmas gift. It was through him I met so many of the friends I have right now.

And I believe if Nicole Kirby spent more time walking around campus and talked to all the people who know him, almost everyone would tell you something nice about him.

No matter what happens in the future about this issue, he will always be my friend, and I will always be proud of having a friend like him.

Xiao-Min Lin
graduate student in physics

Baalmann wants to set record straight concerning Avila arrest

Editor,

The article "Student senator charged" was very poorly written, and I am outraged that the whole story was not told. I am Becky Baalmann, the victim of sexual assault. When I read the article by Nicole Kirby, I laughed. I laughed because she failed to make the public aware of many facts.

The fact that Avila admitted to the police officer that he did want my roommate and me to see him while he was masturbating, and the fact that Avila also admitted to the officer to doing this same thing last year to the women who lived in my apartment, weren't in the article. Why? The Collegian once again has shown its poor taste and lack of experience by printing that article. By leaving out important pieces of the story, it misled its readers.

I walked into one of my classes, and they were laughing at the article. I told them the whole story, and I didn't leave any parts out. They weren't laughing anymore. Why is it the victim has to tell the story for readers to know all the facts? If the readers had known the whole story, would their response have been the same? My roommate and I were not staring out windows observing him. We were closing our blinds. There is a difference between observing and seeing.

I saw Avila completely naked, looking over toward my apartment, masturbating. I felt very uncomfortable and scared. When I shut my blinds, he shut his door. Why should people have to feel uncomfortable in their home?

Avila has the right to do anything he wants in his own home, but his right becomes negated when his actions include sexual harassment. This article might prevent others who have been a victim to this same kind of sexual harassment from reporting it to the police for fear people will receive inadequate information and get their name printed in the Collegian. My name should not have been in the paper, because it was a sexual assault.

Student Senate chairwoman Aubrey Abbott said, "Senators' actions outside Senate aren't any concern of ours." Do you want someone like this on Student Senate? I don't! Finally, if any student athlete committed this crime, would it be of any concern to the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics? Why should it be different for somebody on Student Senate?

Becky Baalmann
freshman in early childhood education

E-mail forgery is not difficult to accomplish with 5 commands

Editor,

From personal experience I know it is possible to forge an e-mail in such a way that the recipient cannot tell any forgery has taken place. I tried that a few months ago with a friend, just to see if it actually worked, and the extended header didn't show any sign the e-mail had been tampered with.

I repeated the experiment with my Computing and Network Service account today, sending an e-mail from my personal computer to my own CNS account but typing in a different sender and hanging a few other settings. I couldn't find any evidence of what I had done in the full header of the e-mail I received, just that it appeared to have come from a nonexistent account on a different machine. Of course, I could just as well have typed in an existing account.

The Collegian either misquoted Tweed Ross, or what he said is just plain wrong. The mentioned experiment was a matter of just five commands. If I can do it, anyone with a little knowledge of how SMTP works can. It is simply not true that the header of an e-mail will always tell you who sent it. It is very easy to make it look as if it came from any other machine on the same local network as the true sender's machine. If I had access to a nameserver, I could even make it look as if it came from anyone, anywhere.

It's like writing a wrong return address on an envelope, and it really is just as simple.

The message this sends should be clear. If you receive harassing e-mail, there's always a good chance it doesn't actually come from whomever it appears to be coming from. It might be someone who wants to get that person into trouble. Unfortunately, there are some people on the Internet who think this is a nice practical joke.

Stephan Bartels
graduate teaching assistant in mathematics

Reader apologizes to Collegian

Editor,

I wanted to take the opportunity to apologize and amend my previous letter in reference to Student Senator Chris Avila's recent legal problems.

When I composed my letter (at 6:30 a.m.) accusing the Collegian of poor judgment in running that story, I was acting out of empathy for an individual in a highly embarrassing situation, which is certainly not the same as a critical evaluation of the Collegian's actions. Shortly after turning in my letter, I began to reflect upon the Collegian's good, responsible coverage of K-State's football coach arrested for DUI and speaking out against it.

I also remember many other instances in which the Collegian has criticized the behavior of some of K-State's higher-profile individuals, which is, in hindsight, the duty the Collegian faced up to when running the story about Avila. It is my opinion that the Collegian is an excellent paper, certainly the finest in Manhattan. Please accept my apology for contributing a cursory and negligible letter to the Collegian. Keep up the good work.

Josh Baze
senior in advertising

Reader says it's one word against another in Avila arrest

Editor,

I would like to respond to the Dec. 6 article concerning Chris Avila. I won't bother with the barrage of derogatory comments about the Collegian. Several others have already covered that, and it is well-deserved.

The thing that jumps out at me is it is one person's word against another. Supposedly, there is a roommate who serves as a second witness. However, this person is unnamed. That means that individual is not willing to put himself or herself on the line to back up what he or she is asserting. That reduces credibility to zero.

Essentially, what we are left with is one person's claim, virtually unsupported by any other evidence, yet a warrant was sworn out. Was Avila simply questioned privately by the police before having to be arrested? That is not stated in the article. If one person's claim is enough to cause an arrest and be subjected to public ridicule and certain shame, that is pretty scary. It would be a wake-up call in these politically correct times that we live in. It wasn't long ago that the McMartin family had their lives ruined by unsupported claims of child abuse. It cost one member more than five years in prison before his name was cleared. But will it ever really be cleared? And at what cost?

The presented facts (rather the lack thereof) and the purely subjective quality of the accusation leveled should cause us to consider whether a grievous error is being made here. Does the complete whoring associated with all parties of the O.J. Simpson trial have people so paranoid and delusional that they want revenge on someone — and by doing this, making it profitable to print weak trash about a situation like that concerning Avila?

Apparently so, because the Collegian prints it, and the public reads it and is ready to pronounce judgment from its easy chair. The only catch is who's to say who will be next? Are you guilty or innocent in the court of public whim and prejudice?

Randy Crow
1995 K-State graduate

Reader says women violated Manhattan's Peeping Tom Statute

Editor,

I am not normally one to write to the Collegian and voice my opinion, but I could not allow this to slide. I was very upset to see the very public humiliation in Friday's Collegian of Student Senator Chris Avila. Since when is the private life of any of the students here at K-State newsworthy enough to print on the front page?

Chris Avila did nothing wrong in my opinion. He was in his own house minding his own business. If anyone should be embarrassed, it should be the women who reported him to the police. Can we say Peeping Tom statute? Yes, ladies and gentleman, the City of Manhattan has one of those, and these girls were violating it. Maybe they should have charges pressed against them.

The article was in poor taste. I realize K-State is not brimming with breaking news, but printing a story such as this needed to be carefully thought through with all the facts completely checked out.

The staff of the Collegian needs to put themselves in Avila's shoes. His reputation is ruined. Were you even thinking about that when the article went to press?

The article ruins the reputation of the Collegian as well. In my book it has gone from a semi-respectable newspaper to the college equivalent of a tabloid.

Kelly Flynn
sophomore in electronic journalism and advertising

Collegian article's only success was in humiliating Avila

Editor,

I read your article on Dec. 6 regarding Chris Avila with dismay. I am appalled that an individual's private actions caused such a level of hysteria for Becky Baalmann. Her approach of the situation was prudish, and she handled it very poorly. All that was needed was to simply inform him the activities he engaged in in the privacy of his home were viewable by others when his blinds were open. That's it.

He then could have taken measures to ensure his privacy and not offend his neighbors. If he were engaging in intercourse with a female, nothing would have been printed and probably nothing done — certainly not a call to the police.

I also noticed Baalmann's area of study is early-childhood education. Will she respond the same in a school or day-care if she witnesses children touching themselves?

Baalmann must not comprehend the ramifications of her actions against Avila. Does she understand the level of damage she has caused? Did the Collegian even consider the level of damage it caused Avila by printing this story along with his picture?

The Collegian then published its justification, which amazed me, for printing this article. Such pompousness! There was no intent to cause bodily harm. Yet the Collegian insists on its right to print this.

Does the Collegian also view practicing homosexuals on campus worthy of reporting? What about couples who have oral sex? Apparently, we must all make efforts to check out our windows so our sexual practices aren't recorded, the police aren't called and our pictures aren't published.

Regardless of a person's moral views on another's method of sexual expression, tolerance should be the rule. It was presumptuous of Baalmann to impose her opinions of masturbation on Avila. It is presumptuous of the Collegian to insist it has the right to report others' sex lives.

Lori Liermann
junior in information systems

FRIENDS DON'T LET FRIENDS DRIVE DRUNK
Funding in part provided by the City of Manhattan

Purple Santa Hats Are Now In!
New: Christmas buddies with purple Santa hats make ideal holiday gifts.
Confetti's Party Shop
712 N. Manhattan Ave. (Aggieville) 537-2002

Krystallos
For the beautiful and unusual.
Clothing, jewelry, gifts and stocking stuffers.
708 N. Manhattan • Aggieville

Take Timee Out To Relax And Clear Your Mind
Unwind with a
Mini - spa treatment: Includes a 20 minute massage & Revitalizing facial $45.00
Purchase 3 Massage Treatments and receive 4th for free (1 hour, 45 min or 30 min)
Herbal Scalp Massage with mini - facial $35.00
Gift Certificates Available
essentials
Hair salon & Therapeutic Massage
108 S 4th
539-2622

GLASS IMPRESSIONS
K-STATE GIFTS
ETCHED GLASS FROM OUR STUDIO
Paperweights, Ornaments, Pen Sets
Oil Candles, Bookends, Pendants
Glass Impressions • 539-4515
309 Poyntz Ave. - Downtown
PUBLIC HOURS: Tu-Fr 12-6, Sat 10-4

LAFENE HEALTH CENTER
HOLIDAY HOURS
The staff of Lafene health center wishes everyone a safe and happy holiday season.

Dec. 23-24	8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
Dec. 25	Closed
Dec. 26-27	8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
Dec. 28-29	Closed
Dec. 30-31	8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
Jan. 1	Closed
Jan. 2-3	8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
Jan. 4-5	Closed
Jan. 6-10	8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
Jan. 11-12	Closed
Jan. 13-17	8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
Jan. 18	10:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m.
Jan. 19	Closed
Jan. 20	10:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m.

Regular Clinic hours resume January 21
Contact a local hospital in case of emergency
University Counseling Services
Closed Dec. 25 - Jan. 1

If you're interested in Blue Key,
Selection Applications will be available
Thursday January 16 in the SGA
Office and Dean of Student Life Office.
Information meeting
Tuesday, January 21 in the Big 12 Room
7pm - 8pm
Blue Key
National Honor Fraternity

COURT

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Paul Stevens.

Stovall said the Kansas law was limited to people convicted of sexually predatory crimes in an effort to identify those who pose the greatest risk to the community.

She said Kansas has never looked at civil commitment as punishment for a crime.

Some justices appeared troubled by Weilert's argument that people cannot be confined in an effort to protect society.

"What is the rationale? Everyone has a constitutional right to commit a crime once before he can be committed?" Justice Anthony Kennedy asked.

Weilert said states could try to prevent people such as Hendricks from committing future crimes by setting conditions on their paroles, such as requiring them to stay away from children.

But O'Connor said, "It's just not very effective with someone with this abnormality, is it?"

Weilert noted the state instead could have sentenced Hendricks to life in prison, prompting Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg to wonder, "Why does the Constitution force the most harsh solution?"

"Maybe the harsher course is the only one that is less manipulable," suggested Justice Antonin Scalia. "Totalitarian regimes don't put people in jail for crimes. They commit them for treatment."

Kansas prosecutors invoked the law in 1994 to stop Hendricks' release after he served 10 years in prison. A jury ruled that Hendricks, 62, was a sexually violent predator, and a judge sent him to a state mental hospital.

In throwing out the law, the Kansas Supreme Court relied on a 1992 Supreme Court decision that said insane people acquitted of crimes cannot be kept in mental hospitals after regaining their sanity just because they might still be dangerous.

Hendricks has remained confined in a Kansas state hospital because the justices delayed the effect of the state court's ruling. The high court is expected to issue a decision by July.

JARDINE

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

residents are international students and cannot afford to spend up to $7.50 per minute on a call to their native countries.

Acknowledging the needs of international students is important, Carlson said.

Right now Jardine residents have off-campus telephone numbers.

"I don't think we need to be on campus," David Bradford, graduate student in mechanical engineering, said. "It's already set up so we're off campus, so why change it?"

Residents said they worry the change will hurt Jardine's population.

"If this plan is implemented, many people may not want to live in Jardine, and people who live here may want to move out," Gangyi Feng, graduate student in chemical engineering, said.

Feng said he thinks the University went about the proposal very unprofessionally.

Many residents voiced their concerns there is no concrete information available to them. The residents said they were informed of the implementation but not the proposal.

GTA

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

money. It's about quality education."

Beal said GTAs from different departments have different concerns. What they want is a way for people to express their concerns.

"For example, for those of us teaching English classes, larger classes mean less time to really focus on what our students need," Beal said. "If we ever became concerned about money, then that issue could be addressed."

The original list of basic issues came from a survey taken by Reid and a few other GTAs about a year ago.

Initially they talked among themselves, then took the survey, Reid said. Wanting to open a dialogue between graduate students and the administration, they met twice with the Graduate Student Council.

"We wanted them to be familiar with us," Reid said. "We also talked to as many grad student associations within each department as possible. We asked for input, and we got a lot of feedback."

Reid was very much aware of the graduate student unionization problem at the University of Kansas, he said, having acquired his undergraduate degree there. KU graduate students met with with much resistance from the administration when they tried to unionize. He wants to avoid a similar problem at K-State by achieving a cooperative effort between the graduate students and the administration.

They met with Vice Provost Timothy Donoghue in his office once. Reid talked to Donoghue twice on the phone, once last year and once Monday.

"We asked Dean Donoghue to work with us on this," Reid said. "We did ask for a cooperative effort on this, just so grad students could organize and work on this as a team with the administration."

One long-term goal is to open communication between GTAs and the administration, Reid said. What they do not want, Reid said, is short-term solutions to long-term problems.

Another GTA, Matthew Brooks, graduate student in English, said the organizing committee members are trying their hardest to be objective and to gather and give information. They want to hear from other people.

"We're not here to make decisions for people," Brooks said. "We're here to listen to people and take that to others."

Ultimately it is up to the graduate students. It will probably be put up to a vote. Eventually, the people overseeing the process would be elected, he said.

"No one wants to do away with anything. We want to institute something for the graduate students," Brooks said.

Reid said there is a sense of need that something like this could, and most likely would, benefit everyone. The momentum is out there across the state and nationwide.

"This situation is not peculiar to us," Reid said. "We are talking. We know who we are talking to. The administration does not."

Be sure to pick up your limited-edition Collegian Cotton Bowl commemorative poster available from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and Monday in Kedzie 103.

More than 40,000 people do it every day.
You can too.
The Electronic Collegian.
(http://collegian.ksu.edu)

GRADUATION GIFTS

K-State Pens
Portfolios
Business Accessories
Memorabilia
Planners

K-State Student Union Bookstore 532-6583
basically...it's a lot more than just books!

Need a little escape?

END OF SEMESTER Events

Pre-order your textbooks for next semester and save yourself the hassle of fighting the crowds plus get a free gift! Stop by the textbook department on the upper level today.

Great Holiday Gifts
Save 50%-70% on selected books at the Holiday Book Sale.

Have your gifts wrapped for free by the women of Smurthwaite Scholarship House!

Textbook Buyback
at the Student Union Bookstore at these times!
Register to win 2 free Cotton Bowl tickets!

In the Bookstore
Wed. 11-Thur. 12	8-6
Fri. 13	8-5
Sat. 14	10-2
Mon. 16-Thur. 19	8-8
Fri. 20	8-5
Sat. 21	10-2
Fri. 20	8-5

Derby and Kramer Food Centers
Mon. 16-Thur. 19	9-6
Fri. 20	8-5

at the Bookstore!

K-State Student Union Bookstore 532-6583

kansas state collegian
SPORTS

DANGEROUS NEIGHBORS

ANGIE FINKES fights for a rebound against Memphis on Nov. 22 in Bramlage Coliseum.

BRANDON WHITE Collegian

WSU is a potent threat for women's team, even in Bramlage

DAN LEWERENZ
sports writer

After a weeklong road trip, the Wildcats, 5-2, return to the friendly confines of Bramlage Coliseum tonight to face Wichita State.

But don't expect the Shockers, 5-0, to be friendly. They've already shocked Oklahoma, a fellow Big 12 school, and an Arkansas State team that upset Illinois.

Wichita State plays a pressure game on defense, both pressing full court and playing in-your-face, man-to-man defense in the halfcourt.

"It's going to be interesting," Coach Deb Patterson said. "They've added a freshman, LaTisha Hill, that had a great game against Oklahoma. She has 19 steals already this season. They've got three players with double-digit steals."

> "... we have to take them out of their rhythm and make the other players beat us."
>
> • DEB PATTERSON
> WOMEN'S BASKETBALL COACH

That sort of pressure defense can be troublesome to a team short on guards, such as K-State. But the Wildcats' triple-post offense, when executed properly, can use such pressure to its advantage.

"I like the possibilities that their defense creates," Patterson said. "We use a lot of backdoor cuts and options that if you deny or over-pressure can really hurt you."

Defensively, K-State will face one of only a few opponents this year that will not have a significant size advantage. The Shockers get most of their production out of a center-point guard tandem, which Patterson said was the key to Wichita State's game.

"We are going to have to see if they play a you-and-me type of game or if they are just the two who are producing right now. But we have to take them out of their rhythm and make the other players beat us," she said.

The game will be K-State's last for more than two weeks. An exhibition game is scheduled in Bramlage Dec. 21 against the St. Louis Lady Express, and the Cats will travel to Florida for the Lady Gators' tournament Dec. 29 and 30.

Tip-off for tonight's game is set for 7, and students get in free with a student ID.

Munson

Stress fracture takes starter Munson out of picture against Wichita State

SETH GURSS
staff reporter

You're not going to see Sara Munson out on the court tonight when K-State takes on Wichita State University. In fact, she will probably be sitting on the bench watching the game.

Munson, a 5'11" sophomore from Junction City, has a stress fracture of her left femur. This will keep her off the court for about six weeks.

Munson, who started the first game this season against Memphis, said she plans on making a comeback soon.

"Right now, it's progressing pretty well. It's kind of frustrating this early in the season, though," Munson said. "The doctor said I'll be out for six to nine weeks, but I'm hoping to be back sooner."

Munson is expected to be an important contributor for the Wildcats in the next three years.

As a freshman, she played in 24 of K-State's 30 games. Five of the games she missed were because of a stress fracture in her left foot.

Munson set a career high of nine points in one game when K-State played the University of Kansas during her freshman season.

She also set a game high and career high when she grabbed nine rebounds against Nebraska. It was her first game back after the injury to her foot.

Munson said she is excited to return to the

• See MUNSON Page 8

Wanted: Winter basketball team coaches for junior high

> Getting the word out is the biggest obstacle, but we do have a lot of people call in.
>
> • MIKE BUCHANAN
> RECREATIONAL SUPERVISOR

JEREMY KELLEY
sports editor

The Parks and Recreation Department in Manhattan is looking for students who would like to coach basketball this winter for junior-high kids.

"I think this is a great opportunity for students and other P.E. students to get experience in the field of coaching," Mike Buchanan, recreational supervisor, said.

The Parks and Recreation Department has a 48-team league that plays starting Jan. 11 and goes until March 16. Forty-four of those teams already have coaches, but there are still four teams who need volunteer coaches.

"We need to fill four head-coaching jobs first," Buchanan said. "Then those head coaches can go and get roommates and friends or whoever and have them help with the organization of the team."

There are three vacancies that remain for fifth- and sixth-grade boys and one team that needs a head coach for seventh-grade girls.

Team coaches conduct a weekly 2-1/2-hour practice, which is set by the supervisor. What kind of drills are done in the practice are set to the discretion of the coach.

Buchanan said he thought a lot of students were interested in the coaching positions and said he had great response over the last couple of years.

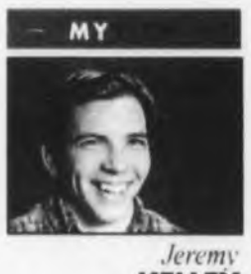
"Getting the word out is the biggest obstacle, but when we do, a lot of people call in," he said. "It sometimes gets to the point that we even have a waiting list."

Buchanan also said the experience would greatly benefit any and all who chose to do the voluntary work.

"Some do it for experience in their major. A lot of students like to coach the kids, and it's fun," he said.

"This career offers them experience in this program plus it looks good on a resúmé."

Buchanan said the application process to be a coach was simple — all you have to do is call.



"Interested people just call, and I usually conduct a phone interview with them. If I feel they are committed and dedicated to coaching, I usually hire them right there but there are other interviews and clinics."

Although Buchanan said he openly accepted any volunteer who wanted to participate, he said he was not afraid to say no.

"It's very difficult to turn away people. Occasionally we have had problems with students not being able to commit and give the kids the opportunity to earn the experience of playing basketball," he said.

New Year's match-up might be toughest yet

MY

Jeremy KELLEY

Now that all the expectations have finally become a true reality, let me offer my sentiments about the purple people most people call the K-State football team.

• The K-State football team has finally got its Cotton Bowl freak on. Sure 'nuff. We are heading to Dallas to play in K-State's first-ever New Year's Day Bowl game.

They will finally get to play on that soft Bermuda Tifway Sod grass field. No doubt this is a great accomplishment, not only here at K-State, but also for any football team who gets the chance to play a New Year's Day game on national television in front of 68,252 screaming supporters.

But give the Wildcats all the credit. They have endured some tough competition over the years and progressed to this big-time game. So how will the Cats fare against the passing potency of the Cougars?

Well, it will probably be the toughest test for any Wildcat team in history and one that I'm not sure they will be able to pull off. Granted, K-State always seems to pull something weird and awkward out of its regiment, but can this football team hang with a fifth-ranked Brigham Young University squad?

It's a tough, tough call. Everyone wants K-State to get overconfident. Look at the pollsters. They slotted the Cats as three point favorites over the Western Athletic Conference Champions.

There's nothing whack about that.

I just pray Mario Smith and his bone-jarring hits come with him to Dallas. I hope Smith will be smiling big with that gold tooth, because he annihilated BYU quarterback Steve Sarkisian.

I hope Lamar Chapman and Joe Gordon get rid of their leg cramps and buckle up to play their toughest football game ever. And I pray to God that Chris Canty will even get an opportunity to play in the game.

If the secondary cannot hold its own with the BYU offense, K-State and all other Cat supporters will be embarrassed in the Big D. Steve Sarkisian is not your average Ben Rutz quarterback from KU. He's the real-deal-Holyfield, representing BYU.

There will be no Brian Kavanagh heroics in this game. It's all about the secondary.

Albeit, K-State's defense is ranked very high in the national polls. I hope that is ever apparent in Dallas. Nyle Wiren and all the brothers Gruff best get prepared, or K-State will be the team snubbed, not BYU.

• Of course, K-State's first big-name star goes out and gets a DUI the other night. The junior all-America cornerback Christopher Shawn Canty gets arrested.

The all-America cornerback. Perfect.

The question is still in the air: Will Canty play in the Cotton Bowl? Who are you kidding? Bill Snyder may be an old man, but he is not an idiot.

Canty will play in the Cotton Bowl, and if Snyder thinks he needs to suspend him for a game, then he'll have the decency to set him down for next year's matchup against that Sycamore powerhouse called Indiana State.

Certainly Canty could be called a role model, but his actions off the field and out of the classroom reflect nothing about his role as a super, super football player. He'll get the punishment in court that he deserves, and that's the only punishment he should deserve.

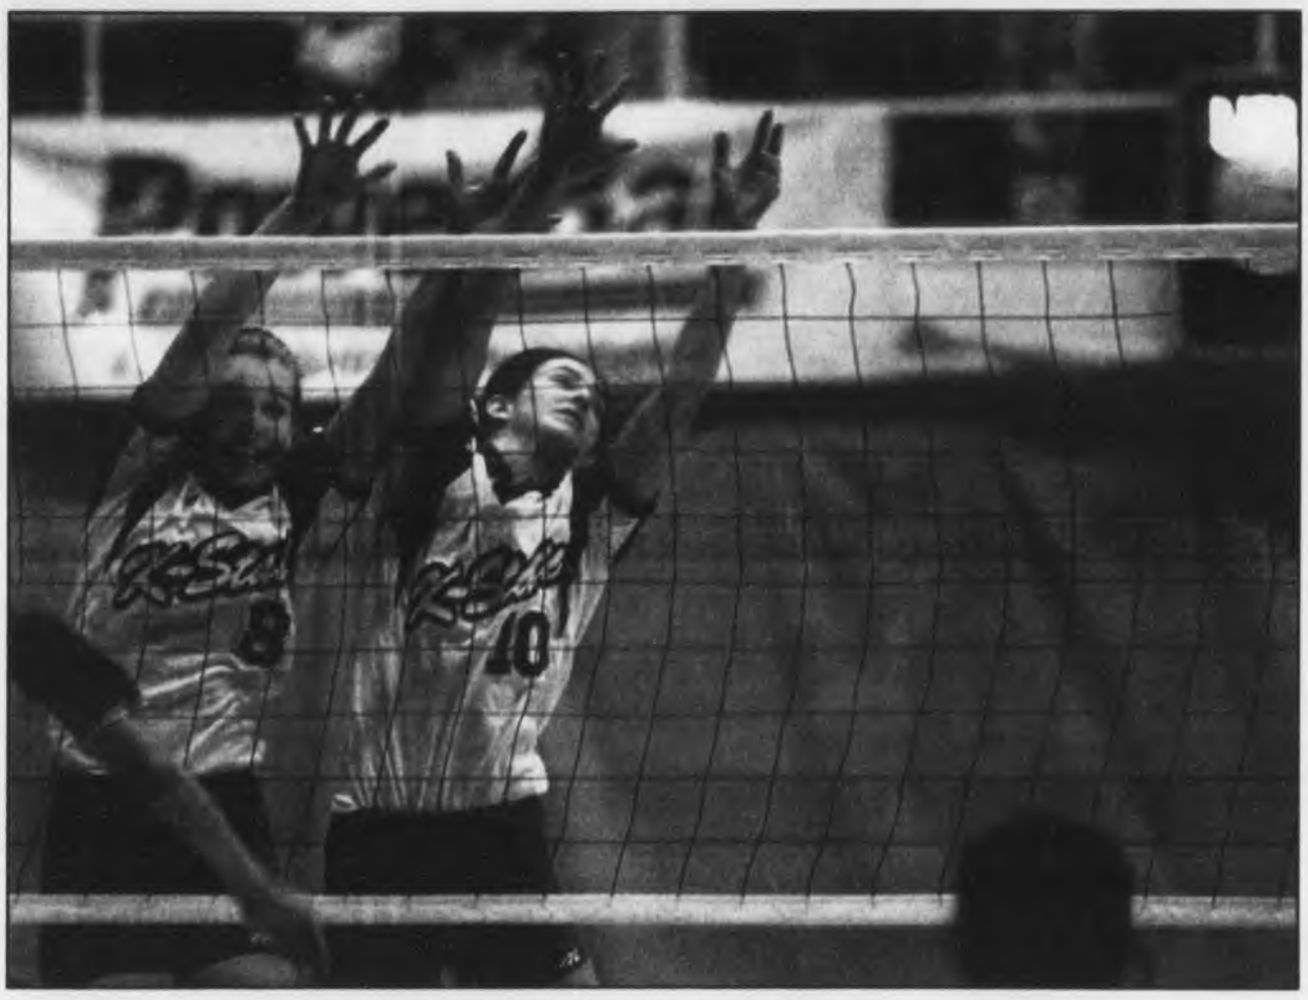
No bowl rejection.

Sure, Canty made a mistake. He was so happy he was going to the Cotton Bowl that he went out and had about six or seven beers with the fellas and then tried to drive home.

It only leaves me begging one question of Mr. All-American: Why didn't he just get a ride home with Joe Average Student? Think about it: I'm sure there are a lot of students at this university who would love to take a superstar home like Canty. Just ask next time.

• Coach Bill Snyder — the greatest thing to happen to K-State since the advent of the wheel-lock. The guy comes to K-State when they're flat on their back and picks them up and guides them to their first New Year's bowl game.

Snyder was the apparent savior of a team that was going straight to the pits. He turned a team that couldn't get any worse into a team that could compete with the nation's elite.



In his last four years with K-State, Snyder has led the Cats to four consecutive bowl games and four consecutive nine-win seasons. He is a truly amazing coach and an instrumental entity in the success of this football program and of the University.

Mark my words: This will not be another Holiday Bowl. No blowouts. No 35-point victories. Only two teams duking it out for their first-ever Cotton Bowl win.

Jeremy Kelley is a sophomore in pre-journalism. He can be reached by e-mail at (weasal1@ksu.edu).

ANOTHER PROGRAM ON THE UPSWING

Despite second-round tournament loss, volleyball makes gains

DEVON RYNING, setter, and Kate DeClerk, middle blocker, attempt to block a shot Oct. 2 against Kansas in Ahearn Field House.

CLIF PALMBERG Collegian

JOHN BERGGREN
sports writer

It looks like another storybook tale of a K-State athletic program going from the bottom of the cellar toward national recognition.

Sure, everybody knows the K-State football story, but the K-State volleyball team is also on the upswing.

In his third year as coach, Jim Moore has brought the volleyball program to a nationally renowned level. The Wildcats made their second-straight trip to postseason play this season, last year to the NIVC Tournament, and this year to the big dance, the NCAA Tournament.

K-State had never been to a postseason tournament before the Moore era.

The Wildcats, who advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament this season and lost to No. 9 Washington State in three straight matches, 15-6, 16-14, 15-12, feel like they could have advanced further.

"It was a match we could have won," Moore said. "Game two we not only could have won, we should have won. We were up 14-13, and we just didn't do the things that you do every day. I think we could have been in the third round, but we didn't provide ourselves an opportunity to see if we could have been or not.

"My expectations have always been high, and many of us feel like there's loose ends hanging out there."

Despite the loss, the Wildcats have a lot to look back on and be proud of at the season's end. The Wildcats finished the season 26-9, the best record in K-State history, racked up 13 conference wins, the most ever in school history, and defeated Oklahoma and Kansas twice in one season.

Still there is plenty of room for improvement, but the program is headed in the right direction, as Moore said.

"I think we're on the right track, and if I didn't think so I'd probably be somewhere else," Moore said. "We have a lot of work ahead of us. We're far from having this program in place where the momentum can carry us through.

"The football program can lose players, and they're going to have better years than others. It takes time to build a program like that. To say that our program is completely turned around is not completely accurate. We still have a lot of work ahead of us to get to where if somebody gets hurt, someone else can just step in and take their place."

Little to none of the many accomplishments of the volleyball team during the past three seasons have been a surprise to Moore, with one exception: The fan and community support has been unprecedented.

K-State ranked in the top 20 in the nation in average attendance this season, which was a big reason why the Cats were able to host a first-round NCAA Tournament game this year. Still Moore said he would like to get more steady support.

"One of my goals for next year is to sell 1,000 season tickets at $50 apiece. That's 50,000 in revenue, and anything we sell above and beyond that would be spectacular. I think it's something that has to happen, and I'll go door to door to do this. That's my job," he said.

K-State will get its first test of the season trying to replace seniors Toie Young, Kelli Luther and Kate DeClerk.

Young completed her K-State career with all-time K-State records in kills and attacks with 1,368 and 3,466 respectively.

Moore has faith that his young players can fill the holes left by the graduating class.

"If we were to put them on the floor right now Dawn (Cady) would go in Abbie Brown's position, and Heather Lindell would take Kate's position. I think the freshman class has a chance of being really, really good."

MUNSON

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7

K-State lineup and said she thinks the Wildcats are going to have a good season.

"It's an awesome time to be in the K-State basketball program," Munson said.

"We've come together as a team, we're motivated and excited, and we have coaches who are going to take us where we need to go."

Munson said Deb Patterson and the rest of the new coaching staff are doing a good job with teaching the athletes how to improve their game.

"They've helped us out a lot. Their system is great for the team and has allowed us to be really productive," Munson said.

Munson, who grew up in Junction City, said she has always wanted to play basketball for K-State.

"I've always loved K-State, KSU athletics and the whole atmosphere at K-State," Munson said.

Munson said the the best part about the team this year is how well it fits together.

"We're unified this year. Everyone gets along great, and we all have the same goals," Munson said.

In high school, Munson was a standout in both academics and athletics.

As an athlete, Munson was outstanding. She holds numerous records at Junction City High School, including most career points with 1,060, a single-game scoring record of 38 and also became the first player to ever score more than 1,000 points at her high school.

Munson also earned second-team all-state honors her senior year and was a three-time all-I-70 League selection.

As a student, she was named valedictorian of her class, and at K-State, she was awarded honorable mention Phillips 66/Academic All-Big Eight during her freshman year.

Munson, who has recently changed her major from civil engineering to business, is not sure what the future will be for her outside of basketball.

She said the business field is something she likes and is interested in.

"I'm interested in business and am exploring my options," she said. "We'll have to see what develops down the road."

GET A REAL PIZZA...PYRAMID

TWOZEE
TWO 10" PIZZAS
(one topping)
plus
TWO Med. Drinks
$9.39
539-4888
exp. 12/31/96
Void with other Promos

THREEZEE
THREE 10" PIZZAS
(one topping)
plus
THREE Med. Drinks
$11.27
539-4888
exp. 12/31/96
Void with other Promos

BONE'Z FOR A BUCK
Purchase a large or medium pizza & get an order of Pyramid Bone'z for $1 539-4888
exp. 12/31/96
Void with other Promos

12th & Moro
Aggieville

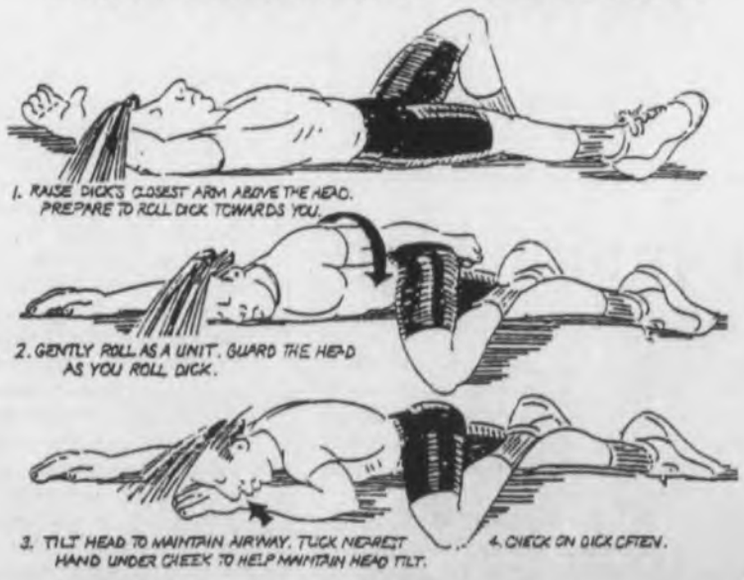
PYRAMID PIZZA
We Pile It On

539-4888
FREE Delivery

WE'RE PAYING CASH FOR YOUR BOOKS NOW!

10% off any Non Textbook items at Varney's Book Store in Aggieville "We Give You Our Best"

SELL YOUR BOOKS AT VARNEY'S
(regardless of where you bought them)
AND GET YOUR YELLOW TOKEN
PLUS
A COUPON GOOD FOR 20% OFF K-STATE SPORTSWEAR



Get your yellow token, which is good for 10% off any non-textbook items. You decide what the token is worth by the amount you purchase. THE MORE YOU BUY THE MORE YOU SAVE! You can use the token whenever you want. Use it for gifts to take home, for something for yourself or for next semester when you buy your school supplies.

BUY BACK SCHEDULE

Tuesday-Saturday, Dec. 10-14	9 a.m.-9 p.m.
Sunday, Dec. 15	Noon-5 p.m.
Monday-Friday, Dec. 16-20	8:30 a.m.-9 p.m.
Saturday, Dec. 21	9 a.m.-9 p.m.
Sunday, Dec. 22	Noon-5 p.m.

Varney's Book Store in Aggieville
9-9 MON.-SAT. "We Give You Our Best" Noon-5 SUN.

DON'T LEAVE YOUR FRIENDS FOR DEAD THIS HOLIDAY SEASON!

Drunk . . . but not dead. If someone you know is drunk to the point of passing out, put them in the above position so that they won't choke to death if they throw up; and if you are at all concerned about the state they are in, get medical help!!!

Funding in part provided by the City of Manhattan and KSU Alcohol and Other Drug Education Service

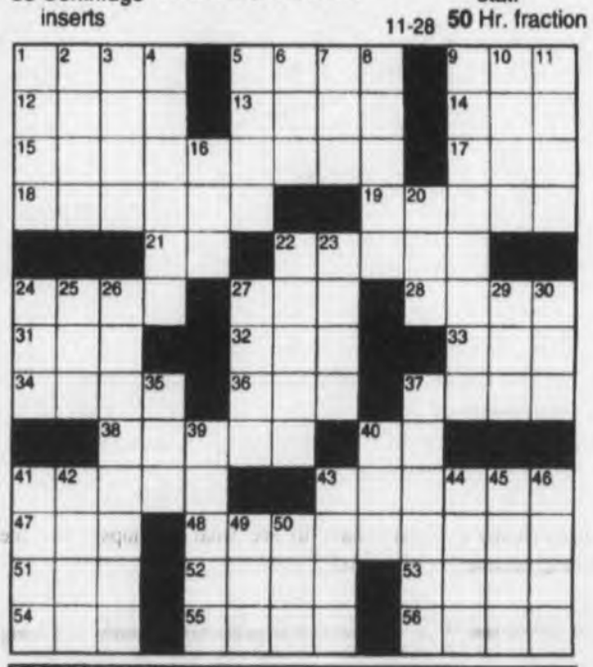
kansas state collegian

DIVERSIONS

EDITOR: PORTIA SISCO 532-6556 (ANDRA@KSU.EDU) | WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1996 | PAGE 9

DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 Atlas pages
5 Eject
9 Craze
12 Monad
13 Wings
14 "— Blue?"
15 "Cannery Row" author
17 Actress Thurman
18 Elwood P. Dowd's pal
19 Acrylic fiber
21 Spielberg hero
22 Haunted-house noise
24 St. Louis squad
27 Halloween shout
28 Rodents do it
31 Milwaukee product
32 Commotion
33 Leading lady
34 Tablet
36 Rainy
37 Snatch
38 Centrifuge inserts
40 Math ratio
41 Enjoys a tearjerker
43 Threat
47 Unctuous hypocrisy
48 "The Snows of Kilimanjaro" author
51 Every last crumb
52 Actress Gray
53 Relaxation
54 Ball-bearing item
55 Chopin's love
56 Deli loaves



DOWN
1 Giddyap, in the Yukon
2 Rectangular pilaster
3 Dock
4 Home of a certain septigamist?
5 Youngest
6 Diminutive suffix
7 Singer Davis
8 Tea variety
9 "Absalom, Absalom!" author
10 Shot
11 Anthropologist Fossey
16 Bottom line
20 Scott Joplin's style
22 Bodies of laws
23 Cheer
24 Converse, slangily
25 1996 torch lighter
26 "Billy Budd, Foretopman" author
27 Weep loudly
29 Actress Gardner
30 Hyperlink hookup
35 Recline
37 Glamorous castaway
39 Tray contents
40 Confine
41 Prince Albert, e.g.
42 Anger
43 Have an objection
44 Vacationing
45 Docket entry
46 Potato buds
49 Mound stat.
50 Hr. fraction

Solution time: 22 mins.

T	A	M	A		C	U	P		C	L	I	O
O	F	A	N		U	S	O		R	I	N	D
F	R	I	G	A	T	E	S		A	G	R	O
F	O	M	E	N	T		E	S	T	H	E	R
			L	Y	E		S	K	I	T
A	B	C		A	R	C		I	N	E	P	T
C	R	A	G		S	O	S		G	R	E	W
T	O	T	A	L		Y	A	M		S	R	O
		B	R	E	A		M	E	T
S	L	O	G	A	N		P	O	U	N	C	E
T	E	A	L		T	R	A	W	L	E	R	S
A	N	T	E		I	O	N		S	O	U	P
B	O	S	S		C	D	S		A	N	D	Y

Yesterday's answer

11-28

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 | 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

11-28 CRYPTOQUIP

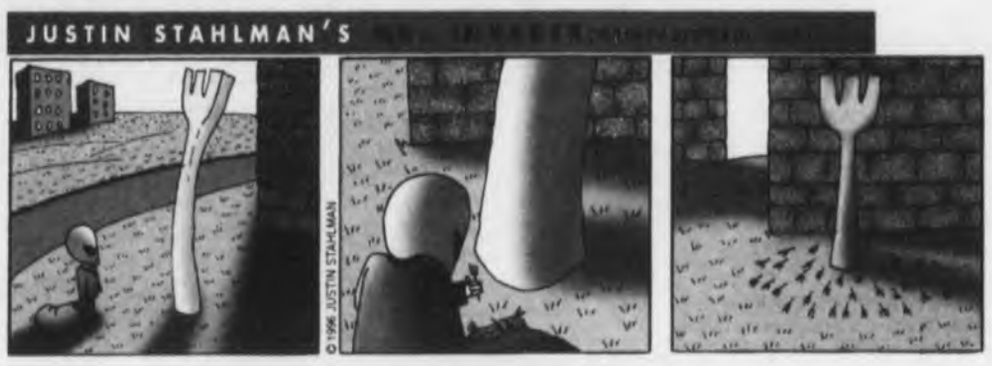
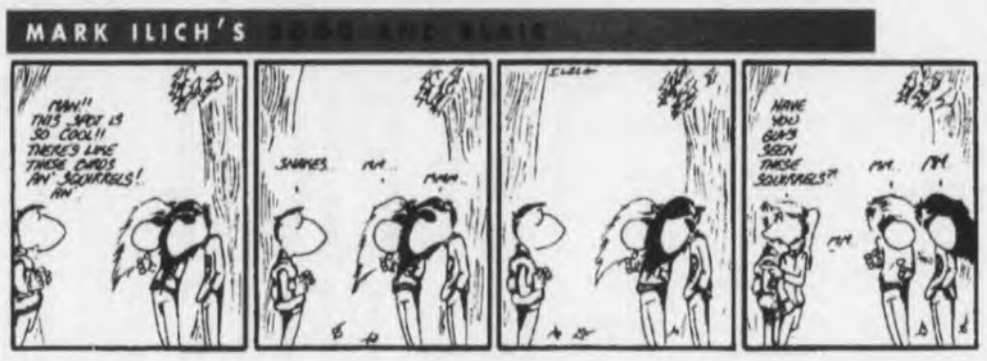
D H K Q Q N H A H N L R K E E Z P W G H W L E A N R G U I Z W H E H U R R X Z W P U Q K E E K E I R G H D R X.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE KOOKY SKY DIVER LOVES TO SAY HE'S SOAR WITH THE WORLD.



Today's Cryptoquip clue: G equals M

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT



TONIGHT

K-State Percussion Ensemble, conducted by Anthony Di Sanza, will perform at 8 p.m. in McCain Auditorium.

JUSTIN STAHLMAN'S

MARK ILICH'S

MATT HAWKINS'

Willard Gallery

How art is shown affects viewer's reaction

SPEED

▶ A BFA show featuring work by Michael Roach and Scott Smith will be in the Willard Gallery until Dec. 12. Gallery hours are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Call 532-6605 for more information.

RUSSELL FORTMEYER
senior staff writer

In Michael Roach's and Scott Smith's bachelor of fine arts show, it's not what is necessarily shown, but how it's shown. A bowl thats appearance is that of a metallic wave defining space with dazzling sweeps. A person who is more of a morphd-circular body than a conventional skeletal physique.

If there is a theme here, it is one of forms.

Formal concerns play various roles for artists, whether it is a secondary one, as in the work of Smith, or a primary one, as seen in the work of Roach.

Roach, senior in art with concentrations in both metalsmithing and drawing, has chosen to exhibit a wide range of work.

His metalsmithing includes everything from headpieces to vessels to purely artistic concerns.

And his drawing, although all in a charcoal medium, varies in subject matter from insane asylums to funeral and religious processions.

Roach's metal pieces are particularly witty, especially the headpieces "Crown of the Frog Prince" and "Veiled Fedora Der Pointy Pointy."

The frog headpiece, suggesting a fantasy narrative, is a wave-like crown with a green patina on the outer ring and a gold leaf on the inside.

Roach said his idea for the headpiece was to suggest the value of the piece is on the inside.

Is this something he can wear?

"They are functional, but the form of the pieces is the focus," Roach said.

"The actual shape is more important than the concept or process."

In "Tension," Roach has suspended a triangular copper piece that slants toward the ceiling, which in turn supports a tarp-like chain-metal piece attached to the three corners.

On the underside, bubbles coalesce in the bottom of the copper piece.

"The chain metal has its own form but takes that form from the tension of the copper piece," Roach said.

"It has its own shape, that's separate yet still relies on tension."

Roach said he has created chain mail since high school as a member of the Society for Creative Anachronism and is quite accomplished in the process.

"I like the intricacy of chain mail," he said. "It's more process-oriented."

The vessels displayed in the show are more in keeping with conventions.

"The vessels are probably more formalist pieces and are based more on organic shapes," Roach said.

Smith's rich, colorful paintings are the complementary antithesis to Roach's starkly formalistic pieces.

Although Smith's paintings are basic forms, his intense and unusual process is more concerned with color.

Smith, senior in art with a concentration in art therapy, begins his process by taking a recipe from a cookbook and substituting paint colors for ingredients.

"If the recipe called for a cup of flour, I would use a cup of blue in relation to the other materials," Smith said.

"It's a strange way, but it helps me to come up with color relationships and gets the white of the panel gone."

After establishing layers of color — covering some while exposing others with scratches or varying densities — forms begin to emerge. At this point, Smith starts to purposely develop the forms into the final picture.

Two works, "Indifference to Bodily Function" and "Gluttons," stand out as representative of Smith's process. Sweeping, impressionistic color flows across the paintings like cosmic sparks only to be interrupted by simplistic human forms with what look like blocks entering an exposed cranium.

Smith doesn't like specifically pinpointing a subject matter, mainly because the color is more important to him.

"I like color relationships and how color changes the luminosity of the painting," he said.

His paintings are bright, luminous oil works. Smith achieves this illuminated sense by mixing various oils and resins into his paint, making the oil paint itself appear almost as acrylic.

Taken together, Smith's and Roach's dissimilar work produces an impressively cohesive show to close the season.

The BFA show featuring work by Roach and Smith will be in the Willard Gallery until Dec. 12.

Gallery hours are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

▶ REVIEW

New music influenced by comedy, jazz sounds

ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Hits" and "Misses" (Reprise) – Joni Mitchell

Pick up either or both of these Joni Mitchell retrospectives, and you'll likely be struck by the influence she has had on thousands of singer-songwriters. More immediately, though, what hits home is her sheer brilliance. From the moody jazz-pop of "Hejira" to the vocal tour de force of "A Case of You," Mitchell is responsible for a boatload of classic songs. Further, she is a vastly underrated guitarist. These two discs offer a nice overview of her career, including some of her more unjustly obscure songs.

"II" (Columbia) – The Presidents of the United States of America

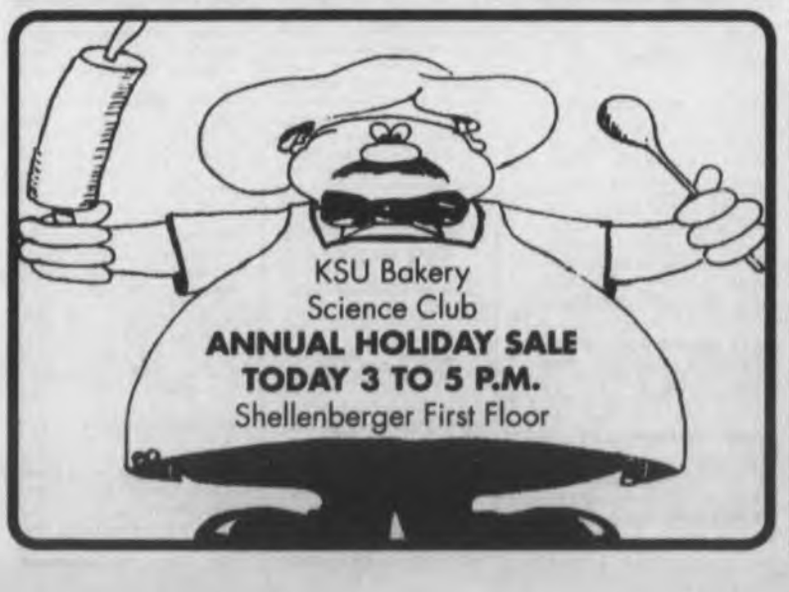
"II" is more lunacy from rock's reigning goofballs. Hooky, catchy, good clean fun if you feel like dropping 15 bucks on some laughs.

Here's their description of a threatening supermodel: "love child of Genghis Khan and a beautiful, busty Amazon." Basically a novelty, but it's fun all the same.

"The Baja Sessions" (Reprise) – Chris Isaak

Chris Isaak makes pretty much the same record every couple of years, but with his distinctive voice there's always something worth listening to on it.

"The Baja Sessions" is an exception only in being shorter on interesting tunes than most of his albums are.



"Baja" sounds nice, but it's hard to imagine listening to this album often; it's so mellow it's nearly somnambulant. Still, Isaak's cover of "Only the Lonely" is enough to give you shivers.

"No Coupon" Specials (NO coupon needed, NONE accepted)
Everyday Two-fers
2 - PIZZAS with 2 - TOPPINGS each 2 - COKES with ice
$9.12
Everyday Three-fers
3 - PIZZAS with 1 - TOPPING each 3 - COKES with ice
$11.23
Prices do not include sales taxes.
Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

KJ's MEXICAN BREAK continues on!
Dress like your headed to Mexico and recieve a free T-shirt at the door!
Free Dos Equis T-shirt!
Watch for tomarrows
50¢ Margaritas Blowout! $1.50 Dos Equis Bottles

The Purrrfect Gift

A warm, cozy, companion that will bring you joy for years to come. Choose from the selection of shaded silvers, white and red tabby persians, siamese and himalayan kittens.
PETS 'N' STUFF
1105 Waters 539-9494

KSU Bakery
Science Club
ANNUAL HOLIDAY SALE
TODAY 3 TO 5 P.M.
Shellenberger First Floor

Lean & Mean.

CBR®600F3
2307 Stagg Hill Road
776-1888
HONDA Snyders' Leading The Way
HONDA Come ride with us.
ALWAYS WEAR A HELMET, EYE PROTECTION AND PROTECTIVE CLOTHING, AND PLEASE RESPECT THE ENVIRONMENT. Obey the law, and read your owner's manual thoroughly. CBR and Pro-Link are Honda trademarks. For training information, call the Motorcycle Safety Foundation at 1-800-447-4700.

Enjoy fine dining and great entertainment . . .
RAOUL'S ESCONDIDO
Mexican Restaurant
presents
Mark Hank Monroe
Wednesday evening
December 11
Mary's Famous Margaritas 99¢
"Manhattan's Taste of Mexico"
Raoul's Escondido
215 S. Seth Child Rd. 539-3410

▶ REVIEW

K-State produces jazz artistry

CECILY RODRIGUEZ
staff reporter

A little known fact is that great jazz is the product of great artists — yes, artists. The artistry begins with the freedom one finds in jazz.

Monday night some of K-State's own jazz artists expressed their love of the music genre at the December Jazz Concert in Forum Hall. Dennis E. Wilson, director of jazz studies, conducted the performance.

The concert opened with Jazz Lab Band-B, whose performance was entertaining. The piano and drums tended to drown out the wind instruments. Jazz Lab Band-B was followed by the Jazz Quintet.

The quintet embodied the spirit of jazz with the quintessential Michael T. Brown, junior in physics, on bass. The Quintet also performed some of Brown's spirited original pieces.

Slide Hampton's arrangement of "Maiden Voyage" was honored by the Jazz Trombone Ensemble.

Part two of the concert filled all expectations for the jazz enthusiasts with Jazz Lab Band-A and the Concert Jazz Ensemble. Special mention must be made of Tremon Kizer's, freshman undecided, trombone duet with Wilson and Staci Blackwell's, senior in social science, vocals on two Duke Ellington's favorites, "Don't Get Around Much Anymore" and "Love You Madly."

"Dark Morning" was composed by Wilson and performed by the Concert Jazz Ensemble. The featured soloist was Sarah Morris, sophomore undecided, who played the trumpet.

"The evening was a definite tribute to jazz legends who have obviously influenced the musicians performing tonight, and part of what makes jazz great are the solo and duet improvs," Melinda Cortright, junior in apparel and textile marketing, said.

Jazz enthusiasts must be sure not to miss the KSU Jazz Festival Feb. 1, 1997 at McCain Auditorium.

Sailors charged with sexual assault

ASSOCIATED PRESS

GROTON, Conn. — Three sailors stationed at a submarine base are accused of plying a 16-year-old girl with liquor and sexually assaulting her on Thanksgiving night at a motel run by the Navy.

Lionel A. Benjamin and Raymond Johnson were arrested Monday on charges that they raped the girl after a night of dancing and drinking. A third sailor, Luis C. Jones was charged with lesser counts of sexual assault and attempted sexual assault.

They were jailed on $100,000 bail each and could get up to 20 years in prison.

A fourth sailor, Greg Watkins, told police he was in the room but did not take part in the attack. He backed up most of the girl's story, according to court papers. Watkins has not been charged.

The girl, a 10th-grade student, told police she met the sailors at the restaurant where she works as a waitress. The sailors, whose hometowns were not released, are newly enlisted at the Naval Submarine School in Groton.

The girl told police she met the sailors at the restaurant and was attacked after going back with them to the Navy lodge to party, get drunk and smoke marijuana. The lodge, a motel for Navy personnel and their families, is a few blocks from the base.

According to court papers, the sailors dropped the girl off at home the next morning, and she told them they weren't going to get away with it. They replied they didn't care because they were being transferred the next Monday, she said.

A friend took the girl to a hospital. She had bruises on her breasts, arms and thigh.

Watkins complained to the other sailors about what they were doing, comforted the girl and apologized to her after the attack, and protected her from further attacks as she slept on the motel-room floor, she told police.

The three sailors denied assaulting her. Benjamin denied ever being at the lodge.

About 1,400 students are enrolled at the sub school. All Navy personnel undergo sensitivity training that includes issues such as sexual harassment.

"From boot camp on, our sailors are trained in the Navy's core values, which are honor, courage and commitment," Lt. John Wallach, a base spokesman, said.

Only 14 more shopping days 'til Christmas!
Claflin Books and Copies

AMERICAN FAMILY INSURANCE
AUTO HOME BUSINESS HEALTH LIFE
TIM ENGLE
"K-State Grad 88"
"Call Us For A Quote"
3258 Kimball Ave. 537-4661

Cookie Bouquets
Unique hand decorated cookie arrangements in various sizes and styles.
FREE DELIVERY
L.A. Cakes & Cookie Bouquets
Call 776-8773

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
• Free pregnancy testing
• Totally confidential service
• Same day results
Located across from campus
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5

American Legion
BINGO
Sunday 2 p.m.
Tuesday 1:30 p.m.
Wednesday 7:30 p.m.
$1.00 per card
Up to $300 Cash Prize on Sunday & Wednesday
114 McCall Rd.

Reserve Your Place at Our Graduation Buffet
On December 14, the Holidome will feature their annual Graduation Buffet from 11:30 a.m.- 2:30p.m. & 5-9p.m.
Come & Enjoy
•Carved Prime Rib
•Create-your-own Pasta
•Peel and Eat Shrimp
•5 Entrees
•2 Vegetables
•Array of Delectable Deserts
Reservations are recommended
Adults $12.95 Children(6-12) $5.95
Sr. Citizens $10.95 Children 5-under free
Holiday Inn
530 Richards Dr. 539-5311

GET YOUR COTTON BOWL TRIP TICKETS NOW!
Monday, Dec. 30 - Thursday, Jan. 2
4 days/3 nights
Price: $185
For tickets contact the UPC Office – 3rd Floor of the Student Union
For more information call: 532-6571
K-State Student Union UPC Travel Committee

SLEIGH BELLS ARE RINGING
Happy Holidays from the Collegian Staff

THE Palace Cards & Gifts
Attention Bear Lovers . . .
CLASSIC POOH
WINNIE the POOH
You'll find Pooh and friends in all shapes and sizes.
Only from Gund!
Gotta Getta GUND
704 N. Manhattan Ave. • In Aggieville • 539-7654
Mon.-Fri. 8:30-8:30 • Sat. 8:30-5:30 • Sun. 12:00-5:00

Tuesday Nights Live
P.S. Thurs. 12/12- Ultimate Fake Book & Todd Newman
$1.50 Coronas
$1.50 Margaritas
All U can eat tacos only $1.00 from 5-7
Rusty's Last Chance Saloon

CLASSIFIEDS

GET THE WORD OUT

• DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classified display must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.

• HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an established account with Student Publications Inc.

Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks.

•CALL OR STOP BY

To place your classified, call 532-6555.

Place your classified ad in 103 Kedzie.

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010

Announcements

ATTENTION ALL students!!! Grants and scholarships available from sponsors!!! No repayments, ever!!! $$$ Cash for college $$$ for information: (800)243-2435.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 539-3733.

THOUSANDS...IN scholarship funds will be awarded to students starting classes January 1997 in hair design, ethnic hair design, nail technology, skincare and make-up artistry. Call Crum's Beauty College admissions office, 776-4794. VA approved, financial aid available.

020

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

PICTURES FOUND in parking lot A-3. Color prints of trip to Scotland. Call to claim, 532-6226.

050

Parties-n-More

ADD A extra touch of class to your next party. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub. 537-7587 or 539-7561.

ADD A touch of class to any party with cigars. Dinners receptions, Frat-parties, or formals. Enjoy the services of the old fashioned cigarette girl 537-7444.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

PARTY TIME? Go with a Manhattan tradition since1985! Rent a hot tub for your next party. Call Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tub Rentals. 537-1825.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartments. Close to campus, first month rent free. 537-1666 or 537-1015.

AVAILABLE SECOND semester. Three dandy apartments, all sizes, close to campus. Washers/ dryers air-conditioned. Very reasonable, pets considered. 539-9345.

BEST DEAL in town. Three-bedroom apartment. $300. Close to campus.539-9101 or (913)273-2628.

CONVENIENT, SUNNY, one-bedroom apartment, near Aggieville. Call 537-1780.

FULLY FURNISHED: Kitchen table with chairs one-bedroom, one bath couch, chair, love seat, very nice. $585/ month, ask for Brent.

ONE-BEDROOM EFFICIENCY apartment, one block east of campus. Furnished or unfurnished. Quiet conditions, ample parking, non-smoker. $250. 776-3624.

ROOMMATE WANTED for very nice two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. Call Brian at 539-4420 or Tracinda at 539-2649.

SEMESTER LEASE; four-room basement apartment, close to campus, private entrance, all utilities paid, deposit required. $300 month. 539-8493.

THE MCCORMICK apartments. One and two-bedrooms available Jan 1, 1997. One block from campus. Furnished and unfurnished. Call 539-5759.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT one block from campus. New furniture in all rooms. Available 1/1/97. Call 587-9617.

TWO-BEDROOM, THREE blocks east of campus, ample parking, quiet conditions, reasonable rent. Available Dec. 1 or Jan. 1. 776-3624.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

10K APARTMENTS. Spacious two-bedroom apartment in modern complex. Two blocks east of campus. Quality student living. Large L-shaped kitchen, dishwasher, air-conditioned, sound proofed, well insulated, low utilities, laundry room, quiet street. Lease January- May, can be extended. 539-2536.

617 KEARNEY. No pets. Two-bedroom, main floor. New carpet/ paint/ blinds. Off-street parking, laundry hook-ups, ceiling fans. $460. 776-8548.

AFFORDABLE, SPACIOUS, one-bedroom apartment for spring semester. Park Place Apartments location. One small pet allowed. Deposit paid. Call 776-8434.

AVAILABLE DEC: Clean, spacious two-bedroom, big bath, apartment for rent in quiet apartment complex. 2125 Buckingham Apt. 5. $499 . Dishwasher, laundry facilities, two pools, water/ trash paid. Call 537-6046.

Apartment Living At Its Best Large 2-Bedrooms
Sandstone Apts.
Cambridge Sq. Apts.
Hill Investment 537-9064

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY- Large one-bedroom apartment, one-half block from Aggieville, two blocks from campus. Leave message 537-8290.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartments. Close to campus, first month rent free. 537-1666 or 537-1015.

AVAILABLE JAN 1, two-bedroom, $350/ month, three blocks to campus, laundry. 776-9140

AVAILABLE JANUARY. One-bedroom, second floor, 814 Leavenworth, $295, KPL, deposit. 539-3672.

AVAILABLE NOW or January Short-term leases. Large one or two-bedroom. Clean, quiet, most utilities paid. No pets. 537-8389.

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS

To place a Collegian classified call 532-6555

AVAILABLE NOW. 915 Claflin, three-bedroom apartment heat, water, trash paid. Newly redecorated. No pets. $525. Call 539-3085.

CLEAN, COZY, economical one-bedroom apartment in Ogden, appliances included, window air-conditioning, $150 a month, call 565-0194 for more information.

CRESTWOOD APARTMENTS. Two-bedroom, one and one-half bath, washer/ dryer, flexible lease. $425- 480, 776-3345, M-F, 9-5.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM apartment. Across the street from campus in Wildcat Inn, 1807 College Heights. Available Jan. 1. Rent $410, call 776-9511.

LEE CREST Apartments. One-bedroom, $365, furnished. One block from campus. Washer/ dryer on each floor. 539-7961.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom. Close to campus and City Park. $475/ month. Available immediately. 776-1771, Elaine.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment in four-plex, washer/ dryer, hook-ups, available Dec. 31. No pets, $410 per month. 539-2357.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT available immediately, large with balcony and fireplace. Westchester Park Apartments, call 565-9193 or (913)272-3812.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT. Full size living room, kitchen and bedroom. Quiet neighborhood. $390/ month. Water/ trash paid. Kevin 537-9493. Available 1/97.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT for rent. Large bedroom and living room. Brand-new carpet. Washer/ dryer. Water/ trash paid. One-half block from campus, one block from Aggieville. Call 537-7931.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT two-bedroom basement by campus. 537-1550. Lease until July 97 on.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January 1. 1122 Gardenway, $360, water and trash paid, on-site laundry, pool, across from Westloop, 537-1307.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE in Dec., 1222 Laramie, $375 all bills paid. In the heart of Aggieville. Pets accepted. Call 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE in Jan., 1222 Laramie, $310 all bills paid. In the heart of Aggieville. Pets accepted. Call 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. Just remodeled. Across from Ford Hall. All utilities paid except phone and cable. Washer and dryer. Cats allowed. $325/ month. 537-3744, leave message.

ONE-BEDROOM NEAR Aggieville available now. 1124 Fremont. $325. Water, trash paid. Call 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus. Available mid-December. Five month lease. Call 565-9003.

ONE-BEDROOM, ONE block from the University. Available Jan. 1, 1997. 539-0410 or 539-2857.

ONE-BEDROOM, WATER/ trash paid, central air, westside location, no pets. $325/ month. June lease. Call 587-4111 or after 6p.m. 776-0221.

ONE-BEDROOM, WITH study, located in an apartment complex, water and trash paid, $410 a month, close to campus. 776-0154.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS leasing one, two and three-bedroom apartments. Two pools, hot tub, horseshoes, volleyball. 539-2951.

QUIET, AIRY, two-bedroom basement apartment, 1619 Pierre. Air, washer/ dryer. No smoking, no pets. $380/ month, about $50 utilities. 776-2480.

SECOND SEMESTER special. Two-bedroom apartment close to campus and Aggieville, Washer/ Dryer. Lease from January to end of May. 776-2484

SLEEPING ROOM one block from the University. Available Jan. 1, 1997. 539-2857 or 539-0410.

THREE-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, one and one-half bath. Near campus. Laundry in complex. 537-1746.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath $500/ month, water/ trash paid 1626 Leavenworth, 776-6772.

TWO BLOCKS from campus, two-bedroom; $360, four-bedroom; $440. 587-0399.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. $380/ month Across street from Ahearn Field House. Available January 1. Lease and deposit required. 537-7794.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT located southeast of campus. Not in a complex, available spring semester, washer and dryer. Call 539-7277.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE in January. $460. 1026 osage, four blocks from campus. Water and trash paid. On-site laundry facilities. Built-in student desk with shelves in each bedroom. Call 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE now near city park, 405 N 10th. $405. Water, trash paid. No pets. Call 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, utilities paid, no lease, no pets, one-half block east of campus. $350 month, 776-7922, evenings.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment on Le-Gore Lane single or double occupancy available immediately. Lease and rent negotiable. 537-2156.

TWO-BEDROOM DUPLEX. Only one-half block from campus. Main floor. Off-street parking. Available now. $420 with water and trash paid. 537-7852.

TWO-BEDROOM TRI-LEVEL remodeled this year, new carper, paint, stove. Both bedrooms very large. two blocks from campus, one block from Aggieville. $450/ month 539-6951 or 565-0135.

TWO-BEDROOM, $285, deposit, no smoking, no pets, Juliette, 537-4016.

VERY NICE one-bedroom available at Woodway Apartments. On-site pool and laundry. Call Sara at 537-7007.

WALKING DISTANCE, two-bedroom and studio available now. Water/ trash paid, laundry facilities. 539-6318.

WILDCAT INN several one-bedrooms available in Jan. at 925 Denison $410 includes dishwasher, water and trash. On-site laundry; sorry no pets. Call 776-3804.

WORTH SEEING. Available 12/23/96. Three-bedroom $375 per month. Eighth block of Laramie St. 537-0588.

115

Rooms Available

ONE ROOM available 12/20/96. Very close to campus, $155 a month, lease will 5/97, one-sixth of utilities. Call 539-1269 or 539-3672.

PRIVATE, QUIET room. No smoking. Off-street parking. Adjacent campus. Stockwell Real Estate. 539-4073.

TWO ROOMS available in large house $220/ month plus utilities, large kitchen, two bath, two living rooms, basement with laundry,m large porch, unlimited parking, call Becky 539-6582.

TWO ROOMS available in three-bedroom house, bills split, free trash, washer/ dryer, $145/ month great location 776-1954.

120

For Rent-Houses

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Four-bedroom, one study house. Close to campus. $1,100 non-negotiable rent. Call 776-1340.

BRAND NEW DUPLEX: 1125-1127 Ratone. Four-bedroom, two bath, washer/ dryer on each side. $800/ month Available January 1, 1997. Six month lease. 539-3767.

FIVE-BEDROOM TWO bath house. One block from campus. Call 556-0753.

FOUR-BEDROOM COUNTRY home. Two bath, finished walk out basement, fireplace, garage, $800, no pets. 539-2255

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE. Two blocks from campus washer/ dryer. Fireplace. Lots of room $720/ month. Jan. 1, 776-9163.

ONE, TWO and three-bedroom for non-smoker, drinker. No pets please. 539-1554.

ONE, TWO, three-bedroom for non-smoking, non-drinking, no pets. 539-1554.

TWO BLOCKS FROM CAMPUS! Five-bedroom, two bath, two kitchens. Excellent condition. $225-$275 per room plus utilities. 1020 Bertrand. Call Tammy 539-3737.

TWO-BEDROOM HOUSE with new interior, fenced yard for pet. 929 Colorado, $500. 776-1660.

145

Roommate Wanted

A BLOCK from campus! Roommate to share spacious four-bedroom house. Central air/ heat, washer/ dryer. Friendly atmosphere. Short term lease possible. No smoking/ pets. $225. 776-9719.

A ROOMMATE needed. Three-bedroom close to campus and Aggieville. $225 plus one-third bills. Non-smoker. Call 537-6169 now.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Female to share two-bedroom. Apartment near campus and Aggieville. Furnished plus fireplace. $237/ month plus one-half utilities. Call 565-0589, ask for Amy.

FAMILY SEEKS college female to live-in second semester. Private room furnished. Rent and food in exchange for household care, bills paid. Close to campus. No smoking or drinking. Respond to Box 6 c/o Collegian.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for Spring semester! Three-bedroom, one block from campus (1850 Claflin). Lots of closet and storage space! $230/ month plus one-third utilities. Call 565-0160.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed spring semester. Nice three-bedroom house. Washer/ dryer, $210 plus utilities. Call 539-0975.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for two-bedoom apartment in Cambridge Square. Call 537-2409.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share nice three-bedroom house. $275/ month, all utilities paid. Washer/ dryer, backyard, cable Jan. 1- May 31. 776-9548, Joanna or Jen.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share two-bedroom house. Three blocks from campus. Non-smoker preferred. Call Julie at 587-9041.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share three-bedroom for next semester. $200 per month plus utilities. Nice house, close to campus, 776-1890 Heather or Patty.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for two-bedroom house, one block east of campus. $225 a month, utilities paid, pets considered call 537-4947.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted $210 rent plus one-third utilities. Walk to Aggieville and campus. 539-0543.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share four-bedroom, two bathroom apartment, close to campus. Call 539-9165.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted; Jan.- May; close to campus and Aggieville; call 539-6115.

FEMALE SEEKS roommate, two-bedroom, cheap rent, great place and atmosphere, can't beat it! Call 537-7872. No experience needed.

FEMALE, $195/ month plus one-third utilities, washer/ dryer one and one-half blocks from campus, non-smoker, leave message 539-6499.

FEMALE, NON-SMOKER to share clean, comfortable apartment for spring semester. Private bedroom, large closets/ storage areas, carpet, dishwasher, washers/ dryers, central air and much more! Next to campus on Anderson. Caged pets allowed. Water and trash free. $235 plus one-third some utilities. Must see! Please call 776-4723. Available January 1.

MALE OR female to share two-bedroom townhouse with female and pets. Close to campus. Washer/ dryer, close to campus. Fenced yard. $170 plus one-half utilities. Call 776-7836.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Very nice two-bedroom apartment next to campus. 267/ month plus one-half utilities. Available January 1. No smokers, no pets. 565-9250

MALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring semester. Four-bedroom house. Call Chad (913)782-9431.

MALE WANTED for furnished basement. No smoking/ drinking/ pets, please. Walk to KSU. 539-1554.

MALE/ FEMALE roommate wanted for five-bedroom house. $150/ month. Washer/ dryer. Three blocks from campus. Call Ricky or Aaron 537-1621.

MALE/ FEMALE roommate wanted to share two-bedroom westside apartment. $190/ month call 565-0858.

NEEDED: FEMALE roommates, three-bedrooms, two full bathrooms, one-half block west of campus. Call 539-6449.

NON-SMOKING ROOMMATE, own room, $157.50 plus phone and cable. Washer/ dryer, 776-7336.

NOT A DUMP, "CLOSE TO CAMPUS". Male/ female, non-smoker, two-bedroom, two bath, washer/ dryer, microwave, fireplace, dishwasher. Pets and horses possible. Fully furnished. Spring semester $220 per month or one year $190 per month. 537-4239.

ONE BLOCK from campus! Roommate needed to share nice two-bedroom, washer/ dryer, central heat/ air, $165/ month. Call Travis 587-8893, leave message.

ONE-HALF BLOCK from campus. Two-bedroom house. Laundry facilities available. Split utilities. 539-9110.

ROOMMATE (M/F) for three-bedroom apartment $230/ month plus utilities. Close to campus; available as soon as possible. Call 587-9767.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for a four-bedroom house. Rent $212.50/ month plus utilities, trash, etc. Non-smoker preferred. Male or female. Call 539-3075 ask for Scott or Andrew.

ROOMMATE NEEDED starting Jan. 1. Rent $225 per month, plus one-third utilities. Close to campus. Call 539-3639.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share two-bedroom. One and one-half bath. Rent negotiable. Call 565-0397.

ROOMMATE WANTED for farmhouse. Secluded yet accessible location, 10 minutes from Manhattan. $140/ month plus one-half utilities. 539-2029.

ROOMMATE WANTED for spring semester. One block from campus. Very nice and clean. $230 month rent call 537-9081.

ROOMMATE WANTED for very nice two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. Call Brian at 539-4420 or Tracinda at 539-2649.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share clean three-bedroom house. Close to Aggieville and campus, backyard. $275 and all utilities paid plus cable. Washer and dryer. 776-9548

ROOMMATE WANTED- Own bedroom in four-bedroom two bath apartment next to Durland. $250/ month, one-fourth utilities, 539-1995.

ROOMMATE WANTED. Six month lease Spring 97 $217/ month, water/ trash, no deposit. Close to campus. 776-4884, Kurt or Wes.

ROOMMATE WANTED: three-bedroom apartment, nice condition, close to campus. $235/ month. Call at 539-9476.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Clean two-bedroom duplex, new carpet, yard, close to campus. $220/ month, utilities paid. 565-9197.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Male non-smoker to share four-bedroom house. January- August lease. Call 587-8480 or 587-0490.

STUDENT WANTS to share room and rent, non-smoker, call Greg. (913)736-2799 leave message.

TO SHARE three-bedroom mobile home. All utilities paid $200/ month except phone, available now flexible lease quiet and furnished. Call TJ at 776-3829.

WANTED ROOMMATE(S): to share nice four-bedroom house for spring semester. Call Shauna after 5. 776-3130.

150

Sublease

APARTMENT FOR sublease. December paid. Details 395-3323. To see 539-2951.

AVAILABLE DECEMBER 17. Large, one-bedroom. Rent $345, I will pay $50 of your rent, you pay $295. Call 587-9763.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, very spacious one-bedroom apartment. Close to campus. On-site laundry facilities. May have small pets, off-street parking, water/ trash paid. $325/ month. Call 565-9116.

AVAILABLE NOW! Female roommate needed. Four-bedroom house. Close to campus and Aggieville. Washer/ dryer. 918 Moro. Call Gina 776-4218. $187/ month.

AVAILABLE NOW! Female roommate needed. Two blocks away from campus and Aggieville. $230 monthly. Water and Trash paid 539-3926.

BEAUTIFUL ONE-BEDROOM apartment nice complex dishwasher private patio pool tennis courts near stadium, trash and water paid. Available in December. $440/ month, 776-9647.

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted to sublease a three-bedroom apartment one-half block from campus. Call 776-5580.

FOR SPRING semester. Two-bedroom apartment at Chase Apartments. Call 537-4617.

NEXT TO CAMPUS. One/ two-bedroom units across from Goodnow and Marlatt dorms. Two-bedroom units across from Haymaker. Call/ message 539-2702.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. $300 per month. Utilities paid. No deposit necessary. Call 587-8048.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for two-bedroom, two bath with washer/ dryer three blocks from campus. $200 month and one-fifth utilities. Call 776-0598.

SPRING SEMESTER, large one-bedroom, across from campus, on-site laundry and off-street parking. $250/ month. 539-0938

SUBLEASE TWO-BEDROOM apartment. Quiet location. New carpet. Available Jan. 1. Call 539-6977.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. Top floor. One block from campus one-half block from Aggieville. Very affordable. Call 539-7579.

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY

205

Tutor

WANTED SPRING Semester Tutors for Ecology of Environmental Problems, Bioethics, Biology of Aging, Social Psychology, Problem Solving and Decision Making, Managerial Economics, and Organizational Training & Development. Graduate students must have assistantships. Contact Barbara Baker at 532-5642.

210

Resume/ Typing

A PERFECT resume and all your other word processing needs. Laser printing. Call Brenda 776-3290.

HELPING HANDS typing service. (913)494-2398 ask for Christy. Speedy service.

235

Child Care

TWO OPENINGS for licensed afterschool program, certified teacher, structured activities, computer, art, pets, field trips, transportation from school provided, 587-8356.

250

Automotive Repair

ROYAL PURPLE PAINT, BODY & GLASS. Quality collision repairs, glass replacement, vandalism claims. 776-6920, 1100 "C" Hostetler Rd. (2 Blks north of Wal-Mart) 8:30- 5:30 M-F.

255

Other Services

GET YOUR DEPOSIT BACK! Fisthole Repair Co. We fix party-damaged walls. Free estimate. Call Eric 776-4999 evenings and weekends.

300 EMPLOYMENT/CAREERS

310

Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 537-0056.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1000'S POSSIBLE READING BOOKS. Part-time. At home. Toll free (800)218-9000 ext.R-1915 for listings.

$1000'S POSSIBLE TYPING. Part-time. At home. Toll free (800)218-9000 ext. T-1915 for listings.

$1750 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars. No experience required. Begin now. For info call (202)298-1335.

Community Organizer/Activist

Think too few people have too much power? Help expand established peace and justice organization: community outreach, grant applications, fundraising. Issues of concern: living wage campaign, low-income organizing, campaign finance reform.

10 hours/week. Training available. Contact Anne Cowan, Manhattan Alkliance for Peace & Justice, P.O. Box 1541, Manhattan, KS 66505. Or call 539-8540 or 539-6076. Apply by Jan. 10.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Midwest Distributors P.O. Box 624, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate Response.

DATABASE PROGRAMMER (8-12 hrs/ week, 4GL, Delphi, SQL). Advanced training provided. At least a Junior in Computer Science or related degree. Experience in Database programming is required. Salary based on capabilities, equal opportunity employer, KSC-Emp, 1640 Fairchild Avenue, Manhattan KS. 66502.

GREAT NEW coffee oasis and cafe opening January. Barista positions available. Experience preferred, love of coffee required. 539-7479.

JUNIORS AND SENIORS. Do you need a break from school? Are you low on $$$? Consider a Spring semester, 13 week internship with "It's Greek To Me, Inc. " You would be traveling with two other people to campuses throughout the Big 12 region, selling sportswear to fraternities and sororities. *All appointments are made for you in advance, no cold calling! *The job will be full-time, beginning mid-January and ending May 1st. *You can earn 3 hours of college credit. *We pay all travel expenses. Call Bob Lund at 537-8822 for more information or to schedule an interview.

KAW VALLEY Greenhouses is now hiring for 20- 40 hours per week. Call between 3- 4:30-p.m. M- F at 776-8585.

LOOKING FOR a career? Dick Edwards Ford is looking for the right person in his auto sales department. Excellent benefits, salary plus commission. Five- day work week. Call 776-4004, ask for J.C. or Lou.

LUNAR TUNES- is looking for DJ's and photographers for next semester. Will train the right individual. 776-9140

NAIL-TECH POSITION available as soon as possible. Must be friendly, outgoing, professional person. Prefer experience with sclupture, gels, fiberglass. Flexible hours, commission based compensation preferred, but space for rent available. Please call Christina at 776-7874.

NEED HELP delivering Kansas City Star newspaper over Christmas break. Only two hours a day. $120/ week. Call 537-5064. Leave message.

NEEDED WAITRESSES part-time. Apply at Gin Mill Lounge between 2p.m.- 5p.m. Thursday and Friday. Must be 21.

NETWORK ADMINISTRATOR (10- 20 hrs/ week, NT, Novell, Windows). Advanced training provided. At least a Junior in Computer Science or related degree. Experience in network support is required. Salary based on capabilities, equal opportunity employer, KSC-Emp, 1640 Fairchild Avenue, Manhattan KS. 66502.

NEW BAGEL and Bread Cafe opening Jan. in Aggieville. Needs two bakers. Experience preferred. Wage negotiable. 539-7479.

PART-TIME MAINTENANCE person needed for 60 apartments. Basic electrical, plumbing and carpentry skills required. 587-0399.

SALES REPS- Immediate opening at your University. Offering exceptional pay and very flexible hours. Call Accent Screen Printing (800)234-7941.

SILVERADO SALOON is now hiring bartenders, waitstaff and DJ's. Apply at 531 N. Manhattan, Tuesday through Saturday 6p.m.-2a.m..

TEMPORARY CASHIERS to work approximately January 10- 31. Day, evening and week-end shifts available. Must be able to work at least a three hours time block. Cashier and customer service experience preferred. Apply service counter, K-state Student Union Bookstore by January 18, 1996. Equal opportunity employer.

THE DEPARTMENT of Mechanical Engineering has an opening for a student hourly office position. Availability on Tuesdays and Thursdays is preferred. Applications are available in the Department of Mechanical Engineering, 302 Durland Hall.

WEB ASSISTANT (10- 20 hrs/ week, HTML, CGI). Advanced training provided. Experience in Internet communications is required. Salary based on capabilities, equal opportunity employer, KSC-Emp, 1640 Fairchild Avenue, Manhattan KS. 66502.

400 FOR SALE OPEN MARKET

405

Wanted to Buy

WANTED: IBM compatible computer with 386 or 486 processor. Will pay up to $250. 537-4944, Nick.

410

Items for Sale

A BEAUTIFUL wedding dress for sale. Could be worn any time of year. Call and leave message at 539-3602.

BEER SIGNS, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, antiques, collectibles, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit $14.95. See ALL the channels (800)752-1389.

CHRISTMAS GIFT baskets available! Customized to fit the recipient and your budget. For details Call 776-9912.

FREE CELLULAR phone-nokia 636! Free leather case! Free cigarette lighter adapter! Free programming! Call 539-1090, today!

GET A free make over for the holiday season. Great gift or for yourself. Artistry Cosmetics. 539-5873.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS!! New Combat boots, saftey-toe boots, overshoes. Wool blankets, gloves and socks. Field jackets. Camouflage clothing. Sleeping bags. Also CARHARTT WORKWEAR. Monday- Friday 9- 5:30, Saturday 9- 5. Open Sundays until Christmas 12- 4. St. Marys Surplus Sales. St. Marys, KS (913)437-2734.

GREAT CHRISTMAS Gift! A 12-month subscription to Kanhistique, the Kansas History & Antique publication. Our 21st year! Stories about Kansas History & Antiques every month! Guaranteed satisfaction. Only $18 including sales tax. Send check to Kanhistique, Box 7, Ellsworth, KS 67439. We'll send gift card.

ZENITH 486DX, 4MB, 170HD, 14-inch monitor with Cannon BJ-200 printer. Windows 3.1 with AMI-Pro. $750 or best offer, 776-1164.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

JERRY'S WHOLESALE carpet. Carpet remnants and vinyl remnants. 2501 Stagg Hill Road. Monday- Friday, 8:30a.m.- 5:30p.m. Sat. 8a.m.- 12p.m. Open to the public.

430

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Flea Market 7000 square feet, 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

435

Computers

28.8 V.34 internal faxmodem with software. One year old- lifetime warranty. $70. Lotus Smartsuite 96 CD-ROM for Windows 95 (includes Lotus 1-2-3, Word Pro, Freelance Graphics, Approach, Organizer, etc.) $40. Smartsuite for Windows 3.1 $30. Word Pro for Windows 3.1 $15. All software current and fully licensed. Or best offer. 587-4697.

486/40. 15-INCH monitor. 8 Meg Ram. 340 hard drive. 4X CD-ROM. $800. Gary, 587-8624.

GATEWAY 2000 486DX-2 66, 4MB RAM 340 MB HD, 14-inch monitor, 4x CD-Rom, CAnnon Bubble Jet printer. $1000. 587-8567.

I'VE GOT computers and laptops XT through 486 low price $150- $475. Must sell Paul 784-5650. Guarantee 90 days.

TWO COMPUTERS for sale-working condition. 1987 Zenith Z150 HD 1470 and Zenith 1380 (80/88). Make an offer. Kansas State & Extension Forestry 2610 Claflin Road, 537-7050.

445

Music Instruments

WELCOME TO The Music Co.! I'd like to take this opportunity to thank all the bands, individuals and businesses that have made 1996 another successful year. Have a warm and wonderful Holiday Season. Doug Jones, Proprietor. The Music Co., 523 S. 17th Street, in the Midtown Plaza. 539-1958.

455

Sporting Equipment

TWO FOOSEBALL tables for sale. $125 each. 537-7587 or 776-8076.

465

Tickets to Buy/Sell

COTTON BOWL, six tickets, 30 yard line, under upper deck. (972)243-8595.

COTTON BOWL- 10 VIP seats. 40 yard line, lower second deck, sunny side, VIP parking included. $80/ ticket. Jim Bourgeois (210)693-3880.

FOR SALE: Two basketball season tickets, section 23, row 3, seat 3. $50 or best offer, (800)577-7468 pin# 258-1616.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1983 HONDA Acord. New motor and clutch. $2000. Call 537-7583.

1985 HONDA Prelude SE, red, 5-speed, CD player, sunroof, power, $2400 or best offer. 776-5263

1986 HONDA Civic four cylinder; five-speed, great school car, four-door, $1700 or best offer. 1987 Dodge Automatic $700, 532-7855.

1988 PONTIAC 6000. Burgundy four-door, automatic, 150k. Make offer 565-0587.

SEIZED CARS from $175. Porsches, Cadillacs, Chevy, BMW's, Corvettes. Also Jeeps, 4WD's. Your area. Toll free (800)218-9000 ext.A-1915 for current listings.

600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

610

Tour Package

30 SHOPPING DAYS LEFT! Now is the time to guarantee the lowest rates and best hotels for spring break. Leisure tours has packages to South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica and Florida. (800)838-8203.

If Advertising Isn't Your De-Pod-Ment!

Let it be ours!

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
Advertising • 532-6560

COMMING SOON
"Stay in class at the University"
Leasing '97 - '98 Schoolyear

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

000 BULLETIN BOARD
- 010 Announcements
- 020 Lost and Found
- 030 Personals
- 040 Meetings/Events
- 050 Parties-n-More

100 HOUSING/ REAL ESTATE
- 105 For Rent — Apt. Furnished
- 110 For Rent — Apt. Unfurnished
- 115 Rooms Available
- 120 For Rent — Houses
- 125 For Sale — Houses
- 130 For Rent — Mobile Homes
- 135 For Sale — Mobile Homes
- 140 For Rent — Garage
- 145 Roommate Wanted
- 150 Sublease
- 155 Stable/Pasture
- 160 Office Space
- 165 Land for Sale

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY
- 205 Tutor
- 210 Resume/Typing
- 215 Desktop Publishing
- 220 Sewing/Alterations
- 225 Pregnancy Testing
- 230 Lawn Care
- 235 Child Care
- 240 Musicians/DJs
- 245 Pet Services
- 250 Automotive Repair
- 255 Other Services

300 EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS
- 310 Help Wanted
- 320 Volunteers Needed
- 330 Business Opportunities

400 FOR SALE OPEN MARKET
- 405 Wanted to Buy
- 410 Items for Sale
- 415 Furniture to Buy/Sell
- 420 Garage/Yard Sales
- 425 Auction
- 430 Antiques
- 435 Computers
- 440 Food Specials
- 445 Music Instruments
- 450 Pets and Supplies
- 455 Sporting Equipment
- 460 Stereo Equipment
- 465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

500 TRANS-PORTATION
- 510 Automobiles
- 520 Bicycles
- 530 Motorcycles
- 540 Car Pool

600 TRAVEL/ TRIPS
- 610 Tour Packages
- 620 Airplane Tickets
- 630 Train Tickets
- 640 Bus Tickets

• CATEGORIES

To help you find what you are looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation.

• CLASSIFIED AD WRITING TIPS

Always put what item or service you are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for.

Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by abbreviations.

Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price range.

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBER OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

CHRIS COOK, senior in mechanical engineering, walks across campus with his wife Shea and his 3-year-old son Tristan. Shea Cook, a prospective student, was taking a tour of the campus.

BRANDON WHITE
Collegian

Human ecology graduate students to benefit from program expansion

SPEED

▶ Graduate students in the College of Human Ecology will have the opportunity to take classes at other Big 12 schools through a long distance educational program.

DARCIE MCCONKEY
staff reporter

K-State graduate students in the College of Human Ecology will soon have the opportunity to take courses at other universities without even stepping off the K-State campus.

A new project will allow students to enroll at the different universities and participate in a long distance educational program through Iowa State, University of Nebraska, North Dakota State and Oklahoma State.

The project, which is funded through a $100,000 United States Department of Agriculture Agricultural Telecommunications Grant, was created two years ago with the cooperation of the associate deans of each participating university.

Virginia Moxley, associate dean for academic affairs in the K-State College of Human Ecology, said that there are a number of advantages to implementing this program into the universities and their human sciences programs.

This project will enable the college to export K-State's classes through computer conferencing, video-conferencing, audio-conferencing and teleconferencing.

The other universities can then import the K-State classes or K-State can import classes not offered here, Moxley said.

Moxley said one thing all the universities involved in the project have in common is the fact that they contain a spread-out rural population, which makes it difficult to offer specialized degrees.

"We see some real potential in this program of study. It will create an excellent opportunity for rural professionals to participate in educational programs and a flexible schedule for both students and faculty," she said.

Moxley also said the project is designed to eliminate some of the disadvantages of faculty sabbatical and retirements.

"If a faculty member leaves on sabbatical, this education program allows us to offer the same course they instructed. Another problem we have encountered in the past is how difficult it is to replace retiring faculty," Moxley said. "Now, even if we do not have faculty to teach a certain course, we can bring in expertise in from other places."

> "Now, even if we do not have faculty to teach a certain course, we can bring in expertise in from other places."
>
> • VIRGINIA MOXLEY
> ASSOCIATE DEAN FOR ACADEMIC AFFAIRS, K-STATE COLLEGE OF HUMAN ECOLOGY

Although she said she believes the program will be very beneficial to students, it could also create some problems that the college needs to solve.

"The problem is that our graduate program restricts the amount of hours that can be transferred in from other universities. We want to find a way to bring about some change. Although this policy does ensure quality within the program, we also want to strengthen graduate education," Moxley said.

The collaborating faculty members will participate in a one week intensive course development workshop to learn about the technology and design of distance education. Nationally recognized experts will be in attendance to educate the faculty on computer-conferencing equipment.

Moxley said they hope to have the project organized and implemented during the summer 1997.

However, their current goal is to have the faculty better prepared for teaching the courses, as well as create a homepage to inform students and a priority list of courses by the end of this year.

"Our goal is to build our distance education program and ensure that distance learning is as beneficial and successful as the campus learning," Moxley said.

▶ FACULTY

Anthropology professor honored for documentary

DEBBIE WOOD
staff reporter

Harold Prins, professor of anthropology, recently was awarded an honorable mention from the Society of Visual Anthropologists for his documentary film on the Wabanaki Indian tribe in Maine.

His film was titled "Wabanaki: A New Dawn." The name Wabanaki means dawn land people. Five hundred years ago, their world was destroyed by the arrival of Europeans.

The Wabanaki had its land robbed, its people diminished and its religion repressed.

"Almost all their culture was wiped from the face of the earth. And the last 20 years, they have started to rebuild," Prins said.

In 1981, a job opening became available, and Prins was hired to be the tribe's research director in Maine.

He became actively involved with the tribe. In 1989, Prins started talking about making a documentary on the Wabanaki.

The film was produced by the Maine Indian Tribal State Commission and cost more than $40,000 to make.

It was recently screened in San Francisco and will be screened again at the Earth Watch Film Festival in Boston next spring.

It aired this year on PBS.

"The important thing about the film is that it was made for the young people in the tribe to learn about their spirituality from the elders," Prins said. "It gives them a source of identity and pride."

Prins said he had active participation from the Wabanaki people and he worked closely in communicating with the elders of the tribe.

The film is now used in the tribe's school curriculum as a teaching tool.

One thing the film spoke about was the Katahdin Mountain, which is sacred to the Wabanaki people.

"It's the highest mountain in the Northern Appalachians," Prins said. "The top of the mountain is covered with snow, and it glows pink when the sun rises. And in the evening when the sun sets, the pink afterglow remains at dusk."

Prins said filmmaking is one other instrument in communicating knowledge.

"You can reach in one evening on television hundreds of thousands of people," he said.

HERFF JONES

Celebrate Your Accomplishments...

K-State Student Union Bookstore 532-6583 HERFF JONES.

This Week's Specials
Sancho or Burrito $1.40 ea (reg. $1.80 ea.)
Taco Dinner $2.15 (reg. $2.90)
Good through 12-14-96
TACO HUT
Where good friends get together
2809 Claflin 539-2091

PLAY IT AGAIN SPORTS
GREAT STOCKING STUFFERS...
GIFT IDEAS
Hockey Sticks, Ice Skates, Roller Blades and other exercise items.
1115 Westloop - 539-9500 PLAY IT AGAIN SPORTS

The Community Sanctuary
FREE
•Child care for kids up to age 12. •A ride anywhere you need to go •Tutoring
SATURDAYS 9 a.m. - 12 p.m.
First Congregational Church
700 Poyntz
Reservations and information
537-7000
Mon.-Fri. 8:00-3:30

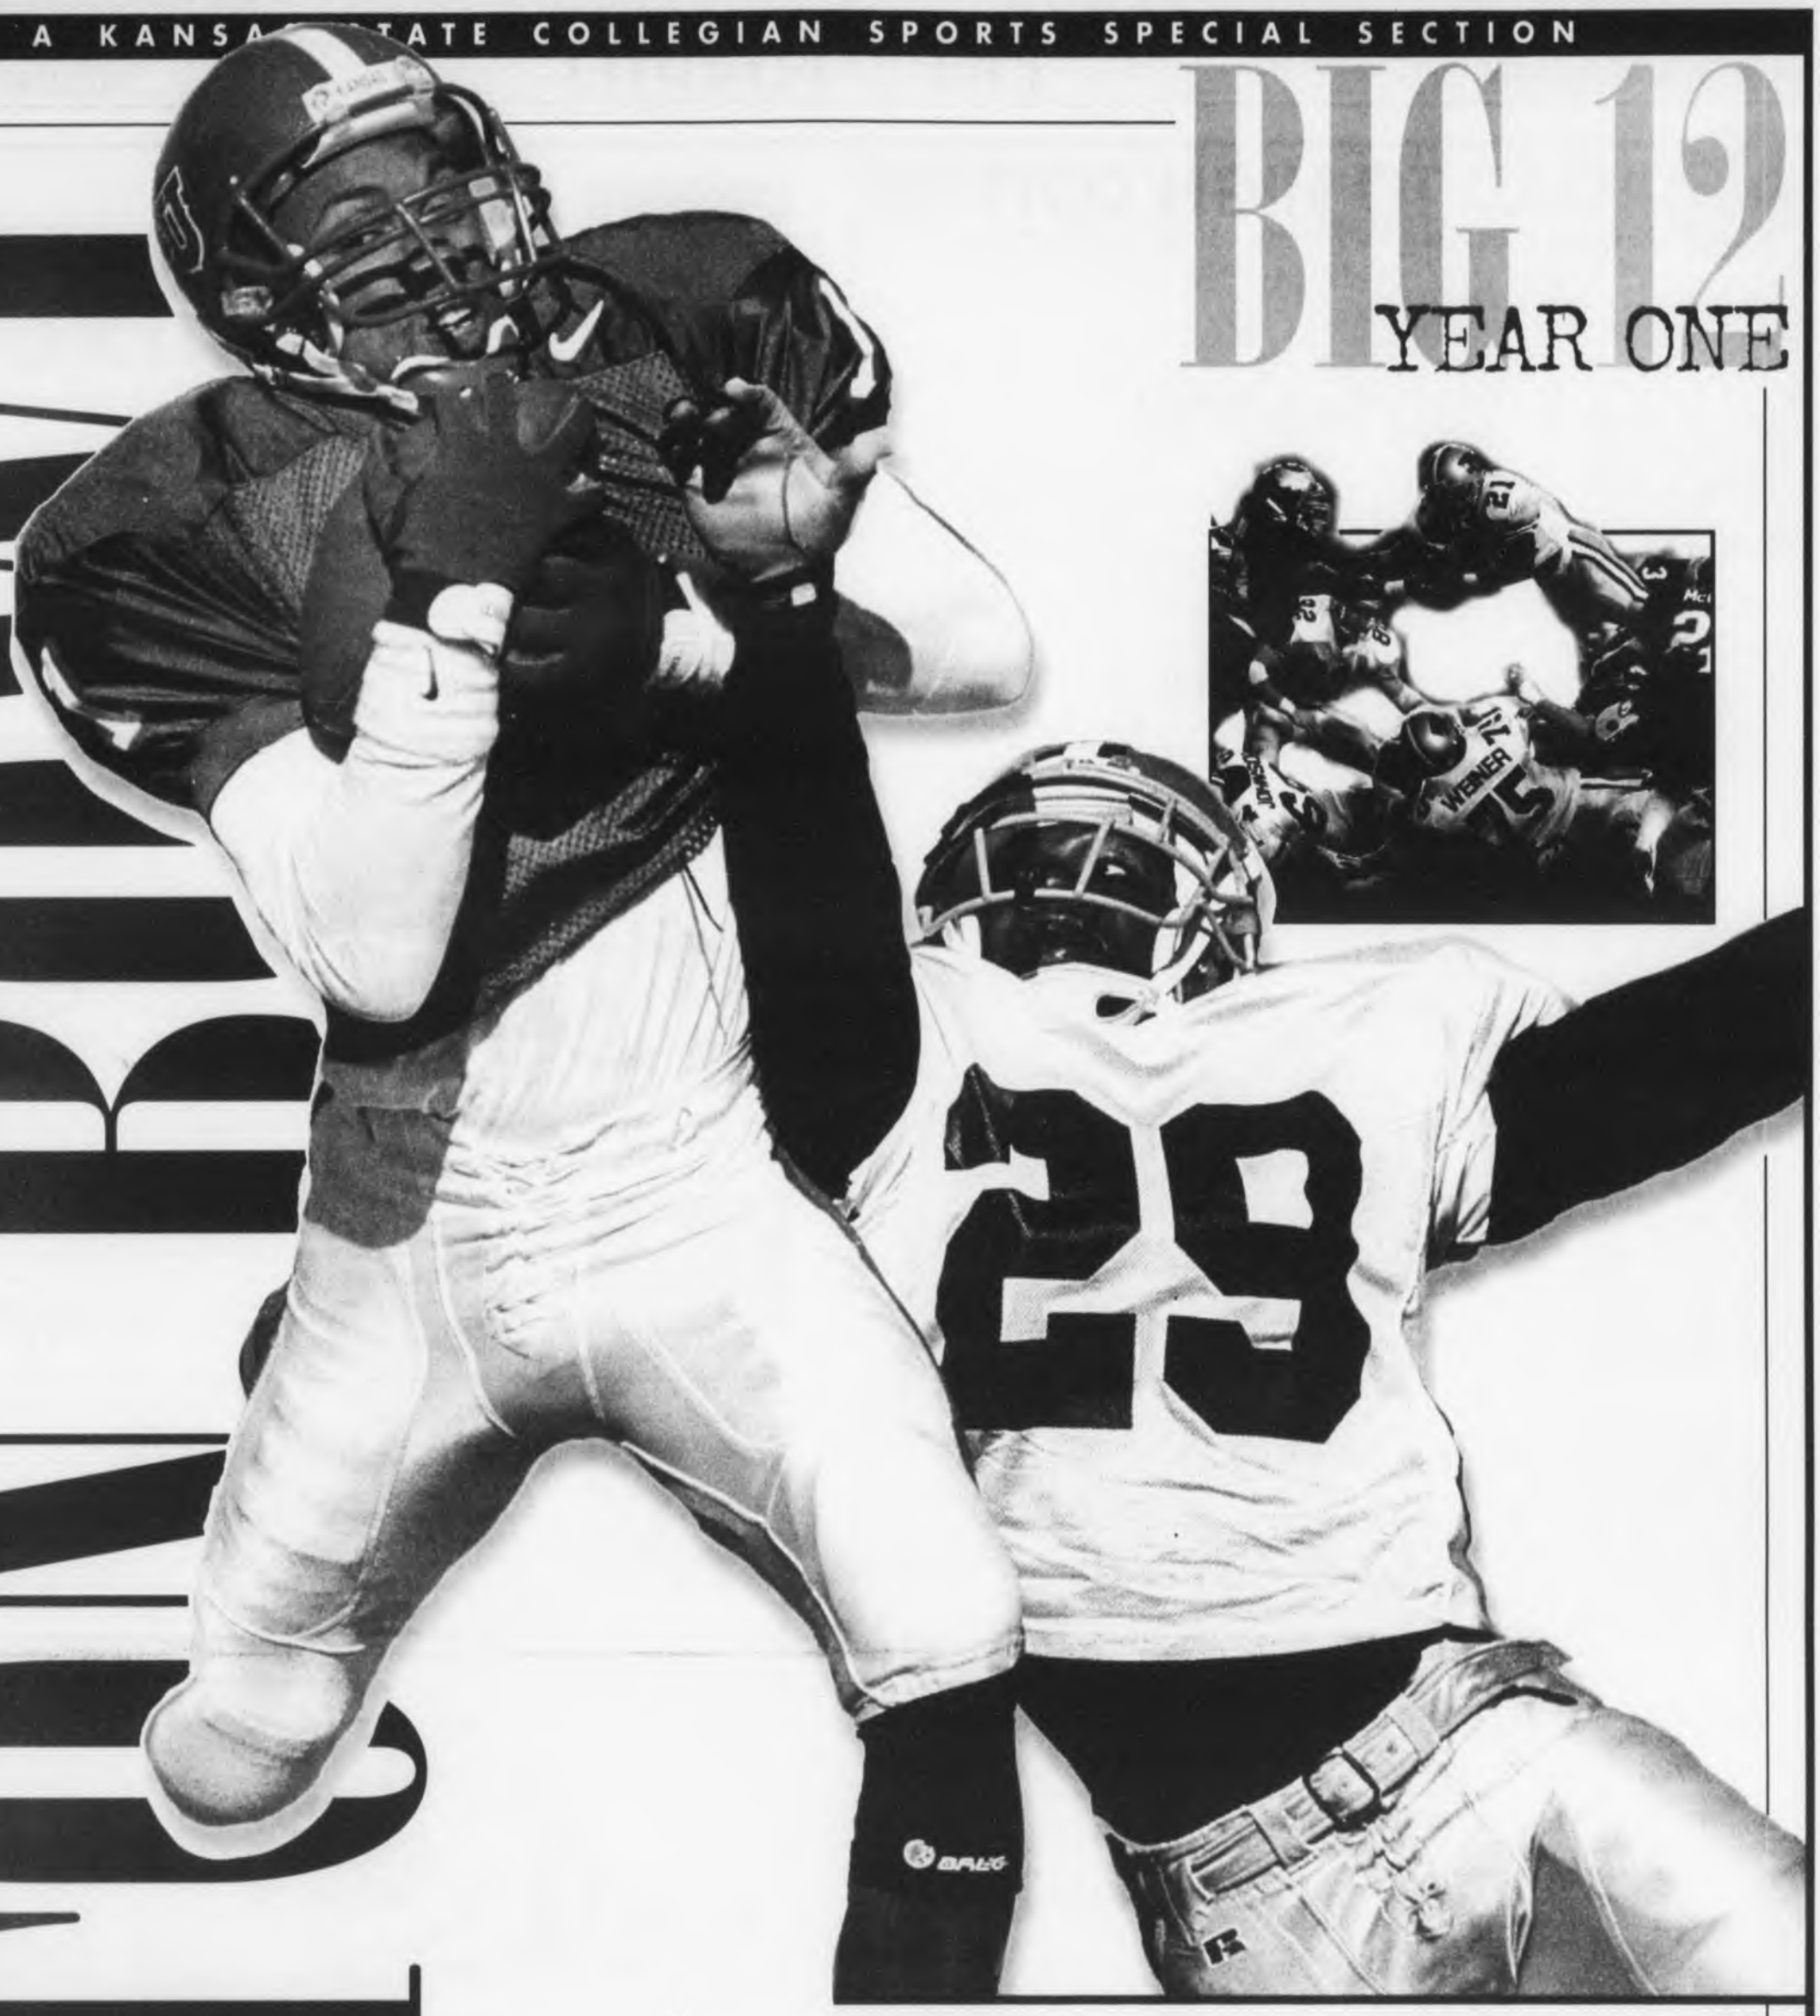
To: Our Graduating Seniors
From: The Lafene Health Center Staff
CONGRATULATIONS AND BEST OF LUCK WITH YOUR FUTURE PLANS.
WE'LL ALL MISS YOU!
LHC
LAFENE HEALTH CENTER

"WILLIE'S FUN BUNCH"

Help fill the Flint Hills Breadbasket.

From now through December 1996, for every canned good you bring to 103 Kedzie, we'll give you 50 cents off a Collegian classified ad.* Student Publications Inc. will donate all items to the Flint Hills Breadbasket as part of the Cats for Cans food drive.

Just fill out this form and take it to 103 Kedzie to place your classified ad. Deadline for classified ads is noon the day before publication. The last day to place classified ads this semester is Dec. 12.



(*Value of cans cannot exceed cost of ad.)

Name_____
I.D. number_____
Address_____
Phone number_____
Message (No last names or phone numbers accepted in personals)_____

kansas state COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie (east of the Union) 532-6555

BIG 12 YEAR ONE

ROAD TO THE COTTON BOWL

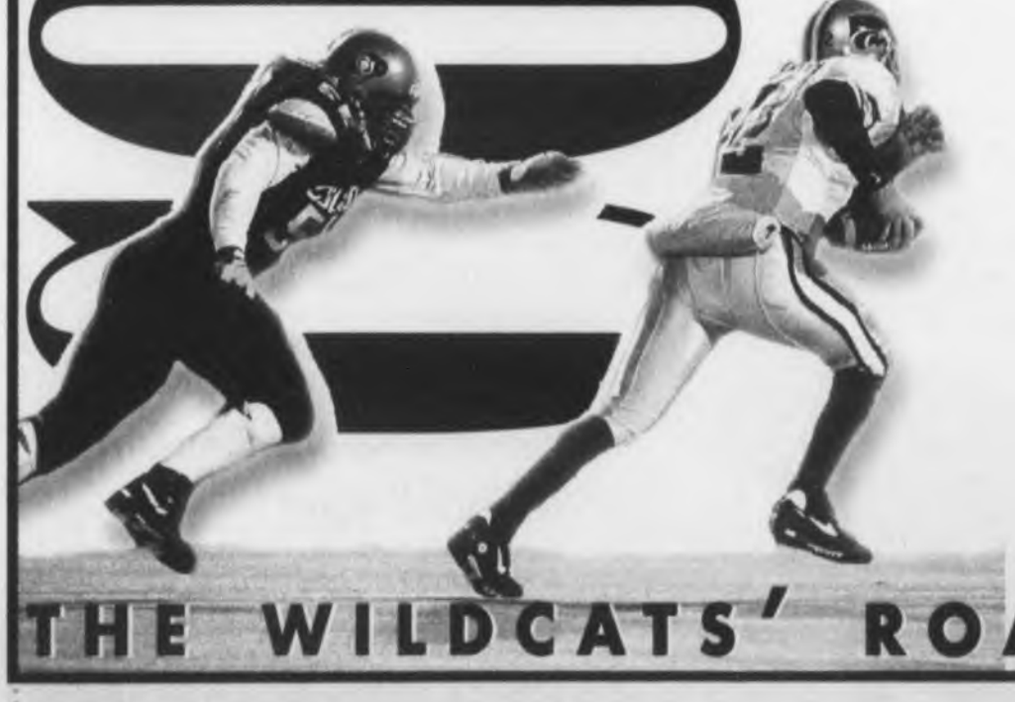
PATHWAYS 2

Curious how K-State started its road to the Cotton Bowl? The Collegian breaks it down for you in a game-by-game timeline from the start of the Big 12 era with Texas Tech to the defeat of Iowa State.

RIVALRIES 3

How could the Cougars compete with the Wildcats? Shane McCormick analyzes the teams with cross-position comparisons that will leave no doubts which team has the advantages on the field.

THE GAME 4



Brian Kavanagh squares off against BYU's Steve Sarkisian. On the field, which team leader will step above the hype to prove his mettle when it comes to the passing game — Kavanagh or Sarkisian?

HISTORY 5

This Cotton Bowl appearance marks the Cats' fourth bowl. With trips to the Aloha, Holiday and Copper bowls and four consecutive 9-2 records, the Cats discover a routine to their season play.

TRAVEL 6

The road to the Cotton Bowl takes the Wildcats down I-35. The Collegian does some footwork for you last-minute planners by giving you travel-package information, night-spot locations and sights to see.

THE WILDCATS' ROAD TO THE COTTON BOWL

Budweiser. congratulates the Bowl Bound Cats. Good Luck in the Game!

KING OF BEERS.

ROAD TO HIGH COTTON

K-State's 9-2 season was full of ups and downs for the Wildcats. Here is a look at the games that led to the Cats' first-ever New Year's Day bowl.

TEXT BY SHANE McCORMICK • PHOTOS BY JILL JARSULIC AND DARREN WHITLEY

K-State 21, Texas Tech 14

In the inaugural Big 12 game, the Cats' defense and special teams came up big in the victory. Safety Mario Smith recovered an errant snap on a punt attempt in the end zone for a Cat touchdown. With less than a minute to play, Smith and Lamar Chapman combined to break up a fourth-down pass play inside the Cat 5-yard line to seal the win. Senior defensive end Nyle Wiren earned Big 12 Defensive Player of the Week honors after making eight tackles, including three quarterback sacks and forcing two fumbles.

K-State 59, Indiana State 3

The 15th-ranked Cats used an impressive ground attack to move to 2-0. Leading the way was running back Marlon Charles, who rushed 33 times for a career-high 195 yards and three touchdowns. The 185 yards was the fourth-best single-game rushing total in school history. Also having a big game was quarterback Brian Kavanagh. The senior set a new career high with 19 completions in just 22 attempts, finishing with 232 yards and three touchdowns.

K-State 35, Cincinnati 0

The story of the game was the impressive performance from the Cat defense. The Bearcats managed just 93 total yards by halftime. In the third quarter, the Cats only gave up 19 total yards. Nyle Wiren led the way, recording two sacks, giving him 5.5 after three games. Leading the way offensively was Marlon Charles, who rushed for 106 yards and two touchdowns.

K-State 34, Rice 7

The Cats continued their dominance, picking up their first road victory on the season. Chris Canty earned Big 12 Defensive Player of the Week honors after catching a pass for 26 yards, returning three punts for 37 yards, returning an interception for 44 yards and returning a kickoff for 70 yards. Wide receiver Kevin Lockett's 9-yard touchdown moved him into the lead of K-State's all-time receiving-yardage charts.

K-State 3, Nebraska 39

Once again, the Cats were unable to come up with a big win over the Cornhuskers, who extended NU's streak of consecutive victories over the Cats to 28. This time, it was the Cats' opponent that came up with the big defensive effort. The Cat offense was limited to just minus 5 yards on 24 snaps in the first half. The Cats finished the game with just 86 total yards, their lowest output since 1992.

K-State 35, Missouri 10

The Cats rebounded from the Husker debacle with a conference win at Columbia. Chris Canty's 58-yard punt return for a touchdown gave the Cats their first lead of the game, 14-7. Mario Smith put the game away with a school-record 100-yard interception return for a touchdown.

K-State 23, Texas A&M 20

K-State became just the third team since 1989 to escape Kyle Field with a victory. The Cats built a 17-point halftime lead behind touchdown runs by Mike Lawrence and Brian Kavanagh. With the offense sputtering in the second half, the defense stepped up and made the necessary big plays. With less than a minute left, Chris Canty stripped A&M receiver Albert Connell inside the Cat 20-yard line. Linebacker Mark Simoneau recovered the fumble to ice the victory.

K-State 42, Oklahoma 35

After jumping out to a 42-14 lead, the Sooners scored 21 unanswered points in the fourth quarter and gained possession at the Cats' 40-yard line with less than two minutes remaining. But once again, Chris Canty was there to save the Cats, intercepting an Eric Moore pass on first down to secure the victory.

K-State 38, Kansas 12

K-State continued its sunflower supremacy with its fourth consecutive victory over the Jayhawks. After just a two-point lead at halftime, the Cats' offense and defense stepped up in the second half. Offensively, the Cats were led by Kevin Lockett, who finished the day with 11 passes for 168 yards and three touchdowns. The Cat defense recorded seven sacks on the day and held star running back June Henley to just 42 yards on 10 carries.

K-State 0, Colorado 12

The Cats' last chance at a bid for an Alliance Bowl disappeared into the bitter cold air at Boulder. With wind chills as low as minus 5 degrees, the Cats were smothered by the Buffaloes' defense. Perhaps the biggest turning point in the game came on the Cats' first drive of the second half. On the drive, the offense drove 85 yards on 18 plays, consumed eight minutes and 25 seconds of the game clock, and then came up with zero points. The Cats never seriously threatened the rest of the way.

K-State 35, Iowa State 20

For the fourth consecutive year, the Cats ended the regular season with nine victories. The Cats are only the sixth team to accomplish the feat in the last four seasons. Cat running back Mike Lawrence outshined Heisman Trophy candidate Troy Davis in a battle of running backs. Lawrence finished the day with 252 yards on 38 carries and three touchdowns. The 252 yards was a school record. Also setting records on the day was Kevin Lockett. The senior caught eight passes, giving him 72 on the year to set a school record.

Some Cats can call Texas home

STORY BY DAN LEWERENZ

For weeks now, K-State players and coaches have repeated the line, "We want to go to a bowl game. We ask only that we go to an appropriate game."

But the underlying current was there. Once the Wildcats were effectively eliminated from consideration by the Bowl Alliance, the lure of Cotton was too much.

The coaches wanted to go there. After all, it would be K-State's first New Year's Day bowl played in one of college football's most historic sites.

The fans wanted to go there. K-Staters like to drive, and the short shot to Dallas promised to be much easier than the trek to San Diego last December.

Players wanted to go there. After all, what could be better than playing the biggest game in school history in front of a roaring crowd?

But the Texans on the Wildcat roster saw it as even more. The Cotton Bowl will be a homecoming of sorts for 13 K-State players.

TEXAS IS HOME FOR THESE CATS

Player	Yr	Pos	Hometown
Kenneth Bouie	Jr.	DT	San Marcos
Jarrod Cooper	Fr.	LB	Pearland
Randall Cummins	Fr.	OL	Cedar Hill
Jerome Evans	Jr.	DT	Waco
James Garcia	So.	P	Victoria
Joe Gordon	Sr.	CB	Arlington
Kendyl Jacox	Jr.	OG	Dallas
Clyde Johnson	Sr.	SS	Austin
Clint McCray	Fr.	DT	Houston
Mike Munson	So.	OG	DeSoto
Grant Reves	Fr.	OL	Richardson
Monty Spiller	Jr.	FS	Dallas
Milford Stephenson	Fr.	TE	Houston

"I'm really excited right now," senior cornerback Joe Gordon, a native of Arlington,Texas, said about the possibility of playing in the 61st Annual Cotton Bowl Classic.

"I think it's really sweet. I get a chance to go home and play in front of family and friends. Dallas and Arlington, if you've ever been there, is only about a five-to seven-minute drive. And I owe it all to my teammates. It's kind of sweet to get to go home for the end of the season."

Although Gordon never attended a Cotton Bowl, he watched them regularly on television.

So did his backfield partner, senior strong safety Clyde Johnson, who grew up in Austin, Texas.

Johnson said he has family at games in Manhattan on numerous occasions. But he expects far more in Dallas.

"It will be nice, because a lot of people will be able to come in for the game, people who don't usually get to see me play," Johnson said.

For senior offensive lineman Ross Greenwood, proximity to home is not the only attraction of the Cotton Bowl.

No, Greenwood is not from Texas. But he did grow up in Fayetteville, Ark., home of the University of Arkansas. And because Arkansas used to be in the Southwest Conference, Greenwood is used to the impassioned battles for a Cotton Bowl berth.

"I remember Arkansas went to the Cotton Bowl twice when I was a kid, if I remember correctly," Greenwood said. "And that was big-time. Listening to the players talk and everything — that is what the excitement of college football is all about."

Good Luck in the Bowl

Manhattan Catbackers
3424 Newbury
Manhattan, Kan. 66503-0314

Tom and Sue Chavey
Manhattan Area KSU Alumni Club
833 DeHoff
Manhattan, Kan. 66502

Audrey Mross
Dallas/Ft. Worth KSU Alumni Club
3622 Binkley Apt. B
Dallas, Texas 75205-2164

Brent and Lynne Rockers
Nebraskans for K-State
4401 Ash Hollow Ct.
Lincoln, Neb. 68516

Gary Urbanek
Purple Power Catbackers
P.O. Box 399
109 West 1st
Ellsworth, Kan. 67439-0399

Jim Lembright
Dodge City Catbackers
2308 Fairway Dr.
Dodge City, Kan. 67801

Mary Kay Humerickhouse
Tulsa Area KSU Alumni Club
1502 S. Fir Pl.
Broken Arrow, Okla. 74012

Cyndy Schwensen
Clay County KSU Alumni Club
710 Hillcrest
Clay Center, Kan. 67432

Barry Bishop
Southeast Kansas Power Catbackers
1901 N. 9th
Independence, Kan. 67301

Scott and Cathy Wieland
Northwest Kansas Catbackers
1270 Lue Dr
Colby, Kan. 67701

Kansas City Catbackers
5140 W. 127 Terrace
Leawood, Kan. 66209

Les and Amy Pelfrey
Scott County Area KSU Alumni Club
1209 Steele
Scott City, Kan. 67871

Cory Williams
Cactus Cats Phoenix Area KSU Alumni Club
P.O. Box 54057
Phoenix, Ariz. 85078

Joyce and Ken Nesmith
Houston Area KSU Alumni Club
1406 Hamlin Valley
Houston, Texas

Premium
Cigars
Celebrate in style with an Officially Licensed Wildcat "Victory" Cigar from Lowman's!
Great Gifts-Limited Quantities
Victory Victory

12th & Moro
Aggieville

LOWMAN'S
MEN'S-STORE
...For the Holidays

Classic Cat Sportswear

Coats, Sweaters, Sportshirts, Ties, Wallets, Money Clips, Pens and Cigar Accessories
Free Gift Wrap, Extended Hours
...where Santa never goes out of style

1201 Moro 776-7304
In Historic Aggieville

breakin' it down

STORY BY SHANE McCORMICK • PHOTO BY DARREN WHITLEY

K-State Quarterbacks

Brian Kavanagh may have not produced a Holiday Bowl performance every game this year, but the senior has been very productive. Kavanagh has passes for over 1,800 yards and has thrown 20 touchdowns. If he goes down, the Cats will have to call upon true freshman Jonathan Beasley, who has seen limited action this year.

K-State Running backs

Leading the Cat rushing attack this season is junior tailback Mike Lawrence. Lawrence reached the 1,000-yard mark and has rushed for 10 touchdowns. When Lawrence takes a breather, sophomore Marlon Charles provides the Cats with a different style of running. More of a slasher, Charles averaged 4.7 yards a carry this season.

K-State Receivers

When you mention the Cat receiving corps, the name Kevin Lockett comes to most peoples minds. And why not? All Lockett has done is he has grabbed 72 balls this year for 882 yards. But the Cats also look to their running backs and tight ends in the passing attack. Lawrence is the Cats' second-leading receiver, grabbing 27 catches. Jarrett Grosdidier has grabbed 15 catches and three touchdowns.

K-State Offensive line

Not only has the Cats' offensive line produced a 1,000-yard rusher in Lawrence, but they have also provided Kavanagh with adequate pass protection throughout the season. The line is anchored by senior center Jason Johnson, who has drawn many defenses offside this season.

K-State Defensive line

Senior defensive end Nyle Wiren has had a very productive last season. With his team leading 11.5 sacks this season, Wiren has become the school's all-time sack leader. But perhaps the biggest surprise for the Cats this season has been the play of junior transfer Jerome Evans. Evans has recorded 80 tackles this season, 12 of which were for losses.

K-State Linebackers

Senior middle linebacker DeShawn Fogle has helped Cat fans forget the loss of Percell Gaskins. Fogle led the team this year in tackles with an incredible 112. Redshirt freshman Mark Simoneau has also been a pleasant surprise, recording 111 tackles on the season.

K-State Secondary

Called perhaps the best secondary in the nation, the Cats have the numbers to back up the statement. The Cats' passing defense is ranked fourth in the nation. All-American Chris Canty led the team in interceptions with five. The question is will Canty miss any part of the Cotton Bowl due to his recent off-the -field incident.

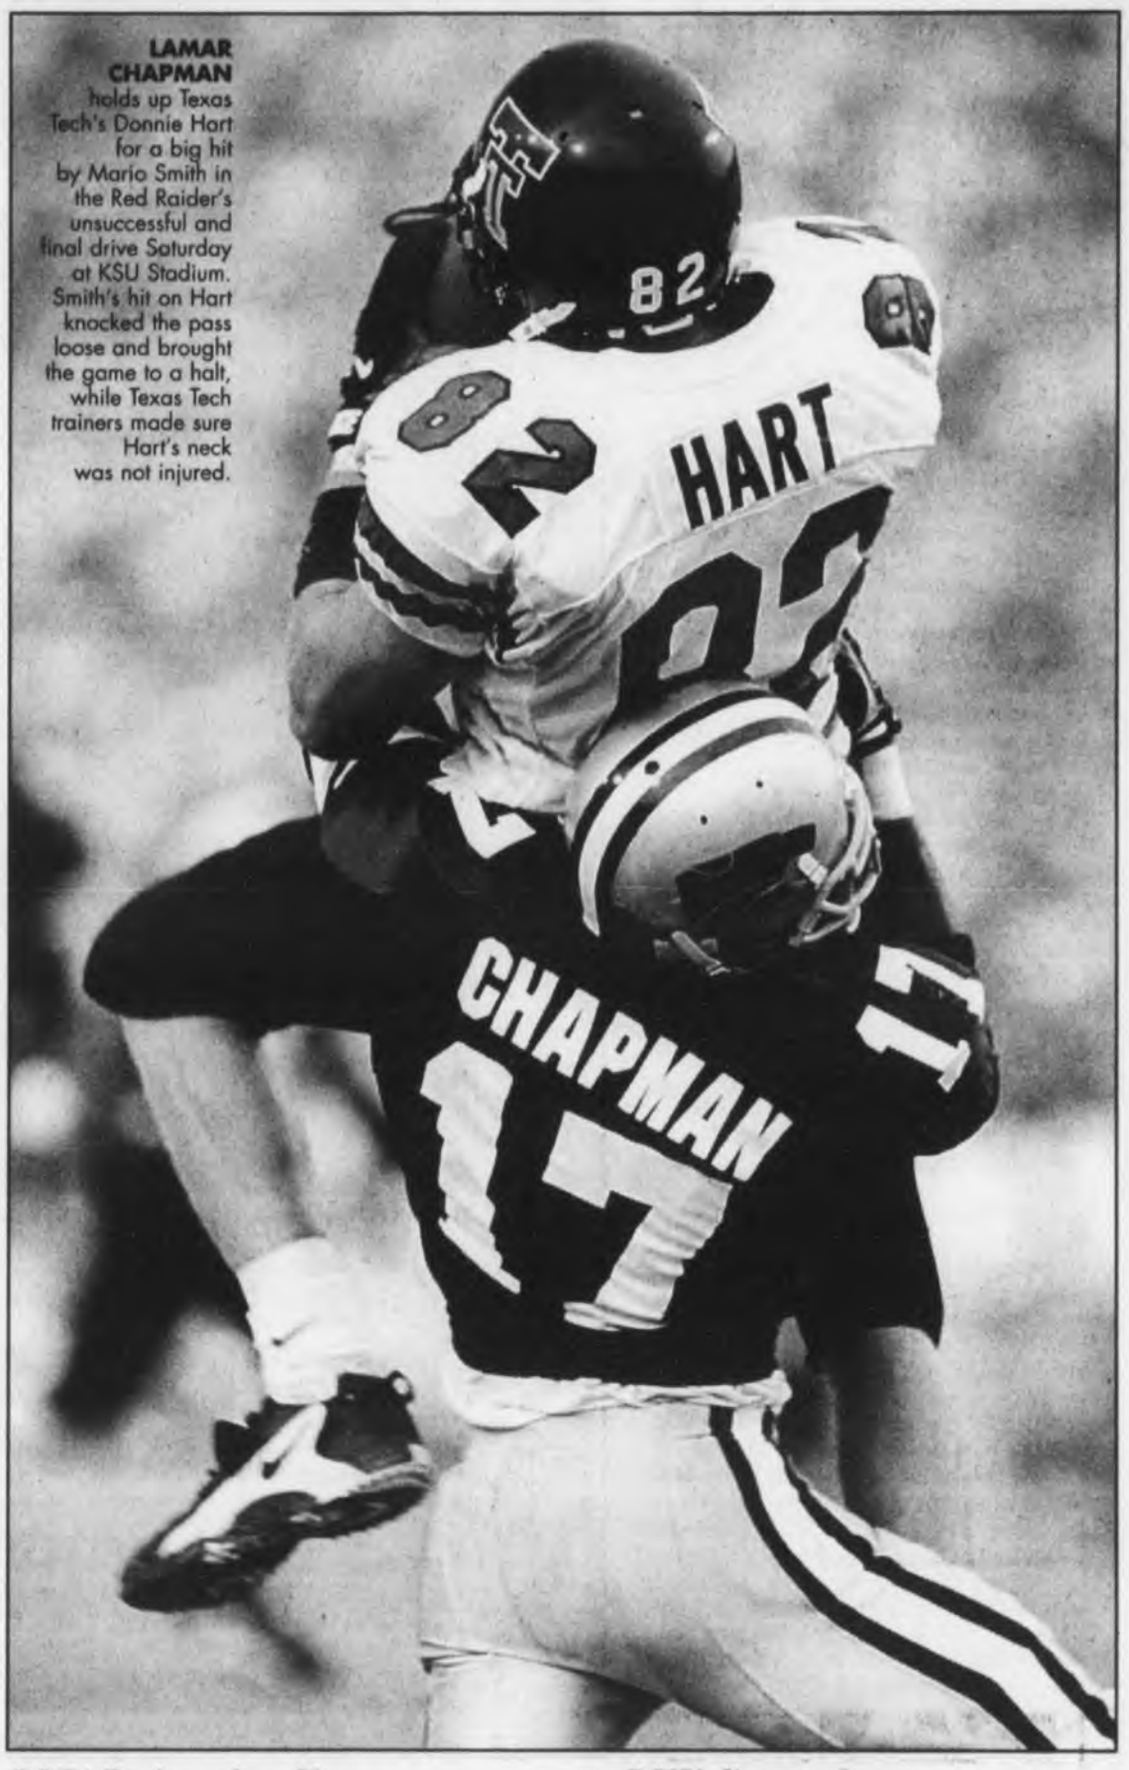
K-State Special teams

Despite some trouble against Nebraska, punter James Garcia has put up some big numbers this year. Garcia has averaged 44.3 yards a kick, including a long of 70 yards. Canty is always a danger to score, returning punts, averaging more than 10 yards a return, including one for a score. Canty has also averaged nearly 30 yards per kickoff return.

BYU Quarterbacks

Quarterback Steve Sarkisian continues the tradition of tremendously gifted quarterbacks for the Cougars. For the year, Sarkisian threw for more than 4,000 yards and 33 touchdowns. His 68.66 pass efficiency is the best in the nation. If Sarkisian goes down, the Cougars don't have much experience at the backup position. Backup quarterback Paul Shoemaker has only thrown the ball seven times this year.

BYU Running backs



The Cougars' rushing attack is led by Brian McKenzie, who ranks No. 12 in the Western Athletic Conference. McKenzie has rushed for 950 yards, averaging 5.7 yards a carry. Ronney Jenkins has filled in nicely, rushing for 721 yards. The Cougars rushing attack ranks 31st in the nation, but the Cougars will try to establish the run early.

BYU Receivers

Amazingly enough, the Cougars don't have a single receiver that ranks in the top 20 in the WAC. That is a credit to Sarkisian's ability to spread the ball around. There are 10 different Cougar receivers that have reached the double-digit mark in receptions this year. Ko Kealaluhi leads the team in receiving touchdowns with eight.

BYU Offensive line

The Cougar offensive line is a balance between experience and some newcomers. Left guard James Johnson and center Larry Moore are the lone seniors on the line, both tipping the scales more than 290. Freshman John Tait starts at the left tackle position. For the year, the Cougar line has given up 27 sacks in 14 games.

LAMAR CHAPMAN holds up Texas Tech's Donnie Hart for a big hit by Mario Smith in the Red Raider's unsuccessful and final drive Saturday at KSU Stadium. Smith's hit on Hart knocked the pass loose and brought the game to a halt, while Texas Tech trainers made sure Hart's neck was not injured.

BYU Defensive line

The Cougars' rush defense ranks 22nd in the nation, allowing 146 yards a game. Senior lineman Henry Bloomfield anchors the line, leading the lineman with 45 tackles. The Cougars second line of defense is a young one, featuring three freshman.

BYU Linebackers

Two words: Shay Muirbrook. The senior middle linebacker has dominated opponents at times this season. Muirbrook leads the team in tackles with 82 and in sacks with nine. Right behind him in the tackle category is outside linebacker Brad Martin with 67. Martin leads the team in tackles-for-losses with 11.

BYU Secondary

The Cougar secondary ranks 36th in the nation against the pass. Senior Tim McTyer and junior Omarr Morgan lead the team in interceptions, with three each. Morgan also has the ability to come up and shut down the run, recording 39 tackles this season from the corner position.

BYU Special teams

Senior James Dye has the ability at any time to break a game open on special teams. The backup wide receiver led the WAC in punt returns this season, accumulating over 350 yards. Placekicker Ethan Pochman has hit 16 of 22 field goals this season.

WHEN WE HAVE THE BALL

K-State offense

WR – Kevin Lockett
Troy Hackney

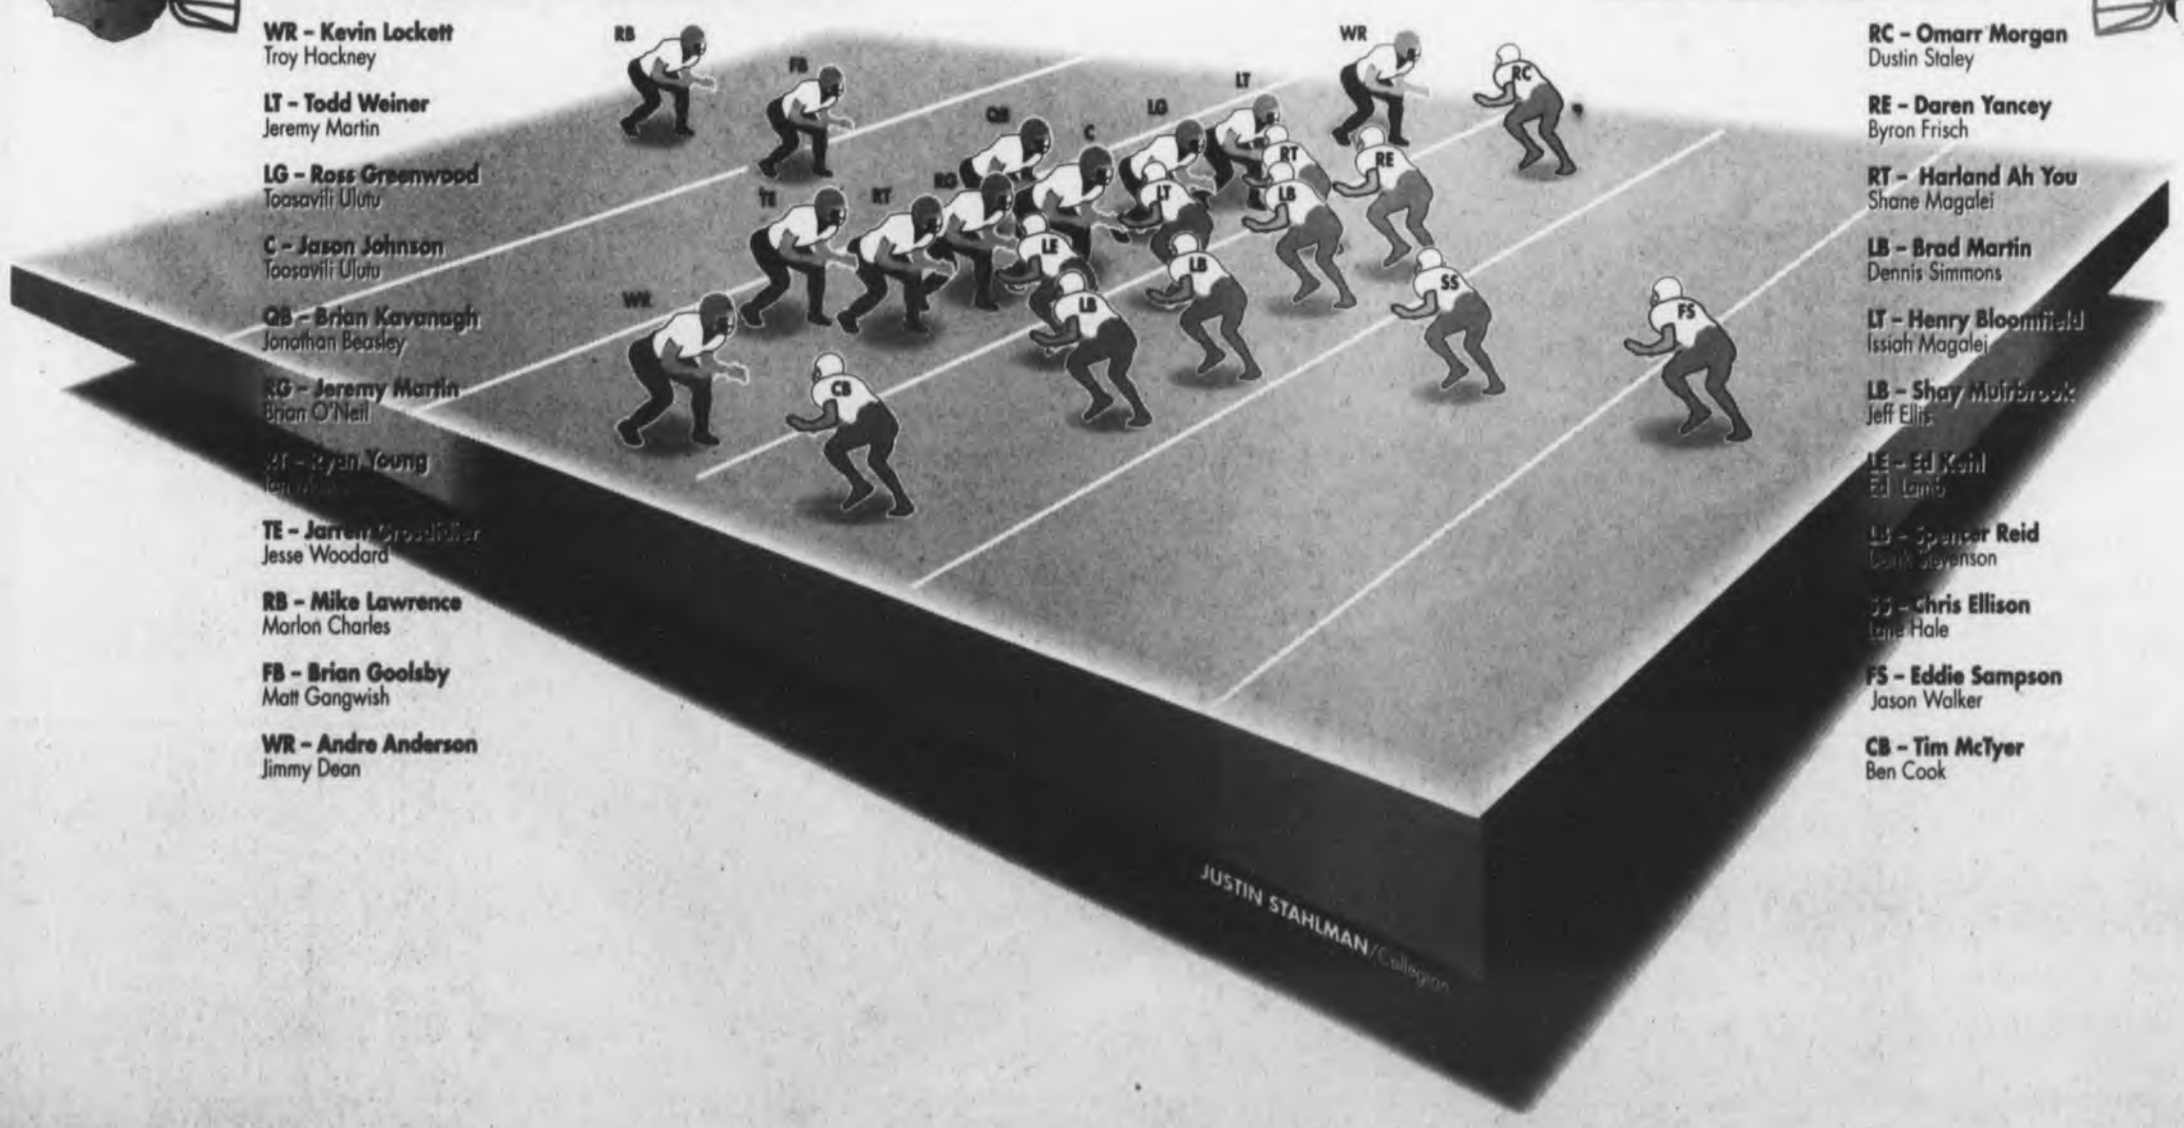
LT – Todd Weiner
Jeremy Martin

LG – Ross Greenwood
Toasavili Ulutu

C – Jason Johnson
Toosavili Ulutu

QB – Brian Kavanagh
Jonathan Beasley

RG – Jeremy Martin
Brian O'Neil



RT – Ryan Young
[illegible]

TE – Jarrett Grosdidier
Jesse Woodard

RB – Mike Lawrence
Marlon Charles

FB – Brian Goolsby
Matt Gangwish

WR – Andre Anderson
Jimmy Dean

JUSTIN STAHLMAN/Collegian

BYU defense

RC – Omarr Morgan
Dustin Staley

RE – Daren Yancey
Byron Frisch

RT – Harland Ah You
Shane Magalei

LB – Brad Martin
Dennis Simmons

LT – Henry Bloomfield
Issiah Magalei

LB – Shay Muirbrook
Jeff Ellis

LE – Ed Kehl
Ed Lamb

SS – Spencer Reid
Curtis Stevenson

SS – Chris Ellison
Lane Hale

FS – Eddie Sampson
Jason Walker

CB – Tim McTyer
Ben Cook

Seniors finish 4-year era with 4 bowls, 9-win seasons

JOHN BERGOREN
sports writer

Four straight bowl games, four straight nine-win seasons and beating Kansas and Oklahoma for four years in a row is just a short list of what this year's senior class has accomplished in its era at K-State.

The class of 1996, made up of 19 seniors, has been instrumental in the turnaround from what was just a few short years ago one of the worst college football programs in the country to what is now considered by some to be one of the nation's elite.

If you were to ask the players four years ago whether they could accomplish all this in this amount of time you would undoubtedly get an answer of "no way" or "not fathomable." Even senior defensive end Nyle Wiren admits it.

"I had no idea we would come this far," Wiren said. "I knew that K-State was on the up-swing, and that's why I came here. I came here because the coaches wanted to change things and to do that, we set a goal, and we've accomplished a lot of goals. I never expected this kind of success."

Wiren's classmate and wide receiver Kevin Lockett said the groundwork for what's been accomplished was laid before he had even strapped on a silver and purple helmet.

"I think a lot of the turnaround began before we had even arrived here," Lockett said. "It's just before we got here, you really didn't see the changes. Now the program is being rewarded for what it has accomplished."

Senior quarterback Brian Kavanagh said the turnaround has been huge for K-State.

"We'd only been to one bowl game before any of us even came here and then to go to four straight bowls is amazing. One game didn't turn this program around. It's been hard work year-in and year-out," he said.

Now all the hard work endured will again be put on the line Jan. 1 in the Cotton Bowl. It might seem as if this bowl thing is just becoming second nature to the Cats, but a lot is on the line in the eyes of the players.

"It would be huge to win three out of four bowl games," Lockett said. "We would have liked to win all of them, but there is nothing we can do about the Aloha Bowl. It will be big if we win again this year, because I believe that we'll have a very good shot at finishing in the top 10 again."

Three years ago it was the Copper Bowl, and every year the Cats have landed in a more prominent bowl. Wiren said there will be no lack of enthusiasm in the fourth-straight bowl appearance.

"Every year, the bowls are getting bigger and better for us, and to win this one would be huge," Wiren said. "That's our incentive to win. We want to keep continuing to get better."

Kavanagh, who had a career performance that earned him most-valuable player honors in last year's Holiday Bowl in a relief role for injured quarterback Matt Miller, said he wasn't putting pressure on himself to repeat the performance.

"I'd take last year's performance any day, but just because it happened last year doesn't mean it will happen again this year," Kavanagh said. "I just have to get myself ready for the game and go out and play."

The past four years have to be somewhat of an emotional story for the seniors.

"It feels good that after I leave this place, everyone will associate Coach Snyder with one of the greatest turnarounds in college football, and it's nice to know that I was associated with that," Lockett said. "I'll never forget all the guys I came here with.

"I've made friends with people from all over the nation. I'll never forget how we all jelled together over the last four seasons to win nine or 10 games."

"I'd take last year's performance any day, but just because it happened last year doesn't mean it will happen again this year. I just have to get myself ready for the game and go out and play."
• Brian Kavanagh, K-State quarterback

FIRST-STRING quarterback Brian Kavanagh yells encouragement from the sidelines during the Indiana State game. Kavanagh was replaced late in the game when the Cats pulled far ahead of the Sycamores. Fifteenth-ranked K-State beat Indiana State 59-3.

Kavanagh-Sarkisian match-up leads to one of this season's bowl games' most interesting

AERIAL ASSAULTS

STORY BY JEREMY KELLEY • PHOTO BY JILL JARSULIC

Welcome to the game of aerial assault.

Brigham Young quarterback Steve Sarkisian has the best passing proficiency percentage in the NCAA at 69 percent. Period.

But don't count Kavanagh out of the mix just yet.

K-State's quarterback Brian Kavanagh has competed in one bowl game in his career. However, it was a memorable one — one that earned him Offensive Player of the Game honors last year at the Holiday Bowl.

Now in 1996, Kavanagh has put that one shining moment behind him and is focused on a new goal.

"I'd take last year's performance any day, but just because it happened last year doesn't mean it will happen again this year," he said. "I just have to get myself ready for the game and go out and play."

But how do the two quarterbacks matchup this year heading into the Cotton Bowl?

Kavanagh couldn't say enough about Sarkisian's passing game in a press conference Monday.

"That guy is a great quarterback," he said. "He's led his team to a 13-1 mark ,and you can't take anything away from him."

But let's not shy away from numbers.

Kavanagh's passing efficiency is not too shabby — 59 percent. Kavanagh completed 167 of 284 passes this year en route to tallying up 1893 passing yards on the season. Kavanagh averaged 156.6 yards per game during the season and threw for a K-State second-best 20 touchdowns.

You can't argue with those numbers, but let's look at the Cougar side.

Sarkisian ranks as the most proficient passer in the NCAA at 69 percent. He racked up 3,823 yards passing this season while completing 258 of 374 passes. Steve busted up the WAC and its opponents averaging almost 320 yards per game.

Last year, Sarkisian broke the NCAA record for passing efficiency when he produced a passing percentage of 91 percent against Fresno State.

Coach Bill Snyder said he was very impressed with the Cougar football team especially the play of their outstanding quarterback.

"Obviously they have a prolific passing game. Steve is one of the nation's best quarterbacks," Snyder said. "They have fine receivers and a tremendous game in the backfield.

K-State's defensive backs will have their hands full in the game when they go head-to-head with BYU's fine receivers.

"We look forward to playing a pass-oriented team. This is a time as a secondary that we can prove what we can do," free-safety Mario Smith said. "They're not just another WAC team just look at their record. We can't take anyone lightly."

K-State's secondary must focus on BYU's Sarkisian and the rest of their passing attack if they expect to walk away with a win.

"BYU has a strong passing attack. We have to be careful on defense because they put the ball up quite a few times a game," cornerback Joe Gordon said.

Despite what any BYU fan might be thinking, conerback Joe Gordon will play in the game.

"At this point I am even better from when I came back from surgery, and I am really looking forward to playing in the Cotton Bowl," Gordon said.

Not only does the Cat secondary have to contend with Sarkisian, but the offense has to contend with a BYU defense that is ranked 25 in the nation.

"People tend to think Steve is the man, but they have athletes on both sides of the defense," wide receiver Kevin Lockett said.

Much hype has been put on the BYU sensation and Kavanagh hopes it stays with Sarkisian.

"It doesn't faze me in any way," Kavanagh said. "I'm not playing the football team. He deserves the hype, let him have it."

Kavanagh said he thought this was the biggest game in K-State history and a great accomplishment for the senior class.

"We are about to do something that's never been done in Kansas State history," he said. "Deep down it was the highest place we'd thought we'd be and it is a real big sense of relief."

WHEN THEY HAVE THE BALL

BYU offense

WR – K.O. Kealaluhi
Ben Cahoon

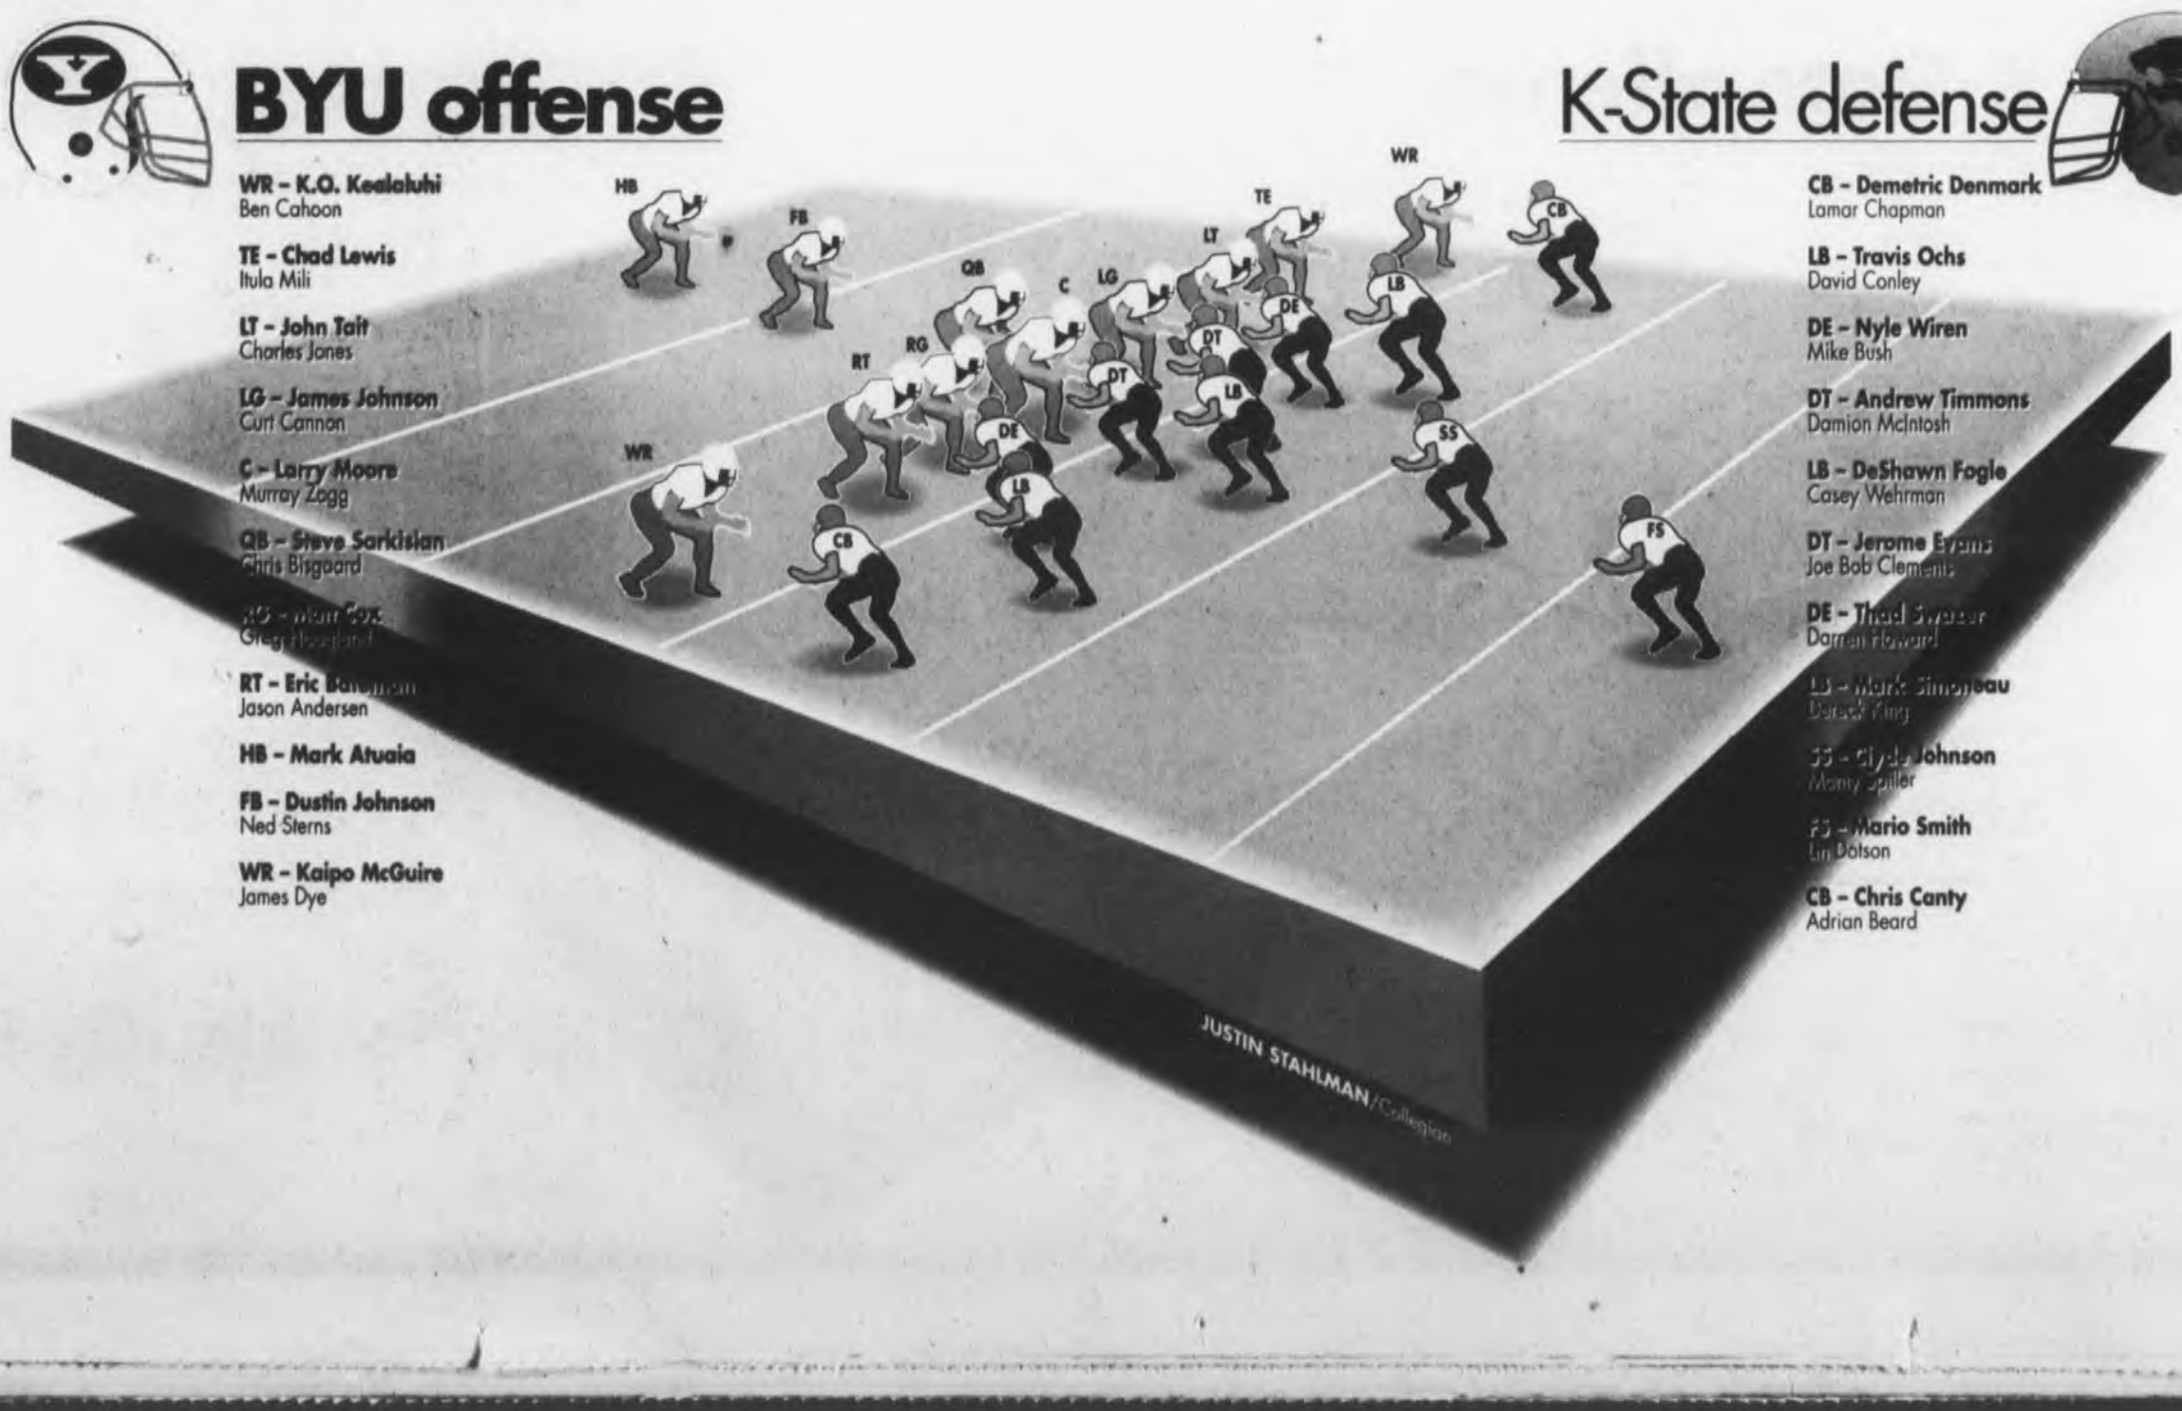
TE – Chad Lewis
Itula Mili

LT – John Tait
Charles Jones

LG – James Johnson
Curt Cannon

C – Larry Moore
Murray Zogg

QB – Steve Sarkisian
Chris Bisgaard



RG – Matt Cox
Greg Hoopiaid

RT – Eric Bergman
Jason Andersen

HB – Mark Atuaia

FB – Dustin Johnson
Ned Sterns

WR – Kaipo McGuire
James Dye

JUSTIN STAHLMAN/Collegian

K-State defense

CB – Demetric Denmark
Lamar Chapman

LB – Travis Ochs
David Conley

DE – Nyle Wiren
Mike Bush

DT – Andrew Timmons
Damion McIntosh

LB – DeShawn Fogle
Casey Wehrman

DT – Jerome Evans
Joe Bob Clements

DE – Thad Swaser
Darren Howard

LB – Mark Simoneau
Darrell King

SS – Clyde Johnson
Monty Spiller

FS – Mario Smith
Lin Dolson

CB – Chris Canty
Adrian Beard

four play

cats discover

in bowl appearances

ABOVE. MIKE LAWRENCE is congratulated by teammates during the Plymouth Holiday Bowl at Jack Murphy Stadium in San Diego.
ABOVE LEFT. COACH BILL SNYDER is soaked withGatorade as seniors representing the offense and defense dump three coolers on him with only two minutes left in the Plymouth Holiday Bowl.

STORY BY JEREMY KELLEY • PHOTOS BY DARREN WHITLEY

Four consecutive bowl appearances in the last four year. Only one of six teams in the nation to record four consecutive nine win seasons. A team who has been ranked in the top 25 for 30 consecutive weeks.

Welcome to Wildcat country.

Over the last four years, K-State has managed to keep its name among some of the nation's elite teams. Since 1992, it has accomplished more than any other team in K-State history.

In 1993, K-State recorded its second best record in history and its best record since 1910 when they finished the year with a 9-2-1 mark, but this was more than just another season. It was the start to four remarkable seasons.

• K-State capped off its most successful season in 83 years, with its first-ever bowl game. The Weiser Lock Copper Bowl in Tucson, Ariz., pitted the Wyoming Cowboys (8-4) against the K-State Wildcats (8-2-1).

It was supposed to be a contest. Forget that, Wyoming never showed up to play, and it was purple dominance from the first kickoff. The Wildcat offense blew-up for 502 total yards, producing the biggest point explosion since setting the school record in a 59-21 victory against Oklahoma in 1969.

K-State scored early and often and took a 24-10 lead into halftime, then turned the game into a Wildcat shellacking by scoring two quick touchdowns in the third quarter. When the fourth quarter rolled around the only question left up in the air was how many Copper Bowl records the Cats would break.

Copper Bowl MVP Andre Coleman racked up a career-high 283 yards of total offense, tying or breaking three Copper Bowl records along the way. Coleman's big day included a 68-yard punt return for a touchdown and a 61-yard touchdown reception.

Quarterback Chad May threw for 275 yards and two touchdowns, including a picture-perfect 30-yarder to wide receiver Kevin Lockett on a fourth-down play in the fourth quarter.

• During the regular season in 1994, K-State suffered just two losses — one to the eventual national champion Nebraska and one to then number two-ranked Colorado. As a season reward, the Cats were dubbed to play in the Jeep Eagle Aloha Bowl In Hawaii on Christmas Day. What a great Christmas gift, right? Wrong.

The Cats' offense disappeared in the contest as it only tallied up 124 yards of total offense, 91 of which came on drives at the end of each half. The Wildcats sputtered a season-low seven first downs and finished their season 9-3.

Boston College jumped out to an early 7-0 lead when running back Justice Smith plowed into the end zone for the game's only offensive touchdown. The 7-0 deficit seemed like a little lead, but the Cats could never capitalize. In fact, K-State's only touchdown came when BC gambled on a fourth-down call and failed.

Quarterback Chad May was the only high point on the day, but couldn't find enough to put the Cats over the top. May completed 13 of 31 passes for 185 yards and threw two interceptions. But it wasn't the lack of passing that hurt the Cats, but rather the disappearance of the running gain.

K-State rushed the ball 23 times for a loss of 61 yards. K-State's biggest gain was pulled back after a holding penalty wiped out J.J. Smith's 53-yard run to the Boston College 21-yard line. The Cats couldn't find anything.

As ugly as the game was, K-State still had a chance to win with just minutes left in the fourth. Trailing 12-7, K-State had the ball at the Boston College 44-yard line with eight seconds left. The only thing to do was to throw the hail Mary.

May rolled left and threw up a prayer toward a crowd into the endzone. No soup for the Cats, and they went down in defeat 12-7.

Cornerback Joe Gordon was named K-State's most valuable player as he set up K-State's only touchdown on the down when he burst through the line to block a punt which was later recovered by Chris Sublette for a touchdown.

• In 1995, K-State achieved 10 wins in a season and became only one of seven programs in the country to post at least nine wins in three straight seasons.

For the first time in history, K-State went bowling for three consecutive years.

Much like the Copper Bowl in 1993, K-State dominated its opponent in every aspect. The Cats' combination of speed, strength and size couldn't be matched as the Wildcats buried Colorado State in the Plymouth Holiday Bowl, 52-17.

K-State scored early in this contest as running back Eric Hickson scored on a four-yard run in the first quarter. Colorado State knotted the score in the first at seven each, but in the second quarter it was all purple.

In the second quarter, quarterback Matt Miller was knocked out of the game with a concussion. Before the injury, Miller was six-of-eight passing for 82 yards, a pretty successful performance for struggling quarterback.

Enter Brian Kavanagh.

The reserve quarterback blew up for 242 yards passing on four touchdowns and was named offensive player of the game. K-State's passing game soared to new heights this game and pummeled Colorado State.

On the defensive end of the spectrum, free safety Mario Smith was named Player of the game. Smith tied a Holiday Bowl record with two interceptions and also had several other bone-jarring hits on the Ram receivers.

The win gave K-State its second bowl win in the history of the program, all in Bill Snyder's tenure. K-State also improved to 10-2 on the season, its first 10-win season since 1910. K-State finished the season ranked No. 7 in the Associated Press top 25 poll. It was the first time ever K-Sate had finished a season ranked in the top 10.

Ristorante Marco Polo Italian Cuisine
The place for pasta & more
Great prices for a great meal
Italian Beers & Wine
Plaza West Restaurant Rd.
3003 Anderson,
Manhattan
Carryout available
539-9300

See us for the area's largest selection
Rockford Fosgate · MB QUART · KENWOOD · ALPINE · SONY
Precision Power · Definitive Technology · Cerwin-Vega!
PIONEER The Art of Entertainment · VIPER No One Dares Come Close! · polkaudio The Speaker Specialists · JL AUDIO
ADCOM · DENON
Home Stereos - Car Stereos & Alarms - Installation - TV's - VCR's
Thanks for the great season 'Cats and good luck at the Bowl game.
AUDIO JUNCTION, INC.
Since 1979
587-4646
307 Ft. Riley Blvd.
Mon.-Fri. 10-7 Sat.10-5

Rose MUFFLER HOUSE
"Our business is exhausting"
MUFFLERS & TAILPIPES
DUAL SYSTEMS
AUTOS (American & Foreign)
RVs LIGHT & HEAVY DUTY TRUCKS
CUSTOM PIPE BENDING
COMPLETE BRAKE SERVICE FOR AMERICAN, FOREIGN, & LIGHT TRUCKS
SHOCK ABSORBERS & STRUTS
Rose HOUSE OF TINT
GLASS TINTING SERVICES AVAILABLE
FOR YOUR AUTO, HOME OR BUSINESS
DRAW-TITE
TRAILER HITCHES - SALES & INSTALLATION
Mon.-Fri. 7:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
2049 Ft. Riley Blvd.
776-8955 or 1-800-439-8956
Take advantage of our courtesy van for rides to school and home while your vehicle is being serviced.
Same Location!
FREE ESTIMATES

FOR THE FINEST IN K-STATE SPORTSWEAR AND SOUVENIRS... SHOP OUR STORES AND SHOW YOUR TRUE COLORS AND SPIRIT!
Varney's BOOK STORE IN AGGIEVILLE
"We Give You Our Best"
AND Varney's
K-STATE PLACE
MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER
OPEN SEVEN DAYS A WEEK
TO ORDER MERCHANDISE OR A CATALOG CALL: 1-800-362-1574 AND ASK FOR OUR K-STATE MAIL ORDER DEPARTMENT

A K-STATE FOOTBALL PLAYER-CIRCA 1930

Before you leave for Texas pick up all your Bowl apparel at Varney's Book Store and the K-State Place.
VARNEY'S BOOK STORE - SINCE 1908

McCullough Development
2700 Amherst
776-3804
GO CATS
After the victory, call us for spring semester apartment listings.

Cat spirit to cover Dallas with purple passion

TARA WRAY
staff writer

Purple pride will swarm the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1, ushering in a new year and a new era of K-State football.

If you'd like to be there to witness the monumental event, you'd better hurry up and make travel arrangements.

Of the 68,252 seats at the Cotton Bowl, K-State fans had scooped up more than 27,000 tickets at $50 a piece by Tuesday evening, and Bob Cavello, assistant athletic director for business operations, said the rest are going fast.

> "Both sides are going to be well represented. That's what the Cotton Bowl wanted, teams that could put cheeks in seats."
>
> • BOB CAVELLO
> ASSISTANT ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

"Initial response was 12,500 (tickets), but we blew by that before the official announcement that we were going to the game was even made," he said.

Cavello said he has been very pleased with K-State support for the Wildcats, and he has hopes the fans will help break the all-time attendance record for the Cotton Bowl at this year's game.

"Both sides are going to be well-represented," Cavello said. "That's what the Cotton Bowl wanted, teams that could put cheeks in seats."

There is no limit on the number of game tickets K-State fans can purchase, however, buying your tickets is only half the battle—getting there is the rest.

Driving is one option. The 493-mile trip will take at least seven hours, and if your car is not roadworthy, car rental is available at several locations in town.

If you'd rather fly to the game, two bowl packages are being offered, one from the Alumni Association and the other from K-State Student Union Program Council.

At press time, the KSU Alumni Association had 1,750 tour packages sold, and there was a limited number left.

"We'll be able to handle easily two or three thousand people," said Brad Beets, vice president of the Alumni Association. "It depends on hotel space, but as of now, we have plenty."

The Purple Pride package includes a game ticket, round-trip air transportation to and from the game, and the pregame pep rally, along with three-night hotel stay.

The package will set you back $689 per person for a double-occupancy room or $459 per person if you find your own way there.

Also offered is the Wildcat Pack for $309. It is essentially the same as the Purple Pride package. The only difference is a two-night stay instead of three.

Beets said he was excited by the amount of fan support for the Cats in their inaugural trip to the Cotton Bowl.

"We're gonna have a lot of purple down there," he said.

Also being offered is the Cotton Bowl Wildcat Road Trip from UPC. It includes a four-day, three-night stay in Dallas, a game ticket and chartered bus service, all for $185.

Of the available 80 seats, 10 had been sold as of press time, and Jennifer Griggs, program adviser for the Travel Committee, said the rest will probably sell out as well.

"We're hoping some campus groups, the fraternities or sororities, or other campus organizations will sign up as a group," Griggs said. "But we're expected to sell out."

If you want to fly, a bowl package may be your best bet to make it to the game, because many lowfare seats on airlines have already been sold out due to the holiday rush.

"The lower fares are pretty sold out," Myra Pearson, a K-State Travel Service agent, said. "We're talking holiday time. It's not just the bowl game."

College-football bowl predictions

These are the Collegian sports staff's predictions for the holiday college-football bowl games.

Bowls	Jeremy	Dan	Shane	John	Brent	Tara
Cotton Bowl	K-State	K-State	K-State	K-State	K-State	K-State
Sugar	Florida St.	Florida St.	Florida	Florida	Florida	Florida
Tostitos Fiesta	Texas	Penn St.	Penn St.	Penn St.	Texas	Penn St.
Rose	Ohio St.	Ohio St.	Ohio St.	Ohio St.	Ohio St.	Arizona St.
Florida Citrus	Tennessee	Tennessee	Tennessee	Tennessee	Tennessee	N'western
Toyota Gator	NC	NC	NC	Auburn	NC	W. Virginia
Outback	Alabama	Alabama	Alabama	Alabama	Michigan	Alabama
FedEx Orange	Nebraska	Nebraska	Nebraska	Nebraska	Nebraska	Nebraska
Independence	Army	Auburn	Auburn	Army	Army	Army
Norwest Sun	Stanford	MSU	MSU	MSU	MSU	Stanford
Plymouth Holiday	Colorado	Colorado	Colorado	Colorado	Colorado	Colorado
Builders Square Alamo	Tech	Tech	Tech	Tech	Tech	Tech
Peach	LSU	LSU	LSU	LSU	LSU	LSU
Copper	Utah	Wisconsin	Wisconsin	Wisconsin	Wisconsin	Wisconsin
Carquest	Miami	Miami	Virginia	Miami	Virginia	Virginia
St. Jude Liberty	Syracuse	Syracuse	Syracuse	Syracuse	Syracuse	Syracuse
Jeep Eagle Aloha	Navy	Navy	Navy	Navy	Navy	Navy
Las Vegas	Nevada	Ball St.	Ball St	Ball St	Ball St.	Nevada

Aggieville establishments provide release for fans stuck in Manhattan

DAN LEWERENZ
sports writer

For Rick Baker, president of the Cotton Bowl Classic, what to do New Year's Day is not a tough question. With all the purple expected to stream into Dallas, his choice of wardrobe might be the biggest decision.

"I think Dallas has heard about the purple wave that engulfs a community when the Wildcats come to town," Baker said. "And I'm sure the city of Dallas is excited."

But for those unable to make the trip, the question becomes much tougher.

Purple — of course you wear purple. But what to do.

Count on Manhattan merchants to provide the appropriate release for students whose academic requirements, family engagements and working commitments will keep them in the Little Apple while the Cats visit Big D.

The management at Scoreboard, an Aggieville sports bar, is expecting a big turnout for the game.

"Last year, we were absolutely packed," Shawn Roberts, Scoreboard manager, said.

To keep the patrons pleased, the video of the 1995 Holiday Bowl victory will be shown before the game, as will highlights from K-State's 38-12 romp over the Jayhawks in Lawrence.

But with a 12:30 p.m. kickoff, there will be some changes. Scoreboard will open at 8 a.m., and food and drink specials will be served all day.

For those looking for a way out of town, Lucky Brewgrille will be taking a bus trip to the Cotton Bowl, as it did for the Kansas game.

"We have booked a set of rooms at the Holiday Inn Select for the 30th, the 31st and the 1st," Mike Closson, Lucky's manager, said.

The price of the trip will vary based on room occupancy, starting at $66.50. Interested parties must purchase their own tickets and can make reservations by contacting Bob Leetch at Lucky's.

Show your spirit!
The limited-edition Collegian Cotton Bowl commemorative poster is available.
Stop by Kedzie 103 Friday and Monday to pick up your limited-edition poster for one dead president.

Check out the Collegian Bowl Guide online at (http://collegian.ksu.edu).

Purple Passion
20% OFF
Anything Purple
Patricia's UNDERCOVER Lingerie
1224 Moro Aggieville

Go Cats!
We'll be there to cheer for a bowl victory. What a way to begin a new year!!
-N.W. Kansas Catbackers
•Don and Phyllis Dawes •Derek and Lisa Dawes •Ethan and Quinten •Dara Dawes •D'ette Dawes •Dondi Dawes • Ken and Virginia Palmgren •Travis Palmgren •Bryce Palmgren

PERMS with Haircut & Style $30-$38
Joyce's Hair Tamers
2026 Tuttle Creek Blvd. 539-TAME

Clyde's KANSAS STEAKHOUSE
Steaks • Seafood • Pasta
Thanks Cats for an exciting season and good luck from all the staff at Clyde's.
GREAT STEAKS FROM THE LAND OF KANSAS
Hours: Mon.-Fri. 11 a.m.-10 p.m. Sat. 4 p.m.-10 p.m. Sunday 9 a.m.-8:30 p.m.
537-8440
Located Across From The Holiday Inn Holidome 2304 Stagg Hill Rd • Manhattan

Kick some tush K-STATE!
Good Luck to Bill Snyder and our fighting WILDCATS!
From the Battery dudes at 776-3298
917 N. 3rd St.
Manhattan
3rd Street Battery
Texaco

Ristorante Marco Polo Italian Cuisine
Hot pasta for the cold winter.
House Specials Lunch $3.75
Spaghetti, Linguine, or Penne
choice of sauce-marinara, alfredo, mild curry, or pesto
Polenta Cake—marinara, or alfredo
House Salad & More Pasta open lunch Tues. - Sun. 11-2 & dinner Tues. - Sun. 4:30-9
closed Mondays
Carryout available 539-9300
Plaza West Restaurant Rd.
3003 Anderson, Manhattan

End Of The Year Clearance

Spirits		Reg	Sale
Aftershock	375 ml	11.09	8.47
Avalanche	375 ml	11.09	8.47
Bombay Sapphire Gin	750 ml	19.99	13.75
Rumple Minze	375 ml	11.09	7.97
Wine
Pepper Wood Zinfandel, Cab. Sauv.	750 ml	7.09	4.98
Marcus James Savingon Blanc	1.5 L	8.19	3.99
Taylor California Chardonnay	1.5 L	11.19	6.96
Inglenook Cab. Sauv.	1.5 L	10.19	6.96
Glen Ellen Cab. Sauv.	1.5 L	12.19	6.96
Chateau Julien Sangiovese	750 ml	14.19	6.98
Beer
Dixie Beer	6pk	5.59	4.47
Dixie Jazz	6pk	6.59	4.47
Berghoff Dark Ale	6pk	5.09	3.99
Slo Brewing Cole Porter and Slo Brewing Blue Berry	6pk	5.99	4.47
Brewski Bar Room Ale	6pk	5.99	4.97
Rogue Amber Ale, Rogue Golden Ale, and Rogue Ale	6pk	7.99	6.47
Dragoon Ale	12 oz	1.49	.99
San Rafael Golden Ale	6pk	6.49	4.98
Augsburger Dark Ale	6pk	5.09	3.96
Broken Hill Lager	6pk	7.59	5.98
Molson Red Jack	6pk	5.29	4.47
Natural Ice	24pk	10.39	7.95

12th & Laramie
Aggieville
539-5269
DEAN LIQUOR

GOOD LUCK, CATS!
SIGMA NU and TAU KAPPA EPSILON wish you luck at the Bowl game.
Kevin Albrecht, Sigma Nu President
Noah Regan, Tau Kappa Epsilon President
GO, K-State!

Kickers: The Home of Country
13th & 14th: Bob Anderson & the Route 66 Road Show
20th & 21st: Rock & Roll weekend
27th & 28th: New West
New Year's Eve
Make your reservations now!
Tickets include: munchie buffet (from 8-10 p.m.), party favors, glass of champagne at midnight and a live band!
Kickers
539-KICK • 2315 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

Exp. Date 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

kansas state
COLLEGIAN

(HTTP://COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU/) THURSDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1996 VOL. 101, NO. 74

Study: College campuses are safer

"The reason the campus crime rates are so low is that colleges and universities have recruited huge numbers of security personnel to protect students. You can't sell an expensive college education to parents who believe their children aren't going to be safe, so colleges in urban settings have become armed camps. And it's working very well."

● Jack Levin, professor of criminology and sociology at Northeastern University in Boston

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — With three out of four campuses employing police officers with arrest power, the nation's colleges have far lower violent and property crime rates than the country as a whole, the Justice Department reported Wednesday.

In its first study of campus law enforcement, the department's Bureau of Justice Statistics found that there were 64 violent crimes and 2,141 property crimes reported to police for every 100,000 students in 1994, the most recent year with complete data.

By comparison in the nation as a whole that year, there were 716 violent crimes and 4,656 property crimes for every 100,000 residents.

The bureau surveyed public and private four-year institutions with 2,500 or more students last year. These schools enrolled four out of five of the nation's nearly 9 million college students.

"The reason the campus crime rates are so low is that colleges and universities have recruited huge numbers of security personnel to protect students," said Jack Levin, professor of criminology and sociology at Northeastern University in Boston. "You can't sell an expensive college education to parents who believe their children aren't going to be safe, so colleges in urban settings have become armed camps. And it's working very well."

Colleges and universities last year employed nearly 11,000 full-time sworn police officers, who had been given general arrest powers by a state or local government, the statistics bureau found.

In addition, campus law-enforcement agencies employed nearly 10,000 non-sworn security officers, who did not have arrest power.

Overall, three-fourths of the schools had campus police officers with arrest power, including 93 percent of the public institutions and 43 percent of the private ones.

At 81 percent of the public campuses and 34 percent of the private campuses, police officers are armed, the bureau found.

Nationwide, the cost of campus law enforcement averaged $109 per student, $181 at private schools and $94 at public ones.

"College students are economically better off than society as a whole, and they have bought into the system or they wouldn't be spending four years studying," said Levin, who has studied campus crime. "But that alone doesn't explain the lower campus crime rates, because college students are in the most crime-prone years."

"Most crimes on campus are committed by students against one another," Levin said in a telephone interview.

He said these crimes can be reduced by security measures, because they are more often spontaneous than premeditated.

"Violence on campus usually results from an argument in a dormitory or between classes," Levin said. "It's rarely someone singling out a person for revenge and waiting in a parking lot or at someone's home to avoid guards."

Property crime on campus is usually someone stealing a purse or computer, Levin said.

● See SAFETY Page 10

Rolling, rolling, rolling
HEADING NORTH on Denison Avenue, a bicyclist passes Greenhouse D Conservatory.

CLIF PALMBERG/Collegian

Avila pleads innocent to charges

Avila

▶ For the original story refer to the Electronic Collegian archives at (http://collegian.ksu.edu).

NICOLE KIRBY
city/government editor

Student Senator Chris Avila pleaded innocent to the charge of lewd and lascivious behavior Wednesday morning.

He will go to court on Monday afternoon at the district court.

Both he and his lawyer, Robert Littrell, declined to comment on the case.

Avila was arrested after his neighbor complained to the police that she saw him standing in his window, naked and masturbating.

Becky Baalmann and her roommate, Katie McElroy, said they saw him do this on several occasions.

"The only time we saw him was when we would get up to shut our blinds," McElroy said.

The police said it could not comment on the continuing investigation.

LEAVING HIS FAMILY,
ONE MAN SOUGHT FREEDOM
FROM POLITICAL TURMOIL
IN ZAIRE.
FOR A FORT RILEY SOLDIER, IT WAS A personal exodus

STORY BY ANDREW FRANCIS

For one Fort Riley soldier, the journey to freedom as a political refugee was a venture that tested bravery, mental toughness and his soul.

For Spec. Kabaselle Wamulumba, it also included leaving behind his entire family. He said he hoped and prayed he would be able to give his wife and children that same gift of freedom.

In 1990, Wamulumba's brother was killed during a government massacre at the University of Zaire, forcing him to flee to the Tike Refugee Camp in Kenya.

While in Kenya, he looked for a country that would accept him.

"I fled my country searching for political asylum to any country that would accept me," he said. "I was accepted by France, Belgium and Canada, but I preferred the U.S."

He came to the United States by himself in 1991. He tried to bring his wife, Julienne, and his six children to the United States, but because of political turmoil in Zaire, Julienne left with just two children. They were reunited in 1993.

Wamulumba said his four remaining children were hidden with different relatives, and he had no way to communicate with them.

In 1994 he joined the U.S. Army.

I had a moral debt to the U.S. government, so I decided to join the Army. I wanted to pay back what the U.S. did for me.

● Kabaselle Wamulumba

"I had a moral debt to the U.S. government, so I decided to join the Army," Wamulumba said. "I wanted to pay back what the U.S. did for me."

Wamulumba applied for political-refugee status for his children with the Immigration and Naturalization Service. In May, INS approved the children's status, but he still had to raise more than $5,800 to bring the children from Zaire.

With no one to turn to for help, Wamulumba turned to the Army. He went up the chain of command to see if anyone could help. The Army answered his needs.

First Lt. Michael Fazen began the crusade to help his soldier.

"I think it's my job as well as every leader's job in the Army to take care of their soldiers," Fazen said. "When he came to me for help, I felt obligated."

Fazen worked directly with the INS, the U.S. State Department and Roberto Powers, U.S. ambassador to Zaire, to get all the paperwork settled.

The last step was raising money. Fazen said he contacted many agencies before the Noncommissioned Officers' Association came through with the $5,832 needed to

● See EXODUS Page 10

Graduation looms for more than 1,000

KARI BROWN
staff reporter

Graduation is a costly end to four or five years of work. More than 1,000 seniors will rejoice as they walk across the stages during December commencement ceremonies.

For the seniors, graduation is a big day. For Roberta Hodges, office assistant for continuing education, it is a full-time job.

Hodges is responsible for doing the behind-the-scenes work to make graduation a memorable event for everyone.

"It is basically picking up the phone, making lots of calls and asking lots of questions," Hodges said.

Planning for this weekend's commencement exercises began about six months ago.

"We have to take care of the little details," she said.

Orders must be placed early for flowers and other graduation items. Other plans that must be made include notifying the colleges with specific dates and

● See GRADS Page 10

▶ Are you getting a diploma this weekend?

Graduate school ceremonies begin at 1:30 p.m. Friday, in McCain Auditorium.

Undergraduate degrees will be conferred during a ceremonies Saturday.
Ceremonies in McCain Auditorium
Business administration: 9 a.m.
Human ecology: 11 a.m.
Agriculture: 1:30 p.m.
Ceremonies in Bramlage Coliseum
Arts and Sciences: 9 a.m.
Education: 10:30 a.m.
Engineering and Technology: noon
Ceremonies in Danforth Chapel
College of Architecture, Planning and Design: 10 a.m.

24 HOURS IN REVIEW

NATION WORLD

• FDA APPROVES INSULIN ALTERNATIVE. Holding out the possibility that many thousands of diabetics could reduce or even stop their insulin shots, the government's scientific advisers recommended approval Wednesday of the first drug to attack the underlying cause of diabetes' most common form.

Parke Davis' Rezulin is a truly novel approach, said the Food and Drug Administration's Dr. Solomon Sobel before a panel of FDA advisers voted unanimously in Bethesda, Md., to support the drug.

• GROUND-BREAKING TRANSPLANT PERFORMED. In a medical first, a 4-month-old fetus doomed to have a disastrously weak immune system was cured by a bone-marrow transplant given while he was still in the womb.

The baby was born healthy after an otherwise normal pregnancy. At 18 months of age, the Boston baby shows no signs of his life-threatening inherited disease, known as severe combined immunodeficiency syndrome, or SCIDS.

Doctors said the approach is especially noteworthy because it eliminated the disease before it even began. They hope the same technique can be used to head off some other genetic illnesses, including sickle-cell anemia.

• PENTAGON DENIES GULF WAR COVER-UP. Saying there is growing evidence that chemical toxins have sickened Gulf War veterans, House lawmakers are questioning Pentagon assertions it has revealed all it knows of possible chemical exposures. The Pentagon strongly denied any cover-up.

A House government reform and oversight subcommittee on Tuesday heard from three Gulf War veterans who related what they said were firsthand exposures to chemicals. One, Marine Maj. Randy Lee Hebert, said he is certain that low-level exposure is the reason he is now suffering from Lou Gehrig's disease, a crippling nerve disorder.

• UNABOMBER PLEADS INNOCENT. A live video hookup brought Unabomber suspect Theodore Kaczynski to New Jersey so he could plead innocent to charges he sent a mail bomb that killed an ad executive in the state two years ago.

Kaczynski, held without bail in Sacramento, Calif., spoke only three sentences in a slightly jerky transmission at his arraignment Tuesday, confirming that he could hear the proceeding, that he waived his right to attend in person, and his plea.

Kaczynski previously pleaded innocent to four California bombings that killed two people in Sacramento, where a November trial date has been set.

CITY STATE

• KANSAS COMPANY INVESTS IN COLOMBIAN POWER PLANT. Western Resources based in Topeka is among three investors, including Colombia's largest industrial group, in a natural-gas power plant in the South American country.

Western Resources, Conoco Global Power Inc., and three companies of the Sindicato Antioqueno have invested in the $80-million plant. It is in Barrancabermeja, about 200 miles north of Bogota, the Colombian capital.

The plant is expected to begin operations in December 1997.

The investment group will function under Merilectrica, a Colombian public-services company established by Merrill International, which will maintain minority ownership in the project.

SPORTS

• COLLEGE FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME INDUCTS NEW MEMBERS. Charles White, Southern California's Heisman Trophy winner in 1979, and Pitt defensive end Hugh Green were among 12 former players and coaches inducted into college football's Hall of Fame in New York.

Also inducted were Bob Ferguson (Ohio State), Frank Merritt (Army), John Michels (Tennessee), Bob Pellegrini (Maryland), Pat Richter (Wisconsin), Jerry Robinson (UCLA), James Saxton (Texas), Jerry Tubbs (Oklahoma), Marc Wilson (BYU), and coach Henry "Red" Sanders (Vanderbilt, UCLA).

Senate agenda

The Student Senate meeting is at 7 tonight in the Union Big 12 Room.

Call to order
Roll call
Approval of minutes
Open period
Announcements
Committee reports
Director's reports
Second readings

Bill 96/97/69	1997-98 election campaign regulations
Bill 96/97/70	Amendment to the SGA by-laws concerning parking and campus safety standing committee and student affairs and social services standing committee
Bill 96/97/71	Educational opportunity fund-allocation procedures
Bill 96/97/72	Constitutional revision: by-laws amendment process
Bill 96/97/73	Constitutional revision concerning constitutional revisions
Bill 96/97/74	Continuance of KSDB-FM 91.9 fee

First readings

Res 96/97/50	Commendation to K-State livestock judging team
Res 96/97/51	Commendation to state representative-elect Jeff Peterson
Resl 96/97/52	Commendation to K-State crops judging team
Bill 96/97/77	Constitutional amendment concerning the definition of candidates for office
Bill 96/97/78	Constitutional amendment concerning absences and proxies

Held in committee

Bill 96/97/75	Student Governing Association spring 1997 special allocation

Open period
Reference of legislation
Announcement of constitution and/or by-law revisions
Adjournment

POLICEBLOTTER

Reports are taken from the K-State and Riley County police departments' logs. Because of space constraints, we do not list wheel locks or traffic violations.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE DEPT.

• TUESDAY, DEC. 10

At 1:45 p.m. Aundrea D. Hall, Fort Riley, was arrested on a warrant. Bond was $500.

At 2:31 p.m. Chalanda Huff, 1326 Fourth Ave., was arrested on a warrant at 606 N. Manhattan Ave.

At 3:51 p.m. Colby Murphy, 1509 Jarvis Road, was arrested on a warrant. Bond was $500.

At 3:56 p.m. Earnest Worley, 1501 Houston St., reported his tires were slashed. Loss was $240.

At 5 p.m. Alonzo Williams, 612 Fremont St., Apt. 1, was arrested on a warrant at Fort Riley Boulevard and Richard Drive. Bond was $68.

At 6:17 p.m. Greg Lance, 415 N. 16th St., Apt. 2, reported the theft of his boom box. Loss was $400.

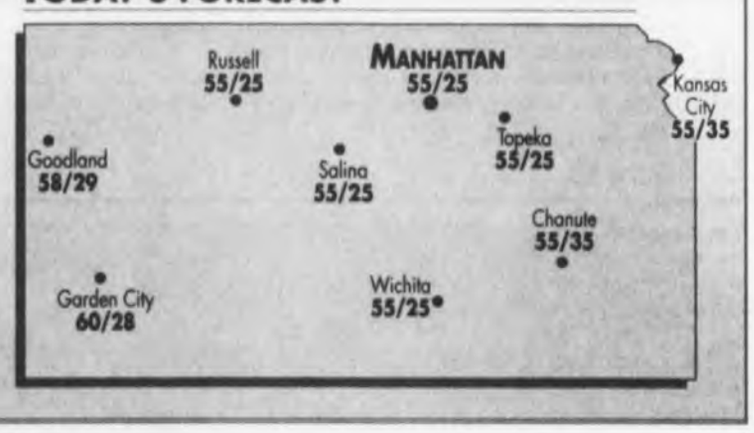
At 7:29 p.m. Shirley Bramhall, 1608 Cedar Crest Drive, reported a rifle and coins were stolen from Robert Bramhall, 1608 Cedar Crest Drive. Loss was $475.

At 10:13 p.m. Michelle Wilson, 730 Osage St., was arrested for DUI at 1102 Laramie St. Bond was $500.

• WEDNESDAY, DEC. 11

At 2:30 a.m. Shirley Hoehn, 6619 Tuttle Creek Blvd., reported an unwanted subject at her residence. Later, Jesse R. Shank, Fort Riley, was arrested at 6619 Tuttle Creek Blvd. for aggrivated indecent liberties with a child and sodomy. Bond was $20,000.

WEATHER FORECAST



Later today

Partly cloudy with a a high of 55 degrees and a low in the mid-20s.

Friday

Partly cloudy with a high of 53 degrees and a low in the mid-30s.

TODAY'S FORECAST

kansas state
COLLEGIAN

Editor in chief — Kevin Klassen
Managing editor — Claudette Riley
News editor — Kimberly Hefling
Photo editor — Jill Jarsulic
Design team coordinator — Scott M. Ladd
Arts and entertainment editor — Portia Sisco
Campus editor — Sara Edwards
Assistant campus editor — Dan Lewerenz
City/government editor — Nicole Kirby
Copy chief — Rachel Aberle
Opinion editor — Sera Tank
Sports editor — Jeremy Kelley
Electronic Collegian editor — Kady Guyton
Advertising manager — Stacy Foulk
Assistant advertising manager — Karah Levely

By phone
newsroom – 532-6556
campus – 532-0731
city/gov – 532-0731
opinion – 532-0730
darkroom – 532-0735
advertising – 532-6560

By e-mail or on the Web
(collegn@ksu.ksu.edu)
(http://collegian.ksu.edu)

By snail mail
Kansas State Collegian
116 Kedzie Hall
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation dept, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167

© Kansas State Collegian, 1996

BULLETIN BOARD

• The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Mohammed Elfaki at 9:30 a.m. today in Seaton 133.

• The Department of Geology will present "Environmental Site Assessments and Remedial Options," a seminar by Sabine Martin, an independent geologist, at 4 p.m. today in Thompson 213.

• Ag Ambassadors/REPS will meet at 6 tonight in Waters 328.

• Pre-Physical Therapy Club will meet at 6 tonight at the Aggieville Pizza Hut.

• CSP Tutoring is now accepting applications for the spring semester. Call 532-5701 to find out how you can help area youth.

• Help an international student with spoken English, and learn first-hand about a different culture. Be a volunteer for the Conversational English Program. Contact Alan Aubert at the International Student Center, 532-6448, or (aaubert@ksu.edu).

• Junior and senior pre-medicine students can pick up applications for the University of Kansas School of Medicine Primary Care Summer Mentor Program now in Eisenhower 113. The deadline for applications and letters of recommendations is Jan. 25.

• Amnesty International's final meeting of the semester is at 7 tonight in Union 205. Everyone is welcome.

• Join the Beach Bums, the student group of the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art. Come by the art museum for details on membership and upcoming events. Call 532-7718 for information.

GO AHEAD. SLEEP IN.
You can still read the Collegian. Look at us online at (http://collegian.ksu.edu).

BETWEEN THE LINES
KSU PARKING SERVICES
108 Edwards Hall 532--PARK (7275)

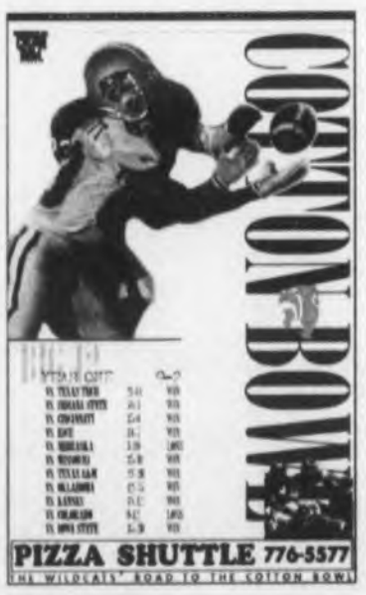
The Fall Semester is nearly over and the employees of KSU Parking Services would like to take this opportunity to wish everyone a safe and enjoyable semester break. As the semester draws to a close, there are some announcements regarding our departmental operations we would like to share.

The Parking Shuttle only operates while classes are in session. This also includes finals week. The last day of the shuttle operation for the fall will be Friday, December 20. The service will resume on Monday, January 13, 1997.

During semester break (December 23- January 9), permits are valid in any lot (with the exception of the Jardine Housing area). This means that those individuals with student permits may park in faculty/staff designated lots and faculty/staff permits are valid in student lots. Resident hall permits are also valid on campus lots during this time. PLEASE NOTE: Only vehicles displaying Jardine permits may park at Jardine housing. In addition, all individually posted stalls are enforced in accordance with the stipulations on the sign. This includes handicap parking, reserved stalls, service stalls, fire lanes, yellow grid areas, etc. Meter parking will also be in effect. Individuals parking at a meter will need to pay the meter in accordance with the instructions on the meter.

Faculty/staff and students are reminded to check the expiration date on their parking permits. If a half-year permit was purchased, the second semester permit will need to be purchased by the expiration date shown on the permit. Second semester permits are available at our office at 108 Edwards. Our office hours are Monday -Friday, 7:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

The fee payment process has changed for the spring semester. Currently enrolled students will pay fees by mail and will no longer need to go to Ahearn Fieldhouse. However, as in the past KSU Parking Services will process all student transactions at the Union. We will be sharing space with other departments conducting student activities. Our student office will be in the K, S, and U rooms on the second floor. We will be located there on Friday, January 10 and Monday, January 13 through Wednesday, January 15. Effective Thursday, January 16 all transactions will resume at 108 Edwards Hall during our normal hours of operation. In addition, our office at 108 Edwards Hall will be open on Saturday, January 11 from 9:00 a.m. -noon. All faculty/staff transactions will take place at Edwards Hall only.



"Between The Lines" is a monthly feature presented by KSU Parking Services. We hope to provide information which will be helpful to the campus community. Your comments and questions are encouraged. Check our web site for frequent information updates and for a comment/complaint form. Our web address is:

http://www.ksu.edu/psafe/parking

ARE YOU READY FOR THE GAME?

Better double check your list.

❑ Cotton Bowl tickets
❑ Plane tickets
❑ Big Styrafoam finger
❑ Spending money
❑ Camera
❑ Summer clothes
❑ Collegian Cotton Bowl Guide
❑ Collegian commemorative poster

What you don't have your limited-edition poster?
Then get one already.
Stop by the Student Publications Inc. offices
in Kedzie 103 Friday or Monday
between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.
and buy your poster for one dead president.
Then again, you could also pick up your poster
in the Student Union Friday or Monday
between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.
Support your Cats and display this nifty poster.

Ag students can get leg up on interviews, employment contacts

LILLIAN BEEBE
staff reporter

Agriculture students have the chance to improve their interviewing skills and make valuable contacts with agriculture companies at the College of Agriculture Interview Clinic next semester.

The clinic will be from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Jan. 30 in Holtz Hall. Sign-up for interview slots will be Jan. 21-24 outside Waters 117. It's open to sophomores, juniors, seniors and graduate students. It's sponsored by Alpha Zeta Agriculture Honorary and Career and Employment Services.

"By going through the interview clinic, students will develop their interview skills," said Jenny Graff, special projects coordinator for Alpha Zeta Honorary. "Developing those skills will benefit them in the future when they begin their search for a full-time position upon graduation, or even an internship."

Students can also begin to learn networking skills.

"In the future, these companies may remember interviewing them. Anytime you make that initial contact, that's how you get your foot in the door," Graff said.

Many students have not experienced what it's like to go and sell themselves, and this clinic will provide that experience. Students will also learn résumé-building and research skills, said Jackie McClaskey, assistant director of academic programs.

"It's not just an interview. It's also getting them engaged in the career-planning process," McClaskey said.

Interviews will last for 30 minutes and will be as close to the real thing as possible, Graff said.

Students are limited to one interview, but that might increase to two, depending on the demand, she said.

"We are looking at well over a hundred students to participate," she said.

Students need to dress professionally and bring an updated copy of their résumé and a copy of their transcript or listing of curriculum requirements, Graff said.

Following the interview will be a 10-minute critique, she said.

"They will be critiqued on their interview skills in general and their résumé," Graff said. "That's where the real learning experience comes."

Graff said she recommends students research the company they are interviewing with before their interview.

"In a real-life situation, that's what's expected," she said.

Students should look at corporate literature and look into training and advancement opportunities. They should also look for recent news about the company, said Tracey Fraser, director of Career and Employment Services.

"The only way to sell a company on your strengths is to know something about the company and its strengths so you can match those strengths up," Fraser said.

Companies participating so far include Bayer Corporation's agricultural division, Koch Industries, Cargill, Excel Corporation and KSU Cooperative Extension Service, to name a few.

"In deciding which companies to invite, we work with current employment services and placement contacts within the colleges to find employers who are interested in participating and have a history of hiring our graduates," McClaskey said.

The College of Agriculture also looks for companies who want to increase their involvement on campus, and for many companies this will be their first time on campus, she said.

Interview skills

College of Agriculture Interview Clinic

Sponsored by Alpha Zeta Honorary and Career and Employment Services for sophomores, juniors, seniors and graduate students.

Sign up for interviews Jan. 21-24 outside of Waters 117.

Winning interviews 7 p.m. Jan. 23 at Waters 137.

Orientation 4:30 p.m. Jan. 28 at Waters 231

Interviews take place Jan. 30 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Holtz Hall.

Information on the workshops, a listing of the participating companies and direct links to their Web sites can be accessed at (http://www.ksu.edu/ces/ces.html).

HEATHER HOLLINGSWORTH/Collegian

▶ STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

Yearbook gets 14th award

■ Associated Collegiate Press awards Royal Purple another Pacemaker honor.

ABBI HAKE
staff writer

K-State's Royal Purple has done it again.

For the 14th-consecutive year, the 1995 Royal Purple has won the Associated Collegiate Press Pacemaker Award, which is the Pulitzer Prize of collegiate journalism.

Linda Puntney, assistant director of Student Publications Inc., accredited this year's award to the Royal Purple coverage.

"We always try to have something for everybody," Puntney said.

The award was presented to the Royal Purple at the Fall National College Media Convention Nov. 20-23 in Orlando, Fla.

Ron Johnson, director of Student Publications Inc., said the highlight of the convention was seeing the Royal Purple do so well.

"Those folks work so hard," Johnson said.

Moreover, Puntney said the Royal Purple is the only college yearbook in the nation to win both the Columbia Scholastic Press Award and Pacemaker award each year since 1990.

Another reason the 1995 Royal Purple has been so successful, Puntney said, is because there was no coverage in the book that did not have a local angle.

She said the 1995 book was different from previous years' books because it was the first year the book used ultraviolet lamination in the color section.

She said the Royal Purple was the first to use this new technique.

Four K-State students attended the convention to accept awards for the Collegian and the Royal Purple.

The Collegian accepted awards for advertising, business reporting and design.

Johnson said no other school was represented as well in newspaper design as the Collegian.

The Royal Purple also received a design award.

> "We always try to have something for everybody."
>
> • LINDA PUNTNEY
> ROYAL PURPLE ADVISER

CARY CONOVER/Collegian

Careful cutter

PAUL BONAVENTURA, graduate student in landscape architecture, uses a saw to cut some pressure-treated deck lumber Wednesday evening at West Stadium. Bonaventura was working on a wood-assemblage project for his Sculpture II class.

IMPRESSIONS
HAIR DESIGN & NAIL STUDIO

FRANK
Offers you a holiday gift of
$5 OFF
•Color
•Straight Perms
$2 OFF
•Cut & Style
Specializes in massage therapy
Offer expires 1-31-97

REDKEN
5TH AVENUE NYC
1129 MORO 537-1332

bad coffee sucks.
A whole new coffee experience coming to Aggieville in mid-January.

Congratulations to the Greeks of the Month!

Scott Heideman is a member of Beta Theta Pi. He is a Junior in Electrical Engineering, emphasizing in Bioengineering. After graduation, he plans to attend Medical School.

Emily Simpson is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma. She is a senior in Music Education and will teach either elementary or high school students after graduation. Eventually, she plans to receive her Master's Degree and teach at the college level.

LAFENE HEALTH CENTER
HOLIDAY HOURS

The staff of Lafene health center wishes everyone a safe and happy holiday season.

Dec. 23-24.....8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
Dec. 25.....Closed
Dec. 26-27.....8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
Dec. 28-29.....Closed
Dec. 30-31.....8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
Jan. 1.....Closed
Jan. 2-3.....8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
Jan. 4-5.....Closed
Jan. 6-10.....8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
Jan. 11-12.....Closed
Jan. 13-17.....8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
Jan. 18.....10:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m.
Jan. 19.....Closed
Jan. 20.....10:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m.

Regular Clinic hours resume January 21

Contact a local hospital in case of emergency

University Counseling Services
Closed Dec. 25 - Jan. 1

GET YOUR COTTON BOWL TRIP TICKETS NOW!

Monday, Dec. 30 - Thursday, Jan. 2
4 days/3 nights
Price: $185
For tickets contact the UPC Office – 3rd Floor of the Student Union
For more information call: 532-6571
K-State Student Union
UPC Travel Committee

THIS IS THE FINAL NIGHT OF KJ'S Fall Mexican Break... and once again it's a
Corona Blowout
$1.50 Coronas all day, all night
$2 Strawberry/banana margaritas (99 proof 99 bananas liquor)
Jose Cuervo Shots
$1 All you can eat tacos tonight only 6 - 8 p.m. Only a buck!
All kinds of FREE prizes
Over 100 Mexican T's and tons of other prizes!
THURSDAY NIGHT IS LADIES NIGHT
KJ DANCE CLUB

kansas state collegian

OPINION

IN OUR OPINION

Canty's ethical decision should be admired

Football is not God, and Chris Canty knows that.

When Canty was arrested for DUI, many wondered if he would attempt to go the route of Chuck Marlowe and Chad May.

WHY WE CARE

Chris Canty's public apology for his DUI set an example by taking responsibility for his actions. It is an example we should all follow.

Many might have prematurely assumed he would plead not guilty to the charges and get off on a technicality.

But Canty knows he is not above the law.

In a statement released to the press Tuesday morning, Canty apologized for his actions and asked that his name be taken off the ballot for three prestigious football awards.

This is the kind of responsibility that shows Canty's strong dedication to high ethical standards of conduct — despite his status as a football player on one of the winningest teams in the Big 12.

Canty has proven that he understands that he should be held to the same standards of conduct to which everyone else is expected to comply. If those codes are not obeyed, the violator must pay the price and serve the time.

While we do not commend DUIs, we certainly admire Canty's courage in apologizing for the incident and not trying to hide behind shameless but familiar excuses such as extenuating circumstances.

Canty did not offer any lame excuses for his actions.

No matter what his athletic career brings him in his future endeavors, Canty has proven himself to be a member of a lawful society first and a football player second.

Canty's responsible actions should be commended, and his ethics should set the example for all those who break the law.

In Our Opinion, an editorial discussed and chosen by a majority of the editorial board, is written by the editorial board. For information on who is an editorial board member or how you can become a member, contact Sera Tank at (karolyi@ksu.edu).

Report of Avila's arrest not irresponsible, but columnist sympathizes with senator

MY

Erin
MANSUR-SMITH

Last week, the Collegian reported the arrest of a student senator for lewd and lascivious behavior.

The article detailed the incident that led to the senator's arrest and decision not to respond to the allegations against him. It also included a response from Student Senate chair Aubrey Abbott stating Avila's actions outside Senate were none of Senate's concern.

Since then, our staff has received a deluge of letters, e-mails and other forms of response from our readers. Some of this has required the labeling of "Hazardous Waste" and was removed from the newsroom with gloves.

The general tone of the responses has been one of displeasure. Obviously. There are some who thought the article should not have run on the front page and others who felt it shouldn't have run with a picture of the senator in question.

A majority of readers who responded to the article were wholly against the editors' decision to report on the incident at all. Because of that judgment, the editorial staff members have been called irresponsible, immature and yellow journalists. They have been cited as an example of the lengths to which members of the media will go to get readers.

Also because of this, the editorial board felt it necessary to write an editorial explaining its decision to publish the report as it did.

If it were not for the nature of the situation as well as the ugliness of the anger that has been leveled against the members of the occasion in question, as well as the Collegian, I might find this entire thing incredibly amusing.

I use the word amusing for lack of a better word. There is nothing funny about what has been going on. There is nothing humorous about either the senator's embarrassment or the young woman's. There is also nothing comical about the anger and disgust the public has directed toward the Collegian.

I use the word amusing because ironic doesn't quite cover the depth of the thoughtlessness and finger pointing all the way around.

I am not prepared to comment on the incidences that led up to the senator's arrest. What did or did not occur and the issue of privacy are a matter for the law, unable to be adequately tackled by someone uninvolved with the situation.

What I am concerned with is the public and its opinion of this paper. This is a situation that I am involved in, if only for the next 24 hours.

For four years now, I have been a member of this staff. I became one because I wanted to try and effect a change in the attitudes and philosophy of the student body. I have the luxury of picking the news I comment about. I have the option of choosing a side.

The news staff does not have that option. It reports the news as it happens and it doesn't do so lightly or arbitrarily. It does what it can to be accurate and factual, and when it makes a mistake, it accepts the responsibility of correcting it.

The article the news staff wrote was not irresponsible. While I agree it was not in good taste, neither was the incident. Neither is much of the news the staff reports, in fact.

I also agreed with those who argue it should not have run on the front page. I thought it was thoughtless of the senator's reputation as a student.

However, I have no journalistic instincts. I'm not trained as a journalist and so did not know there had been a precedent set for an action such as the one they took.

If the Collegian is going to run the arrest of members of the football team for fighting in Aggieville or members of the faculty for driving drunk in a similar way to the senator's, why should it have excluded him — a man who is in an even greater position of authority and influence than our athletes?

What would have been more thoughtless would have been to bury the story on page 3 simply because of the sexual nature of the situation.

I was also surprised at the thoughtlessness of the readers in their response to the run of the story and their responses in the past to similar situations.

Our influence on the actions of the mass media are greater than people realize and our responsibility to holding them to a code of behavior is great as well. If you don't like what you are reading, I suggest you get on the board. Apply for a position: reporter, reviewer, columnist. Educate yourself about our policies, our chain of command and the people who are responsible for reporting the news you read.

Journalists cannot afford to be apathetic about the news they are responsible for covering, and readers cannot afford to be apathetic about how they do it.

I sympathize with the senator. As one who, for the past four years, has tried to maintain a level of credibility and has had it besmirched before by ill-chosen actions or misplaced words, I feel for him.

I doubt it will be, but I will say I hope it is a consolation to him to know the public has decided the incident was not one that merited any comment from them concerning his behavior but instead, our behavior was.

Erin Mansur-Smith has left the building.

lessons of procrastination

MY

Nikola Maria
ZYTKOW

I scrubbed my bathtub, sorted my panty drawer and alphabetized my nail-polish collection.

I wrote letters to people I haven't seen in years, memorized Edgar Allen Poe's "The Raven" and rearranged my fifth-grade sticker collection. (Those scratch 'n' sniff stickers have a remarkable lifespan).

Help!

I'm running out of things to do. Pretty soon the only thing left will be to — brace yourself — STUDY.

No, No. Mustn't go there yet.

There's still a few hours left till that first final exam.

Yes, I am a proud procrastinator. And no, I'm not alone. Everyone has partaken in this prosaic art of arts.

It drives some to become overnight workout freaks (the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex is a sweaty, steamy jungle these days). Others take to list-making — outlining mile-long to-do tallies that include everything but the most immediate academic responsibilities.

Still others eat.

"I eat anything I can get my hands on," my friend Lynette confided, squeezing out the contents of a Taco Bell hot-sauce packet into her mouth.

Then there's the worst type — the reshufflers. These desperate folks hop from pile to pile and file to file-reshuffling like mad. These people must pay particular attention to the following rules.

Yes, even procrastination has rules.

Three factors distinguish a successful procrastination process from one leaving you feel like a total degenerate.

While procrastinating you must do the following:

1. Convince yourself that you work best under pressure. Recall and emphasize the few As you've gotten in the face of pressure. Justify all Ds and Fs as anomalies.

2. Do something halfway productive. Passively watching reruns of "Happy Days" does not count. Folding laundry, shopping for cute outfits and giving yourself a manicure does. Gabbing on the phone does not count. Checking the vital fluids in your car does.

3. Rehearse the in-the-great-scheme-of-things excuse. For example, "In-the-great-scheme-of-things, how will not studying for this anthropology test change my life or the world, for that matter? As if evolution is gonna stop or something. AS IF ('Clueless' style)!"

This one is a real comfort, but if you're not careful, it can send you into a life of slackersville. Remember the big picture is made up of millions of little ones.

So go 'head, sweat to the oldies, research your family tree, or just take a bike ride on Fort Riley Boulevard.

If all else fails, do what I do — read everything you can get your hands on — everything, that is, except textbooks.

In the last week, I've read about every specialized magazine out there. Did you know Bound & Gagged Magazine is a magazine devoted exclusively to male bondage?

If it weren't for procrastination, I never would have come across that or the following helpful tidbits:

- The scent of cinnamon buns sexually arouses men. Pumpkin pie works, too. (I can't vouch for this).
- Apples are more efficient than caffeine in keeping people awake in the mornings.
- Ernest Vincent Wright wrote a novel, "Gadsby," which contains more than 50,000 words — none of them with the letter E.
- The beetle population outnumbers any other species in the world. Chances are there's a beetle a few feet away.
- Smelling bananas and/or green apples (smelling, not eating) can help you lose weight.
- If you had $1 billion in one-dollar bills and every second would put down one dollar on the table, it would take you about 32 years to finish putting down the last bill.
- A can of Spam is opened every four seconds.
- A typical bed usually houses more than a billion dust mites (sweet dreams).

BILL KRAAI/Collegian

OK, so maybe it's nothing I'll be able to use on my Media Law final, but it could come in handy if I ever land that spot on Jeopardy.

So you see, there are definite pluses to procrastination. After all, if every week were finals week, my kitchen floor would always be immaculate, my closet organized, and I'd probably still be tight with friends from kindergarten.

Nikola Maria Zytkow is a senior in psychology and print journalism. This is her last column. I'll miss all of you electronic fans. Goodbye, adios, au revoir, C YAAAAAAAAA.

READERS WRITE

• To submit a letter

1. Visit the Collegian newsroom. Submit letters to Sera Tank at Kedzie 116.
2. Drop it in the mail. Send letters to Letters to the Editor, c/o Sera Tank, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506.
3. Send it by e-mail. Our e-mail address is (collegn@spub.ksu.edu).
4. Remember this. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo ID will be necessary for hand-delivered letters. Letters must be in prose form. No poetry will be accepted. Letters may be edited for length, clarity and grammar.

Newspapers should weigh the consequences of their articles

Editor,

Some time after I ended my more than 14 years in the newspaper business, I met up with a former public official. He greeted me in a friendly manner and said, "You ruined my life."

I asked him what he meant, and he explained that I had reported on something that was in the public record, which, as it turned out, wasn't true. My report cost the man his job, his marriage and his reputation.

The story ran on page 1. The newspaper was free of liability because it was absent malice. We were further protected because the individual was a public figure, meaning I ruined his life and got away with it. Imagine how proud I am.

I realize the placement of the story on the student senator's arrest was a difficult decision. I also believe adults should get to live with the consequences of their mistakes. Maybe the senator is guilty. Maybe he isn't.

The Constitution, however, guarantees that he is innocent until proven otherwise.

Unfortunately in today's society, determining who is the victim in sex-oriented crimes is precarious. Documented cases exist in which the perceived victim is really the criminal. And, because guilt is something for the court to decide, perhaps a less-sensational placement would have been in order.

In the event the senator is proven innocent, I hope the people who made the placement decision can live with the consequences, because this story will follow him the rest of his life. He will never be able to run for public office. Job placement will be difficult. The placement decision the Collegian made will have consequences for decades to come.

I don't believe that kind of power and responsibility should be taken lightly. The Collegian is a laboratory for experience in the real world. And it has always been a damned good one. However, the value of the laboratory does not outweigh a person's life. Next time, think.

Grant "Michael" Sanborn
1979 K-State graduate

Reader smiles at editorial

Editor,

Thanks for your editorial in the Collegian Wednesday. I was kind of down this morning, but your column cheered me right up. Normally the editorial page is so whiny and negative, it's nice to see that someone has a sense of humor. You're so hilarious!! Keep up the good work!

Becky Leutzinger
sophomore in biology and anthropology

Avila story could ruin his life

Editor,

This letter is in response to the many letters concerning the Chris Avila incident.

It saddens and worries me to see the same society, which accepts, coddles and condones convicted rapists like Mike Tyson, turn around and become concerned with a situation that, by all accounts, is minuscule.

To those who feel as if, even though this case has yet to go to court, Avila should no longer serve in his Student Senate position, I hope you will carry this argument to its logical conclusion by also demanding Chris Canty not play in the Cotton Bowl. Any other stance would be hypocritical.

Additionally, to the Collegian editorial board, I grant to you the fact that sexual harassment is a real topic of concern to students and merits reporting in our paper.

However, I take exception to those on your board who felt that by reporting this incident, especially the manner in which it was done, you were simply fulfilling your journalistic integrity.

Instead, what should have been a private situation (relegated to those involved and the authorities) has become so overblown that perhaps the only outcome of your journalistic folly will be to ruin one man's reputation, and therefore life as he knew it.

I just hope you will further consider all the possible ramifications of your actions next time a situation such as this occurs. Let's just hope both the alleged victims, as well as Avila, can get on with their lives in a manner as close to normal as possible.

Besides, as of now, Avila has not been found guilty of anything beyond becoming a martyr as a result of your poor decision.

Marty Gilmore

Canty is not an embarrassment

first-year veterinary medicine student

Editor,

This is in response to the coverage of Chris Canty's withdrawal of his name from defensive award ballots.

Canty, do not risk limiting your own future because of a traffic violation.

We, as students, do not consider you to be a danger to our campus by any means. You should not even have to apologize.

The students will voice their concerns if an athlete has become an embarrassment to the University.

Canty did not deserve a front-page article on a driving offense, regardless of his football-player status.

To the Collegian, cut the man some slack. There are a number of traffic violations committed every day by students. Unless there is a loss of life or drug dealing involved, let it go.

Also, keep up the coverage of the Chris Avila case. Inquiring minds want to know.

Robert Woods
junior in management

READERS WRITE

• To submit a letter

❶ Visit the Collegian newsroom.
Submit letters to Sera Tank at Kedzie 116.

❷ Drop it in the mail.
Send letters to Letters to the Editor, c/o Sera Tank, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506.

❸ Send it by e-mail.
Our e-mail address is (collegn@spub.ksu.edu).

❹ Remember this.
Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo ID will be necessary for hand-delivered letters. Letters must be in prose form.
No poetry will be accepted. Letters may be edited for length, clarity and grammar.

Roommate backs up Baalmann

Editor,

I would like to respond to an accusation in the letters to the editor that I, Becky Baalmann's roommate, was not willing to put myself on the line to back up what was asserted. I am more than willing to stand side-by-side with my roommate concerning this issue.

The reason my name was not included is because I was never asked about this situation. Nicole Kirby didn't even talk to me until after the first article was printed, and she did not ask Becky for my name.

I also want to make clear that Becky and I did not set out to destroy Avila's reputation. We did what we felt was right. I agree the story was poorly written and should not have been in the paper at all, let alone on the front page.

But if any of you think that Becky and I are reveling in our new-found fame, let me just say name-calling, eggs on our front door and obscene phone calls have been just a few of the pleasant effects.

Kate McElroy
sophomore in literature

Mentality of blaming victims sets dangerous standards

Editor,

The past few days, Chris Avila's and Becky Baalmann's actions have been tried by the jury of the Collegian readers and editorial board.

Something that seems very disturbing are the accusations and the derogatory remarks toward Baalmann. I don't know all the facts of the story, but what seems fairly clear is that one person intentionally exposed himself to another. And now it seems as if the person who came forward is being chastised for speaking out.

I'm looking at the comments from readers in Wednesday's Collegian. Randy Crow wrote, "Supposedly, there is a roommate who serves as a second witness.

"However, this person is unnamed. That means that individual is not willing to put himself or herself on the line to back up what he or she is asserting. That reduces credibility to zero."

Lori Liermann wrote, "Baalmann must not comprehend the ramifications of her actions against Avila. Does she even understand the level of damage she has caused?"

Does anyone understand the problem with these statements?

They're advocating silence, or in a way they're demanding silence from the victim(s).

What scares me the most is the same way of thinking is often applied to situations of date/acquaintance rape.

Let me share with you a story that was told to me by Gene and Peggy Schmidt, the parents whose daughter, Stephanie, was murdered at Pittsburg State University in 1993 by a sexual predator.

It is the true story of a college student who was date-raped in her residence-hall room.

The assaulter was a friend of hers whom she invited in and allowed to spend the night, but she did not consent to having sex with him. She was raped.

The next day she called her dad, who incidentally worked for the FBI, and told him she had been raped. The father was receptive, asking what happened, "Did he break down the door to your room? Did he grab you in the hallway?"

She replied no, that she had invited him in and had asked him to spend the night. Her father then hung up on her.

It worries me there is a mentality to give blame to the victim.

They did not choose to be victims, but why is it we feel the need to try so hard and justify the actions of the accused?

Does anyone stop and give consideration to victims of sexual predators?

Flashers, rapists and other sexual predators are not the victims.

Chris Brown
senior pre-medicine/Spanish

Victim should not be the one who is blamed for Avila's arrest

GUEST

Melissa DIVINE

Melissa Divine is a graduate teaching assistant in women's studies and English.

Like many others who responded in Monday's Collegian, I am dismayed at the reporting done on the Chris Avila arrest. I am, however, dismayed for different reasons than those who have responded to date. This tabloid-style, half-accurate journalism has managed to obscure the real issue, the arrest of an elected official for the alleged commission of a crime and the real victim of that crime, Becky Baalmann.

Because I believe much of the fury directed toward Baalmann is a result of both the sensationalized reporting by the Collegian and a lack of critical thinking about the nature of the criminal-justice system and sexua-assault-related crimes, I would like to make two specific points regarding this arrest and the response to it.

First, let's be crystal clear about one thing: Baalmann did not bring charges against Avila. The State of Kansas did. For the State of Kansas to make an arrest, the following had to occur. Baalmann made a report regarding inappropriate behavior; the police responded and performed an investigation that included interviews of witnesses (Baalmann and two others) and an interview with the alleged perpetrator, Avila, to assess his intent. Finally, a survey of the crime scene — the area in which the alleged crime took place — was conducted.

This information was forwarded to the investigations division and on to the city attorney, who then decided, based on all the evidence, whether an act worthy of arrest had taken place. The incident in question occurred on Oct. 8 of this year, therefore, the decision to arrest (the actual arrest as reported in the Manhattan Mercury was prior to Thanksgiving) came after an extended period of review by the legal system. What all this means is simple: the legal system, not Baalmann, decided that a crime had occurred, a crime that warranted an arrest for misdemeanor criminal behavior. Baalmann had nothing to do with Avila's arrest beyond filing an initial complaint, and had Baalmann wanted to smear Avila, why didn't she go public immediately after she filed that report on Oct. 8?

Based on my years of experience with the criminal-justice system, experience gained through my employment with the Crisis Center Inc., I am sure an arrest would not have been made unless the city attorney thought, after a thorough investigation, that a serious offense had occurred.

The legal system, due to fear of false-arrest lawsuits, is simply unwilling to make arrests on sexual-assault-related crimes unless they are relatively certain a crime has, in fact, been committed. If my assertions prove to be untrue, and if the criminal-justice system has responded inappropriately in this case, then I certainly hope Avila seeks legal recourse against that system.

As a final note of consideration on this point, had Baalmann and her roommate been guilty of peeping, evidence to support such a claim would have been discovered during the course of an investigation. By not making this information clear, the Collegian contributed to both victim-blaming and to the trivialization of a sexual-assault-related crime.

Second, many people have asserted that Baalmann and her roommate are responsible because she shouldn't have been looking at Avila (this point is addressed above) or that she simply should have closed her blinds. The irony is this is exactly what Baalmann and her roommate were trying to do — close their blinds.

The incidents (to my understanding, there were more than one) occurred when Baalmann or her roommate looked out their living-room window as they closed their blinds in the evening.

The incidents did not occur as Baalmann was walking by Avila's apartment. She and her roommate were able to see him masturbating by simply glancing out their front window and across the parking lot. This information, as vaguely mentioned in the Collegian, should have perhaps led someone to question why Avila chose to stand naked and masturbate with his lights on while facing his uncovered window.

While I am a staunch supporter of an individual's right to freedom of sexual expression, I am also a staunch supporter of my right not to have to watch someone engaging in masturbation unless I specifically request to do so.

No one should have to avert their eyes when closing their blinds or be unable to look out of their own living room window for fear of repeatedly seeing a neighbor masturbating.

If you lived across the street from someone who engaged in such private behavior made public, wouldn't you be interested in having the behavior cease? What if you had children? Why should Baalmann have to contact a person engaging in inappropriate and/or illegal behavior and ask that the behavior cease? Isn't that the job of the authorities?

Finally, the implication that this is all Baalmann's fault for looking at what was literally right in front of her face, is not very far removed from implying that a rape victim caused her assault by being in the wrong place at the wrong time.

I do not know how this case will end — whether Avila will be found guilty. If he is found not guilty, I hope he is able to recover his reputation as an elected official (which shouldn't be that difficult; based on the responses in the Collegian to date, most people seem to be very supportive of Avila).

I do know, however, that the atmosphere of victim-blaming and subtle misogyny that surrounds this case is beyond disturbing it's frightening. I also know that as a result of the devastating response Baalmann has received by simply reporting an incident of inappropriate sexual behavior, there may be fewer of us willing to report other sexual-assault-related crimes.

I sincerely hope Baalmann can continue to demonstrate the courage it took to call the police when someone's not-so-private sexual behavior made her too uncomfortable to look out her own living-room window.

Baalmann did exactly what victims of sexual assault are told to do by our society — she called the police. But instead of commending her, we have condemned her. We can't have it both ways, folks. Do we want women to report sexual assault related crimes or not?

Sandy Barnett
executive director, the Crisis Center Inc.

Editor's note: The views expressed by Melissa Divine are supported by 41 others who signed a draft of the column. We were unable to print those names due to space constraints.

Dr. Paul E. Bullock
Optometrist
$10 Off
Complete Eye Exam
Exp. 12-30-96 with coupon
Receive up to $40 cash back with the purchase of various contact lens programs (including colors).
Save up to $20 on a complete pair of eyeglasses
Prescriptions filled through their expiration date
We fill outside prescriptions
(DrBulluck@mmedia.com)
1441 Anderson Ave. Anderson Village 776-9461
Adjacent to KSU Toll Free 1-800-432-0036

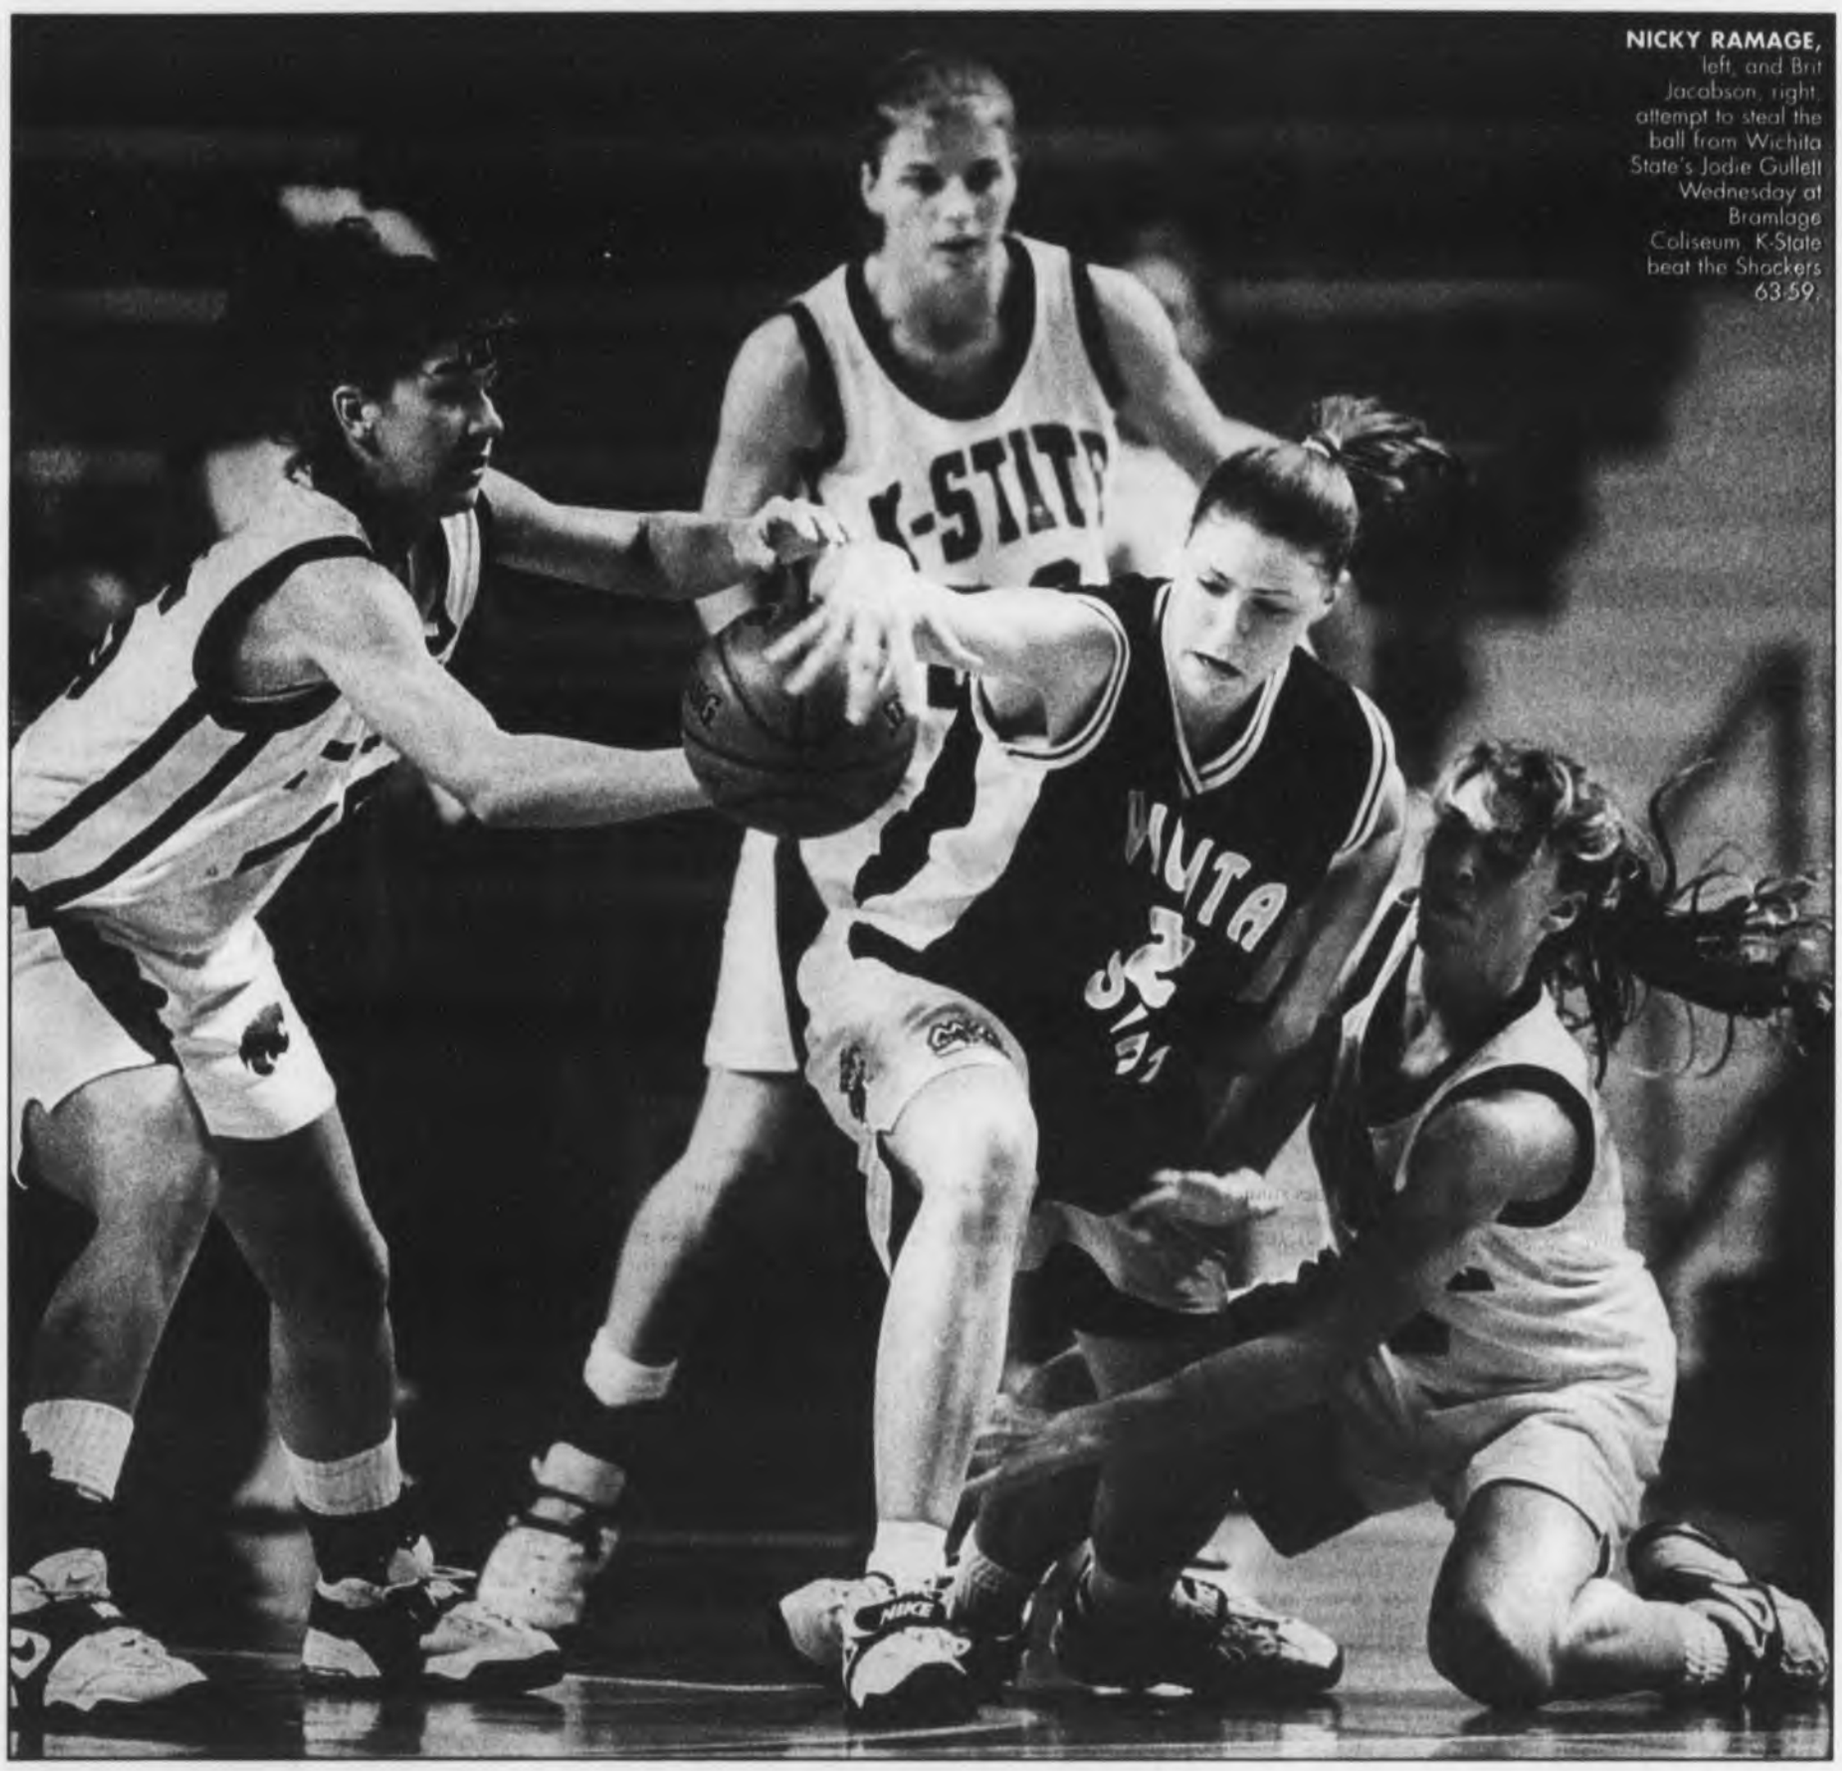
TUBBY'S
No More Driving Across Town
You asked for it & now IT's HERE
BREAKFAST
2am - 4am Wed.-Sat.
WALK on down & enjoy!
TUBBY'S PUB
1129 Laramie • 537-4866

Our Commitment To You Goes Beyond Entertainment...
Others
Expensive installation fees
Huge dishes
Extra equipment to buy
Channel blends or moves
Problems
Confusing adjustments
High repair costs
Expensive fees
Heartland
Free installation
Not a satellite dish
No equipment to buy
Crystal clear reception
Benefits
Basic cable plus 2 premiums
Local sales & service
Local news & weather
Affordable family entertainment
Call Today!
Basic Cable plus HBO & cinemax just $29.95/mo.
HEARTLAND WIRELESS COMMUNICATIONS, INC.
1562 Hayes Drive Manhattan, KS 66502
1-913-776-3512 1-800-416-5640
...Heartland Wireless, There's Just No Comparison!

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
Located across from campus
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5

don't miss it
Tubby's Christmas Bash
$1 Key Light Bottles $2.50 Pitchers
$1 OML Bottles
TONS OF PRIZES
Chief Ticket Giveaway for Colts Game
TUBBY'S PUB

UPC
THE ISLAND OF DR. MOREAU
Friday, Dec. 13
7:00 and 9:30 p.m.
Saturday, Dec. 14
7:00 p.m.
Sunday, Dec. 15
8:00 p.m.
K-State Student Union UPC Feature Films Committee
http://union.ksun.ksu.edu/upc/fl/films.htm
Rhapsody in August
Thursday, Dec. 12
7:00 & 9:30 p.m.
Saturday, Dec. 14
9:30 p.m.
Forum Hall
All movies $1.75. Special Sunday Showings only $1
Cheapest concessions in town!!!
For more information call the UPC Office at 532-6571



NONE FOR THE ROAD
Please Buckle Up Sober!
Funding in part Provided by the City of Manhattan

kansas state collegian
SPORTS
EDITOR: JEREMY KELLEY 532-0732 (WEASAL1@KSU.EDU) THURSDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1996 PAGE 6

LAST-DITCH EFFORTS

"The last two minutes of the game was monumental, and everything came our way."

• Coach Deb Patterson

NICKY RAMAGE, left, and Brit Jacobson, right, attempt to steal the ball from Wichita State's Jodie Gullett Wednesday at Bramlage Coliseum. K-State beat the Shockers 63-59.

Cats beat Shockers 63-59 in last minute battle

STORIES BY JEREMY KELLEY • PHOTO BY DARREN WHITLEY

Without the last two minutes of the game, the K-State women's basketball team wouldn't have defeated the Wichita State Shockers.

"The last two minutes of the game was monumental, and everything came our way," Coach Deb Patterson said. "They became less confident in their shots, and that was indicative of their response to us stepping up towards the end of the ballgame."

K-State hopped out to the early lead in the first half when guard Missy Decker hit a shot from the baseline and put the Wildcats up 8-2. At that point, the Cats had their biggest lead of the game. After that, the Cats seemed to struggle clear up until the final buzzer.

The Shockers put a great deal of pressure on K-State, especially its guard tandem, during the first half.

"Our defense was pretty good all night," Wichita State head coach Linda Hargrove said. "The weak side was making some big plays, and our guard pressure was real good on the perimeter."

Even though K-State managed to remain in front throughout most of the first half, the Shockers' defense had the Wildcat offense struggling in the first half. The Shockers forced 12 turnovers on K-State and tallied up eight steals.

"Every position on both ends of the floor felt like a struggle," Patterson said. "They answered everything we tried to throw at them."

Wichita State's answer came late in the first period when forward Emily Marsh sank a jump shot in the lane to put the Shockers on top for the first time, 22-21.

After that, Wichita State went on a spurt that gave the team its biggest lead of the night — 28-23. But as the Shockers had done all night, K-State soared back and knotted the score up at 28 at halftime.

In the second frame, both teams had their sights set on making a run that would increase the tempo of the game.

Forget that.

Wichita State managed to remain slightly out front throughout a good portion of the second half. In fact, K-State didn't take its first lead until the 6:56 mark. K-State squeaked into

• See EFFORTS Page 10

K-State 63, Wichita State 59

K-STATE (6-2)

Decker, 3-9, 2-3, 9; Jones, 8-10, 3-5, 19; Hester, 3-8, 0-1, 7; Jacobson, 7-16, 1-7, 16; Larson, 1-4, 0-0, 3; Coalson, 0-2, 4-6, 4; Ramage, 1-1, 0-0, 2; Finkes, 1-2, 1-3, 3. Totals: 24-52, 11-25, 63.

WICHITA STATE (5-1)

Marsh, 5-10, 2-3, 12; Shaw, 4-13, 0-0, 8; Johnson, 3-7, 0-0, 8; Hill, 4-18, 0-0, 10; Gullet, 2-7, 0-0, 4; L'Ami, 4-7, 0-0, 9; Rauscher, 1-1, 0-0 2; Scroggins, 3-4, 0-0, 6. Totals: 26-67, 2-3, 59.

Halftime – Bradley 28, K-State 28. 3-pointers – K-State 4-13 (Decker 1-5, Hester 1-2, Jacobson 1-3, Larson 1-3,), WSU 5-18 (Marsh 0-1, Shaw 0-3, Johnson 2-2, Hill 2-6, Gullet 0-3, L'Ami 1-3). Fouled Out – WSU (Scroggins). Rebounds–K-State 40 (Hester 7), WSU 36 (Gullet 7). Assists–K-State 16 (Decker 4), WSU 19 (Gullet 5). Total fouls–K-State 13, WSU 23. A–968.

SARAH POTTER/Collegian

SONNY TORRES, sophomore in criminology, attempts to block a spike from Eddie Weigle, graduate student in electrical engineering. Torres was on the Kahuna volleyball team, and Weigle was a member of the Tadow team.

Kahunas defeat the undefeated

TARA WRAY
sports writer

It was a battle of the unbeatens as Kahuna and Tadow clashed on Court 5 at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex Wednesday night to claim the title of independent champions in men's intramural volleyball.

The Kahunas prevailed, sweeping Tadow 15-8 and 15-5.

Robert Segarra, senior in microbiology and member of Kahuna, said Wednesday night's match-up was just a stepping-stone to Thursday night's all-University championship.

"It was more for bragging rights than anything," Segarra said.

Segarra has been playing competitively with his teammate, Sonny Torres, sophomore in criminology, for the past five years. They said they know each other's skills, and that has helped to lead them to four consecutive, independent championships.

"We know each other so well. Playing so long helps you trust the people you play with," Segarra said.

Kahuna got off to a quick start in both matches, and that proved too much for Tadow, which until last night hadn't really been challenged all season.

"It was hard to get ready for this game. We had not had any real competition," said John Corley, senior in marketing and member of Tadow.

Though the team was undefeated coming into the match, Tadow was simply overpowered by Kahuna in Wednesday night's match-up.

"I'm disappointed. I felt we could have played better," Corley said.

For Kahuna the win means more than an intramural champion T-shirt.

"It means tradition," Segarra said. "I'm not as young as I used to be, and it makes me feel good to beat up on younger guys."

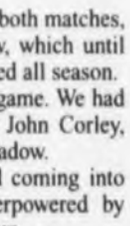
Coming into Wednesday night's match-up, Kahuna was ranked No. 1 in independent division and No. 2 in all-University competition.

This season, the team has proven it is the team to beat in intramural volleyball competition.

"We've established ourselves as the guys to beat at the rec," Torres said. "We're confident."

Big 12 selections for all-America team named

The Associated Press named the all-America team. The table showcases the talents of the Big 12.



First team

Offense

Running backs – Troy Davis, Iowa State; Byron Hanspard, Texas Tech
Tight end – Pat Fitzgerald, Texas
Guards – Chris Naeole, Colorado

Defense

Linemen – Grant Wistrom, Nebraska
Linebackers – Matt Russell, Colorado
Backs – CHRIS CANTY, K-State

Second team

Offense

Wide receivers – Rae Carruth, Colorado
Center – Aaron Taylor, Nebraska
Guards/Tackles – Chris Dishman, Nebraska; Dan Neil, Texas

Defense

Lineman – Jared Tomich, Nebraska

Third team

Offense

Wide receivers – KEVIN LOCKETT, K-State
Guards/Tackles – Ben Kaufman, Texas Tech

Defense

Linebackers – Keith Mitchell, Texas A&M
Backs – Steve Rosga, Colorado

Source: The Associated Press

HEATHER HOLLINGSWORTH/Collegian

Fracture sidelines freshman reserve

Vasiljevic

When the Wildcats attempt to claw at the Eagles tonight, they will have to do it without freshman reserve Pero Vasiljevic.

Vasiljevic has been sidelined for at least eight weeks with a stress fracture to the third metatarsal bone in his left foot.

Vasiljevic aggravated his foot during a routine practice Tuesday evening.

At press time, Vasiljevic was not available for a response about the injury or the benching.

In a press release issued by K-State Sports Information, Coach Tom Asbury said he would • See INJURY Page 10

▶ MEN'S BASKETBALL

K-State returns home to battle Eagles

K-State, coming off its first road win at Bradley, brings its game back home when it takes on the Coppin State Eagles tonight in Bramlage Coliseum.

The Wildcats improved to 4-1 with an impressive win at Bradley Saturday night. The Cats trailed at halftime by three but used an 11-2 spurt at the start of the second half to take a 48-42 lead. Bradley never got closer than two.

K-State will face another Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference foe in Coppin State. The Eagles are 2-2 this year with their two losses coming from Big 12 opponents Nebraska and Oklahoma.

Asbury said he didn't think Coppin State would be the least bit intimidated by Bramlage Coliseum or K-State.

"They're athletic. This won't be a strange environment for them," he said. "They're not coming here to collect a check. They're coming here to play a game, and we'll have to beat them."

Tonight K-State will have to contend with the Eagles' star forward, Reggie Welch. Welch is averaging 14 points and six rebounds per game this far in the season.

"He's a good player. We'll probably have to double-down on him a few times down the floor," Coach Tom Asbury said.

If K-State doubles-down on one man, it might free up some of Coppin State's other scorers. The Eagle starting five all average more than 10 points a game, and as a group they tally 58 points per contest. It will be a tough assignment for the K-State defense to half Coppin State's offensive attack.

"They are typically sound. They are not complex, but they are battle-tested," Asbury said. "They're one of those no-name good teams."

Asbury said regardless of what Coppin State does on the offensive end, he will make sure the defense remains active.

"I won't let our zone get passive. I don't think our zone should get us passive. If the defense is active, the crowd will get moaning," he said. "The more teams moan and groan, the more they win."

Asbury said he thought his team was gaining ground offensively and hoped it would perform better and better as the season progressed. He particularly commented on the play of forward Mark Young.

"Without a doubt, I'd say Mark is our most versatile player. He's got great vision. He had great vision coming out of high school, and you gradually get to a point

• See HOME Page 10

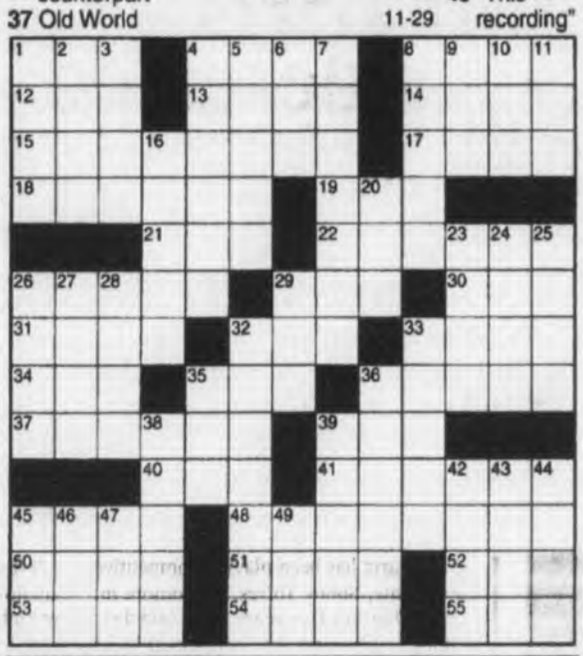
kansas state collegian

DIVERSIONS

EDITOR: PORTIA SISCO 532-6556 (ANDRA@KSU.EDU) | THURSDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1996 | PAGE 7

DAILY

ACROSS
1 Prohibit
4 Options list
8 One-armed bandit feature
12 Past
13 Author Hunter
14 Dark red color
15 Meadow-dwelling songbird
17 Mountain goat
18 List of things to do
19 Sea flyer
21 D.C. VIP
22 Noisy jay
26 Greeted silently
29 Agent
30 Praiseful piece
31 "— a Kick Out of You"
32 Rarin' to go
33 Weevil's target
34 Command to Fido
35 Mamie's man
36 Hinnies' counterpart
37 Old World bird
39 Fierce conflict
40 Dine
41 Aviator
45 Hirt hit
48 Stout-billed songbird
50 Leaf-branch angle
51 Reply of understanding
52 Reason for "sudden death"
53 Construction piece
54 Witty one
55 Young Mr. Lincoln



DOWN
1 Rum cake
2 Enthusiastic, plus
3 Post-bout garb
4 Played for score, in pinochle
5 Perrier rival
6 A Bobbsey twin
7 Messy
8 Influence
9 Equal rights, for short
10 Inseparable
11 John Ritter's dad
16 Beginning
20 Shaft
23 Combine
24 "Monty Python" member
25 Wet wigglers
26 It may precede a big blow-out
27 Exchange premium
28 Just say no?
29 Witness
32 Nonbeliever
33 Pack animal
35 Debtor's letters
36 Injured severely
38 Congregation recitation
39 Helen Keller's first utterance
42 Jeff's pal
43 Largest continent
44 Requisite
45 Poke
46 Stonemason's tool
47 Through
49 "This — recording"

Solution time: 28 mins.

M	A	P	S		B	U	M	P		F	A	D
U	N	I	T		A	L	A	E		A	M	I
S	T	E	I	N	B	E	C	K		U	M	A
H	A	R	V	E	Y			O	R	L	O	N
			E	T		C	R	E	A	K
R	A	M	S		B	O	O		G	N	A	W
A	L	E			A	D	O			E	V	E
P	I	L	L		W	E	T		G	R	A	B
		V	I	A	L	S		P	I
C	R	I	E	S			M	E	N	A	C	E
O	I	L		H	E	M	I	N	G	W	A	Y
A	L	L		E	R	I	N		E	A	S	E
T	E	E		S	A	N	D		R	Y	E	S

Yesterday's answer

11-29

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

11-29 CRYPTOQUIP

L U Y F S R A A W E ' F F W F L Y D X M U R E W D ' L R K R D X Y K R M W T L U R F A R R K R W T L W S U Y F K R F L .

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: WE ALL REFER TO ASSIGNMENTS FROM CHINESE COOKING CLASS AS HOME WOK.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: K equals V

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

FRIDAY

Kickers Saloon & Grill will play host to DJ Bob Anderson and his Route 66 show at 9:30 p.m.

Manhattan Center for the Arts will host a jazz concert called "Jazz from Kansas" at 8 p.m. Tickets are available at the Manhattan Center for the Arts for $8.

JUSTIN STAHLMAN'S

MARK ILICH'S

MATT HAWKINS'

▶ ART

See the art of Italy in Chang show

RUSSELL FORTMEYER
senior staff writer

Retreating from the pressures of the semester wrap-up is only a footstep away.

Escape finals to Italy instead.

At least, Italy through the College of Architecture and Design's semester in Italy program.

Highlights of student work accomplished during the intensive program are exhibited in the show "Italia," in Seaton Hall's Chang Gallery. The labor-intensive work includes studies of buildings, floor plans, site plans and paintings all organized in unusually constructed boxes and books.

SPEED

▶ "Italia," a show of work by K-State architecture students studying in Italy, will be in Seaton Hall's Chang Gallery until Dec. 31. Gallery hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon. through Fri.

The precarious gallery installation is a series of tabletops supported by a system of beams spanning the ceiling and wall brackets.

A bench and patio mark the center area of the gallery, where one's view of continuously changing slides of Italy is best.

The installation structure, unusual for gallery exhibits on this campus, heightens attention to the assorted building studies while giving the gallery itself a new contextual framework.

In combination, the installation and the architectural work make for a relaxed and sensual exhibit — the very sort of thing for a tired brain.

The show "Italia," will be in Chang Gallery through Dec. 31.

Gallery hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Web a multimedia paradise

website review

Every week, Darin Siefkes, senior in history, and radio and television, will review various sites on the World Wide Web. Do you know an interesting site, have a question or want to comment?
E-mail Siefkes at (wings@ksu.ksu.edu).

Since I started this column almost a year and a half ago, the World Wide Web has mushroomed into a multimedia paradise.

When I began on the Internet, the idea that the government would try to censor it was unheard of.

Today, our president speaks of the need for the government to protect us from the Net.

He claims that the government needs to be able to read everyone's e-mail, that without firm government control, the Web poses a threat to national security.

For my final column, we will look at organizations that are trying to keep the Web free.

EFFweb-The Electronic Frontier Foundation (http://www.eff.org/)

In July 1996 this organization was founded to protect freedom of expression on the Net.

This organization first recognized the Net as containing a separate international culture and coined the word netizen to describe them. Today, the EFF is still the leading advocate of Net rights. As court rulings and legislation are decided, this page is updated to warn surfers of changes in their free speech, encryption, privacy and intellectual property sections.

I want to specifically single out the intellectual property section, because of the far-reaching consequences of copyright issues. The current copyright laws in America are outdated in this digital age and the EFF is campaigning to have them changed. I also recommend the archive that is loaded with useful information for Net surfers and researchers alike covering everything from social responsibility to academic freedom. Overall, if I had one site to recommend, this would be it.

BCS: Homepage (http://www.infohiway.com/faster/index.html)

The Bandwidth Conservation Society is a resource for Web developers in an effort to confront the largest technical problem that has ever faced the Net.

With the exponential increase in the number of surfers, and the increased use of interactive materials, the Net is becoming clogged down.

In Northern California the problem is so acute, the Web practically ceases to function at certain times of the day because of this increase in use.

The BCS's goal is to provide resources to programmers that help make compact pages that use as little bandwidth as possible.

Bandwidth is a term that comes from broadcasting.

It has been adapted to the Net to describe the amount of information that can be sent across the Net at one time.

Someday, I hope this site becomes useless as bandwidth increases.

But for now, it is a must-see all purpose stop for all would-be Web designers.

ACLU Freedom Network (http://www.aclu.org/)

No article concerning freedom of speech and the government would be complete without a look at the American Civil Liberties Union.

For 75 years, the ACLU has been trying to protect our personal freedoms from big brother.

The ACLU page is well-designed to handle the masses of information it provides on its server.

It has divided the plethora of causes it is involved in into 15 main groups, which organizes everything quite nicely.

If you're worried about any type of freedom, this is the site to visit.

One final thought before I put my pen down.

I want to thank all the people who have ever sent in sites they liked and flamed me for my articles. I also want to thank all of the people who read these articles and were entertained.

To: Our Graduating Seniors

From: The Lafene Health Center Staff

CONGRATULATIONS AND BEST OF LUCK WITH YOUR FUTURE PLANS.

WE'LL ALL MISS YOU!

LHC
LAFENE HEALTH CENTER

iomega
Get Zip . It's Hip.
It helps you make the grade.

K-State Student Union Bookstore 532-6583

Congratulations, December 1996 graduates

Joyce's Hair Tamers

Happy Holidays!

Perms Reg. $40-$48
On Sale Now!
$30-$38
Haircuts
Shampoo & Style
Gals $12.50
Guys $8.50

539-TAME 2026 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

Ho, Ho, Ho! Need Some Dough?

Christmas cash coming up short this season? New donors can receive $20 on their first visit , or they haven't returned within six months. For more information call the friendliest staff in town at 776-9177!

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER
1130 Gardenway
Mon.-Fri. 9-6:30 & Sat. 9-2
(We will be closed Christmas Day)

THE Palace Cards & Gifts

We're Your Christmas Store

You'll find gifts for everyone on your list at The Palace.

- 1997 Calendars
- Yankee Candles
- Boyds Bears
- K-State Gifts
- Winnie the Pooh
- Cast Art Cherubs
- Crabtree & Evelyn
- Snow Village
- Cotton Bowl T's

Don't forget our Boxed Christmas cards and all your Gift Wrap Supplies.

704 N. Manhattan Ave. • In Aggieville • 539-7654
Mon.-Fri. 8:30-8:30 • Sat. 8:30-5:30 • Sun. 12:00-5:00

ABBOTT MANAGEMENT
225 McCall Rd.
(913) 776- 9124

AA Pack'n Ship

- Shipping UPS for all your holiday needs
- We'll pick up, wrap, pack and ship

NEW SERVICE
U-HAUL Dealership

Reserve Your Place at Our Graduation Buffet

On December 14, the Holidome will feature their annual Graduation Buffet from 11:30 a.m.- 2:30p.m. & 5-9p.m.

Come & Enjoy
•Carved Prime Rib
•Create-your-own Pasta
•Peel and Eat Shrimp
•5 Entrees
•2 Vegetables
•Array of Delectable Deserts
Reservations are recommended

Adults $12.95 Children(6-12) $5.95
Sr. Citizens $10.95 Children 5-under free

Holiday Inn
530 Richards Dr. 539-5311

HERFF JONES

Celebrate Your Accomplishments...

K-State Student Union Bookstore 532-6583
HERFF JONES.

Hair Experts Design Team

25% Off
Anything you can fit in the bag!
Includes:
- Hair Care Products
- Skin Care Products
- Styling Tools

All Gift Certificates 10% Off

1323 Anderson Ave. 776-4455

Help fill the Flint Hills Breadbasket.

From now through December 1996, for every canned good you bring to 103 Kedzie, we'll give you 50 cents off a Collegian classified ad.* Student Publications Inc. will donate all items to the Flint Hills Breadbasket as part of the Cats for Cans food drive.

Just fill out this form and take it to 103 Kedzie to place your classified ad. Deadline for classified ads is noon the day before publication. The last day to place classified ads this semester is Dec. 12.

(*Value of cans cannot exceed cost of ad.)

Name_____
I.D. number_____
Address_____
Phone number_____
Message (No last names or phone numbers accepted in personals)_____

kansas state COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie (east of the Union) 532-6555

CLASSIFIEDS

GET THE WORD OUT

• DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classified display must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.

• HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an established account with Student Publications Inc.

Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks.

•CALL OR STOP BY

To place your classified, call 532-6555.

Place your classified ad in 103 Kedzie.

000 BULLETIN BOARD

Announcements

ATTENTION ALL students!!! Grants and scholarships available from sponsors!!! No repayments, ever!!! $$$ Cash for college $$$ for information: (800)243-2435.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 539-3733.

THOUSANDS...IN scholarship funds will be awarded to students starting classes January 1997 in hair design, ethnic hair design, nail technology, skincare and make-up artistry. Call Crum's Beauty College admissions office, 776-4794. VA approved, financial aid available.

020

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

FOUND: KEY between library and Lafene. Identify in Holtz Hall, 532-1685, Rosie.

PICTURES FOUND in parking lot A-3. Color prints of trip to Scotland. Call to claim, 532-6226.

050

Parties-n-More

ADD A extra touch of class to your next party. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub. 537-7587 or 539-7561.

ADD A touch of class to any party with cigars. Dinners receptions, Frat-parties, or formals. Enjoy the services of the old fashioned cigarette girl 537-7444.

PARTY TIME? Go with a Manhattan tradition since1985! Rent a hot tub for your next party. Call Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tub Rentals. 537-1825.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartments. Close to campus, first month rent free. 537-1666 or 537-1015.

BEST DEAL in town. Three-bedroom apartment. $300. Close to campus.539-9101 or (913)273-2628.

CONVENIENT, SUNNY, one-bedroom apartment, near Aggieville. Call 537-1780.

FULLY FURNISHED: Kitchen table with chairs one-bedroom, one bath couch, chair, love seat, very nice. $585/ month, ask for Brent.

ONE-BEDROOM EFFICIENCY apartment, one block east of campus. Furnished or unfurnished. Quiet conditions, ample parking, non-smoker. $250. 776-3624.

ROOMMATE WANTED for very nice two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. Call Brian at 539-4420 or Tracinda at 539-2649.

SEMESTER LEASE; four-room basement apartment, close to campus, private entrance, all utilities paid, deposit required. $300 month. 539-8493.

THE MCCORMICK apartments. One and two-bedrooms available Jan 1, 1997. One block from campus. Furnished and unfurnished. Call 539-5759.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT one block from campus. New furniture in all rooms. Available 1/1/97. Call 587-9617.

TWO-BEDROOM, SPACIOUS, furnished or unfurnished, near campus, quiet conditions, ample parking. Five month lease available. 776-3624.

TWO-BEDROOM, THREE blocks east of campus, ample parking, quiet conditions, reasonable rent. Available Dec. 1 or Jan. 1. 776-3624.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

10K APARTMENTS. Spacious two-bedroom apartment in modern complex. Two blocks east of campus. Quality student living. Large L-shaped kitchen, dishwasher, air-conditioned, sound proofed, well insulated, low utilities, laundry room, quiet street. Lease January- May, can be extended. 539-2536.

617 KEARNEY. No pets. Two-bedroom, main floor. New carpet/ paint/ blinds. Off-street parking, laundry hook-ups, ceiling fans. $460. 776-8548.

AFFORDABLE, SPACIOUS, one-bedroom apartment for spring semester. Park Place Apartments location. One small pet allowed. Deposit paid. Call 776-8434.

Apartment Living At Its Best
Large 2-Bedrooms
Sandstone Apts.
Cambridge Sq. Apts.
Hill Investment
537-9064

AVAILABLE DEC. 21: Large two-bedroom apartment. New carpet, dishwasher, laundry facilities, two pools. Water/ trash paid. Utilities averaging $30/ month. Westchester Apartments. $439/ month. 776-3527.

AVAILABLE DEC: Clean, spacious two-bedroom, big bath, apartment for rent in quiet apartment complex. 2125 Buckingham Apt. 5. $499 . Dishwasher, laundry facilities, two pools, water/ trash paid. Call 537-6046.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY- Large one-bedroom apartment, one-half block from Aggieville, two blocks from campus. Leave message 537-8290.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartments. Close to campus, first month rent free. 537-1666 or 537-1015.

AVAILABLE JAN 1, two-bedroom, $350/ month, three blocks to campu laundry. 776-9140

AVAILABLE JANUAR One-bedroom, secon floor, 814 Leavenworth $295, KPL, deposi 539-3672.

AVAILABLE NOW or Jan ary Short-term lease Large one or two-be room. Clean, quiet, mo utilities paid. No pet 537-8389.

AVAILABLE NOW. 915 Cl flin, three-bedroom apar ment heat, water, tras paid. Newly redecorate No pets. $525. Ca 539-3085.

CLEAN, COZY, economic one-bedroom apartment Ogden, appliances inclu ed, window air-conditio ing, $150 a month, ca 565-0194 for more info mation.

CRESTWOOD APAR MENTS. Two-bedroo one and one-half ba washer/ dryer, flexib lease. $425- 480, 776-334 M-F, 9-5.

Pick up the last issue of the Collegian Friday

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM apartment. Across the street from campus in Wildcat Inn, 1807 College Heights. Available Jan. 1. Rent $410, call 776-9511.

LEE CREST Apartments. One-bedroom, $365, furnished. One block from campus. Washer/ dryer on each floor. 539-7961.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom. Close to campus and City Park. $475/ month. Available immediately. 776-1771, Elaine.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment in four-plex, washer/ dryer, hook-ups, available Dec. 31. No pets, $410 per month. 539-2357.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT available immediately, large with balcony and fireplace. Westchester Park Apartments, call 565-9193 or (913)272-3812.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT. Full size living room, kitchen and bedroom. Quiet neighborhood. $390/ month. Water/ trash paid. Kevin 537-9493. Available 1/97.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT for rent. Large bedroom and living room. Brand-new carpet. Washer/ dryer. Water/ trash paid. One-half block from campus, one block from Aggieville. Call 537-7931.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT two-bedroom basement by campus. 537-1550. Lease until July 97 on.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE in Jan., 1222 Laramie, $310 all bills paid. In the heart of Aggieville. Pets accepted. Call 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January 1. 1122 Gardenway, $360, water and trash paid, on-site laundry, pool, across from Westloop, 537-1307.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE in Dec., 1222 Laramie, $375 all bills paid. In the heart of Aggieville. Pets accepted. Call 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. Just remodeled. Across from Ford Hall. All utilities paid except phone and cable. Washer and dryer. Cats allowed. $325/ month. 537-3744, leave message.

ONE-BEDROOM NEAR Aggieville available now. 1124 Fremont. $325. Water, trash paid. Call 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus. Available mid-December. Five month lease. Call 565-9003.

ONE-BEDROOM, WATER/ trash paid, central air, westside location, no pets. $325/ month. June lease. Call 587-4111 or after 6p.m. 776-0221.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS leasing one, two and three-bedroom apartments. Two pools, hot tub, horseshoes, volleyball. 539-2951.

QUIET, AIRY, two-bedroom basement apartment, 1619 Pierre. Air, washer/ dryer. No smoking, no pets. $380/ month, about $50 utilities. 776-2480.

REDUCED PRICE. Two-bedroom apartment. Two blocks from Weber Hall. Water/ trash paid. Call now-776-5481.

SECOND SEMESTER special. Two-bedroom apartment close to campus and Aggieville, Washer/ Dryer. Lease from January to end of May. 776-2484

SLEEPING ROOM one block from the University. Available Jan. 1, 1997. 539-2857 or 539-0410.

THREE-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, one and one-half bath. Near campus. Laundry in complex. 537-1746.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath $500/ month, water/ trash paid 1626 Leavenworth, 776-6772.

TWO BLOCKS from campus, two-bedroom; $360, four-bedroom; $440. 587-0399.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. $380/ month Across street from Ahearn Field House. Available January 1. Lease and deposit required. 537-7794.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT located southeast of campus. Not in a complex, available spring semester, washer and dryer. Call 539-7277.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE in January. $460. 1026 osage, four blocks from campus. Water and trash paid. On-site laundry facilities. Built-in student desk with shelves in each bedroom. Call 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE now near city park. 405 N 10th. $405. Water, trash paid. No pets. Call 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM DUPLEX. Only one-half block from campus. Main floor. Off-street parking. Available now. $420 with water and trash paid. 537-7852.

TWO-BEDROOM TRI-LEVEL remodeled this year, new carper, paint, stove. Both bedrooms very large. two blocks from campus, one block from Aggieville. $450/ month 539-6951 or 565-0135.

TWO-BEDROOM, $285, deposit, no smoking, no pets, Juliette, 537-4016.

WALKING DISTANCE, two-bedroom and studio available now. Water/ trash paid, laundry facilities. 539-6318.

WILDCAT INN several one-bedrooms available in Jan. at 925 Denison $410 includes dishwasher, water and trash. On-site laundry; sorry no pets. Call 776-3804.

WORTH SEEING. Available 12/23/96. Three-bedroom $375 per month. Eighth block of Laramie St. 537-0588.

115 Rooms Available

ONE ROOM available 12/20/96. Very close to campus, $155 a month, lease will 5/97, one-sixth of utilities. Call 539-1269 or 539-3672.

PRIVATE, QUIET room. No smoking. Off-street parking. Adjacent campus. Stockwell Real Estate. 539-4073.

TWO ROOMS available in large house $220/ month plus utilities, large kitchen, two bath, two living rooms, basement with laundry,m large porch, unlimited parking, call Becky 539-6582.

120

For Rent-Houses

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Four-bedroom, one study house. Close to campus. $1,100 non-negotiable rent. Call 776-1340.

BRAND NEW DUPLEX: 1125-1127 Ratone. Four-bedroom, two bath, washer/ dryer on each side. $800/ month Available January 1, 1997. Six month lease. 539-3767.

FIVE-BEDROOM TWO bath house. One block from campus. Call 556-0753.

FOUR-BEDROOM COUNTRY home. Two bath, finished walk out basement, fireplace, garage, $800, no pets. 539-2255

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE. Two blocks from campus washer/ dryer, Fireplace. Lots of room $720/ month. Jan. 1, 776-9163.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, central air, 2100 square feet in duplex. In quiet neighborhood near zoo. Available immediately. 539-5921. Take over existing lease and save $100/ month. $690- $100= $590.

ONE, TWO and three-bedroom for non-smoker, drinker. No pets please. 539-1554.

ONE, TWO, three-bedroom for non-smoking, non-drinking, no pets. 539-1554.

TWO BLOCKS FROM CAMPUS! Five-bedroom, two bath, two kitchens. Excellent condition. $225-$275 per room plus utilities. 1020 Bertrand. Call Tammy 539-3737.

TWO-BEDROOM HOUSE with new interior, fenced yard for pet. 929 Colorado, $500. 776-1660.

145

Roommate Wanted

A BLOCK from campus! Roommate to share spacious four-bedroom house. Central air/ heat, washer/ dryer. Friendly atmosphere. Short term lease possible. No smoking/ pets. $225. 776-9719.

A ROOMMATE needed. Three-bedroom close to campus and Aggieville. $225 plus one-third bills. Non-smoker. Call 537-6169 now.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Female to share two-bedroom. Apartment near campus and Aggieville. Furnished plus fireplace. $237/ month plus one-half utilities. Call 565-0589, ask for Amy.

FAMILY SEEKS college female to live-in second semester. Private room furnished. Rent and food in exchange for household care, bills paid. Close to campus. No smoking or drinking. Respond to Box 6 c/o Collegian.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for Spring semester! Three-bedroom, one block from campus (1850 Claflin). Lots of closet and storage space! $230/ month plus one-third utilities. Call 565-0160.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed spring semester. Nice three-bedroom house. Washer/ dryer, $210 plus utilities. Call 539-0975.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for two-bedoom apartment in Cambridge Square. Call 537-2409.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share nice three-bedroom house. $275/ month, all utilities paid. Washer/ dryer, backyard, cable Jan. 1- May 31. 776-9548, Joanna or Jen.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share three-bedroom for next semester. $200 per month plus utilities. Nice house, close to campus, 776-1890 Heather or Patty.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for two-bedroom house, one block east of campus. $225 a month, utilities paid, pets considered call 537-4947.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted $210 rent plus one-third utilities. Walk to Aggieville and campus. 539-0543.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share four-bedroom, two bathroom apartment, close to campus. Call 539-9165.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted; Jan.- May; close to campus and Aggieville; call 539-6115.

FEMALE SEEKS roommate, two-bedroom, cheap rent, great place and atmosphere, can't beat it! Call 537-7872. No experience needed.

FEMALE, $195/ month plus one-third utilities, washer/ dryer one and one-half blocks from campus, non-smoker, leave message 539-6499.

FEMALE, NON-SMOKER to share clean, comfortable apartment for spring semester. Private bedroom, large closets/ storage areas, carpet, dishwasher, washers/ dryers, central air and much more! Next to campus on Anderson. Caged pets allowed. Water and trash free. $235 plus one-third some utilities. Must see! Please call 776-4723. Available January 1.

MALE OR female to share two-bedroom townhouse with female and pets. Close to campus. Washer/ dryer, close to campus. Fenced yard. $170 plus one-half utilities. Call 776-7836.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apartment. Two blocks from campus, water and trash paid. 539-6537

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Very nice two-bedroom apartment next to campus. 267/ month plus one-half utilities. Available January 1. No smokers, no pets. 565-9250

MALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring semester. Four-bedroom house. Call Chad (913)782-9431.

MALE WANTED for furnished basement. No smoking/ drinking/ pets, please. Walk to KSU. 539-1554.

MALE/ FEMALE roommate wanted for five-bedroom house. $150/ month. Washer/ dryer. Three blocks from campus. Call Ricky or Aaron 537-1621.

MALE/ FEMALE roommate wanted to share two-bedroom westside apartment. $190/ month call 565-0858.

NEEDED: FEMALE roommates, three-bedrooms, two full bathrooms, one-half block west of campus. Call 539-6449.

NON-SMOKING ROOMMATE, own room, $157.50 plus phone and cable. Washer/ dryer, 776-7336.

NON-SMOKING, FEMALE roommate wanted to share four-bedroom, two bath at Chase Manhattan. $226 plus one-fourth KPL and phone. 539-1467.

NOT A DUMP, "CLOSE TO CAMPUS". Male/ female, non-smoker, two-bedroom, two bath, washer/ dryer, microwave, fireplace, dishwasher. Pets and horses possible. Fully furnished. Spring semester $220 per month or one year $190 per month. 537-4239.

ONE BLOCK from campus! Roommate needed to share nice two-bedroom, washer/ dryer, central heat/ air, $165/ month. Call Travis 587-8893, leave message.

ONE-HALF BLOCK from campus. Two-bedroom house. Laundry facilities available. Split utilities. 539-9110.

ROOMMATE (M/F) for three-bedroom apartment $230/ month plus utilities. Close to campus; available as soon as possible. Call 587-9767.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for a four-bedroom house. Rent $212.50/ month plus utilities, trash, etc. Non-smoker preferred. Male or female. Call 539-3075 ask for Scott or Andrew.

ROOMMATE NEEDED starting Jan. 1. Rent $225 per month, plus one-third utilities. Close to campus. Call 539-3639.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share two-bedroom. One and one-half bath. Rent negotiable. Call 565-0397.

ROOMMATE NEEDED, spring semester. Rent $250/ plus utilities. Can move-in Jan. 10. 810 Vattier. 539-6339. Jon or Aaron.

ROOMMATE WANTED for spring semester. One block from campus and Aggieville. $220/ month. Call 587-9496.

ROOMMATE WANTED for farmhouse. Secluded yet accessible location, 10 minutes from Manhattan. $140/ month plus one-half utilities. 539-2029.

ROOMMATE WANTED for spring semester. One block from campus. Very nice and clean. $230 month rent call 537-9081.

ROOMMATE WANTED for very nice two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. Call Brian at 539-4420 or Tracinda at 539-2649.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share clean three-bedroom house. Close to Aggieville and campus, backyard. $275 and all utilities paid plus cable. Washer and dryer. 776-9548

ROOMMATE WANTED- Own bedroom in four-bedroom two bath apartment next to Durland. $250/ month, one-fourth utilities, 539-1995.

ROOMMATE WANTED. Six month lease Spring 97 $217/ month, water/ trash, no deposit. Close to campus. 776-4884, Kurt or Wes.

ROOMMATE WANTED: three-bedroom apartment, nice condition, close to campus. $235/ month. Call at 539-9476.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Clean two-bedroom duplex, new carpet, yard, close to campus. $220/ month, utilities paid. 565-9197.

STUDENT WANTS to share room and rent, non-smoker, call Greg. (913)736-2799 leave message.

TO SHARE three-bedroom mobile home. All utilities paid $200/ month except phone, available now flexible lease quiet and furnished. Call TJ at 776-3829.

WANTED ROOMMATE(S): to share nice four-bedroom house for spring semester. Call Shauna after 5. 776-3130.

WANTED: ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom home, with washer and dryer, microwave. $200 month/ one-third utilities. Call 776-4750. Jan. 1 available.

150

Sublease

APARTMENT FOR sublease. December paid. Details 395-3323. To see 539-2951.

AVAILABLE DECEMBER 17. Large, one-bedroom. Rent $345, I will pay $50 of your rent, you pay $295. Call 587-9763.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, very spacious one-bedroom apartment. Close to campus. On-site laundry facilities. May have small pets, off-street parking, water/ trash paid. $325/ month. Call 565-9116.

AVAILABLE NOW! Female roommate needed to share big house! Two blocks from campus/ Aggieville. $200 month. 776-0248.

AVAILABLE NOW! Female roommate needed. Two blocks away from campus and Aggieville. $230 monthly. Water and Trash paid 539-3926.

FOR SPRING semester. Two-bedroom apartment at Chase Apartments. Call 537-4617.

NEXT TO CAMPUS. One/ two-bedroom units across from Goodnow and Marlatt dorms. Two-bedroom units across from Haymaker. Call/ message 539-2702.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT for rent. Located in the Chase Manhattan Apartments complex. Call 537-9687 or call (316)593-4541.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. $300 per month. Utilities paid. No deposit necessary. Call 587-8048.

ONE-BEDROOM COTTAGE needs subleased from Jan. 1 to June 1. Close to campus and Aggieville. Call 539-4174.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for two-bedroom, two bath with washer/ dryer three blocks from campus. $200 month and one-fifth utilities. Call 776-0598.

SPRING SEMESTER- own bedroom, bathroom, and entrance in four-bedroom apartment. Close to campus/ Aggieville, laundry, quiet roommates, leave message, 565-0324.

SUBLEASE TWO-BEDROOM apartment. Quiet location. New carpet. Available Jan. 1. Call 539-6977.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. Top floor. One block from campus one-half block from Aggieville. Very affordable. Call 539-7579.

TWO-BEDROOM WITH balcony and dishwasher, one-half block from campus and Aggieville.Water and trash paid. Call 776-9353.

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY

205

Tutor

WANTED SPRING Semester Tutors for Ecology of Environmental Problems, Bioethics, Biology of Aging, Social Psychology, Problem Solving and Decision Making, Managerial Economics, and Organizational Training & Development. Graduate students must have assistantships. Contact Barbara Baker at 532-5642.

210

Resume/ Typing

A PERFECT resume and all your other word processing needs. Laser printing. Call Brenda 776-3290.

235

Child Care

TWO OPENINGS for licensed afterschool program, certified teacher, structured activities, computer, art, pets, field trips, transportation from school provided, 587-8356.

250

Automotive Repair

ROYAL PURPLE PAINT, BODY & GLASS. Quality collision repairs, glass replacement, vandalism claims. 776-6920, 1100 "C" Hostetler Rd. (2 Blks north of Wal-Mart) 8:30- 5:30 M-F.

255

Other Services

GET YOUR DEPOSIT BACK! Fisthole Repair Co. We fix party-damaged walls. Free estimate. Call Eric 776-4999 evenings and weekends.

300 EMPLOYMENT/CAREERS

310

Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 537-0056.

Community Organizer/Activist

Think too few people have too much power? Help expand established peace and justice organization: community outreach, grant applications, fundraising. Issues of concern: living wage campaign, low-income organizing, campaign finance reform.

10 hours/week. Training available. Contact Anne Cowan, Manhattan Alkliance for Peace & Justice, P.O. Box 1541, Manhattan, KS 66505. Or call 539-8540 or 539-6076. Apply by Jan. 10.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1750 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars. No experience required. Begin now. For info call (202)298-1335.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Midwest Distributors P.O. Box 624, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate Response.

DATABASE PROGRAMMER (8-12 hrs/ week, 4GL, Delphi, SQL). Advanced training provided. At least a Junior in Computer Science or related degree. Experience in Database programming is required. Salary based on capabilities, equal opportunity employer, KSC-Emp, 1640 Fairchild Avenue, Manhattan KS. 66502.

GREAT NEW coffee oasis and cafe opening January. Barista positions available. Experience preferred, love of coffee required. 539-7479.

JOBS IN THE GREAT OUTDOORS- Positions are now available at National Parks, Forests and Wildlife Preserves. For employment program, call (206)971-3620 ext. N57688.

JUNIORS AND SENIORS. Do you need a break from school? Are you low on $$$? Consider a Spring semester, 13 week internship with "It's Greek To Me, Inc. " You would be traveling with two other people to campuses throughout the Big 12 region, selling sportswear to fraternities and sororities. *All appointments are made for you in advance, no cold calling! *The job will be full-time, beginning mid-January and ending May 1st. *You can earn 3 hours of college credit. *We pay all travel expenses. Call Bob Lund at 537-8822 for more information or to schedule an interview.

KAW VALLEY Greenhouses is now hiring for 20- 40 hours per week. Call between 3- 4:30p.m. M- F at 776-8585.

LOOKING FOR a career? Dick Edwards Ford is looking for the right person in his auto sales department. Excellent benefits, salary plus commission. Five- day work week. Call 776-4004, ask for J.C. or Lou.

LUNAR TUNES- is looking for DJ's and photographers for next semester. Will train the right individual. 776-9140

NAIL-TECH POSITION available as soon as possible. Must be friendly, outgoing, professional person. Prefer experience with sclupture, gels, fiberglass. Flexible hours, commission based compensation preferred, but space for rent available. Please call Christina at 776-7874.

NEED HELP delivering Kansas City Star newspaper over Christmas break. Only two hours a day. $120/ week. Call 537-5064. Leave message.

NETWORK ADMINISTRATOR (10- 20 hrs/ week, NT, Novell, Windows). Advanced training provided. At least a Junior in Computer Science or related degree. Experience in network support is required. Salary based on capabilities, equal opportunity employer, KSC-Emp, 1640 Fairchild Avenue, Manhattan KS. 66502.

NEW BAGEL and Bread Cafe opening Jan. in Aggieville. Needs two bakers. Experience preferred. Wage negotiable. 539-7479.

PART-TIME MAINTENANCE person needed for 60 apartments. Basic electrical, plumbing and carpentry skills required. 587-0399.

SILVERADO SALOON is now hiring bartenders, waitstaff and DJ's. Apply at 531 N. Manhattan, Tuesday through Saturday 6p.m.- 2a.m..

TEMPORARY CASHIERS to work approximately January 10- 31. Day, evening and week-end shifts available. Must be able to work at least a three hours time block. Cashier and customer service experience preferred. Apply service counter, K-state Student Union Bookstore by January 18, 1996. Equal opportunity employer.

THE DEPARTMENT of Mechanical Engineering has an opening for a student hourly office position. Availability on Tuesdays and Thursdays is preferred. Applications are available in the Department of Mechanical Engineering, 302 Durland Hall.

WEB ASSISTANT (10- 20 hrs/ week, HTML, CGI). Advanced training provided. Experience in Internet communications is required. Salary based on capabilities, equal opportunity employer, KSC-Emp, 1640 Fairchild Avenue, Manhattan KS. 66502.

400 FOR SALE OPEN MARKET

405

Wanted to Buy

WANTED: IBM compatible computer with 386 or 486 processor. Will pay up to $250. 537-4944, Nick.

410

Items for Sale

A BEAUTIFUL wedding dress for sale. Could be worn any time of year. Call and leave message at 539-3602.

BEER SIGNS, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, antiques, collectibles, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

BUY SELL TRADE
Video Games & Computer CD Roms
PLAYSTATION, SEGA, NINTENDO, ETC.
GAME GUY
709 N. 12th
Aggieville
537-0989
www.flinthills.com/~gameguy

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit $14.95. See ALL the channels (800)752-1389.

CHRISTMAS GIFT baskets available! Customized to fit the recipient and your budget. For details Call 776-9912.

FREE CELLULAR phone-nokia 636! Free leather case! Free cigarette lighter adapter! Free programming! Call 539-1090, today!

GET A free make over for the holiday season. Great gift or for yourself. Artistry Cosmetics. 539-5873.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS!! New Combat boots, saftey-toe boots, overshoes. Wool blankets, gloves and socks. Field jackets. Camouflage clothing. Sleeping bags. Also CARHARTT WORKWEAR. Monday- Friday 9- 5:30, Saturday 9- 5. Open Sundays until Christmas 12- 4. St. Marys Surplus Sales. St. Marys, KS (913)437-2734.

ZENITH 486DX, 4MB, 170HD, 14-inch monitor with Cannon BJ-200 printer. Windows 3.1 with AMI-Pro. $750 or best offer, 776-1164.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

JERRY'S WHOLESALE carpet. Carpet remnants and vinyl remnants. 2501 Stagg Hill Road. Monday- Friday, 8:30a.m.- 5:30p.m. Sat. 8a.m.- 12p.m. Open to the public.

430

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Flea Market 7000 square feet, 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

435

Computers

28.8 V.34 internal faxmodem with software. One year old- lifetime warranty. $70. Lotus Smartsuite 96 CD-ROM for Windows 95 (includes Lotus 1-2-3, Word Pro, Freelance Graphics, Approach, Organizer, etc.) $40. Smartsuite for Windows 3.1 $30. Word Pro for Windows 3.1 $15. All software current and fully licensed. Or best offer. 587-4697.

486/40. 15-INCH monitor. 8 Meg Ram. 340 hard drive. 4X CD-ROM. $800. Gary, 587-8624.

GATEWAY 2000 486DX-2 66, 4MB RAM 340 MB HD, 14-inch monitor, 4x CD-Rom, CAnnon Bubble Jet printer. $1000. 587-8567.

I'VE GOT computers and laptops XT through 486 low price $150- $475. Must sell Paul 784-5650. Guarantee 90 days.

TWO COMPUTERS for sale-working condition. 1987 Zenith Z150 HD 1470 and Zenith 1380 (80/88). Make an offer. Kansas State & Extension Forestry 2610 Claflin Road, 537-7050.

445

Music Instruments

WELCOME TO The Music Co.! I'd like to take this opportunity to thank all the bands, individuals and businesses that have made 1996 another successful year. Have a warm and wonderful Holiday Season. Doug Jones, Proprietor. The Music Co., 523 S. 17th Street, in the Midtown Plaza. 539-1958.

455

Sporting Equipment

TWO FOOSEBALL tables for sale. $125 each. 537-7587 or 776-8076.

RAKE IN DEALS Whether you're buying or selling this fall, the Collegian classifieds have what you need! Our deals are featured daily for the 20,000 students and 5,000 faculty across campus.
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 KEDZIE 532-6555

460

Stereo Equipment

ALPINE CD Changer with remote for sale. 539-4058.

465

Tickets to Buy/Sell

A GOOD deal. Three Cotton Bo wl tickets. $40 each. 539-6752.

COTTON BOWL, six tickets, 30 yard line, under upper deck. (972)243-8595.

COTTON BOWL- 10 VIP seats. 40 yard line, lower second deck, sunny side, VIP parking included. $80/ ticket. Jim Bourgeois (210)693-3880.

FOR SALE: Two basketball season tickets, section 23, row 3, seat 3. $50 or best offer, (800)577-7468 pin# 258-1616.

FOUR COTTON Bowl tickets complete with parking passes. VIP seats $250 takes all. Call Robert (512)325-9414.

FOUR TICKETS to Cotton Bowl, 45 yard line, Big 12 side. $75 each includes VIP parking/ game program. Call Tamera (800)627-1220 ext.4122.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1983 HONDA Acord. New motor and clutch. $2000. Call 537-7583.

1985 HONDA Prelude SE, red, 5-speed, CD player, sunroof, power, $2400 or best offer. 776-5263

1988 PONTIAC 6000. Burgundy four-door, automatic, 150k. Make offer 565-0587.

1991 FORD Escort, automatic, low mileage, four-door, excellent condition, $3500 or best offer, call 539-8486.

600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

610

Tour Package

30 SHOPPING DAYS LEFT! Now is the time to guarantee the lowest rates and best hotels for spring break. Leisure tours has packages to South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica and Florida. (800)838-8203.

For all your needs, advertise in the Kansas State Collegian Classifieds. 532-6555

FOR MORE INFORMATION
UNIVERSITY APARTMENTS
2215 COLLEGE AVE
CALL 539-0500
Coming Soon
"Stay in class at the University"
Leasing '97-'98 School Year
539-0500

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

000 BULLETIN BOARD
010 Announcements
020 Lost and Found
030 Personals
040 Meetings/Events
050 Parties-n-More

100 HOUSING/ REAL ESTATE
105 For Rent — Apt. Furnished
110 For Rent — Apt. Unfurnished
115 Rooms Available
120 For Rent — Houses
125 For Sale — Houses
130 For Rent — Mobile Homes
135 For Sale — Mobile Homes
140 For Rent — Garage
145 Roommate Wanted
150 Sublease
155 Stable/Pasture
160 Office Space
165 Land for Sale

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY
205 Tutor
210 Resume/Typing
215 Desktop Publishing
220 Sewing/Alterations
225 Pregnancy Testing
230 Lawn Care
235 Child Care
240 Musicians/DJs
245 Pet Services
250 Automotive Repair
255 Other Services

300 EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS
310 Help Wanted
320 Volunteers Needed
330 Business Opportunities

400 OPEN MARKET
405 Wanted to Buy
410 Items for Sale
415 Furniture to Buy/Sell
420 Garage/Yard Sales
425 Auction
430 Antiques
435 Computers
440 Food Specials
445 Music Instruments
450 Pets and Supplies
455 Sporting Equipment
460 Stereo Equipment
465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

500 TRANSPORTATION
510 Automobiles
520 Bicycles
530 Motorcycles
540 Car Pool

600 TRAVEL/ TRIPS
610 Tour Packages
620 Airplane Tickets
630 Train Tickets
640 Bus Tickets

• CATEGORIES

To help you find what you are looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation.

• CLASSIFIED AD WRITING TIPS

Always put what item or service you are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for.

Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by abbreviations.

Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price range.

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBER OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

Faculty member wins award for achievements, performance

Robel

JASON WALLE
staff reporter

A K-State faculty member has once again been presented with a national award honoring achievement and exceptional performance.

Barb Robel, adviser of Greek Affairs was awarded the Robert Scaffer Distinguished Service Award at the Association of Fraternity Advisors annual conference in Orlando, Fla., last weekend.

The award, named after the former dean of students at Indiana University, has been given annually since 1980, and is considered the highest honor given by the association.

"Only three Greek advisers have been presented the award within the past 16 years," Robel said. "All other recipients have been university presidents and vice presidents."

The Robert Scaffer award is presented by the governing board of the association to the educator who has given exceptional and long-term service to the betterment of men's and women's fraternities and sororities.

EXODUS
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

bring the children to the United States.

"Everyone pulled together to make this happen. Seeing the family together is really rewarding. This is a triumph for all the agencies involved," Fazen said.

Wamulumba said he was thankful for Fazen's help.

"Officers like him are very wonderful in the U.S. Army. He not only took care of me, he took care of every soldier in the platoon," he said.

After six years, Wamulumba was finally reunited with his other four children.

The four children recently celebrated their first Thanksgiving in America, and the other four had renewed reasons to give thanks.

"We had a good time. We were so happy," Wamulumba said. "We went home. We had to pray and thank God that we were together."

Wamulumba said his children are adjusting well to their new setting, but they are not used to the cold weather. He said the children are having more trouble dealing with winter than they are with trying to learn English.

Wamulumba and his family will continue to adjust to life in the United States, but the family's journey for freedom has finally ended after a struggle that lasted for more than six years.

GRADS
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

making deadlines for graduation announcements.

"Everything is running smoothly so far," Hodges said.

Immediately following the ceremonies, each respective college will be host to a reception for its graduates.

The reception wraps up the day with a final goodbye from the graduates' colleges.

Saying goodbye can be an expensive endeavor for many graduates.

"There is a fee to graduate, plus you have to pay for the cap and gown, tassel and announcements," J.D. Weber, senior in animal sciences and industry, said.

Despite the cost, he is ready to graduate and is offering advice to those who will be at K-State for a few more years.

"Enjoy what you have left, but be ready to come back to reality. Because reality is waking up at 7 a.m. to go to work, and you can no longer come in at 4 a.m. and wake up at 7 a.m.," he said.

SAFETY
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

The statistics bureau said the average campus had seven violent crimes in 1994; the largest campuses averaged 25 violent crimes; those with fewer than 5,000 students averaged 3 crimes.

Average large campuses reported 1,000 property crimes; the smaller campuses, an average of 71 property crimes.

Two-thirds of the campus-police forces ran date-rape prevention programs and half had alcohol and drug-abuse programs. More than one-third provided special victim assistance.

Read the Collegian.

It's a Long Flight!
Don't get on the plane without something good to read.
Claflin Books and Copies

EFFORTS
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

the lead, because the Cats out-rebounded the Shockers during that crucial minute.

"I was disappointed with our defensive boards in that three- or four-minute stretch," she said. "We kept giving them more and more opportunities to score."

Towards the end of the game, guard Brit Jacobson kept K-State on top with her aggressive defense and gutsy offensive play. With the score tied up at 54, Jacobson hit a spinning jump shot that gave K-State a narrow lead.

"Brit stayed in the game through all the valleys and not too many peaks," Patterson said. "She didn't check out of the game. She stepped up and put us over the hump."

Jacobson and teammate Andria Jones accounted for nine points down a bumpy road later in the game.

"We picked up the intensity towards the end, and it rolled our way," Jacobson said. "I just did my part within the team concept."

With 2:09 left and the score notched at 56, the Cats called a timeout. During that timeout, Patterson told her team it needed to step up and make shots and stop Wichita State from scoring.

The Cats did just that. K-State ended the game with a 7-3 run that proved to be the deciding factor in the 63-59 victory.

"I think we won this game because we played 40 minutes," she said. "Tonight we changed the game by stepping it up with confidence and assuredness by knocking down the big shots despite what went on earlier in the game."

With the win, K-State handed Wichita State its first loss of the season, and K-State improved to 6-2 on the season.

INJURY
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

apply for a medical redshirt for the freshman to maintain his eligibility for four years.

In K-State's first three games of the season, Vasiljevic played 27 minutes and averaged three points per game.

Vasiljevic, a three-point specialist, put in some quality minutes off the bench for K-State toward the beginning of the year, but recently his playing time has grown weak.

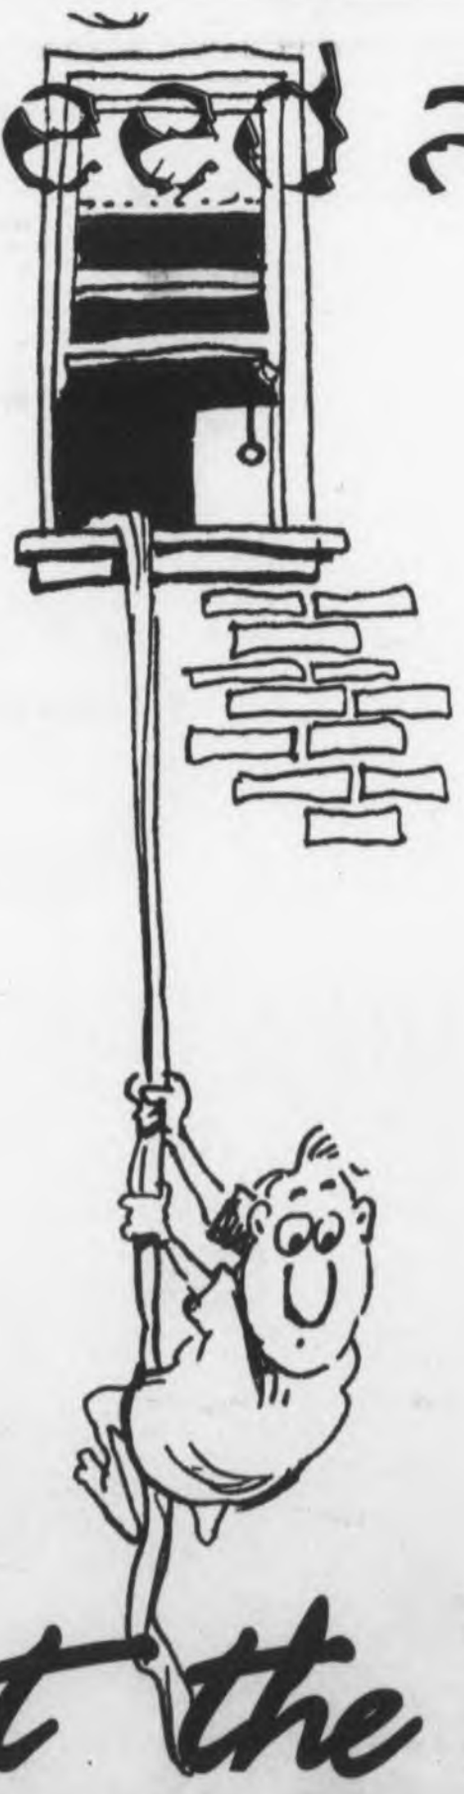
Asbury said it was in part due to Vasiljevic's output on the defensive end of the court.

"Pero struggles on the defensive end of the floor, but he'll get better," Asbury said.

Vasiljevic attended Simi Valley High School in Los Angeles as an exchange student and played one year of high-school basketball. There he averaged 25 points, 11.8 rebounds and 3.5 blocks per game. He recorded 45 points in one contest his high-school year. Vasiljevic was named to the all-state basketball team in just his first year of organized basketball in the United States.

With the loss of the freshman, K-State's full squad is limited to a sleek 10 active players.

HOME
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6



where your vision catches up with your athleticism."

Asbury said the biggest weakness on the team was crashing the offensive boards.

"We're going to the boards, but we're going a little late. The bottom line is that we have just been lazy," Asbury said. "I'll start putting the hook out on some of these guys. You've gotta go every single time."

Dilly's Deli
Graduating?
Get your meat and cheese trays.
Call about prices.
537-5113
1219 Bluemont • Aggieville

"No Coupon" Specials (NO coupon needed, NONE accepted)
Everyday Two-fers
2 - PIZZAS with 2 - TOPPINGS each
2 - COKES with ice
$9.12
Everyday Three-fers
3 - PIZZAS with 1 - TOPPING each
3 - COKES with ice
$11.23
Prices do not include sales taxes.
Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

Need a little escape?

Events
Pre-order your textbooks for next semester and save yourself the hassle of fighting the crowds plus get a free gift! Stop by the textbook department on the upper level today.
Great Holiday Gifts
Save 50%-70% on selected books at the Holiday Book Sale.
Have your gifts wrapped for free by the women of Smurthwaite Scholarship House!
Textbook Buyback
at the Student Union Bookstore at these times!
Register to win 2 free Cotton Bowl tickets!

In the Bookstore		Derby and Kramer Food Centers
Wed. 11-Thur. 12	8-6	Mon. 16-Thur. 19	9-6
Fri. 13	8-5	Fri. 20	8-5
Sat. 14	10-2
Mon. 16-Thur. 19	8-8
Fri. 20	8-5
Sat. 21	10-2
Fri. 20	8-5

at the Bookstore!
K-State Student Union Bookstore 532-6583

Exp. Date 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

kansas state
COLLEGIAN

(HTTP://COLLEGIAN.KSU.EDU/) FRIDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1996 VOL. 101, No. 75

New terminal takes flight

▪ Weekend ceremony opens new Manhattan airport terminal.

R. MARTIN FORTMEYER
senior staff writer

Manhattan's air service will reach new altitude today with the opening of the new airport terminal building.

The dedication ceremony for invited guests will be 10:30 a.m. today at the new building. Featured speakers are Sydney Carlin, Manhattan mayor; Brent Bowman, architect of the facility; and K-State president Jon Wefald.

Saturday's events include the first public day for the terminal, airplane rides, aircraft displays and military aircraft fly-overs.

Ken Black, airport director, said the old airport terminal building outlived its usefulness and was undersized.

He said the city government thought a better terminal building should be the first site visitors to Manhattan should see.

The old terminal building has been subject to jokes over the years from visitors.

"What we've ended up with is an outstanding building," Black said.

The process that culminated in the building of the terminal began in 1989, and continued with conceptual work between 1991 and 1993, with the final design accepted by the city in 1994.

The transient guest tax was raised 2 percent to provide for airport expansion. There were also Federal Aviation Administration grants, general city budget allocations, bonds and interest.

The total budget for the project, which includes the new building and site improvements for parking lots, fencing, and access roads, was nearly $2,627,000. Almost $1.4 million of that came from FAA grants.

Justin Kastner, city commissioner and senior in food science and industry, said Sen. Nancy Kassebaum-Baker, R-Kan., and former Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., were particularly helpful in getting money for all rural airports — not only Manhattan's project.

"Initially, it didn't sell well at all, but it's going to couple very nicely with our new business park we just bought out by the airport," Kastner said. "The key to getting another service provider, besides USAir was getting this new terminal."

Although attracting new airlines was a motivation behind the new terminal building, it doesn't affect the current provider, USAir, much more than offering a nicer facility.

Diane Bergren, station manager for USAir, said the higher rent associated with the new building could mean higher costs for air travel from Manhattan.

"That's all speculation on that issue," she said. "That's the only thing that's bad about it."

Bergren said the new building won't affect operations for USAir or the number of flights offered, outside of providing a convenient facility for passengers.

USAir serves nearly 18,000 people yearly in round-trip flights from Manhattan to Kansas City and vice versa.

Black said the new building will accommodate up to three airlines, with facilities for vendors and rental-car agencies provided.

"It's certainly a catalyst for attracting more service," Black said. "It appears that we have flights in the wrong direction."

Black said his most recent studies indicate the airport could increase its passenger base if it offered more westbound flights. He said 46 percent of all

• See AIRPORT Page 12

New Manhattan airport sponsors open house

An open house will be from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday at the new Manhattan airport to celebrate the opening of the new airport terminal.

Activities include:

+ 20-minute airplane rides by the Kansas Pilots Association (prices are $10 for adults and $5 for children under 12)
+ displays of aircraft, including a Beech 1900D, an A-10 attack aircraft, a C-130 transport, a T-3 trainer and various helicopters
+ informational displays, including KSU AFROTC, Civil Air Patrol, Kansas Air Center, the K-State Parachute Club and the Riley County Fliers radio-controlled aircraft demonstration
+ a fly-over featuring a B-1 bomber and an F-16 based at McConnell AFB

Call Ken Black at 587-4560 for more information. In case of inclement weather, the cancellation of the event will announced on radio and television that morning.

MEGAN LaRUE/Collegian

Professor still seeks possible reversal in tenure-denial trial

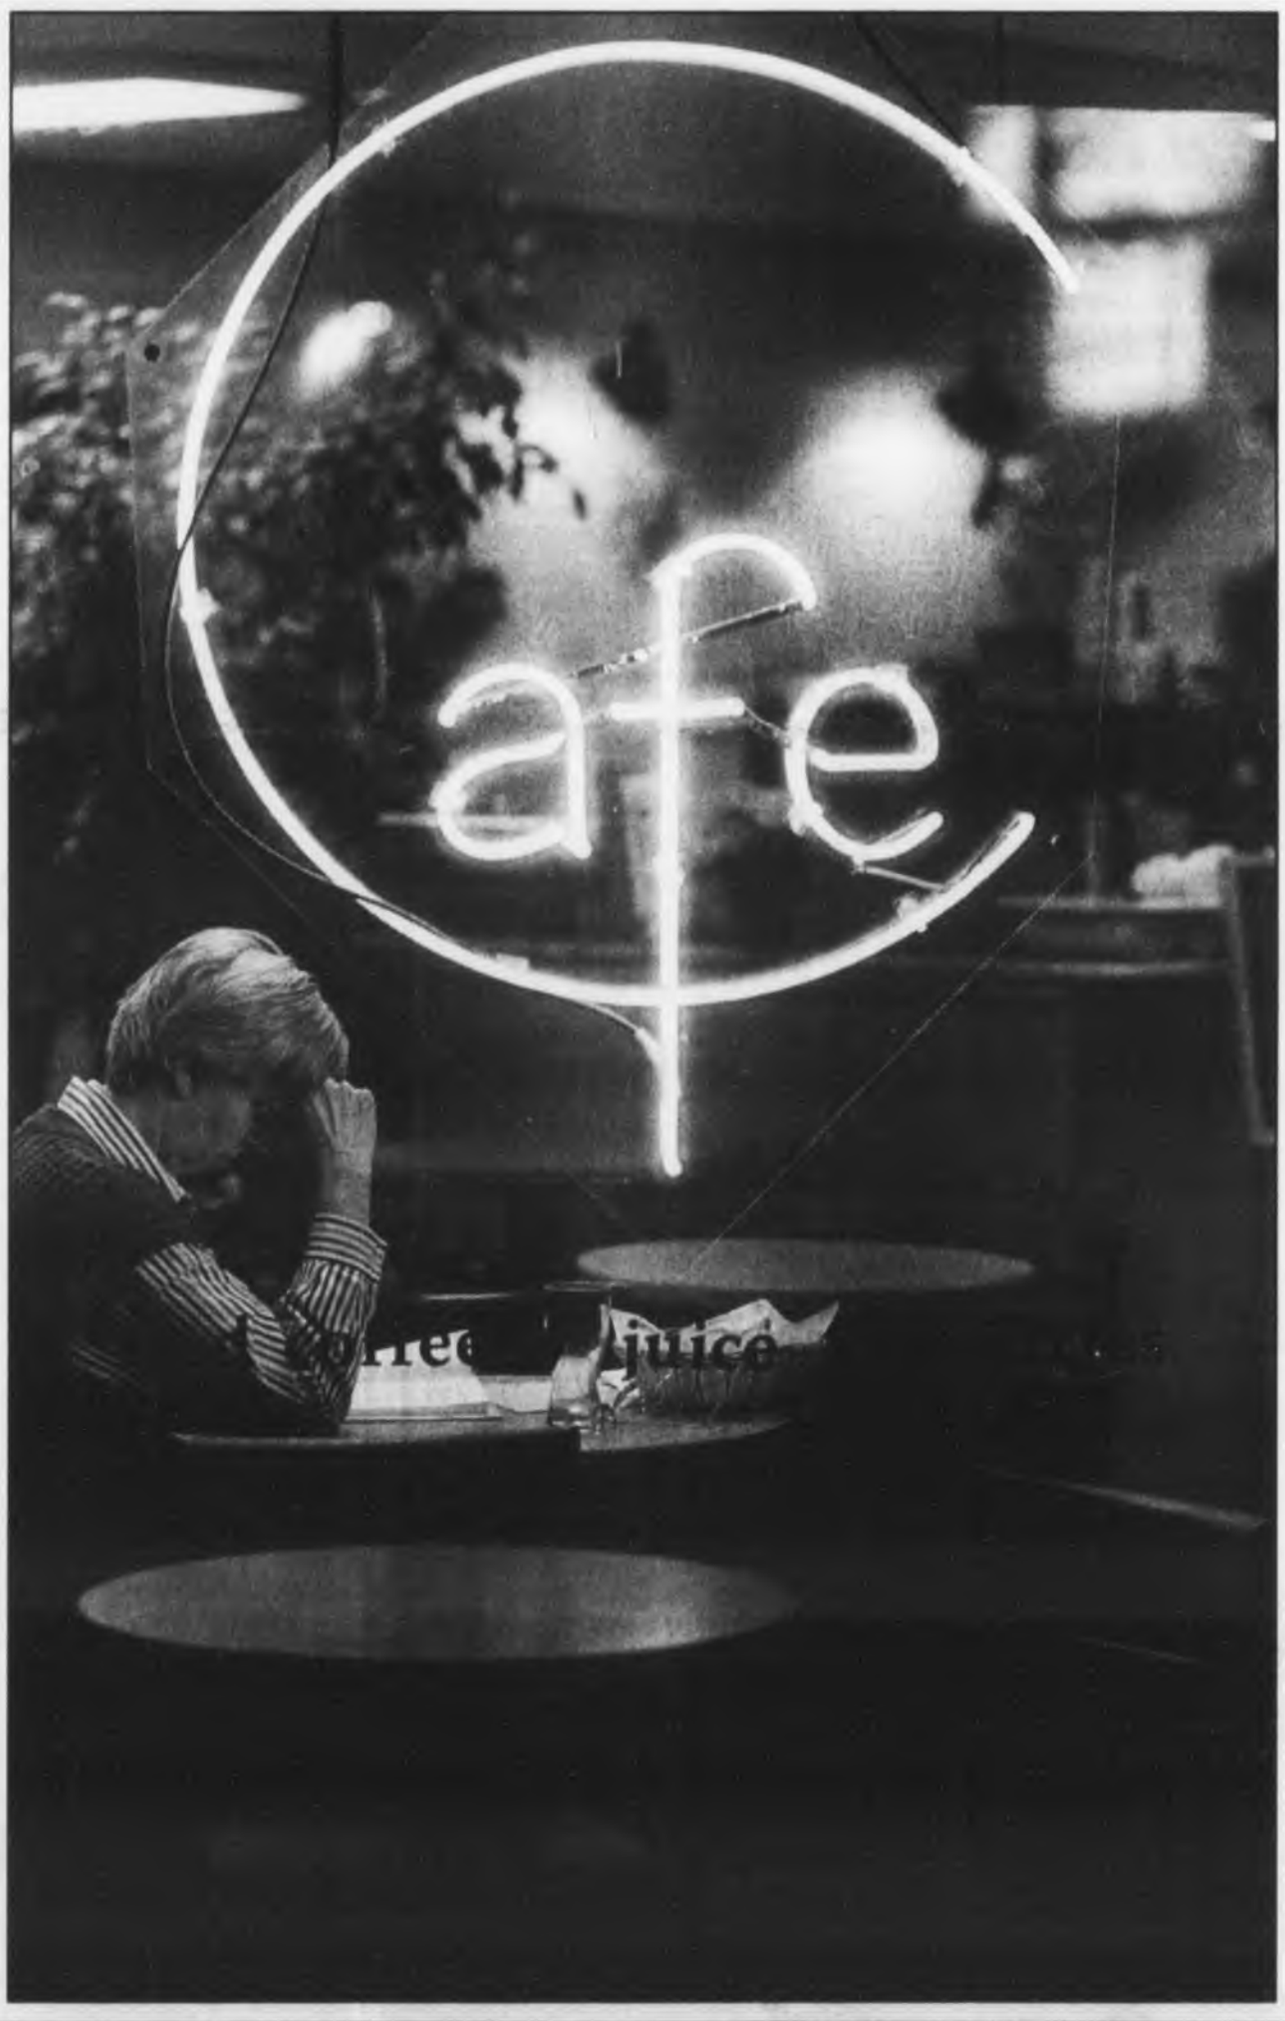
El-Ghori

▶ Ali Kanso El-Ghori, assistant professor of advertising. El-Ghori came to K-State in 1990 after being a news reporter and editor in Beirut and teaching at Tennessee State and Slippery Rock University.

SARA EDWARDS
campus editor

The hearing for the K-State professor fighting his tenure denial has not yet concluded.

Ali Kanso El-Ghori, assistant professor of journalism and mass communications, filed for reversal of the decision to deny his tenure with the General Faculty Grievance Board.



A General Faculty Grievance Board panel has met twice for a total of more than 15 hours. The panel is planning to meet again Dec. 20. The panel previously met Nov. 5 and Dec. 3. Brad Fenwick, presiding officer of the panel and professor of veterinary medicine, said he was uncertain if the hearing would be concluded on Dec. 20.

El-Ghori was denied tenure in early January. The A.Q. Miller School of Journalism and Mass Communications senior faculty member voted on his tenure in late 1995. Four voted yes, three voted no, and two abstained. Although there was a split vote, Carol Oukrop, director of journalism and mass communications, said she thought El-Ghori was a shoe-in for tenure.

The advisory committee had five no votes and one abstention against El-Ghori's tenure. Therefore, Peter Nicholls, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, did not recommend him for tenure, and Provost James Coffman did not, either.

After approaching Nicholls and Coffman to reconsider, El-Ghori said he appealed the provost's decision, and his case eventually went to the General Faculty Grievance Board.

• See TENURE Page 12

CAFE CONCENTRATION
SANDRA NIBLETT reads a book Thursday night at Espresso Royale Caffe in Aggieville. Niblett is in town from Oklahoma City visiting her daughter, Hollie Niblett, senior in horticulture therapy, until January.
C. HITES CONOVER
Collegian

Bowl ticket sales set record for most sold

▶ Before you head out for the Big D, be sure to read the Collegian's Cotton Bowl Guide. If you missed your copy go to the Web. (http://collegian.ksu.edu/issues/v101/fa/n073/bowl/index.html)

JEREMY KELLEY
sports editor

K-State fans have officially set a Cotton Bowl record for ticket sales for one school.

On Thursday, ticket manager Carol Adolph said her ticket office had sold 31,250 tickets for the Cotton Bowl. The ticket office said K-State will stop selling tickets at 31,500. However, she said that number did not include the orders taken at the ticket office in Dallas.

Dianna Riffle, Cotton Bowl ticket manager in Dallas, said she could not give an exact figure as to how many tickets purchased through the office were purchased by K-State fans.

"I ask who the caller is with when they call in, so I can put them in the right section," Riffle said. "I don't keep a running tally, but if I had to take a guess, I would say we have sold 5,000 K-State tickets here at the office."

On Monday at a press conference, Cotton Bowl president Rick Baker said he thought K-State could possibly break a ticket-sales record. He also said on Monday that the ticket office in Dallas had to open up six new phone lines to accommodate the influx of the calls at the beginning of the week.

"We have had an amazing number of calls already," Baker said.

Baker said he was almost certain the New Year's Day bowl game would be a sellout.

• See TICKETS Page 12

LOVE LOUNGE
ANJIE BURKHART, junior in architectural engineering, and Lee Turner, senior in electrical engineering, watch television Thursday evening in the basement of Goodnow Hall.

D. CHRISTOPHER WHITLEY/Collegian

▶ STUDENT SENATE

Senate moves parking concerns to other committee

N. MELISSA KIRBY
city/government editor

Student Senate dissolved the Parking and Campus Safety Committee and made its duties part of a different committee Thursday night.

The responsibilities and concerns of the Parking Committee now belong to the Student Affairs and Social Services Committee.

One senator said he worried about sending the wrong message.

"What kind of message are we sending to the campus as a whole when tomorrow morning it comes out in the Collegian that we did away with our committee on parking?" Vaughn Strickland, graduate senator, said.

Paul Colwell, chairman of the Parking Committee, responded by saying the duties of the committee will still be carried out.

"All we're dissolving is the name, not the duties — the name," Colwell said.

Most of the meeting was taken up with discussions of the election campaign regulations.

Senate made several amendments, including not allowing chalk on sidewalks within 25 feet of the door to any campus building and not putting candidates who miss the mandatory meetings on the ballot.

The senators said they decided not to impose a $30 fine for every campaign violation.

Some senators said this would allow candidates to buy a Senate seat.

"They could go out and spend however much money they wanted and go to all kinds of extremes and violate all our regulations," Nicole Johnson, Faculty Senate representative, said.

Supporters of the proposal said they had hoped it would solve the problem of throwing out candidates who won large segments of the vote and said money was not the issue.

"If someone wants to, they can buy off the election right now," Aaron Otto, student body vice president, said. He said a candidate could give incomplete receipts to the Elections Committee with its expenditures.

Senate also voted to commend the livestock judging team and the crops judging team.

24 HOURS IN REVIEW

NATION WORLD

• RWANDAN REFUGEES TO ABANDON U.N. CAMPS. Hutu militants forced hundreds of thousands of Rwandan refugees to abandon U.N. camps in northwestern Tanzania on Thursday and hide in the nearby forests to avoid going home. Tanzania, which borders Rwanda, holds the largest remaining population of Rwandan refugees — 535,000 people — and says they all must leave by Dec. 31. By late Thursday, at least four huge camps were nearly empty. Aid workers blamed Thursday's exodus on a campaign of intimidation by Hutu militants, who fear retribution for a 1994 genocide in Rwanda if they go back.

• STATES HAVE 14 MONTHS TO IMPLEMENT DRUG POLICY. President Clinton directed the states on Thursday to make staying drug free a condition for getting out of jail or remaining free on parole. Clinton's drug-policy director, retired Army Gen. Barry McCaffrey, said the recent passage in Arizona and California of ballot propositions permitting doctors to prescribe marijuana for medical reasons could increase drug use by children and undermine the fight against drugs. Transportation Secretary Federico Pena issued orders making clear that the California and Arizona initiatives cannot be used as excuses for airline pilots, railroad engineers, ship captains and others in safety-sensitive positions who test positive for illegal drugs.

• NISSAN YANKS FRANCHISE OVER RACIST SLUR. Nissan Motor Corp. will yank its franchise from Bob Crumpler, a car dealer, who was secretly videotaped using racial slurs. In a videotape made three months ago, Crumpler referred to a black worker as a nigger while he berated the worker's white supervisor.

• SADDAM'S SON WOUNDED IN ATTACK. Saddam Hussein's eldest son, sometimes described as his heir apparent, was slightly wounded Thursday when attackers ambushed his car. Odai Hussein was rushed to a hospital where he was reported in stable condition. The station, which is owned by Odai Hussein, interrupted its programming to announce that he was attacked while driving in the upscale al-Mansour district of Baghdad.

• FRANCE OPPOSED TO U.N. FAVORITE. France appears firm in its opposition to the presumed U.S. favorite to lead the United Nations, apparently to pay back Washington for blocking a second term for Boutros Boutros-Ghali. U.N. Undersecretary Kofi Annan of Ghana emerged as the strongest candidate after two days of unofficial voting in the 15-member Security Council.

• SIX DEAD, 15 INJURED IN MEXICO CITY COLLISION. A bus and a truck collided on a highway between the Mexican capital and the neighboring city of Puebla on Thursday, killing at least six of the bus passengers. At least 15 other passengers were injured when the bus burst into flames during the pre-dawn collision on a heavily traveled highway 15 miles southeast of Mexico City. It was not known immediately how many people were in the bus altogether, how many people were in the truck, or if the truck's occupants were injured. Federal highway police were investigating.

• NEW MEXICO TOWN SETTLES DISCRIMINATION COMPLAINTS. A New Mexico town has agreed to pay more than $260,000 to settle complaints it discriminated against Mexican nationals by selectively enforcing a law banning mobile homes. The Village of Hatch was accused of enforcing the ordinance only along one street populated primarily by legal resident aliens from Mexico who worked in nearby crop fields. Because of the ordinance, some people were forced to move from Hatch and live in sub-standard areas known as colonias, which consist of dwellings, often no more than shacks, that have limited or no potable water, wastewater systems, roads or drainage-control systems.

• VALLEY FEVER ON THE RISE IN ARIZONA. A deadly lung infection caused by a soil fungus in the Southwest is on the rise in Arizona, preying on the elderly and those with the AIDS virus. The number of cases of valley fever in Arizona jumped from 255 in 1990 to 623 last year. Arizona's recent weather patterns and changing demographics are to blame. Valley fever begins as a fungus that grows in the ground, usually after heavy rains. Long dry spells cause the fungus to become airborne, where it is inhaled.

CITY STATE

• KANSAS SCHOOLS WIN NATIONAL AWARDS. Several Kansas schools have been recognized by U.S. Secretary of Education Richard Riley for boosting student achievement through teacher development.

Woodrow Wilson Elementary School in Manhattan was recognized as a professional development school where teachers can receive assistance in expanding and improving skills and knowledge. The program focuses on teaching math, science and technology.

The other schools are in the Lawrence district, which has a program that gives credit for professional-development improvements tied to student-achievement targets. The program includes action plans written by teachers and monitoring of the plans by videotape, journals and portfolios kept by teachers.

• KCC FINES COMPANIES FOR NATURAL GAS EXPLOSIONS. A state regulatory agency levied $40,000 in fines Friday against three companies, including the largest energy utility in Kansas, over two natural gas explosions in Overland Park. The Kansas Corporation Commission fined United Cities Gas of Brentwood, Tenn., $20,000 and K&W Underground Inc. of Olathe $10,000 in connection with a home explosion in October.

The KCC also fined Western Resources, the state's largest energy utility, $10,000 in connection with a January home explosion. The October explosion seriously injured two occupants of the destroyed home and gave two K&W employees minor injuries.

POLICEBLOTTER

Reports are taken directly from the daily logs of the K-State and Riley County police departments. Because of space constraints, we do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations.

K-STATE POLICE

• WEDNESDAY, DEC. 11

At 7:46 p.m. Lucas Loughmiller, Haymaker 131, reported theft of stereo equipment from a vehicle in Lot B-2. Loss of equipment and damage to the vehicle was estimated at $400.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE DEPT.

• WEDNESDAY, DEC. 11

At 9:54 p.m. James Henson reported theft of gasoline from Texaco, 1131 Bluemont. Loss was $15.42.

• THURSDAY, DEC. 12

At 12:01 a.m. Vicky Clark reported theft of six packages of cigarettes from Total Gas Station, 809 N. 3rd. Loss was $12.

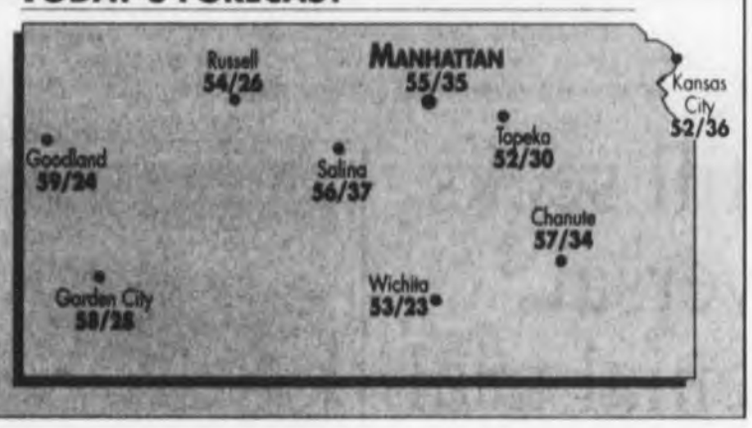
At 1:01 a.m. Jason Jackson, 4460 Tuttle Creek Blvd., Apt. 16, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

At 1:54 a.m. William Warren, 3507 Hudson Circle, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

At 2:15 a.m. Douglas White, 709 Bluemont Ave., reported being battered by two unknown subjects.

At 3:16 a.m. Sean Sims, 1719 Laramie St., was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

WEATHER FORECAST



Later today

Mild and sunny with a high around 55 degrees. Light north wind. Tonight, partly cloudy with the low in the lower 30s.

Saturday

A little cooler and partly cloudy with the high from 45 to 50 degrees.

TODAY'S FORECAST

kansas state
COLLEGIAN

Editor in chief — Kevin Klassen
Managing editor — Claudette Riley
News editor — Kimberly Hefling
Photo editor — Jill Jarsulic
Design team coordinator — Scott M. Ladd
Arts and entertainment editor — Portia Sisco
Campus editor — Sara Edwards
Assistant campus editor — Dan Lewerenz
City/government editor — Nicole Kirby
Copy chief — Rachel Aberle
Opinion editor — Sera Tank
Sports editor — Jeremy Kelley
Electronic Collegian editor — Kady Guyton
Advertising manager — Stacy Foulk
Assistant advertising manager — Karah Lovely

By phone
newsroom — 532-6556
campus — 532-0731
city/gov — 532-0731
opinion — 532-0730
darkroom — 532-0735
advertising — 532-6560

By e-mail or on the Web
(collegn@ksu.edu)
(http://collegian.ksu.edu)

By snail mail
Kansas State Collegian
116 Kedzie Hall
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167

© Kansas State Collegian, 1996

BULLETIN BOARD

• The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Elizabeth Uriyo at 8:30 a.m. Monday in Shellenberger 204S.

• The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Jiyun Kuang at 10 a.m. Monday in Cardwell 119.

• CSP Tutoring is now accepting applications for the spring semester. Call 532-5701 to find out how you can help area youth.

• Help an international student with spoken English, and learn firsthand about a different culture. Be a volunteer for the Conversational English Program. Contact Alan Aubert at the International Student Center, 532-6448, or (aaubert@ksu.edu).

• Junior and senior pre-medicine students can pick up applications for the University of Kansas School of Medicine Primary Care Summer Mentor Program now in Eisenhower 113. The deadline for applications and letters of recommendations is Jan. 25.

• Join the Beach Bums, the student group of the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art. Come by the art museum for details on membership and upcoming events. Call 532-7718 for information.

GO AHEAD. SLEEP IN.
You can still read the Collegian. Look at us online at
(http://collegian.ksu.edu)

Your ad could be here!
Call 532-6555 for details.

Congratulations WILDCATS!
Going to the Cottonbowl!

WYNDHAM ANATOLE
Mon. Dec. 30 9 am - 8 pm
Tues. Dec. 31 9 am - 2 pm
6 pm - 9 pm
Wed. Jan. 1 5 pm - 8 pm

Join us in Dallas at these locations and times.

RENAISSANCE DALLAS
Mon. Dec. 30 9 am - 8 pm
Tues. Dec. 31 9 am - 2 pm
6 pm - 9 pm

K-State Student Union Bookstore 532-6583

— Next Tuesday —
Hard Fast and Heavy
D'ranged from Manhattan and Down Under from Topeka
$1.50 Coronas
$1.50 Margaritas
All U can eat tacos only $1.00
from 5-7
Rusty's LAST CHANCE SALOON
1209 Moro Aggieville, U.S.A

FRIDAY
SLICES 99¢ 5-7 p.m.
BEER $2 32oz. BIG BEERS
PYRAMID PIZZA
20 oz. $1 $1 Bottles
539-4888
1130 Moro • Aggieville "We Pile It On!"

Wash Palace
NEW LOWER PRICES SAME QUALITY CLEANING!
INCREDIBLE SAVINGS! Now Receive 50% of drying time absolutely FREE!
Let Us Help You Take a Load Off
• Coin Laundry
• Laundry drop-off service
• Professional dry cleaning & alterations
• Drive-up window and door
• Bargain laundry center w / large capacity washers
• Big Screen TV • Pool Table • Snacks
The Wash Palace
Bring in This Coupon and Receive
10% off any Dry Cleaning, or Drop Off Laundry
Excluding Washer & Dryer Service
Expires Dec. 31, 1996
7 a.m. - midnight 3216 Kimball Ave. • Candlewood 537-9833
3216 Kimball Ave. • Candlewood • Open 7 a.m. - midnight • 537-9833

beyond COMBAT

Retiring colonel makes use of experience to carry a positive influence into higher education

AMY LAGRONE
staff reporter

Absolutely remarkable.

That is what people have to say about Col. William Byrns.

"He is very fair, very understanding and very supportive," Staff Sgt. Delton York said. "I only wish I could've gotten to know him better."

Byrns is the commander of Air Force ROTC Detachment 270, professor of aerospace studies and head of the Department of Aerospace Studies at K-State. After 30 years of active military service, he will retire on Sept. 30, 1997.

"I feel that I've been very successful," Byrns said.

Byrns began his service to the United States in August 1967, when he entered Officers' Training School at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas. Since that time, he has flown more than 4,200 hours, 894 of which were during combat. He was captured by North Vietnamese soldiers and held captive for one year.

He has received many honorable military decorations, including six Distinguished Flying Crosses, two Purple Hearts, the Meritorious Service Medal, the Prisoner of War Medal, the Presidential Unit Citation, the Air Medal, the Air Force Commendation Medal, the National Defense Service Medal and many more.

Despite all of his honors, Byrns said he thinks his biggest achievement has been the opportunity and ability to have such a great influence on so many young lives.

"You are sometimes given awards simply because you are in the wrong place at the right time or the right place at the wrong time," he said. "The impact I can make on others — I want it to be everlasting."

Byrns took his current position in July 1993. He said he will most miss working with all the young people.

"Midwest kids are all outstanding," he said. "Compared to some kids on the coast, there is a big difference in their values and their definition of integrity."

Byrns said it has been his goal to be a good example and he could not have done it without his faith. He said he thanks God for his success.

"I became a Christian in college," he said. "Without that, my leadership skills would've been a toss-up."

Byrns said he has worked with many people during his service to the military, but the strongest leaders were those who were grounded in their faith.

Byrns is not yet sure what he will do after he retires but said he will follow his wife, Joanne, wherever she goes.

"She's followed me for 30 years. It's my turn," he said.

Joanne Byrns is graduating from K-State this Saturday with a degree in interior design. Byrns gets the honor of presenting her with her diploma.

Byrns is considering teaching management at a junior college. He has also considered applying for a position as the leader of a high-school Junior ROTC program. Getting involved in politics is another option.

"He will truly be missed," York said.

Byrns said all the medals in the world could not replace the experience he has had while at K-State.

"It's not the things hanging on the wall that matter when you die," he said. "It's the impact we have on people."

B. MATTHEW WHITE/Collegian

WILLIAM BYRNS, commander of the Air Force ROTC Detachment 270 and professor of aerospace studies, will retire at the end of the summer.

Investigation team profiles suspect in 4 slayings in Kansas City area

ASSOCIATED PRESS

KANSAS CITY, Kan. — Investigators looking into the killings of four women and the stabbing of another since July have developed a rough profile of the attacker while they wait for lab tests on evidence.

They're also hoping for a bit of low-tech evidence — a telephone tip from the public.

"The suspect might have talked to someone about the crimes, or he might have bragged about them," Rick Pilgrim, police detective, said Thursday.

The Metro Squad, a team of investigators, has concluded the attacker is probably a black male who was a casual acquaintance of the victims, who were also black.

The squad said he probably lives in the northeast section of the city, where all the victims were found, or frequents the area, the squad thinks. He also has the tendency of violence toward women and might have been arrested for sexual assault and served some prison time in the past.

"That alone won't tell us who we're looking for," Pilgrim said of the profile. "It is intended to be an aid for our investigation."

The FBI is looking at information, and a more definite profile could yet be determined. Investigators are looking at a group of people, one of whom might turn out to be the suspect, Pilgrim said.

Rose Calvin, 39, was the first to be found dead, in July. Then three more women were slain in November — Norma Gray, 36; Pearl Barnes, 41; and Jeanette Holiday, 35.

The fifth victim, a 42-year-old woman, survived a stabbing attack Dec. 4 and remains in a hospital, where detectives have been able to talk to her a few times.

Detectives are waiting on crime-lab reports on physical evidence taken from the crime scenes as well as DNA test results. Wyandotte County does not have its own crime lab, and the evidence has to be sent to the Kansas Bureau of Investigations lab in Topeka.

Because the KBI has other cases to handle from across the state, the Metro Squad doesn't know when it will get the reports it needs, Pilgrim said.

History shows it is rare for a black man to be a serial killer.

"The majority of serial killers are white males, but it is not unheard of for one to be a black male," detective Phil Miller said.

Catch the Spirit of the Cotton Bowl

TRANSPORTATION ONLY

Price includes round trip transportation from the city of origin to Dallas, Texas via deluxe coach.

From: Manhattan	Return	Cost
Leave
12/31: morning	1/1: after game	$105 per person
12/31: morning	1/2: 11:00 AM	$115 per person

From: Salina	Return	Cost
Leave
12/31: morning	1/1: after game	$85 per person
12/31: morning	1/2: 11:00 AM	$95 per person

From: Wichita	Return	Cost
Leave
12/31: morning	1/1: after game	$60 per person
12/31: morning	1/2: 11:00 AM	$70 per person

From: Kansas City	Return	Cost
Leave
12/31: morning	1/1: after game	$100 per person
12/31: morning	1/2: 11:00 AM	$110 per person

From: Topeka	Return	Cost
Leave
12/31: morning	1/1: after game	$100 per person
12/31: morning	1/2: 11:00 AM	$110 per person

For Information/reservations call KINCAID COACH LINES
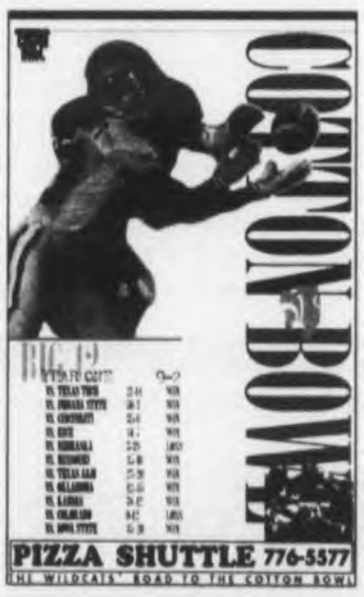
Manhattan, Salina, Wichita: 1-800-998-1902
Kansas City, Topeka: 1-800-998-1901
Master Card accepted

FREE MOVIE

FREE rental with 1 paid rental of equal value. With coupon, limit one - HURRY!
Exp. 12-18-96
VIDEO EXPRESS
1310 Westloop Shopping Ctr.
537-2020



SIGMA KAPPA
will miss their alumni

Tracie Koppers — Rachelle Harkness
Tina Tickles — Kim Vance
Kari Evans — Kelly Runfeldt

ARE YOU READY FOR THE GAME?

Better double check your list.

- ❑ Cotton Bowl tickets
- ❑ Plane tickets
- ❑ Big Styrafoam finger
- ❑ Spending money
- ❑ Camera
- ❑ Summer clothes
- ❑ Collegian Cotton Bowl Guide
- ❑ Collegian commemorative poster

What you don't have your limited-edition poster?
Then get one already.
Stop by the Student Publications Inc. offices
in Kedzie 103 Friday or Monday
between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.
and buy your poster for one dead president.
Then again, you could also pick up your poster
in the Student Union Friday or Monday
between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.
Support your Cats and display this nifty poster.

Special, special purchase!
Limit 3 per customer
While they last!

1997 Cotton Bowl
KSU Christmas Ornaments
Limited edition Kansas State Cotton Bowl tree ornament in Wildcat purple. Gift boxed and ready to wrap.
$5.00 each while limited quantity lasts.

WATERS True Value HARDWARE
Help Is Just Around The Corner

Open Everyday
Mon-Fri 8 - 8 Sat 8 - 6 Sun 10 - 5
In Westloop Shopping Center Seth Childs Rd & Anderson Blvd.

kansas state collegian

OPINION

IN OUR OPINION

Law enforcement should be left to police

If Gov. Bill Graves gets his way, Kansans will be voting on whether they can carry concealed guns as soon as next year.

A few legislators and gun advocates have already said they don't want the issue on the ballot and would rather address it within the legislature.

WHY WE CARE

Guns for hunting are one thing, but allowing everyone carry concealed weapons around town will probably lead to dangerous situations.

With the power of the National Rifle Association and other gun lobbies in the state legislature, leaving the issue to the politicians is the wrong thing to do. Graves has said he is not a big fan of concealed weapons, but he thinks the public should decide.

This is an issue that affects everyone in the state, and it should be considered on a ballot by everyone. By arguing against a ballot issue, people are effectively arguing against the democratic process — a scary thought.

The gun advocates arguing against a public vote are just wolves in sheep's clothing who fear their interests won't be protected if the vote is given to the citizens. That's correct. In a ballot issue, the only interests involved are those of the citizens.

In a poll conducted by K-State, 73 percent of all Kansans oppose allowing concealed weapons.

A public vote is important because this issue is controversial.

We feel gun ownership is a right protected by the Constitution, but that is not the issue in this case. Knowing gun owners are using their guns for recreational uses is one thing. Knowing everyone in Manhattan Town Center is carrying a gun is another.

The move for concealed weapons is a flawed response to crime that considers arming every citizen with a gun as a way to make people feel safer. Is having more guns on the street safer for society?

How many times have you come across a deer in aisle nine at the grocery store? Never, because concealed weapons wouldn't be used for hunting. Rather they would be turned against another human.

We have protection in public now. It's called the police. Our taxes go to train and arm an efficient security system for our state. Arming citizens with concealed weapons would create a vigilante state.

While it is true other states have enacted laws allowing permits for concealed weapons, this is not reason enough for Kansas to follow suit.

If this issue must be considered, let the people of Kansas vote. Hopefully, the citizens of Kansas will keep their streets safer by leaving safety concerns to the police.

In Our Opinion, an editorial discussed and chosen by a majority of the editorial board, is written by the editorial board. For information on who is an editorial board member or how you can become a member, contact Sera Tank at (karolyi@ksu.edu)

Peace on earth

Peace of mind will have to wait until after finals

MY

Jeremy STEPHENS

MATT HAWKINS/Collegian

It's that time again. By some accounts, it's the most wonderful time of the year. I would guess those people are got students.

For the rest of us, it's that time of year when we wish time had a remote with a fast-forward button.

It would be nice to go to sleep tonight and wake up on Christmas Eve.

Oh wait, never mind. I think I have a final on Christmas Eve as well.

Whomever it was in the brain trust known as administration who decided to have school last almost until Christmas, I hope you have a Merry Christmas.

May your turkey be dry as a desert, may your gifts all be pastel ties from the clearance rack, and may your children want to see "Space Jam" 20 times while on break.

As you can see, I am not bitter. I just hate going through finals.

The ironic thing is that while everyone hates going through finals, there are very few things that give you such a feeling of peace when you are done with them.

It's getting through them that makes life wretched for a week.

But after they are over, you can reflect upon what you have learned. In many classes, this will be an enhanced ability to fill several pages full of words from the English language, yet still have said nothing.

In a way, it's a lot like life. In the years to come, when you reflect on your life, will you be satisfied that you put forth your best effort, or will you reminisce about how you just got by?

A tough question deserves a tough answer with much thought.

This is bigger than whether you put a cover sheet on your term paper or got a good grade point average.

It's about you.

How you treat your friends, your enemies, your work, your play, your body, your mind.

When you write the pages of your life, will it just be words put there to fill space, or will the words jump off the page in a way that you hope the book never ends?

Phrases such as "seize the day" or "just do it" sound nice, but they don't mean anything unless actually applied to real life.

This is the problem. Everyone knows what to say to make a sentence sound good, but it is a much smaller group that puts it into practice.

Take a simple example. Imagine life as a spades game, and everything and every person you come in contact with is your partner for that moment in time. For anyone who's played spades, you know the things your partner expects from you.

Not only are there certain rules to the game, but there are certain things that should be done in order for your team to have the best chance at success.

Success does not necessarily mean winning at all costs, but at least learning enough to have a better chance at winning the next time.

If one partner spends a lot of time talking about how good he is at the game but doesn't act on it, while the other simply puts into practice what she knows about winning the game without talking about it, it is clear who needs the most improvement.

It is also inevitable they stand a better chance of losing the game because only one partner is actually contributing to the effort.

The best spades partner I ever played with found herself in this situation.

Talk comes at little cost, and those who excel at it are likely to continue talking because they believe somehow enough talk is the same as actually the same as putting it into practice.

Whoever said actions speak louder than words probably didn't win a Pulitzer Prize, but they were clearly on to something.

When you are filling out the pages of your life, keep this in mind, for in this book, there are no erasers and no white out.

Ironically, what you put in your book will often affect what others remember as they write theirs.

As this is my last regular column at K-State, I hope something has been gained by my taking up space on the opinion page.

God bless you, and have a great Christmas.

Jeremy Stephens is a senior in marketing. You can reach him by e-mail at (jeremys@ksu.edu).

Mother says Avila's prosecution won't bridge gender gap

GUEST

Darlene CALDWELL

My first arrival in Manhattan came at 12:30 p.m. Dec. 10. I bought a map at a book store and decided to sit in Espresso Royale Caffe to have lunch and locate an address.

Within five to 10 minutes, I started hearing a man say, "I can't believe they actually printed it," and "I can't believe the Collegian actually printed his picture."

This man then started telling the story to the woman he was with about details of the article, in the paper and many facts not in the paper.

Upon hearing these facts and story, I pondered remaining silent or getting up to ask him more details. I got up, went over to the man and said, "Excuse me, what is your name?" He said, "Mike Kearns." I then said, "The man you are talking about is my son, and I am his mother." He was very surprised and introduced me to Sandy, his wife.

Now, after 48 hours, I am still amazed the person I had a conversation with on arriving in Manhattan is the prosecuting attorney. What are the odds of this happening?

Since I believe in divine intervention, there must be a message here, a healing message somehow.

As a woman, mother and sister-in-life, I would to like to speak from my heart to the Collegian, Melissa Divine's column, Becky Baalmann, Kate McElroy, the prosecuting attorney and all of the letters — pro and con. The polarity of the issue has been intense and dramatic.

I did not know so many people love my son here. Thank you.

There is so much polarity in this issue due to the fact that our society only knows how to think in a good-and-bad, up-and-down, black-and-white mentality. For one person to be wrong, another has to be right.

I have learned to think of solutions to issues in all of the above answers and that it is OK to be both right and wrong at the same time.

Men and their dominating culture are just as much victims as women are. Walk into a store in your own Manhattan Town Center, and you will see greeting cards decorated with a penis and balls with a bonnet on it. Walk into a T-shirt shop a few shops farther, and you will see sexist shirts indicating our organs and what they are used for.

We live in a dominated society that literally worships money, war, sports, sex and power.

The Collegian has received so much response due to this very fact. When a person who truly serves others in our society has many life-oriented values and life-filled priorities, is a loving, kind person and who then is dealt a death blow, we all feel it.

There are so few of these qualities displayed in our culture that many people will speak out or protect those people in our culture who really give of themselves freely.

I am prejudiced concerning my son, but these above words describe him and the reason to the volume of response to the Collegian.

For healing between men and women to occur, true understanding must occur as to our own sexuality.

It starts with avoiding the she/he is wrong for she/he to be right. Men or women can learn nothing from fear. Men and women truly learn from love and caring for each other. Fear begets fear. Love begets love.

I must ask the prosecuting attorney's office, "What are you truly accomplishing?" "How are you helping to heal the polarity between women and men?" "How is understanding being promoted?" All men or women have most likely masturbated in their own home. Masturbation is a normal part of being human, just like eating and sleeping are part of being a human being.

There is not a man in your office who has not been sexist at times. This has happened in the locker room and on the Internet, just ask your wives, sisters, mothers, daughters and friends. Sexism has been the accepted norm for years.

You know yourself, how scared and terrified every man is presently due to accusations — true or not.

Fear dominates and is being continually whipped up because of society's denial to look at itself. The only way any man will ever learn about sexism is by setting boundaries of acceptable or unacceptable behavior; they will not learn by ruining other men's lives, my son being a classic example that fear only breeds more defensiveness, where every one involved logs onto the good-and-bad mode.

Thank God it is not me this time, right?

To the peeping Janes, writing "you suck" on a window and gathering six or seven friends to taunt last Saturday evening, that is harassment and aggravation done on purpose.

There is a chance for healing and understanding through all of this, but it cannot happen if we arm ourselves against our fathers and mothers, sons and daughters, sisters and brothers, girlfriends and boyfriends. When do we look honestly into the mirror and quit the damn blame mentality?

It is my personal belief that this issue should have been dismissed immediately.

The State of Kansas via the prosecutor's office should dismiss these charges, because they have been blown totally out-of-proportion.

I think what is desperately needed to help with the understanding of our sexuality is a coalition of many parties: men, women, survivors, prosecuting attorneys, honestly and humbly meeting to talk from their hearts about different solutions. We all need to look in the mirror.

If you give me the opportunity to have this printed, I deeply thank you.

Darlene Caldwell is Chris Avila's mother. She is from Westport, Wash.

READERS WRITE

• To submit a letter

❶ Visit the Collegian newsroom.
Submit letters to Sera Tank at Kedzie 116.

❷ Drop it in the mail.
Send letters to Letters to the Editor, c/o Sera Tank, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506.

❸ Send it by e-mail.
Our e-mail address is (collegn@spub.ksu.edu).

❹ Remember this.
Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo ID will be necessary for hand-delivered letters. Letters must be in prose form. No poetry will be accepted. Letters may be edited for length, clarity and grammar.

Neighbor backs Baalmann's story

Editor,

I do not know Chris Avila, but I think that he is probably not a bad guy. The last thing I want to see is him losing his job.

I am a neighbor of Becky Baalmann's, and I witnessed the same things she has. I back her decision in calling the police 100 percent.

Believe me, I am not a peeping Tom, nor do I find any pleasure in seeing him engage in his activities.

But it is difficult not to notice somebody standing in front of his window, with the lights on and the shades open at night, masturbating.

I thought it looked kind of funny, but if I were a woman in Baalmann's situation, I would have been terrified. I, for one, as a guy, think this is very abnormal behavior, and I will once again state that I back Baalmann's decision in calling the police 100 percent.

Jeff Waknitz
senior in accounting

Canty earns reader's respect by owning up to responsibility

Editor,

The only thing I could agree with in Robert Woods' letter to the editor was the title, which the Collegian presumably wrote.

I, for one, do not rate DUI in the same category as most other traffic violations, especially when the accused is younger than 21 years old.

Whether you like it or not, K-State athletes are public figures and role models, with their violations being more publicly exposed. And while on the subject, I would like to see harsher penalties for DUIs. Peoples (in many cases innocent) are at risk and lost through drunk driving.

That being said, let me now say Chris Canty has earned my respect.

He has apologized for what he has done, which in and of itself would be meaningless to me. However, he removed his name from three lists for defensive awards.

This shows great integrity, especially considering he had just received one award (granted, this was after the incident, but I assume he had been chosen prior to the DUI arrest).

I want to wish Canty good luck for the future, and I sincerely hope others (especially those in the position of being roles for others) will follow his lead and start taking some responsibility for their actions.

Wesley Twombly
graduate student in biological and agricultural engineering

Messengers should not be ones who are blamed for the crime

Editor,

After the last four days of uproar over the Dec. 6 article in the Collegian, I am hesitant to even mention the subject ,because I believe many people are simply tired of hearing about it.

While people might want to take sides, and place their own moral tones on this issue, I believe it is time to allow things to settle down and for everyone to get back to the real problems facing us, finals!

Before we do just that, I do have two other concerns related to the anger that has resulted from the printing of the article that has seemed to capture everyone's attention.

While some have said the subject of the article is the real victim, I would like to point out that there are now two other victims in this continuing story. Those victims are the young woman who filed the complaint and, uniquely enough, the reporter of the article.

It is always unique to me that a person can commit an act, another can report the act to the authorities because they find it offensive, and we always want to kill the messenger, when the messenger has nothing to do with the creating of the message.

During the last week, Nicole Kirby has had to endure both direct and veiled threats from student leaders and students alike.

I am sure many of us have taken some sort of stance regarding this article, but to those who have decided to resort to threats against the Collegian, the reporter and the young woman who filed the complaint with the police, your actions are the most shocking and unfortunate of this entire episode.

We should always strive to participate in the discussion of issues, especially when they evoke such emotion. But allowing ourselves to be ruled by our emotion and to throw all reason out the window is a very dangerous trend that has damaged many times in the past and appears to be a lesson that remains unlearned.

When members of the student newspaper can no longer perform their job, and many not even associated with this article have also had to endure various attacks of one sort or another, then the actions of a few smack of censorship and radical response.

Furthermore, it is my hope that it stops immediately, and we can all move on with the rest of the semester, for the sake of all three individuals involved with this issue.

Patrick Carney
chairman of the Board of Student Publications

READERS WRITE

Students use class project to examine teacher evaluations

Editor,

Our class had a group project in which we looked at K-State classes and the problems with the current evaluation policies and class selection. It is the end of the semester, and all of us are probably tired of seeing teacher evaluations.

Students in some colleges have noticed a change in their evaluation policies.

This semester marks the beginning of the current Kansas Board of Regents policy on teacher evaluations. As of this semester, all probationary faculty members has to have each of their courses evaluated once a year. Tenured faculty on the other hand only have to have one course per year evaluated.

This leaves some problems in our evaluation system. Our student body president, Chris Hansen, is trying to work with Faculty Senate to iron out some of these problems.

This is what we have come up with as a group. The first problem is the selection of classes here at K-State. Beyond word of mouth, selecting a class/instructor is a guessing game.

There are teachers who place class information on the World Wide Web to assist students. It would be easy for teachers to place a syllabus on a Web site by giving it to their department head and then placing it on the K-State Web site in-sync with the line schedule.

Plans are currently being made for the line schedule to work in combination with the undergraduate catalog. This would be taking that step to a higher level.

The second problem is our faculty-evaluation process. The current evaluations are biased and too broad, and therefore are not looked at by faculty with much validity. The same evaluations are used for all nine colleges, which could include as many as 100 departments.

The current form either needs to be added onto by the department or updated and changed to meet more of the demands of the faculty, students and department heads.

Evaluation of faculty are important and need to be given serious consideration.

Jeff Bathurst
Dana Flood
Steve Husband
Jethro Runco
Susie Viterise

Divine's guest column goes to extremes; loses credibility

Editor,

I was impressed with Melissa Divine's column in Thursday's paper. I agreed with most of it until I read the term misogyny.

This term implies a hatred of women in general. I don't see how it fits. I am also curious how she derives "exual-assault-related crime from a man charged with lewd and lascivious behavior.

I don't feel it was necessary to even publicly announce the person who reported it. By using extreme terminology, she dissolved her credibility and the credibility of 42 others who signed it.

Furthermore, whether Chris Avila can recover his reputation is immaterial. Only one in six of us votes when student elections take place. The Collegian quoted Senate chairwoman Aubrey Abbott as being apathetic to what senators do outside of Senate. Is it a surprise to anybody she and Jill Hayhurst were arrested for MIP shortly after they were elected to their first terms as senators? Their leadership skills were rewarded by election to higher seats the following year.

Cory Pfeifer
senior in chemistry

Help fight cyber-harrassment

Editor,

Even though not everyone is expected to know how e-mail works, and there are those who like to use their knowledge to harass via e-mail, there is still at least one method anyone can use against e-mail harassers who forge headers.

As stated in a recent letter, forgery is a simple concept that doesn't involve much brain power, only a little specific knowledge of computer-system commands. With a little practice, anyone can learn how this works and maybe learn how to read extended headers to verify suspicions about forgery. But as Stephan Bartels pointed out, even that won't always work.

Here's what I propose for anyone who has received harassing e-mail and suspects the sender forged the source. Take the mail and forward it to the address that was placed in the To: header, with a note at the top.

Explain you just received the message and would like to give the users a chance to explain their actions, if they are responsible for the mail.

If you get a message in reply affirming that they are the ones harassing you, congratulations, you have what you need to file complaint. If you get a reply stating the person you mailed is not responsible, you narrowed your list of enemies and have probably gained an ally.

E-mail harassment is serious, but you can't let it get to you. You might end up accusing the wrong person.

John Henderson
junior in print journalism

Ho, Ho, Ho!
Need Some Dough?

Christmas cash coming up short this season? New donors can receive $20 on their first visit , or they haven't returned within six months. For more information call the friendliest staff in town at 776-9177!

MANHATTAN BIOMEDICAL CENTER
1130 Gardenway
Mon.-Fri. 9-6:30 & Sat. 9-2
(We will be closed Christmas Day)

Reserve Your Place at Our Graduation Buffet

On December 14, the Holidome will feature their annual Graduation Buffet from 11:30 a.m.- 2:30p.m. & 5-9p.m.

Come & Enjoy
•Carved Prime Rib
•Create-your-own Pasta
•Peel and Eat Shrimp
•5 Entrees
•2 Vegetables
•Array of Delectable Deserts
Reservations are recommended
Adults $12.95 Children(6-12) $5.95
Sr. Citizens $10.95 Children 5-under free

Holiday Inn
530 Richards Dr. 539-5311

Extra Fun, Extra Photos
FREE
2nd Set of 3" and 4" Standard Prints Every Tuesday
Order a set of 3" or 4" Standard color prints at regular price and receive a 2nd set Free!

ALCO Advantage
Don't Forget Kodak Film!
C-41 process - offer available from 110, 126, disc and 35mm only. Not valid with KODAK Premium Processing, Advanced Photo System, Panoramic or 1/2 frame 135 film. Not available on Photo Galaxy. Cannot be combined with any other offer.
3007 Anderson and Seth Child
Open Daily 9-9 Sunday 11-6

GET YOUR COTTON BOWL TRIP TICKETS NOW!
Monday, Dec. 30 - Thursday, Jan. 2
4 days/3 nights
Price: $185
For tickets contact the UPC Office – 3rd Floor of the Student Union
For more information call: 532-6571
K-State Student Union UPC Travel Committee

HOT STUFF PIZZERIA
Large Pizza for the price of a medium!
587-8833
Dara's Fast Lane
Candlewood Shopping Center
(Expires:12/31/96)

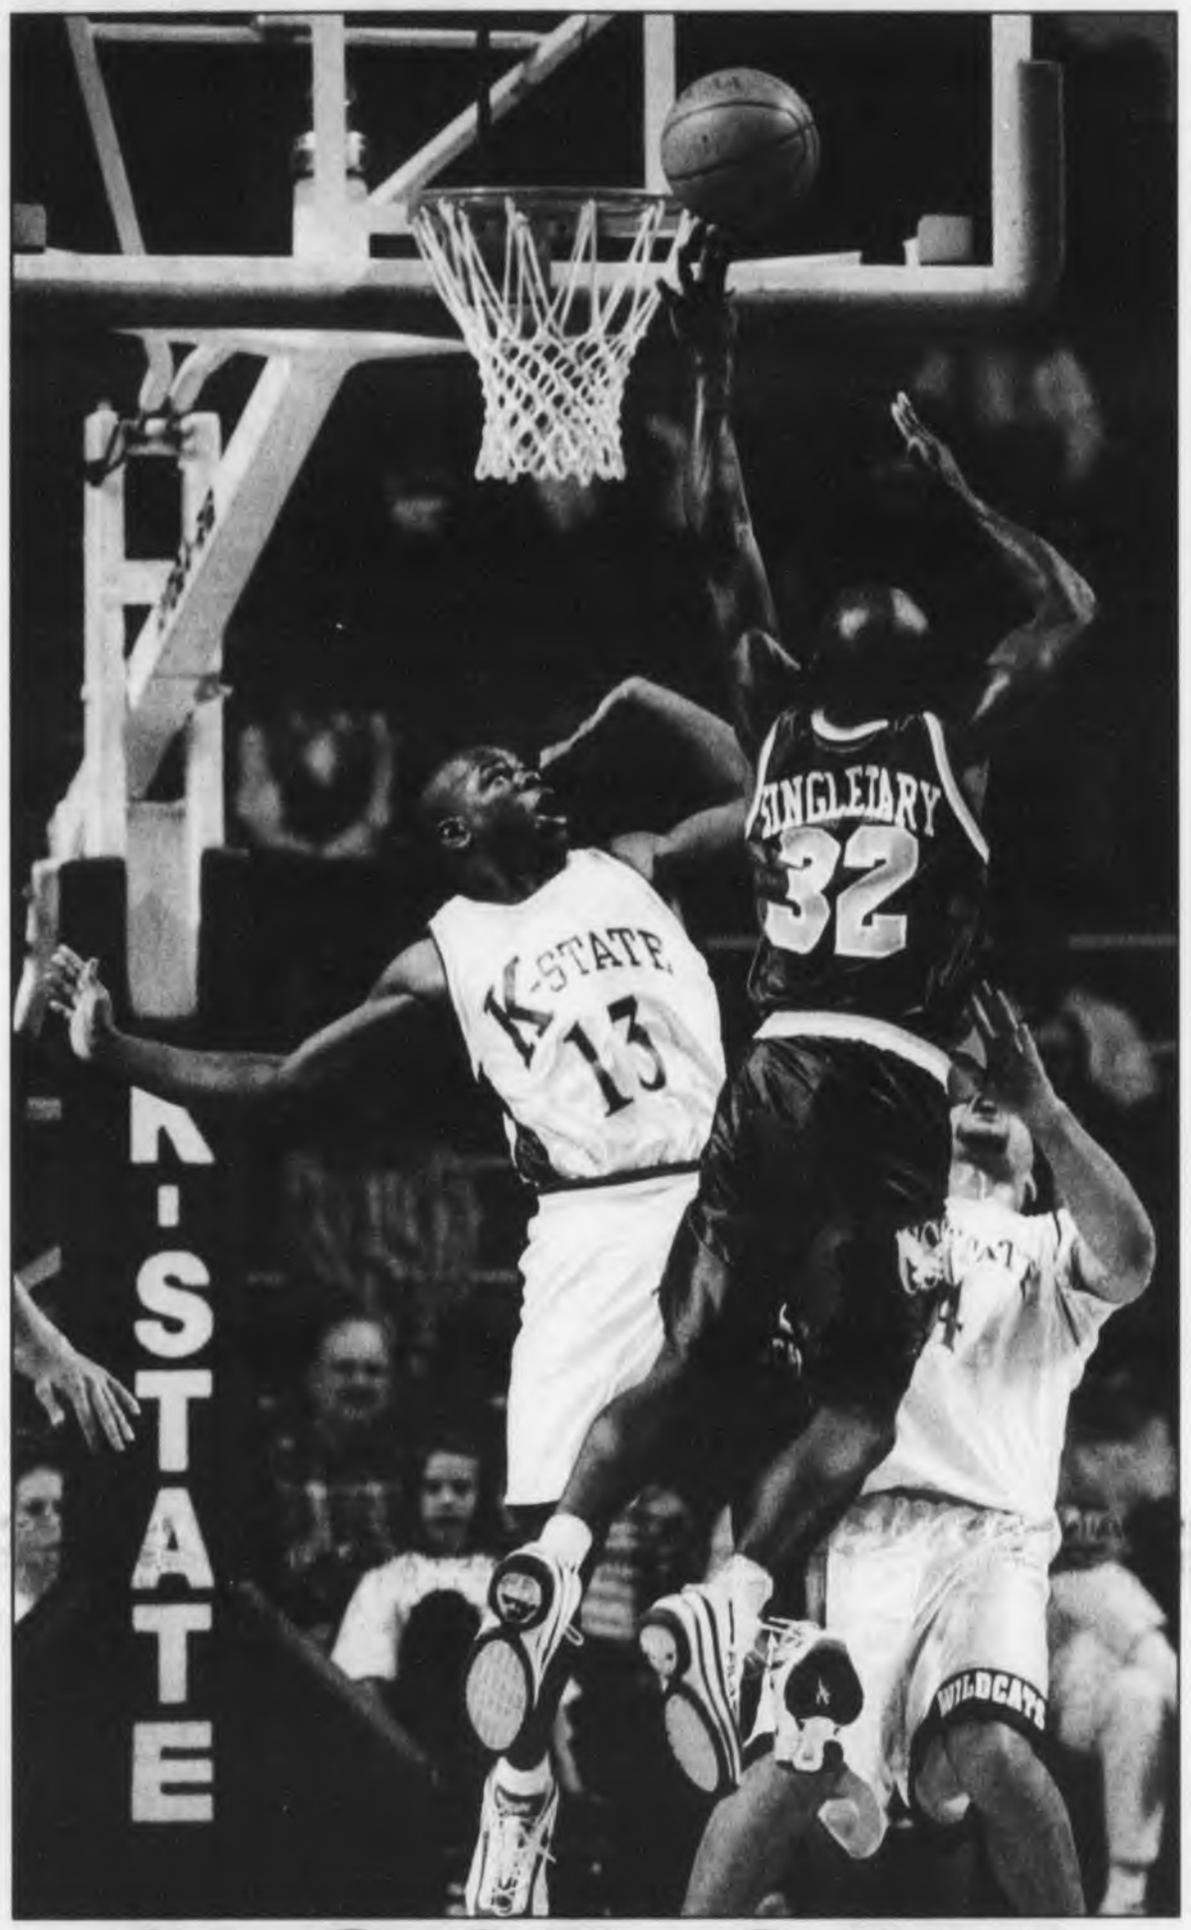
Cut it out!!!
Warning: This is a LARGE pizza we're talkin' about. Not some two fer thing that gets shuttled to you and tastes like hot cardboard... this is Real pizza. Hot and fresh and piled with your choice of toppings. So, take a study break. Put down the books and pick up the phone.
Ask us about delivery!!!

New Year's TEXAS STYLE!

Dallas Alley Welcomes Kansas State to the Cotton Bowl!

Come Celebrate With Us and Experience the Biggest and Best NEW YEAR'S EVE PARTY in Dallas

• $20 IN ADVANCE
• $25 AT THE DOOR



PARTY Favors, Complimentary Champagne at Midnight and Breakfast Included...

Dallas Alley
Located in Downtown Dallas' Historic West End District (Dallas' Answer to Bourbon Street)

Call (214) 720-0170

kansas state collegian
SPORTS

EDITOR: JEREMY KELLEY 532-0732 (WEASAL1@KSU.EDU) FRIDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1996 PAGE 6

COPPIN STATE'S Danny Singletary drives over K-State's Chris Griffin, left, and Manny Dies, right, Thursday night. K-State's offense started hot, but it was threatened by the perimeter offense of Coppin State late in the game.

CLOSE CALL

Cats squeak out 84-80 win against Eagles in overtime

story by JEREMY KELLEY
photo by J. ELIZABETH JARSULIC

The K-State men's basketball team squeaked out an overtime victory Thursday night against the Coppin State Eagles at Bramlage Coliseum.

That overtime, a 10-6 run composed of five freethrows, proved to be the deciding factor in the Wildcats' 84-80 victory over the Eagles.

The Cats busted out to an early 10-3 lead in the first half and looked as if they would run away with the game at that point, but the Eagles came flying back.

K-State went scoreless in the next 4:25, and Coppin State went on an 8-0 run to take the lead, 11-10.

But it was K-State's turn to run again. Behind K-State's transition game, the Cats took control of the game and led, 25-15, with 7:03 left in the first.

The Cats took advantage of Coppin State's complacency and took control of the game.

"Our defense was really lethargic at that point," Coppin State coach Ron "Fang" Mitchell said. "Our concentration wasn't there, and we were very complacent in the first."

Forward Mark Young got the crowd hyped and put K-State in the lead with a dunk off a fast break. Young ended the first half with eight points, but it was the play of point guard Aaron Swartzendruber that put the Cats over the top. Swartzendruber ended the first half with 10 points and two three-pointers and gave the Cats a 41-29 halftime lead.

"Shots just kept coming to me," Swartzendruber said. "We knew they'd play pressure defense and make us run picks on offense. That's what we concentrated on, and I played very well at the end of the first half."

Swartzendruber ended the first half with 18 points from 75-percent shooting from the field, but in the second half the Eagles found a way to cool off Swartzendruber.

"It was a tremendous first half by 21. We had to do something about that," Mitchell said.

Coppin State opened the second half with an 18-9 run and was losing to the Cats by one with 11:52 remaining. The Eagles used their big man, forward Terquin Mott, to establish their inside game.

"He's a load. We knew we had to focus on him," K-State coach Tom Asbury said.

K-State's main focusing tool was forward Manny Dies, who received the assignment to guard the 6'8", 220-pound senior.

• See GAME Page 12

K-State 84, Coppin State 80 OT

K-STATE (5-1)

Dies, 2-10, 1-2, 5; Reid, 1-1, 0-0, 3; Eaker, 0-0, 0-0, 0; May, 6-13, 1-2, 14; Swartzendruber, 7-15, 8-11, 24; Young, 7-12, 8-8, 23; Griffin, 0-2, 4-5, 4; Rhodes, 3-9, 4-5, 11; Jones, 0-0, 0-0,0. Totals: 26-62, 26-33, 84.

Coppin State (3-2)

Mott, 7-24, 4-6, 18; Brockington, 9-20, 1-1, 23; Reavis, 0-0, 0-0, 0; K. Lewis, 3-6, 5-9, 13; Singletary, 3-10, 4-5, 10; T. Lewis, 1-2, 0-0, 2; Seamon, 2-4, 0-0, 5; King, 2-7, 0-0, 6; Watkins, 1-1, 1-3, 3. Totals: 28-74, 15-24, 80.

Halftime – K-State 41, Coppin State 29. 3-pointers – K-State 6-13 (Reid 1-1, May 1-1, Swartzendruber 2-6, Young 1-2, Rhodes 1-2, Griffin, 0-1), Coppin State 9-22 (Terquin 0-1, Seamon, 1-3, K. Lewis, 2-3, Brockington, 4-11, Singletary, 0-2, King, 2-2). Fouled Out–Coppin State (Seamon). K-State (Eaker). Rebounds–K-State 49 (Dies, 13), Coppin State 38 (Mott, 16). Assists–K-State 18 (Young, 6), Coppin State 16 (Mott, 4). Total fouls–K-State 21, Coppin State 38. A–6,328.

Swartzendruber, Young combine to shoot down Eagles

JON BALMER
sports writer

On a night when the big men for K-State got into foul trouble early, point guard Aaron Swartzendruber and small forward Mark Young stepped it up offensively to lead the Cats to an 84-80 overtime victory over Coppin State.

Young had a career-high 23 points in the win, and Swartzendruber matched his own best with 24 points.

In the first half against the Eagles, Swartzendruber took control after center Gerald Eaker picked up his third foul. In the final two minutes of the half, Swartzendruber hit back-to-back three-pointers and a layup, creating an 8-0 run for the Cats. Swartzendruber finished the first with 18 points.

"He had a tremendous first half against us," Coppin State coach Ron "Fang" Mitchell said. "We knew we had to do something about that."

Swartzendruber was six of eight from field goal range, while hitting four of five free-throws.

When Swartzendruber cooled off offensively in the second half, Young picked up the reigns.

With the Cats leading 41-31 early in the period, Young struck quickly with a three-pointer, his first of the evening. He continued to slice up the Eagles with short jumpers and lay ups, notching 11 second half points, many coming at the free-throw line.

Young was a perfect eight of eight overall from the charity stripe.

"With the exception of a couple of things, Mark's doing more of what he can do," Coach Tom Asbury said. "His shot selection has gotten a lot better."

When asked about the second half offensive explosion, Young said he was unaware of his point total.

"I just knew I was gonna have to play hard," Young said. "I was only concerned with getting the win."

Within the overtime period, both players scored crucial baskets that helped the Cats pull away. After sinking two free throws early in the extra session, Young pulled up and nailed a jumper that gave the Cats an 80-78 lead with 2:50 remaining in the contest.

After forward Manny Dies hit one of two free throws, Swartzendruber recovered a missed Coppin State shot and was fouled with 13 seconds left and a chance to ice the contest. He connected on both of the opportunities, and hit one more free throw on the night, giving K-State the four-point victory.

After missing a late second-half free throw that could have sealed the victory, Swartzendruber said he was happy to have gotten a chance at redeeming himself.

"That free throw at the end (of the second half) I just didn't hit," Swartzendruber said. "With the last opportunities, I wanted to knock down all of them."

All Shane wants for Christmas

I was having a difficult time deciding what to write my last column of the semester about. But then the phone rang. It was none other than Old Saint Nick on the phone.

I was stunned to hear his voice. I asked him what he could possibly want with me. He said, "Son, I have been reading your columns, and Mrs. Claus and I kind of like them. I just wanted to call and talk sports with you."

MY VIEW

Shane McCORMICK

I was pretty excited — this was a great opportunity to get the perspective of one of the most underestimated sport gurus of our time.

With the holidays approaching, I had to ask him who had been naughty and nice this year.

Here was his list of naughty people:

The Heisman Trophy Selection Committee — Santa hinted to me that come Saturday, there is a good possibility Iowa State running back Troy Davis could become the least-respected player to ever play the game. He said that the only explanation for somebody else winning the award over Davis would be a huge payoff.

Dennis Rodman — Well once again, Rodman's potty mouth has gotten him in trouble. The profanity he used in last Sunday's game in Toronto cost him a two-game suspension. Santa said that Rodman wouldn't receive a lump of coal, rather a bar of Ivory soap for the holidays.

His nice list included the following:

The Kansas City Royals Management — The Royals have terrible attendance and a last-place finish in 1996. Yet, management extends the contract of manager Bob Boone for two more years.

The New York Jets — Santa said the Jets really know what the meaning of Christmas is, it is better to give than receive. And boy have the Jets given this year, giving 13 wins to opponents so far this season. Santa said the Jets are looking to change their name to "Bye."

Chris Canty — Santa said he was very pleased to see an athlete in today's world take responsibility for his actions. He said many pro athletes could learn from Canty.

Santa then told me he had to go — this was a busy time for him. I understood, but I had to ask for one last request. I asked him if it was all right to send him my Christmas wish list. He laughed and said, "Of course, son."

Shane's Christmas list:

10. For Mike Tyson to actually remember one second of his fight against Evander Holyfield in their second showdown.

9. The firing of Dick Vital, baby!

8. A clean slate or clean noses for certain Dallas Cowboy players.

7. New uniforms for the Detroit Pistons.

6. Arizona State win over Ohio State and a Florida State win over Florida. Sports writers across America need something to argue about after the season is over.

5. A 20-win season and NCAA berth for the K-State men's basketball team.

4. More publicity and TV coverage of the Heritage Bowl, featuring Southern vs. Howard.

3. A Dallas Cowboys-Green Bay Packers NFC Championship game in Green Bay. I am sick of hearing all the cheese heads whining about having to play in Dallas every year.

2. Another NBA Championship for the Chicago Bulls, just to see the ageless-wonder Robert Parrish get the ring.

1. A Dallas Cowboys-Kansas City Chiefs Super Bowl showdown. Although it would be another blowout by a NFC team, it would be nice to see the Chiefs actually do something in the playoffs before the decade is over.

P.S. You might have noticed that I didn't mention anything about the Cotton Bowl. Well, even Saint Nick knows that K-State doesn't need any help against a Western Athletic Conference team!

K-State 34
BYU 27

Shane McCormick is a senior in radio/television and can be reached through e-mail at (shanem@ksu.edu).

Pentathalon competition to kick-off Cats' track season

JEREMY KELLEY
sports editor

The K-State track team begins its season with the KSU Winter Pentathalon at 2 p.m. today in Ahearn Field House.

The competition is composed of three schools: Nebraska, the University of Missouri-Kansas City and K-State. Also slated to appear are a number of unattached, post-collegiate athletes.

Coach Cliff Rovelto said this meet was very early in the season and he thought it was a time to become familiar with the competition.

"This meet is not something you really prepare for. Basically this is very, very early in the season. The indoor championships aren't until march. The U.S. Championships aren't until June," Rovelto said. "To be competing in December is really early."

The competition is an open event, with none of the competition being scored.

The pentathalon boasts five events: the 60-meter hurdles, long jump, high jump, shot put and the 800 meters. Both men and women will compete in the meet, but in different categories.

Rovelto said the early competition should give him and the other athletes a chance to spot national caliber competitors.

"The bottom line is if you see people who give some indication they are real good, you'll know that there are some competitors that nobody can come close to," Rovelto said.

Rovelto said there are about 60 athletes who can actually compete for K-State at this level. He said K-State can enter 28 athletes in an indoor meet and 32 in an outdoor meet.

"It is unlikely that we will enter that many because a lot of people can't compete at that high level," he said.

Rovelto said this year there weresevera l excellent competitors on his team.

"We have a number of all-Americans. We have a World Junior Champion in Atila," he said. "I wouldn't be surprised to see national caliber marks in some of the kids."

On Saturday, K-State plays host to the KSU All Comers outdoor track meet.

Rovelto said he would have a lot of his squad competing in the event because it will give some of the younger members on the team a feel for what is to be expected in the season.

"For some kids, this is their first collegiate competition. This meet gives the younger kids a chance to get a taste of what is going on in track world," Rovelto said.

Rovelto said this meet was nothing that he has prepared his squad for.

"This meet is prior to the conference schedule, and it is way below the level of competition that we will see," Rovelto said. "This meet is probably four or five notches below what Big 12 competition will be."

Budget might limit Union renovations

R.J. Diepenbrock
staff reporter

Due to unforeseen budget restrictions, the Union Enhancement Project is facing possible limitations in what will be renovated, Ken Ebert, architect, said in a meeting with students and employees Thursday in the Union Big 12 Room.

Bernard Pitts, director of the K-State Student Union, said there is only a certain amount of money to be spent and the University is not authorized to exceed that amount.

"The students passed the $9.2-million bond," Pitts said, "and we have collected some other funds that have been approved by the regents, but that is all we have.

"We have enough funds to cover three of the four priorities we addressed," Pitts said.

Those three priorities are infrastructure, food services and the bookstore.

The fourth priority not being addressed is the Student Activities Center.

"Infrastructure is about 54 percent of our budget," Pitts said.

Infrastructure includes the unseen workings of the Union. Pipes, wiring and other such materials are vital to Union operation.

Because of the increased cost of updating the infrastructure, some of the renovations to the Union have been cut or limited, though nothing is set in stone.

"We wanted to show everyone where we are," Ebert said. "Show you some of the things we have to deal with."

Space is one of the larger issues that have to be met.

With the budget restrictions, there is not going to be the resources to expand the Union as much as is possible.

Much of the work to be done will be done with the current space provided, Ebert said.

"This is a very complex building," Ebert said.

Another issue, was the location of the art gallery, which in previous plans had been moved to the south end of the Union.

In the new plan shown Thursday, the art gallery was back in its current location.

"It is highly unlikely it will change," Mike Mayo, architect, said.

Still expected is the food court, the remodeling of the Union bookstore and the addition of a bank, and retail and convenience stores.

Other meetings have been tentatively scheduled for Jan. 15-17 to further discuss the project.

The expected start of construction is slated for fall 1997.

Aggieville businesses work to make holidays special for children, contribute to charities

Charle Sioux Charleton
staff writer

Christmas in Aggieville means lights, music and movies — free movies for children, thanks to the Aggieville Business Association and Campus Theatre.

"We've done this for our fifth or sixth year. We had a really good turnout for the first movie," Cheryl Sieben, director of the Aggieville Business Association, said. "This has grown from a lot more awareness."

Admission to the movies is one can of food to benefit the Mayor's Holiday Tree. Sieben said kids, parents, grandparents and even college kids participate.

"The merchants pay for the movies to enable everyone to go," she said. "They are giving, and the people are giving back by donating food."

People from the Boys & Girls Club of Manhattan help chaperone, she said.

"We've been taking the food to Copy Co., and they are stacking it in the window in the shape of a Christmas tree, so you can really see how much is donated," Sieben said.

Shirley Bramhall, executive director of the Flint Hills Breadbasket, said the movies help out in many different ways.

One way is that parents can go shopping while kids go to the movies so everybody gets a break.

"It also makes kids aware of giving to hungry people, and it helps feed a lot of grateful families," Bramhall said. "The Aggieville Business Association does a bang-up job. Sometimes people can't afford to send their kids to the movies. It's a win-win situation."

The Aggieville Business Association collects thousands of pounds of food each year at this time and the Breadbasket really counts on it, she said.

The movies are shown at 10:30 a.m. on Saturdays during December. "Pinocchio" plays Dec. 14.

The first 250 children to the theater will get free goodie bags. After the movie, the Confetti pup will be available to meet everyone.

"Prancer" will be shown Dec. 21, and Santa Claus will be waiting to meet everyone after the movie.

At the last movie, two prizes will be given away. Ballard's Sporting Goods donated one pair of children's roller blades and Aggie Bike Station donated a skateboard. Kids can register to win at the theater.

Parents can also make a donation at the Campus Theatre and register to win a playhouse built and donated by Carl Denning Construction. The playhouse is on display at Triangle Park in Aggieville. Proceeds for the playhouse will benefit the Boys & Girls Club of Manhattan.

"This is the fourth year we've built the playhouse and the second we've donated it to Aggieville," Carl Denning, owner and president of the corporation, said.

Denning said he got involved with Aggieville because the merchants are good people to deal with.

"I've done a lot of work in Aggieville over the years, and I've got a lot of friends," Denning said. "It's nice to see people helping and to be helpful."

VIDEO EXPRESS
NEW RELEASES
Mon.-Thurs. $1.49 Fri.-Sun. $2.49
Choose from thousands of titles for only 49¢
Free Memberships
1310 Westloop Shopping Ctr. 537-2020

Due to graduation in McCain Auditorium today, the meters in front of Fairchild Hall will be reserved for disabled parking. Additional disabled parking stalls may also be reserved in other lots.

Ben Franklin Crafts
your creative outlet
GREAT GIFT IDEAS FOR THE FAMILY CRAFTS and framing supplies for Mom and Dad
and Posters
Posters
Posters
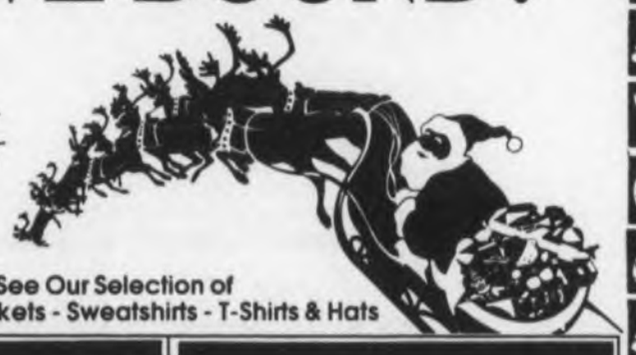
for Brothers & Sisters
Gift certificates available
Westloop Shopping Center
Mon-Fri 9 a.m.-9p.m. Sat 9 a.m.-7 p.m. Sun 1-6 p.m.



December.
Champagnes.
Cooks Brut — Reg. $6.99 $4.48
Fresh and crisp with light flavors and enticing effervescence...
Chandon Blanc De Noirs — Reg. $16.99 $13.47
Soft salmon color, lots of bright fruit and a crisp finish...
Cooks Extra Dry — Reg. $6.99 $4.48
Not as dry as the Brut, this sparkler has more fruit flavors...
Chandon Brut Cuvée — Reg. $16.99 $13.47
Dry, crisp and clean with a refreshing character...
Cooks Spumante — Reg. $6.99 $4.48
Sweet and bubbly with loads of ripe flavors...
Mirabelle Brut — Reg. $12.99 $8.96
Soft aromas and flavors of pears. Delicious...
Mirabelle Brut Rosé — Reg. $12.99 $8.96
Off-sweet with tons of bright strawberry flavors...
All Champagnes and Sparkling Wines in December 10% Off
All prices refer to 750ml bottles. Prices are not good with any other discount.
DEAN LIQUOR
539-5269
12th & Laramie • Aggieville

Congratulations to
The Kansas State University Wildcats for an outstanding season!
Lawry's The Prime Rib
looks forward to hosting your team at the 13th Annual
BEEF BOWL

Lawry's The Prime Rib
3008 Maple Ave. • Dallas, TX 75201
(214)521-7777

COTTON-BOWL BOUND?
the 12 gifts of christmas from It's Greek to Me.
IT'S GREEK TO ME
Come See Our Selection of Polos - Pullover Jackets - Sweatshirts - T-Shirts & Hats

KANSAS STATE BRIGHAM YOUNG SOUTHWESTERN BELL COTTON BOWL
Bowl Design 01 - Full Front
Available in
T-SHIRTS - White & Ash
L-SLEEVE T-SHIRTS - White
SWEATSHIRTS - Ash
SOUTHWESTERN BELL COTTON BOWL CLASSIC
KANSAS STATE AN HONORED TRADITION 19 Genuine Cotton Bowl 97
KANSAS STATE • BRIGHAM YOUNG • DALLAS, TEXAS • U.S.A.
Bowl Design 02 - Full Front
Available in
T-SHIRTS - Ash
KANSAS STATE WILDCATS SOUTHWESTERN BELL COTTON BOWL
Bowl Design 03 - Full Front
Available in
T-SHIRTS - Purple
SWEATSHIRTS - Purple
YOUTH T-SHIRTS - Purple
$39.99 to $49.99
Jackets
• Stadium, Color Block and V-Neck
• Super Bowl Designs Available
Bowl Design 04 - Left Side Full Front
Available in
T-SHIRT - Purple
SWEATSHIRT - Purple
$11.99 and up
Youth Sports Attire
$5.99
SELECTED GROUP OF MISC. SWEATSHIRTS
SELECTED GROUP OF MISC. JACKETS
$9.99 Pullovers $14.99 Full Zip
$9.99 to $21.99
Infant Sports Wear
ASSORTED STOCKING STUFFERS
HATS
STOCKING STUFFERS
— YOUR K-STATE OUTLET —
IT'S GREEK TO ME INC.
"It's Greek To Me" Inc.
528 Pillsbury Dr.
Manhattan, Kansas 66502-7005
(913) 537-8822/1 (800) 336-4486
FAX (913) 537-8857
Hours M-F 8:30 a.m.-6:00 p.m.
Sat. 12 p.m.-6:00 p.m.
Sun. 12 p.m.-5:00 p.m.
BRING IN COUPON
20% off
KSU Gifts & Sportswear
Greek Gifts & Sportswear
(Reg. Priced merch. only)
528 Pillsbury Dr.
Man. KS. 66502
537-8822
HOURS
M-F 8:30 a.m.-6:00 p.m.
Sat. 9:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m.
Sun. 12:00 a.m.
Exp. 12-31-96

▶ STUDYING

Niches help students crack the books

> "I like those quiet little cubicles because it's nice and quiet there. I can be in a world all by myself."
>
> • DYLAN SPENCER
> SENIOR IN BIOLOGY

▪ Quiet atmospheres help most concentrate during the finals crunch.

MATT BASLER
staff reporter

Crunch time is here. There seem to be a million finals to study for and no place to study. What do you do?

Well, there are some great places to study around town.

"I like to study at Java," Katie Viterise, junior in family studies and human services, said.

Viterise said she liked studying there because it offered a safe atmosphere and a good source of caffeine.

For students who enjoy studying at the K-State Student Union, the hours have been extended from 7 a.m. to midnight during finals week. Union Station will be open 24 hours that week.

Dylan Spencer, senior in biology and secondary education, said he studies at Farrell Library.

"I like those little cubicles because it's nice and quiet there," Spencer said. "I can be in a world all by myself."

Pastor Pat Wierock of the Manhattan Nazarene Church said the church will be open for students wishing to find a quiet place.

The church will be open Sunday night from 8 to midnight and Monday-Thursday nights from 7 to midnight.

Wierock said cookies and coffee will also be offered to help students relax and study. If you are interested in studying at the Nazarene Church, it is located on 3031 Kimball Ave.

Also, St. Isidore's University Chapel on 711 Denison Ave. will be open 24 hours beginning Sunday and will remain open through finals week. Snacks and hot chocolate will be provided.

Many students find specific halls to be the best study environment.

"I like studying at Durland Hall," Luke Meier, senior in nuclear engineering, political science and pre-law, said. "A lot of times, there's not a whole lot of people there, so it makes it a great study place."

The main theme behind studying is finding a nice place where someone can concentrate on their studies. Whether this is a specific hall, Farrell or house, it all depends on the particular student.

Architects for International Center addition to be announced

ANDREA COREY
staff reporter

An architectural firm was chosen Thursday to design the addition of the International Student Center.

Gerald Carter, university architect, said he won't announce which firm was chosen yet.

"When the negotiations are completed, we will announce who we chose," he said.

Of the three firms asked to make presentations to the center expansion committee, two were from Kansas City, Mo., and one was from Lawrence.

Carter said all three firms were equal, and the choice was made based on which firm was more likely to work with and listen to the expansion committee while designing the project.

"You want somebody who deep in your gut you feel can develop a partnership with," he said.

One firm was be chosen for the project, and a second-choice candidate was designated. Carter said the second-choice candidate was chosen so that if negotiations fall through with the first choice, an architectural firm will still be available.

Lecture burn out?
Read the Collegian

GLASS IMPRESSIONS
K-STATE GIFTS
ETCHED GLASS FROM OUR STUDIO
Paperweights, Ornaments, Pen Sets
Oil Candles, Bookends, Pendants

Glass Impressions • 539-4610
329 Poyntz Ave. • Downtown
Public Hours Tu-Fr 12-6 Sat 10-4

Claflin Custom Résumés
When something off the rack just won't do.
Claflin Books and Copies

Three ways to beat the high cost of college.
1. The Montgomery GI Bill
2. Student loan repayment
3. Part-time income

The Army Reserve Alternate Training Program is a smart way to pay for college.
First, if you qualify, the Montgomery GI Bill can provide you with up to $7,124 for current college expenses or approved vo/tech training.
Second, if you have—or obtain—a qualified student loan not in default, you may get it paid off at the rate of 15% per year or $500, whichever is greater, up to a maximum of $10,000. Selected military skills can double that maximum.
Third, you can earn part-time money in college, and here's how it works: One summer you take Basic Training, and the next summer you receive skill training at an Army school. You'll earn over $1,500 for Basic and even more for skill training. Then you'll attend monthly meetings at an Army Reserve unit near your college, usually one weekend a month plus two weeks a year. You'll be paid over $107 a weekend to start. It's worth thinking about. Give us a call:
(913) 539-7243
BE ALL YOU CAN BE.
ARMY RESERVE

ΣΓΡ ΣΓΡ ΣΓΡ ΣΓΡ ΣΓΡ ΣΓΡ ΣΓΡ ΣΓΡ
Congratulations
Sigma Gamma Rho Graduates
Traya Davis
LaShawn Reynolds
ΣΓΡ
ΣΓΡ ΣΓΡ ΣΓΡ ΣΓΡ ΣΓΡ ΣΓΡ ΣΓΡ ΣΓΡ

THE Palace Cards & Gifts
DON'T MISS A DATE IN 1997

1997 CALENDARS
You'll find a 1997 Calendar to fit any style or taste. Choose from over 150 titles in wall desk pocket engagement and page a days.
704 N. Manhattan Ave. • In Aggieville • 539-7654
Mon.-Fri. 8:30-8:30 • Sat. 8:30-5:30 • Sun. 12:00-5:00

Nespor's Wine and Spirits
Manhattan's Holiday Headquarters since 1968!!
1338 Westloop Manhattan, Kansas 913-539-9441

Nespor's Holiday Special:
This Coupon Entitles you to One 750ml Crown Royal® for only $15.99!!
Regular Price $20.50.....Save $4.50!!!!!
(not valid on Holiday Gift Sets of with other discount offers)
Shop Nespor's Wine and Spirits for your Holiday Needs.

BEAVIS • BUTT-HEAD
Coming to a screen bigger than your TV.
BEAVIS AND BUTT-HEAD DO AMERICA
PARAMOUNT PICTURES PRESENTS IN ASSOCIATION WITH GEFFEN PICTURES AN MTV PRODUCTION
A MIKE JUDGE FILM "BEAVIS AND BUTT-HEAD DO AMERICA" MUSIC SCORE BY JOHN FRIZZELL LINE PRODUCER WINNIE CHAFFEE
CO PRODUCER JOHN ANDREWS ANIMATION SUPERVISOR YVETTE KAPLAN EXECUTIVE PRODUCERS DAVID GALE AND VAN TOFFLER PRODUCED BY ABBY TERKUHLE
BASED ON MTV'S BEAVIS AND BUTT-HEAD CREATED BY MIKE JUDGE WRITTEN BY MIKE JUDGE AND JOE STILLMAN DIRECTED BY MIKE JUDGE
SOUNDTRACK AVAILABLE ON GEFFEN RECORDS
DECEMBER 20

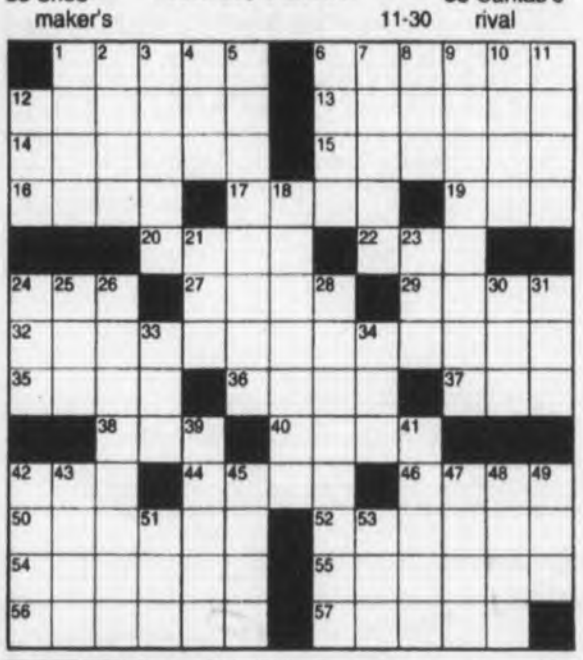
kansas state collegian

DIVERSIONS

EDITOR: PORTIA SISCO 532-6556 (ANDRA@KSU.EDU) | FRIDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1996 | PAGE 9

DAILY

ACROSS
1 Steinbeck title end
6 Esthetic taste
12 Jinx
13 Got away from
14 Cuff-to-crotch measure
15 Tom's wife
16 Dance lesson
17 A lo-o-o-o-o-ong time
19 Ske-daddled
20 Fonteyn's frill
22 Prepare leather
24 Purpose
27 Casino transactions
29 — Marie Presley
32 "Ms." founder
35 Shoppe description
36 Oscar winner Sorvino
37 Festive
38 Shoemaker's aide
40 — ex machina
42 Discordance
44 Notion
46 OPEC member
50 Rhododendron's cousin
52 Belize neighbor
54 Bligh's problem
55 Puts into office
56 Extorts
57 Puts on the line



DOWN
1 Refuses to
2 Midler movie, with "The"
3 Skilled
4 One — customer
5 Mets at Shea, e.g.
6 Keystone State founder
7 Preferred selections
8 Hockey's Robitaille
9 Decorating
10 Brain membrane
11 Perfect spot
12 Towel word
18 Beyond the walls
21 Caesar's "where"
23 Actress MacGraw
24 In olden days
25 "— say!"
26 Preside
28 Pennant
30 Neptune's domain
31 A March sister
33 Prot. or Cath.
34 Seine stuff
39 Demon
41 "Boxcars"
42 Door-frame part
43 Blue, in Barcelona
45 They last for hours
47 Cafe Americaine owner
48 Follow-up to the Gospels
49 Ph. bk. data
51 First UN Secretary General
53 Cantab's rival

Solution time: 24 mins.

B	A	R		M	E	N	U		S	L	O	T
A	G	O		E	V	A	N		W	I	N	E
B	O	B	O	L	I	N	K		I	B	E	X
A	G	E	N	D	A		E	R	N
			S	E	N		M	A	G	P	I	E
W	A	V	E	D		S	P	Y		O	D	E
I	G	E	T		S	E	T		B	O	L	L
S	I	T		I	K	E		M	U	L	E	S
H	O	O	P	O	E		W	A	R
			S	U	P		A	I	R	M	A	N
J	A	V	A		T	I	T	M	O	U	S	E
A	X	I	L		I	S	E	E		T	I	E
B	E	A	M		C	A	R	D		T	A	D

Yesterday's answer

11-30

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

11-30 CRYPTOQUIP

L O D T N U V G F N U W O X N F V Y V R C W M B W Z R M W W F L N R W C T D Z V G G O R N B T M Y V B T O D F M X N .

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THIS FELLOW'S SO STINGY HE WON'T EVEN GIVE YOU THE SLEEVE OUT OF HIS VEST.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: T equals M

JUSTIN STAHLMAN'S

MARK ILICH'S

MATT HAWKINS'

▶ REVIEW

Ensemble crosses cultures in McCain performance

DANA LEHNER
staff reporter

Crossing cultures, traditions and instruments was part of the performance by the K-State Percussion Ensemble in McCain Auditorium Wednesday night.

Anthony Di Sanza, director of percussion studies, distributed his students well as the ensemble had performances by trios, quartets and groups of as many as 10 students.

The ensemble had songs from all over the world including Amadeo Roldan's "Ritmica No. 5." The piece is from Brazil and is one of eight different pieces Ritmicas Roldan composed.

"It is one of the first pieces that has cross culturization," Di Sanza said. "It has been evident all along and is evident more and more that percussion is all over the world."

The group also played a traditional Guatemalan piece called "Un Misterio." The piece was performed on marimbas, the national instrument of Guatemala. The marimbas produced a rich, deep tone.

The ensemble also performed a piece from Mexico, and wrapped up the concert with a song that had Japanese and Western European influence.

The percussion instruments seemed to have a soothing effect on the audience and the members of the ensemble displayed their skills on a variety of instruments. The ensemble was opened with a simplistic piece called "Intentions" by Eugene Novotney. It was performed by a trio, who all played triangles.

The "Pizzicato Polka" and "Pichucalco" featured the ensemble's mallet quartet while "Three Play" showed off a trio of freshmen beginning to shine in the percussion program.

The highlight of the program was the ensemble's interpretation of "Gymel" composed by William Duckworth.

The piece required all 10 of the ensemble's members, but the impressive part was not the music itself. After the first performer began to play, he was followed out on stage by the others until everyone was in place playing the piece. Then, one at a time they left and followed each other off the stage.

According to program notes, since each performer may choose a different path for each performance, the work will never sound the same twice.

The program was light and relaxed with the pleasing sounds of the players and their instruments. It was also kept relaxed with comments between pieces from Di Sanza to cover for the changing of sets.

The night was capped with a choreographed piece done without instruments. Instead the players used their hands to clap out a beat.

▶ REVIEW

WinterDance highlights modern and classical dance

PORTIA SISCO
arts and entertainment editor

Broad, fluid movements were the trend in the KSU Theatre Repertory Dance Company performance of WinterDance '96 last weekend.

The first selection, "Chants," was a primitive piece. Dancers chanted and clapped in tandem.

The second selection was titled "Chance — An Improvisation." Dressed in street clothes, dancers stretched and posed.

The dance focused around three dancers. While two dancers performed a duet, the third dancer would dance alone.

The movements were slow and calculated, with an emphasis on the strength of holding each movement.

"'Deed I Do" was a ballet duet. Melanie Furjanic, freshman in theater, wore an electric-blue negligee, while her partner, Steve Hoekstra, graduate student in psychology, wore a bright Hawaiian-style red shirt. Although the music and costumes were upbeat and jazzy, the movements were classical.

> "The dancers maintained good form and technique. The duet consisted of many synchronized movements, with turns and lifts. In one lift, Hoekstra lifted Furjanic over his head and held her behind his head in a show of strength."

The dancers maintained good form and technique. The duet consisted of many synchronized movements, with turns and lifts. In one lift, Hoekstra, lifted Furjanic over his head and held her behind his head in a show of strength.

Dancers loosened up in "Funky Ladies," which highlighted six female dancers, dressed in black.

They danced to the music of Patti LaBelle.

The selection, choreographed by Luke Kahlich, professor of dance, was reminiscent of a 1970's "Solid Gold" flashback.

This dance was faster than the previous selections, with impressive coordination and rhythm.

Nichols Theatre is unusual because it allows the dancers to get closer to the audience.

Although there is limited floor space, the dancers used the whole floor, including the multiple exits.

"(Another) A Musing Machine" used bold arm movements. The piece began with a single dancer.

With broad movements and full-leg extensions, the dancers took turns in the spotlight, using the whole floor.

It was choreographed by guest artist Seán Curran and the dancers.

The second act began with a three part solo by Curran, called "Five points of Articulation."

Dressed in black and white, Curran wore a white mask to cover his face. A film screen in the background displayed a large pelvis and other skeletal body parts.

Curran began at the back of the stage.

This was the longest selection, consisting of three parts.

With stiff, but fluid movements, he used all of his body. Each motion was exact and calculated, but with a certain grace that was breathtaking.

Curran's classical movements had a modern emphasis that was evident in his flat feet and stiff fingers.

In the second part of the selection, he removed his mask, and his face was revealed.

"Danza" was a lighter, ballet movement. The three female dancers wore red costumes.

Every movement was smooth and graceful. Set to the music of Beethoven, the selection, choreographed by Joyce Yagerline, assistant professor of dance, evoked images of springtime and youth.

WinterDance was an interesting combination of classical and modern dance.

"No Coupon" Specials (NO coupon needed, NONE accepted)
Everyday Two-fers
2 - PIZZAS with 2 - TOPPINGS each 2 - COKES with ice
$9.12
Everyday Three-fers
3 - PIZZAS with 1 - TOPPING each 3 - COKES with ice
$11.23
Prices do not include sales taxes.
Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

The Community Sanctuary
FREE
•Child care for kids up to age 12.
•A ride anywhere you need to go
•Tutoring
SATURDAYS 9 a.m. - 12 p.m.
First Congregational Church
700 Poyntz
Reservations and information
537-7000
Mon.-Fri. 8:00-3:30

Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road • Across from Goodnow Hall
HOURS
Mon-Thurs 7am-Midnight
Fri 7am-7pm
Sat 9am-5pm
Sun 10am-Midnight
CONGRATULATIONS...
(913) 776-3771
Fax: (913) 776-1009
E-mail: cbcbkcpy@tfsksu.net

RAOUL'S ESCONDIDO
MEXICAN RESTAURANT
MEXICAN LUNCH BUFFET
FINALS SPECIAL
ONLY $3.99 (reg. $4.95)
Wednesday, Dec. 18 thru Friday, Dec. 20
11 a.m. - 2 p.m.
LIGHT LUNCH
Includes taco or enchilada and rice, beans or French fries
ONLY 99¢
215 S. Seth Childs Rd. 539-3410

Patricia's UNDERCOVER Lingerie
Gifts Wrapped FREE!
Luxury Lingerie women want to wear
1224 Moro in Aggieville
Mon.-Thurs. 10-7
Fri. & Sat. 10-5

THE PURPLE PIG
Manhattan's Newest Beer Tavern
THE PURPLE PIG EST. 1996
Finals Week Specials
Monday - Friday
$2.50 BIG BEERS
32oz. of FUN
Is the Pig Crazy or What?
Open Mon.-Sat till midnight
539-7444 424 Houston St.- Downtown

CONGRATS GRADS!
best of luck

Purple Santa Hats Are Now In!
New: Christmas buddies with purple Santa hats make ideal holiday gifts.
Confetti's Party Shop
712 N. Manhattan Ave.
(Aggieville) 537-2002

HUNAM
RESTAURANT AND LOUNGE
Lunch Buffet $4.95
Lunch Combination $3.35 & up
Comes with Soup Appetizer & Fried Rice
Friday Seafood Buffet $7.95
crab legs, scallops, fish, shrimp, etc.
FREE DELIVERY
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

KSU STUDENTS ONLY!
$1 OFF COUPON
World's greatest Haircut
Reg. $7.95
BUT WITH COUPON
ONLY $6.95
HIS OR HERS - "MATINEE"
PERMS $23.95
Complete with cut!
(MON. THURS. Till 4 p.m.)
Long Hair-Extra
SNIP N' CLIP
FAMILY HAIRCUT SHOPS
OPEN NIGHTS AND SUNDAYS
JUST DROP IN!

*PLAZA WEST 539-4043 (Near ALCO)
*431 E. Poyntz 776-6410 (K-MART PLAZA)
Expires: 12-30-96

Our Commitment To You Goes Beyond Entertainment
Others: Expensive installation fees; Huge dishes; Extra equipment to buy; Channel bleeds or moves
Problems: Constant adjustments; High repair costs; Expensive fees
Heartland: Free installation; Not a satellite dish; No equipment to buy; Crystal clear reception
Benefits: Basic cable plus 2 premiums; Local sales & service; Local news & weather; Affordable family entertainment
Call Today! Basic Cable plus HBO & Cinemax just $29.95
HEARTLAND WIRELESS COMMUNICATIONS, INC.
1562 Hayes Drive Manhattan, KS 66502
1-913-776-3512 1-800-416-5640
...Heartland Wireless, There's Just No Comparison!
Some restrictions apply. Offer expires 12/31/96

Take Time Out To Relax And Clear Your Mind
Unwind with a
Mini-Spa treatment: Includes a 20 minute massage & Revitalizing facial $45.00
Purchase 3 Massage Treatment and receive 4th for free (1 hour, 45 min., or 3 min.)
Herbal Scalp Massage with mini-facial $35.00
Gift Certificates Available
essentials
Hair salon & Therapeutic Massage
108 S 4th
539-2622

Do you think he could remember all those addresses if he drank and drove?

Please don't drink and drive.
HAVE A SAFE HOLIDAY BREAK!
Funding in part provided by the City of Manhattan

UPC

THE ISLAND OF DR.MOREAU
Friday, Dec. 13
7:00 and 9:30 p.m.
Saturday, Dec. 14
7:00 p.m.
Sunday, Dec. 15
8:00 p.m.
K-State Student Union
UPC Feature Films Committee
http://union.ksun.ksu.edu/upc/ff/films.htm
Rhapsody in August
Thursday, Dec. 12
7:00 & 9:30 p.m.
Saturday, Dec. 14
9:30 p.m.
Forum Hall
K-State Student Union
UPC Kaleidoscope Films Committee
All movies $1.75. Special Sunday Showings only $1
Cheapest concessions in town!!!
For more information call the UPC Office at 532-6571

CLASSIFIEDS

1 DAY 20 words or less — $7 each word over 20 — $.20 per word
2 DAYS 20 words or less — $8.25 each word over 20 — $.25 per word
3 DAYS 20 words or less — $9.25 each word over 20 — $.30 per word
4 DAYS 20 words or less — $10 each word over 20 — $.35 per word
5 DAYS 20 words or less — $10.50 each word over 20 — $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

•FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

•HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an established account with Student Publications Inc.
Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks.
We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

•DEADLINES
Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.

•CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.
You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.

•HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

•CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

GET THE WORD OUT

103 Kedzie Hall
OFFICE HOURS
Mon.-Fri. 8-5 p.m.
(Except holidays)
• Phone 532-6555
• Fax 532-6236
• Or write
COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS
Kansas State Collegian
103 Kedzie
Manhattan, Kan. 66506

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010 Announcements

ATTENTION ALL students!!! Grants and scholarships available from sponsors!!! No repayments, ever!!! $$$ Cash for college $$$ for information: (800)243-2435.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 539-3733.

THOUSANDS...IN scholarship funds will be awarded to students starting classes January 1997 in hair design, ethnic hair design, nail technology, skincare and make-up artistry. Call Crum's Beauty College admissions office, 776-4794. VA approved, financial aid available.

020 Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

FOUND: KEY between library and Lafene. Identify in Holtz Hall, 532-1685, Rosie.

PICTURES FOUND in parking lot A-3. Color prints of trip to Scotland. Call to claim, 532-6226.

030 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

SHELDON-
CONGRATULATIONS on your degree and new job at ASE. I'm very happy for you and love you lots. Kathy

SOHAIL, GOOD luck and congrats on your defense, Shazia

050 Parties-n-More

ADD A extra touch of class to your next party. Call Wayne's Water Party to rent a portable hot tub. 537-7587 or 539-7561.

ENHANCE ANY PARTY with cigars. Dinners receptions, Greek functions, or formals. Enjoy the fun and class of an old fashioned cigarette girl 537-7444.

PARTY TIME? Go with a Manhattan tradition since1985! Rent a hot tub for your next party. Call Wet-N-Wild Mobile Hot Tub Rentals. 537-1825.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105 For Rent- Apts. Furnished

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartments. Close to campus, first month rent free. 537-1666 or 537-1015.

BEST DEAL in town. Three-bedroom apartment. $300. Close to campus.539-9101 or (913)273-2628.

CONVENIENT, SUNNY, one-bedroom apartment, near Aggieville. Call 537-1780.

FULLY FURNISHED: Kitchen table with chairs one-bedroom, one bath couch, chair, love seat, very nice. $585/ month, ask for Brent.

ONE-BEDROOM EFFICIENCY apartment, one block east of campus. Furnished or unfurnished. Quiet conditions, ample parking, non-smoker. $250. 776-3624.

ROOMMATE WANTED for very nice two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. Call Brian at 539-4420 or Tracinda at 539-2649.

SEMESTER LEASE; four-room basement apartment, close to campus, private entrance, all utilities paid, deposit required. $300 month. 539-8493.

THE MCCORMICK apartments. One and two-bedrooms available Jan 1, 1997. One block from campus. Furnished and unfurnished. Call 539-5759.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT one block from campus. New furniture in all rooms. Available 1/1/97. Call 587-9617.

TWO-BEDROOM, SPACIOUS, furnished or unfurnished, near campus, quiet conditions, ample parking. Five month lease available. 776-3624.

TWO-BEDROOM, THREE blocks east of campus, ample parking, quiet conditions, reasonable rent. Available Dec. 1 or Jan. 1. 776-3624.

110 For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

10K APARTMENTS. Spacious two-bedroom apartment in modern complex. Two blocks east of campus. Quality student living. Large L-shaped kitchen, dishwasher, air-conditioned, sound proofed, well insulated, low utilities, laundry room, quiet street. Lease January- May, can be extended. 539-2536.

617 KEARNEY. No pets. Two-bedroom, main floor. New carpet/ paint/ blinds. Off-street parking, laundry hook-ups, ceiling fans. $460. 776-8548.

AFFORDABLE, SPACIOUS, one-bedroom apartment for spring semester. Park Place Apartments location. One small pet allowed. Deposit paid. Call 776-8434.

AVAILABLE DEC. 21: Large two-bedroom apartment. New carpet, dishwasher, laundry facilities, two pools. Water/ trash paid. Utilities averaging $30/ month. Westchester Apartments. $439/ month. 776-3527.

AVAILABLE DEC: Clean, spacious two-bedroom, big bath, apartment for rent in quiet apartment complex. 2125 Buckingham Apt. 5. $499 . Dishwasher, laundry facilities, two pools, water/ trash paid. Call 537-6046.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY- Large one-bedroom apartment, one-half block from Aggieville, two blocks from campus. Leave message 537-8290.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Very nice one, two, three and four-bedroom apartments. Close to campus, first month rent free. 537-1666 or 537-1015.

AVAILABLE JAN 1, two-bedroom, $350/ month, three blocks to campus, laundry. 776-9140

AVAILABLE JANUARY, One-bedroom, second floor, 814 Leavenworth, $295, KPL, deposit, 539-3672.

AVAILABLE NOW or January Short-term leases. Large one or two-bedroom. Clean, quiet, most utilities paid. No pets. 537-8389.

AVAILABLE NOW. 915 Claflin, three-bedroom apartment heat, water, trash paid. Newly redecorated. No pets. $525. Call 539-3085.

CLEAN, COZY, economical one-bedroom apartment in Ogden, appliances included, window air-conditioning, $150 a month, call 565-0194 for more information.

CRESTWOOD APARTMENTS. Two-bedroom, one and one-half bath, washer/ dryer, flexible lease. $425- 480, 776-3345, M- F, 9- 5.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM apartment. Across the street from campus in Wildcat Inn, 1807 College Heights. Available Jan. 1. Rent $410, call 776-9611.

LEE CREST Apartments. One-bedroom, $365, furnished. One block from campus. Washer/ dryer on each floor. 539-7961.

MOORE MANAGEMENT. TWO-BEDROOM. $400, one-half block from campus. Central air/ heat, water/ trash paid, very nice. 537-7542.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom. Close to campus and City Park. $475/ month. Available immediately. 776-1771, Elaine.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment in four-plex, washer/ dryer, hook-ups, available Dec. 31. No pets, $410 per month. 539-2357.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT available immediately, large with balcony and fireplace. Westchester Park Apartments, call 565-9193 or (913)272-3812.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT. Full size living room, kitchen and bedroom. Quiet neighborhood. $390/ month. Water/ trash paid. Kevin 537-9493. Available 1/97.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT for rent. Large bedroom and living room. Brand-new carpet. Washer/ dryer. Water/ trash paid. One-half block from campus, one block from Aggieville. Call 537-7931.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT two-bedroom basement by campus. 537-1550. Lease until July 97 on.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE in Jan., 1222 Laramie, $310 all bills paid. In the heart of Aggieville. Pets accepted. Call 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January 1. 1122 Gardenway, $360, water and trash paid, on-site laundry, pool, across from Westloop, 537-1307.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE in Dec., 1222 Laramie, $375 all bills paid. In the heart of Aggieville. Pets accepted. Call 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. Just remodeled. Across from Ford Hall. All utilities paid except phone and cable. Washer and dryer. Cats allowed. $325/ month. 537-3744, leave message.

ONE-BEDROOM NEAR Aggieville available now. 1124 Fremont. $325. Water, trash paid. Call 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM, CLOSE to campus. Available mid-December. Five month lease. Call 565-9003.

ONE-BEDROOM, WATER/ trash paid, central air, westside location, no pets. $325/ month. June lease. Call 587-4111 or after 6p.m. 776-0221.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS leasing one, two and three-bedroom apartments. Two pools, hot tub, horseshoes, volleyball. 539-2951.

QUIET, AIRY, two-bedroom basement apartment, 1619 Pierre. Air, washer/ dryer. No smoking, no pets. $380/ month, about $50 utilities. 776-2480.

REDUCED PRICE. Two-bedroom apartment. Two blocks from Weber Hall. Water/ trash paid. Call now 776-5481.

SECOND SEMESTER special. Two-bedroom apartment close to campus and Aggieville, Washer/ Dryer. Lease from January to end of May. 776-2484

SLEEPING ROOM one block from the University. Available Jan. 1, 1997. 539-2857 or 539-0410.

THREE-BEDROOM, $600. Gas, water and trash paid. New paint. Clean. Call Gabe at 776-8018.

THREE-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, one and one-half bath. Near campus. Laundry in complex. 537-1746.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO bath $500/ month, water/ trash paid 1626 Leavenworth, 776-8772.

TWO-BEDROOM, $425. Gas, water and trash paid. New paint, clean. Call Gabe at 776-8018.

TWO BLOCKS from campus, two-bedroom; $360, four-bedroom; $440. 587-0399.

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS

To place a Collegian classified, call 532-6555

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. $380/ month Across street from Ahearn Field House. Available January 1. Lease and deposit required. 537-7794.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT in attractive house. Available Jan. 1. Very quiet atmosphere, laundry facilities, huge yard, patio, off-street parking. Some furnishings available. Split utilities, non-smokers only. No pets. $400. 1010 Ratone 537-6007.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT located southeast of campus. Not in a complex, available spring semester, washer and dryer. Call 539-7277.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE in January. $460. 1026 osage, four blocks from campus. Water and trash paid. On-site laundry facilities. Built-in student desk with shelves in each bedroom. Call 776-3804.

Apartment Living At Its Best
Large 2-Bedrooms
Sandstone Apts.
Cambridge Sq. Apts.
Hill Investment
537-9064

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE now near city park. 405 N 10th. $405. Water, trash paid. No pets. Call 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM DUPLEX. Only one-half block from campus. Main floor. Off-street parking. Available now. $420 with water and trash paid. 537-7852.

TWO-BEDROOM TRI-LEVEL remodeled this year, new carper, paint, stove. Both bedrooms very large. two blocks from campus, one block from Aggieville. $450/ month 539-6951 or 565-0135.

TWO-BEDROOM, $285, deposit, no smoking, no pets, Juliette, 537-4016.

WALKING DISTANCE, two-bedroom and studio available now. Water/ trash paid, laundry facilities. 539-6318.

WILDCAT INN several one-bedrooms available in Jan. at 925 Denison $410 includes dishwasher, water and trash. On-site laundry; sorry no pets. Call 776-3804.

WORTH SEEING. Available 12/23/96. Three-bedroom $375 per month. Eighth block of Laramie St. 537-0588.

115

Rooms Available

PRIVATE, QUIET room. No smoking. Off-street parking. Adjacent campus. Stockwell Real Estate. 539-4073.

TWO ROOMS available in large house $220/ month plus utilities, large kitchen, two bath, two living rooms, basement with laundry,m large porch, unlimited parking, call Becky 539-6582.

120

For Rent-Houses

820 BLUEMONT. Four-bedroom, one bath, living room, dining room, kitchen. Washer/ dryer hook-ups in basement. $600 per month plus deposit. Call Lori at 537-7991.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Four-bedroom, one study house. Close to campus. $1,100 non-negotiable rent. Call 776-1340.

BRAND NEW DUPLEX: 1125-1127 Ratone. Four-bedroom, two bath, washer/ dryer on each side. $800/ month Available January 1, 1997. Six month lease. 539-3767.

FIVE-BEDROOM TWO bath house. One block from campus. Call 556-0753.

FOUR-BEDROOM COUNTRY home. Two bath, finished walk out basement, fireplace, garage, $800, no pets. 539-2255

FOUR-BEDROOM HOUSE. Two blocks from campus washer/ dryer. Fireplace. Lots of room $720/ month. Jan. 1, 776-9163.

FOUR-BEDROOM, TWO bath, central air, 2100 square feet in duplex. In quiet neighborhood near zoo. Available immediately. 539-5921. Take over existing lease and save $100/ month. $690- $100= $590.

ONE, TWO and three-bedroom for non-smoker, drinker. No pets please. 539-1554.

ONE, TWO, three-bedroom for non-smoking, non-drinking, no pets. 539-1554.

TWO BLOCKS FROM CAMPUS! Five-bedroom, two bath, two kitchens. Excellent condition. $225-$275 per room plus utilities. 1020 Bertrand. Call Tammy 539-3737.

TWO-BEDROOM HOUSE with new interior, fenced yard for pet. 929 Colorado, $500. 776-1660.

130

For Rent-Mobile Homes

UNFURNISHED MOBILE Home. 14x70. Three-bedrooms. Quiet corner lot. $385/ month. 539-8608.

145

Roommate Wanted

$175/ MONTH plus one-half utilities. Own room in two-bedroom duplex. Available beginning Jan. 1. 719 Leavenworth. 537-8651, leave message.

$190/ MONTH, one block from campus, washer/ dryer provided, one-third utilities. Call 776-7930.

A BLOCK from campus! Roommate to share spacious four-bedroom house. Central air/ heat, washer/ dryer. Friendly atmosphere. Short term lease possible. No smoking/ pets. $225. 776-9719.

A ROOMMATE needed. Three-bedroom close to campus and Aggieville. $225 plus one-third bills. Non-smoker. Call 537-6169 now.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Female to share two-bedroom. Apartment near campus and Aggieville. Furnished plus fireplace. $237/ month plus one-half utilities. Call 565-0589, ask for Amy.

FAMILY SEEKS college female to live-in second semester. Private room furnished. Rent and food in exchange for household care, bills paid. Close to campus. No smoking or drinking. Respond to Box 6 c/o Collegian.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for Spring semester! Three-bedroom, one block from campus (1850 Claflin). Lots of closet and storage space! $230/ month plus one-third utilities. Call 565-0160.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed spring semester. Nice three-bedroom house. Washer/ dryer, $210 plus utilities. Call 539-0975.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for two-bedoom apartment in Cambridge Square. Call 537-2409.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share nice three-bedroom house. $275/ month, all utilities paid. Washer/ dryer, backyard, cable Jan. 1- May 31. 776-9548, Joanna or Jen.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share three-bedroom for next semester. $200 per month plus utilities. Nice house, close to campus, 776-1890 Heather or Patty.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for two-bedroom house, one block east of campus. $225 a month, utilities paid, pets considered call 537-4947.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted $210 rent plus one-third utilities. Walk to Aggieville and campus. 539-0543.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share four-bedroom, two bathroom apartment, close to campus. Call 539-9165.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted; Jan.- May; close to campus and Aggieville; call 539-6115.

FEMALE SEEKS roommate, two-bedroom, cheap rent, great place and atmosphere, can't beat it! Call 537-7872. No experience needed.

FEMALE, $195/ month plus one-third utilities, washer/ dryer one and one-half blocks from campus, non-smoker, leave message 539-6499.

FEMALE, NON-SMOKER to share clean, comfortable apartment for spring semester. Private bedroom, large closets/ storage areas, carpet, dishwasher, washers/ dryers, central air and much more! Next to campus on Anderson. Caged pets allowed. Water and trash free. $235 plus one-third some utilities. Must see! Please call 776-4723. Available January 1.

MALE OR female to share two-bedroom townhouse with female and pets. Close to campus. Washer/ dryer, close to campus. Fenced yard. $170 plus one-half utilities. Call 776-7836.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apartment. Two blocks from campus, water and trash paid. 539-6537

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Very nice two-bedroom apartment next to campus. 267/ month plus one-half utilities. Available January 1. No smokers, no pets. 565-9250

MALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring semester. Four-bedroom house. Call Chad (913)782-9431.

MALE WANTED for furnished basement. No smoking/ drinking/ pets, please. Walk to KSU. 539-1554.

MALE/ FEMALE roommate wanted for five-bedroom house. $150/ month. Washer/ dryer. Three blocks from campus. Call Ricky or Aaron 537-1621.

MALE/ FEMALE roommate wanted to share two-bedroom westside apartment. $190/ month call 565-0858.

NEEDED: FEMALE roommates, three-bedrooms, two full bathrooms, one-half block west of campus. Call 539-6449.

NON-SMOKING ROOMMATE, own room, $157.50 plus phone and cable. Washer/ dryer, 776-7336.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE for private room. Bills paid. $95/ month. 539-8608.

NON-SMOKING, FEMALE roommate wanted to share four-bedroom, two bath at Chase Manhattan. $226 plus one-fourth KPL and phone. 539-1467.

NOT A DUMP, "CLOSE TO CAMPUS". Male/ female, non-smoker, two-bedroom, two bath, washer/ dryer, microwave, fireplace, dishwasher. Pets and horses possible. Fully furnished. Spring semester $220 per month or one year $190 per month. 537-4239.

ONE BLOCK from campus! Roommate needed to share nice two-bedroom, washer/ dryer, central heat/ air, $165/ month. Call Travis 587-8893, leave message.

ONE-HALF BLOCK from campus. Two-bedroom house. Laundry facilities available. Split utilities. 539-9110.

ROOMMATE (M/F) for three-bedroom apartment $230/ month plus utilities. Close to campus; available as soon as possible. Call 587-9767.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for a four-bedroom house. Rent $212.50/ month plus utilities, trash, etc. Non-smoker preferred. Male or female. Call 539-3075 ask for Scott or Andrew.

ROOMMATE NEEDED starting Jan. 1. Rent $225 per month, plus one-third utilities. Close to campus. Call 539-3639.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share two-bedroom. One and one-half bath. Rent negotiable. Call 565-0397.

ROOMMATE NEEDED, spring semester. Rent $250/ plus utilities. Can move-in Jan. 10. 810 Vattier. 539-6339. Jon or Aaron.

ROOMMATE WANTED for spring semester. One block from campus and Aggieville. $220/ month. Call 587-9496.

ROOMMATE WANTED for farmhouse. Secluded yet accessible location, 10 minutes from Manhattan. $140/ month plus one-half utilities. 539-2029.

ROOMMATE WANTED for spring semester. One block from campus. Very nice and clean. Negotiable rent call 537-9081.

ROOMMATE WANTED for very nice two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. Call Brian at 539-4420 or Tracinda at 539-2649.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share clean three-bedroom house. Close to Aggieville and campus, backyard. $275 and all utilities paid plus cable. Washer and dryer. 776-9548

ROOMMATE WANTED- Own bedroom in four-bedroom two bath apartment next to Durland. $250/ month, one-fourth utilities, 539-1995.

ROOMMATE WANTED. Six month lease Spring 97 $217/ month, water/ trash, no deposit. Close to campus. 776-4884, Kurt or Wes.

ROOMMATE WANTED: three-bedroom apartment, nice condition, close to campus. $235/ month. Call at 539-9476.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Clean two-bedroom duplex, new carpet, yard, close to campus. $220/ month, utilities paid. 565-9197.

STUDENT WANTS to share room and rent, non-smoker, call Greg. (913)736-2799 leave message.

TO SHARE three-bedroom mobile home. All utilities paid $200/ month except phone, available now flexible lease quiet and furnished. Call TJ at 776-3829.

WANTED ROOMMATE(S): to share nice four-bedroom house for spring semester. Call Shauna after 5. 776-3130.

WANTED: ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom home, with washer and dryer, microwave. $200 month/ one-third utilities. Call 776-4750. Jan. 1 available.

150

Sublease

APARTMENT FOR sublease. December paid. Details 395-3323. To see 539-2951.

AVAILABLE DECEMBER 17. Large, one-bedroom. Rent $345, I will pay $50 of your rent, you pay $295. Call 587-9763.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, very spacious one-bedroom apartment. Close to campus. On-site laundry facilities. May have small pets, off-street parking, water/ trash paid. $325/ month. Call 565-9116.

AVAILABLE NOW! Female roommate needed to share big house! Two blocks from campus/ Aggieville. $200 month. 776-0248.

AVAILABLE NOW! Female roommate needed. Two blocks away from campus and Aggieville. $230 monthly. Water and Trash paid 539-3926.

FOR SPRING semester. Two-bedroom apartment at Chase Apartments. Call 537-4617.

NEXT TO CAMPUS. One/ two-bedroom units across from Goodnow and Marlatt dorms. Two-bedroom units across from Haymaker. Call/ message 539-2702.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT for rent. Located in the Chase Manhattan Apartments complex. Call 537-9687 or call (316)593-4541.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. $300 per month. Utilities paid. No deposit necessary. Call 587-8048.

ONE-BEDROOM COTTAGE needs subleased from Jan. 1 to June 1. Close to campus and Aggieville. Call 539-4174.

ONE-BEDROOM OUT of three-bedroom house, three blocks from campus, $180/ month plus one-third utilities, washer/ dryer/ dishwasher, close to campus, 776-6986.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for two-bedroom, two bath with washer/ dryer three blocks from campus. $200 month and one-fifth utilities. Call 776-0598.

SPRING SEMESTER- own bedroom, bathroom, and entrance in four-bedroom apartment. Close to campus/ Aggieville, laundry, quiet roommates, leave message, 565-0324.

SUBLEASE AVAILABLE in January. Roommate needed in a four-bedroom, two bath apartment next to campus. $250 per month plus one-fourth bills. Call 537-4861.

SUBLEASE TWO-BEDROOM apartment. Quiet location. New carpet. Available Jan. 1. Call 539-6977.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. Top floor. One block from campus one-half block from Aggieville. Very affordable. Call 539-7579.

TWO-BEDROOM WITH balcony and dishwasher, one-half block from campus and Aggieville.Water and trash paid. Call 776-9353.

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY

205

Tutor

WANTED SPRING Semester Tutors for Ecology of Environmental Problems, Bioethics, Biology of Aging, Social Psychology, Problem Solving and Decision Making, Managerial Economics, and Organizational Training & Development. Graduate students must have assistantships. Contact Barbara Baker at 532-5642.

210

Resume/ Typing

A PERFECT resume and all your other word processing needs. Laser printing. Call Brenda 776-3290.

235

Child Care

TWO OPENINGS for licensed afterschool program, certified teacher, structured activities, computer, art, pets, field trips, transportation from school provided, 587-8356.

250

Automotive Repair

ROYAL PURPLE PAINT, BODY & GLASS. Quality collision repairs, glass replacement, vandalism claims. 776-6920, 1100 "C" Hostetler Rd. (2 Blks north of Wal-Mart) 8:30- 5:30 M-F.

255

Other Services

GET YOUR DEPOSIT BACK! Fisthole Repair Co. We fix party-damaged walls. Free estimate. Call Eric 776-4999 evenings and weekends.

300 EMPLOYMENT/CAREERS

310

Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 537-0056.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

Community Organizer/Activist

Think too few people have too much power? Help expand established peace and justice organization: community outreach, grant applications, fundraising. Issues of concern: living wage campaign, low-income organizing, campaign finance reform.

10 hours/week. Training available. Contact Anne Cowan, Manhattan Alkliance for Peace & Justice, P.O. Box 1541, Manhattan, KS 66505. Or call 539-8540 or 539-6076. Apply by Jan. 10.

$1000'S POSSIBLE READING BOOKS. Part-time. At home. Toll free (800)218-9000 ext.R-1915 for listings.

$1000'S POSSIBLE TYPING. Part-time. At home. Toll free (800)218-9000 ext. T-1915 for listings.

$1750 WEEKLY possible mailing our circulars. No experience required. Begin now. For info call (202)298-1335.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Midwest Distributors P.O. Box 624, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate Response.

DATABASE PROGRAMMER (8-12 hrs/ week, 4GL, Delphi, SQL). Advanced training provided. At least a Junior in Computer Science or related degree. Experience in Database programming is required. Salary based on capabilities, equal opportunity employer, KSC-Emp, 1640 Fairchild Avenue, Manhattan KS. 66502.

FULL-TIME DAY care needed in Topeka over Christmas break or permanently. My home. One year old boy. Good pay, flexible hours and benefits. (913)478-3609.

GREAT NEW coffee oasis and cafe opening January. Barista positions available. Experience preferred, love of coffee required. 539-7479.

JOB COACH: Part-time position available immediately. Responsible for assisting, supervising and training individuals placed on a job site. Coordinates with client, Vactional Rehabilitation and employer. Must have high school education and varied competitive employment experiences or be certified as a job coach. Please make inquiry to Dennis Winter, Pawnee Mental Health Services, Phone: (13)587-4333. EOE.

JOBS IN THE GREAT OUTDOORS- Positions are now available at National Parks, Forests and Wildlife Preserves. For employment program, call (206)971-3620 ext. N57688.

JUNIORS AND SENIORS. Do you need a break from school? Are you low on $$$? Consider a Spring semester, 13 week internship with "It's Greek To Me, Inc. " You would be traveling with two other people to campuses throughout the Big 12 region, selling sportswear to fraternities and sororities. *All appointments are made for you in advance, no cold calling! *The job will be full-time, beginning mid-January and ending May 1st. *You can earn 3 hours of college credit. *We pay all travel expenses. Call Bob Lund at 537-8822 for more information or to schedule an interview.

KAW VALLEY Greenhouses is now hiring for 20- 40 hours per week. Call between 3- 4:30p.m. M- F at 776-8585.

LOOKING FOR a career? Dick Edwards Ford is looking for the right person in his auto sales department. Excellent benefits, salary plus commission. Five- day work week. Call 776-4004, ask for J.C. or Lou.

LUNAR TUNES- is looking for DJ's and photographers for next semester. Will train the right individual. 776-9140

NAIL-TECH POSITION available as soon as possible. Must be friendly, outgoing, professional person. Prefer experience with sclupture, gels, fiberglass. Flexible hours, commission based compensation preferred, but space for rent available. Please call Christina at 776-7874.

NEED HELP delivering Kansas City Star newspaper over Christmas break. Only two hours a day. $120/ week. Call 537-5064. Leave message.

NETWORK ADMINISTRATOR (10- 20 hrs/ week, NT, Novell, Windows). Advanced training provided. At least a Junior in Computer Science or related degree. Experience in network support is required. Salary based on capabilities, equal opportunity employer, KSC-Emp, 1640 Fairchild Avenue, Manhattan KS. 66502.

NEW BAGEL and Bread Cafe opening Jan. in Aggieville. Needs two bakers. Experience preferred. Wage negotiable. 539-7479.

PART-TIME MAINTENANCE person needed for 60 apartments. Basic electrical, plumbing and carpentry skills required. 587-0399.

SILVERADO SALOON is now hiring bartenders, waitstaff and DJ's. Apply at 531 N. Manhattan, Tuesday through Saturday 6p.m.- 2a.m.

SUPPORTED EMPLOYMENT Specialist: Full-time position to work with the severe and persistent mentally ill. Will work with employers to obtain placement and provide job coaching services. Bachelors Degree required(certification as an Employment Training Specialist preferred), along with the ability to communicate with a wide variety of community agencies/ businesses. Salary commensurate with degree and experience. Fringe benefits are competitive. Send resume and transcript to Mr. Francis Begnoche, RMLP, Pawnee Mental Health Services, 1650 hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. EOE.s

TEMPORARY CASHIERS to work approximately January 10- 31. Day, evening and week-end shifts available. Must be able to work at least a three hours time block. Cashier and customer service experience preferred. Apply service counter, K-state Student Union Bookstore by January 18, 1996. Equal opportunity employer.

THE DEPARTMENT of Mechanical Engineering has an opening for a student hourly office position. Availability on Tuesdays and Thursdays is preferred. Applications are available in the Department of Mechanical Engineering, 302 Durland Hall.

WEB ASSISTANT (10- 20 hrs/ week, HTML, CGI). Advanced training provided. Experience in Internet communications is required. Salary based on capabilities, equal opportunity employer, KSC-Emp, 1640 Fairchild Avenue, Manhattan KS. 66502.

400 FOR SALE OPEN MARKET

405

Wanted to Buy

WANTED: IBM compatible computer with 386 or 486 processor. Will pay up to $250. 537-4944, Nick.

410

Items for Sale

A BEAUTIFUL wedding dress for sale. Could be worn any time of year. Call and leave message at 539-3602.

BEER SIGNS, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, antiques, collectibles, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit $14.95. See ALL the channels (800)752-1389.

CHRISTMAS GIFT baskets available! Customized to fit the recipient and your budget. For details Call 776-9912.

FREE CELLULAR phone-nokia 636! Free leather case! Free cigarette lighter adapter! Free programming! Call 539-1090, today!

GET A free make over for the holiday season. Great gift or for yourself. Artistry Cosmetics. 539-5873.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS!! New Combat boots, saftey-toe boots, overshoes. Wool blankets, gloves and socks. Field jackets. Camouflage clothing. Sleeping bags. Also CARHARTT WORKWEAR. Monday- Friday 9- 5:30, Saturday 9- 5. Open Sundays until Christmas 12- 4. St. Marys Surplus Sales, St. Marys, KS (913)437-2734.

ZENITH 486DX, 4MB, 170HD, 14-inch monitor with Cannon BJ-200 printer. Windows 3.1 with AMI-Pro. $750 or best offer, 776-1164.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

JERRY'S WHOLESALE carpet. Carpet remnants and vinyl remnants. 2501 Stagg Hill Road. Monday- Friday, 8:30a.m.- 5:30p.m. Sat. 8a.m.- 12p.m. Open to the public.

430

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Flea Market 7000 square feet, 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

435

Computers

28.8 V.34 internal faxmodem with software. One year old- lifetime warranty. $70. Lotus Smartsuite 96 CD-ROM for Windows 95 (includes Lotus 1-2-3, Word Pro, Freelance Graphics, Approach, Organizer, etc.) $40. Smartsuite for Windows 3.1 $30. Word Pro for Windows 3.1 $15. All software current and fully licensed. Or best offer. 587-4697.

486/40. 15-INCH monitor. 8 Meg Ram. 340 hard drive. 4X CD-ROM. $800. Gary, 587-8624.

GATEWAY 2000 486DX-2 66, 4MB RAM 340 MB HD, 14-inch monitor, 4x CD-Rom, CAnnon Bubble Jet printer. $1000. 587-8567.

I'VE GOT computers and laptops XT through 486 low price $150- $475. Must sell Paul 784-5650. Guarantee 90 days.

TWO COMPUTERS for sale-working condition. 1987 Zenith Z150 HD 1470 and Zenith 1380 (80/88). Make an offer. Kansas State & Extension Forestry 2610 Claflin Road, 537-7050.

445

Music Instruments

FOR SALE: Ibenez six string electric guitar. 15 watt Fender amp. 395-2732.

WELCOME TO The Music Co.! I'd like to take this opportunity to thank all the bands, individuals and businesses that have made 1996 another successful year. Have a warm and wonderful Holiday Season. Doug Jones, Proprietor. The Music Co., 523 S. 17th Street, in the Midtown Plaza. 539-1958.

450

Pets and Supplies

TWO PURE bred Dalmatian pups for sale. 7 weeks old, ready to deliver, will go fast. Call 587-0140.

455

Sporting Equipment

TWO FOOSEBALL tables for sale. $125 each. 537-7587 or 776-8076.

460

Stereo Equipment

ALPINE CD Changer with remote for sale. 539-4058.

465

Tickets to Buy/Sell

A GOOD deal. Three Cotton Bo wl tickets. $40 each. 539-6752.

COTTON BOWL, six tickets, 30 yard line, under upper deck. (972)243-8595.

COTTON BOWL- 10 VIP seats. 40 yard line, lower second deck, sunny side, VIP parking included. $80/ ticket. Jim Bourgeois (210)693-3880.

FOR SALE: Two basketball season tickets, section 23, row 3, seat 3. $50 or best offer, (800)577-7468 pin# 258-1616.

FOUR COTTON Bowl tickets complete with parking passes. VIP seats $250 takes all. Call Robert (512)325-9414.

FOUR TICKETS to Cotton Bowl, 45 yard line, Big 12 side. $75 each includes VIP parking/ game program. Call Tamera (800)627-1220 ext.4122.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1983 HONDA Acord. New motor and clutch. $2000. Call 537-7583.

1985 HONDA Prelude SE, red, 5-speed, CD player, sunroof, power, $2400 or best offer. 776-5263

1988 PONTIAC 6000. Burgundy four-door, automatic, 150k. Make offer 565-0587.

1991 FORD Escort, automatic, low mileage, four-door, excellent condition, $3500 or best offer, call 539-8486.

SEIZED CARS from $175. Porsches, Cadillacs, Chevy, BMW's, Corvettes. Also Jeeps, 4WD's. Your area. Toll free (800)218-9000 ext.A-1915 for current listings.

600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

610

Tour Package

30 SHOPPING DAYS LEFT! Now is the time to guarantee the lowest rates and best hotels for spring break. Leisure tours has packages to South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica and Florida. (800)838-8203.

Looking for a job?

The Classifieds is your source to find the job you've been looking for.
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
532-6555

FOR MORE INFORMATION
UNIVERSITY APARTMENTS
2215 COLLEGE AVE
CALL 539-0500

Coming Soon
"Stay in class at the University"
Leasing '97-'98 School Year
539-0500

CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY

000 BULLETIN BOARD
010 Announcements
020 Lost and Found
030 Personals
040 Meetings/Events
050 Parties-n-More

100 HOUSING/ REAL ESTATE
105 For Rent — Apt. Furnished
110 For Rent — Apt. Unfurnished
115 Rooms Available
120 For Rent — Houses
125 For Sale — Houses
130 For Rent — Mobile Homes
135 For Sale — Mobile Homes
140 For Rent — Garage
145 Roommate Wanted
150 Sublease
155 Stable/Pasture
160 Office Space
165 Land for Sale

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY
205 Tutor
210 Resume/Typing
215 Desktop Publishing
220 Sewing/Alterations
225 Pregnancy Testing
230 Lawn Care
235 Child Care
240 Musicians/DJs
245 Pet Services
250 Automotive Repair
255 Other Services

300 EMPLOYMENT/ CAREERS
310 Help Wanted
320 Volunteers Needed
330 Business Opportunities

400 FOR SALE OPEN MARKET
405 Wanted to Buy
410 Items for Sale
415 Furniture to Buy/Sell
420 Garage/Yard Sales
425 Auction
430 Antiques
435 Computers
440 Food Specials
445 Music Instruments
450 Pets and Supplies
455 Sporting Equipment
460 Stereo Equipment
465 Tickets to Buy/Sell

500 TRANS-PORTATION
510 Automobiles
520 Bicycles
530 Motorcycles
540 Car Pool

600 TRAVEL/ TRIPS
610 Tour Packages
620 Airplane Tickets
630 Train Tickets
640 Bus Tickets

• CATEGORIES

To help you find what you are looking for, the classified ads have been arranged by category and sub-category. All categories are marked by one of the large images, and sub-categories are preceded by a number designation.

• CLASSIFIED AD WRITING TIPS

Always put what item or service you are advertising first. This helps potential buyers find what they are looking for.

Don't use abbreviations. Many buyers are confused by abbreviations.

Consider including the price. This tells buyers if they are looking at something in their price range.

WE DO NOT USE PHONE NUMBER OR LAST NAMES IN PERSONALS.

TENURE

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

During this time El-Ghori retained legal counsel. El-Ghori said if the issue was not resolved to his satisfaction, he would look outside the University, including in the courts.

"I sincerely hope that this will be resolved at the university level, and if not, I will have to look for other options available to me," he said.

During the hearing, El-Ghori and the University have brought in witnesses to question. They are still in the process of questioning witnesses and questions and closing statements.

The General Faculty Grievance Board is composed of tenured full-time faculty members, said Ruth Dyer, chair of the board.

Panels consist of five members who are free at the time to hear grievances. The panel has 21 class days to make a report to President Jon Wefald after the hearing is through. The panel only can make recommendations. Wefald then reviews the report and hands down a decision.

AIRPORT

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

passengers' destinations are in the west, as opposed to 23 percent in the east.

"Having said all that, the top two cities were Chicago and Dallas," Black said.

He said the airport would look to focus its efforts on west-bound travel and south-bound travel, since the Big 12 conference opens up Texas as possible heavily traveled destination.

The Collegian staff wishes everyone a happy holiday season.

TICKETS

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"I don't think there is any doubt about that," Baker said. "Over the last few years, we have sold 95 percent of the ticket sales. We are certainly excited about getting K-State fans."

Baker said that two years ago Texas Tech set the original record for ticket sells by purchasing 28,000.

Riffle said the bowl could safely be named a sellout.

"It is probably safe to say that it is going to be a sellout," Riffle said. "I'd say we have about 1,000 tickets left.

The Cotton Bowl Stadium on the fairgrounds in Dallas seats 68,252 people.

Both K-State and Brigham Young University are allotted 12,500 tickets to begin with. Obviously, K-State has surpassed its allotment, but BYU hasn't.

Kent Brown, K-State Sports Information director, said BYU has a couple thousand tickets left to achieve what was set aside for their school.

Fans who still want to purchase tickets can call the K-State ticket office at 1-800-221-CATS or 532-7606.

GAME

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

"I felt really good about the effort I gave tonight on defense," Dies said. "I was happy with my defensive job — especially rebounding."

Dies shattered his career high for rebounds with 13 and also had a block and a steal.

K-State led 58-54 with 9:54 left in the game. From that point on, the game was a seesaw battle.

With the game winding down, K-State found itself on top, 74-72, with 10 seconds remaining, but a foul on Mark Young put Coppin State's Danny Singletary at the free-throw line. The point guard sank both shots and tied the score at 74. K-State lost the handle on the ball going down the court, and the game progressed further into an overtime period.

Asbury said he blamed himself for the tight game in the end.

"I must have been a phantom tonight. Was I in Aggieville tonight?" he said. "I'll take the blame for some of that."

It was Swartzendruber's free throws in the final frame that sealed the win for the Cats, who improved to 5-1 on the season.

Both Swartzendruber and forward Mark Young established career highs. Swartzendruber finished with 24 points. May finished the game with 23 points.

RELIGION DIRECTORY

St. Isidore's
Masses: Sat. 5 p.m.
Sun. 9:30, 11 a.m., & 5 p.m.
Confessions: Sat. 4 p.m.
711 Denison 539-7496
Chaplain: Father Brad Sterrett

New Hope Community Church
Where Christ is exalted, people are loved, hurts are healed and fresh starts happen.
Contemporary Worship 10 am
3905 Green Valley, off Hwy 24 537-2389

FIRST LUTHERAN
10th Poyntz 537-8532
Worship Sat. 5:30 p.m., Sun. 8:30 & 11 a.m.
Sunday School all ages 9:40 a.m.

Manhattan Mennonite Church
Sunday School 9:30 a.m., Christmas Program 10:45 a.m. Eldon Epp, Pastor
10th and Fremont 539-4079
Child Care Available
Noon Christmas Banquet
Students Welcome

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH
8:30 & 11 a.m. Worship
9:45 a.m. Church School
including University and Young adult classes
Nursery provided for all services
Omer G. Tittle, Pastor
612 Poyntz 776-8821
DIAL-A-PRAYER 776-9569

Grace Baptist Church
2901 Dickens (2 blks. E. of Seth Child)
•Sunday•
Morning Worship
8:15 • 10:45
Bible Classes (ALL AGES)
9:30 A.M.
Body Life or Care Cells
6 P.M.
776-0424

First Church of the Nazarene
MORNING WORSHIP...10:40 a.m.
EVENING PRAISE.....6:00 p.m.
SUNDAY SCHOOL.....9:30 a.m.
COLLEGE.....9:30 a.m.
3031 Kimball
539-6376 (pastor)
539-2851 (church)
Pat Weyrauch, Pastor

First Congregational Church
700 Poyntz (Poyntz and Juliette) 537-7006
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
Worship 10:45 a.m.
Sermon:
"Advent Reflections."
Sunday, Dec.15
Rev. Donald Longbottom

St. Francis Canterbury Episcopal Campus Ministry
Eucharist & Guitar in Danforth Chapel
Every Sunday at 5 p.m.
Rev. Cathy Chittenden-Bascom
532-9099

ST. LUKE'S LUTHERAN CHURCH
(LCMS)
6 p.m. Saturday Evening Service
7:45 a.m. Early Service
9:00 a.m. Sunday School
10 a.m. Contemporary Service
11:15 a.m. Late Service
330 N. Sunset Ave. 539-2604

WESTVIEW COMMUNITY CHURCH
Morning Worship
8:30 & 10:45 a.m.
Sunday School 9:45 a.m.
College Career Class Offered
Sunday Evening Worship 6 p.m.
1st Sunday
CARE CELLS (Small Groups)
2, 3, 4 Sunday 6 p.m.
3001 Ft. Riley Blvd. 537-7173

LIVING WATER RANCH CHURCH
An Affiliate of RHEMA Bible Church aka Kenneth Hagin Ministries
SUNDAY
Service 10:30 a.m.
School of Bible 9:30 a.m.
7 p.m. KOINONIA Fellowship
* Broadcast 9:05 a.m.
Angel 95 (95.3 FM)
WEDNESDAY Service 7:30 p.m.
STERLING HUDGINS-PASTOR
Located 12 miles north of Tuttle Creek Dam, turn off Hwy. 13 at the sign.
4150 LIVING WATER DR.
OLSBURG, KS 66520
(913) 468-3615

Lutheran Campus Ministry
at Luther House 1745 Anderson
Sunday Worship 7:15 p.m.
in the Danforth Chapel
College Liturgy
"Now the Feast and Celebration"
Pastor Jayne Thompson
539-4451
— Open to All —

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH (DISCIPLES OF CHRIST)
5th & Humboldt
776-8790
Contemporary Worship 8:30 a.m.
Traditional Worship 10:55 a.m.
Church School 9:45 a.m.
Live Broadcast 11:30 a.m.
Angel 95 (95.3 FM)
Wed. Eve. Bible Study
COLLEGE FELLOWSHIP
Thursday 7:30 p.m.
PASTOR DR. DONALD E. BREZAVAR

The Assembly Manhattan's first Assembly of God
2310 Candlewood
537-7633
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
College Sunday School Class 9:30 a.m.
Hispanic Sunday School Class 9:30 a.m.
Worship Service 10:30 a.m.
Evening Praise 6 p.m.
Wed. Family Night 7 p.m.
- Youth Group
-Royal Rangers
- Missionettes
Nursery Provided For All Services

Need a little escape?

SEA ESTER Events

Pre-order your textbooks for next semester and save yourself the hassle of fighting the crowds plus get a free gift! Stop by the textbook department on the upper level today.

Great Holiday Gifts
Save 50%-70% on selected books at the Holiday Book Sale.

Have your gifts wrapped for free by the women of Smurthwaite Scholarship House!

Textbook Buyback
at the Student Union Bookstore at these times!
Register to win 2 free Cotton Bowl tickets!

In the Bookstore		Derby and Kramer Food Centers
Wed. 11-Thur. 12	8-6	Mon. 16-Thur. 19	9-6
Fri. 13	8-5	Fri. 20	8-5
Sat. 14	10-2
Mon. 16-Thur. 19	8-8
Fri. 20	8-5
Sat. 21	10-2
Fri. 20	8-5

at the Bookstore!

K-State Student Union Bookstore 532-6583

JANUARY 16, 1997
THURSDAY

HIGH 15
LOW -3
Gusty winds and bitterly cold. Windchill advisory is possible.

FORECAST PAGE 2

MANHATTAN, KS 66506

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VOL. 101 NO. 76

THE COLLEGIAN FACTORY
NEWSROOM 532-6556
DISPLAY ADVERTISING 532-6560
CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555
e-mail: (collegn@ksu.edu)
http://collegian.ksu.edu

A GEM OF A BRASSIERE WOULD MAKE A GREAT GIFT

▶ Valeri Crenshaw thinks that the diamond-studded wonderbra would have been the ultimate Christmas gift. But what does a woman do with a bra like that?

See OPINION page 4

ETC.

In today's paper
Briefs 2
Opinion 4

In tomorrow's paper
Learn all about Lovelines in the new Impulse section of the Collegian.

40,000 FANS WATCHED IT. NOW YOU CAN READ IT.

▶ In case you missed the bus, the Collegian photo and sports staff went to Dallas and brought back coverage you want of the Cats' Cotton Bowl trip.

See the COTTON BOWL SPECIAL SECTION

KKK rally pushed back due to weather

BRANDI HERTIG
staff writer

The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan's rally planned for Saturday in Salina was postponed by the KKK due to inclement weather.

Salina officials decided to allow the KKK to have the rally because of the KKK's First Amendment rights. The KKK planned the rally to protest Martin Luther King Jr. Day.

T. Ray McJunkins, pastor of St. John's Missionary Baptist Church in Salina, was concerned that the Building Authority in Salina did not think of the community people's needs first when making the decision to allow the KKK to have a rally.

"It seemed like they were not sensitive to the community," he said. "It left me with disappointment in them."

McJunkins also questioned the amount of support the KKK has in Salina.

It may have support in Salina, but not the support KKK members would like to have people believe, he said.

He said he believes there is racial tension in Salina, like anywhere else, but he doesn't believe there is more so in Salina than anywhere else.

McJunkins planned to participate in a prayer and worship ceremony during the KKK's rally.

When the KKK was still planning to have its rally, Cora Williams, president of the Salina chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, also hoped that Salina residents would spend the time elsewhere.

Williams said she hopes most people will direct their time, energy and attention to things other than being at the rally.

The KKK plans to reschedule the rally within two weeks.

For now, site to remain just a patch of grass

RUSSELL FORTMEYER
senior staff writer

First, it was a parking garage.

Then came the rumors about a new Alumni Association building.

The only thing that is true about the green space south of Memorial Stadium is that its future is up in the air.

The site's fate depends greatly on the decision to widen Anderson Avenue between 17th Street and Denison Avenue — a traffic problem that has been deadly in the past.

"Right now, I'm not aware of any active negotiations going on with the Alumni Association or any other groups about developing that site," said Jerry Carter, director of facilities planning and University architect.

The Alumni Association's board has discussed the site for possible expansion, but hasn't acted formally.

Karen Shafer, director of communications for the Alumni Association, said the possible expansion to the site is only rumors.

"Our board has discussed it, and they are looking into it, but there have been no decisions made," Shafer said.

Shafer said the Alumni Association isn't necessarily looking to relocate to campus and has not considered other sites.

The decision to widen Anderson Avenue will be made by the City Council, which has the timed the Anderson Avenue expansion project to begin in 1999.

Justin Kastner, city commissioner and senior in food science and industry, said 1999 is Manhattan's turn for rotating state grants that will pay for the project.

The project will include widening Anderson Avenue between 14th Street and Sunset Avenue.

Jack Messer, city engineer at the Public Works Department, said the expansion will be for one lane, which translates to 12 feet of additional space to the north of Anderson Avenue.

"The major impact on that open space is probably pretty minimal," Messer said. "There will still be enough left for use

See BUILDING, Page 8

LESS THAN ZERO

A LONE UNION-GOER makes his way through the barren, snow-covered K-State Student Union parking lot early Wednesday morning. Thursday's lows are expected to reach minus 3 degress.

Frostbite
Frostbite occurs when skin freezes after being exposed to temperatures of 32 degrees or lower.

Signs
These symptoms are listed in the order that they would appear:
- Loss of sensation in any part of the body
- Sudden whitening of the skin, followed by momentary tingling
- Reddening of skin
- Blistering or swelling
- Pale, waxy-looking skin
- Frozen area that feels wooden or solid to the touch

What to do
- Move victim to a warm area
- Place a warm piece of clothing over the affected area – Do not rub.
- Remove wet or restrictive clothing
- Smoking and consumption of alcohol should be avoided

Source: Illinois State Police
ZACHARY BAZE/Collegian

Low windchills cause skin to freeze in a matter of minutes story by ryan o'halloran • photo by steve hebert

With the winter season hitting Manhattan with the force of a right cross to the jaw, people venturing across campus in the coming months are warned to take precautions.

"The thing to keep in mind is to dress appropriately," said Mary Knapp, state climatologist at the Kansas State Weather Data Library. "Dress in several layers and pay attention to your fingers and ears."

When the wind starts whipping around in January and early February, Knapp advises people to keep covered above the neck.

"Wearing a hat helps a lot because a lot of the heat lost is from your head," she said.

Manhattan experienced its first bitter cold as the windchill fell to minus 31 degrees on the morning of Jan. 10. She predicted a couple more cold spells will hit the Little Apple in the next two months.

"We can expect any number of more," she said. "But to say there will be three or four more cold snaps coming — I can't really say that. There's a lot of cold air in the Canadian prairies, and there's been a patter for it to make periodic excursions into the plains."

Up north, when the windchills and temperatures plummet faster than your checking account balance, they call it an Alberta Clipper, because the cold air generates on the plains of that province and then swoops down to Montana and North Dakota.

When those states suffer windchills in the minus 60 degree range, the effect is felt in Kansas — albeit not to that extent.

"There's a whole lot of debate on how you term the various cold spells," Knapp said. "It was a continental air mass from Canada that landed in the upper plains and went down as far as Texas last week."

But Knapp said the effect of high winds is dependent on the air temperature.

"It's a combination," she said. "The windchill is the cooling rate — how fast your body will cool down. If your air temperature is 32 degrees, it's not so problematic when your air temperature is 0 and there's a high wind."

People should begin to take caution when the windchill falls to minus 20. At that point, the National Weather Service will issue a windchill advisory to alert the public.

When the windchill reaches those depths, covering up is that much more important.

"They say if the windchill is in the minus 30s," Knapp said, "it will take only a couple of minutes for frostbite to start.

"People just need to be sensitive and pay attention to how your extremities are feeling and be alert to any numbness."

But Knapp said people shouldn't be fooled into dressing lighter just because it's sunny outside.

"That's where you really need to be cautious," she said. "Because even on the sunny and clear days, the windchill can get very low if you have cold air temperatures and high winds.

"If it's cloudy outside, people look at it, and they wear the appropriate clothing because it looks cold. But on sunny days, they look and think it's not so bad so they can get lulled in."

While Kansas won't experience daily doses of bitter cold, it is winter.

"Our coldest weather in is late January and early February," Knapp said. "So there's a lot more winter left."

Mail-in fees help many students

TANYA NISLY
staff reporter

The days of standing in long lines at Ahearn Field House have come to an end thanks to the new mail-in fee payment system.

"I feel we've been fairly successful," Gunile DeVault, associate registrar, said.

Fewer students had their schedules dropped with the new method than in previous semesters.

Four-hundred to 500 students were dropped per day for three days when enrollment was in Ahearn Field House, DeVault said.

"There were less students dropped than were ever dropped in the Field House. We dropped about 795 students and that includes Salina," DeVault said.

Students were informed through several different methods to prepare them for the new payment process. They were given purple information sheets during pre-enrollment in November, and there were outlined instructions with the bills that were sent out in December.

"Students seemed to understand the process. We were able to get information to the students through pre-enrollment," said Doug Ackley, assistant controller for student loans and cashiering.

Some students said they found the new method less complicated.

See FEES, Page 8

$ REFUNDS FOR DROPPING CLASSES

100%	First full calendar week January 20-24
90%	Second full calendar week January 27-31
50%	Third and fourth full calendar week Febuary 3-14
0%	Fifth full calendar week through the end of the semester

Source: Controllers office
DAN HOLMGREIN/Collegian

Student, local resident die in New Year's Eve accidents

ANDREW FRANCIS
staff writer

A K-State student, Manhattan resident and a Missouri man were killed in back-to-back car accidents shortly before midnight on New Year's Eve in rural Kansas City, Kan.

Corey Darrow, 20, sophomore in arts and sciences, and Matthew Armin, 20, of Marceline, Mo., were passengers in a vehicle driven by Shane Felzine, a 23-year-old Manhattan resident.

Felzine's car was struck when he pulled out in front of a motorist who was driving northbound on Kansas Highway 7, according to the Kansas Highway Patrol. The force of the collision threw Darrow and Armin from the vehicle, killing them instantly.

Felzine was killed in a separate accident immediately following the collision.

Felzine was also thrown from the vehicle. He did not suffer any serious injuries from the first accident, but as he stood up he was struck by another vehicle passing the accident, according to the Kansas Highway Patrol.

Melissa Ruttan, Darrow's girlfriend of two years, said even people that met him once liked him and remembered him.

Ruttan, a sophomore in arts and sciences, met Darrow in the fall of 1994 at Goodnow Hall.

"To his friends he was the greatest guy," Ruttan said. "He always stuck up for the guy who didn't fit in. He was one who always stood up for the underdog."

See DARROW, Page 8

K-State student dies in K-61 car crash

MATT SPURGIN
staff writer

David Hill, senior in mechanical engineering, died from injuries sustained in a three-car accident Dec. 22.

The accident occurred 2-1/2 miles north of the Reno-McPherson county line on Kansas Highway 61. Hill was heading home to Spivey, southbound on K-61 when a northbound vehicle crossed the center line and hit Hill's vehicle head on.

Both drivers had to be cut from the wreckage with the jaws-of-life tool.

A second northbound vehicle hit the first northbound vehicle after the collision with Hill.

Hill was taken to Hutchinson Hospital with critical injuries and later died en route to Columbia-Wesley Medical Center in Wichita.

He is survived by his parents, Dwight and Kathleen Hill of Spivey. He was a Putnam Scholar at K-State.

DEADLINES
TO PLACE AN ITEM in the Daily Planner, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to (collegn@ksu.edu) by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

MANAGING EDITOR
MIRANDA KENNEDY
e-mail: (seahors@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
DIGEST
THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1997

K-STATE STUDENT UNION SPONSORS LIFE FAIR

▶ The K-State Student Union is host to a campus life fair in the Union Courtyard 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. today and Friday. People can learn about campus services, opportunities and activities.

▶ 24 HOURS IN REVIEW

These briefs encapsulate the news of the past 24 hours and are from staff reports, wire reports and other news services.

▶ NATION AND WORLD

• SERBIAN OPPOSITION DECLARED ELECTION WINNER IN BELGRADE.
BELGRADE, Yugoslavia — In the two-month tussle over who won Serbia's local elections, the opposition got part of what it wanted: a declaration that it captured the two largest cities, Belgrade and Nis. But both the opposition and the United States were skeptical that President Slobodan Milosevic's ruling Socialists would really give in.
Opposition leaders said they would continue their daily protests until their members actually take their seats in Belgrade, Nis and 12 other cities it won in Nov. 17 municipal elections.

• RED CROSS DELIVERS ITEMS DURING PERUVIAN HOSTAGE CRISIS.
The International Red Cross is doing what it can for the 74 hostages who have been inside the Japanese ambassador's residence by Tupac Amaru rebels since Dec. 17. But there is no sign that the greatest comfort — freedom — is near. Progress has snagged on a rebel demand that some 300 fellow revolutionaries be freed from Peruvian jails. The government says that is out of the question.

• ANTI-YELTSIN MOVE FIZZLES AFTER LEGAL WARNING.
MOSCOW — Russian lawmakers were told by their own legal advisers today that they had no legal right to remove President Boris Yeltsin on grounds of ill health. But the Communist deputy who drafted a resolution to impeach and remove Yeltsin said he would press ahead with the attempt, claiming the legal ruling was merely advisory. The president's doctors say he's recovering well from double pneumonia, and presidential aides dismissed talk of impeaching the Russian leader as a groundless attempt to stir up controversy.

• TWO SAILORS ACCUSED OF RAPING WOMAN.
PENSACOLA, Fla. — Two sailors at the Pensacola Naval Air Station were charged with raping a female classmate in a closet at an apartment off-base. The seamen recruits, both 18, were arrested on Monday. Doug Ray Norman, whose hometown in Oregon was not immediately known, was jailed on $5,000 bail. David Charles Stanley of Houston was freed on the same amount. Police said the 19-year-old woman, who did not live at the apartment, fell ill at a party Saturday night and lay down in a walk-in closet. The sailors are accused of raping her after she voluntarily had sex with a third man. The two sailors were from the base's Naval Air Technical Training Center.

• PARTISAN WARFARE MAKES GINGRICH ETHICS CASE UGLY.
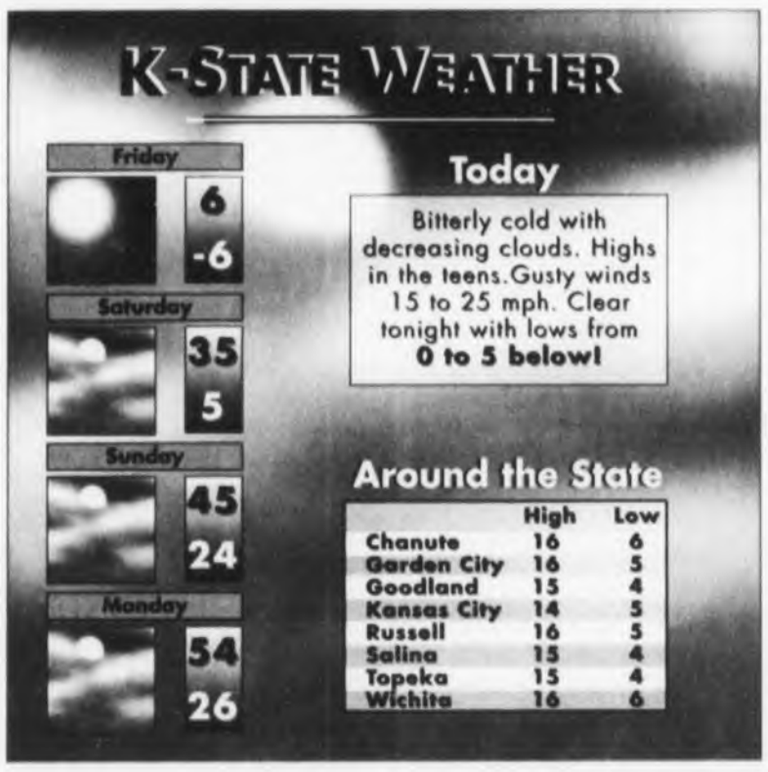
WASHINGTON (AP) — With House Speaker Newt Gingrich's fate hanging in the balance, Republicans and Democrats are waging ceaseless partisan warfare in an ethics case that grows uglier by the day. In the latest volley, Republicans on Tuesday demanded that Democrats ferret out the truth about Rep. Jim McDermott and whether he leaked a tape recording of a telephone conversation involving Gingrich and the GOP high command. The illegal recording was made by a Florida couple who said they personally handed it to McDermott, a member of the House ethics committee. In reply, McDermott, D-Wash. sidestepped the question of whether he provided the tape to selected reporters, but offered to stand aside from judging Gingrich's case. He then delivered a bombshell of his own, charging that Republicans had used ethics complaints lodged against Democrats as barter in negotiations over sanctions to be applied to Gingrich in previous findings in his case over the last



Get involved.
The Collegian wants you to participate in the editorial board. Call 532-6556 for details.

▶ DAILY PLANNER

The Daily Planner is a campus bullentin board service offered by the K-State Collegian. Items in the planner can be published up to three times. Items may not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to (collegn@ksu.edu) by 11 a.m.

▶ TODAY

• Lutheran Campus Ministry will have a supper at 6 p.m. Tuesday at the Baptist Student Center.
• Lutheran Campus Ministry worship will meet at 7:15 p.m. Sunday at Danforth Chapel.
• Applications for May 1997 undergraduate graduation are due in deans' offices by Feb. 7.
• The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of Katherine Navarre's doctoral dissertation at 8 a.m. today in Bluemont Hall 257.
• The K-State Bowling team will have an open meeting for all students interested in fall membership at 4 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 24 in the K-State Union Recreation area. The team is looking for people, both male and female students, who want to help form a team.
• CSP Tutoring will have orientation meetings at 5:30 and 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 27 in Union 204.
• CSP Tutoring will hold Orientation meetings at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 28 in Union 205.
• CSP Tutoring is accepting applications for individuals interested in tutoring elementary, middle or high school students in Manhattan and the surrounding area during the spring semester. Call 532-5701 to learn how you can help area youth.
• Career and Employment Services will conduct an orientation to services and on-campus interviews. The Path to Employment Opportunities for engineering majors is at 7 tonight in Durland 173.

▶ POLICE BLOTTER

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

▶ K-STATE POLICE

• WEDNESDAY, JAN. 15
• At 3:25 a.m., John David Carson was arrested for DUI and transported to Riley County jail for final processing.
• MONDAY, JAN. 13
• At 6:51 p.m., a water leak was reported in Throckmorton 2412B. A trouble shooter was notified.
• At 1:43 p.m., Kevin Lynch, 1704 Little Kitten Ave., reported a theft from vehicle. Loss was $10.
• SATURDAY, JAN. 11
• At 3:46 a.m., a subject reported a popping noise and a flash of light behind 1540 Jarvis Road. Officer reported it to be power lines sparking against a tree. KPL Gas Service was called.
• FRIDAY, JAN. 10
• At 11:55 p.m., a security officer found several sheep out of pens in Weber Arena. Sheep were penned back in.

▶ RILEY COUNTY POLICE DEPARTMENT

• WEDNESDAY, JAN. 15
• At 3:06 a.m., Michael P. Krier, 808 N. 12th St., was arrested on a suspended license.
• At 2:48 a.m., a past battery was reported.
• At 2:21 a.m., Jeremy Nathan Carl, 1410 Houston St., was arrested for DUI. Bond was $500.
• TUESDAY, JAN. 14
• At 6:32 p.m., an injury vehicle accident at Old U.S. Highway 24 was reported.

▶ CORRECTIONS AND CLARIFICATIONS

Sometimes the K-State Collegian makes a mistake. If a mistake occurs, contact Claudette Riley, news editor, by phone (532-6556), by e-mail (collegn@ksu.edu) or by stopping by the Collegian at Kedzie 116. If a mistake is made, a correction may be made.

▶ HOW TO CONTACT THE COLLEGIAN

• BY PHONE
Newroom 532-6556
Advertising 532-6560
Classifieds 532-6555

• BY E-MAIL
(collegn@ksu.edu)

• ON THE WORLD WIDE WEB
(http://collegian.ksu.edu)

• BY SNAIL MAIL
Kansas State Collegian
116 Kedzie Hall
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

• IN PERSON
The Collegian newsroom office is located at Kedzie 116 (across from the K-State Student Union).

▶ STATEMENT OF PUBLICATION

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291-020) a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week the eight weeks of summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.
POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

Winter Sidewalk
Sale
January 16 - 19th
You'll Find
Everything Your Heart Desires
Now at Clearance Prices!
MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER
♥ Dillard's ♥ JC Penney ♥ Sears
♥ Over 70 Specialty Shops ♥ Picnic Place
Monday through Saturday 10-9, Sunday 12-6
• 3rd and Poyntz • Manhattan • 539-9207

Rustys LAST CHANCE SALOON
WELCOME BACK KSU!
Jimmy Buffet Nite with 25¢ BURGERS!
35¢ CHEESEBURGERS!
from 5-8
enjoy...
$1.50 Coronas Margaritas
FREE Corona Tees
stay warm...
enjoy one of our 3 fireplaces!!
Ladies
get ready for Beauty on the Beach 5! Compete for $1000 cash plus prizes! coming in April

Adviser wins service award

CLAUDETTE RILEY
news editor

The K-State fraternity adviser admits she works hard to improve the image of the greek community.

The National Association of Fraternity Advisors agreed and awarded Barb Robel the Robert Shaffer Distinguished Service Award at the annual convention on Dec. 7.

The award recognizes exceptional and long-term service to the betterment of fraternities and sororities.

Robel joined the faculty in 1974 as adviser to the Panhellenic Council and became the University adviser for greek affairs five years later. She was nominated for the honor by colleagues at K-State as well as from universities around the nation.

"I feel like it's an affirmation. A long time ago I decided this was a field I enjoyed and wanted to make a profession of," Robel said.

By taking the position at K-State, Robel was returning to a system she knew. She pledged Delta Zeta at the end of her sophomore year and moved out of the residence halls and into the greek community. She graduated from K-State with a degree in English in 1965.

"I wouldn't have traded the residence hall experience, but it was an opportunity to live with women who had similar interests and develop leadership skills," Robel said.

Robel advises two councils and concentrates on organizing activities which involve the 11-housed sororities and 16-housed fraternities. The greek affairs office is also responsible for record keeping and tracking the membership and scholarship statistics.

Robel works to develop programming and training for students, chapter leaders and housemoms.

As an advocate and supporter of the greek system at K-State, she is also involved in the recruitment process.

"The greeks play a role in recruitment for the University. The challenge is to show that we have something to offer and that there's more than the stereotypical social aspects," Robel said.

"The Greek community is a diverse one with strong academic emphasis and the training and leadership is something students carry with them."

Robel's advisory role includes dealing with controversy and unpleasant issues confronting students in the greek community.

"Education is our main way to bring about change. I would much rather be proactive and reach the students ahead of time to eliminate undesirable behavior instead of being a watchdog," Robel said. "The greeks have issues just like any students, but I think it's sometimes more public because they are identifiable as a group.

Whenever possible, Robel trains students and develops programming to actively bring about the desired change. Robel said she learns from students.

"It's never too late to be a freshman again in many different aspects of life. The energy and enthusiasm of the students brings a continuous challenge to look around and try new things," she said.

Student leaders are well-acquainted with Robel's ability to make a difference.

Kori Keeton, senior in political science and president of Panhellenic Council, considers Robel a pillar of wisdom.

"Everyone looks to her to solve problems. She's able to work with all types of students and has a tender heart," Keeton said.

Keeton said students benefit from Robel's length of experience and her ability to deal with any situation.

"I see her as a role model. She has the ability to lead our entire greek community. She puts a lot of responsibility in the students' hands and works behind the scenes."

Brian Ansay, senior in marketing and president of Interfraternity Council, said he believes Robel is driven by her genuine concern for students.

"She is an enormous asset to the greek community. She is always there to listen to those who may have a concern or idea. We as a community benefit from having such an open adviser," Ansay said.

Ansay said Robel teaches others how to lead and installs a strong work ethic by setting a good example.

"She loves her job more than anyone. It's not always the easiest," Ansay said. "She must enjoy the opportunity to work with young adults and have a direct influence on their development because she does it day in and day out."

Graves requests budget increase

Highlights of Governor Bill Graves' proposed higher education budget

An average 4 percent increase in state universities' general use operating budgets.
Cost: $27.2 million

An average 3.5 percent merit pay increase for university faculty members and administrative staff.
Cost: $18.3 million

A 9.5 percent increase in spending on scholarships for students who attend private universities in Kansas.
Cost: $500,000

Scholarships for 227 minority undergraduate and graduate students.
Cost: $470,000

A 4.5 percent increase in spending on scholarships for students attending state universities.
Cost: $134,000

Source: The Associated Press
DAN HOLMGREN/Collegian

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA (AP) — Administrators at state universities worry about budgets and equipment. Faculty members are concerned about how their salaries compare to national averages.

But the biggest budget issue for students like Kevin Yoder is whether he, his friends and other young people will be able to afford to attend college.

Yoder, who is from Hutchinson and is a political science student at the University of Kansas, is not sure how students will benefit from Gov. Bill Graves' budget proposals for State Board of Regents universities.

"Students are always getting new fees," he said.

Graves' recommendations pleased some administrators and faculty members. Others called them a good first step, but not everyone thinks they are adequate.

The governor proposed appropriating $1.54 billion to state universities during the state's 1998 fiscal year, which begins July 1. The overall spending increase would be 5.4 percent.

He wants to increase faculty salaries an average of 3.5 percent and to spend $8.35 million on new equipment for computer centers and laboratories. He also proposes to increase spending on student scholarships.

Conservative Republicans are wary of the proposed spending increases and have expressed skepticism in the past about whether increases are necessary.

House Speaker Tim Shallenburger, R-Baxter Springs, said he would rather give universities more flexibility than more money. He suggested the Legislature make block grants and let administrators determine how the money is spent.

"I think there's a layer of management at regents universities that doesn't need to exist," Shallenburger said. "We've kind of built up a system that isn't as efficient as it needs to be."

For years, the regents have made increasing faculty salaries their top priority, arguing that those salaries lag behind salaries at selected peer universities.

At Pittsburg State University, salaries that lag significantly behind national averages are a source of frustration for professors and instructors, said Tim Thomas, an instructor in engineering technology and president of Pittsburg State's faculty union.

"Four percent would be OK if we were making the national average and our goal was to keep up with inflation," Thomas said. "The governor's 3.5 percent is just that much worse, I guess."

Sen. Sandy Praeger, R-Lawrence, said that to satisfy faculty members it's going to take several years of consistent increases.

University administrators and faculty also see increased spending on technology as important — and so do students.

Mark Tomb, K-State senior in political science, said he and friends are used to crowded computer labs. Computers are often not available until 11 p.m., he said.

They see other budget needs as well. Tomb and Yoder said it is common for freshmen and sophomores to find themselves in large lecture classes.

And Yoder, the KU student, said his anthropology course meets in a classroom about two dozen seats short. Students sit in aisles.

Still, both are more concerned about the cost of attending a university. The regents have increased tuition at KU and K-State an average of 6 percent a year for the past decade.

House Democrats have proposed allowing many high-school graduates to attend state universities, community colleges and private college without paying tuition.

The proposal's estimated cost, eventually $50 million a year, makes it unlikely to receive serious consideration.

And so Yoder works 15 hours a week at a Pizza Hut. Tomb has had a part-time job at a Kmart since his senior year in high school.

Owner, bouncer of Lucky BrewGrille plead no contest to criminal damage, battery charges

Whitley

ANDREA COREY
staff writer

The owner of Lucky BrewGrille and a bouncer pleaded no contest Monday to reduced charges for a March 1996 incident involving former Collegian photographer Darren Whitley.

Robert Leetch, owner, and Shawn Wichman, a bouncer and senior in animal science, industry and agribusiness, both pleaded no contest to one charge each of criminal damage to property and battery.

Whitley said he had taken his camera to Lucky's to take pictures of a friend's birthday. He said he took a few pictures of a bouncer holding a man in a full-Nelson after a bar fight.

Whitley said the owner, Leetch, asked Whitley what he was doing. Whitley said he was a Collegian photographer and then he said that the owner attempted to grab the camera from his neck.

Whitley said he tried to leave when the owner told Wichman to get Whitley's camera. Whitley said he was knocked down, the camera was pulled from his neck, and the camera strap was broken. In total, the camera suffered an estimated $1,200 of damage.

Leetch said there was another side to the coin.

"No one from here attacked this kid. No one from here took his camera," Leetch said.

He said that when he asked Whitley what he was doing, Whitley ran to the door without identifying him-

See Whitley, Page 7

The ALTERNATIVE

MON. $1.00 Draws (16 oz.) - TUE. $1.35 Bottles
WED. $1.75 Wells - THU. $3.50 Pitchers

DAILY FOOD SPECIALS FREE POPCORN
* 5 TV's * * FOOSBALL * DARTS *POOL *

Gin Mill

Downtown Manhattan
317 Poyntz Avenue
(Just west of Burger King)
913-776-2119

No, your Mom doesn't live here.

You could wait until you go home and have your mom do your laundry, you could spend all your money at the coin-operated laundry...or you could rent a GE washer and dryer for just $14.95 a month each.

$14.95 a month each GE Washer or dryer

Applies to used equipment

Your Mom would approve.

Ask for RANDY • 776-9454

"We're more than a Hardware Store"

ACE | MIDWEST | APPLIANCE HARDWARE SERVICES

800 Tuttle Creek Blvd. • Mon.-Sat. 8:30-9, Sun. 10-6

Can you spot the fastest, easiest way to file your Kansas taxes?

File your taxes by phone

With Kansas Telefile, many people can now file their Kansas taxes by phone – in about 10 minutes.

Just fill out the simple Telefile worksheet in your 1996 Kansas Income Tax booklet, call the 800 number, follow the easy step-by-step instructions, and your tax or refund is figured right there on the phone – free. No tax tables. No hassle. And you'll get your refund faster, too.

If you didn't receive a 1996 Kansas Income Tax booklet, pick one up at the post office, library or in many grocery stores.

This year, file your Kansas taxes the fast and easy way – with Kansas Telefile.

Kansas Telefile
Easy. Does it.

Telefile worksheet available at www.ink.org/public/kdor

TOMORROW

Ken Wells answers frequently asked questions about Madcow Disease and Jeff Chans takes a critical look at the end of the millinium and what it might mean to everyone.

OPINION EDITOR
KEVIN KLASSEN
e-mail: (kevkk@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
OPINION
THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1997

A GUIDE TO SECTIONS OF THE COLLEGIAN OPINION PAGE

▶ COLUMNS are opinions expressed by the columnists. The opinions are not necessarily the opinions of the Collegian.

OUR VIEW is an editorial written by the Collegian Editorial Board. The board meets every day and discusses editorial topics. The editorial is a compilation of those opinions and represents the opinion of the Collegian.

▶ OUR VIEW

Bundle up for winter weather, even though it's spring semester

The recent frigid temperatures might make today seem like a bad joke — the start of spring semester classes. Walking between classes might bring many things to mind besides spring. It should remind people to take extra care during this snap of sub-zero windchill factors.

Exposure to below-freezing temperatures can affect people faster than they might think. Wrapping-up well is essential if one is going to be outside for any amount of time. Winding a scarf around your ears and throwing on a pair of gloves will prevent a lot of pain by the time you get to that next class.

If students and faculty are finding the freezing temperatures difficult to deal with, their furry, four-legged friends will be having an even rougher time of it. Pets should be checked on frequently, especially if they are kept outside. Adequate shelter, food and water is a must.

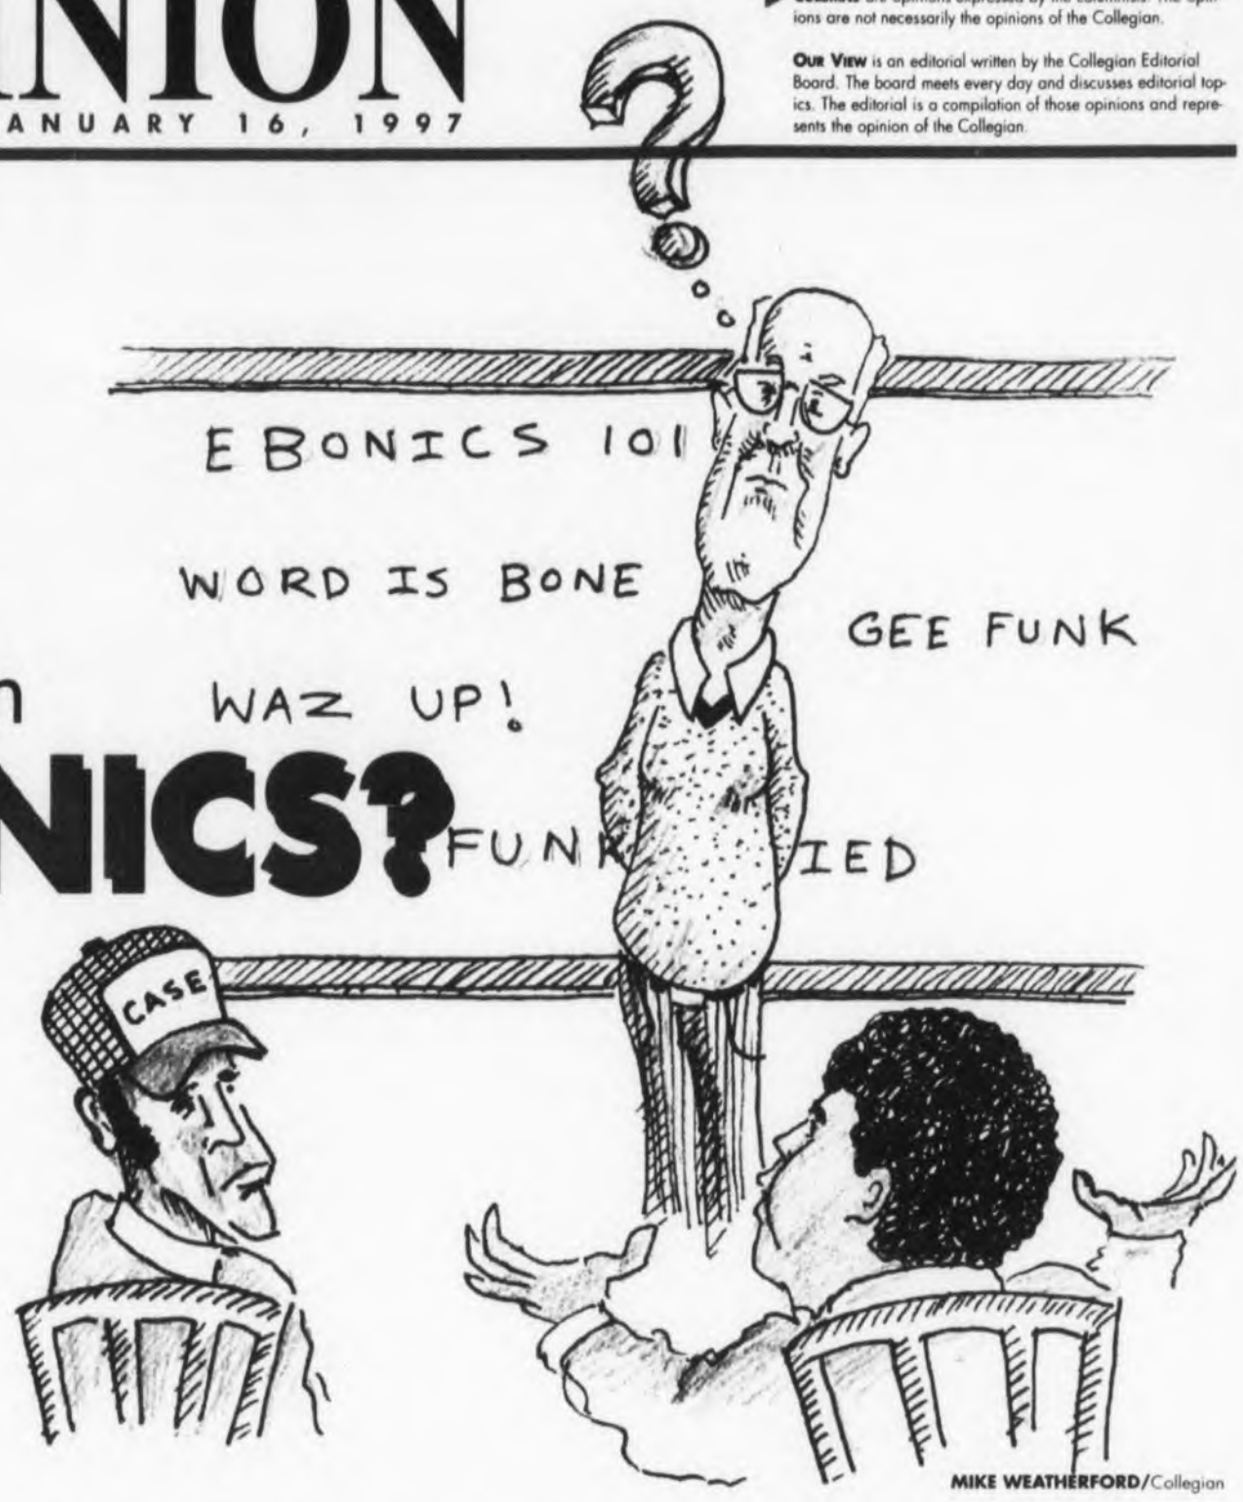
Some students have already lived through the nightmare of frozen and burst water pipes in their homes. If water pipes aren't well insulated, a trickle of water should be left running through the kitchen and bathroom faucets.

Extra care should also be taken when on the road. Local streets have been sporadically snowy and slick. Drivers need to remember streets can become slick quickly after precipitation starts.

Drivers should also be on the lookout for pedestrians in non-urban areas. Drivers involved in accidents might be walking for help.

If a long-distance trip is being planned during dangerously cold conditions, drivers should plan ahead. A cold-survival kit including blankets, road flares, snack food and flashlights with extra batteries should be packed in the trunk in the event of car trouble or accidents.

This cold weather is survivable if people use some common sense.



EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR IN CHIEF
Kimberly Hefling
MANAGING EDITOR
Miranda Kennedy
NEWS EDITOR
Claudette Riley
PHOTO EDITOR
Steve Hebert
PRESENTATION EDITOR
Scott M. Ladd
COPY CHIEF
Tanya Nisly
OPINION EDITOR
Kevin Klassen
CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
Charle Sioux Charleton
CAMPUS EDITOR
Jill Story
SPORTS EDITOR
Jeremy Kelley
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR
Tara Wray
ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
Portia Sisco
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
Jill Jarsulic
INVESTIGATIONS EDITOR
Nicole Kirby
E-COLLEGIAN EDITOR
Kady Guyton
ASSISTANT E-COLLEGIAN EDITOR
Kelly Furnas
OTHER EDITORIAL BOARD MEMBERS
Russell Fortmeyer, senior in architectural engineering

Our View, an editorial selected and debated by a majority of the editorial board, is written by the editorial board after a concensus opinion is reached. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other students. For details on how you can become involved with the editorial board, contact Kevin Klassen, opinion editor.

could we become hooked on EBONICS?

Maybe not. Does Ebonics have anything to do with the educational system?

MIKE WEATHERFORD/Collegian

VIEWPOINT

JUSTIN WILD

JUSTIN WILD is a senior in education and English. You can e-mail comments to Justin at (justone@ksu.edu).

America is, without a doubt, a diversified country. We live in a land comprised of individuals who come from all cultures, and who have brought their languages and practices to America.

The linguistic aspect of our national personality, however, is also one of the greatest dividing points among the population, with consequences reaching from socioeconomic status to bigotry and misunderstanding.

The latest development in our nation concerning language has arisen in Oakland, Calif. Ebonics, a word derived from ebony and phonics, has been officially recognized by the Oakland school board as the primary language of African American students within the district.

A plan is being formulated to utilize the language in the classroom in order to foster learning with students whose academic performance has increasingly fallen below national standards.

As a future educator, my first response to this measure was positive: statistical evidence continues to illustrate low U.S. educational performance among industrialized countries. If something aids a student in learning, then it should be considered for use in the classroom to determine if its long-term effects are positive.

In light of this, I have begun to question the merit of an act which could ultimately prove to further the isolation of a student body.

To begin with, one must question if Ebonics is a language. If Ebonics is a language, does it vary from region to region? Across the United States, there exist numerous dialects of English, with the core of the language remaining intact.

Ebonics does, in fact, use English as its base, making it seem more likely that it is nothing more than one more offshoot of English, much the same as a Cajun or Bostonian dialect. Students using Ebonics are not bilingual, but bi-dialectical.

Whether or not Ebonics is a language is important when it comes to federal funding. If it is a dialect, it is not eligible for funding. Accordingly, the federal government has stood by its 1981 decision that Ebonics is not a language.

The next question to be asked deals with the training of teachers in the use of Ebonics: can this form of communication be used by anybody, or is it more effective when spoken by African Americans? It is evident that Ebonics is viewed by many people as a linguistic body of an undetermined classification. It, like any other dialect or language, is constantly evolving.

If Ebonics is, in fact, a language, and it develops a slang vernacular, then which version of Ebonics will be taught as proper?

In fact, proper English is the very issue which so many people, including myself, are dancing around. Within the confines of education, there is an ongoing debate of prescriptive language use versus descriptive language use.

The philosophy of the prescriptive school dictates that a more formal usage of English best suits the needs of the student. The philosophy of descriptive language says that students should be taught with a more relaxed form of English.

After looking at all the evidence, I consider Ebonics to be a negative move, as I favor the prescriptive approach to language: if one cannot speak and write well, they aren't going to be taken as seriously as someone who can.

It seems to me that the Oakland school district, reputedly one of the worst in the country, is trying to bail water out of a sinking ship with a thimble.

If students aren't learning, it has more to do with the overall learning environment than the manner in which the teacher is speaking.

My linguistics instructor taught me not to judge a person by the way in which he or she speaks, and it proved to be a good lesson. The world, though, has not had the benefit of his class.

We are judged by the way in which we speak. If taught in a language environment which is heavy with a certain dialect, the product of that environment is not going to be taken as seriously in a job interview or similar situation, and that has far reaching implications.

Fads, which are numerous in education, will pass. The effects those fads, such as Ebonics, have on people are long lasting.

▶ YOUR VIEWS

• BYU OFFICIAL SURPRISED WITH K-STATE SUPPORT

Editor,

My wife and I have been attending Brigham Young University bowl games for almost 20 years. During that period of time, we have witnessed games involving some of the premier football powers in the country.

However, never have we seen any university support its team as did K-State fans during the recent Cotton Bowl. In fact, I am not sure that any university has ever had as many fans at a bowl game as did K-State on Jan. 1.

I would also like to compliment the K-State fans for their sportsmanship and graciousness after losing what had to be a heartbreaking game. We were stopped by any number of K-State people to congratulate us on our victory. One K-State fan took the time to climb on a BYU alumni bus to congratulate our fans. Believe me when I say we are not used to that sort of sportsman-like conduct.

K-State has a wonderful academic and athletic program. Count me as a K-State booster in the future.

John B. Stohlton
assistant vice president
Brigham Young University

• SNYDER THANKS FANS FOR THEIR SUPPORT THIS SEASON

Editor,

Thank you, thank you, thank you to the 45,000 loyal K-State football fans who made the trek to Dallas for the Cotton Bowl experience. Thank you to the thousands of others who were unable to attend, but were still there in spirit and supported us throughout the year. We thank you for your loyal and undying support for caring as you do, and for always being there when there is a need.

Certainly, it was a bitterly disappointing loss for all of us, but what a marvelous experience for the young men in this program, and we hope it is for all of you as well.

You have solidified the true meaning of the K-State Wildcat Family and every man (person) a Wildcat.

As I always share with our players, special people do special things. You, our constituency, have been special, and we are grateful. Thank you, thank you, thank you.

Bill Snyder
K-State football coach and K-State football staff and players

• To submit a letter

❶ Visit the Collegian newsroom.
Submit letters to Kevin Klassen at Kedzie 116.

❷ Drop it in the mail.
Send letters to Letters to the Editor, c/o Kevin Klassen, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506.

❸ Send it by e-mail.
Our e-mail address is (collegn@spub.ksu.edu).

Post-holiday offers up lots of goodies, but Santa forgot to leave one item in her Christmas stocking ...

One spiffy diamond bra

ADRIAN FLEMING/Collegian

VIEWPOINT

VALERI CRENSHAW

VALERIE CRENSHAW is a graduate student in print journalism. You can e-mail comments to Valerie at (vrc4359@ksu.edu).

Well, here it is January and the holidays are over. The gifts have all been opened and exchanged. The resolutions have all been made and broken. And here I am.

I am mad.

Frustrated is really probably a better description.

For weeks before Christmas, I poured over the Victoria's Secret Christmas catalog. I plotted and schemed. I dreamed and even begged.

All I wanted was one of the Victoria's Secret fantasy gifts. Was that too much to ask?

I decided that fantasy gift no. 2 was my favorite. It seemed the most useful and exciting. It also seemed the most suited to my lifestyle as a college student. What else says Valeri like the Diamond-Studded Miracle Bra?

There are many reasons why Santa should have dropped this morsel in my stocking, but some are more obvious than others. Though we may not wear the same size, I am sure that I would look as great in the Million Dollar Bra as Claudia Schiffer. But I think the real reason I wanted the bra was to answer all of my questions about ordering an undergarment made of precious stones through the mail.

How does one go about purchasing this baby? Let's assume we have an extra million in financial aid coming to us this semester and we decide to treat ourselves or girlfriend (hint!). Now what? Do we just call up the catalog and put it on our Victoria's Secret credit card? There isn't even a sku number in the catalog. I think this poses a real problem. I guess we just have to assume the operator knows which bra we are talking about.

Assuming we figure out the sku problem, how does one go about paying for it? Check? Credit card?

Once the fantasy gift is ordered, I would like to know what goes on at the warehouse. Do they just keep those things lying around by the cotton P.J.s and silk teddies?

I can just see them there in some cardboard box over in the corner. I wonder how many they have. I can't imagine that they are as much in demand as the satin Miracle Bras. How many people order these sort of gifts?

Supposing that they do keep the sparkling braziers in the warehouse with everything else in the catalog, I can't imagine how they are delivered to people's homes. The catalog promises a red velvet presentation box. (Oh, the perks associated with spending a million dollars on lingerie.) Surely they aren't sent through the mail in the typical white boxes with a discrete V.S. in the corner.

Maybe it is like winning the Publishers' Clearinghouse Sweepstakes. A camera crew knocks on your door one day. You answer in your bathrobe (that you ordered from Victoria's Secret, of course). And a man with a funny smile splashed across his face appears with balloons in one hand and a red velvet presentation box in the other.

It is at this moment that you clasp your hands to your mouth, mutter, "Oh my God" and start crying. After all you have been waiting for this delivery like Ralphie in "A Christmas Story" waiting for his decoder ring.

Maybe the delivery is a little more sterile than that. Possibly the bra is escorted to your home in one of those armored trucks that carry money around town.

Little men in uniforms with guns show up at your house. They talk out of the side of their mouths, and you get the feel you are in the middle of a drug deal. This process seems a little more hush-hush to keep the neighbors wondering.

Well, either method is fine with me, but now some of the serious wondering comes into play. OK, now the bra is safely in your possession. Now what? What in the world are you supposed to do with the thing? There are so many questions left unanswered. You could wear it, but I wonder if those precious stones would hurt.

If you wear it, how do you pull something like that off? I assume it is legal to wear it without a shirt. Someone who drops a million dollars on a bra wants to show a few people. Besides, I bet the diamonds would snag any fine fabric.

Now you have the problem of what to wear with it. Most of us have never been faced with this sort of dilemma. I assume anything goes with diamonds. I would opt for faded blue jeans. Would this be appropriate attire around Aggieville? My plan was to wear mine to the Cotton Bowl — I was sure it would get me on national television. Maybe next year.

This wearing of the Diamond Studded Miracle Bra also poses another problem for many of us out there.

You know who you are. Those persons who insist on wearing matching bras and underwear. The buyers for Victoria's Secret Catalog seemed to overlook this minor detail.

There is a growing population of persons who seem a little obsessive about whether their bra color matches their panties — ask anyone who has sold lingerie for awhile. As it stands, there are no diamond studded panties to couple the bra. This may be a good idea for the Valentine's Day catalog.

I also have to wonder what type of clasp they used so that the bra hooks together. I am banking on a double-eyelet in the back. I think it is almost taboo for stone-studded bras to latch in the front. If I am mistaken, please let me know.

I guess I will have to continue to lay awake at nights pondering the many questions of the Million Dollar Miracle Bra. I am holding out for Valentine's Day. If Santa couldn't follow through, surely Cupid can muscle a miracle my way.

University selects Truman nominees

Ameenuddin

Choitz

Kastner

Riemann

KIM BRUNA
staff reporter

Hoping to follow in the footsteps of other K-State scholars, four students have been selected as nominees for the $30,000 Truman Scholarship.

Nusheen Ameenuddin, senior in pre-health professions and biology; Vickie Choitz, senior in political science, secondary education and women's studies; Justin Kastner, senior in food science; and Tim Riemann, junior in pre-law and agricultural economics, will represent K-State as Truman nominees, a scholarship that K-State ranks first in the nation among public universities.

Presented annually to more than 85 college students, the Truman scholarship is aimed at students who plan to work in public service. The $30,000 scholarship can be used during the recipient's senior year and for graduate studies.

The selection process began last year when interested students filled out applications. Selected students were then invited for interviews by a committee consisting of campus faculty, who then selected the four nominees.

Unlike other universities, K-State creates a committee consisting of campus faculty to select the nominees. Riemann said that while the selection process at K-State to be selected as a nominee is intense, it is worth it.

"K-State has a very professional selection process compared to other schools," Riemann said. "It's really fortunate for the students at K-State."

For the past year, the four nominees have been perfecting their application, which is due at the regional office Jan. 23. If selected, they will go through more interviews and the final scholarship recipients will be announced in late March.

Whether the K-State nominees are selected or not, the experience will be worth it.

"It is a really competitive process," Choitz said. "But it has helped me aim my goals for grad school and life in general."

TED CABLE, professor of parks and resource management, recently was awarded the Master of Interpretation Award from the National Association of Interpreters. The job of an interpreter is to give meaning to facts people learn at parks and historical sites.

JILL JARSULIC
Collegian

Professor earns interpretation honors

JILL JARSULIC
staff reporter

A love of nature and a wish to share it with others has earned one K-State professor the Master of Interpretation Award from the National Association of Interpreters.

Ted Cable, professor of park and resource management, received the award at a national meeting in Billings, Mont. Each year, the association gives the award to a member who demonstrates mastery of interpretive techniques and serves as an inspiration to other members.

For Cable, his job is sometimes hard to distinguish from a hobby.

"To me, it's like getting paid to have fun," he said. "You get to go out and walk around in beautiful national parks on the trails and hike and look at the birds. And then, you get to share that with people. That's what's even more rewarding."

Like interpreting a foreign language, interpreters are the link between the public and the resource. They help the public to understand what is behind the facts at parks and historical sites, he said.

Interpreters may also be called naturalists, park rangers or historians, Cable said. Interpreter is a term that encompasses all aspects of the field.

Methods of interpretation might include a campfire at a national park, a morning bird walk or the re-enactment of a battle.

Cable has consulted on parks all over the world. He worked in Paraguay, Mexico and West Africa.

Closer to home, Cable designed the Oregon Trail Nature Park near Belvue.

"One of the real neat things there is an old silo that I recommended they not tear down," he said. "Now they have a woman doing a wonderful job painting a mural on the silo with scenes of the Oregon Trail."

At K-State, Cable teaches Methods of Environmental Interpretation. In the class, students learn ways of using different media to educate, inform and inspire the public.

Every spring, students take local elementary students out to Pottawatomie Lake to play environmental education games and take them on nature hikes.

"There's no substitute for that," Cable said. "I can tell them what it's like to work with children, but until you've done it yourself, it's like another world."

Students also dress up like Woodsy Owl and other characters and visit schools to give presentations on nature.

"It's good because it gives them a chance to get some interpretation under their belts," Cable said.

A love for the resource is not enough to be a good interpreter, Cable said. They must point out things that people might not always notice.

"A good interpreter really needs to have an affinity for people," Cable said. "You must want to share your enthusiasm with them. You're excited about the wildflowers or the stars or the birds. It's fun to take kids out, or adults for that matter, and say 'Look at this. Isn't it neat?'"

Network Computer Solutions

1212 Moro 776-9088

SYSTEMS	EACH SYSTEM INCLUDES:
PENTIUM 100MHZ.....$1365	Triton II Motherboard • 16 MB EDO RAM
PENTIUM 120MHZ.....$1380	1.2 GB RAM • 2MB PCI Bus Video Card •
PENTIUM 133MHZ.....$1425	3.5" Floppy Drive • 8x CD-ROM •
PENTIUM 150MHZ.....$1500	Soundblaster Vibra 16 • 15" .28 Monitor •
PENTIUM 166MHZ.....$1625	Mouse/Keyboard/Windows 95/ MS Works/Microsoft Money/Speakers

All systems come with a 1 year MANUFACTURERS WARRANTY

ADD-ONS (Available only with purchases of a system)		HARDWARE
16MB OF EDO RAM (TOTAL 32MB)	$68	8X CD-ROM	$110
2.0GB HARD DRIVE (UPGRADE)	$55	10X CD-ROM	$125
17" MONITOR (UPGRADE)	$300	33.6 FAX/MODEM W/VOICE	$105
33.6 MODEM	$100	1.6 GB WESTERN DIGITAL HD	$230
MS OFFICE 95	$185	DIAMOND STEALTH 3D PCI 2MB VIDEO	$125
		2MB CIRRUS LOGIC PCI VIDEO CARD	$75
		SOUNDBLASTER 16 PNP	$80

GAMES
MECHWARRIOR II: MERCENARIES.....$32
COMMAND & CONQUER: RED ALERT..$49

Starting Jan. 20, 1997 we are ordering games once per week at 10% above cost.

8MB 72 pin $37
15MB 72 pin $68

90 Days Same As Cash with approved credit

We are dedicated to low prices and amazing service. For all your upgrades, repairs or questions stop in or call.

VISA MasterCard DISCOVER

Just in case you decide to buy the books this semester.

It's everywhere you want to be.

KSU theatre

AUDITIONS!

THURSDAY, JAN. 16 & FRIDAY, JAN. 17

at 7pm -in Nichols Theatre Lobby for Spring Semester Productions of

"Les Liaison Dangereuses"
by Christopher Hampton
A Nichols Theatre Production

"Garbagemen of the Old West"
(Written and Directed by Dan Shea)
A Purple Masque Production

No preparation is necessary.
Open to all KSU Students.

Scripts available in 129 Nichols Hall.

Questions? Call 532-6875

Senate to review Student Pub fee

SANDY DAVIS
staff writer

Student Publications Inc. might be getting some new equipment.

The Board of Student Publications approved an equipment fee proposal on Wednesday that would finance the purchase of new equipment and replacement parts for older equipment used by Student Publications.

The proposal will be reviewed by the Student Senate's Privilege Fee Committee on Jan. 26.

The proposal includes a list of hardware, software and printing equipment needed to repair and upgrade the equipment already in use. Also included are press enhancements and a new insert machine to be used by the Collegian and the Royal Purple Yearbook.

The equipment fee generates about $65,000 each year, which is used for repairs, replacement and insurance on equipment. The proposal calls for more than $300,000 in new equipment and replacement parts.

Ron Johnson, Collegian adviser and board member, said that buying the new equipment and replacement parts is more economical than replacing the system, which would cost more than a million dollars.

"A million-dollar solution is not a solution," Johnson said.

The current system is made up of Macintosh computers that were converted to a news-based system. Equipment is bought off the shelves, and students and Macintosh technicians make the necessary repairs.

This makes the system cheaper than a dedicated news system.

Among the equipment listed in the proposal is an insert machine that would insert advertisements into the paper and two section papers. The $73,400 machine would eliminate stuffing expenses and offer readers and advertisers more color.

Also included in the proposal are press enhancements that would offer more four-color printing and reduce distribution delays.

The board is looking for help in financing the purchases over a two- to four-year period.

"There's no easy answer to it," Johnson said.

Rec expects more traffic

weather, intramurals attract students

With winter break over, students have returned for spring classes, and this has many facilities excited, especially the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex.

Over winter break, the average daily attendance at the Rec Complex was 700 people. Normally, about 2,500 people use the facility daily. Now, as students return, numbers are expected to increase back to normal, or even higher, according to Rec staff members.

According to Derek Walters, facility director at the Rec Complex, the numbers in attendance could increase for a number of reasons. The weather, New Year's resolutions and the new Surgeon General warning are just some examples he cited.

REC HOURS

Monday - Friday
6a.m. - midnight
Saturday
9a.m. - 10p.m.
Sunday
Noon - midnight

Walters said he expects the attendance to jump to around 3,000 people by the end of January or the beginning of February.

Another reason for the jump in attendance is intramurals at the Rec Complex. The main intramural sport coming up is basketball. All entries will be taken from Jan. 21-24, and the action starts Thursday, Jan. 30. Entries are accepted at the Recreation Services office between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Walters said that the Rec Complex has not added any new services for users for the upcoming semester, but pointed out that many services are available. Among them are fitness consulting, aerobic exercises and recreational swimming. All services are free to students, faculty, staff and facility card holders.

"The recreation complex is kind of like Worlds of Fun. Once you're in, the rides and attractions are all free," Walter said.

The Rec Complex can be used by a variety of different people. First, current students, faculty and staff can use the facilities. Also, lay-out students and Alumni Association members can use the facilities as long as they carry a facility-user card.

Lay-out students are those who attended K-State the previous semester, but are not currently enrolled. For these students to use the facility, they must purchase a facility-user card at the same price that alumni and graduates pay. Services for these users last through the summer 1997.

During the semester, the Rec Complex also hopes to skin four dirt infields on the recreation softball fields before the season starts, Walters said. Whether or not this is finished will likely depend on the weather.

JOHN O'BRIEN, senior in kinesiology, serves the ball to Jeff Arensdorf, senior in marketing, during a friendly racketball match Wednesday night at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex. The Rec Complex averages 2,500 students using the facilities daily.

story by cory morgan • photos by ben white

KPL, KG&E rates to decrease

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA — An agreement that will result in lower electric rates for customers of the state's largest energy utility was made formal Wednesday in an order issued by the Kansas Corporation Commission.

The KCC and Western Resources Inc. of Topeka agreed in October that Western should cut its rates by $75 million by January 1999. The biggest beneficiaries will be customers of Western's Kansas Gas and Electric Co. subsidiary, who will see their rates decline 11.4 percent.

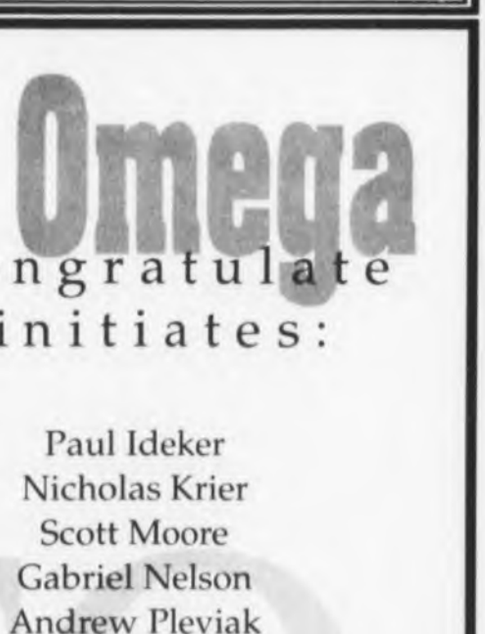
Western is the product of a merger between KG&E and KPL Gas Service. KG&E's rates remained significantly higher after the merger.

In August 1995, Western asked the KCC to cut its rates by $61 million, but the KCC had wanted to consider rate cuts of up to $96 million. After the company and the KCC reached their agreement, the commission had more hearings.

Western spokeswoman Michel' Philipp said the company sought the rate decrease to make its rates competitive.

"We're very pleased that we could reach a resolution on this with the commission," she said.

In May 1996, the KCC had ordered an $8.7 million decrease in Western's rates, and that decrease now becomes permanent.



On Feb. 1, a $36.3 million decrease in rates for KG&E customers will take effect. Rates for KPL customers will decrease $10 million.

In June 1998, rates for KG&E customers will decrease by another $10 million. An additional $10 million reduction will take affect in June 1999.

In addition, both KPL and KG&E customers will get one-time rebates worth $5 million, both in January 1998 and January 1999.

Take a Study Break
read the Collegian

25 % Discount
on any service over $10 to anyone mentioning this ad.
35 Years of combined experience to give you great looking hair.
A Cut Above Styling Salon
FirstBank Center • 537-3200
Corner of Denison and Claflin (Across from Goodnow)

Sausage and Egg Bagel
Open 24 hours, 7 days a week
COUNTRY KITCHEN
• Scrambled eggs
• Savory sausage
• Melted cheddar
• Sandwiched between two bagel slices
• Served with baby red potatoes
• Garnished with fresh fruit
420 Tuttle Creek Blvd. (913) 776-6301

K-STATE STUDENT UNION
Host to the Campus & Open to the Community
Bluemont Buffet will be open Thursday, January 16 and Friday, January 17.
It is located on the 2nd floor Bluemont Room, Kansas State Student Union.
Please come join us from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

TROPICAL TAN
"When The Beach Is Out Of Reach"
•10 WOLFF SYSTEM TANNING BEDS
•STAND-UP BOOTH
•WALK-INS WELCOME
•APPOINTMENTS AVAILABLE
•SPECIAL PACKAGE DEALS OFFERED YEAR ROUND
537-0744
1814 CLAFLIN (2nd LEVEL-ABOVE CLAFLIN BOOKS) Exp. 1-24-97
BACK-TO-SCHOOL SPECIAL 10 tans for $25
Southern Sun
NEW CANDLEWOOD LOCATION
Manhattan's Original Wolff Systems Center
Great New West Side Location
Open Year-Round With Convenient Hours
Serving Both Professional & Student Clientele
Keep Your Tan Glowing With Us!
776-8060
3232 KIMBALL (NEXT TO BOBBY T'S)
Always Great Bulbs at the Best Prices!

Alpha Tau Omega
would like to congratulate the following initiates:

Neil Adamson	Paul Ideker
Robert Bensman	Nicholas Krier
Mitchell Bivens	Scott Moore
Michael Boyd	Gabriel Nelson
Joshua Brueggemann	Andrew Pleviak
Andrew Fitzgerald	Travis Poland
Jeremy Girard	Jonathan Richardson
Ryan Glenn	Matthew Rogers
Jebtha Graham	Chad Russell
James Haas	Curtis Snowden
Christopher Hadley	Christopher Struzina
Scott Hamblin	Mark Toepfer
Brandon Hodge	David Woolf

Shear Dynamics
Start Your Semester Off With A New Look!
1215 Laramie 776-9100
$30 full set of nails
$16 fill, $10 manicure
$18 pedicure
Add a paraffin dip for $5
Expires 2-1-97
$10 men's haircut & style or $15 women's haircut & style with Nikki or Shiloh
Expires 2-1-97
1 hour massage - $25
1/2 hour massage - $20
Basic facial - $25
Expires 2-1-97
$10 off any perm or color with a haircut & style with Nikki, Shiloh, or Sandy
Expires 2-1-97
WE USE AND RECOMMEND Matrix ESSENTIALS
Prices not good with any other coupons or specials
Buy one product, get one half price
SYSTÈME BIOLAGE

Tabloid to return crime-scene photos

ASSOCIATED PRESS

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — A supermarket tabloid that ran crime-scene photos of slain 6-year-old beauty queen JonBenet Ramsey agreed Tuesday to return the pictures, along with two others it didn't publish.

In return, Boulder County agreed to drop a lawsuit that sought to block the Globe from publishing any more of the crime-scene photos, said Mike Kahane, a lawyer for the tabloid.

The weekly Globe ran five photos in the issue that hit newsstands on Monday. The photos show a garrote — a cord-wrapped stick that might have been used to strangle JonBenet — and a rope around one of her wrists.

Whoever leaked the pictures could face theft charges, authorities said. An investigation is under way into how the Globe obtained the photos.

Kahane said that under the agreement, they deny all wrongdoing and all liability. The 1.3-million-circulation tabloid based in Boca Raton, Fla., also reserves the right to republish any of the photos that it ran Monday, and to publish any material it obtains in the future, he said.

The paper will return two other crime-scene photos that it obtained but did not publish, Kahane said.

Madeleine Mason, deputy county attorney, said the county was more concerned with two photos that the Globe did not run because authorities did not know what they showed.

The agreement was the best way to resolve the issue, she said in a news conference Tuesday.

Police and County Coroner John Meyer have said publication of the photos could damage the investigation by revealing details known only to the killer and police.

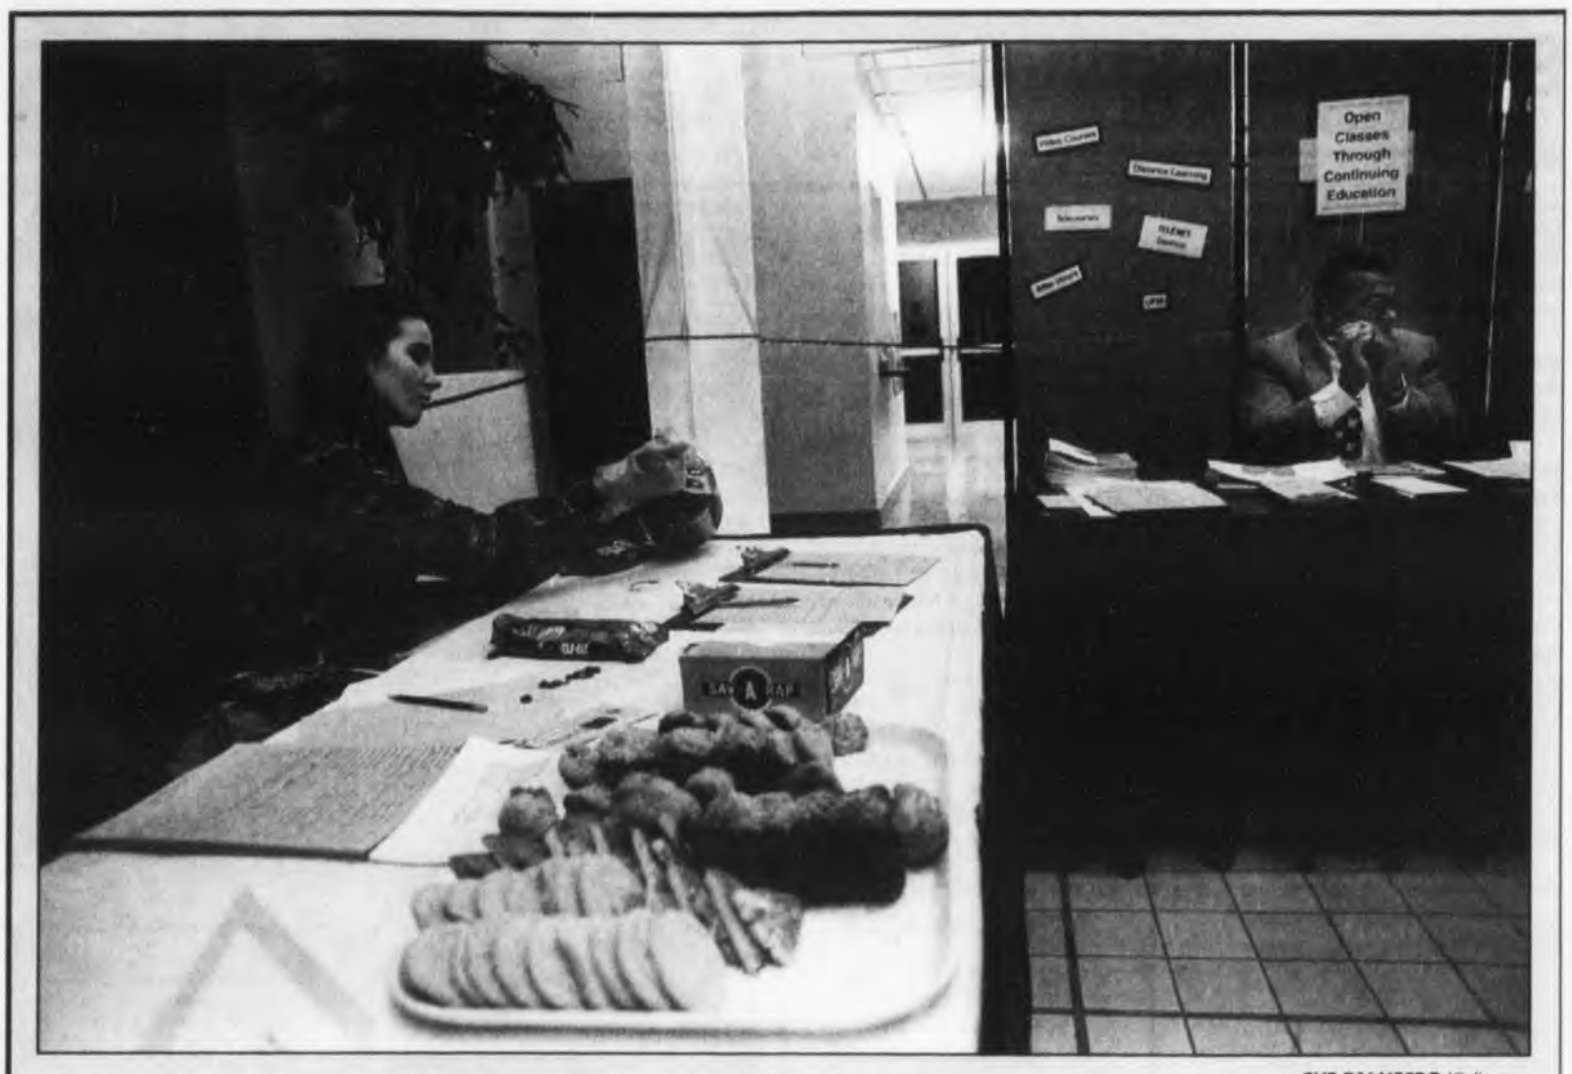
"They were stolen from my office," Meyer said of the photos. "No matter what the source was, it's stolen material."

Meanwhile, the Globe announced it will match the Ramseys' $50,000 reward for information leading to arrests in the killing of JonBenet, 1995's Little Miss Colorado.

JonBenet's body was found in the basement of her home Dec. 26 after her mother reported finding a ransom note on a stairway.

Police said the girl was strangled but would not confirm reports she was sexually assaulted and her skull fractured.

Six people who work for the coroner's office or the photo lab that processed the crime-scene film have taken polygraph tests and more are scheduled, Sheriff George Epp said.



McNeill declined to comment on Newsweek and ABC reports that semen was found near JonBenet's body and that DNA tests were being done.

Meanwhile, John and Patricia Ramsey have hired former FBI agent John Douglas, the inspiration for an investigator in "The Silence of the Lambs," to investigate their daughter's death.

The Ramseys previously hired attorneys, private investigators and a spokesman, Pat Korten. Korten declined to say what Douglas' role will be.

"The detectives are conducting their own investigation, and that's the way it should be," Korten said. "But when we have information that would be valuable for their work, we share it with them."

Boulder police issued a statement saying Douglas has been interviewed by detectives and offered an opportunity to provide insight on the case.

CLIF PALMBERG/Collegian

MICHELLE MENKE, senior in pre-medicine and biology, counts M&M's for a guess-the-number contest sponsored by Professional Food-Service Management, Inc. The contest will be next week.

WHITLEY

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

self.

"I just thought it was some kid with a camera," he said.

An attorney from Myers Pottroff & Ball, Ted Smith, who handled the case for Leetch, said that while the no contest plea still means guilty in the eyes of the state, it doesn't mean Leetch admitted guilt.

He said a no contest plea also means the state cannot require jail time or fines.

While there may be some doubt about what exactly happened that night, there is no doubt about the law when it comes to battery.

Barry Wilkerson, assistant Riley County attorney, said that while a business owner or bouncer can request someone to leave, they cannot use physical violence.

"If someone is going to be a problem," he said, "then the police should be called in so it doesn't escalate."

Wilkerson added that his office has had complaints about local bouncers.

"We've had reports of people getting roughed up by bouncers in Aggieville. If we get a clean shot on a bouncer, we're going to charge them," he said.

The charges of conspiracy to commit robbery and conspiracy to commit aggravated battery, were dropped at the victim's request, Wilkerson said.

Espresso Coffee Stains Espresso
Whole Sandwich
TURKEY, ROAST BEEF, PASTRAMI
$2.99 EXP. 1-31-97
1140 Westloop Center
tucked away behind Little Caesars
537-0699

Optical Perspectives
Eyeglasses as low as
$59 Some restrictions apply
Repairs and free adjustments.
We fill your hometown doctor's prescription.
300 Poyntz • Downtown • 539-5105
2439 Claflin • Medical Center • 539-2555

Winter Sale
Birkenstocks
Selected Styles Only
No Special Orders
Olson Shoes
214 B Moro- Aggieville

WAREHOUSE CLEAR-OUT
Reduced Drastically
Bound Area Rugs
4x6 STARTING AT ONLY $19.99 5x8 STARTING AT ONLY $29.99
6x9 STARTING AT ONLY $39.99 9x12 STARTING AT ONLY $79.99
Over 500 IN STOCK to choose from!!!
90 Days Same as cash
Mon.-Fri. 8:30-5:30 p.m.
Sat. 9:30-4 p.m.
Financing Available
Bryant Carpet
Heartland Home Interiors
320 Pillsbury Dr. Manhattan, Ks. 66502
776-4367

The TECHNICAL COLLEGE
MANHATTAN AREA TECHNICAL COLLEGE
Spring 1997 Continuing Education Course Schedule

CLASS	TIME/DAY	CLOCK HOURS	CREDIT HOURS	SESSIONS	DATES	COST
Keyboarding	6:00-8:30 T,Th	40	1	16	Jan. 21 - March 13	$45
Formatting	6:00-8:30 M,W	40	1	16	Jan. 27 - March 19	$45
Business Math	6:00-8:30 T,Th	60	2	24	Jan. 21 - April 17	$65
Business English	6:00-8:30 M,W	60	2	24	Feb. 10 - May 7	$65
Business Communication	6:00-9:00 T,Th	60	2	20	Feb. 18 - May 1	$65
Accounting 1	6:00-9:00 T,Th	60	2	20	Jan. 28 - April 10	$65
Computer Concepts	6:00-8:30 M,W	60	2	24	Feb. 10 - May 7	$65
Windows	6:00-8:30 T,Th	40	1	16	Jan. 28 - March 20	$45
Small Business Acct.	6:00-9:00 Wed	45	NC	15	Jan. 29 - May 14	$55
Office Skills Review	6:00-9:00 Mon	24	NC	8	Jan. 27 - March 17	$30
Beg. Desktop Publish.	6:00-8:30 M,W	20	NC	8	Jan. 27 - Feb. 19	$35
Adv. Desktop Publish.	6:00-8:30 M,W	20	NC	8	Feb. 24 - March 19	$35
Intro. Computers	6:00-8:30 Fri	30	NC	12	Jan. 24 - April 18	$35
Intro. Computers	6:00-8:30 M,W	30	NC	12	Jan. 27 - March 5	$35
Windows Apps.	6:00-8:30 M,W	20	NC	8	Jan. 27 - Feb. 19	$25
Understanding LAN	6:30-9:30 M,W	12	NC	4	Jan. 22 - Feb. 3	$20
Beg. WordPerf. 6.0 Win	6:00-8:30 T,Th	20	NC	8	Jan. 21 - Feb. 13	$25
Adv. WordPerf. 6.0 Win.	6:00-8:30 T,Th	20	NC	8	Feb. 18 - March 13	$25
Beg. Lotus for Win.	6:00-8:30 T,Th	20	NC	8	Feb. 25 - March 20	$25
Beg. AutoCAD	6:00-10:00 T,Th	48	NC	12	Jan. 28 - March 6	$60
Int. AutoCAD	6:00-10:00 M,Th	48	NC	12	Jan. 27 - March 6	$60
Beg. Welding	6:30-9:30 M,W	54	NC	18	Jan. 27 - April 2	$80
Adv. Welding	6:30-9:30 M,W	54	NC	18	Jan. 27 - April 2	$80
CPR	6:30-9:30 TUES	6	NC	2	Jan. 21 - Jan. 28	$15
CPR	6:30-9:30 TUES	9	NC	3	Jan. 21 - Feb. 4	$18
CPR	6:30-9:30 TUES	12	0.5	4	Jan. 21 - Feb. 11	$20
Medical Terminology	6:00-9:00 Wed	36	NC	12	Feb. 12 - May 7	$45
EMT	6:15-10:15 M,Th	210	7	47	Feb. 24 - Aug. 28	$235
EMT	2:00-6:00 M,W,F	210	7	47	Feb. 3 - June 4	$235

Complete course descriptions and schedules are available at The Technical College.
Textbooks may be purchased at Varney's Bookstore, 623 N. Manhattan Avenue, Manhattan, KS.

Enroll in these courses at Manhattan Area Technical College, 3136 Dickens Avenue,Manhattan, KS 66503, during regular office hours, 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Friday. For more information, call The Technical College, 913/587-2800 or 800/352-7575.

Your Partner in a Productive and Successful Future

Engaged? Married?
The first Friday of every month the Collegian presents
"Once in a Lifetime."
This is your chance to let 30,000 of your closest friends in on your happy news.
Engagement Announcement $12
Include Photo $10
Wedding Announcement $15
For a limited time only, we will place your announcement for FREE!
Come to Kedzie 103 to place your announcement
the Friday preceding the publication date.
First deadline is Friday, January 31 for February 7 publication.

BUILDING

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

for lacrosse and rugby practice."

The most noticeable affect the widening will produce is the removal of a row of trees along the southern side of the green space and smaller yards for the residences on Anderson Avenue between Denison and Sunset avenues.

That hasn't stopped users of the green space from voicing their concerns about the possible development of the site.

Chris Sorensen, professor of physics and faculty adviser to the K-State Rugby Football Club, said the 12-feet expansion wouldn't keep the Rugby Club from playing, although it would cramp their space.

"There's no place for club sports on this campus," Sorensen said. "We've talked to the athletic department about getting on thc intramural fields. I wish there was somehow we could share the fields."

The Rugby Club has used other sites for games, such as a field at Tuttle Creek State Park and a field near Bramlage Coliseum.

Sorensen said the Memorial Stadium site is convenient for students and is a good field, unlike the Bramlage field which is rocky.

"Club sports are kind of lost children — they get kicked around," Sorensen said.

Although building construction on the Memorial Stadium site is still up in the air, the Anderson project will go ahead as scheduled.

Messer said the city has hired a consultant for the project.

The consultant is working to survey the site, conduct traffic volume and accident data, and obtain right-of-way and property rights information, Messer said.

Messer estimated the project to cost nearly $7 million, with most of that money coming from federal money appropriated through state grants.

The grants would have to be matched with local money, which could be collected through the City/University Projects Fund, the city's bond authority or the Storm Water Management Fund, Messer said.

Residents and users of the site have a chance to voice their opinions at public hearings planned for 7 p.m., Feb. 13 at the fire department's main office, 2000 Denison Ave.

FEES

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"It was a lot more confusing in Ahearn, but this is pretty straight forward. I miss all the free stuff at the end, though," Gregg Coup, senior in biology, said.

Kelly Bielefeld, freshman in computer science, agreed the new system was better.

"This is a lot easier, but you still have to go through the same waiting-in-line process," he said.

But not everyone liked the new method.

"I like the other way better because I knew what was going on. My roommate had all of her classes dropped and that scared me," Kristy Oldham, sophomore in animal sciences, said.

Statements were mailed to students on Dec. 3, and students started responding on Dec. 4.

"We started getting replies immediately," Ackley said.

Financial aid was not adversely affected by the new process.

"Financial aid was credited to the account before we sent the bill to students," Ackley said.

Students whose bills showed a credit balance were directed to pick up their checks in the K-State Student Union beginning Jan. 10.

All fee payment services will be in the Union until Friday. After that, students will need to go to various offices in Anderson, Edwards and Fairchild halls to pay fees, pick up checks and buy parking permits.

The mail-in process will be used again for fall semester. To make this process easier, students should apply for financial aid by March 1.

"(Applying early) allows students to get an application in and gives the state time to process it," Larry Moeder, director of student financial assistance, said.

The deadline for scholarship applications is Feb. 1.

Because students will have moved home or will be working at summer jobs or internships, the cashier's office needs students to update addresses before leaving for the summer.

DARROW

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Ruttan said Darrow loved music and playing the guitar. He also loved children, traveling and hanging out with his friends.

"All my friends have told me death can never take from us what he gave us with his love," Ruttan said. "He left this world a better place. Everybody will miss him dearly."

"I have so much to say, but I don't know what to say," Ruttan said. "I can't sum up his whole life in one article. He made the most out of his short life."

Ruttan said Darrow was known to his high school football and basketball teammates as the silent general because he never liked the spotlight.

Darrow graduated from Marion High School where he earned varsity letters for three years in both football and basketball. He was a class officer throughout his four years of high school.

Grant Thierolf, Darrow's high school football coach, said Darrow was a team leader and inspired his teammates.

"He was really one of those kids you enjoyed seeing at practice every day," Thierolf said. "He was a good hitter and had great hands. He wasn't the best athlete we ever had, he just loved playing, not for honors or glory."

Survivors include his parents, Bill and Debbie Darrow; brother, Chris Darrow; and sister, Carrie Darrow, all of Marion.

A memorial fund has been established in his name at Marion High School.

Felzine, known to his friends as Fuzzy, worked in construction and hoped to save enough money to attend K-State next fall. Armin attended Southwest Missouri State University.

Read the Collegian. It's a good read.

The Collegian is on the World Wide Web. Check it out at (http://collegian.ksu.edu).

Winston Place Apartments
"The Place You Can Come Home To"
Spacious studio, one and two bedroom apartments
•Water/Trash Paid
•Small Pets OK
•Pool/Weight Room
•Laundry on-site
539-9339
Kimball & Seaton Avenue

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

THE Palace Cards & Gifts
Welcome Back, Students
20% off All 1997 Calendars
50% off Assorted Marked Items
COUPON
Greeting Cards Buy 2, Get 1 FREE
(of equal or lesser value)
expires Jan. 31, 1997
Cards • Posters • Balloons
Boyds Bears • Candles • Candy
704 N. Manhattan Ave. • In Aggieville • 539-7654
Mon.-Fri. 8:30-8:30 • Sat. 8:30-5:30 • Sun. 12:00-5:00

WELCOME BACK
SALE
WARM ROBES & PJS
THERMAL UNDERWEAR
BRAS, GOWNS
NIGHTSHIRTS
Patricia's UNDERCOVER Lingerie
1224 MORO
OPEN TODAY
10 A.M.-7 P.M.
MON.-THURS. 10 A.M.-7 P.M.
FRI. & SAT. 10 A.M.-6 P.M.
AGGIEVILLE SINCE 1889

AMERICAN FAMILY INSURANCE
AUTO HOME BUSINESS HEALTH LIFE
KSU Grad '88
TIM ENGLE
"Call Us For A Quote"
3258 Kimball Ave.
Manhattan, Ks.
537-4661

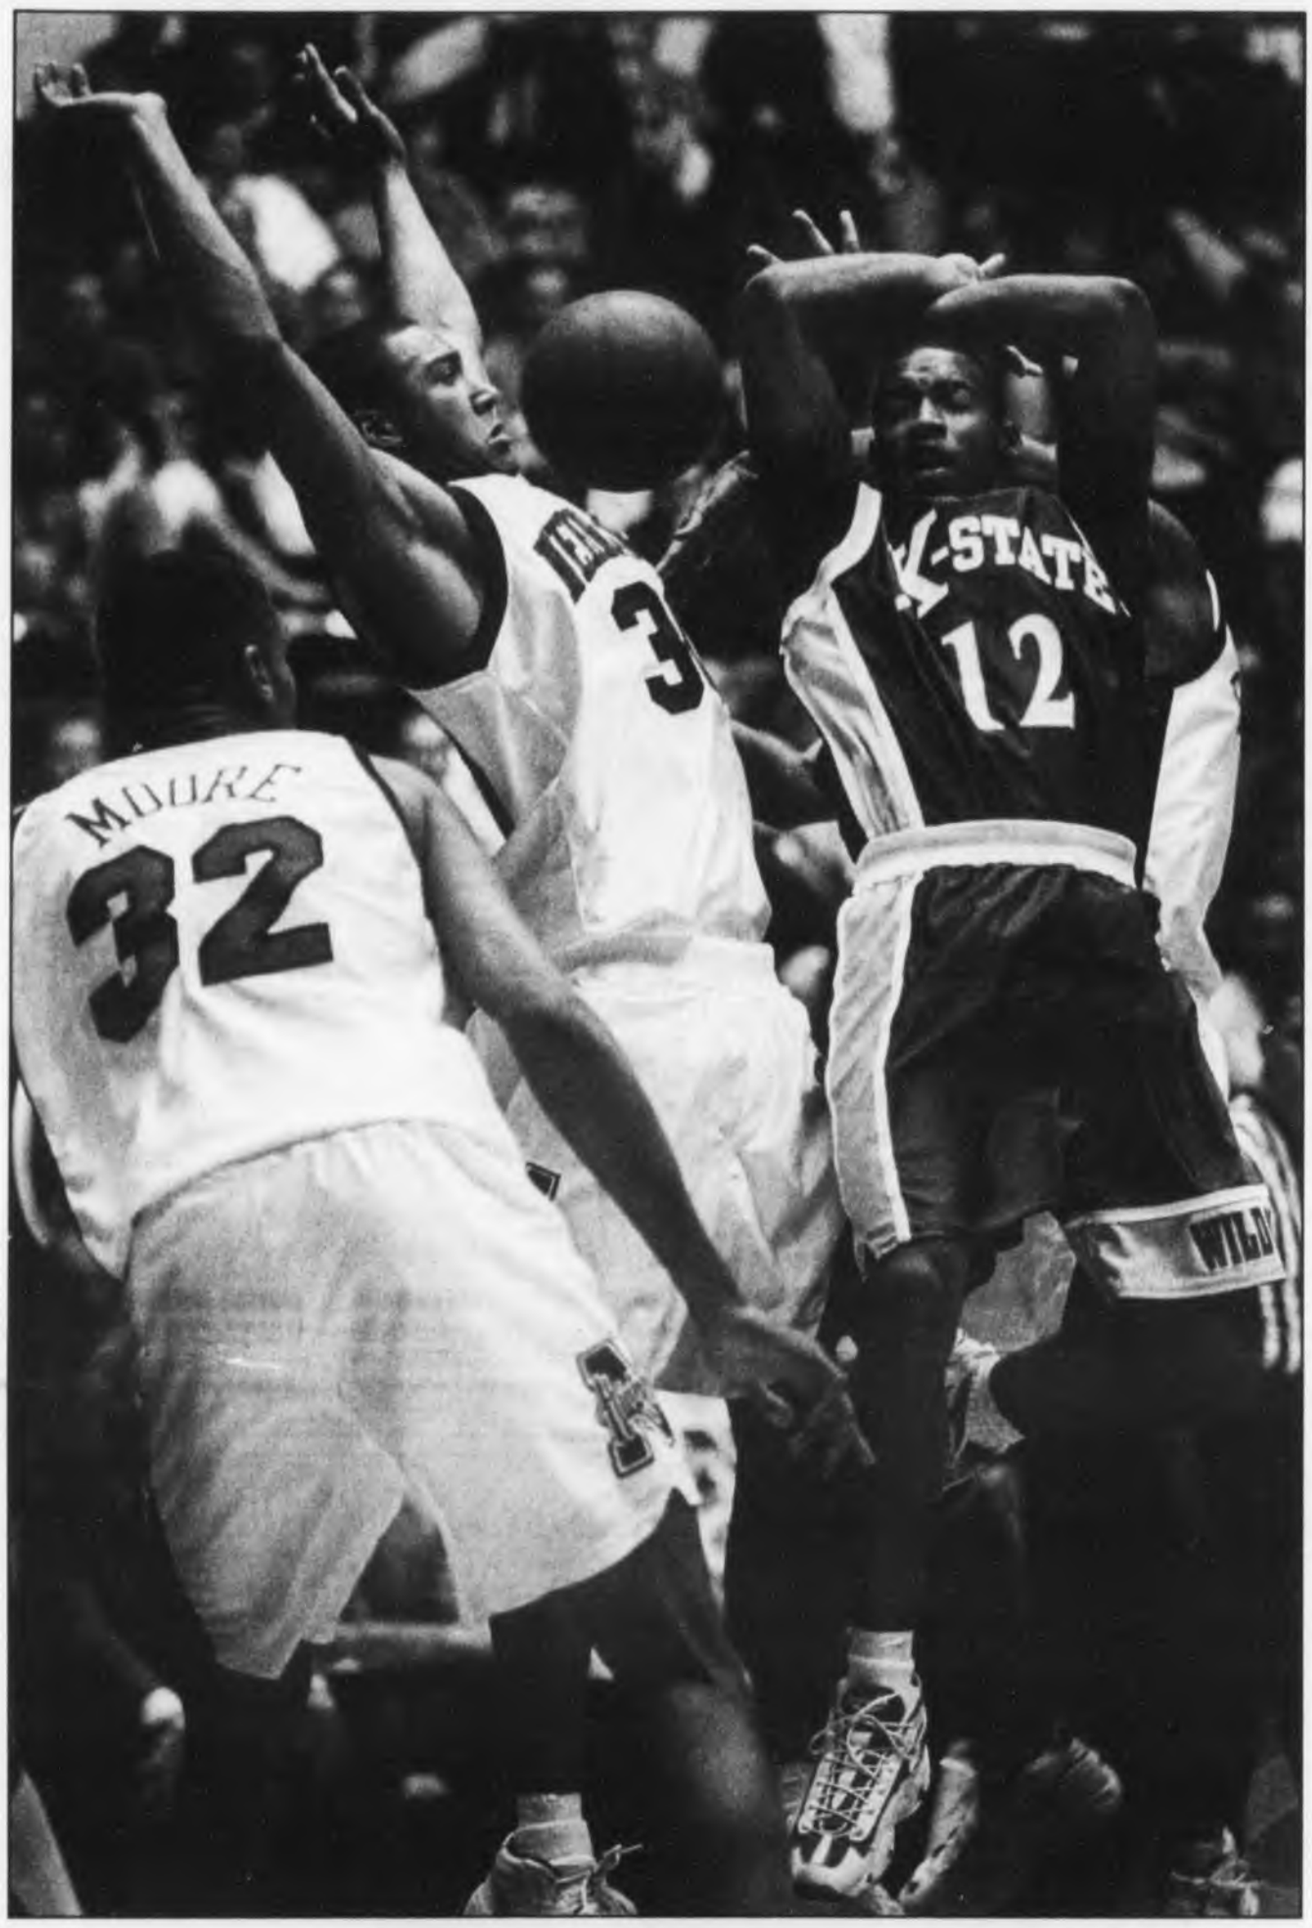
Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road • Across from Goodnow Hall
BOOKS
SELF-SERVE COPIES
RESUMES
WORD PROCESSING
NEWSPAPERS
DESKTOP PUBLISHING
FAX SERVICE
GREETING CARDS
Don't settle for OLD NEWS
The New York Times
Special Academic Subscription Rate
Save 47 % off the cover price
53¢ ($38 16 total)
Read the New York Times the day of publication
(913) 776-3771
Fax: (913) 776-1009
E-mail: cbcbkcpy@interkan.net

A SURE SIGN OF SAVINGS
USED BOOKS from
Varney's BOOK STORE IN AGGIEVILLE
THIS STICKER ON A TEXTBOOK HAS MEANT SAVINGS TO K-STATERS SINCE 1890. VARNEY'S BOOK STORE HAS A LARGE SELECTION OF USED BOOKS AND OUR FRIENDLY STAFF IS READY TO HELP YOU WITH ALL YOUR BOOK AND SUPPLY NEEDS.
Open 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. Monday thru Saturday, Noon until 5 p.m. Sunday
Extended Hours During Back-To-School!
Phone 539-0511
Fax 537-2351
EMAIL: Varney@varneysbookstore.com
HOMEPAGE: http://www.varneysbookstore.com

VISA MasterCard DISCOVER AMERICAN EXPRESS
Shop at the store that supports your community.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
SPORTS
THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1997

MORE STRANGE NEWS FROM THE BASKETBALL COURT



▶ Dennis Rodman kicked a courtside cameraman in the groin Wednesday night during the third quarter of the Chicago Bulls' game against the Minnesota Timberwolves. Rodman was struggling for a rebound when he stumbled out of bounds and fell over a photographer.

SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY
e-mail: (weasal1@ksu.edu)

TOMORROW
CANTY NO MOR
Chris Canty has opte to forego his senio season and enter the NF draft. Look for Cant press conferenc coverage on tomorrow' sports page

▶ K-STATE 77 BIG 12 CONFRONTATION NEBRASKA 87 ◀

FALLING APART?

Cats fall to Huskers after leading, 48-30, at halftime in Lincoln

JEREMY KELLEY
sports editor

After coming off a 41-point debachling at the mercy of Texas, the K-State men's basketball team was searching for anything to answer their woes on the road.

Wednesday night in Lincoln at the Devaney Center they almost found an answer.

Almost.

K-State dominated the Cornhuskers for most of the game but gave them enough breathing room to force an overtime period. Then it was all Nebraska, mainly sophomore guard Tyronn Lue, who scored eight of the Husker 15 points in the extra frame.

"Nebraska seems to always find a go-to guy," Coach Tom Asbury said. "We let him loose a few times and he made some big plays."

Those big plays seemed to be the big factor in the Huskers win, who improved to 10-5 on the year and 2-1 in the Big 12.

The disappointing finish didn't start at the beginning of the contest. Rather, it turned ugly as the drudging match progressed.

K-State completely dominated Nebraska in every aspect of the game in the first half and mounted leads by as many as 20 points behind the play of forward Mark Young and guard Aaron Swartzendruber who combined for 21 points in the first period.

"We were playing close to the vessel. We were attacking on the defensive end in the first half, and I think we surprised them," Asbury said.

Surprised wasn't the operative word. Try shocked.

Up 48-30 at the half, the Cats looked as if they would run away with the game.

But Nebraska started the second half with a 7-0 run that ignited the 10,000 fans at the Devaney Center. With the crowd at their heels, Nebraska could do no wrong. On the other hand, it seemed as if K-State could do no right.

Down by just six, Nebraska showed the Cats a half-court trap which caused them all sorts of grief. Grief that produced 17 turnovers in the second half.

"We went out on a roll, and we were feeling it," Swartzendruber said. "But they slowed the tempo down, and we expected that."

From the beginning it was a cat and dog fight, each team scrapping for whatever offensive firepower they could.

Junior transfer Marcus McCullough put quality minutes in for the Wildcats in the second half. McCullough told Asbury Monday that he was ready to play after being redshirted to start the season.

McCullough played 23 minutes and scored six points down the stretch due to K-State's horrendous foul trouble: four players fouled out before the contest was over including McCullough.

With 4:44 left, forward Venson Hamilton followed up a missed lay-up by guard Cookie Belcher with a death-defying jump that brought the sea of red to their feet and brought the Huskers within one, 64-63.

Then the Huskers showed the half-court trap again and all the Cats could do was try to hang on.

Lue came up big again for the Huskers when he hit a 3-pointer to knot the score at 72 with 37 seconds left.

K-State had one last chance to escape with a win, but Swartzendruber's shot missed just short and the aforementioned Husker-dominated overtime was forced.

"We have to do a lot of soul searching," Asbury said. "We have to play like that every time we come out."

K-State suffered its third straight defeat and looks to change things around when they square off with Texas Tech Saturday.

"Sure this is tough to swallow. They're all tough to swallow," Asbury said. "This is tough to swallow because we lost."

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL FALLS AS WELL

▶ Interested in women's basketball coverage? Check out the Electronic Collegian at (http://collegian.ksu.edu/sports).

ABOVE. JUNIOR GUARD Ayome May and Nebraska's Cookie Belcher fight for the ball during the first half of action Wednesday night in Lincoln.

BRANDON WHITE
Collegian

LEFT. K-STATE GUARD Aaron Swartzendruber chases Nebraska's Tyron Lue out of bounds during the first half of action Wednesday night in Lincoln.

JILL JARSULIC
Collegian

Cats have hard time handling silky smooth Nebraska sophomore

JEREMY KELLEY
sports editor

Last week against Texas, K-State saw a super-sensational performance from a player who hadn't seen but 40 minutes of action in the past two years.

Fifth-year senior Al Coleman burned the Cats last week for a career high 32 points off of 10 of 14 shooting behind the three-point line. By the way, the 10 three-pointers were a Texas record.

Wednesday night, they practically saw a repeat performance from sophomore guard Tyronn Lue.

Lue paced the Huskers (and pasted the Wildcats) with 29 points, six assists and six steals in a contest that was predominantly dominated by K-State until the overtime period when Lue took over and captured the game for Nebraska.

"Give that guy credit," guard Aaron Swartzendruber said. "He stepped up and made some big shots for his team when they needed him most."

Swartzendruber battled all night with the sophomore from Mexico, Mo., and he finished the night with 18 points.

"It was fun to go head-to-head with him, but it was also a lot of hard work," Swartzendruber said. "He threw us off guard. He's so quick and low to the ground. He has great hands and can stop on a dime and shoot."

Lue sank a three-point bucket with 37 seconds left in regulation to force the overtime period.

Forward Mark Young compared the play of Lue to another Big 12 standout, Kansas point guard Jacque Vaughn.

"He handles the ball really well, and he scores a lot," Young said. "He made some decent shots."

Lue was crucial down the stretch for his team, sinking three free throws and adding four other tallies in the overtime.

"I came in the locker room and told the players that we were not going to lose this ball game," Lue said. "The team and the coaches picked me as the captain so I think it is my job to step up."

Lue matched his season high Wednesday night, in which he scored against Texas A&M.

As for Nebraska coach Danny Nee, he wasn't so supportive of Lue's performance.

"We have to get more balance on the team outside of Tyronn," he said.

Cat guard adjusts to Patterson's new coaching system

DANA LEHNER
staff reporter

Transition. It's a big part of the game of basketball on and off the court. But maybe even more so for sophomore guard Jenny Coalson.

The Calhan, Colo., native was one of the Big 8's top freshman last year. With the changing of coaching staffs, offensive and defensive schemes, and a new role in the K-State lineup, things are looking a little different for Coalson. But Coalson doesn't look at the change as a bad thing.

"The change is probably harder for a younger player like me," Coalson said. "It's a big adjustment learning one system your first year and then have to turn right around and learn another. But I am really excited about this season, and I am looking forward to playing for coach Patterson."

As a freshman, Coalson excelled in the defensive oriented style of K-State basketball, starting 23 of the Cats 30 games. She also averaged 5.4 points per game, stole the ball 32 times and averaged 4.9 rebounds per game.

This year, Coalson will be the sixth player for Patterson. This is a change after starting two-thirds of last year's games.

"This year, Jenny is a solid perimeter player for us," Patterson said. "She is really valuable because she can take care of the ball, and she is a good decision maker. She has a three-point shot, she goes and gets her shots, and she can hit the short jumper. She also has significant maturity."

Patterson will look to Coalson to bring a number of attributes to the table, but the most important may be her maturity. Despite only one year of experience under her belt, Coalson is a leader on the team with her presence on the floor.

"She is the type you can bring into the game to give you that added dimension that you didn't have on the floor before," Patterson said. "You never have to wonder when she is on the floor because she doesn't make a lot of mistakes."

Coalson knows she and the team have a lot of work ahead of them. In fact, the whole team is looking forward to the new era of K-State basketball and where the team is headed.

"We can go as far as we set our minds to go," Coalson said. "We have a lot of potential and if we can grow together as a team we can do anything. We just need to adjust to things, and we could be a winning team and go to the tournament. I am looking forward to the future."

Coalson and the Wildcats are very adamant about playing in one of the nation's most elite basketball conferences, the Big 12 Conference. The new super-conference will give the Cats the chance to see what they can do against some of the nation's top teams.

"It will be really neat to get some more good schools into the mix," Coalson said. "It is an opportunity to go and prove ourselves and to test ourselves to see where we sit."

Growing up playing basketball with her brothers, Coalson received offers from Colorado State, Wyoming and K-State out of Ellicott High School. Choosing K-State was a simple decision.

"I wanted to stay close to home and after seeing the general atmosphere at K-State, I just knew it was the best for me," Coalson said."

Coalson's major is still up for grabs, but she is leaning toward mathematics. But one thing is for sure, basketball is in her future. She would like to be a coach someday.

As for now, the future coach and teacher will restrict herself to learning and leading the Wildcats into Big 12 competition.

DISCOVER THE WORLD WIDE WEB.
Let the Collegian be your starting point on the information superhighway. Point your web browser to (http://collegian.ksu.edu).

Senior point guard hits free throw, breaks tie

SHANE McCORMICK
sports writer

Rich Decker has seen his daughter Missy Decker hit free throws before. But he hasn't seen her hit any that were as big as the one she made Saturday night.

With her dad at a home game for the first time, the K-State senior point guard hit a clutch free throw to give the Wildcats a 68-67 win over No. 12 Texas at Bramlage Coliseum.

With the game tied at 67, Decker brought the ball down the court, looking to K-State coach Deb Patterson for a possible timeout.

"I looked over to the sidelines, but I just decided to go ahead and try to make something happen," Decker said.

Decker slashed and drove to the lane, drawing a shooting foul from Longhorn center Angela Jackson. With nobody else on the line, Decker stepped up and calmly hit the winning free throw.

"I have shot a lot of free throws in my life. I knew I had to step up and make the free throw," Decker said. "This is a really big step for this program and the players."

Although the Cats had timeouts remaining, Patterson said Decker made the correct decision on the final play.

"There is different roads you can take at the end, with six or seven seconds left," Patterson said. "I'm from the school that you keep the momentum. On a timeout, you strengthen the position of the defense. You might as well push it up the floor and attack the basket, which is what Missy did."

Both teams traded shots until midway through the first half. At the 9:59 mark, the Cats had built a 12-point lead. But the Longhorns would respond with a 12-0 run of their own to even the score. They would take a 38-33 lead with them into halftime.

"After we got that lead, I think we just got back on our heels. We got complacent," Decker said. "We had some costly turnovers, and we just didn't stay in the attacking flow that we were in."

In the second half, the lead changed hands nine times. But after a Texas basket at the 4:27 mark, the Longhorns would go scoreless on their next five possessions.

With 1:30 remaining on the clock, guard Brit Jacobson hit a clutch 15-footer to give the Cats the lead. After a slow start, Jacobson finished the game with 18 points.

After a timeout, Longhorn guard Kim Lummus missed a go-ahead shot with 25 seconds left. This gave Decker the opportunity for a winning, last-second shot.

Patterson said the win should help the Cats down the road.

"This should prove to our players that we can line up and compete with and beat any team," she said. "This is definitely our biggest win here."

Wildcats keep No. 1 Jayhawks to 3-point win

JEREMY KELLEY
sports editor

Forget what the critics have said in the past. Forget that ESPN sports analyst Dick Vitale supports Kansas Jayhawk basketball with every ounce of energy in his body. Forget that K-State had lost its previous game by 41 points.

This was an arch rival, and any avid supporter of basketball knows that when two arch rivals square off nothing else matters.

That was the case when K-State squared off against the top-ranked KU Jayhawks on Jan. 4.

Early on, KU looked as if it would just run away with the ball game like it had in its previous 12 games when it jumped out to an early 15-5 lead, but K-State had different ideas

"We came out and played hard," forward Mark Young said. "We were playing the No. 1 team in the nation."

But the Cats turned patient in their offense, much to the chagrin of the Jayhawks. With center Gerald Eaker out with foul trouble, Young and reserve Shawn Rhodes ignited the Wildcat offense in front of 13,500 screaming purple people.

"We just had to have poise," Young said. "We weren't about to get blown away. We were coming out to win."

The Jayhawks couldn't do anything right and merely were surviving against the Cats as they shot a lousy 28 percent from the field in the game.

"That's all it was, just surviving," KU coach Roy Williams said. "We took bad shots, were impatient, and their defense did a tremendous job of guarding us."

The Cats kept it close throughout the first half and trailed by just four to the Jayhawks.

As the second half unfolded, so did the Wildcats. With KU leading 45-39 with 11:12 left in the period, it looked as if they defused all hope of a Wildcat upset.

Or so it seemed.

From that point on, the Cats held the mighty Jayhawks to just one field goal for more than nine minutes and cut the lead to just one at 60-59.

"We didn't fold like we did at Xavier," Rhodes said. "There we just quit, but tonight we really came together as a team when we were down."

With 1:07 left, K-State had the ball and a chance to take the lead for the first time on the contest. But it wasn't meant to be.

Rhodes missed a wide-open three-pointer from the top of the arch. The shot rolled out and so did the Cats' hopes of a win.

KU point guard Jacque Vaughn hit two free throws with 13.5 seconds left to affirm the narrow escape for the Jayhawks, 62-59.

Nothing changed? K-State was handed its 14th straight loss in Manhattan, but the Cats didn't go down without mustering a fight.

"I was flabbergasted. I told Tom (Asbury) that the team that played best tonight did not win," Williams said. "We stunk it up and were very lucky, and the reason we stunk it up was because of Kansas State."

Coach Tom Asbury said he saw his team play harder than they had in the last two games.

"They're terrific, but that's a game we could have won," he said.

Win or lose, K-State still went home with a new-found confidence about their basketball team.

"We showed ourselves and everybody else how good we could be," Young said. "We played hard, together and smart."

for Adults Only
Scholarship opportunities for adult students (full and part-time, undergrad and grad).
Call for an appointment
532-6434
Adult Student Services

Wyrd Raven
Can you say Weird?
Comics Games Hobbies
Aggieville
1205 Moro Manhattan KS
(913) 539-1853
Email:wyrd@flinthills.com
Marvel, DC, Image, Dark Horse, and others! TSR, White Wolf, Games

CLASS ACT
"Affordable Hair Care"
Under New Management Becky Stephenson
(formerly at Snip n Clip)
We appreciate and Thank You for your business
New Hours:
Mon.-Thurs. 9-8 p.m.
Fri. 9-7 p.m.
Sat. 9-3 p.m.
Now open on Sundays 11-3 p.m.
Come in and see us. Mention our ad & SAVE
Hair cuts reg. $9.95 for $7.95
Kids (11 & under) $7 for $5 (save $2)
Perms/Color starting $35/up for $30/up (save $5)
622 N. Manhattan 776-3518
(between Streetside Records & Subway)
Prices Good thru 2/28/97 Clip to redeem savings

HANSEN NUTRITION CENTER
Diet Cures What Diet Causes
ATTENTION STUDENTS!
Improve Concentration AND Mental Performance
• THINK BARS
• BRAIN PEP
• SMART PILLS
3112 Anderson Ave ~ 9:30 -6p.m. Mon. - Sat. ~ 537-4571

THURSDAY Ladies Nite
kj's
Specials All Weekend
$2.25 Burger & Fries
NEW $2 CC Citrus & Lemonaides
$1.50 Domestic Bottles
Free CC Citrus Prizes / CC Citrus T-Shirts
Welcome Back Students
We missed ya!!!
It's gonna be a P.A.R.T.Y.
Get down early! Doors open at 5 pm
Come down for dinner

Delivery 537-5080
BREADEAUX PIZZA
ORIGINAL FRENCH CRUST
Delivery 537-5080
Best Pizza In Town
Lunch Buffet • $3.99
All you can eat!
(Pizza, Salad, Desserts)
Sunday-Friday 11 a.m.-2 p.m.
Dine In • Take Out • Delivery
Village Plaza
3033 Anderson Ave • 537-5080
West of Food 4 Less
Sun.-Thurs. 11 a.m.-10 p.m.
Fri. & Sat. 11 a.m.-11 p.m.

Dollar Days!

A dollar goes further at Dairy Queen. Peanut Buster Parfait, Blizzard flavor treat, double burger or 2 hot dogs. Each only $1 during Dollar Days. It's your choice at participating Dairy Queen Brazier Stores.
1015 N. 3rd, Manhattan • 776-4117
Dairy Queen® stores are proud sponsors of the Children's Miracle Network Telethon, which benefits local hospitals for children.

Raoul's Escondido
BUY ONE BUFFET, GET THE SECOND FOR ½ PRICE
Expires May 31, 1997
Lunch buffet M - F
11 a.m. - 1:45 p.m.
Home of Mary's Famous Margaritas
Raoul's Escondido
"Manhattan's Taste of Mexico"
215 Seth Child Road
539-3410
Across from Seth Child Cinema

Get Zip. It's Hip.
iomega
It helps you make the grade.
Back to school!
get up to $70 rebate
iomega. ...Because it's your stuff™

Offer expires Jan. 31,1997
Give 'em ZIP for the Holidays!
COLD CASH or COOL STUFF with zip
Mail In Offer
Zip is the one drive for all your stuff.
•Unlimited hard drive expansion
•Easy backup -- for all your stuff
•Portability -- goes anywhere
•Low price for affordable solutions
•Reliability you can count on
•100MB capacity per disk
•Great for all your multimedia and web page stuff
K-State Student Union Bookstore 532-6583

1-800-COLLECT®

44%
SAVINGS

Dial 1-800-COLLECT and save up to 44%.*

*For long-distance calls. Savings based on a 3-minute AT&T operator-dialed interstate call.

Meet the K-State Collegian editors

KIMBERLY HEFLING

Name: Kimberly Hefling
Position: Editor in chief
Age: 22
Hometown: Wichita and St. Louis
Grade: Senior
Major: Print journalism and public relations
Outside concentration: history
Semesters at Collegian: eight

MIRANDA KENNEDY

Name: Miranda Kennedy
Position: managing editor
Age: 21
Hometown: Newton
Grade: Junior
Major: Print journalism and public relations
Outside concentration: Women's studies
Semesters at Collegian: four

CLAUDETTE RILEY

Name: Claudette Riley
Position: News Editor
Age: 24
Hometown: Garden City
Grade: Senior
Major: English literature and creative writing
Outside concentration: History
Semesters at Collegian: five (plus three on Royal Purple)

STEVE HEBERT

Name: Steve Hebert
Position: Photo Editor
Age: 21
Hometown: Wichita
Grade: Senior
Major: Sociology
Semesters at Collegian: five

SCOTT LADD

Name: Scott M. Ladd
Position: Presentation Editor
Age: 22
Hometown: Haven
Grade: Senior
Major: Print journalism
Outside concentration: God only knows
Semesters at Collegian: four

JILL STORY

Name: Jill Story
Position: Campus Editor
Age: 21
Hometown: Wichita
Grade: Senior
Major: Print journalism
Outside concentration: English
Semesters at Collegian: three

CHARLE SIOUX CHARLETON

Name: Charle Sioux Charleton
Position: City and Government Editor
Age: Guess
Hometown: Iola
Grade: Graduate student
Major: Journalism
Outside concentration: Child rearing
Semesters at Collegian: two

KEVIN KLASSEN

Name: Kevin Klassen
Position: Opinion Editor
Age: 25
Hometown: Lehigh
Grade: Senior
Major: Print journalism
Outside concentration: Sociology
Semesters at Collegian: four

PORTIA SISCO

Name: Portia Alexandra Sisco
Position: Arts & Entertainment Editor
Age: 20
Hometown: Manhattan
Grade: Sophomore
Major: Print journalism
Outside concentration: Psychology
Semesters at Collegian: four

JEREMY KELLEY

Name: Jeremy Lee Kelley
Position: Sports Editor
Age: 19
Hometown: Topeka
Grade: Sophomore
Major: Journalism
Outside concentration: Marketing
Semesters at Collegian: two

TARA WRAY

Name: Tara Wray
Position: Assistant Sports Editor
Age: 18
Hometown: Manhattan
Grade: Sophomore
Major: Print journalism
Outside concentration: English
Semesters at Collegian: three

TANYA NISLY

Name: Tanya Nisly
Position: Copy Chief
Age: 22
Hometown: Hutchinson
Grade: Senior
Major: Print journalism and public relations
Outside concentration: Psychology
Semesters at Collegian: two

KADY GUYTON

Name: Kady Guyton
Position: E-Collegian Editor
Age: 22
Hometown: Hays
Grade: Junior
Major: Journalism
Semesters at Collegian: six

JILL JARSULIC

Name: Jill "J.J." Jarsulic
Position: Special Projects Editor
Age: 19
Hometown: Shawnee
Grade: Sophomore
Major: Print journalism
Outside concentration: History and political science
Semesters at Collegian: four

NICOLE KIRBY

Name: Nicole Kirby
Position: Investigations Editor and Writing Coach
Age: 21
Hometown: Prairie Village
Grade: Senior
Major: Print journalism
Outside concentration: Political science
Semesters at Collegian: five

STACY FOULK

Name: Stacy Foulk
Position: Ad Manager
Age: 21
Hometown: Kingman
Grade: Senior
Major: Marketing
Semesters at Collegian: five

HEIDI ATWOOD

Name: Heidi Atwood
Position: Assistant Ad Manager
Age: 20
Hometown: Kansas City
Grade: Junior
Major: Public Relations
Semesters at Collegian: three

Check out this issue of the Collegian online at (http://collegian.ksu.edu)

Burgers & Beer
at Bobby T's
"Calling All Comedians and Singers"
Open Mike Night
Any Burger, Fries & Beer
Every Thursday
$1 pilsners
$3.25
•Bobby T's•Candlewood Shopping Center•
Featuring Daily Drink & Food Specials

COTTONWOOD RACQUET CLUB
offers:
3 indoor/3 outdoor Tennis Courts
2 Racquetball Courts
Free Weights & Machines
Treadmill/Bicycles/Stepper
Pro-shop with Racquet Stringing
Whirlpool & Sauna
Family • Single • Student memberships
3615 Claflin 776-6060
(West on Claflin at Hudson)

Welcome Back Students!
WHOLESALE BEAUTY CLUB & CLUB BEAUTY SALON
Salon Specials
Early Bird Specials
25% OFF all regularly priced salon services for appointments from 9 a.m. - 11:30 a.m. everyday.
Not an early bird...
15% OFF all regularly priced salon services for appointments from 1 - 4 p.m. everyday.
Great Deals
• Sebastian, Rusk & Dudley
Buy 1 Get 1 for 1/2 Price
•MediSept Personal Ear Piercer
Only $2.97
(reg. $5.99)
•Paul Mitchell
10oz. Fast Drying Sculpting Spray
Only $3.97 (reg. $5.95)
•Supre
4.5oz. Skin System Moisturizer
Only 97¢ (reg. $7.50)
Specails good thru Jan. 18
WHOLESALE BEAUTY CLUB & CLUB BEAUTY SALON
409 Poyntz~Manhattan, Store~539-5999 Salon~539- 6969

Suds Y'R Duds
Welcomes K-State Students Back
With Free Dryers
Between 5 a.m. & 3 p.m. when available
Monday thru Friday · Located in Anderson Village
1453 Anderson Ave.
537-2325
Open 5 a.m. - midnight
7 days a week

Beat the Winter Blahs

With A Make-Over and get
$5.00 OFF
Any Service
Not valid with any other promotion.
#23
Hair Experts Design Team 776-4455

WELCOME BACK STUDENTS!
Don't miss our INVENTORY CLEARANCE SALE.
Our buyers have just returned from the Consumer Electronics Show where they have ordered New '96 products. We must sell out our r existing inventory
Many items at Dealers Cost!
Hurry Quantities Limited.
HOME STEREO SYSTEMS-COMPONENTS-SPEAKERS-CARS STEREOS
ADCOM, PrecisionPower, PIONEER The Art of Entertainment, ALPINE, SONY, Polk Audio, Definitive Technology, MB QUART, DENON, KENWOOD, Cerwin-Vega!
AUDIO JUNCTION, INC.
Monday - Friday 10-7
Saturday 10-5
307 Ft. Riley Blvd.
587-4646
HI FI — Car Stereo — Video
DISCOVER MasterCard VISA

GET INVOLVED! CURRENCY NEEDS YOU TO WRITE IN

▶ The Currency page will address student issues such as business and personal finance, renter's insurance and credit. Questions can be sent to the Collegian by e-mail or snail mail. See page 2 for those addresses. Questions will be answered by a member of the K-State business department.

A&E EDITOR
PORTIA SISCO
e-mail: (andra@ksu.edu)

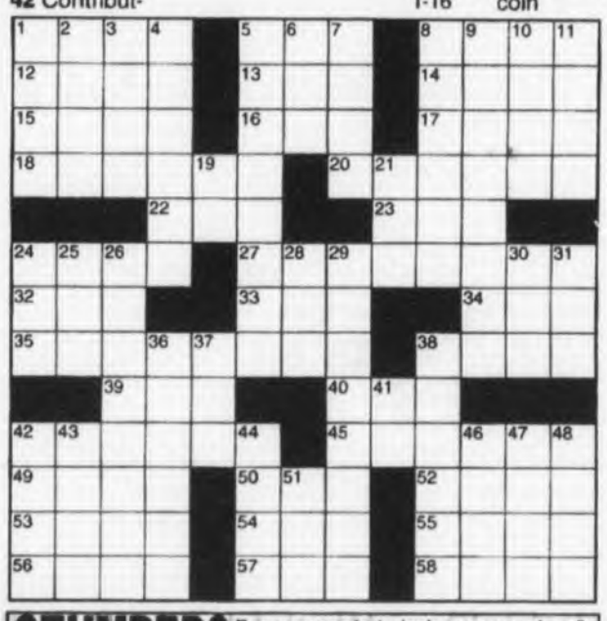
TOMORROW

LOVELINES UP CLOSE

The late-night KMKF-FM 101.5 program Lovelines has grown in popularity, even though a version of the show is offered on MTV. Why does it carry such a high listenership?

▶ DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 United nations
5 Rabbit's hideaway?
8 Exfoliate
12 "Green Mansions" girl
13 Candle count
14 Headlight?
15 U.S.
16 Bk. before I Cor.
17 Roughly
18 Ninesome
20 Loose, fresh snow
22 "Cabaret" lyricist
23 Not many
24 Cowardly Lion portrayer
27 Some have big butts
32 "Birth — Nation"
33 Actress Thompson
34 Old Olds
35 Pram
38 Noodle
39 Pair with an air
40 Unpaid
42 Contributing component
45 Fountainhead
49 1/6 drachma, once
50 Somewhat: suffix
52 Skunk's defense
53 Green acres
54 Side dish with roast pig
55 She was born free
56 Undo a dele
57 Dine
58 Appear



DOWN
1 Highland hillside
2 Describe
3 Portent
4 Go full speed
5 Tough and ruthless
6 Have — at (try)
7 Office aide, for short
8 Bestow lavishly
9 The computer itself
10 Differently
11 "Let's Make a Deal" option
19 Prefix meaning "from"
21 "— in the stilly night"
24 — Alamos
25 Sternward
26 Unswervingly committed
28 "What'd I tell you?"
29 Deprivation
30 Verily
31 Turf
36 Vent
37 Old card game
38 Medal winners
41 Batting
42 Axis, to Allies
43 Slightly
44 Sartorial woes
46 Between jobs
47 Schnozz
48 About 0.0354 ounces
51 Old French coin

Solution time: 23 mins.

F	L	A	G		B	A	Y		A	F	A	R
A	U	R	A		I	D	A		L	I	N	O
T	A	I	L	H	O	O	K		I	S	N	T
S	U	L	L	A			S	A	S	H	E	S
			E	W	E	R		N	T	H
A	C	H	Y		R	O	A	D		O	B	I
D	O	O		H	O	O	K	Y		O	R	C
Z	O	O		A	S	T	I		O	K	A	Y
		K	A	T		S	N	O	W
R	E	E	V	E	S			A	N	O	D	E
O	N	D	E		H	O	O	K	S	H	O	T
S	O	U	R		O	F	F		U	N	I	T
A	S	P	S		P	A	T		P	O	N	E

Yesterday's answer

1-16

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

1-16 CRYPTOQUIP

JBZ DOEU JLORL FLNZ'KN SCF OU FVCSNN DLVS JOUIVJ: JN'KN EVF ZVC RVKNBNI.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: RESOLUTE JOGGERS JUST LIKE TO WASH THEIR SNEAKERS IN RUNNING WATER.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: J equals W

▶ MELVIN VS. THE WORLD

you're a college student fresh from Winter break, and you have a giant target painted on your neck get ready to duck and dodge

THE CREDIT SLICE

Holiday debt leads to additional headaches story by seth gurss • artwork by matt hawkins

Money troubles can be a real problem for college students after the holidays, especially while racking up a credit card bill the size of the national debt.

Sean Stewart, senior in political science, said he was well disciplined over Winter break with his credit card. Last Winter break he had a spending problem and accumulated a lot of debt.

"Last year was my real bad year," Stewart said. "I kind of didn't realize what I was getting into, and I bought outside of my budget."

Stewart said he sits down at the beginning of the month, when he has more money and writes a check for as much as he can. He said that, unfortunately, he sometimes runs out of money at the end of the month and has to go back to using his credit card.

Stewart said he has had to pay rent with a cash advance on his credit card twice. He also said he did not foresee his debt reaching zero in the near future, because he plans to enroll in law school after graduation.

Linda Cullinan, marketing manager for Intrust Card Center, said Christmas is one of the worst times of the year for college students with credit cards.

Cullinan said credit card debts peak in January because it is when people receive their bill for the spending they did in December.

Cullinan said she suggested paying off debts according to a plan. A good way to stick to a plan is to make a list of wants and needs and try to weed out the wants.

"You have to stay focused and say, 'Do I really need this,'" Cullinan said.

Jim Davis, assistant professor of finance at K-State, said large credit debts usually arise from lack of control on the part of the spender.

"Not always, but lack of discipline can cause the problem in the first place," Davis said.

Davis said the best way to pay off a credit debt is to set up a budget.

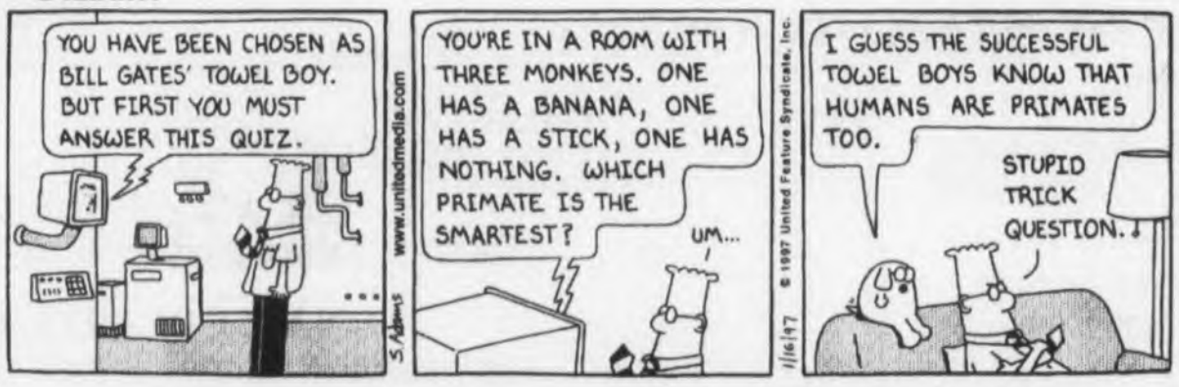
"Most people are going to have to do that so things don't get out-of-hand," Davis said. "They need to do it in some sort of systematic fashion."

Davis said the best thing to do if a person knows they won't be able to pay a bill is to communicate with the credit agency.

"If you know you're going to have trouble paying, it might be best to contact the bank or credit agency," Davis said. "It shows a certain amount of good faith on your part."

While credit card spending can be a problem for some students, writing bad checks can also lead to trouble.

Bill Kennedy, Riley County attorney, said he deals with fraudulent check writers on a daily basis. He said a person can be convicted of fraud even if they write one bad check.



Kennedy said a bad check, a Class A misdemeanor, will stay on a police record for at least three years. At that point, an application for expungement will be accepted.

"If, after three years, you have completed your probation, you're entitled to ask the court to wipe your record clean," Kennedy said.

Kennedy said bad checks can even have a detrimental effect at a later date.

He said if a person is charged with a different crime in the future, a previous offense of fraud can be used against the person in court.

▶ DILBERT

DO YOU REMEMBER DIVERSIONS?

Well, it's mutated.
Monday, watch for weekend reviews.
Tuesday, watch for issues of the home.
Wednesday, watch for health and sex.
Thursday, watch for money matters.
Friday, cut loose with Impulse.

JAVA
ESPRESSO • BAKERY
START YOUR DAY THE JAVA WAY!
Monday–Friday 6:30 a.m.–midnight
Sat. 7 a.m.–midnight Sun. 8 a.m.–midnight
1219 MORO • AGGIEVILLE
913.587.8888

K-State Student Union
UPC Eclectic Entertainment

RED, WHITE, MURDER
DINNER THEATER
JANUARY 30
Play and dinner begin at 7:00pm
Main Ballroom • K-State Student Union
$12.50 cash or check. Advance sales only. Reservations acceped in UPC office, third floor of the K-State Student Union or call 532-6571

Exhibition shows artistic quilt work

RUSSELL FORTMEYER
senior staff writer

With sub-zero temperatures looming, a good quilt can be handy to fight off the chills.

An exhibition at the Manhattan Center for the Arts shows how practical quilts can be produced in an artistic vein.

The quilts belong to members of the Konza Prairie Quilter's Guild and the Prairie Star Quilter's Guild, two local organizations that bring quilters together for common causes. The organizations' members develop exhibitions of their work, visit other quilting shows, and bring guest speakers to the local community to speak about quilts.

It's not surprising to see quilts used as an artistic medium, similar to the two-dimensionality of painting, since fabric arts entered the mainstream in the 1960s and 1970s.

The showpiece quilt in this exhibition is "After the fire, the sun still shines," 1995, a machine-quilted work of art by Charlotte Brighton Herr, member of the Konza Prairie Quilter's Guild.

"After the fire" is a brilliantly colored and composed quilt, which forgoes all traditional manners of balance and pattern found in the other quilts in the exhibition. The quilt's colors are richly deep reds, blues, purples and greens punctuated with splashes of metallic threads adding texture to its surface.

Almost every square inch of the quilt varies in quilting thread, pattern or illustration. The quilt's non-uniform structure and geometrically playful background teases the eye.

Herr began the quilt after a building she owned burned. After sorting through the blackened, ruined building, the colorful quilt was her way of dealing with the tragedy.

"I had seen so much black and gray, I wasn't sure if the sun would shine again," Herr said.

"Art quilts are a story — an expression," she said. "They have a life of their own."

The rich color composition of the quilt wasn't planned, Herr said.

"I walk in the room and they happen," she said. "It comes as an instinct — a whole lifetime of knowledge goes into it. I just understand color and how to use it."

With an art degree from the University of Kansas, a degree from the New York School of Interior Design and 36 years of local interior design experience, Herr has a wealth of knowledge from which to draw.

Herr said she prefers art quilts to more traditional styles of quilting because it allows her freedom with pattern, color and composition.

"Thank You, Kiamitiacome!," both hand-pieced and machine quilted, is a combination of new quilting by Herr and Dresden Plates created in the 1930s by her grandmother, a Cherokee Indian.

"She was instrumental in getting me to take up quilting," Herr said.

The plates were kept by Herr's aunt for decades until, upon her death, they fell into Herr's hands. She kept them for seven years before determining how to use them in a quilt.

Her finished product appears rather unfinished, with three large, skewed rectangular structures, each intertwined with floral patterns, which lead the eye off the quilt. It's an odd arrangement, but refreshingly off-balance.

Herr's artistic style departs radically from the majority of other quilts in the exhibition. Many of the other quilts copy traditional patterns or use the patterns to new effect.

"Brown and Yellow Kaleidoscope," 1993, a quilt by Harriette Janke, is a traditionally-patterned quilt that plays with color to produce an optical effect. Staring at the almost endless rings of multi-colored fabric nearly creates dizzy spells.

Other quilts, such as "Scenic Wall Hanging with RV Trailer and Stars," 1996, a quilt by Carolyn Fenn, are more illustrations akin to paintings.

Herr said the opportunity to have a show at the Arts Center will help to build appreciation and a following of quilting.

"It's not prevalent in this area, but it is known in other parts of the world," Herr said. "We have made a really big step with the show at the Arts Center."

Need more info?
The Konza Prairie Quilter's Guild and the Prairie Star Quilter's Guild are exhibiting at the Manhattan Center for the Arts through Feb. 21. Gallery hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Call 537-4420 for more information.

Pot sold in pesto sauce, brownies

ASSOCIATED PRESS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Phones rang, volunteers shouted and marijuana plants grew at the Cannabis Cultivators Club on Tuesday in preparation for what supporters call the country's first legal sale of the drug in more than 60 years.

Protected from California's anti-drug attorney general by a state proposition and a judge's order, the club was set to provide pot to its first customer Wednesday.

Club founder Dennis Peron said the club has 200 physician authorizations on file and expects many more. The drug is known to counter the nausea and loss of appetite in chemotherapy.

The club offers smokable pot at $5 to $60 for 3.5 grams, depending on the quality, Peron said, but many of our patients can't smoke or don't want to smoke.

So the club offers high-grade, pulverized marijuana in gel capsules, $25-a-bottle tincture of marijuana soaked in 151-proof rum and dried, pot-spiced pesto sauce at $10 a jar and classic marijuana brownies.

The club's predecessor, the Cannabis Buyer's Club, which Peron also ran, was shut down by State Attorney General Dan Lungren in last fall's campaign for Proposition 215, the referendum that legalized medical marijuana use.

Last week a San Francisco judge ordered the club reopened, saying it was protected under Proposition 215.

Lungren acknowledged he was bound by 215, but vowed to keep an eye on the club and prevent abuses.

On Monday, White House drug czar Barry McCaffrey, addressing the San Francisco Medical Society, backed off a Clinton administration threat to punish doctors who recommend pot for their patients.

"They will not go after physicians who might recommend this in the context of an established patient, if it's not being done indiscriminately," spokesman Steve Heilig said.

'Flynt' spotlights American hypocrisy

RUSSELL FORTMEYER
senior staff writer

"The People vs. Larry Flynt" is pretty typical Milos Forman fare — controversial, a bit unconventional and completely mesmerizing.

This biographical portrait follows Flynt, portrayed by Woody Harrelson, and his former stripper wife, Althea, portrayed by Courtney Love, from his humble Ohio beginnings to the prime of his own creation, Hustler magazine, and the many court battles and religious right confrontations since.

And although the film does offer a few taboo subjects, it is nevertheless keeping in line with other Forman movies.

Forman's "Amadeus," "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," and now, "Larry Flynt" are contemporary classics, each interpreting its story with a skewed sense of humor. Forman's films, really comedies, deal with the human condition — in each case a somewhat mentally questionable condition.

In "Amadeus," Mozart's brilliance is almost a result of his hideous immaturity. With Larry Flynt, his genius spawns from a comical tastelessness. Unlike Mozart, Flynt's sincerity is finally called by his over-worked lawyer, Edward Norton.

"I don't believe you," Flynt's lawyer tells him. It's a turning point in the movie, and perhaps for Forman. What really lies behind the raging genius of these characters? In this way, Forman develops the movie into an attack on hypocrisy, which is at the heart of Larry Flynt.

Movie Review

Flynt's determination to create a poor man's Playboy magazine with Hustler magazine was a response to the old boys' club culture of the United States. The establishment that simultaneously runs the country and decides the so-called moral standard, while secretly disguising their low culture tastes with the red-velvet-and-roses mentality of Playboy.

This theme of anti-hypocrisy is reinforced when even Charles Keating, who cost taxpayers $2 billion to clean up his savings and loan scandal, denounces Hustler as filth — though Forman overplays his importance in the scheme of the story.

Larry Flynt is a purely American story — albeit tasteless and full of nudity and cursing — of triumph over adversity. (Can anyone see this guy coming from some place like Germany?) In the end, it is Flynt who survives having won a Supreme Court case against evangelist Jerry Falwell, losing his wife to AIDS, finding Jesus with Ruth Carter Stapleton and being paralyzed in an attempted assassination.

Harrelson is retreading old ground with this part, giving a shadow of his performance in "Natural Born Killers." Harrelson has never been much of an actor. This role, like his others, is so outrageously over-the-top that anything more than having fun is not required, although his attempt at imitating Flynt's speech problem is more annoying than necessary.

The real scene-stealer is Love. One gets a sense she has lived the role of reckless drug-user wife before (art imitating life?) and she fits easily into the spiked high heels of Flynt's No. 1. This is one of the most sensitive portrayals of a woman to hit the screen in a long time.

But this isn't really a love story. It's not completely biographical either, because it ignores many twists and turns of Flynt's life but perhaps wisely.

And although Forman would like us to think of Flynt as a champion of the First Amendment, he cannot overcome the fact that Flynt is more of an opportunist whose outlandishness spawned ideological battles.

Larry Flynt is more of a combination, a mixed salad, like America itself. Throw something at us, and we will persevere. Just ask Larry Flynt.

Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road • Across from Goodnow Hall
BOOKS
SELFSERVE COPIES
RESUMES
WORD PROCESSING
NEWSPAPERS
DESKTOP PUBLISHING
FAX SERVICE
GREETING CARDS
In honor of
Dr. Martin Luther King's Day
we will close at 6:00 pm Sunday, January 19
and
6:00pm Monday, January 20
(913) 776-3771
Fax: (913) 776-1009
E-mail: cbcbkcpy@interkan.net

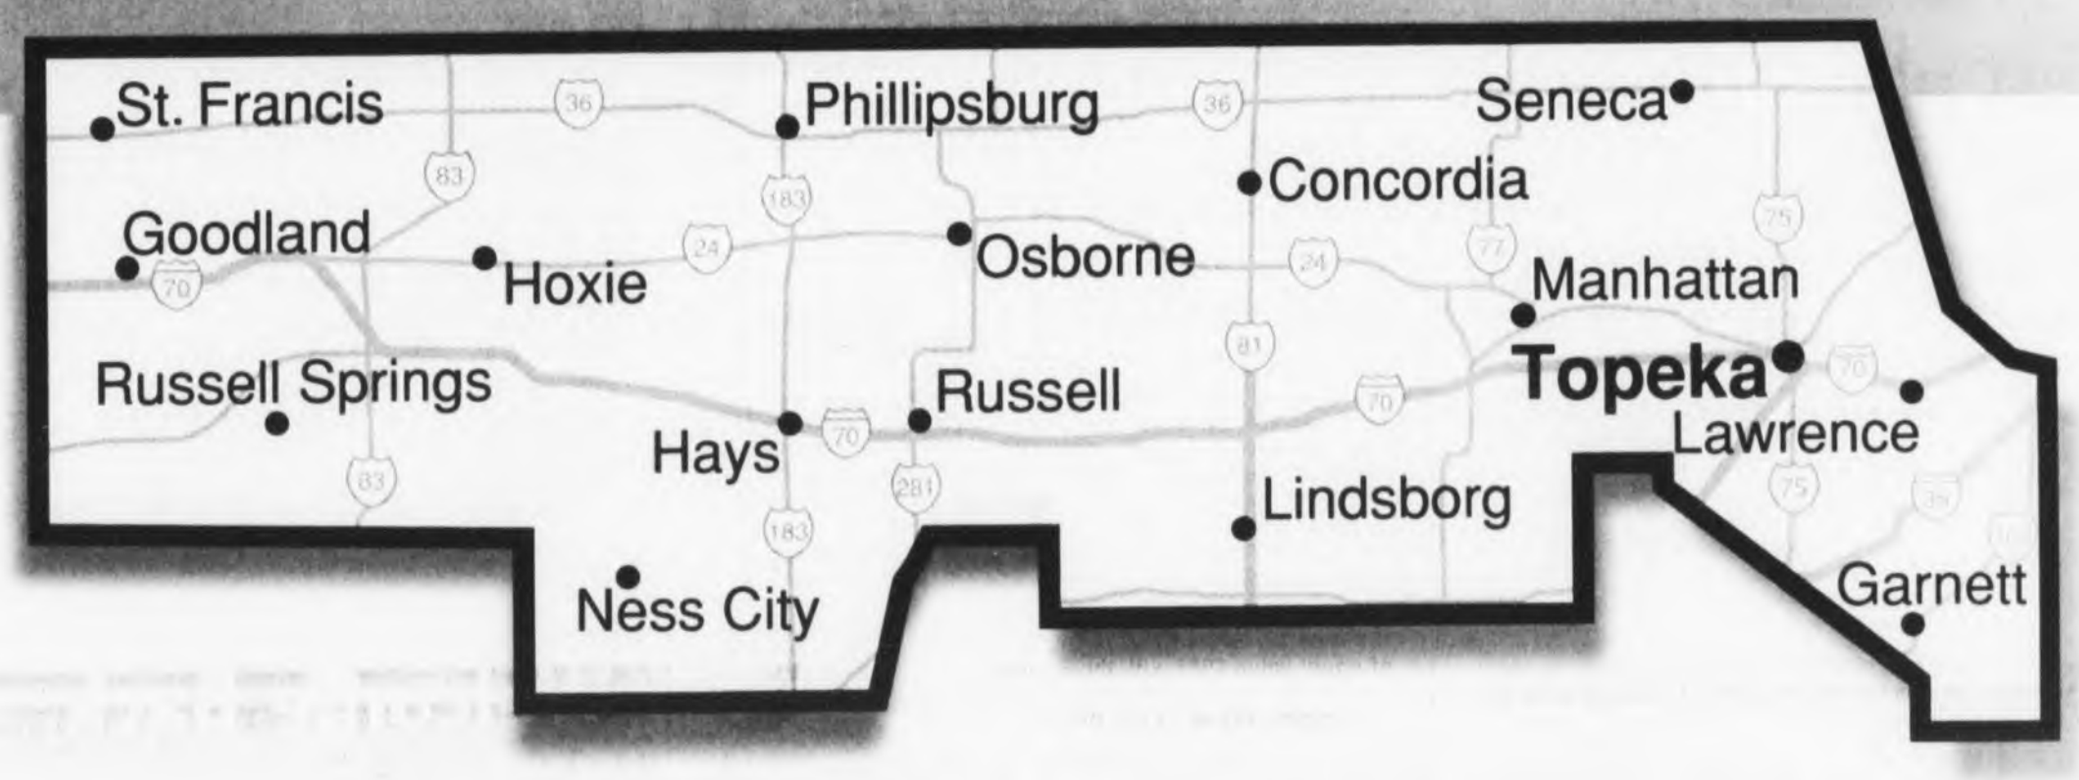
I Can't Believe It's Yogurt!
11th & Moro - Aggieville
537-1616
Buy One, Get One Free!
Buy one cup, cone, or cappuccino and receive one of equal value FREE with this coupon.
HOURS: 10 A.M. - 8 P.M. DAILY
Noon - 8 P.M. SUNDAYS
(Expires 2-28-97)

PETS N' STUFF
539-9494 Tropical & Salt Fish 1105 Waters
"No Coupon" Specials (NO coupon needed, NONE accepted)
Everyday Two-fers
2 - PIZZAS with
2 - TOPPINGS each
2 - COKES with ice
$9.12
Everyday Three-fers
3 - PIZZAS with
1 - TOPPING each
3 - COKES with ice
$11.23
Prices do not include sales taxes.
Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

Extra Fun, Extra Photos
FREE
2nd Set of 3" and 4" Standard Prints Every Tuesday
Order a set of 3" or 4" Standard color prints at regular price and receive a 2nd set Free!
ALC Advantage
Don't Forget Kodak Film!
C-41 process offer available from 110, 126, disc and 35mm only. Not valid with KODAK Premium Processing, Advanced Photo System, Panoramic or 1/2 frame 135 film. Not available on Photo Galaxy. Cannot be combined with any other offer.
3007 Anderson at Seth Childs-Plaza West Hours: Daily 9 a.m.-9 p.m., Sunday 11 a.m.-6 p.m.

Welcome Back, Students!
Thursday is
$1 Longnecks
and
Ladies Night
No cover for the ladies.
Guys, bring this ad in for no cover.
539-0230 SILVERADO SALOON Aggieville

Joyce's Hair Tamers
We tame the tough ones
Perms Reg. $40-$48
On Sale Now!
$30-$38
Haircuts
Shampoo & Style
Gals $12.50
Guys $8.50
539-TAME 2026 Tuttle Creek Blvd.



THE PURPLE PIG
Manhattan's Newest Beer Tavern
EST. 1996
Thursday Specials
$2.50 Big Beers
"32 oz. of fun"
Open Mon.-Sat. 539-7444 424 Houston St.- Downtown

CAREER AND EMPLOYMENT SERVICES
ORIENTATION TO SERVICES AND
ON-CAMPUS INTERVIEWS...THE PATH TO EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNTITIES
COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE
Tuesday, January 28, 1997 @ 4:30 pm Waters 231
COLLEGE OF ARTS & SCIENCES
Wednesday, January 22, 1997 @ 6:00 pm Union 212
Friday, January 24, 1997 @ 1:30 pm Union 212
Tuesday, January 28, 1997 @ 3:30 pm Union 212
COLLEGE OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION
Tuesday, January 21, 1997 @ 7:00 pm Calvin 208
Wednesday, January 22, 1997 @ 7:00 pm Calvin 208
COLLEGE OF EDUCATION
Friday, January 24, 1997 @ 10:30 am Denison 224
Wednesday, Febuary 19, 1997 @ 3:30 pm Bluemont 15
COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING
Thursday, January 16, 1997 @ 7:00 pm Durland 173
COLLEGE OF HUMAN ECOLOGY
Wednesday, January 22, 1997 @ 4:30 pm Justin 146
Thursday, January 23, 1997 @ 4:30 pm Justin 109
Requests for on-campus interviews begin Thursday, January 16, 1997, in Holtz Hall.

We don't want you to sell your books to pay your phone bill.

Save that for Spring Break.

With 1+Saver Direct,℠ you pay just $19.95 a month to talk to someone in this area as often, and for as long, as you want.

College is the best time of your life. Unfortunately, it's not the most profitable. So to help you out, we're offering the 1+SAVER Direct calling plan. For just $19.95 a month, you get unlimited, regional calling to the number you call the most in the area shown on the map. It works with one-plus, direct dialed calls, so it's easy to use. And there are no time limits, no specified calling times, and no limit to the amount of times you call. So call Southwestern Bell today and sign up for the 1+SAVER Direct calling plan.

And hold onto your books until you really need them. Yes, it's that simple.

1-800-924-5296 Southwestern Bell

Not available to dorm students. Not available for Internet access.

Possible Nazi death camp guard spouts racial epithets at police

ASSOCIATED PRESS

KANSAS CITY, Kan. — A police report said a man accused of being a Nazi death camp guard shouted anti-Semitic remarks at police who came to his home after reporters called authorities to say the man was shooting at them.

In a report obtained by the Associated Press on Tuesday, senior patrolman Lloyd Whisner said Michael Kolnhofer made anti-Semitic remarks to police after the Dec. 31 incident. Kolnhofer is charged with shooting at police.

"He says, 'Why for you shoot me? I not Jew,'" Whisner said in his statement to a city police detective on Jan. 2. "He called us Jew bastard and used a lot of profanity towards us."

Whisner, a 28-year veteran of the department, told the Kansas City Star Tuesday night that he stood by his report, but he would not verify its contents.

Wyandotte County District Attorney Nick Tomasic refused to discuss the police report Tuesday.

"I can't have any comment about that at all," he said. "That isn't public record, the police reports."

Officer Willie Jenkins, a city police spokesman, said he could not comment on the report because an investigation is ongoing, and that his superiors could not comment because the case was being handled by the Wyandotte County prosecutor's office.

Kolnhofer, 79, was wounded outside his Kansas City, Kan., home after bullet fragments pierced his upper left leg during a shootout with police.

Kolnhofer had earlier fired at reporters, who gathered outside his house after the Justice Department filed papers seeking to revoke his citizenship.

The Justice Department alleges Kolnhofer concealed his past as a guard at the Sachsenhausen and Buchenwald concentration camps during World War II.

Robert DeCoursey, a local attorney, said Kolnhofer contacted him several days before the shootout to discuss his citizenship. Kolnhofer denied being a concentration camp guard, DeCoursey said.

Anna Hlade, a friend of Kolnhofer, on Tuesday said that he was in a coma. Kolnhofer is at the University of Kansas Medical Center, where he has been since a shootout with police.

"He is not doing good," Hlade said. "He is in a coma. We don't know if he will ever wake up after the surgery." Hlade said she did not wish to comment further.

Van Buckley, a hospital spokesman, said he could provide no details beyond listing Kolnhofer in critical condition.

The hospital's most comprehensive statement on Kolnhofer's condition, issued Jan. 4, said he might have suffered brain damage from complications during surgery the evening of the shooting.

Hospital officials have said they need to conduct tests to determine the extent of any injury, and have been unable to do so because Kolnhofer is on a respirator.

Kolnhofer is charged in Wyandotte County with three counts of aggravated assault on a law-enforcement officer. DeCoursey was not hired by Kolnhofer before the shootout, but he has since been hired by Hlade to represent Kolnhofer on the criminal charges, he said.

Kolnhofer gave Hlade power of attorney several years ago, DeCoursey said.

Kolnhofer may not have to face legal action if his condition does not improve, legal experts have said.

Despite Kolnhofer's condition, a sheriff's deputy remains on guard at his hospital room at all times, sheriff's Lt. Charles Brooks said.

Protest plans thwarted by death

ASSOCIATED PRESS

LINCOLN, R.I. — A man with Lou Gehrig's disease died Wednesday before he could carry out his plan to kill himself to protest Rhode Island's ban on assisted suicide.

Heavily sedated on morphine, Noel Earley had been hovering between a deep sleep and unconsciousness since Sunday.

"He died very comfortably," nurse Cathy Bedard said. "His breathing stopped first and then his heart a few moments later."

Friends such as Steven Ames had kept a vigil at Earley's bedside in his basement apartment. Ames said Earley thought he would know when to kill himself before the disease left him too weak, but he miscalculated.

"Now, he's going to die just the way he didn't want to," Ames said hours before his death.

In September, Earley announced he would inject himself with a lethal mix of drugs on Dec. 4 to defy Rhode Island's new law making assisting a suicide punishable by up to 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

People around the country pleaded with him to reconsider. He refused.

"I always try to say thank you for the thoughts and the prayers, then I suggest they expand their reading to more than just the Bible, to the Koran, the Talmud," Earley said last month.

Earley put off his suicide, however, saying the disease was progressing slower than expected. He said he would wait until he lost his voice.

His voice was nearly gone last week when he appeared on ABC's "Nightline" after the Supreme Court heard arguments on assisted suicide. He answered questions by pointing to letters written on a piece of cardboard.

On Friday, he tapped out the message, "I want to die," but did not refuse food and water through a tube in his stomach.

DEANGELO STRICKLAND, junior in construction science, is watched by the bust of William Alexander Harris, while listening to some music en route to Fairchild Hall Wednesday morning.

CLIF PALMBERG
Collegian

AMERICA'S #1 STUDENT TOUR OPERATOR

SPRING BREAK '97

Cancun from $399
Jamaica from $429
Florida from $119

STS STUDENT TRAVEL SERVICES
1344 Ashton Rd. Hanover, MD 21076
http://ststravel.com/

Book with Creative Travel and receive $50 off SCUBA certification!!!

SPACE IS LIMITED SO CALL TODAY!!!

CALL CREATIVE TRAVEL @ 539-0531

Read the Collegian.

FREMONT LAUNDRY
304 Fremont 539-3261
Full-Service Drop-off
(wash, dry & fold)

Reg. $155.80
Special $88.80
only $5.55/week w/coupon book
Attendant On Duty
Student Coupon Book $88.80
Full Semester of Laundry at a 44% Savings
QUALITY IS OUR TRADITION

Dr. Paul E. Bullock
Optometrist
$10 Off
Complete Eye Exam
(with coupon)
Free In-Office Contact Lens Consultation
Save up to $40 on disposable contact lens programs
(with coupon)
Save up to $20 on a complete pair of eyeglasses
(with coupon)
1441 Anderson Ave. • Anderson Village • 776-9461 • Toll Free 1-800-432-0036
Adjacent to KSU Expires 1/31/97

TAKE A SMART STEP TOWARD A BRIGHTER FUTURE

The Army helps young men and women gain the kind of self-confidence that lasts a lifetime.

We can teach you how to develop your own leadership qualities while learning to work well in a team. We'll also train you in your choice of more than 250 specialty skills.

These assets are all highly valued by civilian employers. And that's why even one enlistment in the Army is a sound investment in your future. Contact your Army Recruiter.

539-7243
ARMY. BE ALL YOU CAN BE.®

WINTER
CLEARANCE SALE
10% - 50% OFF
Selected Items

Coats	Bicycles
Marmot	Schwinn
Columbia	Bianchi
Solstice	Cannondale
Gerry	Specialized
	Raleigh

• Winter Bike clothing •
Shirts • Underwear • Boots
Hats • Gloves • Socks • Sweaters
Sleeping Bags • Tents

the PATHFINDER
OUTDOOR EQUIPMENT SPECIALISTS
539-5639 304 Poyntz Downtown Manhattan

GREAT SEATS STILL AVAILABLE TO THE GENERAL PUBLIC!
GET YOUR TICKETS TODAY!

BILL COSBY
LIVE ON STAGE
This Sunday, January 19th • 3pm
KSU's Bramlage Coliseum, Manhattan
Reserved Seats $19
Great Seats Still Available! VISA MasterCard Charge By Phone!
913-532-7606
Kansas Cellular
The State's Largest Cellular Telephone System
Visit us at the Union Bookstore
January 15, 16 & 17, 11 a.m.- 1:30 p.m.

CLASSIFIEDS

1 DAY 20 words or less – $5.35 each word over 20 – $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less – $6.65 each word over 20 – $.25 per word

3 DAYS 20 words or less – $7.60 each word over 20 – $.30 per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less – $8.35 each word over 20 – $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less – $8.85 each word over 20 – $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

• FREE FOUND ADS

As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

• HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an established account with Student Publications Inc.

Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks.

We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

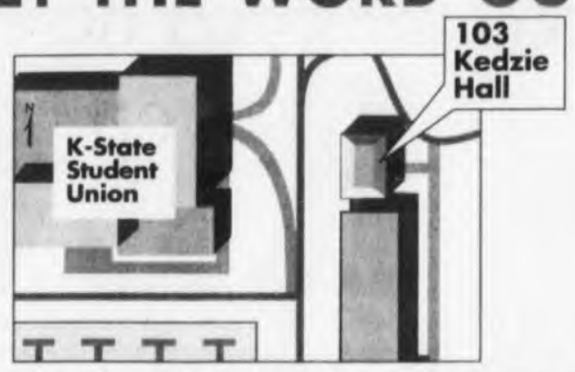
• DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.

• CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.



• HEADLINES

For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

• CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

GET THE WORD OUT

• Phone 532-6555

• Fax 532-6236

• Or write
COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS
Kansas State Collegian
Kedzie 103
Manhattan, Kan. 66506

• Office Hours
MON. - FRI.
8-5 P.M.
Except holidays

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010

Announcements

COLLEGE FINANCIAL AID -Student Financial Services has information on 3,400+ public and private sector funding sources. A must for anyone seeking financial aid! For information: 1-800-263-6495 ext.F57689.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 539-3733.

SCUBA DIVE Dreaming of those warm nights and clear waters... Learn to dive now for spring break and summer. Classes now forming. Call David Garvin, PADI, Creative Travel and Scuba, 539-0531.

SCUBA KSU classes starting Jan. 25th. NAUI and YMCA certification offered. Come join the fun. Contact UFM for info and registration 539-8763.

ZEN MEDITATION instruction. The Manhattan Zen group offers two lectures and instruction by Professor L. Rappoport, Wednesday January 22 and Tuesday January 28, 7:30-9:00p.m., At 121-A South 4th st. Second floor, room 211. Bring a sitting cushion. No charge.

030

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

A FEW OF MY FAVORITE THINGS.... Avice, Jaime, Fred, Scott, Marjie, Kerri, Jen, Della, Kim, Chris, having you all back for Spring semester. Welcome back, ready, set, go!

DEBORAH FROM Wakeeney (studying Criminal Justice), thank you, to you and your friends for buying me the Beck's at Last Chance on Monday 12/17 and for listening to an "old" Wildcat reminisce. Good luck in your internship in Junction City. Paul/ Jerz (the Arbitrator from Rochester, NY).

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

ABSOLUTELY THE best three of four-bedroom deal you'll find. One block from campus. Washer/ dryer etc. 539-9345.

ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO apartment one block east of campus. Furnished or unfurnished. Ample parking, quiet conditions. $250. 776-3624.

ONE-BEDROOM. ONE block to campus. Washer and dryer. 537-4947 after 6p.m.

TWO-BEDROOM, THREE blocks east of campus, ample parking, quiet conditions, reasonable rent. 776-3624.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

814 THURSTON studio apartment water/ trash paid. No pets, available now, five month or more lease, $275. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE NOW or January Short-term leases. Large one or two-bedroom. Clean, quiet, most utilities paid. No pets. 537-8389.

AVAILABLE NOW. 915 Claflin, three-bedroom apartment heat, water, trash paid. Newly redecorated. No pets. $525. Call 539-3085.

GOLD KEY apartments, two-bedroom available now, 1419 Leavenworth, $510. Water and trash paid. Stove, refrigerator, washer and dryer provided. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom. Close to campus and City Park. $475/ month. Available immediately. 776-1771, Elaine.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT two-bedroom basement by campus. 537-1550. Lease until July 97 on.

ONE-BEDROOM WITH study in Aggieville available now, 1130 Fremont, $275. Water and trash paid. Stove and refrigerator. Lawn care provided. Cats okay. Call MDI 776-3804.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS leasing one, two and three-bedroom apartments. Two pools, hot tub, horseshoes, volleyball. 539-2951.

PARKVIEW APARTMENT, two-bedroom available in February, 1026 Osage, $460. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher. On-site laundry and parking. Bedrooms have built-in student desks. No pets. Walk to KSU. Call MDI 776-3804.

Leasing Now For August
• Fremont Apts
• Sandstone Apts
• College Heights
• Cambridge Square
Large 2-bedroom Units.
537-9064
Weekdays:
8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Sat. 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

ROYAL TOWER Apartments, four-bedroom/ two bath available in February, $860. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances with dishwasher and microwave. Fitness room, jacuzzi, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

STUDIO APARTMENT, one block from campus. 494-2240.

TWO-BEDROOM $285. No smoking. No pets. 537-4016.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now, 1807 College Heights, $410. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now, 411 N 17th $360. Water and trash paid. No balcony, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now , 1854 Claflin, $365. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. Yes, cats are welcome. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now and February, 925 Denison, $410. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking. Newly remolded kithcens. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now and February, 1722 Laramie, $385. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking, walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

115

Rooms Available

ONE-BEDROOM, TWO blocks from campus. Freshly redecorated. Washer/ dryer. 776-4130.

120

For Rent- Houses

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Four-bedroom, one study house. Close to campus. $1,100 non-negotiable rent. Call 776-1340.

ONE, TWO, three-bedroom for non-smoking, non-drinking, no pets. 539-1554.

TWO BLOCKS from campus. Three-bedroom, eat-in kitchen, living room, dining area, freshly redecorated, washer/ dryer. Second semester bargin. $600/ month. 776-4130.

TWO-BEDROOM, VERY nice in Manhattan. Carpet, storage shed, cnetral air and heat, carpets, no pets. (913)238-2963.

130

For Rent- Mobile Homes

NICE, CLEAN, two-bedroom trailer near Manhattan. Call after 5p.m. (913)456-2325.

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

14X 70 Windsor. Two-bedrooms central air, all appliances, $10,500. 587-0119.

145

Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed immediately to share two-bedroom apartment. One-half block east of campus. Washer/ dryer. Call 587-4159. Leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted $210 rent plus one-third utilities. Walk to Aggieville and campus. 539-0543.

FEMALE ROOMMATE. Nice four-bedroom, one one-half bathroom house with washer/ dryer, $225. 776-0441

MALE ROOMMATE needed to take over lease for furnished apartment. One block from campus. $240 plus utilities. 565-9070.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Very nice two-bedroom apartment next to campus. Reasonable price, trash/ water paid. Available immediately. No smoking/ drinking/ pets. 565-9250 (Leave message).

MALE ROOMMATES wanted: nice clean spacious house for rent. One block from campus. $185/ month. Call 587-9052.

MALE STUDENTS needed to complete four-bedroom house, $280 each plus deposit. Located near campus. 776-1196.

MALE WANTED for furnished basement. No smoking/ drinking/ pets, please. Walk to KSU. 539-1554.

ROOM FOR rent with own bathroom. 10 minute from campus in a brand new home room can be furnished if needed. $250 all bills paid. Smoking ok. (913)494-8791.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share nice two-bedroom mobile home in Redbud Estates. Call Guy at 539-3503, 587-5711 or e-mail at graffix@kansas.net

ROOMMATE WANTED as soon as possible. Nice three-bedroom house. $210/ month plus one-third utilities. Call 539-0975.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share three-bedroom house. $250/ month plus one-half utilities. Washer/ dryer. Pets allowed. Fenced yard. Carrie 776-6563.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, close to campus and Aggieville, 822 fremont, 3rd floor, $150/ month , water and trash paid, 537-7087.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, furnished, close to campus, rent $274.50 plus KPL. Call 776-7457 or (913)367-6097 collect.

150

Sublease

AVAILABLE NOW! Female roommate needed to share two-bedroom apartment at Westchester Park. $244.50/ month plus one-half electricty. Call 776-8707 or 537-4666 Ext. 23. Ask for Joann.

ONE-BEDROOM ONE block from campus. Abailable immediately. Wildcat Mangement 537-2332.

TWO-BEDROOM WITH balcony and dishwasher, one-half block from campus and Aggieville.Water and trash paid. Call 776-9353.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN Advertising • 532-6560

300 EMPLOYMENT/CAREERS

310

Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 537-0056.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT -Fishing industry. Many earn up to $4000+/ month during peak season. Benefits often include transportation and/ or room and Board. For details: (206) 971-3510 ext-A57688.

ASSISTANT SCIENTIST (#304), Full-time, temporary position, not to exceed 12 months, int the Department Agronomy. B.S. degree in computer science plus six months experience with C++, Visual Basic, and Windows 3.1/ 95. Experience in forage management and/ or cow-calf production systems preferred. Send letter of application, resume, transcripts, and arrange for three letters of reference to be sent to: Dr. Gerry L. Posler, Head, Department of Agronomy, Throckmorton Plant Sciences Center, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506-5501. Application deadline: February 28, 1997. Kansas State University is an Affirmative Action/ equal opportunity employer. KSU encourages diversity among its employees.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Midwest Distributors P.O. Box 624, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate Response.

CLERICAL ASSISTANTS: Temporary, part-time. Requires computer literacy and telephone/ customer service skills. Proficiency in WordPerfect and spreadsheet/ database programs desired. Hourly rate $5. Positions available immeditately. Send letter of application, resume and three references to: Area Agency on Aging, 437 Houston Street, Manhattan, KS 66502. Deadline is January 31, 1997. Note: These positions require Kansas Career Work Study eligibility. If you are unsure whether you are eligible, call Walt Cooper at 776-9294. EOE/AA

COLLEGE STUDENTS, part-time assistants needed for leasing. Must posses good attitude, team player, and work well with people. Apply in person at 2215 College Ave. Capstone trailer in afternoons after 2p.m.

CRUISE SHIP EMPLOYMENT -Travel the world (Hawaii, Mexico, Caribbean) and earn an excellent income in the Cruise and Land- Tour Industry. For details, call 1-206-971-3550 ext.C57689.

EARN $427 plus a week at home! Write for application: Generations, Dept. KSU, P.O. Box 13486, Atlanta, GA 300324, Genmarker@aol.com

EVENING AND WEEKEND CLASSES in hair design, ethnic hair design and nail technology. Start Feb. 4. Thousands in scholarships plus financial aid available. Free info. Call Crum's Beauty College @ 776-4794.

FISCAL ASSISTANT: Temporary, part-time. Requires computer literacy and general office/ filing skills. Proficiency in QuattroPro or other spreadsheet programs and basic math skills preferred. Hourly rate $5. Positions available immediately. Send letter of application and resume and three references to: Area Agency on Aging, 437 Houston Street, Manhattan, KS 66502. Deadline is January 31, 1997. Note: These positions require Kansas Career Work Study eligibility. If you are unsure whether you are eligible, call Walt Cooper at 776-9294. EOE/AA.

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assembling products at home. No experience. INFO (504)646-1700 DEPT. KS-6438

HIRING IMMEDIATELY! Student needed for part-time work demostrating Avery Dennison products on campus. Must be familiar with Miscrosoft Word, and willing to use own personal computer, with Windows software $10.00 per hour. Contact Lex Deines at 800-569-6461.

JOB COACH: Part-time position available immediately. Responsible for assisting, supervising and training individuals placed on a job site. Coordinates with client, Vocational Rehabilitation and employer. Must have high school education and varied competitive employment experiences or be certified as a job coach. Please make inquiry to Dennis Winter, Pawnee Mental Health Services, Phone: (913)587-4333. EOE.

JOBS IN THE GREAT OUTDOORS- Positions are now available at National Parks, Forests and Wildlife Preserves. For employment program, call (206)971-3620 ext. N57688.

MARKET INTERNSHIP available: Graphic Images Incorporated has several paid marketing internships, available to students who are currently involved with the fraternity and sorority system. Please contact our office between hours of 9a.m. to 5p.m. to schedule an interview (800)946-2434 ask for Steve Ray.

MEDICAL TRANSCRIPTIONIST for pathology laboratory. Ideal part-time position. Early evenings. Previous transcription experience preferred. Contact Pam as soon as possible at 539-5363 or bring resume or application to Petterson Clinical Laboratory at 1133 College Avenue, Building B, Manhattan, KS 66503. Equal Opportunity Employer.

NATIONAL PARK EMPLOYMENT -National Parks hire forestry workers, park rangers, firefighters, lifeguards, + volunteer and government positions. Excellent benefits + bonus potential. Call: 1-206-971-3620 ext.N57689.

PC/ NETWORK TECHNICIAN (20- 30 hours/ week, $6/ hour). Extensive knowledge of PC's required. Preference given to candidates with knowledge of Novell networks, TCP/IP configuration issues and PC diagnostic experience. Contact Glenn at Office of Information Systems, 2323 Anderson Ave., Suite 215, at 532-4781 or electronic mail to glenn@ksu.edu. Application deadline: January 24, 1997. Minorities, women and handicapped are encouraged to apply.

SILVERADO SALOON is now hiring bartenders, waitstaff and DJ's. Apply at 531 N. Manhattan, Tuesday through Saturday 6p.m.-2a.m..

STUDENT INTERNS, part-time positions available immediately. Excellent English communication and interpersonal skills required. Must be friendly with customer-oriented attitude. Applicants should apply in person at the Veterinary Medical Library, Fourth Floor, Trotter Hall, KSU. EOE. Applications accepted through January 22, 1997.

SUPPORTED EMPLOYMENT Specialist: Full-time position to work with the severe and persistent mentally ill. Will work with employers to obtain placement and provide job coaching services. Bachelors Degree required (certification as an Employment Training Specialist perferred), along with the ability to communicate with a wide variety of community agencies/ businesses. Salary Commensurate with degree and experience. Fringe benefits are competitive. Send resume and transcript to Mr. Francis Begnoche, RMLP, Pawnee Mental Health Services, 1650 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. EOE.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT position available for K-State student with a variety of skills. Must have good interpersonal and problem solving skills. Experience with PC's and popular software packages such as WordPerfect, QuattroPro and Windows applications desired. Must have understanding of MS-DOS and Windows. Network experience preferred. Application available/ accepted through Friday, January 31, 1997, in 211 Umborger Hall. (Department of Communications, Information and Education Technology.)

WANTED FREELANCE Artist Sampler Stores is seeking talented artist to design both serious and humurous full chest and left pocket designs for t-shirts and sweat shirts. Using a KSU, Wildcats, "Kansas", Wizard of Oz, sunflower, wheat or similar theme. Embroidered and silk screen designs are wanted. Please call 432-3355 10a.m. to 5p.m. or leave a message on our voice mail, 381-0185.

ZAP YOUR ZITS. Have the complexion you've always wanted! New Bio-Tech program. No animal ingredients or testing. Guaranteed results. 539-7336.

HELP WANTED PART-TIME
(2 days a month-2 weeks a year)
Great pay and excellent benefits!
Truck Drivers, Mechanics, Cooks, Medical Specialists, Military Police, Supply, Artillery and Armor Crewmen. Prior military service not required, we will train. Prior services may enter at last rank held up to E-6. No Basic Training!
For more information, call today!
537-4108; 537-4003
Kansas Army National Guard

400 OPEN MARKET

410

Items for Sale

BEER SIGNS, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, antiques, collectibles, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY Sale for Cash Pawn and Gun. Selling cd's $2 and $3 each. Movies for $4 each. Cassette tapes for $0.75 each. Sega and Super NES Systems for$49.00. 10% off all Spiderco knives. 20% off a large selection off items store wide. Lowest priced guns and jewelry. We buy sell and trade. Have money to loan. 1917 Fort Riley Blvd., 776-3332.

BUY SELL TRADE
Video Games
& Computer CD Roms
PLAYSTATION, SEGA, NINTENDO, ETC.
GAME GUY
709 N. 12th
Aggieville
537-0989
www.flinthills.com/~gameguy

HOME STEREO System: receiver, cassette, CD player, equalizers, speakers, 10-inch. Table saw, heavy-duty weight-lifting bench, attachments, Logitech Mouse, 537-4512.

ZENITH 486DX, 4MB, 170HD, 14-inch monitor with Cannon BJ-200 printer. Windows 3.1 with AMI-Pro. $750 or best offer, 776-1164.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

COUCH AND loveseat only three years old. Maroon, green, and cream plaid. Good condition. $200. Call 776-0382.

FULL SIZE XL mattress and boxsprings with frame. Pre-owned $50. Quantities limited. Furniture Warehouse 2326 Sky-Vue Lane. 537-2288.

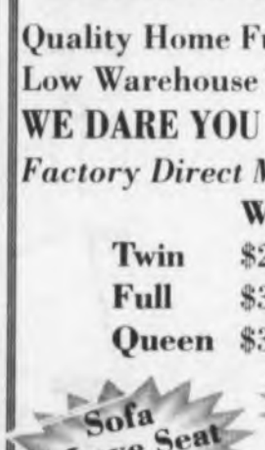
JERRY'S WHOLESALE carpet. Carpet remnants and vinyl remnants. 2501 Stagg Hill Road. Monday- Friday, 8:30a.m.- 5:30p.m. Sat. 8a.m.- 12p.m. Open to the public.

430

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Flea Market 7000 square feet, 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

435



Computers

INTERKAN.NET: MANHATTAN'S newest Internet Service Provider. Free setup software. Monthly rates: 10 hours @ $5, 30 hours @ $7.50, 90 hours @ $10, 200 hours @ $17.50. http://www.interkan.net or 565-0991.

445

Music Instruments

WELCOME BACK to The Music Co.! Best prices on new and used instruments and accessories. No pressure sales, we try to get what you need. Straight down 17th st from K-state Union, in the Midtown Plaza, 539-1958.

500 TRANSPORTATION

520

Bicycles

CANNONDALE TOURING bicycle. Excellent condition. Hardly used. $325. Call Rob: 532-6137 work; 776-6849 home.

530

Motorcycles

750 KAWAISKI Volcan. V-twin, four-stroke, shaft driven, liquid cooled, very fast, 11,000 miles, looks great, runs even better. $3500 or best offer. 776-1081.

600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

610

Tour Package

CANCUN- PADRE- MAZATLAN SPRING BREAK'S HOTTEST! 1-800-328-7513 Free food, drink and party specail!?! Up To $200 discount Coupons on our Website www.studentadvtrav.com.

Trying to make room for your new furniture?

The Collegian can help.
Get rid of yourr old furniture by using the Collegian classified ads. It's only $8.85 for 20 words to run 5 days.
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie
532-6555

CLASSIFIEDS DIRECTORY

000 BULLETIN BOARD
000 BULLETIN BOARD
000 BULLETIN BOARD
000 BULLETIN BOARD
000 BULLETIN BOARD
000 BULLETIN BOARD

HOMESTEAD RENTAL
We Have What Students Need!
FURNITURE-TV-APPLIANCE RENTAL.
TV (19', remote) As low as $29 monthly
VCR As low as $27 monthly
Complete Living Room Set As low as $44 monthly
Wood Bunk Bed Set As low as $33 monthly
Washer/ Dryer
Twin Bed & Chest Set As low as $29 monthly
Complete Bedroom Set As low as $40 monthly
•Month to Month Lease
•No Deposits
•Immediate Delivery
•Home Owned/Home Operated
•Special Student Groups
•Wide Selection
•Friendly Service
•Authorized RYDER dealer
HAVE IT DELIVERED TODAY
HOMESTEAD RENTAL
CALL NOW! 537-8774
Visit our showroom at 2332 Sky-vue (1 block south of Holiday Inn/Holidome)

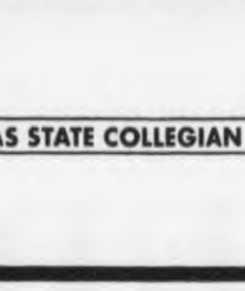
Furniture WAREHOUSE
Quality Home Furnishings at...
Low Warehouse Pricing!
WE DARE YOU TO COMPARE
Factory Direct Mattress

	Was	Now
Twin	$299	$147
Full	$349	$167
Queen	$399	$197

Sofa & Love Seat as Low as $497
Bookshelfs $29
4 Drawer Chests $59
Oak Finish 3 pc Coffee Table End Table Set $99
12 Month Interest
Free Financing (W.A.C)
Free Delivery
2326 Sky-Vue Lane
537-2288 • Manhattan

K S U

Recreational Services



REC REPORT

January 1997

This is a Paid Advertisement

Tune in to our full page ad on the 1st day of each month for program information and monthly calendar of Recreational Services events!

WHO'S who at the REC

Michelle Bishop remembers when the small gym had to be closed for basketball in order to accommodate exercise sessions — before the expansion! Michelle has been an exercise leader for Rec Services for 4 1/2 years and is also a fitness consultant in the wellness resource center. A native of Wichita, KS, Michelle said, "The thing I like most about working at the Rec is helping people get in shape, plus the opportunity to meet so many different people and make so many friends!" After completing her degree in nutrition and exercise science this May, Michelle plans to work in the cardiac rehabilitation field for a year or so and then attend medical school.

Susan Sokol, senior in nutrition and exercise science, started working at the Rec Complex 1 1/2 years ago as a weight room supervisor and can now be found working 20-25 hours each week at the service area as an assistant building manager. Susan has always enjoyed being active and involved with lots of people — so working at the Rec Complex is a natural for her and fits right in with her interests. One main interest for Susan is her upcoming marriage this summer to former Rec employee and high school sweetheart, Brent Johnson. Susan plans to graduate in May 1998 and hopes to continue her education here at K-State for a masters degree.

my FAVORITE workout

Diane Laughlin before and after her 105 lb weight loss!

Diane Laughlin, program coordinator for Division of Continuing Education for Conferences & Non-Credit Programs, has lost 105 pounds since March 1996! She attributes her astonishing success to several key factors — including developing a strong self-determination, eating healthy low-fat foods, and adopting a regular exercise habit. Unable to walk a full mile comfortably in the beginning, Diane now works out at the Rec Complex five days a week. Her regular routine includes running 5 miles, followed by 30-45 minutes using a variety of Cybex weight machines. Her new lifestyle of exercise and healthy eating has convinced Diane that the benefits gained are far greater than the effort required! Her favorite quote is by Stacy Allison, the first woman to climb Mt. Everest: "I've always had those little goals that I've worked toward — they add up!"

Working It Out

Start your new year with Wildcat Workouts! There's a new schedule of exercise sessions and a great staff to motivate and encourage you. Bring a friend and make exercise a part of your routine. There are a variety of exercise sessions available to everyone!

Workout Definitions

Aerobics - combines high intensity and low impact exercise with energetic choreography
Circuit - strength, endurance, and flexibility workout alternating sets of aerobics, step aerobics, strength training, and stretching Combo - combination of aerobics, step aerobics, and circuit training...a great starter session
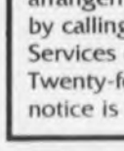
Funk - similar to aerobics with high intensity and low impact exercise but the choreography is changed a little to include funky dance moves
Interval - combines alternating sets of step aerobics and strength training
Step - offers fun and challenging foot work to increase exercise intensity
Advanced Step - advanced moves with high and low impact
Double Step - uses two steps
Toning - offers weight resistance training for all major muscle groups



Wildcat Workout Schedule

	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday	Sunday
6:30 a.m.	Combo		Combo		Toning
9:45 a.m.		Step		Step		Aerobics
12 p.m.	Combo	Step	Combo	Step	Combo
3:15 p.m.	Step	Double Step	Step	Circuit	Step
4:20 p.m.	Interval	Combo	Interval	Combo	Interval
5:30 p.m.	Adv. Step	Step/Tone 5:30-7	Adv. Step	Step/Tone 5:30-7	Adv. Step		Step/Tone 5:30-7
7:30 p.m.	Step	Aerobics	Step	Aerobics
8:30 p.m.	Funk	Toning	Funk	Toning

Wildcat Waterworks Schedule

Aqua Aerobics
Monday-Friday
Noon
Monday, Tuesday & Thursday
7:30 p.m.
Aqua Aerobics - provides a great workout with water resistance while decreasing the impact on all joints and the spine

Deep Water Jogging
Wednesday
7:30 p.m.
Deep Water Jogging - combines water buoyancy and resistance for zero impact, high intensity exercise

POOL ACTION

Basketball Officials Wanted

Recreational Services will be hiring and training Basketball Officials for the upcoming season. Training sessions will be held Jan. 27-29 at 6:30 p.m. each night at the Recreation Complex. Attendance is required at all three sessions. You do not have to be experienced in basketball officiating. We will train and prepare you to be the best official you can be. Come on out and give it a shot!

Intramural MANIA

January Intramural Dates to Remember

Date	Event	Time	Location
24	Entry deadline for Basketball & Individual Sports	5 p.m.	Rec Services Office
27	Basketball Officials Meeting	6:30 p.m.	Rec Complex
29	Captains'/Managers' Meeting	5 p.m.	Union, Forum Hall

Intramural Basketball

Don't miss out on our largest Intramural sport of the year! Start organizing your teams for the upcoming basketball season. Entries will be accepted Tuesday, Jan. 21, through Friday, Jan. 24. Priority on playing times is on a first-come, first-serve basis. Information sheets with league menus are available in the Recreational Services office. Be part of the action!

Wellness Resource Center

Fitness consultants will offer many helpful services this semester at the wellness resource center in the Recreation Complex. These services include measurement and evaluation of flexibility, strength, cardiovascular endurance and percent body fat. Fitness consultants are available by appointment to assist you in developing a personalized exercise program. Let the wellness resource center be your door to safe, enjoyable and effective exercise.

Free BLOOD PRESSURE Checks

Tuesday, January 28 • 5-7 p.m.
Recreation Complex • provided by Lafene Health Center

Outdoor Rental Center

The Outdoor Rental Center is closed during the winter months. However, special arrangements may be made by calling the Recreational Services office at 532-6980. Twenty-four hour advance notice is required.

Fitness Facts

As we begin the new year, remember the many benefits of exercise. It increases metabolism and decreases appetite; it improves quality of sleep, allows your body to use oxygen more efficiently and increases muscle tone. Exercise also decreases the risk of coronary artery disease and helps you look and feel better!

Nutrition Notes

Heavy intake of sugar causes a quick rise in blood sugar levels which will be followed by a quick fall a few hours later. This dip in blood sugar levels causes the body to crave food to relieve fatigue. Usually the food is again high in sugar and a seesaw effect continues. Cut back on your daily intake of sugar or sweets and eat fruit to satisfy your sweet tooth.

Rec Check

Rec Check provides program and facility information 24 hours a day by dialing 532-6000. Call Rec Check for Recreation Complex and Pool hours, exercise sessions, Intramural deadlines and more!

Entry Policies:

- Facility users must be affiliated with KSU -- student, faculty/staff or alumni association member.
- Cards are not sold to the general public.
- Call the Recreational Services office at 532-6980 for details.

For Your Convenience

Facility hours and exercise schedules are now available on the World Wide Web Recreational Services Home Page at http://www.ksu.edu/rec/

RC = Recreation Complex
P = Pools at Natatorium

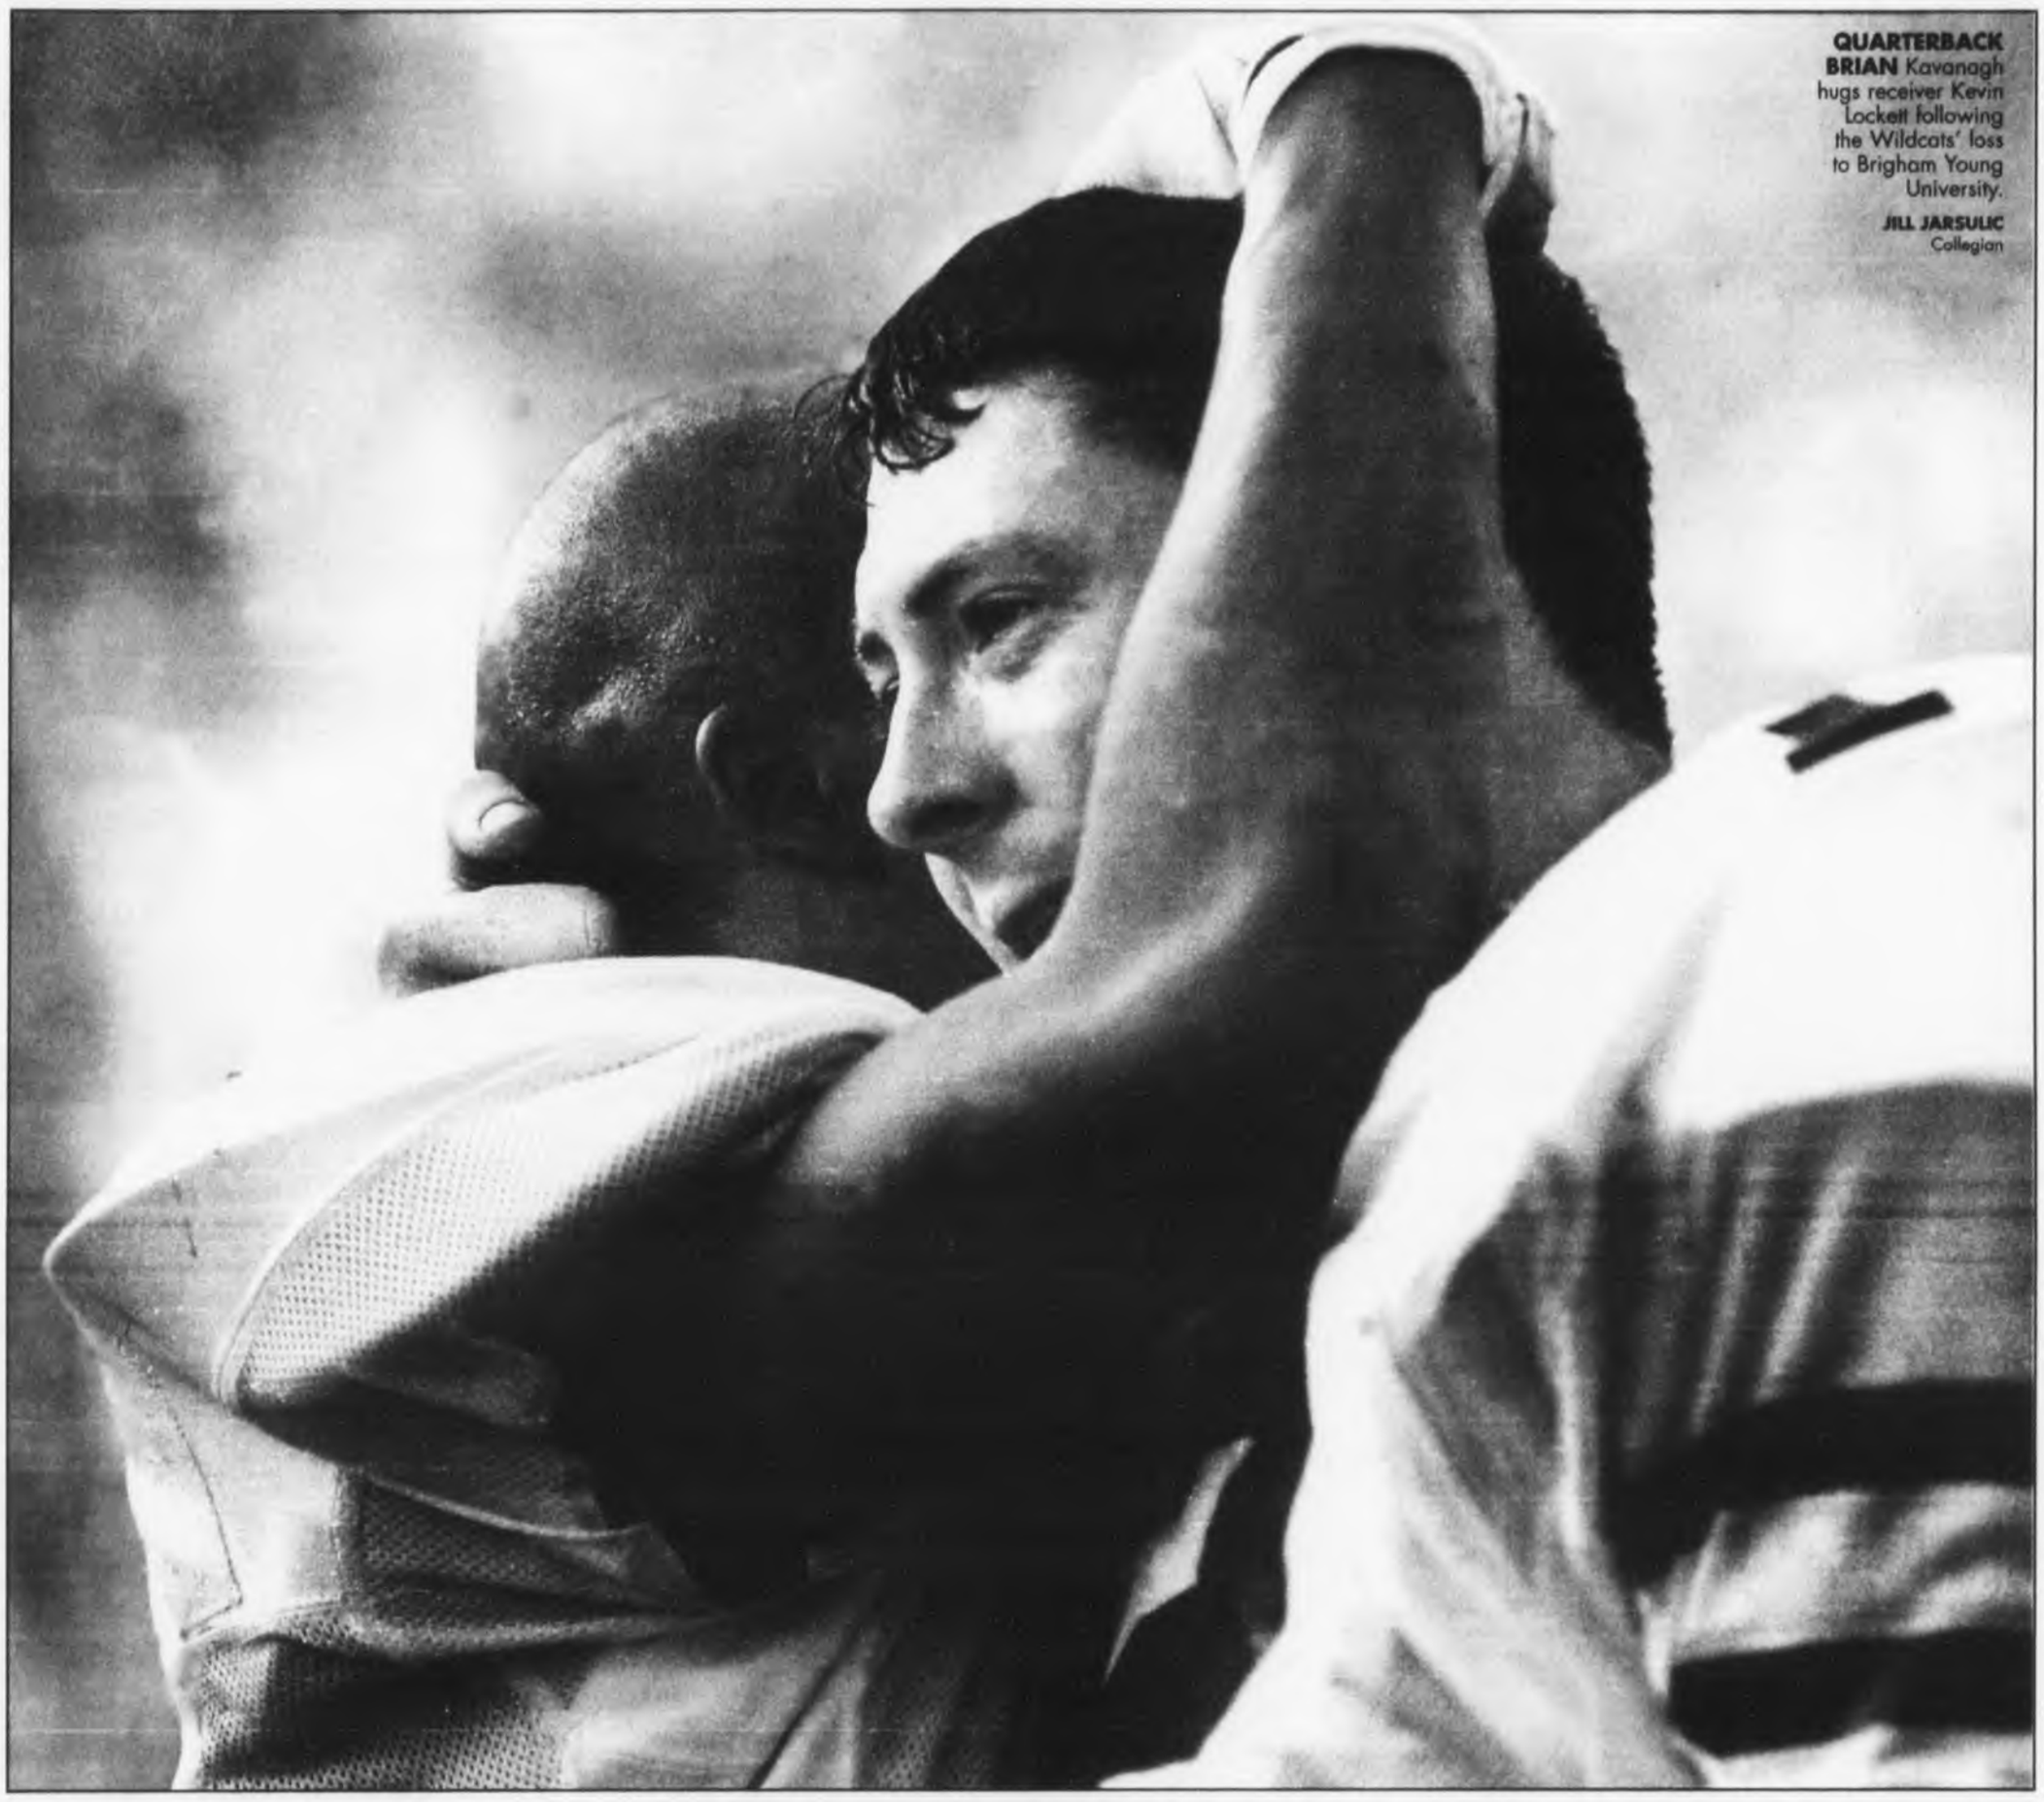
January 16 - 31, 1997

RECREATIONAL SERVICES ACTIVITY CALENDAR

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
	FOR INFORMATION CALL Rec Check (Automated Information) .... 532-6000 Recreation Complex ..... 532-6950 Outdoor Rental Center ..... 532-6894 Administrative Office ..... 532-6980 (Office open Mon-Fri, 8am-5pm, including noon hour.)			16 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....5:00PM - 6:00PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM Classes Begin & Exercise Sessions Resume	17 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM	18 RC 9:00AM - 10:00PM P 1:00PM - 5:00PM ....7:00PM - 10:00PM
19 RC 1:00 PM - 10:00 PM P 1:00PM - 5:00PM ....7:00PM - 10:00PM	20 All Facilities Closed Martin Luther King, Jr.	21 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....5:00PM - 6:00PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM IM Entries Begin/Ind Sports & Basketball	22 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM	23 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....5:00PM - 6:00PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM	24 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM IM Entry Deadline/Ind Sports & Basketball, 5pm	25 RC 9:00AM - 10:00PM P 1:00PM - 5:00PM ....7:00PM - 10:00PM
26 RC NOON - MIDNIGHT P 1:00PM - 5:00PM ....7:00PM - 10:00PM	27 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM Basketball Officials Mtg, 6:30 @ Rec Complex February Card Sales Begin	28 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....5:00PM - 6:00PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM Blood Pressure Check, 5-7pm	29 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM Basketball Captains Mtg, 5:00 @ Forum Hall, Union	30 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....5:00PM - 6:00PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM	31 RC 6:00AM - MIDNIGHT P 6:00AM - 7:30AM ....11:30AM - 2:30PM ....7:30PM - 10:00PM

 Pool use on Tues & Thurs, 5-6 pm, is restricted to adult, fitness swimming and water jogging only.

Words of Wellness... Education is Not Received — It is Achieved!



KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

COTTON BOWL SPECIAL

THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1997

▶ K-STATE 15 — 61ST ANNUAL COTTON BOWL — BYU 19 ◀

SO CLOSE, YET SO FAR

QUARTERBACK BRIAN Kavanagh hugs receiver Kevin Lockett following the Wildcats' loss to Brigham Young University.

JILL JARSULIC
Collegian

"I know when it is one on one, Kevin always has a chance to make the play. I really thought that he came down with the touchdown."

BRIAN KAVANAGH, K-STATE QUARTERBACK

Fourth quarter decides game

STORY BY SHANE MCCORMICK

On a second and one from the Brigham Young 17, with 1:30 remaining in the game, K-State quarterback Brian Kavanagh launched a pass into the corner of the end zone to Kevin Lockett.

For a brief second, more than 40,000 K-State fans erupted for what they thought was a game-winning touchdown. But Lockett only got half of a foot inbounds as he was pushed by a defender. The pass was ruled incomplete.

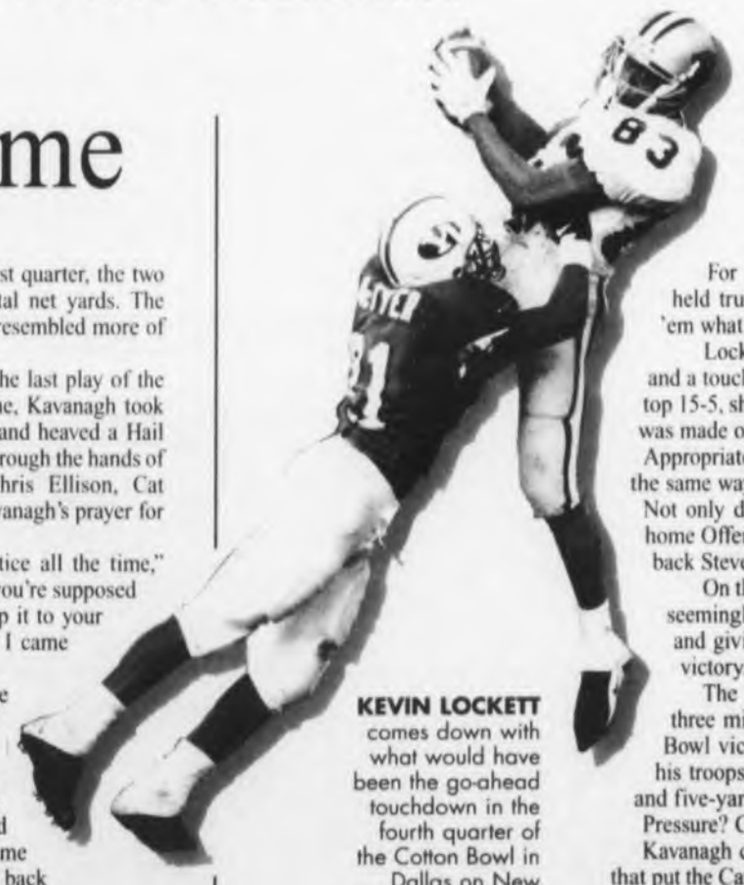
"I know when it is one on one, Kevin always has a chance to make the play," Kavanagh said. "I really thought that he came down with the touchdown."

But Lockett didn't and four plays later Kavanagh was intercepted by Cougar cornerback Omarr Morgan at the three-yard line. The play capped off a 13-play drive that started at the Cat 28-yard line with 3:39 left in the game.

"The cornerback had inside leverage, I just tried to squeeze it in," Kavanagh said. "It was just a bad call by me and a great play by the cornerback."

The result was a 19-15 defeat for the 14th-ranked Wildcats in their first New Year's Day bowl game.

Before the 61st annual Cotton Bowl, many thought the contest would be a high-scoring affair between the two teams. But by the end of the first quarter, the two teams had only accumulated 93 total net yards. The Cougars' lead was 5-0, a mark that resembled more of a baseball score.



The score stayed that way until the last play of the first half. At the Cougar 41-yard line, Kavanagh took the snap from the shotgun position and heaved a Hail Mary prayer. After the ball made it through the hands of Cougar defenders Morgan and Chris Ellison, Cat receiver Andre Anderson caught Kavanagh's prayer for a touchdown.

"It's a play that we run in practice all the time," Anderson said. "If you can catch it, you're supposed to catch it. If not, then you try to tip it to your teammates. I was just thankful that I came up with the play."

The Cats originally elected for the extra point to put them up 7-5. But on the play, the Cougars were offsides. After both teams had already headed into the halftime locker room, Snyder told officials he wanted to accept the penalty. Both teams came back on the field and Cat running back Mike Lawrence took an option right and dove into the end zone. The conversion put the Cats up 8-5 heading into the locker room for the second time.

See THE GAME, Page 4

> "It's a very disappointed loss for the team. I am disappointed for our fans. They were really great. They deserve to be applauded."
>
> BILL SNYDER
> HEAD COACH

KEVIN LOCKETT comes down with what would have been the go-ahead touchdown in the fourth quarter of the Cotton Bowl in Dallas on New Year's Day. Lockett was ruled out-of-bounds on the play.

BRANDON WHITE
Collegian

Lockett ends career with game honors

STORY BY JEREMY KELLEY

For one moment during the Cotton Bowl, one maxim held true for K-State wide-receiver Kevin Lockett: "Show 'em what you're made of."

Lockett, who tallied up 135 yards on seven receptions and a touchdown including a 72-yard jaunt that put K-State on top 15-5, showed the 40,000 K-State fans and the world what he was made of in his final game as a Wildcat.

Appropriately enough, this senior ended his career at K-State the same way it had originally begun — with a touchdown.

Not only did it end with a touchdown, but Lockett also took home Offensive Player of the Game honors with BYU quarterback Steve Sarkisian.

On the Cats' final offensive drive Lockett was brilliant — seemingly bailing K-State from the depths of offensive hell and giving the purple people even more hope of a Wildcat victory.

The scenario began at K-State's own 28-yard line with three minutes and 39 seconds left. With a potential Cotton Bowl victory in his hands, quarterback Brian Kavanagh led his troops to the 50-yard line where he faced a fourth down and five-yard hump to get over.

Pressure? Certainly not! Not with Lockett at your heels.

Kavanagh connected with Lockett on the left side for 12 yards that put the Cats at the BYU 38-yard line and sent the Cotton Bowl crowd up in such a clamor that Keyser Soze would have flinched.

Lockett caught yet another pass that stationed the then once-struggling K-State offense at the BYU 26.

See LOCKETT, Page 2

Budweiser
KING OF BEERS.
CONGRATULATIONS ON A GREAT SEASON!
This Bud's For You
BUD LIGHT

STRENGTH IN NUMBERS

AS THE last seconds tick away and Kansas State falls to BYU at the Cotton Bowl, loyal wildcat fans watch the defeat.

CLIF PALMBERG Collegian

"Coming to the stadium and seeing all the purple gave me goose bumps.
After the fourth-quarter interception, it looked like life had ended as they knew it for the K-State fans."

AARON BALL, MEDIA RELATIONS LIASON

Fans paint Dallas purple days before Cotton Bowl

STORY BY SUN DEE MILLS

More than 40,000 Wildcat fans witnessed the offensive breakdown and the defensive exhaustion of the Cats at the 61st annual Cotton Bowl.

"It was impressive that we brought enough fans to sell out our stadium," Kurt Meyers, senior in agribusiness, said. "I think it was a great statement for the future of K-State football."

BRANDON WHITE/Collegian

ARLYS CARTER, Derby, watches the K-State pep rally the day before the Cotton Bowl in Dallas.

The day before the game, Cotton Bowl officials said BYU's allotment had not been sold.

"The stadium was officially sold out," Aaron Ball, media relations liaison, said. "BYU fans were saying they were buying remaining tickets so that K-State fans couldn't."

Cat fans took three days to break the Cotton Bowl's record for tickets sold by one institution, which Texas Tech set in 1995 with 28,232 tickets.

"My dad bought these tickets before we even knew we'd be going to Dallas," Dave Roth, 1989 graduate, said at the game. He traveled from Baltimore to attend. "When we found out we were in the end zone, we were disappointed."

The excitement began way before the kick-off. On New Year's Eve Randy Wieser, manager of Dick's Last Resort in the Dallas West End bar district, said the fans started partying even before Dec. 31.

"K-State was here on Monday for a Kansas radio station-sponsored luncheon, and they never stopped coming," he said.

"I've been here 11 years. Because we're the smallest of the eight Dick's (Last Resort) in the country, we're never No. 1 in sales. We beat all the other stores in the country that night. It was our biggest New Year's Eve ever."

Ball, who has attended the Cotton Bowl for the past 19 years, said K-State fans outnumbered fans of powerhouse football teams like Texas A&M.

"Coming to the stadium and seeing all the purple gave me goose bumps," Ball said. "After the fourth-quarter interception, it looked like life had ended as they knew it for the K-State fans."

Even with the loss, fans enjoyed watching the Cats play the No. 5 team in the nation.

"I really thought when we were up at the half that the game was ours," Meyers said. "The defense was performing well, but the offense hadn't found its rhythm yet."

Roth, who only saw the Cats win three times in his undergraduate years, said he was disheartened by the loss, but proud of the fan support.

"I thought Lockett's catch in the end zone was definitely out, but the fact that he made it proves that he's far and away one of the best K-State players ever," he said.

"I was so proud of K-State and the program. Seeing the fans and spending the day with them was absolutely fabulous," he said.

Mike Baggett, Cotton Bowl chairman, said he was impressed with the K-State turnout.

"Of all the years of the Cotton Bowl I've been involved in, which is too long, we've never had anything like this," he said. "You all are terrific."

Wieser said he looked forward to seeing Cats return to Dallas.

"Come on down," he said. "You'll get a big Texas welcome here."

DARREN WHITLEY/Collegian

WILLIE THE WILDCAT, with help from the cheerleaders, leads more than 17,000 fans at a pep rally in Dallas on the Tuesday before the Cotton Bowl.

Purple people support Cats at pregame rally

STORY BY JILL JARSULIC

A big purple wave brought rush-hour traffic to Dallas freeways a little early Dec. 31.

Nearly 17,000 purple-and-white clad K-State fans clawed their way into Dallas' Starplex Amphitheatre to show their devotion for Coach Bill Snyder and his Cotton Bowl-bound Cats. This was an unprecedented event in college football, said Greg Sharpe, the voice of the Wildcats.

"Every one of you needs to be commended for your support of the Kansas State Wildcats," Sharpe said to open the event. "This, ladies and gentlemen, is unequaled in college football."

The crowd was loud and thick with purple pride as Sharpe introduced Mike Baggett, chairman of the board for the Southwestern Bell Cotton Bowl Classic. Although he's a Texas Aggie at heart, Baggett said he was happy with K-State's invitation to the Cotton Bowl.

"I'm a Texas Aggie, but I'm damn glad to see you all here in the Cotton Bowl," he said.

Screams of delight followed Baggett's sentiment, but when a teary-eyed President Jon Wefald took the microphone, K-State's faithful went crazy. Wefald made his case for why K-State football represents the American dream.

"Kansas State is the University and the football team that represents the whole tradition of hope, because we were down. We were nothing," he said. "We are living proof that if you never give up, that if you have courage, that if you work hard, America is a country where you can go from the bottom to the top."

Wefald's crying took some by surprise.

"At first I thought he was just goofing," Greg Howard, senior in milling science and management, said. "I didn't think it was for real, but I thought it displayed a lot of emotion and dedication he has for the University."

The K-State Marching Band performed for the crowd, and the fans responded by singing along with it.

After the team completed its walk-through of the Cotton Bowl Stadium, Snyder and the players lined the stage like soldiers being sent to battle. Snyder gave the fans a rousing thank you for their support.

"In fear of maybe sounding like the Church Lady and throwing those terms around, this is just really special, and you really are special people," he said. "I can assure you that."

Snyder let the fans know the team's purple pride was swelling right along with theirs.

"Some say pride is good, some say it's not so good," he said. "We believe in pride, and we have a great deal of pride. These young people have a great deal of pride in how they perform."

Snyder introduced team captains Joe Gordon, Jason Johnson, Brian Kavanagh, Kevin Lockett and Mario Smith.

"Earlier this year, I saw at the pep rally we had downtown that we had the greatest fans in the world," cornerback Gordon said. "You all have proven that tonight."

LOCKETT

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Then destiny reared its wonderful face.

Kavanagh's pass to Lockett in the back off the end zone was caught, but Lockett was ruled out-of-bounds and all supporters were livid.

"It was the same play Kevin scored the long touchdown on, and I just gave it away," Kavanagh said.

"It was a bad check on my part. We tried running a quick slant but with the inside players it was hard to run a quick slant, and the guy made a great play," he said.

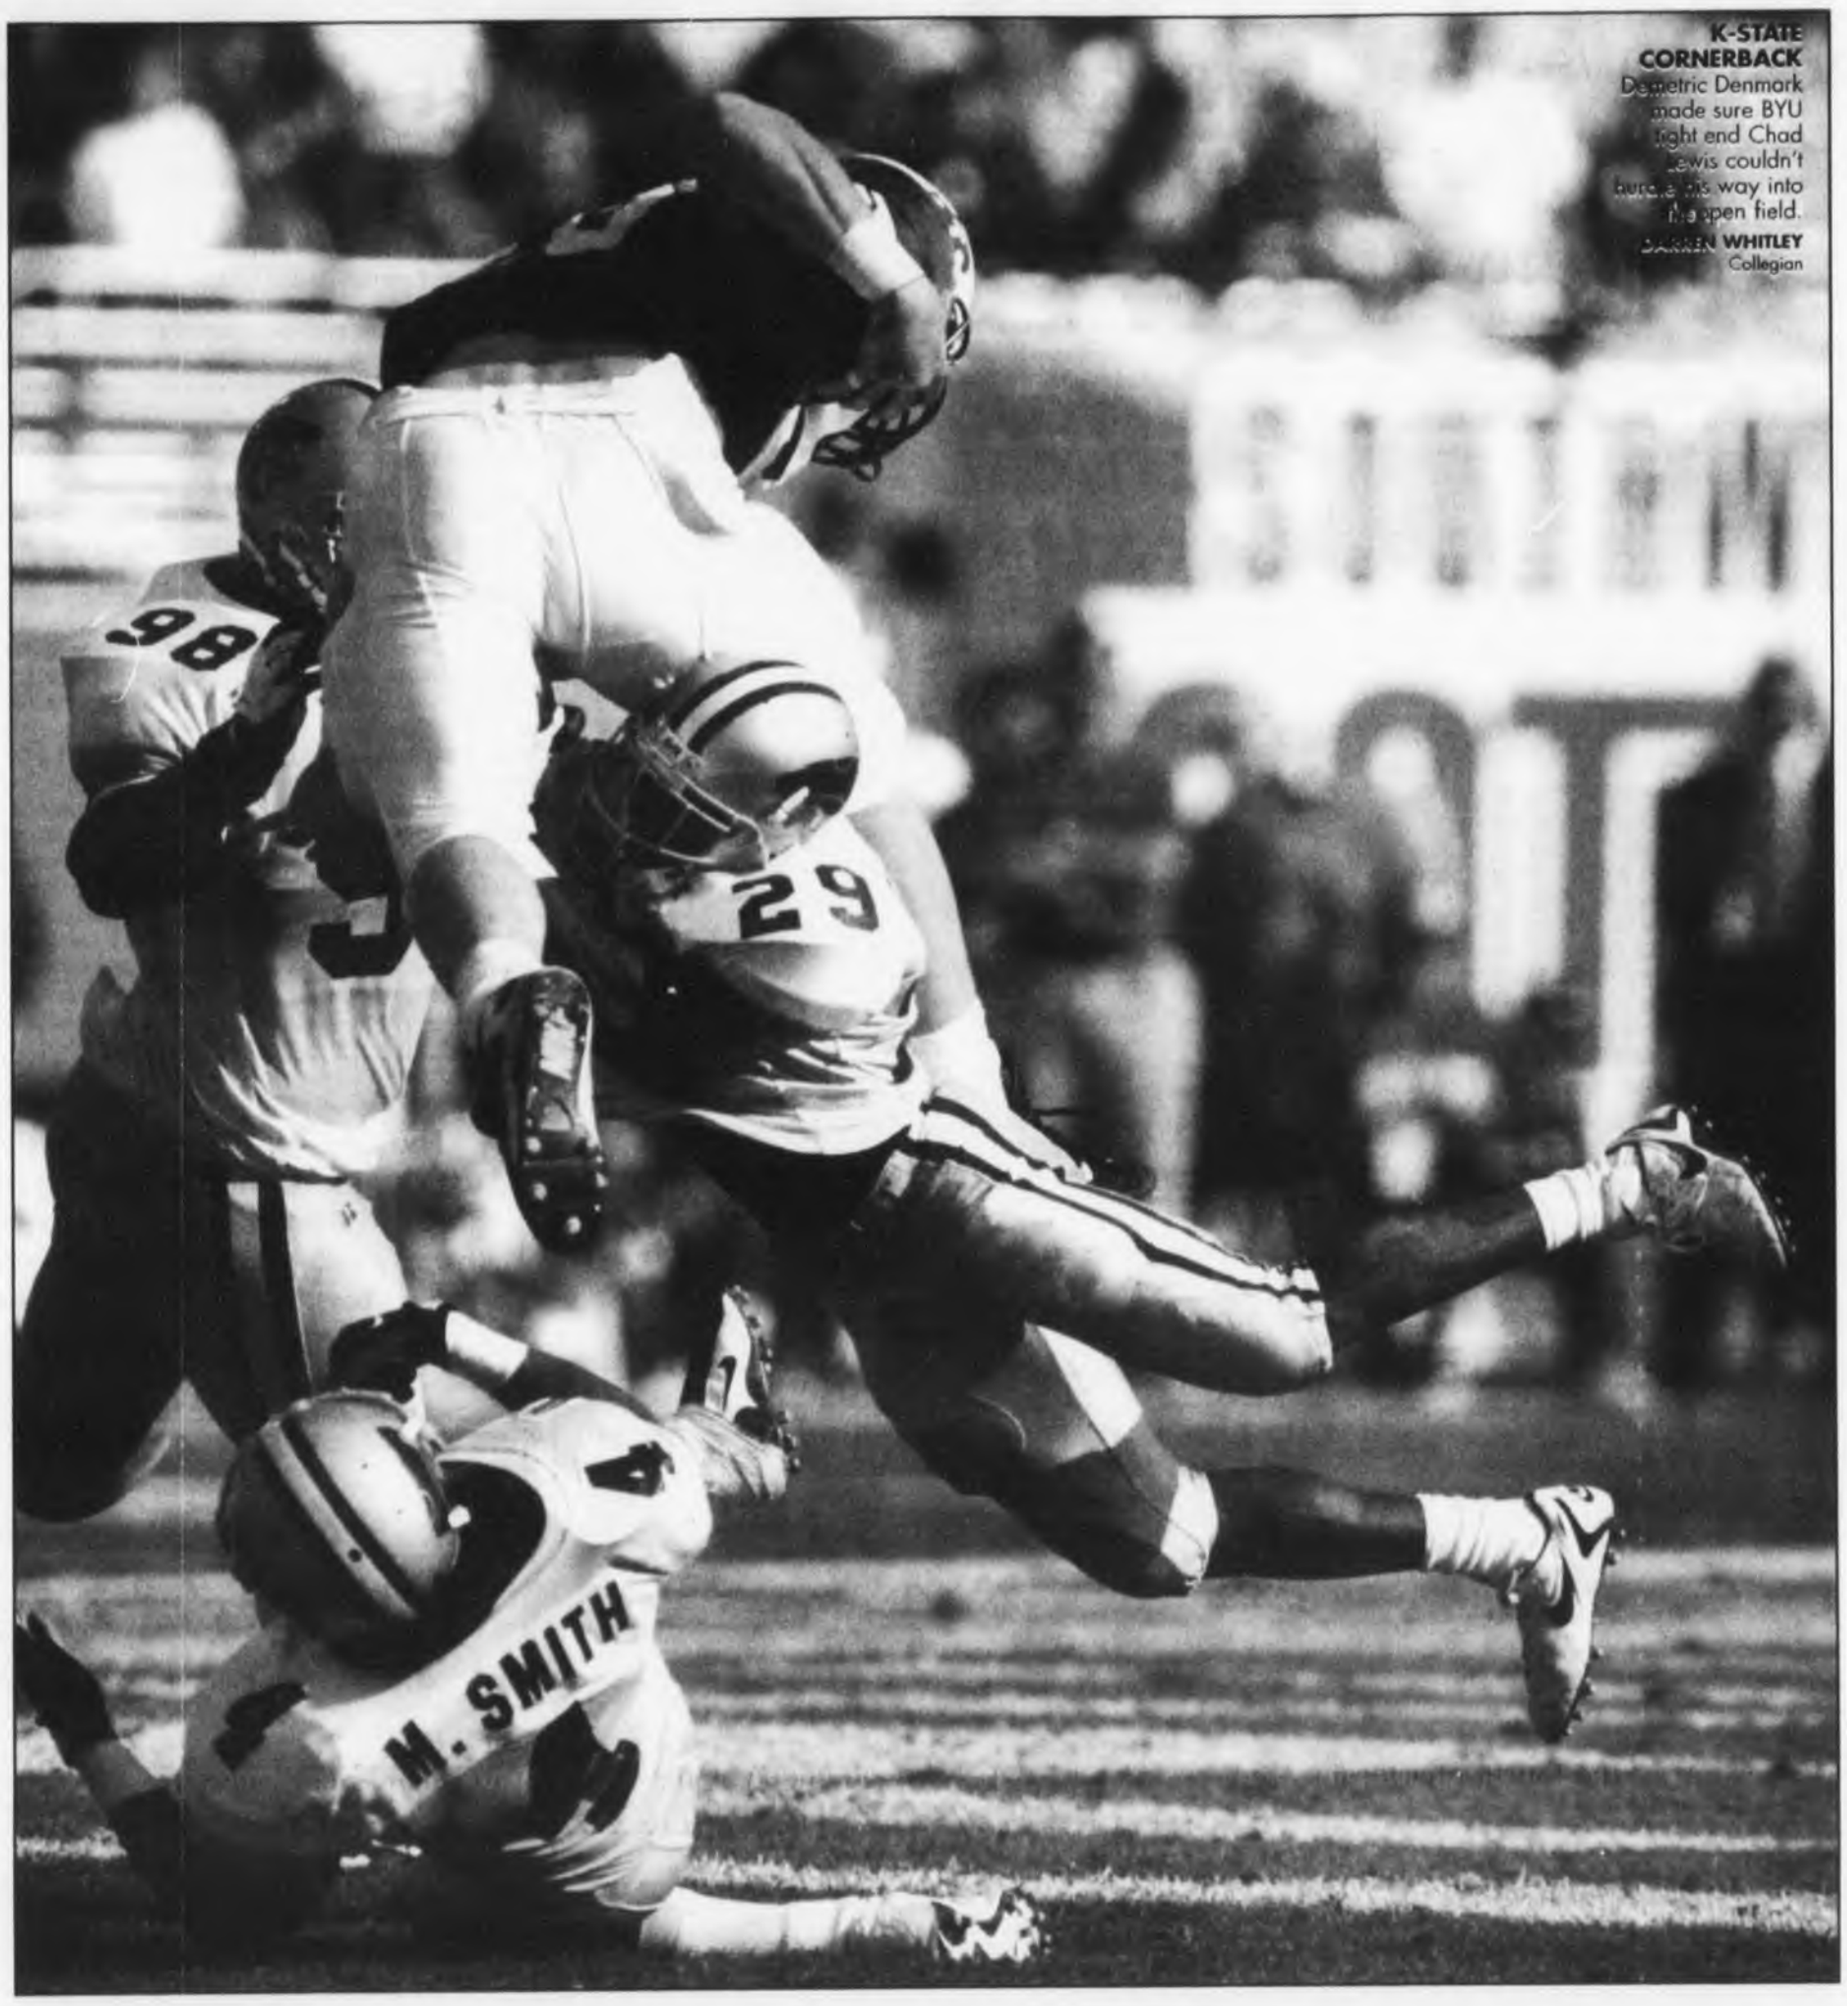
Unfortunately, it wasn't K-State's destiny to win the contest.

"The whole play got jumbled from the beginning. It didn't go at all like it was supposed to," Kavanagh said. "Kevin's at the back of the end zone. I've been with Kevin for a long time, and I know when it's one-on-one, you give Kevin Lockett a chance. He went up and made the play and the ref probably made the right call."

On the attempted touchdown, Lockett had half his foot in bounds and was pushed out of the end zone by BYU cornerback Tim McTyer.

"I believe I would have been in bounds. He did push me as I made the catch, but that's part of his job," Lockett said.

Even after the jumbled play, the Cats still had life. Kavanagh completed yet another fourth-down pass to Lockett.



With one minute left and the weight of the world on his shoulders, Kavanagh's final pass intended for Jimmy Dean was picked off by cornerback Omarr Morgan and thus ended K-State's last hurrah.

"Jimmy was fine with his route. It was a bad pass but a great play by their defensive back. It was a bad decision by me to even call the play. Give the cornerback credit. He made a great play," Kavanagh said.

All maxims aside, Lockett showed true grit and certainly showed all Cat watchers what he was made of.

LOCKETT AT THE BOWL.
Kevin Lockett had seven receptions for 135 yards.

Lockett also had the longest catch in his career and in K-State's bowl history.

K-STATE CORNERBACK Demetric Denmark made sure BYU tight end Chad Lewis couldn't break his way into the open field.
DARREN WHITLEY Collegian

A MATTER OF DEFENSE

STORY BY JEREMY KELLEY

▸ AFTER A STRONG FIRST HALF, the weary defense couldn't secure a bowl victory.

It was the same old story. An inconsistent offense struggling to put points on the board forcing the defense to produce turnovers to secure a victory.

This was the case for K-State at the Southwestern Bell Cotton Bowl on Jan. 1.

The first half seemed more like a baseball game: Brigham Young took a narrow lead, 2-0 in the first inning, when quarterback Brian Kavanagh made K-State's first error. An inning later, the Cougars padded their lead when Ethan Pochman cleared the bases with a three-run dinger, and BYU lead 5-0.

BYU's scoring offense was the lowest it had been all year. Most of that could be attributed to the K-State defense, which pummeled BYU's aerial master, Steve Sarkisian, and tallied a Cotton Bowl record of seven sacks on the day.

It was an all-too-familiar scenario, right? Wrong. Usually the defense secures a victory, but not so on this day.

The Cougars galloped into K-State territory five times in the first half. Four times they failed to put points on the board. It was once again the mighty defense that protected K-State.

At halftime, K-State led 8-5 after Kavanagh hurled a Hail Mary, and Andre Anderson caught it in the end zone after it bounced off his helmet.

"At halftime I was concerned," Coach Bill Snyder said. "You're concerned with how you're playing in relation to the score in the ball game. The fact that we were up in the ball game I think was of little significance at that point of time. We had played well on defense and had not given up a touchdown."

In the third inning, K-State scored a touchdown to cushion its lead to 10 points at 15-5.

"I thought when we went up 15-5, we would put them away," offensive coordinator Dana Dimel said. "I thought it was time that we would wear them down, and it was done."

Think again.

K-State's defense entered a marathon and were forced to remain on the field 11 minutes and 34 seconds in the third quarter — entirely too long even for a defense of K-State's caliber.

BYU took possession of the football with 12:13 left in the game and 1:18 later had scored another touchdown to come within three points, 15-12.

Critics said all year long the K-State defense grew softer toward the end of ball games, but this was the Cotton Bowl.

"I wouldn't say we were soft, but I would say that we were wearing down — that's part of football," free-safety Mario Smith said. "When our defense stays on the field that long, that's going to happen."

Maintaining a slim lead, K-State tried to concoct some sort of offensive willpower to add to its lead. But the streaking offense couldn't produce.

"It was the same problem we had all year — we just couldn't get going sometimes," quarterback Brian Kavanagh said. "I never felt uncomfortable out there."

Neither did BYU quarterback Steve Sarkisian, who quickly found his comfort zone in the fourth quarter after being pounded all day by K-State's defense.

Sarkisian, who completed a Cotton Bowl record of 21 completions on the day, delivered the blow that would prove to be the game winner. With 3:38 remaining, Sarkisian connected with wide-receiver James Dye on a 32-yard touchdown that put BYU on top 19-15.

The then tired defense, anchored by free-safety Smith, who had just separated wide-receiver

See DEFENSE, Page 4

Seniors finish 'roller-coaster ride' career with disappointing loss

STORY BY SHANE McCORMICK

Seventeen K-State seniors have seen the Cat program progress over the years, all the way to its first New Year's Day bowl game. But this is not the storybook ending they envisioned.

The seniors envisioned jumping up and down on the field, celebrating a Cotton Bowl victory over Brigham Young.

But after a 19-15 defeat, the emotions that ran through their bodies were tears and sadness, not joy and laughter.

"This is really a tough loss to swallow," K-State cornerback Joe Gordon said. "Nobody wants to end their career with a loss. This will stick with us for awhile."

Despite the up-and-down season, Gordon said he didn't have reason to look down on what this team had accomplished over the last couple of years.

"It has definitely been a roller-coaster ride. In no way will I hang my head and say this was a bad season, because our team won games, and I was a part of that team," he said.

This group of seniors has led the team to four consecutive bowl appearances.

They have led the team to four consecutive top 25 rankings.

They have lead the team to four consecutive seasons of at least nine victories. A mark that only five other schools have accomplished

See SENIORS, Page 4

SENIORS AT THE BOWLS

1993 Copper Bowl
Freshman all-America Kevin Lockett catches a touchdown pass from K-State quarterback Chad May to put the Cats ahead of Wyoming 38-10 midway through the third quarter. It was Lockett's only catch of the night, as K-State cruised to its first bowl victory since 1982, 52-17.

1994 Aloha Bowl
In a valiant effort, K-State loses their second consecutive bowl game against Boston College 12-7. The defense pitched a tight game as free-safety Mario Smith led the team with 10 tackles.
Sophomore cornerback Joe Gordon was named K-State's most valuable player with his outstanding postseason play. Gordon had a blocked punt, an interception, three tackles

See BOWLS Page 4

DARREN WHITLEY/Collegian
K-STATE'S ANDRE ANDERSON makes a diving catch for a touchdown from a Hail Mary pass from K-State quarterback Brian Kavanagh.

Dimel heads west; Hudson could be possible replacement

SHANE McCORMICK
staff writer

K-State offensive coordinator Dana Dimel did not have long to sulk following a 19-15 defeat to Brigham Young.

He must now prepare to face the Cougars next season, this time coaching from the sidelines of the Wyoming Cowboys.

Dimel

After 10 years on the Cat coaching staff, Dimel replaces Joe Tiller as the head coach at Wyoming.

Dimel has completed his 10th season with the Wildcats and earned the offensive-coordinator spot after spending 1994 as running-game coordinator and offensive-line coach. Dimel has coached the offensive line that has led the way for two of K-State's 1,000-yard rushers — Eric Gallon in 1991 and J.J. Smith in 1994.

Dimel played as an offensive tackle for the Wildcats for three years and lettered in 1985 and 1986. After his success with K-State, he was drafted and signed with the Minnesota Vikings in 1987.

After graduating from K-State in 1986, Dimel began his coaching career as a graduate assistant coach. Prior to the start of the 1989 season, Dimel joined the full-time staff, becoming the running-game coordinator and offensive-line coach.

After the 1994 season, Dimel was promoted to offensive coordinator, guiding the offense to school records in total points and touchdowns.

In Dimel's first bowl game as the offensive coordinator, the Cat offense rolled, aiding in a 54-21 win over Colorado State. But the story was much different in Dimel's last game as a Cat.

Against the Cougars, the Cat offense never got on track, forcing the defense to be on the field for long periods of time.

"Our offense was never in sync," Dimel said. "I was really concerned after the first half. We have been usually hot or cold all year. Today we were cold, and we could never really recover."

Dimel said words could not express the feelings he has toward K-State.

"This is a very emotional time for me," he said. "I could go on forever and ever about this program."

A front runner to replace Dimel could be current quarterback coach Ron Hudson. Hudson joined the Cat staff in 1995 as passing-game coordinator and quarterback coach.

Hudson was the offensive coordinator at Notre Dame from 1982-1995 and spent time in the USFL in 1986 with the Memphis Showboats.

SENIORS

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

from 1993-1996.

And this is a group of seniors that has worked to keep the team a close-knit family.

Despite the loss, their accomplishments will not be lost.

"Yes, this is a disappointing loss, but this one game does not diminish what we have accomplished over the last four years," linebacker DeShawn Fogle said.

With the loss, the seniors were left to answer the critics' questions.

What is wrong with the K-State offense?

Will the Cats ever be able to get across that hump and beat a top 10-caliber team?

Showing the leadership they have displayed over the years, they did not shy away from the critics' questions.

"We didn't take that next step forward," defensive end Nyle Wiren said. "We never could get over that hump. We never could make it to that next level."

Although they may have not ended on the note they wanted to, these seniors know they have laid the necessary foundation for the younger Wildcats.

"I would like to think that I will have left this program with a desire to never give up and a desire to win," Gordon said. "We have all built a certain amount of pride around this program.

"We want to leave these young guys with the feeling of staying together as a family and keep fighting together," he said.

Check out the section online at (http://collegian.ksu.edu).

BOWLS

FROM PAGE 3

and two pass deflections to anchor the K-State defense. Gordon set up K-State's only touchdown on the day in the first quarter when he busted through the defensive line to block a punt which was recovered by Chris Sublette. Wide-receiver Kevin Lockett accounted for 99 of K-State's 124 total yards on offense.

1995 Holiday Bowl

For the second time in three years, K-State bulldozed the Western Athletic Conference as they trounced Colorado State 54-21 at Jack Murphy Stadium in San Diego, Calif.

K-State outscored the Rams 19-0 in the second quarter thanks to the defensive prowess of free-safety Mario Smith, who recorded an interception and a blocked punt in the period. Smith tallied two interceptions on the night and was named Defensive Player of the Game.

Brian Kavanagh took over for injured quarterback Matt Miller and completed 18 of 24 passes and tied a Holiday record of four touchdowns en route to the game's Offensive MVP award. Kavanagh connected with receiver Kevin Lockett four times including one touchdown.

Jimmy Dean rushed for 25 yards on two carries as the Cats racked up 212 yards on the ground. Gordon set up K-State's only touchdown on the day in the first quarter when he busted through the defensive line to block a punt which was recovered by Chris Sublette.

Wide-receiver Kevin Lockett accounted for 99 of K-State's 124 total yards on offense.

THE GAME

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

The Cats hit on another surprising scoring play on their first possession of the second half.

Facing a third and four at the Cat 28-yard line, Kavanagh looked for Lockett on a slant pass across the middle. Lockett made the grab, bounced off a defender and scampered down the left sideline for a 72-yard touchdown. The score put the Cats up 15-5.

"I really thought at that point we would put them away," offensive coordinator Dana Dimel said. "I thought it would be time for us to start wearing them down."

Instead it would be the Cougar offense that would start wearing down the Cat defense.

The Cougars would control the ball for 12 minutes in the third quarter but failed to produce a score.

Throughout the quarter, K-State's top cornerbacks, Chris Canty and Joe Gordon, were seen on the sidelines fighting the effects of cramps. In the fourth quarter, two big plays decided the game for the Cougars.

The first came with 10:55 left in the game, when Cougar quarterback Steve Sarkisian hit receiver James Dye on a 32-yard touchdown pass. On the play, Dye beat Gordon's replacement, Demetric Denmark.

The Cats struggled on their next two drives, accumulating a total of minus-one yard on the drives. Both drives took little time off the clock, forcing the defense to be back on the field.

"Our defense was on the field way too long," Coach Bill Snyder said. "We just had too many tired players."

With 3:53 left and trailing 15-12, Sarkisian completed his second touchdown pass of the quarter. He hit his receiver K.O. Kealaluhi, who breezed past Canty's replacement Lamar Chapman.

The score put the Cougars up 19-15.

Canty heard the roar from the crowd from the stadium tunnel, where he was receiving fluids for muscle cramps.

"I felt like I let the team down, having to leave the game to get an IV," Canty said.

So would it have been a different situation for the Cats if Canty and Gordon had been on the field?

"I can't really predict the future. It is hard to say what would have happened," Gordon said. "At the time when we weren't in the game, they made the big plays that counted."

The loss dropped the Cats to 9-3 on the season and No. 17 in both the AP top 25 and the CNN/USA Today Coaches Poll.

"It's a very disappointed loss for the team," Snyder said. "I am disappointed for our fans. They were really great. They deserve to be applauded."

Looking for more Cotton Bowl action? Last semester, the Collegian set the tone with the Cotton Bowl Guide. Check it out online at (http://collegian.ksu.edu) and look into the archives for this valuable tome of information.

DEFENSE

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

Kaipo McGuire from his helmet, couldn't muster a blockade.

"It's crucial for the defense to get big plays especially against a team of that caliber. We played balls out the whole day, and you need a little luck sometimes," defensive-end Nyle Wiren said.

Luck isn't all the Cats needed, as they were without their two standout cornerbacks, Joe Gordon and all-America Chris Canty, who was receiving IVs in the locker room when the go-ahead touchdown occurred.

Gordon said the younger corners on the roster knew how to step up.

"Our attitude remains the same. We never back off of people, and we have an aggressive style. I think the younger guys can step up and play. It's just one of those situations where the guy made a great play. It's nothing to hang your head on. As a defensive-back you're going to win some, and you're going to lose some," Gordon said.

Thanks 'Cats, for an action packed season!
BOOMTOWN SOUND
CAR STEREOS - ALARMS SALES - SERVICE - INSTALLATION
The Best Sounds Around...Come From BOOMTOWN SOUND
OPEN 11-7 M-F, 11-5 SAT 539-7929 BEHIND HARDING GLASS

Alpha Gamma Rho
Congratulates the Cats
on a successful season.

Congrats,
on a job well done!
Alvarez Acoustic Guitar Sale
Rick's Music Shop
314 Tuttle Creek 539-5900

SKY-VUE QUIK LUBE, INC.
SERVICES INCLUDE:
✔ LUBE, OIL, & FILTER
✔ 14 POINT CHECKLIST
✔ NO CHARGE TOP OFF FLUIDS (ANTI FREEZE NOT INCLUDED)
OPEN M-F 8 A.M. - 6 P.M. SAT 8 A.M. - 5 P.M.
539-5431 WORKS LIKE
2304 Sky-Vue Lane Manhattan, KS

The men of Sigma Nu would like to congratulate the Kansas State Football Team for a wonderful bowl game and a great season.

The men of Alpha Tau Omega would like to congratulate the Kansas State football team on a great season and bowl game.
ATΩ KSU

THANK YOU K-STATE WILDCATS FOR AN OUTSTANDING AND ENTERTAINING FOOTBALL SEASON!
COUNTRY KITCHEN
420 Tuttle Creek Blvd. • Manhattan, Ks.
776-6301

Rose Muffler House & House of Tint
FOR EXHAUST, BRAKES, SHOCKS & STRUTS, WINDOW TINTING, & AUTO ACCESSORIES SEE
Jim, Mark, Brian, Wayne, Bill & Tim
2049 Ft. Riley Blvd. • Manhattan
776-8955 • 1-800-439-8956

the COLLEGIAN would like to Congratulate the Cats! on a job well done

Way to Go Cats!

The Women of Sigma Sigma Sigma would like to congratulate the Wildcats on a great bowl game and an awesome season!!!

Midwest Appliance Center, Inc.
Thanks, Wildcats for another great football season.
ACE Hardware
800 Tuttle Creek Blvd.
(913) 776-9454

Manhattan Catbackers
3424 Newbury
Manhattan, Kan. 66503-0314

Tom and Sue Chavey
Manhattan Area KSU Alumni Club
833 DeHoff
Manhattan, Kan. 66502

Audrey Mross
Dallas/Ft. Worth KSU Alumni Club
3622 Binkley Apt. B
Dallas, Texas 75205-2164

Brent and Lynne Rockers
Nebraskans for K-State
4401 Ash Hollow Ct.
Lincoln, Neb. 68516

Gary Urbanek
Purple Power Catbackers
P.O. Box 399
109 West 1st
Ellsworth, Kan. 67439-0399

Jim Lembright
Dodge City Catbackers
2308 Fairway Dr.
Dodge City, Kan. 67801

Mary Kay Humerickhouse
Tulsa Area KSU Alumni Club
1502 S. Fir Pl.
Broken Arrow, Okla. 74012

Good Job at the Cotton Bowl, Cats!

Cyndy Schwensen
Clay County KSU Alumni Club
710 Hillcrest
Clay Center, Kan. 67432

Barry Bishop
Southeast Kansas Power Catbackers
1901 N. 9th
Independence, Kan. 67301

Scott and Cathy Wieland
Northwest Kansas Catbackers
1270 Lue Dr
Colby, Kan. 67701

Kansas City Catbackers
5140 W. 127 Terrace
Leawood, Kan. 66209

Les and Amy Pelfrey
Scott County Area KSU Alumni Club
1209 Steele
Scott City, Kan. 67871

Cory Williams
Cactus Cats Phoenix Area KSU Alumni Club
P.O. Box 54057
Phoenix, Ariz. 85078

Joyce and Ken Nesmith
Houston Area KSU Alumni Club
1406 Hamlin Valley
Houston, Texas

Congratulations
WILDCATS!
We [illegible] Dallas!

Exp. Date 06/06
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

JANUARY 17, 1997
FRIDAY

HIGH 25
LOW 7
Mostly sunny and warmer. Warming trend through the weekend with highs in the 50s.
FORECAST PAGE 2

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN
MANHATTAN, KS 66506
VOL. 101 No. 77

NEWSROOM 532-6556
DISPLAY ADVERTISING 532-6560
CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555
e-mail: (collegn@ksu.edu)
http://collegian.ksu.edu

NEED A LITTLE BOOST IN YOUR LOVE LIFE? TRY THIS.

▶ K-State students are tuning in listening to love advice on the air on KMKF-FM 101.5's Loveline — a saucy program that dishes out the real story.

See SPORTS page 6

ETC.

In today's paper
Brief 2
Crossword 9

In Tuesday's paper
Take a gander at the new HomeEc. section for food and home features.

COULD IT BE A DIAMOND IN THE ROUGH FOR THE CATS?

▶ Plans are developing for a $1.2-million renovation of the Frank Myers baseball field that would include more seating and better facilities.

See SPORTS page 6

Proposed parking garage plans pondered

▶ File under upgrade. Frank Myers Field could add more facilities and seating in a proposed $800,000 price tag.

▶ Is this a good thing? The editorial board gives a nod to the changes, but urges caution.

RUSSELL FORTMEYER
senior staff writer

K-State students could be leaving their cars in a parking garage as soon as the year 2000 if the Kansas legislature approves a bond authorization.

Gov. Bill Graves proposed a $10.5-million bond authorization for K-State's parking garage to be built on the southwest side of campus. The proposal must first pass the legislature before the bonds necessary for construction can be floated.

Tom Rawson, vice president for administration and finance, said the proposal asks the governor for permission to build the garage, but does not ask for state money.

If the project is approved by the legislature, Rawson said the University could hire a consultant as early as this fall.

But Rawson said he is optimistic the legislature will approve the proposal.

"We've demonstrated our need for a garage, and it doesn't ask for any state money," Rawson said. "I don't anticipate having any problems."

If the project is approved, a planning process will begin on campus.

"We have to have a lot of discussion with consultants and the campus community," Rawson said. "There are a lot of steps to go through once we get approval for the project."

Rawson said a campus committee involving students, faculty, and staff could be formed as early as this fall to begin discussions with the consultant on site and building issues. He said that although the proposal does not include a particular site, Memorial Stadium or the athletic field south of the stadium will not be considered.

Rawson said the $10.5 million is the upper ceiling for the garage budget and that anything more than that would require the University to submit a new proposal.

There is no timeline for the project, but Rawson said it will not be completed until the city finishes the Anderson Avenue expansion.

Jerry Carter, director of facilities planning and University architect, said if the University doesn't ask for project funding, a consultant could not be hired and the design process could not begin.

"The money would help us hire a consultant to do analysis for where it will be located, how big it could be, and what it would cost," Carter said.

Although the garage is a University priority, bonding authority does not mandate the University follow through with the project.

The garage proposal sent to Graves included recommendations for bonding, location and other task force suggestions.

The three sites included in the University's proposal are the Ramada Inn site, the West Stadium parking lots and the south K-State Student Union parking lots.

Rawson said existing site conditions at the Ramada don't bode well for its consideration.

"I'm not sure that's still viable," Rawson said.

According to the proposal, to pay for the project, $1.5 million in bonds would be floated in fiscal year 1998, while the remaining $9 million would be floated in fiscal year 1999. The bonds would be repaid through income generated by

See PARKING, Page 10

Proposed garage

Estimated Project Cost:
$10.5 Million

Potential locations:

K-State Student Union lot
1,080 spaces

West Stadium lot
900 spaces

Ramada Inn lot
1,080 spaces

Bill Cosby's son shot to death along freeway

ASSOCIATED PRESS

LOS ANGELES — The only son of Bill Cosby was shot to death along a California freeway early today, apparently as he stopped to change a flat tire on his sports car. Police said it may have been a robbery attempt.

The body of Ennis William Cosby, 28, was found next to his dark green Mercedes-Benz convertible by a driver who stopped to help, police said.

Cosby's son died of a single gunshot wound, and a white male was being sought, police said.

Cosby, the 59-year-old comedian and television star, was told of the death early today in New York, where CBS-TV's "Cosby" is produced. Cosby and his wife, Camille, also have four daughters.

"He was my hero," a grim-faced, puffy-eyed Cosby told reporters as he went into his four-story house on Manhattan's Upper East Side this afternoon.

"We have every confidence in the LAPD," Cosby said in a statement. "This is a life experience that is truly difficult to share."

The car, with emergency lights blinking, was parked near the Mulholland Drive exit ramp of the San Diego Freeway, 15 miles west of downtown.

Tire-changing equipment was beside the vehicle and lug nuts had been removed from a tire.

Cosby was heading from West Los Angeles north into the San Fernando Valley to visit a friend when he

See SHOOTING, Page 10

Cosby appearance postponed

Bill Cosby's performance Sunday at Bramlage Coliseum has been postponed due to the death of his only son early Thursday.

Kansas Cellular was bringing Cosby to town for its "Celebration of 100,000 Customers."

According to a Kansas Cellular press release, the performance has been postponed and will be rescheduled at a later date. Ticket holders should keep their tickets and will be informed as more information is received.

Melanie Jenney, advertising and public relations coordinator for Kansas Cellular, described Cosby's routine as clean comedy the whole family could enjoy.

"It will be a little while before we can talk about a new date," Jenney said.

— Sara Edwards

6 hurt in 2-bomb blasts at Atlanta abortion clinic

ASSOCIATED PRESS

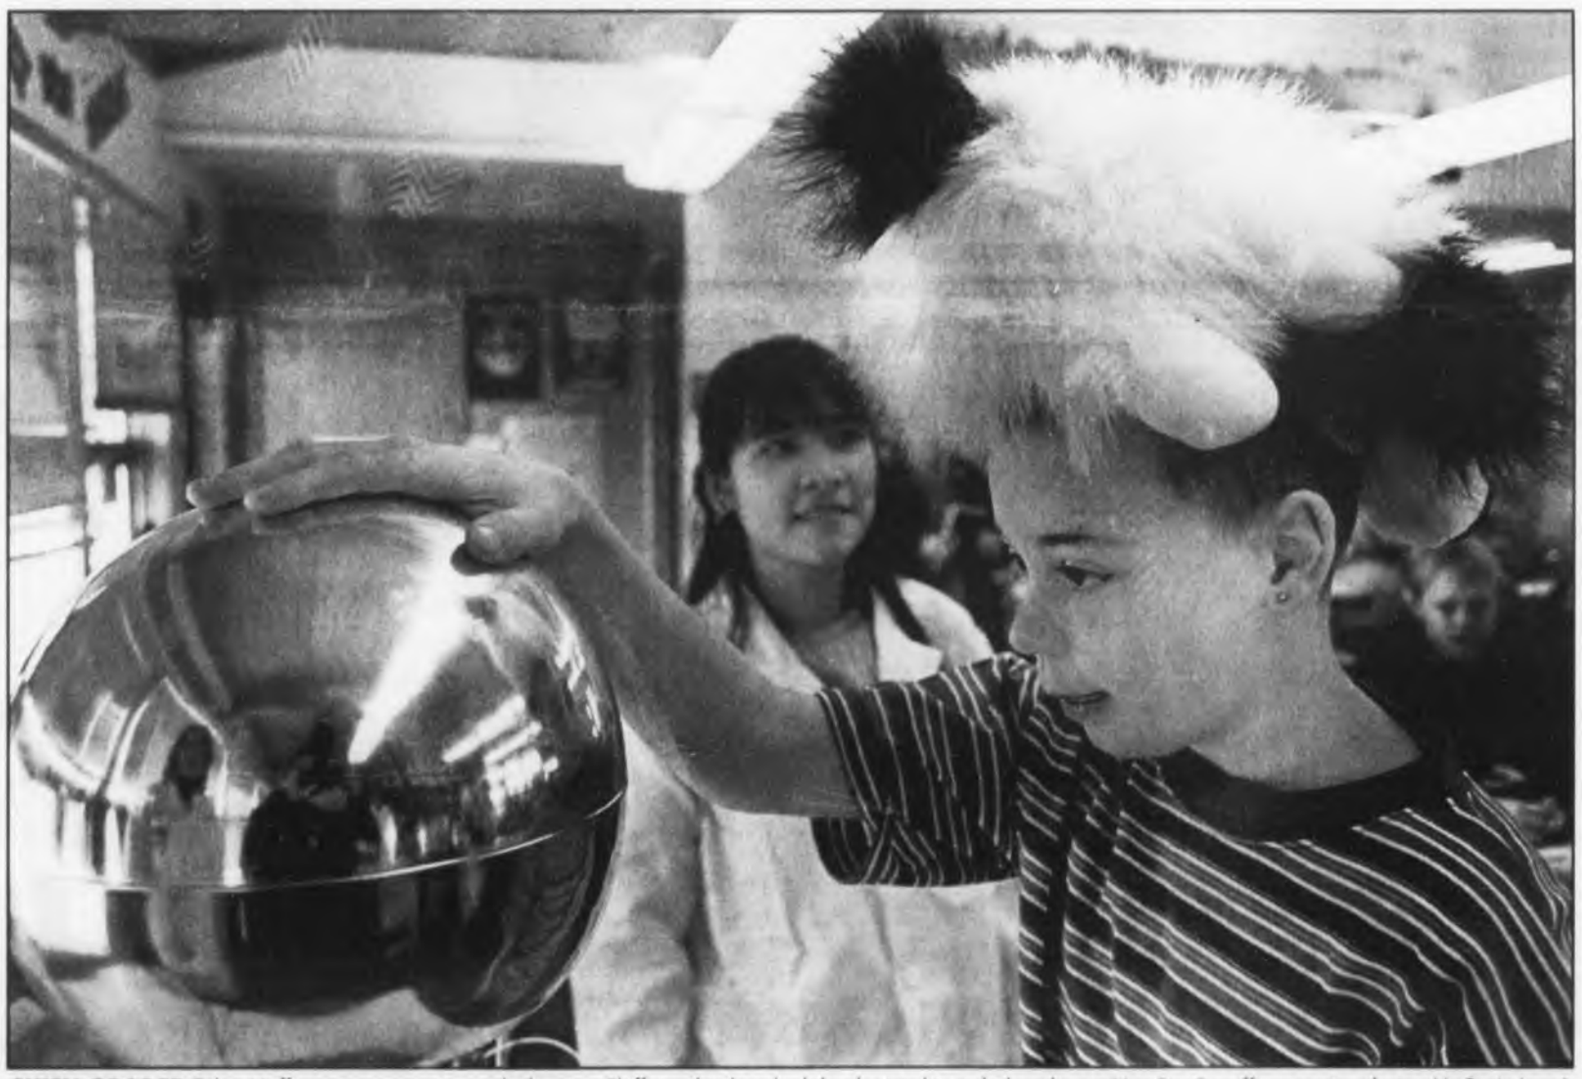
ATLANTA — Two-bomb blasts an hour apart rocked a building containing an abortion clinic Thursday, injuring six people who had rushed to the scene of the first explosion, including federal agents, rescue workers and a TV cameraman.

"The second explosion is clearly designed to maim and hurt those who were coming to assist," said Mayor Bill Campbell. "So we're dealing with a warped mind here."

The explosions left the Atlanta Northside Family Planning Services clinic in ruins and blew out windows across the street. Police immediately tightened security at all other clinics in the city.

President Clinton condemned the explosions as a vile and malevolent act.

"Make no mistake. Anyone who brings violence against a woman trying to exercise her constitutional rights is committing an act of terror," he said.



The first bomb exploded at 9:30 a.m. near the clinic on the ground floor of a five-story office building that also houses lawyers, dentists and other professionals. The second bomb went off near a trash bin in the parking lot.

See BOMBING, Page 10

▶ The local angle. Tuesday's Collegian will explore how the two explosions have affected local abortion clinics.

students in ATOMS project discover something that gets them

CHARGED UP

SIXTH-GRADER Talon Hoffman concentrates on balancing Fluffy on his head while placing his right hand on a Van De Graaff generator during Vy Bui's (rear) science experiment Thursday at Lee Elementary School. By placing a hand on the top of the Van De Graaff generator it is possible to make a person's hair stand up on end. Because Hoffman had a close haircut, he used the stuffed animal as a make-shift wig. Four eighth graders from Susan B. Anthony Middle School volunteered to come and teach the fifth and sixth graders at Lee about science.

Lee Elementary students discover entertaining side of physical science

STORY BY ERICA DUNCAN • PHOTOS BY STEVE HEBERT

Keeping a classroom of sixth-grade students interested in science is difficult, but a group of eighth-grade students used dry ice and slime to do it.

Anthony's Team of Magnificent Scientists, ATOMS, is a group of 18 students from Susan B. Anthony Middle School. Led by Marilyn Fox, science teacher, the group of student volunteers meets once a week after school and prepares experiments for 500 Manhattan-area sixth graders.

"I like all the practicing because you get to do things over and over," Ashley Meek, 14-year-old ATOMS member said.

The eighth-grade students perform demonstrations with Van de Graaff generators, dry ice and liquid nitrogen. They also make slime and crystals grow.

The group sends four eighth-grade students to each elementary school to conduct their experiments. The experiments come from ideas in class that the students thought were fun and interesting, Fox said.

Physical science is often difficult to teach, but with help from older students, the sixth-grade students seem more receptive. It keeps them interested, and they learn more, Fox said.

She also said that helping to teach the younger students gives the older students a sense of responsibility and helps them prepare for high school.

On Thursday, a group of ATOMS taught a lesson at Lee Elementary School.

A Van de Graaff generator made the hair of a stuffed dog stand on end as the classroom of fifth- and sixth-grade students oohed and awed.

"I think the kids were very attentive and wanted to be more involved," said Margaret Walker, fifth- and sixth-grade teacher at Lee.

Hands were raised as volunteers were called on. The elementary students were eager to feel slime and have their own hair stand on end.

"It's neat to watch their faces glow and say wow," Eric Welch, 14-year-old ATOMS member, said.

Fox also prepares a package of experiments for the sixth-grade teachers. The experiments can be carried out with common household goods.

"We're hoping this will be a spring board," Fox said.

Fox said she anticipates the program to continue in the future.

ATOMS received most of its supplies through donations.

The American Chemical Society bought lab coats and safety glasses for the students.

The K-State Chemistry Department donates many of the supplies. It gives the club dry ice and other small supplies, Fox said.

"They basically give us anything we need. They are extremely helpful," Fox said.

K-State and the American Chemical Society are very excited about the students' interest in science, Fox said.

ERIC WELCH, an eighth grader at Susan B. Anthony Middle School, mixes up the concoction for his superball experiment at Lee Elementary School Thursday. Welch, along with three other eighth graders from Anthony Middle School visited fifth and sixth graders from Lee Elementary to talk to them about science.

DEADLINES
TO PLACE AN ITEM in the Daily Planner, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to (collegn@ksu.edu) by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

MANAGING EDITOR
MIRANDA KENNEDY
e-mail: (seahors@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
DIGEST
FRIDAY, JANUARY 17, 1997

ENROLLMENT SERVICES WILL CHANGE LOCATION

▶ Today is the last day students can take advantage of all enrollment services in one place. They will still be concentrated in the K-State Student Union today. Next week they will return to their respective offices across campus.

▶ 24 HOURS IN REVIEW

These briefs encapsulate the news of the past 24 hours and are from staff reports, wire reports and other news services.

▶ NATION AND WORLD

• ICE EMERGES AS LEADING THEORY IN COMMUTER PLANE CRASH.

DETROIT — Investigators know that after a smooth flight in icy weather, Comair Flight 3272 banked too far to the left, rolled almost upside-down and back again and plunged into the ground.

What they don't know is why. But, based on what is known so far about the crash Jan. 9 that killed all 29 people aboard, aviation experts say ice on the wings — and how the pilots reacted to it — is a leading possibility, along with engine trouble or some combination of these factors.

• GEORGIA HOUSE HONORS JEWELL FOR SAVING LIVES.

ATLANTA — Richard Jewell, who went from hero security guard to Olympic park bombing suspect before being vindicated, was honored by state lawmakers for warning people minutes before the explosion. The House of Representatives on Wednesday adopted a resolution honoring Jewell as a hero.

• ISRAELIS BEGIN WITHDRAWL FROM HEBRON, END 30-YEAR RULE

HEBRON, West Bank — In heavy rain and fog, Israeli soldiers loaded up dozens of trucks with boxes and equipment and lowered the Star of David flag today in the beginning of the end of their 30-year rule in Hebron.

Army bulldozers dismantled cement barriers at the gate of Israel's main military headquarters on a hill above the city. Soldiers folded large, olive tents and piled furniture, communications equipment and water tanks into the trucks.

The base will become the headquarters of Yasser Arafat's security forces after Israel's parliament approves the handover of 80 percent of the city of 130,000 Palestinians and 500 Jews to Arafat's control.

The parliament debate was expected to last late into the evening, with each of the 120 legislators given a chance to speak.

• HAITI HIT BY ANTI-GOVERNMENT STRIKE, ECONOMIC BACKLASH.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti — Protesters burned tires and threw stones in cities across Haiti Thursday in hopes of forcing the resignation of the prime minister and ending internationally mandated austerity measures.

A young man was reported killed when security guards fired on a mob that stormed a food warehouse in the northern city of Cap-Haitien.

In Port-au-Prince, the capital of 2 million people, shops stayed shut, parents kept their children from school and no buses were running in the largest of a series of anti-government strikes.

• RUDDER CHANGES PLANNED FOR BOEING 737s.

WASHINGTON — While investigators haven't pinned down the cause of a pair of deadly crashes involving Boeing 737s, regulators have ordered changes in its rudder, which has become the leading suspect in the cases. Vice President Al Gore announced the rudder improvements Wednesday, at the close of a conference on aviation safety.

He said Boeing has agreed to pay most of the cost, with the airlines covering the rest. Rudder problems are suspected in crashes involving 737s near Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1994 and Colorado Springs, Colo., in 1991. In both cases the planes rolled and plunged to the ground without their pilots having reported any problems.

• DENNY'S GIVES $1.5 MILLION TO CIVIL RIGHTS GROUPS.

WASHINGTON — Seeking to make amends for racial discrimination, Denny's is giving more than $1.5 million to civil rights groups and the United Negro College Fund. The restaurant chain also announced a policy of zero tolerance for discrimination.

Adamson was joined at a Wednesday news conference by representatives of nine civil rights groups, each of which received a check for $100,000.

▶ DAILY PLANNER

The Daily Planner is a campus bulletin board service offered by the K-State Collegian. Items in the planner can be published up to three times. Items may not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to (collegn@ksu.edu) by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

CHECK THESE EVENTS OUT

- KSU Aikido meets at 7 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and at 10 a.m. Saturdays in Ahearn 301, the dance studio.
- Lutheran Campus Ministry Worship is at 7:15 every Sunday night in Danforth Chapel.
- Beta Sigma Psi Little Sisters will meet at 9 p.m. Monday at the Beta Sigma Psi house.
- Blue Key Senior Honorary will have an informational meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Union Big 12 Room.

Take advantage of this space.

Is your organization planning an event or meeting that it needs to get the word out about? Send your bulletin to (collegn@ksu.edu).

▶ POLICE BLOTTER

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

▶ K-STATE POLICE

• THURSDAY, JAN. 16

- At 9:14 a.m., Margaret Rys reported the theft of $60 from her wallet.
- At 9:31 a.m., Joshua Lippold reported the theft of books. Loss was $210.
- At 11:55 a.m., William Kastning and Brian Robson reported the theft of two bicycles. Loss was $370.

▶ RILEY COUNTY POLICE DEPARTMENT

• WEDNESDAY, JAN. 15

- At 2:30 p.m., a past burglary report was filed by Courtney Dunbar, Boyd 212. A Kenwood AM/FM cassette in-dash removable-face stereo was taken. Loss was $250.
- At 3:54 p.m., a fire was reported on the road near Sunrise Cemetery.

• THURSDAY, JAN. 16

- At 2:50 a.m., Aza K. L. Olival, 501 S. 17th St., was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

▶ CORRECTIONS AND CLARIFICATIONS

Sometimes the K-State Collegian makes a mistake. If a mistake occurs, contact Claudette Riley, news editor, by phone (532-6556), by e-mail (collegn@ksu.edu) or by stopping by the Collegian at Kedzie 116. If a mistake is made, a correction may be made.

▶ HOW TO CONTACT THE COLLEGIAN

• BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Advertising	532-6560
Classifieds	532-6555

• BY E-MAIL
(collegn@ksu.edu)

• ON THE WORLD WIDE WEB
(http://collegian.ksu.edu)

• BY SNAIL MAIL
Kansas State Collegian
116 Kedzie Hall
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

• IN PERSON
The Collegian newsroom office is located at Kedzie 116 (across from the K-State Student Union).

▶ STATEMENT OF PUBLICATION

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1997

A SURE SIGN OF SAVINGS

USED BOOKS
from Varney's
BOOK STORE
IN AGGIEVILLE

THIS STICKER ON A TEXTBOOK HAS MEANT SAVINGS TO K-STATERS SINCE 1890. VARNEY'S BOOK STORE HAS A LARGE SELECTION OF USED BOOKS AND OUR FRIENDLY STAFF IS READY TO HELP YOU WITH ALL YOUR BOOK AND SUPPLY NEEDS.

Open 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. Monday thru Saturday, Noon until 5 p.m. Sunday
Extended Hours During Back-To-School!

Phone 539-0511
Fax 537-2351
EMAIL: Varney@varneysbookstore.com
HOMEPAGE: http://www.varneysbookstore.com

VISA MasterCard DISCOVER AMERICAN EXPRESS

Shop at the store that supports your community.

STEVE HEBERT/Collegian

DIANNE URBAN, K-State attorney for Legal Services, is one of the best-kept secrets around the K-State campus. Urban, who has been at K-State since 1983, is available to help students solve their legal problems — usually at no charge.

K-State attorney provides legal services for students

CLAUDETTE RILEY
news editor

One of the best kept secrets on campus wants to make her legal services available to more students.

Dianne Urban, K-State attorney for Legal Services, is usually referred by word of mouth. She is available to help students solve their legal problems usually free of charge. She provides a range of legal services for any interested student through the Office of Student Activities and Services.

Urban, who spent a year in private legal practice and then worked as a prosecutor for the Riley County attorney's office before joining K-State in 1983, is often a general resource person.

"I want students to know that I will attempt to help them with absolutely everything they want me to," she said. "On occasion, I will refer students to a private attorney but students can get many answers here."

She has dealt with a gamut of questions on domestic abuse, unusual inheritance situations, criminal action and DUIs. She has also counseled adopted students attempting to locate their biological parents.

"The most popular topics are landlord and tenant issues," Urban said. "Students have a right to habitable housing and need to know they have rights. For example, there's a housing code inspector that they can call to come and check out their apartment at no cost."

The Student Governing Association began Legal Services in 1971 to help students understand their legal rights and responsibilities. Services are paid for through the student activity fee which enables Urban to provide advice, limited representation and appropriate referrals for free.

Urban also drafts legal documents including contracts, powers of attorney and wills. A fee of $15 must be paid for wills or in cases where Urban represents a student in court for limited cases when a jail sentence is extremely unlikely.

Factors such as time and scheduling restraints, ethical considerations and the merits of a case will be considered before Urban accepts a case for litigation.

Urban said she likes working with students and will work hard on their behalf.

"I like underdogs. Most of my clients wouldn't get any help if I weren't here. Most students couldn't afford to hire an attorney on their own. That's the side I like being on," Urban said. "I wish there were more I could do but when I make a difference or can help an underdog win, it feels good."

Students must pay a minimal fee to file for divorce. Urban represents students in uncontested divorce cases if neither party has children or real estate.

Urban also prepares educational brochures on a range of topics. She has talked to student organizations, classes and living groups about motor vehicle laws, alcohol laws, rape and hazing.

"It's extremely important that as soon as you think you might have a legal problem you get advice because many problems are often compounded by delay," Urban said.

Martin Luther King Jr. week begins Saturday with service, hymn sing

JILL JARSULIC
staff reporter

A community service and hymn singing will kick off Martin Luther King Jr. Observance week Saturday. The service is the first in a series of events to honor the memory of King and his work.

"Our goal is to have a number of activities which would raise the consciousness of America toward social justice and increase the academic community's attention to non-violence," said James Boyer, co-chairman of the University-wide observance committee.

The Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity is sponsoring a memorial walk and candle-light vigil at 6 p.m. Monday.

"The march is symbolic of the kinds of marches that King led," Boyer said. "It's sort of a solemn symbol of coming together of people who realize there is still a need for non-violence."

Boyer said one of the main events is the all-University convocation lecture.

Beverly Harvard, chief of the Atlanta police department, will give the lecture at 10:30 a.m. Thursday in McCain Auditorium. Harvard is the first African American woman to lead a prominent police department in the United States.

In addition to the events sponsored by the general committee, Kansas State University Association of Residence Halls is sponsoring a contest in conjunction with the observance.

"Entries should be an expression of how Martin Luther King's words and actions affected you or your life through some means of poetry, artwork or speech," said Anna Levings, KSUARH multicultural programming coordinator.

The contest is open to anyone on campus. The deadline to sign up is Tuesday, and materials are due by Jan. 25 in the KSUARH office. Members of KSUARH will judge the entries at 12:30 p.m. Jan. 26 in the Gold Room of Derby Food Center.

These and other events will take place Saturday through Jan. 26, and all events are open to the public.

Boyer said the observance week brings the memory of King's strategy for helping Americans realize the inconsistencies between the things they say and the things they do.

"The holiday is a day for love, not hate," Boyer said. "A day for peace, not war. A day for families to recommit, reconvene and heal relationships."

Martin Luther King Jr.
Observance Week
Jan 18-26

Saturday
5 p.m.
Community service and hymn sing at Fellowship Temple, 201 Knoxberry Dr.

Monday
Martin Luther King Jr. Day
6 p.m.
Memorial walk: Waters Hall to All Faiths Chapel
6:30 p.m.
Candlelight vigil and religious service at All Faiths Chapel coordinated by the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

Tuesday
11:30 a.m.
College of Education symposium: "Martin Luther King Jr. and Nonviolence." at 016 Bluemont.

MEGAN LaRUE/Collegian

Oakland school board redefines Ebonics to eliminate misconceptions about policy

ASSOCIATED PRESS

OAKLAND, Calif. — The Oakland school board has revised its policy recognizing black English as a separate language, hoping to mollify critics who feared the wording implied students would be taught in Ebonics.

The revisions approved late Wednesday drop any suggestion that Ebonics — a combination of ebony and phonics — is genetically based, and cut wording that implies students would be taught in both Ebonics and standard English.

Those phrases in the original policy were widely criticized as legitimizing slang and lowering standards for black students.

"I'm hoping that people will search their hearts and look at what we always intended to do and give us a chance," Jean Quan, school board president, said after the changes were passed unanimously by the seven-member board.

The original resolution, passed Dec. 18, declared that "African Language Systems are genetically based and not a dialect of English." The revised version states that, "African Language Systems have origins in west (African) and Niger-Congo languages and are not merely dialects of English."

The board also agreed to change a phrase that recognizes black English as the primary language of many black students. The new wording states that black English represents "the language patterns that many African-American students bring to school."

The new version also retains a commitment of "respecting and embracing the legitimacy and richness of the language patterns whether they are known as 'Ebonics,' 'African Language Systems,' 'Pan African Communication Behaviors,' or other description."

The American Speech, Language and Hearing Association has classified black English as a social dialect. The dialect includes a lack of conjugation of the verb to be, and multiple negatives, as in: "Didn't nobody see nothing."

Oakland officials insisted they were not backing away from their original goal: to train teachers to recognize Ebonics so they can help students make the transition to standard English.

Many attending the meeting disagreed.

"You can't see past your noses," Deborah Wright told the school board. "Passing an Ebonics policy on Dr. Martin Luther King's Birthday is an insult to his memory."

Winter Sidewalk
Sale
January 16 - 19th
You'll Find
Everything Your Heart Desires
Now at Clearance Prices!

MANHATTAN
TOWN CENTER
♥ Dillard's ♥ JC Penney ♥ Sears
♥ Over 70 Specialty Shops ♥ Picnic Place
Monday through Saturday 10-9, Sunday 12-6
• 3rd and Poyntz • Manhattan • 539-9207

Ballard's BALLARD'S SPORTS OUTLET
WINTER DOG DAYS
JANUARY SATURDAY 18th 8:30-5:30 - JANUARY SUNDAY 19th 12-5:00
AGGIEVILLE STORE
1218 MORO
EVERY SHOE IN THE STORE 20% OFF
asics Reebok
STARTER & PRO PLAYER K-STATE JACKETS 40% OFF
FALL APPAREL BY NIKE-REEBOK-ADIDAS 50% OFF
OBERMEYER & COLUMBIA SKI JACKETS & PANTS 20% OFF OUTLET STORE
300 FT. RILEY BLVD
STARTER JACKETS $50-$65
COTTON BOWL ITEMS 50% OFF
KSU JACKETS $25
BIG & TALL SWEATS 20% OFF (RUSSELL)
SELECTED SHOES
NIKE-REEBOK-ADIDAS-CONVERSE-ASICS 50% OFF
MANY UNADVERTISED BARGAINS
MasterCard VISA DISCOVER

OPINION EDITOR
KEVIN KLASSEN
e-mail: (kevkk@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
OPINION
FRIDAY, JANUARY 17, 1997

A GUIDE TO SECTIONS OF THE COLLEGIAN OPINION PAGE

▶ COLUMNS are opinions expressed by the columnists. The opinions are not necessarily the opinions of the Collegian.

OUR VIEW is an editorial written by the Collegian Editorial Board. The board meets every day and discusses editorial topics. The editorial is a compilation of those opinions and represents the opinion of the Collegian.

▶ OUR VIEW

Building proposals for University signal progress, caution

If you haven't noticed lately, the campus is booming with construction.

In the past few years, the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art opened, Farrell Library began a large-scale expansion, and many parts of buildings underwent renovation.

With the beginning of this new legislative session, K-State stands to possibly gain additions to its science and engineering complexes, a parking garage and, using private funds, an improved baseball stadium.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR IN CHIEF
Kimberly Helling
MANAGING EDITOR
Miranda Kennedy
NEWS EDITOR
Claudette Riley
PHOTO EDITOR
Steve Hebert
PRESENTATION EDITOR
Scott M. Ladd
COPY CHIEF
Tonya Nisly
OPINION EDITOR
Kevin Klassen
CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
Charlie Sioux Charleton
CAMPUS EDITOR
Jill Story
SPORTS EDITOR
Jeremy Kelley
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR
Tara Wray
ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
Portia Sisco
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
Jill Jarsulic
INVESTIGATIONS EDITOR
Nicole Kirby
E-COLLEGIAN EDITOR
Kady Guyton
ASSISTANT E-COLLEGIAN EDITOR
Kelly Furnas
OTHER EDITORIAL BOARD MEMBERS
Russell Fortmeyer, senior in architectural engineering

The parking garage is of particular concern to students, faculty and staff. A noticeable lack in parking spaces has forced many people to park off campus or to inconveniently trek to another side of campus for class or business.

However, with a new parking garage comes the responsibility to pay for it. The University administration has made it clear that the $10.5 million bonds for the garage will be paid for by funds generated from parking permits and fees.

This will probably translate to higher parking permit and fee prices in the future.

There have been no definite decisions made on where the garage will be built or how much it will cost the University and parkers. Next fall, a committee should be established with students, faculty and staff to begin working with a University-hired consultant to research the costs associated with the garage.

Local community members should also be involved in the process, because the construction of a garage could significantly concentrate traffic to specific streets and neighborhoods.

As the past administrative proposal to locate a garage in Memorial Stadium proved, unless there is campus involvement with construction proposals, it is unlikely a consensus can be reached.

It's a good thing when K-State's administration pushes for improved campus facilities, as long as the users of the facilities approve.

Our View, an editorial selected and debated by a majority of the editorial board, is written by the editorial board after a concensus opinion is reached. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other students. For details on how you can become involved with the editorial board, contact Kevin Klassen, opinion editor.

▶ YOUR VIEWS

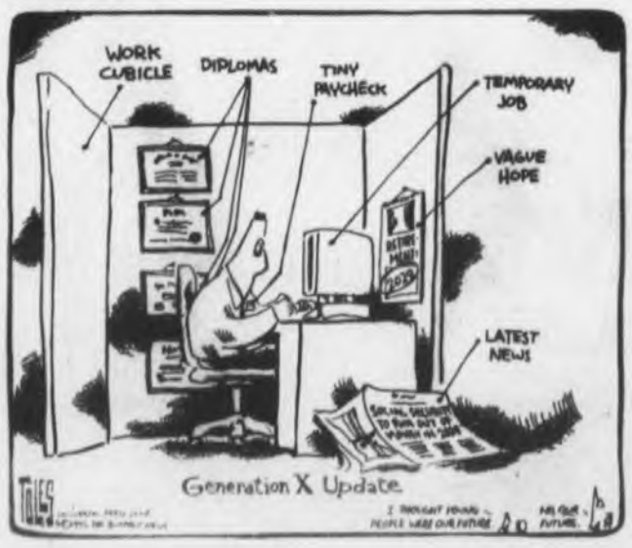
• BYU STUDENT COMMENDS K-STATE FANS

Editor,

As a student of Brigham Young University, I commend K-State fans for the outstanding sportsmanship they demonstrated at this year's Cotton Bowl.

I am a member of BYU's Cougar Marching Band, and in the past three years I've been to several away games. Thus, I've noticed the drastic differences between fans from different schools. Those of you from K-State at the Cotton Bowl rose above all other fans I've seen.

My experiences at other universities include being the target of flying snowballs and beer bottles; but your fans were outstanding — both during and after the game.



I was impressed that you would cheer when our injured player was able to walk, in a daze, off the field. In addition, following the game, many K-State fans offered their congratulations for both our football team's playing and our band's performance.

I received more compliments about BYU's halftime show from K-State fans than from our own! That speaks volumes to me about the caliber of the high-class people at K-State.

Thank you for helping to make a closely matched game so much more enjoyable for everyone!

Mary Glauser
Provo, UT

▶ TOLES

Musings spring forth as millennium approaches

Overheard at the local 'fe (that's a coffee shop for you hipster-impaired):

Man: I wonder ... how many moments are there in a day?

Woman: Well, there are 60 minutes in an hour, 24 hours in a day, so, um, let's see ...

Man: No, no, how many moments in a day, not minutes.

Woman: Moments ... ?

Man: How many moments in a day? How many in an hour? In a half-hour for that matter?

Woman: Half as many as in an hour, I suppose.

Man: Yes, of course, but how many? How many in a minute? In a very second?

Woman: In a millisecond? Or a nanosecond?

Unfortunately, I didn't hear the conclusion to this little mystery, because a friend of the couple appeared at their table and began an impromptu review of the art hanging on the walls. Nevertheless, the short conversation stuck with me, and this question of the moment remains in the back of my mind, often dwelled upon, but not yet decided.

During winter break, in between seeing family and friends, vacationing in Texas (which, I'm sad to say, was nearly as cold as it has been here in Kansas) and just plain catching up on my sleep, I had some opportunities to go digging through boxes and boxes of stuff.

VIEWPOINT

JEFF CHAN

JEFF CHAN is a graduate student in English. You can e-mail comments to Jeff at (defcon1@ksu.edu)

I imagine it's kind of like an archeological expedition: digging down deeper and deeper into your own past, uncovering layers of belongings that represent distinct periods of your life, finding thought-to-be-long-lost artifacts that pinpoint specific moments in time.

One of the many treasures I managed to find, again, was the "Speakers Library," a series of small paperback books, given to me by my great-grandfather, containing wit and wisdom for the public speaker. Published in 1926, the books have that charm of age about them. While flipping through Volume I, "Fifty Short Speeches," I came across a gem of a speech for the approach of the New Year. Here is an excerpt:

"Whatever the custom or whatever the clime, the same mysterious charm surrounds the last hour of the old year and the coming in of the first fresh hour of the new. A strange division of time it is. We feel as if something ought to happen to mark the going of the old and the coming of the new. But nothing happens. The seconds tick on as any other time of the year, and before the clock ceases to strike the midnight hour we are already several seconds out of the old and into the new."

What's so unusual about that infinitesimal division of time, that moment of time separating one year from the next? At the New Year's party I was at, I witnessed seven or eight countdowns toward '97; it was all a matter of whose watch you were looking at.

I raised my glass like everyone else (no, wait, we had run out of glasses — I was holding a bottle), toasting the New Year each time, yet I never once really felt that moment of change and transition.

I think it's always been so, and probably always will be.

We feel as if something ought to happen to mark the going of the old and the coming of the new.

But nothing happens.

That leads me to ponder the end of the millennium, coming soon to a New Year's Eve near you: will it live up to all the hype? Yeah, hype. You can feel it, can't you? It's just this side of imperceptible, and growing every day. I'm not just talking about the doomsayers and New Agers, but everyone. How can you not get a little worked up? Where are you gonna be on Dec. 31, 2000? What are you gonna be doing the moment the ball drops and the millennium turns?

I wonder where those two in the coffee shop are going to be. Will they have found an answer to their question? Has anyone? If so, e-mail me. I'd like to know.

Perhaps we should just try to relax a bit, ease like Houdini out of the shackles of time. A further excerpt from the speech:

"Into the merriment of New Year's Eve, as in all hours of surrender to the impulse for pleasure and diversion, there comes unbidden these sober second thoughts, which wait on the gayest moments and are guests at every festival.

There is a natural reluctance to counting up the years when the apex has been reached; a little sadness in the afternoon, when it holds the deepest beauty of the day."

The moment is timeless, and it is time itself. The moment can only be lived by living the moment. Tautological nonsense? You betcha. Words to live by? Yup.

"Then as some loving voice says 'A happy New Year,'" the speech continues, "we shake off the feeling and are embarked upon the voyage of another year."

To be drunk again on that voyage, not on champagne, but rather on the moment, is the elusive prerequisite toward our understanding of our time here.

The poet Charles Baudelaire writes to this point: "One should always be drunk. That's the thing; the only question. Not to feel the horrible burden of Time weighing on your shoulders and bowing you to the earth, you should be drunk without respite. If you are not to be the martyred slaves of Time, be perpetually drunk!"

The second definition for millennium in Webster's reads: "A period of prosperity, happiness, justice and peace." The third and fourth definitions of moment read: "A particular point in time, especially the present; a time of excellence and importance."

Maybe, just maybe, if we all get a little drunk now and then, the next thousand years might not be so bad after all.

Next week I'll finish up this time business; until then, send me your definitions of moment, and while you're at it, send me your New Year's revolutions as well (no, that's not a spelling mistake). Have a good New Year.

ADRIAN FLEMING/Collegian

Facts demystify mad cow

VIEWPOINT

KEN WELLS

KEN WELLS is a graduate student in theatre. You can e-mail comments to Ken at (sigma7@ksu.edu).

I like cows. Nothing Freudian or deranged about it, I just think that cows are rather cool creatures.

There is a quiet dignity and compelling serenity found in a cow's eye. Nobody else seemed to recognize this, so I tried to champion the cause of bovinity.

It was logical to ask someone who knew a lot about cows when this bizarre disease called mad cow disease started cropping up in Britain, and reports claimed this disease was being transmitted to people who consumed infected beef.

I knew nothing about it, but a pathologist in Brooklyn sent me a package of exhaustive research on the issue. One week, a few hundred pages and a slew of World Wide Web sites later, I'd learned far more about the disease than anyone would care to learn.

Still, on occasion, I get a few questions that people are afraid to ask about this bizarre little disease, and I wanted to put a lot of fears to rest.

"Is my beef safe?" There hasn't been any sign of muscle tissue spreading bovine spongiform encephalopathy (BSE, or mad cow disease) to humans.

In Great Britain, however, offal, including central nervous system tissue, was allowable in food until the late 1980s. BSE and its human equivalent, Creutzfeld-Jakob disease, have incubation periods estimated at anywhere from 18 months to more than 10 years. The recent outbreak is probably the result of damage done before the offals ban.

"Is there still a risk?" Actually, there's a greater risk of getting Creutzfeld-Jakob disease from an organ transplant. There have been at least 43 cases of transmission of Creutzfeld-Jakob disease through human pituitary growth hormone shots.

Creutzfeld-Jakob disease is a tough critter to defend against. It's not a virus, but a protein structure called a prion, which is extremely resistant against ultraviolet radiation and most common types of disinfectant. Once infected, tissue remains infectious for years. Cows are the least of our problem.

"Is mad cow disease God's revenge on carnivores?" No.

"What does Creutzfeld-Jakob disease do to people?" The central nervous system of the victim is eaten away. The cruel effects of the disease cascade from headaches, joint pain and memory loss to disorientation, dementia and, finally, death. This disintegration lasts an average of one year, two at the most.

"How common is Creutzfeld-Jakob disease?" Relax. Not very, with most estimates putting the count at one in one million.

"Is there a cure for either Creutzfeld-Jakob disease or BSE?" Nope.

"Does this happen anywhere else in nature?" Sort of. Another similar prion disease called kuru has been documented among the Fore Highlanders of Paupa-New Guinea, but transmission has apparently halted with the stop of ritualistic cannibalism.

Let that be a lesson to you. If you're going to eat someone's brain, you don't necessarily know where they've been, even if they're a clean type of person. Practice safe cannibalism.

"What can I do to protect myself from Creutzfeld-Jakob disease?" Really, not much. Changing your lifestyle to avoid contracting this disease is like living in a bomb shelter so you don't get hit by a meteorite.

If you want to use this as an excuse to turn vegetarian, go right ahead, but there still isn't any evidence to support transmission through meat.

"Could there be another outbreak?" Judging from British officials' response, it's not likely in that part of the world. Still, Creutzfeld-Jakob disease or other similar diseases could crop up in areas where people can't afford to be particular about which parts of the animal they ingest.

"Where can I find out more about these diseases?" Find a friendly pathologist, or better still, search the Web. With the recent outbreak, sites have popped up all over the Internet, filled with the most recent information. Do a Web search for mad cow and go from there. There's a lot more to learn.

NANCY POTTROFF waits for her husband's plane to arrive Wednesday afternoon at the Manhattan Regional Airport.

Photos by BRANDON WHITE Collegian

Airport traffic increases with additional terminal

HANG NGUYEN
staff reporter

Traffic has increased at the Manhattan Municipal Airport since completion of its new facility.

The newly built $3.2-million Manhattan Municipal Airport was dedicated Dec. 13. The ribbon-cutting ceremony had 150 community members in attendance, including President Jon Wefald.

The old version of the airport was built in 1953.

"It outlived its use. It was too small and very unsightly," Ken Black, director of the Manhattan Municipal Airport, said.

The completely separate terminal has three times the floor space of the old airport, Black said.

Construction was under way Oct. 16, 1995, and completed Dec. 13, 1996. Landscaping will take another four to five months to finish.

The project was mainly funded by the Transit Guest Tax.

"The change is definitely good for the public," Diane Bergren, station manager of USAir Express, said.

The airport officially opened its doors to customers on Jan. 5.

There has been an increase in traffic since it opened, Black said. However, he said exact numbers will not be available until next month.

"It's worth seeing even if you don't have a plane to catch," Starla Cox, National Car Rental agent, said.

The Manhattan Municipal Airport is anticipating another airline to join its team. At this time, USAir Express is the only airline serving Manhattan. The identity of the new airline remains confidential.

"For a community of this size and for as long as I've been involved in aviation, this is the most beautiful airport I've ever seen," Black said.

Resident commits suicide near home

ANDREA COREY
staff writer

A 27-year-old man was found dead at 415 Osage St. of an apparent self-inflicted gun shot wound Wednesday afternoon.

Lt. Herb Crosby, of the investigations division of Riley County Police Department, said an investigation was completed and the death of the man, Matthew J. Teeter, was decided to be a suicide.

"There wasn't any indication of foul play. There was no indication of drugs or alcohol involved," he said.

Crosby said a call was received from Teeter's residence, 414 Osage St., regarding a possible suicide.

Crosby said Teeter crossed the street to 415 Osage St. and shot himself in a secluded area between an abandoned apartment building and the Manhattan Mercury building.

A note was left at Teeter's apartment, but no reason for the death was included, Crosby said. He said the letter appeared to be Teeter's last will and testament.

Teeter worked for the Department of Housing and Dining Services as a limited-term painter, and was hired just before the beginning of the year, Charles Werring, director of Housing and Dining, said.

The Office of the Registrar reported that Teeter was not a student.

Funeral arrangements have been made at the Phillips Mortuary home in Ulysses. A memorial service will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at the United Methodist Church in Ulysses.

Manhattanites contribute record amount of food

ERICA DUNCAN
staff writer

The Flint Hills Breadbasket helped 4,100 families put food on the table this holiday season.

Cats for Cans and the Mayor's Holiday Tree raised a record 204,000 pounds of food, Shirley Bramhall, executive director of Flint Hills Breadbasket, said.

The previous collection record was 145,000 pounds of food.

At the Mayor's Holiday Tree Finale in Manhattan Town Center Wednesday, Mayor Sydney Carlin announced the results of the food drive.

Cats for Cans started collecting nonperishable food items on Oct. 15. Donations were taken at the K-State basketball team's Fright Night on Halloween as well as at other times and locations.

They provided a majority of food for Thanksgiving Day baskets, collecting 75,977 pounds of food — 977 pounds more than their goal. This year's collection increased by nearly a third compared to last year's collection.

"Cats for Cans was outstanding. It is phenomenal to pull together for that kind of contribution," Carlin said.

Bramhall said she was impressed with K-State's student support.

"K-State students are very important," Bramhall said.

The 10th anniversary of the Mayor's Holiday Tree collection began on Nov. 1. It is a food drive to help prepare holiday meals for local families in need.

Five hundred more families took advantage of the food drive this year, Bramhall said.

Volunteers also worked a record 12,000 hours this holiday season.

for Adults Only
Scholarship opportunities for adult students (full and part-time, undergrad and grad).
Call for an appointment
532-6434
Adult Student Services

PETS 'N' STUFF
539-9494 Shaded Silver Persians 1105 Waters

WINTER CLEARANCE SALE
Selected Columbia & Marmot Coats up to $100 off
Great deals on many bikes
the PATHFINDER 539-5639 304 Poyntz

HUNAM EXPRESS
1116 Moro
537-0886
Mon.-Sat. 11 a.m.-1 a.m.
Sun. 11 a.m.-Midnight
This coupon good for
Pepper Steak $4.40
Dine-in & carryout
All You Can Eat Buffet for Lunch and Supper
FREE DELIVERY
(Minimum order $9)
Expires 1-31-97
Not valid with any other specials, coupons, or on deliveries.

Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road • Across from Goodnow Hall
BOOKS
SELF-SERVE COPIES
RESUMES
WORD PROCESSING
NEWSPAPERS
DESKTOP PUBLISHING
FAX SERVICE
GREETING CARDS
In honor of Dr. Martin Luther King's Day we will close at 6:00 pm Sunday, January 19 and 6:00pm Monday, January 20
(913) 776-3771
Fax: (913) 776-1009
E-mail: cbcbkcpy@interkan.net

SUPER SUBS AT SUPER BOWL PRICES, ONLY AT
SUBS N SUCH
Home of the Kitchen Sink
4 FT. AND 6 FT. SUBS
Place your order before Wednesday, Jan. 22 and receive a 10% discount on 4 FT and 6 FT SUBS.
211 S. Seth Childs * 537-2411 * We Deliver

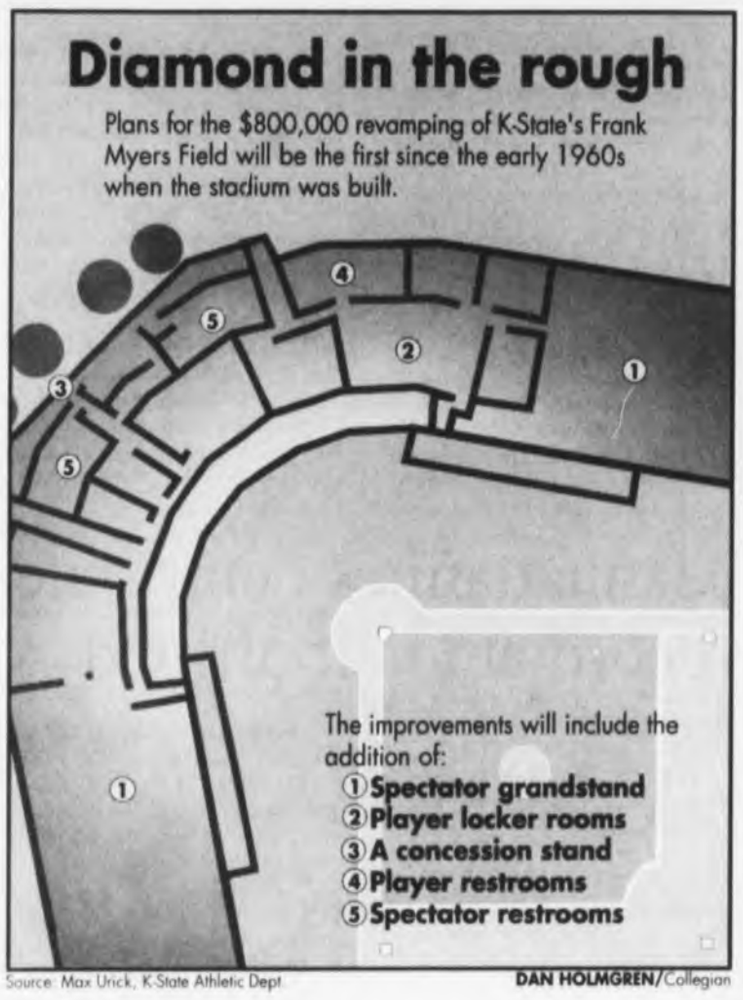
Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

SILVERADO SALOON
Welcome Back Students!
friday means
$2 Pitchers
Bring in this ad for FREE COVER!!!
Aggieville 539-0230

TW LONGHORNS
Aggieville's Premier Country Bar
WELCOME BACK STUDENTS!
Weekly Drink Specials
TUES. $1 DRINKS
No Cover Before 10 P.M.
Free Dance Lessons Start Jan. 28, 7-8:30 P.M.
WED. LADIES NITE
No Cover For Ladies
$1 Bottles
THURS. THIRSTY THURSDAYS
$7 Cover
Free Beverages w/ Armband - Except Pitchers
*Rocky Mountain Oyster Fry 7-10 P.M.
FRI. $1 CAN SPECIAL
$1.75 Margaritas
SAT. $1.50 WINE COOLERS
$1.75 Well Special
1115 Moro Aggieville
More Info 776-8770

Benefit Fundraiser for United Cerebal Palsy
Saturday 6 p.m.
Bring your own champions and your own cheerleaders and be prepared to have a good time.
Eagles Lodge
312 S. 4th

BILL COSBY BRAMLAGE SHOW POSTPONED
Will Be Rescheduled At A Later Date
Kansas Cellular wishes to extend its deepest sympathy to the Cosby family for the tragedy which has befallen them.
We are awaiting a response from Mr. Cosby's agent, and wish to respect the family's privacy during this time.
With regard to Mr. Cosby's performance scheduled for this Sunday at KSU's Bramlage Coliseum in Manhattan, IT HAS BEEN POSTPONED AND WILL BE RESCHEDULED at a later date.
Ticketholders should keep their tickets and will be informed as we receive more information.
Kansas Cellular
The State's Largest Cellular Telephone System



SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY
e-mail: (weasal1@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
SPORTS
FRIDAY, JANUARY 17, 1996

K-STATE FOOTBALL PLAYERS TO COMPETE IN BOWLS

▶ Three K-State football players are playing in senior bowls this weekend. Kevin Lockett and Jason Johnson are competing in the Senior Bowl in Mobile, Ala., while Joe Gordon travels to Hawaii to play in the Hula Bowl.

Source: Max Urick, K-State Athletic Dept

DAN HOLMGREN/Collegian

Renovations set forth to improve Frank Myers Field

TARA WRAY
assistant sports editor

Plans are in the works for an $800,000 revamping of K-State's Frank Myers Field.

"It's not an expansion. It's a redo," Max Urick, K-State athletic director, said. "We're looking to define and remedy the athletic facilities."

The baseball stadium has not been dramatically modified since it was built in the early 1960s. The renovations are set to be implemented just as soon as the athletic department finds a donor who would give enough to start with the modifications.

▶ What does the Collegian editorial board think about this proposal?
The voice of the Collegian speaks in today's editorial board on page 4.

If the proposed improvements are implemented, they would include a spectator grandstand, player locker rooms, a concession stand, and restrooms for players and spectators. Myers field has none of these.

"It has hurt us recruiting-wise," head coach Mike Clark said. "We don't have a locker room. The guys change in the parking lot before games."

Frank Myers Field housed one of the greatest sports stars in K-State history, Elden Auker. Auker was named an all-American in baseball, football and basketball and later went on to the Major League to become a baseball star with the Detroit Tigers.

Clark said they lose three or four players every season who don't like the idea of not having any locker rooms or having to share portable restroom.

Even more than losing prospective players, Clark said the lack of a pregame meeting place for players has hurt team morale and turned the team bus into one of its only conference rooms.

"One of the only times we have for building chemistry amongst each other is on the bus," Clark said. "And an interesting statistic, we were 6-1 in games when we went on the road and played that night."

Urick said Myers Field is in need of improvements. However, he said there is still a lot to be accomplished before they can be made.

"We envision a new stadium for spectators with restrooms and other services that need to go with a public facility," Urick said. "But we need some major contributions."

Urick said those contributions have been slow to trickle in, even though the problems with the field have been identified for some time now.

Urick said priorities at athletic facilities at K-State must remain on an even plane, meaning all improvements must be made fairly, and Clark said he thinks it's baseball's turn for advancements.

"Everyone in the Big 8 and now the Big 12 has surpassed us facility-wise," he said. "Stadium improvement is needed very much, and I look forward to the proposed improvements."

Junior Wildcat club grants children unusual opportunity

TARA WRAY
assistant sports editor

Kids from K-State's Junior Wildcat club will get the chance to meet their Wildcat idols before this weekend's K-State/Texas Tech game.

The wee Wildcats will meet and greet members of the baseball, football and volleyball teams at Saturday's event.

"The kids are pretty starry eyed," Heather Lansdowne, assistant director of alumni programs, said. "They're real excited to meet players who are their heroes."

More than 250 members of the Junior Wildcats, whose participants range in age from four to 12, will also get the chance to meet the K-State cheerleaders and Classy Cats.

Following the meet-and-greet sessions, the children will attend the K-State/Texas Tech game.

The 8-year-old Junior Wildcat program, which is sponsored by the KSU Alumni Association and the Wildcat Sports Network, gives children the chance to meet K-State athletes and to attend their sporting events.

"Mitch Holthus began the program in '89 to get young people involved with Wildcat athletics," Lansdowne said.

The Junior Wildcat club gives boys and girls a unusual opportunity to become more involved in Wildcat athletics.

Voice of the Wildcats, Greg Sharpe, has since taken over for Mitch Holthus as the program speaker, and he said the event is not only great for the kids participating, but it also brings out the kid in him.

"It's a great way for K-State to get some young people interested in K-State athletics," Sharpe said. "I enjoy getting to see their eyes light up when they see the athletes."

The Junior Wildcat event is set to begin at noon at Brandeberry Indoor Complex and will continue until tip-off.

LOSING TOUCH?

BRANDON WHITE/Collegian

JENNY COALSON reaches for a loose ball Thursday night against Nebraska. K-State lost the game 53-47.

Women fall just short at Nebraska

JEREMY KELLEY
sports editor

The K-State women are in the midst of a tough road swing facing five teams who are ranked or are receiving votes in the top 25.

Last Saturday, the Wildcats showed that rankings weren't a factor as they upset the 12th-ranked Texas Longhorns. The drudging on the road continues this weekend when the Wildcats face the 7th-ranked Texas Tech Red Raiders.

Wednesday night they were on the road again at Nebraska, 11-1, whose one loss came via the hands of Big 12 conference foe Colorado.

K-State proved rankings don't mean anything by hopping out to an early lead and remaining in control of the ball game for most of the first half.

However, with 3:33 left in the first half, Nebraska went on a scoring binge and tallied eight straight points while holding the Wildcats to just one field goal in those final minutes.

"That was our demise," Coach Deb Patterson said. "We stopped taking care of the ball and the momentum swung in their favor. We weren't getting our hands on loose balls and they were all over."

Not only did the momentum change, but the whole game swung in favor of the Huskers when they busted out of the second half early with the first six points.

The swing was largely because of an uncharacteristic 33 turnovers; the Cats average 20 a game.

"We have to learn to want the ball and must take care of it, or we won't win any more games," Patterson said. "They keep coming at you and if you're not strong with the ball you lose, and that's what we did."

Nebraska led 31-27 early in the second half and were on a roll and looked to erase all doubts of another loss.

Rather than folding like a metal chair at a bingo hall, the Cats nitpicked at the Huskers and tied the score at 37 with 11:26 left in the game.

From that point on, it was all Nebraska. K-State couldn't get close enough, and LaToya Doage hit two free throws with 10 seconds left to seal the 53-47 Husker win.

Forward Angie Finkes scored a career-high 14 points in the loss.

The 47-point offensive output was the lowest of the K-State women's team this season. Turnovers played a big factor in the game as the Cats racked up a season-high 33.

"You turn the ball over 33 times, and you're not going to win," Patterson said. "It's hard to find anything good out of this because all our weaknesses were exposed."

Weaknesses aside, K-State doesn't have much time to reflect on the loss. Tipoff is set for 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

Road swing continues for K-State in Lubbock

SHANE McCORMICK
sports writer

K-State freshman Angie Finkes didn't find out she would be starting against Texas until 15 minutes before the game. Not knowing she would be making her first collegiate start helped erase any pregame nerves. The result was a career high of 12 points and 32:42 minutes for Finkes.

The Wildcats would love to have similar production out of the freshman center this Saturday when they travel to Lubbock, Texas, to face Texas Tech.

Before the Texas game, Finkes had been averaging just more than 13 minutes and three points a game. But, if her practice is an indication of her capabilities, look for Finkes' playing time to increase.

"She has been showing us the potential she has," Coach Deb Patterson said. "We have put a lot of confidence in her, knowing that she would have to step up and produce for us."

Going into the Texas game, Patterson knew she would need Finkes' defensive presence against the bigger Longhorn squad. The Longhorns possessed two centers that were both 6 feet 4 inches, and at times they even had them in at the same time.

Nebraska posed a similar problem for the Cats Wednesday night, with three players 6 feet 2 inches or taller.

"We're going to run into some mismatches down low this season in the Big 12," Patterson said. "So we are going to need some quality minutes out of Angie this year."

Although she had not put up huge offensive numbers, Patterson was not surprised by Finkes' output.

"She has been putting in a good week of practice offensively," Patterson said. "There comes a point when you have to put the ball in your freshman's hand and test her. I have been real pleased with her."

Texas Tech will be the fourth-straight opponent that has been ranked or receiving votes in the Associated Press or USA Today polls. The Red Raiders come into the contest ranked seventh in both polls.

But Finkes said that she and the Cats cannot think about whether their opponent is ranked.

"We can't think about any ranking, we just have to go out and do what we have to do," she said. "There is no time for nerves to sink in. We just have to go out and play our game."

McCullough greets Big 12; K-State faces huge task against Texas Tech

JEREMY KELLEY
sports editor

K-State, 7-6, 0-3, continues its Big 12 play tomorrow against the Texas Tech Red Raiders, 11-3, 3-1, at Bramlage Coliseum.

The Wildcats are coming off a 10-point loss to Nebraska, their fifth loss in their past six games. The Cats led by as many as 20 points in the first half, but fell just short as the final buzzer sounded in regulation forcing an overtime period, which was dominated by Nebraska.

"We didn't make our foul shots, and we lost poise down the stretch," Coach Tom Asbury said. "We played pretty well, but we were not much in sync because of our horrendous foul trouble."

K-State led by 18 at the half, but lost the game in overtime.

"We showed what we can do if we play hard," guard Aaron Swartzendruber said. "We need to do it every time."

After warming the bench for 12 games, junior transfer Marcus McCullough tossed his redshirt aside Monday and told Asbury he wanted to play. McCullough came to K-State after two seasons at Olney Central College in Olney, Ill.

"He came to me Monday and told me he was tired of sitting," Asbury said. "If he asks, it's a cooperative decision on my part to let him play."

McCullough was introduced to the Big 12 Conference in a big way.

"I met the Big 12," McCullough said. "I was a little over anxious at times and the crowd got to me, but I felt good."

Saturday K-State faces a No. 25-ranked Texas Tech, which escaped at Oklahoma Wednesday night with a 67-62 win. Texas Tech guard Cory Carr led the Raiders with 26 points.

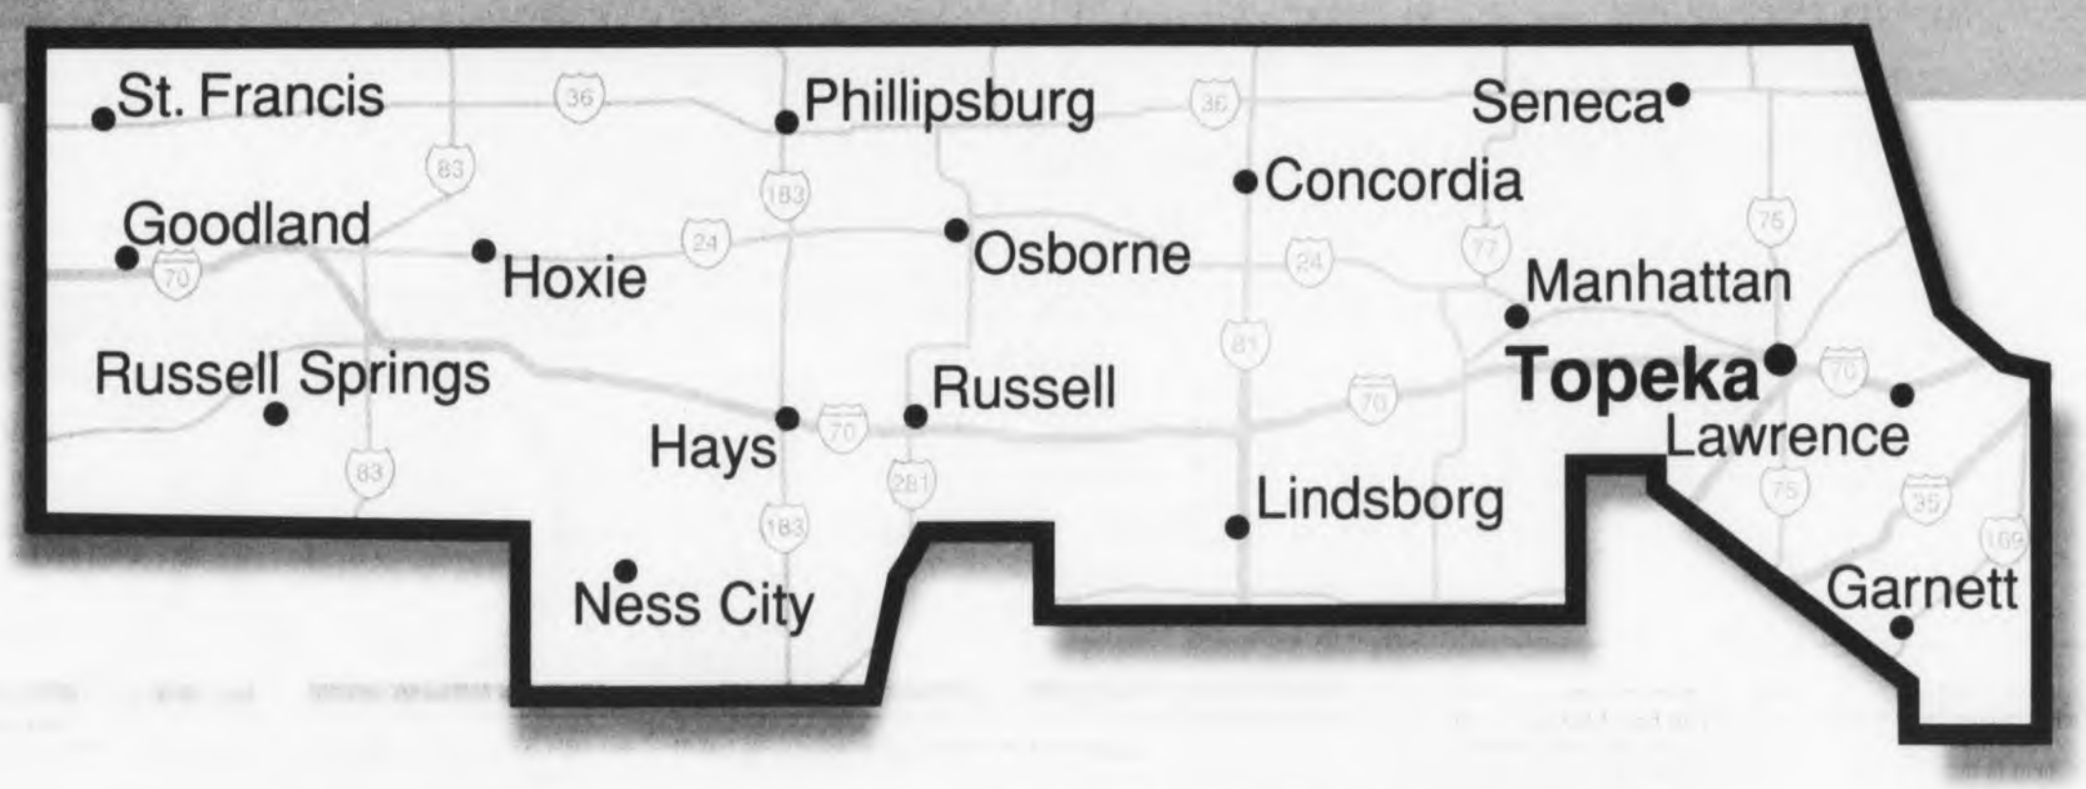
K-State faces two projected NBA players in Carr and center Tony Battie. Both players average at least 20 points a game and fuel one of the nation's top offenses averaging 86.9 points per contest thus far.

Carr moved into a starting roll this season as the Red Raiders' most potent three-point threat, affirmed by his school-record 92 three-pointers last year.

Asbury said K-State wasn't going to do anything different to stop the long-ball, just do what it has done in the past.

"That's a huge task there. However, it always isn't a product of bad defense, sometimes it's good defense that forces them to go outside, because they can't get it inside to the post," he said. "We just haven't executed what we have in place. Saying and doing is a different thing."

Battie is the center of Texas Tech's offensive production, literally.



The 6'11" junior is averaging 20.6 points a game and 12.4 rebounds a game. K-State center Gerald Eaker will have his hands full inside with Battie.

"I don't know if we're going to stop them," Asbury said. "It's important that they don't have a huge game against us, but we can't concentrate on those two guys."

We don't want you to sell your books to pay your phone bill.

Save that for Spring Break.

With 1+Saver Direct,℠ you pay just $19.95 a month to talk to someone in this area as often, and for as long, as you want.

College is the best time of your life. Unfortunately, it's not the most profitable. So to help you out, we're offering the 1+SAVER Direct calling plan. For just $19.95 a month, you get unlimited, regional calling to the number you call the most in the area shown on the map. It works with one-plus, direct dialed calls, so it's easy to use. And there are no time limits, no specified calling times, and no limit to the amount of times you call. So call Southwestern Bell today and sign up for the 1+SAVER Direct calling plan.

And hold onto your books until you really need them. Yes, it's that simple.

1 - 8 0 0 - 9 2 4 - 5 2 9 6

Southwestern Bell

Not available to dorm students. Not available for Internet access.

Division redesigns Principles of Biology

JOHN HENDERSON
staff reporter

A fundamental new curriculum for an old class could mean a better chance for K-State students to learn. That is, if the Division of Biology can pull it off.

Beth Montelone, chair of the Principles of Biology Restructuring Implementation Committee, said the course has been recognized for some time by the department to be in need of change. The current format has been around for more than 25 years.

Montelone said the project will continue to develop this spring and will be put into effect at a reduced sense for summer classes. The full change will be available to Principles of Biology students next fall.

"We've had a lot of help from the academic Provost's Office," she said.

The biology division has submitted proposals to five different agencies for grants to help pay for the plan, she said.

The plan calls for the lab to be completely redesigned, Montelone said. All lab stations will be removed and replaced by 20 large tables, with two computers and four chairs apiece. Each group of four will be assigned to that particular table for the rest of the term. Two instructors will be in the lab at all times.

Montelone said she hopes the setup will encourage students to work within the group and get to know each other as they work together. The instructors will have the same chance to know their students as individuals.

Linda Davis, an instructor and a member of the committee, said the studio method was pioneered to teach physics at New York's Rensslaer Polytechnic Institute. If the plan works for Principles of Biology students, she said it might be used in the future for other courses within the school.

In addition to the physical upgrades, the material being taught is in the process of being improved, with input from every division within biology. The departments have formed smaller committees, which give suggestions to the main committee on subject material such as botany and embryology.

Davis said the trend toward higher enrollment and the emphasis on general education means the present format needs a change now more than ever.

"What was interesting in 1970 looks pretty dull today," Davis said.

Montelone said the plan is an evolution of the current system of audio tutorial, where students are lectured by cassette tapes in the labs.

"We're not just substituting computers for tape recorders," she said. "That's the important thing to know, we'll keep what's good about the tutorial and bring the program into the 21st century."

Campus shuttle service eliminates some parking woes for students

SANDY DAVIS
staff writer

K-State's campus shuttle service has resumed just in time for the return of students and faculty for this semester.

The 12-passenger van runs from 7:45 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and makes stops at Edwards Hall, the K-State Student Union and the KSU Foundation Center. The shuttle used to stop at the motor pool/forestry department, but that stop has been eliminated because of low ridership. The shuttle service is managed by Parking Services.

Peggy Winkler, acting director of Parking Services, said the shuttle is free to anyone who wants to use it. The shuttle is funded by revenue from the sale of parking permits and money generated from traffic tickets.

Winkler said the service began when several of the departments that are away from campus asked for a way to get to the main campus. The shuttle has been operating since mid-fall 1995.

The shuttle does not make any stops between buildings. But it enables students or faculty who drive to campus to park in one place and use the service to get to the far edges of campus without losing their original parking spots.

"The shuttle provides a good way to get there and back," Winkler said.

Winkler said the shuttle can help riders get closer to the Veterinary Medicine Complex, Jardine Terrace Apartments and the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex, as well as Parking Services and the Department of Human Resources.

K-State campus shuttle has new departure times for spring semester

1: Edwards Hall
a.m. - 7:45, 8:15, 8:45, 9:15, 9:45, 10:15, 10:45, 11:15
p.m. - 12:45, 1:15, 1:45, 2:15, 2:45, 3:15, 3:45, 4:15, 4:45

2: K-State Student Union
a.m. - 7:53, 8:23, 8:53, 9:23, 9:53, 10:23, 10:53, 11:23
p.m. - 12:53, 1:23, 1:53, 2:23, 2:53, 3:23, 3:53, 4:23, 4:53

3: K-State Motor Pool
a.m. - 8, 8:30, 9, 9:30, 10, 10:30, 11, 11:30
p.m. - 1, 1:30, 2, 2:30, 3, 3:30, 4, 4:30, 5

MEGAN LaRUE/Collegian

Institute to fight gender, race hiring preferences

ASSOCIATED PRESS

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Ward Connerly, who steered California's Proposition 209 to victory, announced the creation of a new group Wednesday that will carry the campaign against race- and gender-based preferences to Congress and other states.

The American Civil Rights Institute also will attempt to foster a national discussion on racial divisions and end the assumption that race matters, he said at a news conference.

The institute has not yet established a national strategy or assembled its directors, Connerly said.

Proposition 209 prohibits racial and gender preferences in public hiring, contracting and education, thus eliminating many affirmative-action programs. It passed Nov. 5 with 54 percent of the vote after a bitterly fought campaign.

"There is no public policy which has greater potential to rip the fabric of American democracy than affirmative action, as it has evolved," Connerly said.

A federal judge has barred enforcement of the measure, pending a legal challenge.

Connerly chose the 68th anniversary of King's birth to announce the formation of the group, but his timing drew furious denunciations from opponents.

Connerly has acknowledged that King might not have supported Proposition 209.

Dole to act in Visa commercial

ASSOCIATED PRESS

PITTSBURG, Texas — The presidential campaign is over, but former Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., will remain a staple of the airwaves.

The Kansas Republican visited this small East Texas town Thursday to film a television commercial for the Visa credit card.

The commercial will debut during the Super Bowl on the Fox network. Other versions will air thereafter, said Chris O'Neill of New York-based Ketchum Public Relations and Visa spokesman.

The 60-second commercial will be humorous and will feature Dole's hometown of Russell, Kan., Visa officials said. Pittsburg will not be identified in the commercial, O'Neill said.

So why film in the poultry-producing town of about 4,400 residents 110 miles east of Dallas?

BBDO New York, the advertising agency producing the commercial, is keeping that and other details of the spot under wraps, O'Neill said. However, he assured that the agency did not pick the town out of a hat as a location.

Your ad could be here! Call 532-6555

cuppa joe Presents, Rick Davis, Live Tonight 7-9 p.m.
111 S. 4th 537-5119
Visit our home page at http://www~personal.interkan.net/~javajoe/cuppajoe.html

"No Coupon" Specials (NO coupon needed, NONE accepted)
Everyday Two-fers: 2 - PIZZAS with 2 - TOPPINGS each 2 - COKES with ice $9.12
Everyday Three-fers: 3 - PIZZAS with 1 - TOPPING each 3 - COKES with ice $11.23
Prices do not include sales taxes.
Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

Winter Sale
Birkenstocks
Selected Styles Only
No Special Orders
Olson Shoes
214 B Moro- Aggieville

THE PURPLE PIG
Manhattan's Newest Beer Tavern
THE PURPLE PIG EST. 1996
Friday Specials
$2.75 Big Beers
"32 oz. of fun"
Open Mon.-Sat. until midnight 539-7444 424 Houston St.- Downtown

Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road • Across from Goodnow Hall
BOOKS
SELF-SERVE COPIES
RESUMES
WORD PROCESSING
NEWSPAPERS
DESKTOP PUBLISHING
FAX SERVICE
GREETING CARDS
Don't settle for OLD NEWS
The New York Times
Special Academic Subscription Rate
Save 47 % off the cover price
53¢ ($38.16 total)
Read the New York Times the day of publication
(913) 776-3771
Fax: (913) 776-1009
E-mail: cbcbkcpy@interkan.net

Suds Y'R Duds
Welcomes K-State Students Back With Free Dryers
Between 5 a.m. & 3 p.m. when available
Monday thru Friday · Located in Anderson Village
1453 Anderson Ave. 537-2325
Open 5 a.m. - midnight 7 days a week

AUDITIONS!
KSU theatre
THURSDAY, JAN. 16 & FRIDAY, JAN. 17
at 7pm -in Nichols Theatre Lobby for Spring Semester Productions of
"Les Liaison Dangereuses"
by Christopher Hampton
A Nichols Theatre Production
"Garbagemen of the Old West"
(Written and Directed by Dan Shea)
A Purple Masque Production
No preparation is necessary. Open to all KSU Students.
Scripts available in 129 Nichols Hall.
Questions? Call 532-6875

TK Specialty Programs Presents
Executive Kickboxing Fighting Class
This program is designed for individuals to learn self defense moves and become skilled in superior fighting moves while getting in excellent condition.
Monday Nights 7:30 at Pro Fitness, 1125 Laramie
Box-Aerobics
Box Aerobics combines actual boxing techniques with aerobic principles to produce an intense cardiovascular training workout for the entire body.
Friday Nights 6:30 at Pro Fitness, 1125 Laramie
Bring in this ad for a FREE TRIAL CLASS!
New classes begin January 20th and are as low as $10 a month!
Pro Fitness 1125 Laramie

AUDITIONS
For Singers and Dancers
Live on Stage...It could be YOU! From our 60's and 70's rock review, Stax of Wax, to our spectacular country music show in the Tivoli Music Hall, you could be in the spotlight for the '97 season, entertaining millions of Worlds of Fun guests. If you work the entire season (six days per week in the summer & weekends in the spring and fall) you could earn over $8,000!
AUDITION INSTRUCTIONS
If you are a singer, please sing one verse and chorus of two contrasting styles of song; one up-tempo and one ballad. Sing any type of music you enjoy; rock, country, show tunes, etc. (No Rap).
Please limit your material to no more than three minutes total in length. Dancers should prepare one song to sing and a jazz routine no longer than two minutes.
You must provide your own accompaniment whether it be a pianist or a cassette tape. We will provide a cassette deck and a piano. Acapella auditions will not be accepted.
We are not auditioning bands, solo instrumentalists or dramatic actors.
THE CLOSEST AUDITIONS:
Manhattan, Kansas
Tuesday, January 28 - Kansas State University Forum Hall in the K-State Union
3:00 p.m. (Registration closes at 5:00 p.m.)
Kansas City, Missouri
Saturday, January 25 - Park Place Hotel 1601 N. Universal Avenue (Just off Front Street at I-435)
9:00 a.m. (Registration closes at 1:00 p.m.)
Kansas City, Missouri
Sunday, February 9 - Adams Mark Hotel 9103 E. 39th Street (I-70 at Truman Sports Complex)
1:00 p.m. (Registration closes at 4:00 p.m.)
Worlds of Fun

▶ THE ARTS IN BRIEF

MUSEUM OFFERS PUBLICS TOURS

The Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art has begun offering free public tours of exhibitions on Sundays.

The tours begin at 2 p.m. on Sundays during the month of January. The tour groups meet in the downstairs lobby and are lead by volunteer guides and docents.

Tours on Jan. 5, 12 and 19 will feature the exhibitions "The Collective Spirit: Selections from the Permanent Collection," "Tom Edwards: 1996 Friends of Art Gift Print Artist" and "A Dean Mitchell Anthology." Tours on Jan. 26 will include the newly opened exhibition "Midwestern Romanticism."

The Beach museum is open from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and from 1 to 4:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Admission is free. For more information call 532-7718.

THEATRE AUDITIONS PLANNED

Auditions for KSU Theatre's productions of "Les Liaison Dangereuses," by Christopher Hampton, and "Garbagemen of the Old West," by Dan Shea, will begin at 7 tonight in Nichols Theatre lobby. Auditions are open to all K-State students and scripts are available in Nichols 129.

▶ INTERCEPTED MESSAGE

DEAR CASSIE SEEKS CORRESPONDENCE

My mailbox is painfully empty, and I am bored because my own life is, of course, perfect.

As those of you who remember me know, I live for your letters and my expert advice is free.

For those of you who don't remember me, I am Cassandra, the mistress of answers to the confused and lovelorn. I can help you with your love problems, your school problems, your family problems and even your sex problems.

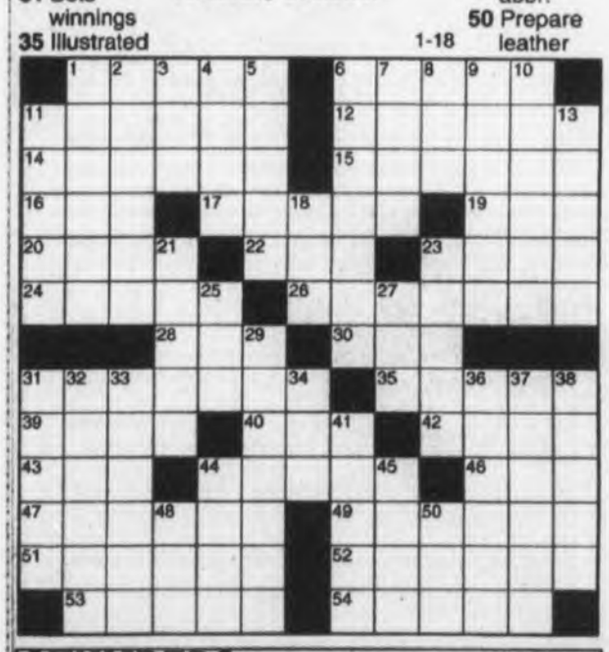
Let's lay the ground rules for this column. Due to hygiene concerns, I will not be answering questions concerning socks or related matters. Some of you may remember what I'm talking about. If not, just don't write about your roommate's chronic masturbation quandaries.

So if you've been dumped, your car broke down, your professor hates you, you've found yourself impotent after a horrible car wreck, your cat has fleas or your dog is too friendly to your significant other, then just drop a line to Cassie, and I'll get you straightened out.

Contact me through the Impulse page by snail mail (DEAR CASSIE, Kedzie 103) or by e-mail at (andra@ksu.edu).

▶ DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 Words to live by
6 Esau's brother
11 Made a net
12 Chews the scenery
14 Tabloid article, purportedly
15 Circle of signs
16 Movie-set VIP
17 Bronchial vessels
19 Eventual aves
20 Dogfight participants
22 Unruly bunch
23 Friendly sort?
24 True blue
26 They make you feel wanted
28 Derek and Diddley
30 Vegas intro
31 Bets winnings
35 Illustrated enigma
39 Arrow poison
40 Entry on Baby's agenda
42 Casserole ingredient
43 List-shortening abbr.
44 Reached
46 Ducats
47 Acting president?
49 Turn
51 Quantity on hand
52 Rubbernecks
53 Sacred song
54 Sharpened



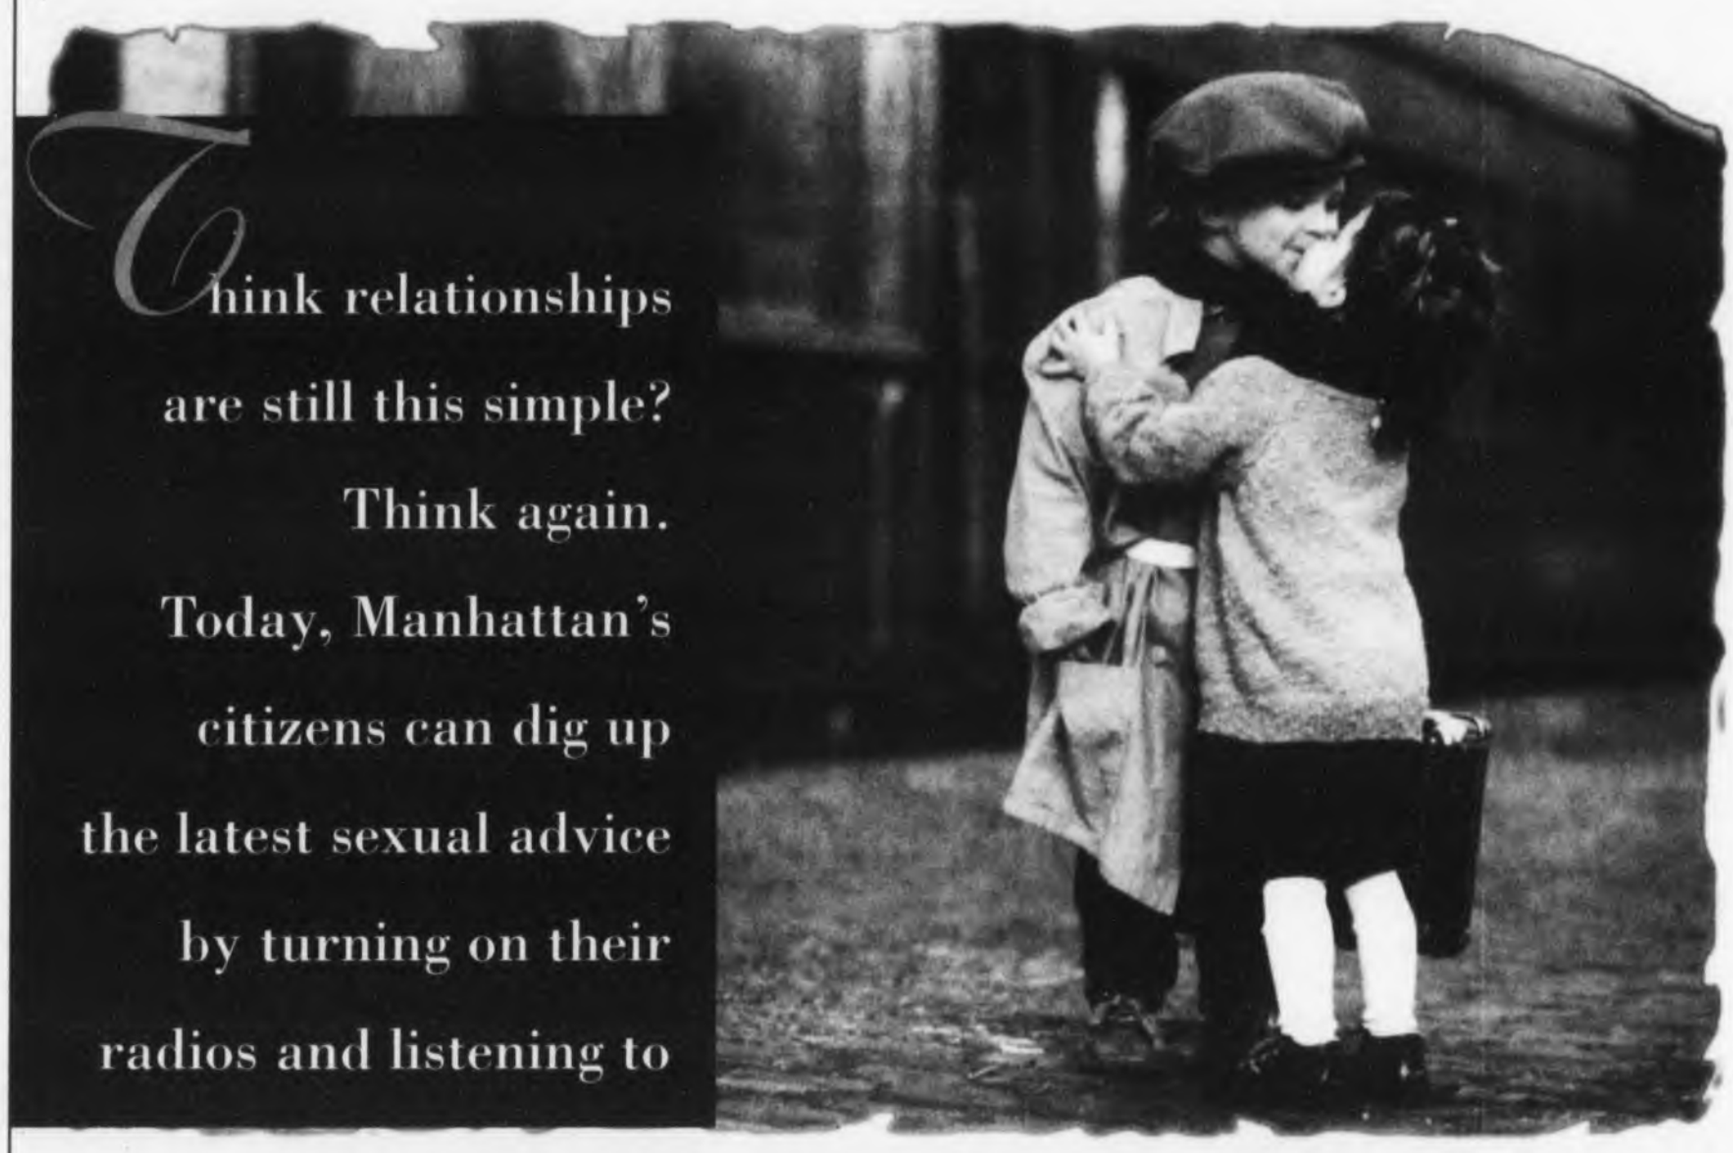
DOWN
1 Land down under?
2 Piscivorous bird
3 Nevertheless: inf.
4 Quiz
5 Music hall
6 Shameless hussy
7 Andy's pal
8 Pollock's kin
9 At leisure
10 Oregon emblem
11 Commemorative token
13 Rumblers' souvenirs
18 Plumb line's weight
21 Lustrous black
23 In a snit
25 Mauna —
27 Listening device
29 Word for word?
31 Landing structures
32 Chip in a chip
33 Summaries
34 Perched
36 Lighter fuel
37 One
38 Reed instruments
41 Arouse thirst
44 Chutzpah
45 Corrida contender
48 4.0, ideally: abbr.
50 Prepare leather

Solution time: 28 mins.

S	E	E	M	S		E	N	D		P	O	T
M	O	X	I	E		M	E	A		O	B	I
U	S	H	E	R		E	X	H	A	L	E	D
		I	N	V	E	R	T		V	A	S	E
F	A	B		E	G	G		H	E	R	E	S
D	R	I	P		R	E	C	O	N
A	C	T	O	N	E		R	O	G	E	R	S
			N	I	T	R	O		E	X	I	T
S	T	A	C	K		A	N	T		H	A	Y
T	E	C	H		S	I	E	R	R	A
E	X	H	O	R	T	S		E	A	U	D	E
N	A	E		A	L	E		V	I	S	O	R
O	N	S		P	O	D		I	N	T	O	A

Yesterday's answer

1-18



STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 | 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

1-18 CRYPTOQUIP

Z F K ' C L G Y H G K H D B K F A A N M W B C H F Z W B C B Z F A E B L C G W N G D M F C Z E H L G K C B Y H?

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: MOST GOOD-HUMORED RANCHERS LIKED RAISING LAUGHING STOCK.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: Y equals M

LOVELINE

review by mark minor

Love is on the air and Manhattan is listening.

Stephanie Stuart, Manhattan resident, said she listens to Loveline, a radio program on KMKF-FM 101.5, about three times a week.

"I have mixed emotions about it," Stuart said. "It's funny, but sometimes it's kind of rude, because people call up with problems and they make fun of them."

Loveline was syndicated nationally in December 1995. Manhattan's own K-Rock started picking up the signal on April 1, 1996. It airs from midnight to 2 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Loveline is a call-in radio show from Los Angeles. Loveline is the brainchild of Dr. Drew Pinsky, a board certified internist and addictionalogist. Pinsky began his radio career when he was in medical school by volunteering to co-host a Los Angeles-based radio show.

Through the years, Pinsky, known on the air as Dr. Drew, maintained the show and eventually added a co-host, Riki Rachtman. You might remember Rachtman as the heavily tattooed host of MTV's Headbanger's Ball.

As the show gained popularity, a third host, Adam Carolla, was added. Carolla has a comedic background in stand-up and improvisation, as well as having worked as a carpenter, traffic-school professor and boxing instructor.

Manhattan's KMKF-FM 101.5 started picking up Loveline on April 1, 1996. It airs midnight to 2 a.m. Monday through Friday.

However, the trio proved to be too much and Rachtman left in April 1996, after months of fighting with Carolla over microphone time.

Most listeners will agree that Carolla, known on the air simply as Adam, can be rather disruptive and presumptuous. The shoes Rachtman left behind are now filled by celebrity guests.

Stuart said she liked the guest stars.

"They had Tori Amos on the show the other night. She just commented when people called in with problems," Stuart said.

Why do K-State students enjoy listening to Loveline?

"Loveline deals with sex, drugs and relationships in a candid manner that benefits the community," Raubin Pierce, program and music director for K-Rock, said.

Loveline provides opportunities for people of all ages to call in and ask questions on almost any subject. Since Dr. Drew is a doctor, a great deal of merit and knowledge are behind the answers and advice given.

For some people, Adam plays the role of the wise peer, and often acts as an interpreter between the caller and Dr. Drew.

Beginning early last December, Loveline added another element to the formula — video.

Loveline can now be seen as well as heard. MTV broadcasts the show at 11 p.m. Monday through Friday. The show consists of Adam, Dr. Drew and a female audience liaison, as well as celebrity guests.

The team of hosts answer questions from audience members and callers. Audience members can even choose to ask a question or explain a problem incognito via a tinted phone booth.

"After listening to the radio program, it was interesting to actually see the hosts. They don't really look like I thought they would," Matt Kastel, senior in interior architecture, said.

Loveline's success is partially due to the genuine straight forward advice and partially to the entertaining chemistry within the show's hosts, guests and patients.

Between Adam's street smarts and Dr. Drew's book smarts, a question or problem seldom surfaces that this team cannot straighten out.

▶ MELVIN VS. THE WORLD

▶ DILBERT

Madonna tackles First Lady role with new movie musical 'Evita'

RUSSELL FORTMEYER
senior staff writer

The material girl becomes immortal.

Or, at least, she plays a woman whose quest for immortality brought Argentina to its knees in the 1940s.

Madonna's new movie musical, "Evita," follows the rise of Eva Perón from sweet-natured peasant girl to big city woman-about-town to first lady of Argentina, when she marries the dictator, Juan Perón. The dictator is played by Jonathan Pryce, who is underused, but wonderful.

Movie Review

Director Alan Parker's lush movie is based on the successful Andrew Lloyd Webber and Tim Rice stage musical, which played in McCain Auditorium two years ago.

Parker deserves an award just for undertaking a project of this magnitude. What director would dare take on a rock opera (yes, no spoken words) about South American politics?

"Evita" has been swept around Hollywood circles since its stage debut in the late 1970s, but every time a director and actress were set to star, something happened. Everyone from Patti LuPone, who originated the role, to Barbra Streisand to Oliver Stone have been attached to the movie. Only Stone remains, as a co-screenwriter.

"Evita" is almost two shows in one. On the one hand, it's a cautionary political tale of corrupted power. On the other, it's a little-girl-does-good story with a heart-wrenching ending.

Sorting it out for you is Antonio Banderas, the omnipresent narrator Che. He's the political conscience of the movie who tells us why Eva Perón is as great as she is while slyly smirking at her on the side.

Eva Perón tempts you to love her, she teases you away from considering her socialist, dictatorship leanings, and wants you to walk away from the theater with admiration, not condemnation. Che lets us adore her, but won't let us forget her darker side of selfish behavior.

Che knows how Eva Perón rose from the depths of country peasantry by sleeping with the right politician; and also how she manipulated her way into Juan Perón's bedroom and onto the national stage as a so-called fighter for the people. Banderas, playing mostly to the audience, is charming and at ease with his voice.

Although Perón preached her husband's good word to the masses, she secretly desired to be accepted in the upper classes that had for so long eluded her.

Madonna plays Perón with intense determination,

See EVITA, Page 10

President to award Dole medal of freedom

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — Bowing to calls for more civility in politics, President Clinton is offering the nation's highest civilian award to Bob Dole.

Clinton plans to award the Presidential Medal of Freedom to his vanquished GOP rival Friday at a ceremony unveiling the winning design for a World War II monument, according to a White House official who spoke on anonymity.

The decision disclosed Wednesday is in keeping with Clinton's post-election promise to pursue a spirit of reconciliation. It also reflects internal polls showing Americans want more civility in Washington.

Dole is expected to attend, an administration official said today.

White House spokeswoman Mary Ellen Glynn declined to confirm that Dole would be offered the medal, but added, "That sounds like an excellent way to pay tribute to a person who has devoted a lifetime to public service."

Clinton's decision became public Wednesday on the publication date of "Behind the Oval Office," an inside look at the White House by fallen political adviser Dick Morris.

In the book, Morris says Clinton once called Dole an evil, evil man, an account that presidential spokesman Mike McCurry has said Clinton disputes.

During the campaign, Clinton spoke highly of Dole in public, honoring his record in World War II and his 35 years of service in the Senate.

But the president and his party spent millions of dollars to portray Dole, 73, as a danger to Medicaid, education programs and, more indirectly, too old for the job.

For his part, Dole often said Clinton was not his enemy, but his opponent. Yet he openly questioned Clinton's ethics, suggested that he would be impeached in a second term and — with prodding from a spectator — once said, "Bozo's on his way out."

Clinton defeated Dole last November.

SHOOTING
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

stopped, police Cmdr. Tim McBride said.

"There is a female who saw at least a portion of this and we are interviewing her. It is her description that we have a male white suspect," McBride said.

McBride said the gunman may have intended to rob the driver. But another investigator, Lt. Anthony Alba, said there didn't appear to be any property taken.

"The victim was apparently having car trouble and stopped to change a tire," Alba said. "The car was found with the trunk open and the door open on the passenger side."

It was difficult to determine whether there was a struggle, Alba said.

A woman who was not identified by police noticed the body as she was driving by. Investigators said she stopped to help and discovered he was dead.

EVITA
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 9

but with a touch of innocence, especially with the sweet "Another Suitcase in Another Hall," which marks Eva's first setback on her road to success.

Madonna, who lobbied for years to play the part she considers herself born to play, is stunning, both visually and verbally. She's definitely up to singing the role. It's a breakthrough performance for her — a chance to revive movie musicals while staying true to her own art form.

After all, music videos are simply the remnants of the American musical. They are mini-stories set to music with a big cast of characters, especially Madonna's impressive "Like a Prayer."

The musical numbers in "Evita" thump with a Latin beat. The costumes are so fabulous they have started a fashion trend worldwide, and each scene is perfectly composed and bathed in a warm, tropical light.

As with other Lloyd Webber shows, the music is instantly recognizable ("Don't Cry for me Argentina"), but hardly forgettable. And, thank heavens, there is no dancing for dancing's sake.

With Evita, Parker has set a benchmark for movie musicals. He's taken what Disney is doing with animation and given it relevance.

More to the point, Parker discovered that the musical stage can still be adapted to the screen with magnificent success.

PARKING
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

parking fees.

John Lambert, director of public safety and Parking Council member, said it's too early to be discussing how much parking fees would rise to pay for the garage.

"The council members have not given this too much consideration up to now," Lambert said. "It's been on hold until the city got their funds for Anderson Avenue."

Lambert said the Parking Council will probably not discuss the issue until after the project is approved and underway.

The parking garage was one suggestion by a parking task force, consisting of student, faculty and administrative leaders, which met during 1994.

The task force recommended several options, such as a shuttle service, satellite parking and the garage, to the University's Parking Council. The Council has implemented some of those recommendations, such as a limited shuttle service.

After the Council recommended the garage, the University administration announced plans to locate it inside Memorial Stadium. That decision was reversed after the city failed to win funding for the expansion of Anderson Avenue, which is seen as a prerequisite for parking garage construction in that area.

There was also much student and faculty opposition to the stadium site since the historic structure is a monument to World War I veterans.

BOMBING
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

A crowd of investigators, police, journalists and bystanders who had gathered outside after the first explosion heard a loud boom and felt the concussion. They could see a bright flash and debris flying in the air.

"It was scary as hell," said clinic counselor Geralyn Thompson, who arrived just after the first blast. "I probably will never work at an abortion clinic again in Atlanta."

All of the injuries appeared to be minor. An Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms agent was seen bleeding from the head and hands as he was carried to an ambulance. The other injured included two FBI agents, a firefighter, an ambulance worker and a television cameraman.

In Washington, Assistant Attorney General Deval Patrick said there was no immediate claim of responsibility and that investigators were checking with law enforcement agencies to see if any warning was received.

A federal law enforcement official, demanding anonymity, warned investigators not to get locked in on the clinic.

"We're not saying for sure that it was aimed at the clinic. We're being very careful because we have no evidence on the motivation," the official said, noting that there are other businesses in the building.

Employees of the Atlanta Northside clinic said it does not see patients every day and none were expected Thursday. The blast apparently took place at the back of the clinic, away from the only two employees there at the time.

The attacks came five days before the 24th anniversary of Roe vs. Wade, the 1973 Supreme Court decision that legalized abortion. Patrick said the government has for several years sent alerts to state and local law enforcement agencies around the anniversary to watch for violence. But it was not immediately known if this year's alert had gone out yet.

Police evacuated other buildings in the area after the second explosion around 10:30 a.m. and closed down nearby ramps to Interstate 285, which circles the city.

Campbell dispatched extra police officers to all abortion clinics in the city as a precaution. A nearby clinic was briefly evacuated after the second blast, but all said they would remain open.

U.S. Attorney Kent Alexander said investigators were combing the area to make sure there wasn't a third bomb.

"There's no reason to think there is, but there was no reason to think there was a second device," he said.

Alexander said that authorities would compare the case to the Olympic bombing last summer but that there was no reason yet to believe the cases are linked.

"We are not ruling out domestic terrorism unrelated to clinic violence," Alexander said.

Patrick said, "We presume the clinic was the target, but we are keeping an open mind and not ruling anything out. We don't know enough yet."

The last abortion clinic violence in Atlanta came in 1984, when the same clinic, then located a few miles away, was firebombed.

CLASS IS IN SESSION.
Catch up on current events with your daily Collegian.

RELIGION DIRECTORY

Your Church could be Here 532-6560

FIRST LUTHERAN
10th Poyntz 537-8532
Worship Sat. 5:30 p.m., Sun. 8:30 & 11 a.m.
Sunday School all ages 9:40 a.m.

Manhattan Mennonite Church
Sunday School 9:30 a.m., Worship 10:45 a.m.
Eldon Epp, Pastor
10th and Fremont 539-4079
Child Care Available

St. Isidore's
Masses Sat. 5 p.m.
Sun. 9:30, 11 a.m., & 5 p.m.
Confessions Sat. 4 p.m.
711 Denison 539-7496
Chaplain: Father Brad Sterrett

Advertise your services in the KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555

St. Francis Canterbury Episcopal Campus Ministry
Eucharist & Guitar in Danforth Chapel
Every Sunday at 5 p.m.
Rev. Cathy Chittenden-Bascom
532-9099

CRESTVIEW CHRISTIAN CHURCH
College Class 9:15 a.m.
Morning Worship 10:30 a.m.
Evening Bible Study 6 p.m.
4761 Tuttle Creek Blvd.
(3 miles north of Kimball Ave.)
776-3798

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH
8:30 & 11 a.m. Worship
9:45 a.m. Church School
including University and Young adult classes
Nursery provided for all services
Omer G. Tittle, Pastor
612 Poyntz 776-8821
DIAL-A-PRAYER 776-9569

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH (DISCIPLES OF CHRIST) 5th & Humboldt 776-8790
Contemporary Worship 8:30 a.m.
Traditional Worship 10:55 a.m.
Church School 9:45 a.m.
Live Broadcast 11:30 a.m.
Angel 95 (95.3 FM)
Wed. Eve. Bible Study
COLLEGE FELLOWSHIP
Thursday 7:30 p.m.
PASTOR DR. DONALD E. BREZAVAR

First Church of the Nazarene
MORNING WORSHIP...10:40 a.m.
EVENING PRAISE...6:00 p.m.
SUNDAY SCHOOL...9:30 a.m.
COLLEGE...9:30 a.m.
3031 Kimball
539-6376 (pastor)
539-2851 (church)
Pat Weyrauch, Pastor

WESTVIEW COMMUNITY CHURCH
Morning Worship
8:30 & 10:45 a.m.
Sunday School 9:45 a.m.
College Career Classes Offered
Sunday Evening Worship 6 p.m.
1st Sunday
CARE CELLS (Small Groups)
2, 3, 4 Sunday 6 p.m.
3001 Ft. Riley Blvd. 537-7173

ST. LUKE'S LUTHERAN CHURCH
(LCMS)
6 p.m. Saturday Evening Service
7:45 a.m. Early Service
9 a.m. Bible Study
10 a.m. Contemporary Service
11:15 a.m. Late Service
330 N. Sunset Ave. 539-2604

LIVING WATER RANCH CHURCH
An Affiliate of RHEMA Bible Church aka Kenneth Hagin Ministries
SUNDAY
Service 10:30 a.m.
School of Bible 9:30 a.m.
7 p.m. KOINONIA Fellowship
WEDNESDAY Service 7:30 p.m.
STERLING HUDGINS-PASTOR
Located 12 miles north of Tuttle Creek Dam, turn off Hwy. 13 at the sign.
4150 LIVING WATER DR.
OLSBURG, KS 66520
(913) 468-3615

First Presbyterian Church (USA)
Sunday School
9 A.M
Sunday Worship
10:30 AM
801 Leavenworth St. (913)537-0518

First Baptist Church
Sunday Worship 11 a.m.
Church School 9:45 a.m.
For free transportation within city limits, call the church.
Pastors Karen & Alan Selig
2121 Blue Hills Rd.
539-8691
An American Baptist Congregation

Join us this Sunday!
College Heights Baptist Church
2221 College Heights Road
(on Anderson, across from KSU Foundation building)
College Bible Study 9:15 a.m.
Worship Service 10:30 a.m.

Lutheran Campus Ministry
at Luther House 1745 Anderson
Sunday Worship 7:15 p.m.
in the Danforth Chapel
College Liturgy
"Now the Feast and Celebration"
Pastor Jayne Thompson
539-4451
— Open to All —

Grace Baptist Church
2901 Dickens - 2 blks. E. of Seth Child)
◆ Sunday ◆
Morning Worship
8:15 & 10:45 a.m.
Bible Classes For All Ages 9:30 a.m.
Body Life or Care Cells 6 p.m.
776-0424

First Congregational Church
700 Poyntz (Poyntz and Juliette) 537-7006
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
Adult Ed. Class
Worship 10:45 a.m.
Sermon:
"Reflections on a History of God"
Sunday, Jan. 19
Rev. Donald Longbottom

The Assembly (Manhattan's First Assembly of God)
2310 Candlewood
537-7633
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
College Sunday School Class 9:30 a.m.
Hispanic Sunday School Class 9:30 a.m.
Worship Service 10:30 a.m.
Evening Praise 6 p.m.
Wed. Family Night 7 p.m.
- Youth Group
-Royal Rangers
- Missionettes
Nursery Provided For All Services

St. Francis Anglican Fellowship at KSU
"Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord."
Psalm 33:12
The Anglican Churches of :
Uganda
South India
the Province of Nigeria
the Province of the West Indies
the Province of Southern Africa
the Province of Tanzania
the Province of Kenya
England
Services are held in Danforth Chapel on Campus.
Sundays at 5 p.m..
Call Tim or Cathy Bascom at 532-9099.

WAREHOUSE CLEAR-OUT Reduced Drastically
Bound Area Rugs
4x6 STARTING AT ONLY $19.99 5x8 STARTING AT ONLY $29.99
6x9 STARTING AT ONLY $39.99 9x12 STARTING AT ONLY $79.99
Over 500 IN STOCK to choose from!!!
90 Days Same as cash
Mon.-Fri. 8:30-5:30 p.m.
Sat. 9:30-4 p.m.
Financing Available
Bryant Carpet
Heartland Home Interiors
520 Pillsbury Dr. Manhattan, Ks. 66502
776-4367

GET A REAL PIZZA..PYRAMID
Monday Mania Buy 1 Get One Free
TWOZEE TWO 10" PIZZAS (one topping) plus TWO Med. Drinks $9.39
THREEZEE THREE 10" PIZZAS (one topping) plus THREE Med. Drinks $11.27
BONE'Z FOR A BUCK! Purchase a large or medium pizza and get an order of Pyramid Bone'z for $1
We Pile It On
539-4888
exp. 7/31/97
Void with other Promos
Welcome Back Students
539-4888
FREE Delivery • 12th & Moro • Aggieville

CLASSIFIEDS

1 DAY 20 words or less – $5.35 each word over 20 – $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less – $6.65 each word over 20 – $.25 per word

3 DAYS 20 words or less – $7.60 each word over 20 – $.30 per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less – $8.35 each word over 20 – $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less – $8.85 each word over 20 – $.40 per word (consecutive day rate)

•FREE FOUND ADS

As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

•HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an established account with Student Publications Inc.

Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks.

We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

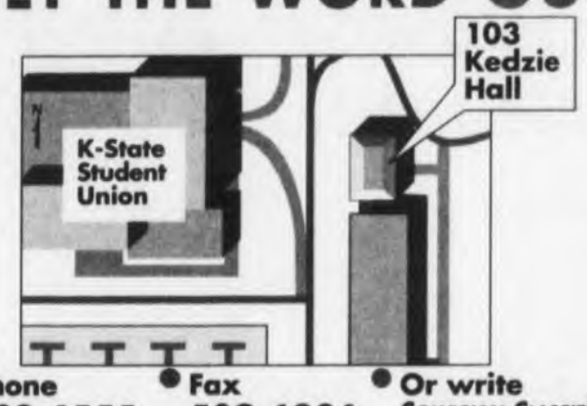
•DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.

•CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.



•HEADLINES

For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

•CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

GET THE WORD OUT

•Phone 532-6555 •Fax 532-6236 •Or write COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS Kansas State Collegian 103 Kedzie Manhattan, Kan. 6650

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010

Announcements

COLLEGE FINANCIAL AID -Student Financial Services has information on 3,400+ public and private sector funding sources. A must for anyone seeking financial aid! For information: 1-800-263-6495 ext.F57689.

Topeka Capital-Journal
SEMESTER SPECIAL
$31
call 776-1552

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 539-3733.

SCUBA DIVE Dreaming of those warm nights and clear waters... Learn to dive now for spring break and summer. Classes now forming. Call David Garvin, PADI, Creative Travel and Scuba, 539-0531.

SCUBA KSU classes starting Jan. 25th. NAUI and YMCA certification offered. Come join the fun. Contact UFM for info and registration 539-8763.

Wedding Open House
January 25 and 26
Drawings for free gifts!
Mr. P's Party Outlet
Manhattan, KS 66502
318 Poyntz 776-7547

ZEN MEDITATION instruction. The Manhattan Zen group offers two lectures and instruction by Professor L. Rappoport, Wednesday January 22 and Tuesday January 28, 7:30- 9:00p.m., At 121-A south 4th st. Second floor, room 211. Bring a sitting cushion. No charge.

030

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

DEBORAH FROM Wakeeney (studying Criminal Justice), thank you, to you and your friends for buying me the Beck's at Last Chance on Monday 12/17 and for listening to an "old" Wildcat reminisce. Good luck in your internship in Junction City. Paul/ Jerz (the Arbitrator from Rochester, NY).

040

Meetings/ Events

CLERGY ABUSE Support Group for women who have experienced clergy abuse. Confidential! For more information call Ann 537-3936 or Adene 776-6884.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

ABSOLUTELY THE best three of four-bedroom deal you'll find. One block from campus. Washer/ dryer etc. 539-9345.

ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO apartment one block east of campus. Furnished or unfurnished. Ample parking, quiet conditions. $250. 776-3624.

ONE-BEDROOM. ONE block to campus. Washer and dryer. 537-4947 after 6p.m.

TWO-BEDROOM, THREE blocks east of campus, ample parking, quiet conditions, reasonable rent. 776-3624.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

814 THURSTON studio apartment water/ trash paid. No pets, available now, five month or more lease, $275. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE NOW. 915 Claflin, three-bedroom apartment heat, water, trash paid. Newly redecorated. No pets. $525. Call 539-3085.

AVAILABLE NOW. Leases through May. Rent negotiable. Most utilities paid. Cat ok. 537-8389, leave message please- will call as soon as possible.

GOLD KEY apartments, two-bedroom available now, 1419 Leavenworth, $510. Water and trash paid. Stove, refrigerator, washer and dryer provided. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom. Close to campus and City Park. $475/ month. Available immediately. 776-1771, Elaine.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT two-bedroom basement by campus. 537-1550. Lease until July 97 on.

Leasing Now For August
• Fremont Apts
• Sandstone Apts
• College Heights
• Cambridge Square
Large 2-bedroom Units.
537-9064
Weekdays:
8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Sat. 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

ONE-BEDROOM WITH study in Aggieville available now, 1130 Fremont, $275. Water and trash paid. Stove and refrigerator. Lawn care provided. Cats okay. Call MDI 776-3804.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS leasing one, two and three-bedroom apartments. Two pools, hot tub, horseshoes, volleyball. 539-2951.

PARKVIEW APARTMENT, two-bedroom available in February, 1026 Osage, $460. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher. On-site laundry and parking. Bedrooms have built-in student desks. No pets. Walk to KSU. Call MDI 776-3804.

ROYAL TOWER Apartments, four-bedroom/ two bath available in February, $860. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances with dishwasher and microwave. Fitness room, jacuzzi, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

STUDIO APARTMENT, one block from campus. 494-2240.

THREE-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, one and one-half bath. Near campus. Laundry in complex. 537-1746.

TWO AND Three-bedroom apartments. Close to campus. 539-1713

TWO-BEDROOM $285. No smoking. No pets. 537-4016.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now, 1807 College Heights, $410. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now, 411 N 17th $360. Water and trash paid. No balcony, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now , 1854 Claflin, $365. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. Yes, cats are welcome. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now and February, 925 Denison, $410. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking. Newly remolded kithcens. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now and February, 1722 Laramie, $385. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking, walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

115

Rooms Available

ONE-BEDROOM, TWO blocks from campus. Freshly redecorated. Washer/ dryer. 776-4130.

120

For Rent- Houses

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Four-bedroom, one study house. Close to campus. $1,100 non-negotiable rent. Call 776-1340.

ONE, TWO, three-bedroom for non-smoking, non-drinking, no pets. 539-1554.

TWO BLOCKS from campus. Three-bedroom, eat-in kitchen, living room, dining area, freshly redecorated, washer/ dryer. Second semester bargin. $600/ month. 776-4130.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT new bath and kitchen, washer/ dryer. Near city park. $350 plus deposit, 539-1145.

TWO-BEDROOM, VERY nice in Manhattan. Carpet, storage shed, cnetral air and heat, carpets, no pets. (913)238-2963.

130

For Rent- Mobile Homes

NICE, CLEAN, two-bedroom trailer near Manhattan. Call after 5p.m. (913)456-2325.

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

14X 70 Windsor. Two-bedrooms central air, all appliances, $10,500. 587-0119.

1984 MOBILE home in Redbud estates; three-bedroom, two bath; all appliances include dishwasher, washer/ dryer; $12,000 negotiable; 537-7526.

145

Roommate Wanted

$175/ MONTH plus one-half utilities. Own room in two-bedroom duplex. Available beginning January 1. 719 Leavenworth, 537-8651, leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share four-bedroom apartment. Near campus. Call 539-9165.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed immediately to share two-bedroom apartment. One-half block east of campus. Washer/ dryer. Call 587-4159. Leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted $210 rent plus one-third utilities. Walk to Aggieville and campus. 539-0543.

FEMALE ROOMMATE. Nice four-bedroom, one one-half bathroom house with washer/ dryer, $225. 776-0441

MALE ROOMMATE needed to take over lease for furnished apartment. One block from campus. $240 plus utilities. 565-9070.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Very nice two-bedroom apartment next to campus. Reasonable price, trash/ water paid. Available immediately. No smoking/ drinking/ pets. 565-9250 (Leave message).

MALE ROOMMATES wanted: nice clean spacious house for rent. One block from campus. $185/ month. Call 587-9052.

MALE STUDENTS needed to complete four-bedroom house, $200 each plus deposit. Located near campus. 776-1196.

MALE WANTED for furnished basement. No smoking/ drinking/ pets, please. Walk to KSU. 539-1554.

ROOM FOR rent with own bathroom. 10 minute from campus in a brand new home room can be furnished if needed. $250 all bills paid. Smoking ok. (913)494-8791.

ROOMMATE NEED for two-bedroom apartment across from campus $137.50. Utilities paid. 539-8538.

ROOMMATE NEEDED at 1230 Vattier- directly across from campus. Private bedroom, washer/ dryer, fireplace. $155 per month plus utilities, 539-1269.

ROOMMATE NEEDED at 824 Laramie. Private bedroom, washer, dryer provided. $185 per month plus utilities. 587-8338.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share nice two-bedroom mobile home in Redbud Estates. Call Guy at 539-3503, 587-5711 or e-mail at graffix@kansas.net

ROOMMATE WANTED as soon as possible. Nice three-bedroom house. $210/ month plus one-third utilities. Call 539-0975.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share three-bedroom house. $250/ month plus one-half utilities. Washer/ dryer. Pets allowed. Fenced yard. Carrie 776-6563.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, close to campus and Aggieville, 822 fremont, 3rd floor, $150/ month , water and trash paid, 537-7087.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, furnished, close to campus, rent $274.50 plus KPL. Call 776-7457 or (913)367-6097 collect.

150

Sublease

AVAILABLE NOW! Female roommate needed to share two-bedroom apartment at Westchester Park. $244.50/ month plus one-half electricty. Call 776-8707 or 537-4666 Ext. 23. Ask for Joann.

HALF BLOCK from campus! Available now. female roommate needed for three-bedroom house. Completely furnished. 776-0604 or 587-9309.

ONE-BEDROOM ONE block from campus. Abailable immediately. Wildcat Mangement 537-2332.

ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO for sublease now until August. Rent is $200. Water, trash , electric paid. Call 539-4174 or (316)231-6854.

TWO-BEDROOM WITH balcony and dishwasher, one-half block from campus and Aggieville.Water and trash paid. Call 776-9353.

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY

235

Child Care

SEEKING RELIABLE student with car and no Tuesday classes for child care on Tuesdays in Christian home. Call 456-7899.

300 EMPLOYMENT/CAREERS

310

Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 537-0056.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1000'S POSSIBLE READING BOOKS. Part-time. At home. Toll free (800)218-9000 ext.R-1915 for listings.

$1000'S POSSIBLE TYPING. Part-time. At home. Toll free (800)218-9000 ext. T-1915 for listings.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT -Fishing industry. Many earn up to $4000+/ month during peak season. Benefits often include transportation and/ or room and Board. For details: (206) 971-3510 ext-A57688.

ASSISTANT SCIENTIST (#304), Full-time, temporary position, not to exceed 12 months, int the Department Agronomy. B.S. degree in computer science plus six months experience with C++, Visual Basic, and Windows 3.1/ 95. Experience in forage management and/ or cow-calf production systems preferred. Send letter of application, resume, transcripts, and arrange for three letters of reference to be sent to: Dr. Gerry L. Posler, Head, Department of Agronomy, Throckmorton Plant Sciences Center, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506-5501. Application deadline: February 28, 1997. Kansas State University is an Affirmative Action/ equal opportunity employer. KSU encourages diversity among its employees.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Midwest Distributors P.O. Box 624, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate Response.

BABYSITTER ON Mondays 3:45p.m. -7:30p.m. Must have car. 539-6643

CLERICAL ASSISTANTS: Temporary, part-time. Requires computer literacy and telephone/ customer service skills. Proficiency in WordPerfect and spreadsheet/ database programs desired. Hourly rate $5. Positions available immeditately. Send letter of application, resume and three references to: Area Agency on Aging, 437 Houston Street, Manhattan, KS 66502. Deadline is January 31, 1997. Note: These positions require Kansas Career Work Study eligibility. If you are unsure whether you are eligible, call Walt Cooper at 776-9294. EOE/AA

COLLEGE STUDENTS, part-time assistants needed for leasing. Must posses good attitude, team player, and work well with people. Apply in person at 2215 College Ave. Capstone trailer in afternoons after 2p.m.

CRUISE LINE positions! Up to $2,500 plus/ month. No experience necessary. Seasonal or full-time. current hiring details: (604) 878-9777 (24hrs.)

CRUISE SHIP EMPLOYMENT -Travel the world (Hawaii, Mexico, Caribbean) and earn an excellent income in the Cruise and Land- Tour industry. For details, call 1-206-971-3550 ext.C57689.

EARN $427 plus a week at home! Write for application: Generations, Dept. KSU, P.O. Box 13486, Atlanta, GA 300324, Genmarker@aol.com

EVENING AND WEEKEND CLASSES in hair design, ethnic hair design and nail technology. Start Feb. 4. Thousands in scholarships plus financial aid available. Free info. Call Crum's Beauty College @ 776-4794.

FISCAL ASSISTANT: Temporary, part-time. Requires computer literacy and general office/ filing skills. Proficiency in QuattroPro or other spreadsheet programs and basic math skills preferred. Hourly rate $5. Positions available immediately. Send letter of application and resume and three references to: Area Agency on Aging, 437 Houston Street, Manhattan, KS 66502. Deadline is January 31, 1997. Note: These positions require Kansas Career Work Study eligibility. If you are unsure whether you are eligible, call Walt Cooper at 776-9294. EOE/AA.

GRAPHIC ARTIST to work 10- 20 hours per week on campus. Interested in students majoring in this field of study. Please send resume to Box 2 c/oCollegian.

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assembling products at home. No experience. INFO (504)646-1700 DEPT. KS-6438

HIRING IMMEDIATELY! Student needed for part-time work demostrating Avery Dennison products on campus. Must be familiar with Miscrosoft Word, and willing to use own personal computer, with Windows software $10.00 per hour. Contact Lex Deines at 800-569-6461.

JOB COACH: Part-time position available immediately. Responsible for assisting, supervising and training individuals placed on a job site. Coordinates with client, Vocational Rehabilitation and employer. Must have high school education and varied competitive employment experiences or be certified as a job coach. Please make inquiry to Dennis Winter, Pawnee Mental Health Services, Phone: (913)587-4333. EOE.

JOBS IN THE GREAT OUTDOORS- Positions are now available at National Parks, Forests and Wildlife Preserves. For employment program, call (206)971-3620 ext. N57688.

MARKET INTERNSHIP available: Graphic Images Incorporated has several paid marketing internships, available to students who are currently involved with the fraternity and sorority system. Please contact our office between hours of 9a.m. to 5p.m. to schedule an interview (800)946-2434 ask for Steve Ray.

MEDICAL TRANSCRIPTIONIST for pathology laboratory. Ideal part-time position. Early evenings. Previous transcription experience preferred. Contact Pam as soon as possible at 539-5363 or bring resume or application to Petterson Clinical Laboratory at 1133 College Avenue, Building B, Manhattan, KS 66503. Equal Opportunity Employer.

NATIONAL PARK EMPLOYMENT -National Parks hire forestry workers, park rangers, firefighters, lifeguards, + volunteer and government positions. Excellent benefits + bonus potential. Call: 1-206-971-3620 ext.N57689.

PC/ NETWORK TECHNICIAN (20- 30 hours/ week, $6/ hour). Extensive knowledge of PC's required. Preference given to candidates with knowledge of Novell networks, TCP/IP configuration issues and PC diagnostic experience. Contact Glenn at Office of Information Systems, 2323 Anderson Ave., Suite 215, at 532-4781 or electronic mail to glenn@ksu.edu. Application deadline: January 24, 1997. Minorities, women and handicapped are encouraged to apply.

PHOTOGRAPHER NEEDED to photo shoot special events on campus. Work hours vary according to event to cover. Please send resume to Box 3, c/oCollegian.

SILVERADO SALOON is now hiring bartenders, waitstaff and DJ's. Apply at 531 N. Manhattan, Tuesday through Saturday 6p.m.-2a.m..

STUDENT INTERNS, part-time positions available immediately. Excellent English communication and interpersonal skills required. Must be friendly with customer-oriented attitude. Applicants should apply in person at the Veterinary Medical Library, Fourth Floor, Trotter Hall, KSU. EOE. Applications accepted through January 22, 1997.

SUPPORTED EMPLOYMENT Specialist: Full-time position to work with the severe and persistent mentally ill. Will work with employers to obtain placement and provide job coaching services. Bachelors Degree required (certification as an Employment Training Specialist perferred), along with the ability to communicate with a wide variety of community agencies/ businesses. Salary Commensurate with degree and experience. Fringe benefits are competitive. Send resume and transcript to Mr. Francis Begnoche, RMLP, Pawnee Mental Health Services, 1650 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. EOE.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT position available for K-State student with a variety of skills. Must have good interpersonal and problem solving skills. Experience with PC's and popular software packages such as WordPerfect, QuattroPro and Windows applications desired. Must have understanding of MS-DOS and Windows. Network experience preferred. Application available/ accepted through Friday, January 31, 1997, in 211 Umborger Hall. (Department of Communications, Information and Education Technology.)

WANTED FREELANCE Artist Sampler Stores is seeking talented artist to design both serious and hurmurous full chest and left pocket designs for t-shirts and sweat shirts. Using a KSU, Wildcats, "Kansas", Wizard of Oz, sunflower, wheat or similar theme. Embroidered and silk screen designs are wanted. Please call 432-3355 10a.m. to 5p.m. or leave a message on our voice mail, 381-0185.

ZAP YOUR ZITS. Have the complexion you've always wanted! New Bio-Tech program. No animal ingredients or testing. Guaranteed results. 539-7336.

330

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

WORK FROM home. Twenty second commute! Serious income potential working from home. We provide training and support via revolutionary system. Call (toll free) 1-888-444-6242 for overview. Then call us live at 913-776-5429.

400 OPEN MARKET

410

Items for Sale

BEER SIGNS, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, antiques, collectibles, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY Sale for Cash Pawn and Gun. Selling cd's $2 and $3 each. Movies for $4 each. Cassette tapes for $0.75 each. Sega and Super NES Systems for$49.00. 10% off all Spiderco knives. 20% off a large selection off items store wide. Lowest priced guns and jewelry. We buy sell and trade. Have money to loan. 1917 Fort Riley Blvd., 776-3332.

HOME STEREO System: receiver, cassette, CD player, equalizers, speakers, 10-inch. Table saw, heavy-duty weight-lifting bench, attachments, Logitech Mouse, 537-4512.

ZENITH 486DX, 4MB, 170HD, 14-inch monitor with Cannon BJ-200 printer. Windows 3.1 with AMI-Pro. $750 or best offer, 776-1164.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

FULL SIZE XL mattress and boxsprings with frame. Pre-owned $50. Quantities limited. Furniture Warehouse 2326 Sky-Vue Lane. 537-2288.

JERRY'S WHOLESALE carpet. Carpet remnants and vinyl remnants. 2501 Stagg Hill Road. Monday- Friday, 8:30a.m.- 5:30p.m. Sat. 8a.m.- 12p.m. Open to the public.

SOFA PULL out and two twin beds $75 each, 537-8654.

420

Garage/Yard Sales

INDOOR GARAGE sale. TV $50, dinning table $200, VCR $75, sofa $125, chairs $40, rockers $30, washer/ dryer. 784-5650

430

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Flea Market 7000 square feet, 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

435

Computers

486SX PACKARD Bell computer. $900, (913)363-7679.

I MUST sell my computers 486 $450, 486 $550, 386 $350, 286 laptop $250, printers $40 and $80. 784-5650

INTERKAN.NET: MANHATTAN'S newest Internet Service Provider. Free setup software. Monthly rates: 10 hours @ $5, 30 hours @ $7.50, 90 hours @ $10, 200 hours @ $17.50. http://www.interkan.net or 565-0991.

445

Music Instruments

WELCOME BACK to The Music Co.! Best prices on new and used instruments and accessories. No pressure sales, we try to get what you need. Straight down 17th st from K-state Union, in the Midtown Plaza, 539-1958.

465

Tickets to Buy/Sell

METALLICA TICKETS for sale. January 31 Kemper Arena -Kansas City. Make an offer 776-6708 -Matt.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1986 HONDA Civic, five-speed, lots of new parts, $1,900. 1983 Toyota Corolla automatic high miles runs great, $800. 532-7855 leave message.

1990 FORD F150 XLT Lariat PU, five-speed, low miles, like new, $7,700. 776-9597.

SEIZED CARS from $175. Porsches, Cadillacs, Chevy, BMW's, Corvettes. Also Jeeps, 4WD's. Your area. Toll free (800)218-9000 ext.A-1915 for current listings.

520

Bicycles

CANNONDALE TOURING bicycle. Excellent condition. Hardly used. $325. Call Rob: 532-6137 work; 776-6849 home.

530

Motorcycles

750 KAWAISKI Volcan. V-twin, four-stroke, shaft driven, liquid cooled, very fast, 11,000 miles, looks great, runs even better. $3500 or best offer. 776-1081.

600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

610

Tour Package

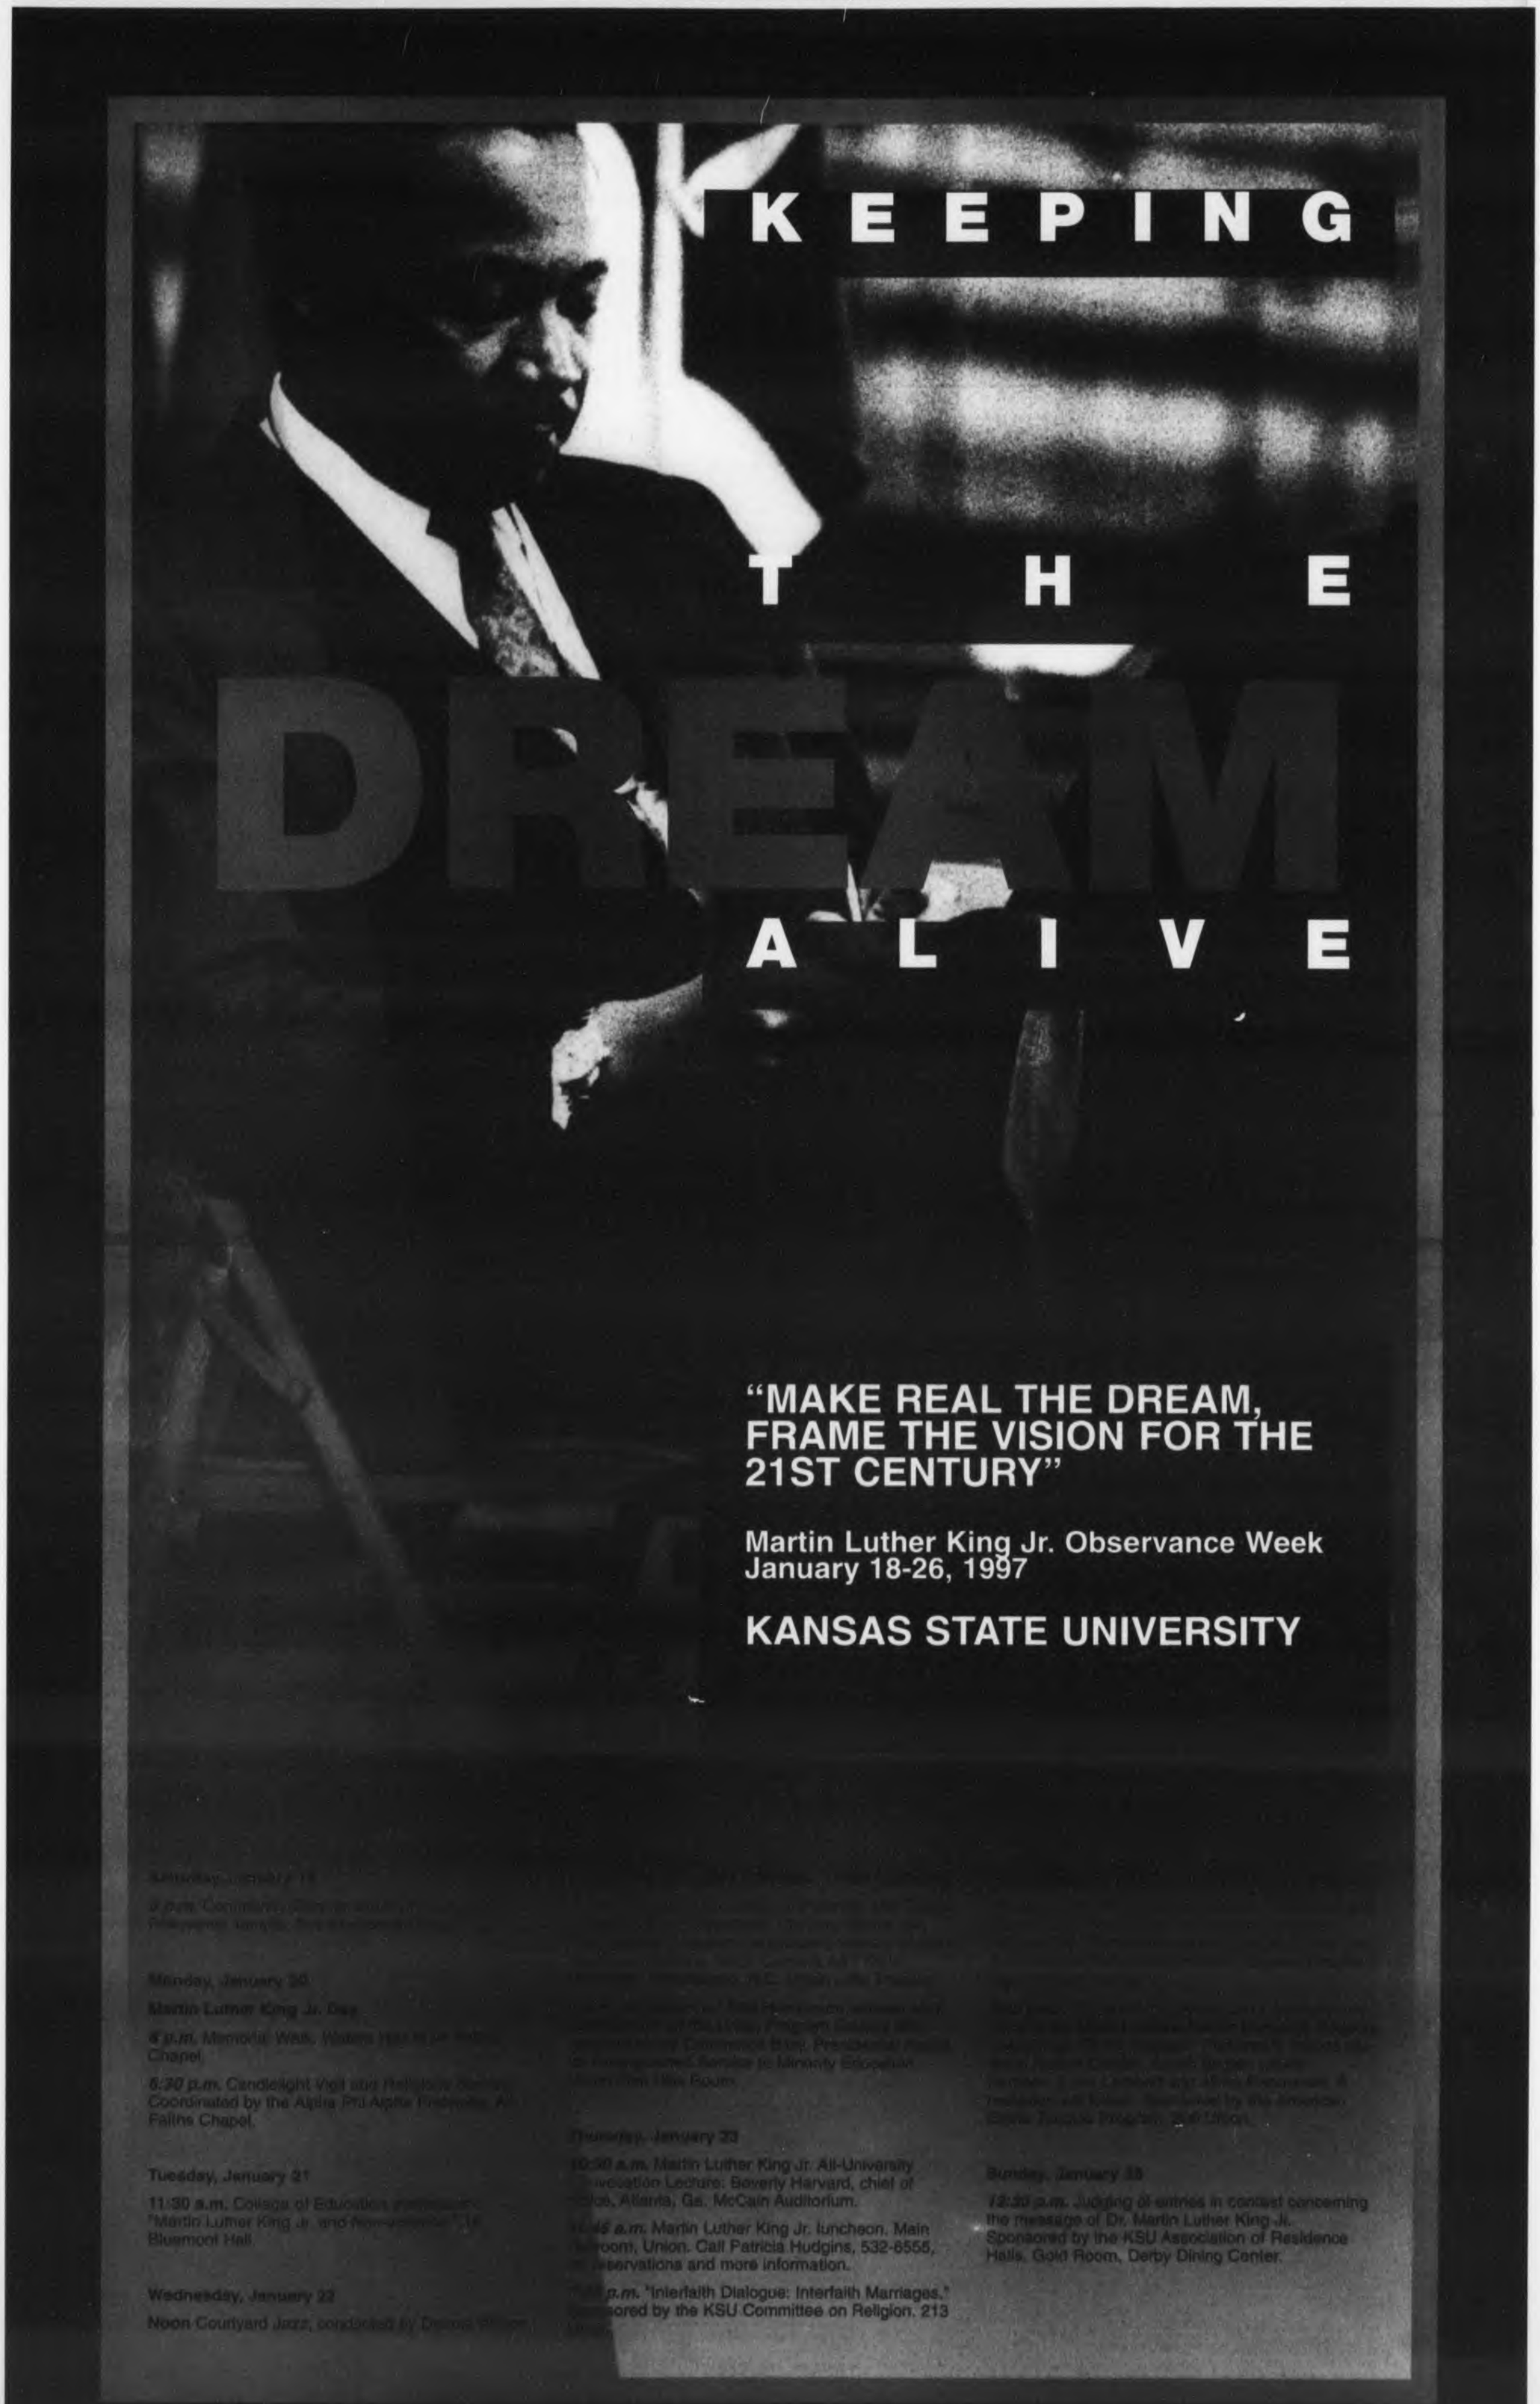
CANCUN- PADRE- MAZATLAN SPRING BREAK'S HOTTEST! 1-800-328-7513 Free food, drink and party special!?! Up To $200 discount Coupons on our Website www.studentadvtrav.com.

WE KICK ADS! WE KICK ADS! WE KICK ADS!

HOMESTEAD RENTAL
We Have What Students Need!
FURNITURE-TV-APPLIANCE RENTAL.

TV (19', remote) As low as $29 monthly
VCR As low as $27 monthly
Complete Living Room Set As low as $44 monthly
Wood Bunk Bed Set As low as $33 monthly
Washer/ Dryer
Twin Bed & Chest Set As low as $29 monthly
Complete Bedroom Set As low as $40 monthly

•Month to Month Lease
•No Deposits
•Immediate Delivery
•Home Owned/Home Operated
•Special Student Groups
•Wide Selection
•Friendly Service
•Authorized RYDER dealer



HAVE IT DELIVERED TODAY
HOMESTEAD RENTAL
CALL NOW! 537-8774
Visit our showroom at 2332 Sky-vue (1 block south of Holiday Inn/Holidome)

Furniture WAREHOUSE
Quality Home Furnishings at...
Low Warehouse Pricing!
WE DARE YOU TO COMPARE
Factory Direct Mattress

	Was	Now
Twin	$299	$147
Full	$349	$167
Queen	$399	$197

Sofa & Love Seat as Low as $497
Bookshelfs $29
4 Drawer Chests $59
Oak Finish 3 pc Coffee Table End Table Set $99

12 Month Interest
Free Financing (W.A.C)
Free Delivery
2326 Sky-Vue Lane
537-2288 • Manhattan

KEEPING
THE DREAM ALIVE
"MAKE REAL THE DREAM, FRAME THE VISION FOR THE 21ST CENTURY"
Martin Luther King Jr. Observance Week
January 18-26, 1997
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
Monday, January 20
Martin Luther King Jr. Day
4 p.m. Memorial Walk. Waters Hall to Chapel.
6:30 p.m. Candlelight Vigil and Religious Coordinated by the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity. A Faiths Chapel.
Tuesday, January 21
11:30 a.m. College of Education
"Martin Luther King Jr. and Bluemont Hall.
Wednesday, January 22
Noon Courtyard Jazz, conducted by
Thursday, January 23
10:30 a.m. Martin Luther King Jr. All-University Convocation Lecture: Beverly Harvard, chief of police, Atlanta, Ga. McCain Auditorium.
11:45 a.m. Martin Luther King Jr. luncheon. Main Ballroom, Union. Call Patricia Hudgins, 532-6555, for reservations and more information.
7:30 p.m. "Interfaith Dialogue: Interfaith Marriages."
Sponsored by the KSU Committee on Religion. 213
Union.
Sunday, January 26
12:30 p.m. Judging of entries in contest concerning the message of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.
Sponsored by the KSU Association of Residence Halls. Gold Room, Derby Dining Center.

1/21
Exp. Date 06/98
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

JANUARY 21, 1997
TUESDAY

HIGH 55
LOW 38
Cooler and cloudy with a 20 percent chance of showers. Cloudy tomorrow.

FORECAST PAGE 2

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN
MANHATTAN, KS 66506
VOL. 101 NO. 78

DIRECTORY
NEWSROOM 532-6556
DISPLAY ADVERTISING 532-6560
CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555
e-mail: [collegn@ksu.edu]
http://collegian.ksu.edu

LOOKING FOR A RESTAURANT FOR THAT IMPORTANT DATE?

▶ Portia Sisco reviews Harry's Uptown Supper Club, a restaurant that offers a private dining experience in a historical downtown site.

See HOME EC. page 11

ETC.

In today's paper
Opinion 4
Sports 6
In tomorrow's paper
Online romance strikes a student. The details are in Health&Sex.

HAVE YOU FORGOTTEN THE BIG NEWS OF LAST YEAR?

▶ From national headlines to local happenings, 1996 was an important year for news in Manhattan. Take a look at the news you need to catch up with.

See REVIEW page 9

Conceptual K-State Student Union design nearly finished

▶ FRIDAY'S MEETING showed conceptual design of $10.5-million Union redesign.

RUSSELL FORTMEYER
senior staff writer

Take one last look at the K-State Student Union.

Ken Ebert, of the Ken Ebert Design Group of Manhattan, has nearly finished the conceptual design of the new $10.5-million Union. The design is one step in the student-financed expansion process occurring during the next few years.

A semi-final design public meeting on Friday in the Union made the plans public and allowed K-State community members to voice concerns or compliments to the architects.

As with earlier public meetings, several people were present to voice concerns about plans to do away with the Union Art Gallery.

Before the meeting, some Union Governing Board members in the crowd hinted the art gallery may not be a permanent fixture of the new Union design.

Nickie Mitchell, graduate student in ceramics, said the graduate art students are concerned because of earlier design plans to turn the gallery into a bank.

"As MFA candidates, we are required to have a thesis show on campus, and it's the only venue for us," Mitchell said. "We feel it's a very important part of the Union. Lots of students who will never go to the art museum will go there.

"It's a vital part of the University," she said. "You need to balance the commercial with the positive aesthetic."

Mitchell said she and the other students were a little confused about how the design process worked, because her earlier questions were not answered because Pat Bosco, dean of student life, had said UGB, and not the architects, would make the final decision concerning the art gallery.

During the meeting, Bosco addressed Mitchell's comments by telling her all final decisions are made by UGB.

"The planning groups and committees have proposed the changes and the UGB makes the final decision," Bosco said. "If you want to hear about the overall plan, you are welcome to stay.

"Ultimately, the UGB will decide on the total plan and the future of the art gallery," he said.

The other main topic of conversation at the meeting was the design for the Union Plaza, an open public area that would replace the existing street and landscape north of the Union and south of Seaton Hall.

The plaza design calls for a fountain, outdoor seating and dining, a possible sculpture addition, an informal amphitheater and flagpoles.

Bart Chambers, vice president of RTKL Architects of Los Angeles, who is assisting Ebert on the design, said the plaza will be an outdoor extension of the Union.

"As people walk toward the building, they will really get a sense that something is going on there," he said.

See UNION, Page 12

Clinton sets goals during inauguration

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C.— Setting a new course for a new century, President Clinton claimed his second term today, issuing a passionate call for racial and political unity.

"We must succeed as one America," the president told an inaugural crowd packing the flag-decked Capitol grounds.

Moments earlier, Al Gore took the vice presidential oath. He hopes to succeed Clinton, who became the first Democrat in 60 years to celebrate two inaugurals. Clinton, 50, cannot serve another term.

Washington's hierarchy — from Clinton's Cabinet to members of Congress, Supreme Court justices, military leaders, foreign ambassadors and political VIPS — gathered to witness the start of Clinton's second term.

"Our greatest responsibility is to embrace a new spirit of community for a new century," Clinton said. "For any of us to succeed, we must succeed as one America."

In his 22-minute address, Clinton promised a government humble enough not to try to solve all the nation's ills yet strong enough to help Americans improve their own lots.

As the first act of his second term, Clinton signed a proclamation that declared today a national day of hope and renewal. Hitting the ground running, Clinton plans to address two sticky issues Tuesday: the budget deficit and campaign finance reform.

For Clinton, the ceremony was a poignant reminder of his beloved mother, Virginia Kelley, who had stood nearby as he was sworn in as president four years ago. She died a year later.

Keeping with Clinton's plea for reconciliation along racial and ethnic lines, Arkansas poet Miller Williams wrote a verse for the swearing in:

"Who were many people coming together/cannot become one people falling apart."

Throughout the day, Clinton paid tribute to Martin Luther King Jr.,

See CLINTON, Page 12

ANTOINETTE WELLS, freshman in psychology, sings the black national anthem Monday night in All Faiths Chapel for part of the Memorial Service and Candlelight Vigil to celebrate Martin Luther King Jr. Day. Wells is part of United Black Voices, a choir group that participated in the ceremonies.

CLIF PALMBERG
Collegian

people of many races gather to celebrate and remember

THE DREAM

Jan. 18 – Jan. 26
an observance

STORY BY
NICOLE KIRBY
PHOTOS BY
CLIF PALMBERG

Their faces lit by candlelight, people of every color joined hands Monday night in celebration of Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday.

The candle-lighting ceremony was the culmination of a memorial walk and religious service honoring the memory of King's life and work, and was the result of the efforts of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity members.

"I think it's important because it lets people know what Martin Luther King did, how he brought people together and lets people know that we can work together as one to end inequality and racism," said Jason Buckner, Alpha Phi Alpha's coordinator of the night's activities.

K-Staters and Manhattan residents have celebrated King's birthday since 1986, said Veryl Switzer, associate director of athletics and co-chair of the Martin Luther King Observance Week program.

"It's up to us to make the dream a reality. The ball is in our court. We have a long legacy of heroes and sheros that we can't let down."
JAWWAD ABDULHAQQ
junior in political science

This year's participants met at Waters Hall and proceeded across campus to All Faith's Chapel, singing "We Shall Overcome."

They filed into the chapel for the service, which began with the introduction of the fraternity members and the other organizers of the event.

United Black Voices sang three songs, including the black national anthem, and then Alpha Phi Alpha member Nate Scott introduced the speaker. Jawwad Abdulhaqq, junior in political science, spoke about King's service and urged his listeners to serve also.

"It's up to us to make the dream a reality. The ball is in our court," Abdulhaqq said. "We have a long legacy of heroes and sheros that we can't let down."

After more gospel songs from United Black Voices soloists, the Alpha Phi Alpha members led the candle-lighting ceremony. Don Fallon, coordinator of religious activities, asked the candle-lit congregation to join hands and reflect on their differences and especially their similarities.

The service ended with another rendition of "We Shall Overcome" and a few brief responses from audience members, including President Jon Wefald.

Members of both the K-State and Manhattan communities turned out for the event, including Wefald, Student Body President Chris Hansen and Mayor Sydney Carlin.

Manhattan resident Janet Castillo came to the walk and service for the first time this year, although she said she has wanted to come for a long time to remember King.

"I think that the fact that racism is still alive today is a reason we need to participate and keep his memory alive," Castillo said.

Martin Luther King Jr. Observance Week Jan 18-26

Today
11:30 a.m.
College of Education symposium: "Martin Luther King Jr. and Nonviolence." Bluemont 016.

Wednesday
12 p.m.
Courtyard Jazz conducted by Dennis Wilson, director of jazz studies at K-State. Union Courtyard.
3 p.m.
College of Architecture, Planning and Design lecture: "Mental Musement: Rhythm, Rituals and Play." Union Little Theatre.
4 p.m.
Reception for Teto Henderson, adviser and administrator of the Union Program Council. Union Flint Hills Room.

Thursday
10:30 a.m.
Martin Luther King Jr. All-University Convocation Lecture: Beverly Harvard, Atlanta, Ga. chief of police. McCain Auditorium.
11:45 a.m.
Martin Luther King Jr. luncheon. Union Main Ballroom. Call Patricia Hudgins, 532-6555, for reservations and more information.
7:30 p.m.
"Interfaith Dialogue: Interfaith Marriages." Sponsored by the K-State Committee on Religion. Union 213.

MEGAN LaRUE/Collegian

Birth control pills recalled; Lafene exempt from scare

ANDREW FRANCIS
staff writer

Students who buy birth control pills from Lafene Health Center will not be affected by a recent birth control pill recall, but students who get their pills from other pharmacies may be affected.

Bristol-Myers Squibb recalled 150,000 packages of the birth control pill Ovcon 35 on Friday because of a packaging mix-up that the government said could put certain women at significant risk of pregnancy.

▶ Are you concerned? Bristol-Myers has established a toll-free number for information. It is 1-800-332-2056.

Bristol-Myers tried to downplay the recall, calling it unlikely a woman would get pregnant as a result of the mix-up.

"It is highly unlikely that pregnancy would occur as a result of taking the mispackaged placebo tablets instead of the tablets with active ingredient," according to a press release distributed by the company on Friday.

But after the Food and Drug Administration analyzed the recall Friday afternoon, it concluded women who do not notice the mix-up would be left without adequate protection. The pills' own labeling

See RECALL, Page 12

▶ Not everyone was excused from class. Some suburban Wichita schools did not close to observe the holiday. Officials said the decision did not signal disrespect. See the full story on Page 5.

WHY IS BORIS YELTSIN WEARING THIS SWEATSHIRT?
For complete details on what this sweatshirt means and how a Russian leader acquired it, see the story on Page 10.

DEADLINES
TO PLACE AN ITEM in the Daily Planner, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to (collegn@ksu.edu) by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

MANAGING EDITOR
MIRANDA KENNEDY
e-mail: (seahors@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
DIGEST
TUESDAY, JANUARY 21, 1997

ENROLLMENT SERVICES SPLIT THROUGHOUT CAMPUS

▶ Friday was the last day students could take advantage of all enrollment services in one place. They will no longer be concentrated in the K-State Student Union. From now on, the services will return to their respective offices across campus.

▶ 24 HOURS IN REVIEW

These briefs encapsulate the news of the past 24 hours and are from staff reports, wire reports and other news services.

▶ NATION AND WORLD

• FBI TAKES OVER ABORTION CLINIC BOMBING INVESTIGATIONS.

TULSA, Okla. — FBI agents released a tape today of a caller claiming responsibility for two abortion clinic bombings last year, hoping it would lead to clues in similar bombings this month in Tulsa.

The Reproductive Services clinic, which closed down after two Molotov cocktails exploded there New Year's Day, was bombed again Sunday afternoon. Both attacks caused minor damage but no injuries.

The tape recording released today was of a caller referring to two firebombings last September at a Planned Parenthood clinic in nearby Broken Arrow.

• COLLEAGUES RECALL TSONGAS AS TIRELESS PUBLIC SERVANT, REALIST.

LOWELL, Mass. — Paul Tsongas never lost the common touch as U.S. senator or presidential front-runner, colleagues said Sunday of the man who blended old-fashioned liberalism with economic pragmatism.

Tsongas, who beat cancer and went on to become the Democratic presidential front-runner briefly in 1992, died Saturday of pneumonia. He was 55.

Tsongas had been hospitalized since Jan. 3 at Boston's Brigham and Women's hospital with a liver problem related to his cancer treatments, and he later developed pneumonia. He died free of cancer, the hospital said.

• MUDSLIDE PUSHES HOUSE INTO PUGET SOUND, KILLS FAMILY OF 4.

BAINBRIDGE ISLAND, Wash. — A waterfront house with a view of Seattle's skyline was pushed into Puget Sound by a mudslide, killing a family of four.

The mudslide, estimated at 2,000 cubic yards — or about 150 dump-truck loads — slammed into the back of the three-story house around 7:30 a.m. Sunday.

Searchers — aided by dogs, cameras and sonar — found the family in the basement, which was buried under at least eight feet of mud and debris.

• THIRD RECRUIT CHARGED IN RAPE OF RECRUIT AT NAVY BASE.

PENSACOLA, Fla. — A third Navy recruit from the Pensacola Naval Air Station has been charged with raping a female trainee during a party at an off-base apartment, police said.

Adam Curtis Knopp, 19, was arrested by city police Friday on a sexual battery charge. Two other sailors, both 18, were arrested Monday.

A 19-year-old Navy woman told police she voluntarily had sex with a fourth man before the other three raped her Jan. 11.

Golden Globes Awarded

The Hollywood Foreign Press Association's 54th annual Golden Globe Awards were presented Sunday night.

Motion Pictures

Drama
"The English Patient"

Musical or Comedy
"Evita"

Actress, Drama
Brenda Blethyn- "Secrets & Lies"

Actor, Drama
Geoffrey Rush- "Shine"

Actress, Musical or Comedy
Madonna- "Evita"

Director
Milos Forman- "The People vs. Larry Flynt"

Original song
"You Must Love Me" from "Evita"

Television

Drama series
"The X-Files"

Musical or Comedy series
"3rd Rock from the Sun"

Source: The Associated Press
MEGAN LaRUE/Collegian

GET INVOLVED WITH THE COLLEGIAN.
Become an editorial board member by calling 532-6556.

▶ DAILY PLANNER

The Daily Planner is a campus bulletin board service offered by the K-State Collegian. Items in the planner can be published up to three times. Items may not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity.

▶ CHECK THESE EVENTS OUT

- Lutheran Campus Ministry supper is at 6 p.m. every Tuesday at the Baptist Campus Center.
- Career and Employment Services will conduct a résumé-critique session from 3:30 to 5 p.m. today in Holtz Hall.
- Career and Employment Services will conduct an orientation to services and on-campus interviews. The Path to Employment Opportunities for business majors will be at 7 tonight in Calvin 208.
- Blue Key Senior Honorary will have an informational meeting at 7 tonight in the Union Big 12 Room.
- Silver Key Senior Honorary will meet at 8:30 tonight in Union 213.
- Mortar Board Senior Honorary will have an informational meeting at 8:30 tonight in the Union Big 12 Room.
- Philip Reeder, University of Nebraska at Omaha, will present Speleologic and Geoarchaeologic Investigations on the Northern Vaca Plateau, Belize, Central America, at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Union Big 12 Room of the Union. The event is sponsored by the departments of geography and geology and Gamma Theta Upsilon.
- The Society of Automotive Engineers will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Durland 168.
- Students who took Orientation to Health Careers in fall 1996, come to Eisenhower 113 to pick up your assignments from class.

K-STATE WEATHER

Wednesday	46 / 35
Thursday	36 / 25
Friday	44 / 17
Saturday	38 / 19

Today

Cooler and cloudy today with a 20 percent chance of showers. Highs around 55 and lows in the upper 30s.

Around the State

	High	Low
Chanute	56	44
Garden City	61	34
Goodland	55	29
Kansas City	54	43
Russell	56	35
Salina	55	36
Topeka	57	43
Wichita	60	41

▶ POLICE BLOTTER

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

▶ K-STATE POLICE

• FRIDAY, JAN. 17

- At 8:28 a.m., the Department of Speech reported a computer, monitor and printer stolen. Loss was $2,000. Items were later recovered in a trash can outside Nichols Hall.
- At 3:38 p.m., Julie Brittian, 2615 Anderson Ave., reported a parking permit stolen from her vehicle in Lot A-13.

• SATURDAY, JAN. 18

- At 12:06 a.m., staff reported an unknown subject had kicked in a window on the west end hall of Haymaker Hall, near the Derby Food Center entrance. Due to security glass, there was no debris and the window was not broken, just damaged. Damage was estimated at $80.
- At 2:44 a.m., Stuart Manley was arrested for DUI and transported to Riley County Jail for final processing.
- At 12:28 p.m., a two-vehicle accident with injuries occurred. One of the drivers, Duane Davis, was arrested for DUI.

• SUNDAY, JAN. 19

- At 3:50 a.m., a vehicle was stopped for driving with a flat tire. The driver, Ethan Shamet, was arrested for DUI and transported to Riley County Jail for final booking.

• MONDAY, JAN. 20

- At 12:13 p.m., Deborah James reported the theft of a chair. Cost was $229.

▶ RILEY COUNTY POLICE DEPARTMENT

• SUNDAY, JAN. 19

- At 12:27 a.m., Paul S. Fewell Jr., 830 Yuma St., was arrested for a probation violation. Bond was set at $100.
- At 1:09 a.m., James D. Schurle, 511 N. Juliette Ave., Apt. 4, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $1,000.
- At 1:33 a.m., Nathaniel R. Walker, 521 Vattier St., was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.
- At 2 a.m., a car hit a pole at Rosencutter and Fort Riley Boulevard. The driver fled on foot westbound on railroad tracks. The passenger needed EMS for a facial laceration, and was transported to Mercy Health Center at College Avenue.
- At 1 p.m., $1,000 worth of merchandise was taken from Dillard's men's clothing. Julius Miller, 7706 Cleveland, Kansas City, Kan., was arrested for felony theft. Bond was set at $1,000. Troy M. Jackson, 4620 Eureka Drive, was arrested for felony theft. Bond was set at $1,000. Two juveniles were also arrested.
- At 10:21 p.m., Mark M. Wulf, 4300 N. Seventh, Lincoln, Neb., was arrested for possession of drug paraphernalia and marijuana. Bond was set at $300. At 12:49 p.m., David W. Beemer, 716 Humboldt St., Apt. 12, was arrested for DUI and driving with a suspended driver's license. Bond was set at $1,000.

▶ CORRECTIONS AND CLARIFICATIONS

Due to an error, a graphic regarding the campus shuttle routes was incorrect. The only stops along the route are the KSU Foundation Center, Edwards Hall and the K-State Student Union. The Collegian regrets these errors.

▶ STATEMENT OF PUBLICATION

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER. Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1997

TUESDAY
NIGHT LIVE
Live Music at Last Chance local rockers
Jan 21 - Seraphine 7
with special guest octavia
from lawrence
ENJOY
Rustys
LAST CHANCE SALOON
• All U can eat tacos only $1 from 5-7!
• $1.50 Margaritas
• $1.50 Coronas
1209 Moro · Aggieville

Have Your Bottom Lines

Gotten Out of Hand?
Replace those Bottom Lines with Tan Lines
20 FREE TANS
with purchase of spring semester membership
DP PRO Fitness
IN AGGIEVILLE
 Manhattan's Premier Fitness Center
 Lowest Prices on Supplements and Workout Apparel
Your Pre Spring Break Headquarters
539-7095 12th & Laramie

Engaged? Married?

The first Friday of every month the Collegian presents
"Once in a Lifetime."
This is your chance to let 30,000 of your closest friends in on your happy news.
Engagement Announcement $12
Include Photo $10
Wedding Announcement $15
For a limited time only, we will place your announcement for FREE!
Come to Kedzie 103 to place your announcement
the Friday preceding the publication date.
First deadline is Friday, January 31 for February 7 publication.

Online classes offer out-of-state students new educational options

TANYA NISLY
staff reporter

A little-known fact is that there are students enrolled at K-State who are not living in the state of Kansas.

This is possible through technology and classes offered on the World Wide Web. It is a new opportunity for students that was started in fall 1996.

Currently there are two classes offered entirely on the Web: Parent-Child Relationships and Community Based Health Promotion Programs for Older Adults.

▶ Registering for K-State classes on the World Wide Web. To register for Community Based Health Promotion Programs for Older Adults go to (http://www.dce.ksu.edu/dce/as/comhealth.html.) To register for Parent-child Relationships go to (http://www.dce.ksu.edu/dce/as/parent.html)

Carolyn Wilken, associate professor of family studies and human services is the instructor for Community Based Health Promotion Programs for Older Adults. She said there are currently four students enrolled in her class from Florida, North Carolina, Wichita and Salina.

For Wilken's class, assignments include an Internet lecture, which are five to 20 pages long on the topic of the assignment, and the students are required to fax their assignments to her every week.

"Embedded in the lecture, I have links to other resources, such as charts or maps," Wilken said.

Students are required to purchase three texts for the course plus printed assignments.

Instead of meeting in a classroom to discuss different subjects face-to face, the class meets in a chat room.

"Every Wednesday evening, we have a three-hour chat session," Wilken said.

Even though Wilken has not met all of her students, she said she has enjoyed watching the group change through the course.

"It has been interesting to watch the group develop and interact and to watch them share resources," Wilken said.

The other class offered is taught in a different format.

"To make it interesting, I set up a fictional-rural community. Students can visit the community called Butterberry Hill," said Charles Smith, professor of family studies and human services, and instructor of the Parent-Child Relationship course.

This setting is designed in a storybook format. Students choose their own fate and learn through this procedure.

Students don't generally think of the World Wide Web as a source for credit classes.

"There are going to be more and more students getting involved in courses over the Web," Smith said.

For students to take these courses, they must have access to the Internet and an e-mail address.

"People can enroll at any time," Melinda Sinn, public information coordinator for continuing education, said.

Once students are enrolled, they will receive the course address and a password to access the course, Wilken said.

Students can enroll online or by contacting the office of Continuing Education, according to a pamphlet provided by the Division of Continuing Education.

The cost for these classes for three undergraduate credits is $261. For three graduate credits, the cost is $381. Fees are due at the time of enrollment.

There are also three other dietetic classes which are offered partially online.

STEVE HEBERT/Collegian

MARK HOFF, junior in mechanical engineering, soars to catch a flying disc during some warm weather activities in the grassy area in front of Anderson Hall Monday.

University psychologist offers advice to help combat post-break depression

▶ Tips to help eliminate depression.
1. Get out of bed the same time every day.
2. Lights help your body function better.
3. Eat breakfast — begin with protein.
4. Move around the house for five to10 minutes.
5. Change your routine.

ERICA DUNCAN
staff writer

The long, lonely days of winter are made worse for some by the return to school.

For most students the vacation is spent relaxing, spending time with family and exchanging gifts.

So when they return with only studying to look forward to, depression may set in, Dan Berkow, psychologist for University Counseling Services, said.

The mild depression experienced after returning to school can be easily alleviated.

With proper sleep and nutrition, exercise and friends, one's life can do an about-face, Berkow said.

Establishing a new focus and goals allows people to feel better.

Setting short-term, day-to-day goals also helps people get back on track, Berkow said.

During the break, students often re-experience the comforts of home, and returning to school life can be a let down, he said.

"You need to re-establish connection with people here," Berkow said.

Balancing school, relationships and work is an important part of manag one's life at school.

"School work might continue the fe ing of depression and you should try have balance in your life. Connecting w people is very important," he said.

With depression, there is usually a l and a let down of anticipation.

Putting thoughts and efforts i something new also helps with depr sion.

Berkow said he recommends volunt work, exercise, projects with a goal ; not overindulging in alcohol to elimir depression.

AMERICAN FAMILY INSURANCE
AUTO HOME BUSINESS HEALTH LIFE
KSU Grad '88
TIM ENGLE
"Call Us For A Quote"
3258 Kimball Ave.
Manhattan, Ks.
537-4661

WINTER CLEARANCE SALE
Cannondale Super V 900 $400 off
Great deals on many bikes
the PATHFINDER
539-5639
304 Poyntz

I Can't Believe It's Yogurt!
11th & Moro - Aggieville
537-1616
Buy One, Get One Free!
Buy one cup, cone, or cappuccino and receive one of equal value FREE with this coupon.
HOURS: 10 A.M. - 8 P.M. DAILY
Noon - 8 P.M. SUNDAYS
(Expires 2-28-97)

HANSEN NUTRITION CENTER
Diet Cures What Diet Causes
ATTENTION STUDENTS!
Improve Concentration AND Mental Performance
• THINK BARS
• BRAIN PEP
• SMART PILLS
3112 Anderson Ave ~ 9:30 -6p.m. Mon. - Sat. ~ 537-4571

UNIVERSITY COMMONS
APARTMENTS
2215 COLLEGE AVE
Brand New!
CALL NOW! (539-0500) FOR MORE INFORMATION
http://www.capstone-dev.com
FEATURING:
Private bedrooms
Individual leases
Computer lab
Alarm systems
Reserved parking
Fully equipped kitchen
Washer & dryer
Fitness center/Rec room
Swimming pool
WITH LOCATIONS AT: UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA, LSU, TEXAS A&M, UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH CAROLINA, UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA, UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA, OLE MISS, MIAMI OF OHIO, MISSISSIPPI STATE, PENN. STATE, FLORIDA STATE, UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY & INDIANA UNIVERSITY

Varney's BOOK STORE IN AGGIEVILLE
"We Give You Our Best"
LET VARNEY'S BOOK STORE HELP YOU WITH ALL YOUR TEXTBOOK AND SUPPLY NEEDS AT KANSAS STATE. WE CARRY A LARGE SELECTION OF USED TEXTBOOKS WHICH SAVE YOU 25% OFF THE COST OF NEW TEXTBOOKS. VARNEY'S BOOK STORE ALSO HAS ALL YOUR SCHOOL SUPPLIES, K-STATE CLOTHING ,AND MUCH MORE.
623 N. Manhattan Ave.
OPEN: 9:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. Monday through Saturday
12:00 noon to 5:00 p.m. Sunday
Phone: 539-0511 1-800-362-1574
FAX: 537-2351
Homepage: www.varneysbookstore.com
E-Mail: varneys@varneysbookstore.com
SERVING K-STATE SINCE 1908.

OPINION EDITOR
KEVIN KLASSEN
e-mail: (kevkk@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

OPINION

TUESDAY, JANUARY 21, 1997

A GUIDE TO SECTIONS OF THE COLLEGIAN OPINION PAGE

▶ Columns are opinions expressed by the columnists. The opinions are not necessarily the opinions of the Collegian.

Our View is an editorial written by the Collegian Editorial Board. The board meets every day and discusses editorial topics. The editorial is a compilation of those opinions and represents the opinion of the Collegian.

▶ OUR VIEW

If you let it, King's message can strike close to home, life

Martin Luther King Jr. made important civil rights progress in his lifetime. But almost 30 years after his death our campus and our nation have not completely achieved his dream.

This week K-State can begin to move closer to King's vision. In celebrating Martin Luther King Jr. Observance Week, we can start to integrate nonviolence, equality, acceptance and tolerance into our everyday lives.

These concepts can be taken into any organization or activity. At your next club meeting, make sure all the people who have something to say get their voices heard. Make sure more than a few people run the show. This can be your organization's small contribution toward equality.

The next time personalities clash at a board meeting, mediate the dispute without violence. That includes violence with words. This can be your small contribution toward nonviolence.

K-State students and faculty can also educate themselves about King's dream by attending one of the campus events planned for the week. Event organizers have made an open invitation to everyone on campus by running a full-page advertisement. Take advantage of one of the events listed in the ad.

If you want to learn more about nonviolence, the College of Education is sponsoring a symposium at 11:30 a.m. today in Bluemont 016.

If you would rather do your learning with music, Dennis Wilson, director of jazz studies, will conduct courtyard jazz at noon Wednesday in the Union Courtyard.

If you want to learn from someone who benefited from civil-rights progress, Beverly Harvard, the first black woman to run a large police department, will deliver the All-University Convocation Lecture at 10:30 a.m. Thursday in McCain Auditorium.

Do your part this week. Go to one of the events to celebrate King's dream. Learn about him and his ideas, and integrate his ideas into your life.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR IN CHIEF
Kimberly Helling
MANAGING EDITOR
Miranda Kennedy
NEWS EDITOR
Claudette Riley
PHOTO EDITOR
Steve Hebert
PRESENTATION EDITOR
Scott M. Ladd
COPY CHIEF
Tanya Nisly
OPINION EDITOR
Kevin Klassen
CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
Charle Sioux Charleton
CAMPUS EDITOR
Jill Story
SPORTS EDITOR
Jeremy Kelley
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR
Tara Wray
ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
Portia Sisco
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
Jill Jarsulic
INVESTIGATIONS EDITOR
Nicole Kirby
E-COLLEGIAN EDITOR
Kady Guyton
ASSISTANT E-COLLEGIAN EDITOR
Kelly Furnas
OTHER EDITORIAL BOARD MEMBERS
Russell Fortmeyer, senior in architectural engineering

Our View, an editorial selected and debated by a majority of the editorial board, is written by the editorial board after a concensus opinion is reached. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other students. For details on how you can become involved with the editorial board, contact Kevin Klassen, opinion editor.

▶ TOLES

▶ TOLES

H U N T I N G . S E A S O N

tradition or CRUELTY

MIKE WEATHERFORD/Collegian

JESS LOUK

JESS LOUK is a junior in print journalism. You can e-mail comments to Jess at (Jess31@ksu.edu).

These freezing north winds that have reddened my cheeks and frozen my skin the last few weeks can only mean two things: President Jon Wefald is not canceling school, regardless of how far below zero the temperature falls; and pheasant and quail season is upon us once again.

Normally that means I'm holding a warm shotgun somewhere in western Kansas. Every weekend between the second week of November and Jan. 31, I'm stalking some defenseless bird. This season I'm sitting here writing this column instead.

That has made this year different for me. Although we are in the latter stages of Kansas' hunting season, I still haven't been out to kill any birds. That is a peculiar phenomenon for this Kansas boy.

You see, hunting is to my family what church is to other families. It is a religious experience. Even Ghandi would hunt if he were a Louk family member. Those of us who are unable to use guns still find a way to hunt.

Before I was old enough to be trusted with a shotgun, I was scouring the brush with the German Shorthairs in hopes of flushing up quail or pheasants. Luckily, I was never shot in the rump.

At Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners the conversation among the men is always centered around two things — hunting and football. My dad hunts, his brothers hunt, their father and my grandfather hunts and on and on. I suspect it has always been this way.

Hunting is such an integral part of my family, I know that when my grandfather grows too old to trek the fields with his 12-gauge in hand, my father and his brothers will just push him out there in his wheelchair. I can see it now: the first off-road wheelchair.

Hopefully his vision will extend beyond his nose. Otherwise there could be hell to pay for the bird dog working the draw in front of him.

Lately I have had some personal qualms about trudging through Kansas farm fields just for the delight of ending another animal's life.

Many of these reservations derive from the fact that guns are used to kill. You never hear about people protesting fishing even though fish lose their lives to hooks all the time.

It would seem the use of a firearm carries a certain negative stigma, which scares many people away.

It's not that I think killing or eating animals is wrong. It just gets a little difficult to rationalize filling a bird full of pellets when the freezer is so full of meat a famished pride of lions would have trouble consuming it all.

Is killing for sport justifiable? That question has plagued my conscience for some time now. I don't just take it for granted that I'm on top of the food chain. Other animals kill one another all the time, but never for pleasure.

While I've contemplated this my friends have asked me to go out and hunt. My father has also asked me more than a few times.

The longer I stay away from the fields the more I hear them calling me like a bad Kevin Costner movie: "Shoot them, and they will fall."

That hushed voice keeps calling my name. Last night I even thought I heard my shotgun beckoning me to its waiting trigger.

Maybe it's not about killing, moral issues or even the utter lunacy I just spouted off in the last paragraph.

To me it consists of spending time with family and friends in a timeless ritual of bloodshed and bonding. Hey, it beats killing humans.

You may think me a barbarian, but I would argue I'm just a modern-day human being. I know killing is wrong, but when it comes down to it, they're just mindless birds.

What is the difference between a farmer decapitating a chicken with his ax and a hunter blasting a fast-flying quail from the early-morning sky?

I believe we call the former poultry and the latter hunting.

This weekend I imagine you will be able to find me holding my shotgun, freezing my tush off. I guess the Beatles were right. Happiness is a warm gun.

> "You see, hunting is to my family what church is to other families. It is a religious experience. Even Ghandi would hunt if he were a Louk family."

Pay-per-view system necessary for user-friendly television

JONATHAN WINKLER

JONATHAN WINKLER is a senior in mathematics, physics and English. You can e-mail your comments to Jonathan at (winkler@phys.ksu.edu).

May I pry you away from your TV set for a few general reflections upon that medium?

The next 20 years will see a number of technological and structural changes in the way TV programming is delivered to your living room, and they won't come a moment too soon.

The growing fiber optic network will allow consumers to respond directly to their TV providers rather than passively accepting and paying for intolerably bad programming and inconvenient broadcasting schedules designed to maximize network profit rather than consumer convenience.

I envision a new system where all TV programming is made available on demand to the viewer. It would operate in a fashion similar to pay-per-view, but a device attached to the television would enable the viewer to order any program at any time — even as soon as it finishes post-production.

Viewers would be expected to pay a subscription fee per program for this privilege. Typically this would be just large enough to cover the costs required to produce the show, with a little profit left over for the production company. It might work out to as little as a dollar annually for popular shows like "The X-Files" or "Friends."

By forcing viewers to actually pay for what they watch, this system would enable parents to shield their children from violent programming. Purse strings more effectually control children's behavior than the costly and complex blocking devices that have already added $50 to the cost of 13-inch TV receivers before the much-hyped V-chip is even available.

This plan also would give production companies the flexibility (with regard to time and format) to shoot well-scripted serials. The one-hour drama serial offers interesting artistic possibilities that have remained unexplored while network executives mangle scripts in an effort to force their shows to appeal to as many distinct segments of the viewer market as possible.

Large advertisers could devote most of their TV advertising budgets to product development while advertising agencies would be forced to create ads that depend upon features rather than hype to sell the product.

Misleading 30-second commercials, which the viewer must see or fast-forward through whether he wants to or not, would vanish in favor of optional infomercials that show how the merchandise works.

This is the rosy vision. Now, the apocalypse ...

Having forced us 50 years ago to accept the present rotten system by virtue of being the only people with enough money to add video to the audio already broadcast on radio networks, TV broadcasting magnates now paint a rosy (to them) vision of essentially the same setup five years down the road, only with 500 channels instead of 40.

This raises an obvious question: Where will all the new programming come from?

In 1947 there were just three large networks on three channels. If all their original programming in the following 50 years were rebroadcast on one of the 500 new channels, then a half-century's worth of TV programming could be shown again and again on a three-month cycle.

Who would then watch the 500 new channels after the first cycle? Even if we assume these channels would actually air some original programming of their own, where would they find the money to produce it?

New television is extraordinarily expensive. A full year's worth of new programming for a popular cable TV network — which rebroadcasts its stuff ad nauseam to fill its daytime schedule, sometimes running through five years' worth of weekly one-hour dramas in three months by showing old weekly episodes on a daily or even twice-daily basis — costs more than $250 million.

While a popular network can expect to recoup its production costs through sales of advertising time, 500 new channels simply subdivide the viewing market into shares too small to sustain professional-quality programming, let alone the high overhead costs of running a TV network.

TV programmers' inept attempt at a solution, now shown on many cable systems that carry 70 or more channels, is to reserve sections of bandwidth to particular topics: food, history, science fiction. This system still forces viewers to sit through commercials for products they don't want and still doesn't fill the programming void with good material.

The increasing use of VCRs to tape TV programs for later watching and commercial-skipping makes a mockery of traditional advertising-encrusted network programming. Ten to 15 minutes of each broadcast hour on the typical network (except PBS and extra-pay networks like HBO) is reserved solely for advertising, and if a viewer simply skips these commercials using a VCR, then it is a waste of the time required to fast-forward through them and the money the advertiser spends to have the commercials made — time that the viewer could spend on more meaningful recreation and money that could instead go to product development.

Given that, television over the years has caused subtle changes, not only in how we spend our time, but also in how we think. Regardless of whether we actually watch what is being shown on the screen or use the device as a source of background noise, it is a simple act of national self-preservation to take back control of what we watch.

ADRIAN FLEMING/Collegian

Foreign executives tour K-State, AIB

DANEDRI THOMPSON
staff reporter

Albanian and Slovenian milling and baking executives toured K-State's International Grains Program and the American Institute of Baking last week as part of an educational program to learn more about the wheat industry.

Prompted by a need to upgrade their industry, the delegation also toured a Topeka flour mill, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture Grain Marketing and Production Research Center. While in Manhattan, the group gathered information about milling, wheat quality, wheat importing and hard red winter wheat.

"Hard red winter wheat, which is grown in Kansas, is what you would use for bread production," said Stacey Brown, graduate student in grain science.

Both Albania and Slovenia depend on wheat imports because bread is a staple in the diets of their populations.

Since the break-up of the Soviet Union, Albania has relied on donations from the United States to complement its marginal wheat crop.

Slovenia imported wheat from Serbia and Croatia. After the fall of communism, the U.S. Wheat Associates and the Export Enhancement Program familiarized the Slovenian industry with U.S. wheat classes.

The delegation, which included a general director of a baking and pasta-plant operation and the mill owner of a new Slovenian milling company, visited K-State and the American Institute of Baking as part of a three-week U.S. tour.

The executives also visited Oregon and California. Doug Ohlemeier, marketing specialist with the Kansas Wheat Commission, said it isn't unusual for wheat business executives to go to other countries.

"Kansas wheat producers fund overseas organizations that work with wheat buyers, millers and bakers," Ohlemeier said. "They go over there and show them the best way to mill and bake wheat. They learn the best types of wheat to purchase for their purchases."

Ohlemeier worked with the Eastern bloc delegation during their stay in Kansas and believes the delegation got a good overview while touring the American Institute of Baking.

"I think their visit here had been very useful for them," Ohlemeier said.

Men of K-State Calendar search to begin

▸ Calendar business expands to include KU, Nebraska; producer maintains clean college calendars.

PORTIA SISCO
arts & entertainment editor

The Men of K-State Calendar contest is back this year with a few improvements.

The calendar is produced by Bill Price, owner of Bill Price Productions. Price Productions is expanding this year to make calendars for the University of Kansas and the University of Nebraska.

"The prizes for the winners and participants will be larger this year. The contest is open to just about anybody," Price said.

The calendar contest will be the first three weeks of March at Bombers.

"The turnout last year was very good, from 650 to 700 people a night there," Price said.

To participate in the calendar contest, men must sign up by Feb. 19. Dates and places to register will be announced.

"It's a clean contest. We're not flesh peddling," Teresa Purvis, Price's assistant, said.

"The point is that if our parents saw it we wouldn't be embarrassed."

Price said he will search the sororities for judges. Independents interested in judging can also sign up.

"Judges don't have to have specific qualifications to be a judge, but they will give judges qualifications to look for in the men," Price said.

The calendar is representative of K-State, not just fraternities. There were only two fraternity members in last year's calendar, Price said.

The men who audition will be required to sign a form with a list of rules they have to follow.

Some of the rules include no thongs in the women's contest and no Speedos in the men's contest.

"We are not officially affiliated with the school, but we want it to be something K-State wouldn't be embarrassed to have its name on," Price said.

Men who sign up will get discounts at Nautilus and Sun Connection, two of the calendar's sponsors, prior to the contest.

"A lot of people will be getting ready for spring break around that time anyway, so they can get ready at a discount," Price said. "It's an opportunity to make money and have your picture in a calendar distributed state-wide."

This year they are working in conjunction with Manhattan Town Center to have a modeling contest with prizes for the participants. Winners of the calendar contest will qualify for the modeling contest.

▸ Deadline info.
Men interested in participating in the Men of K-State Calendar contest must sign up by Feb. 19. Places to register will be announced.

Price said the winner of the modeling contest will win a scholarship to a modeling school.

The model search will be in Manhattan. The contest winners from KU and Nebraska will visit Manhattan in late April to participate in the contest, Price said.

King holiday not observed in some Wichita schools

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WICHITA — Some suburban Wichita schools don't close their doors to observe Martin Luther King Jr. Day, but administrators say the decision did not signal any disrespect.

an observance

While students at Wichita public schools had the day off, several surrounding districts, whose minority enrollments are generally much lower than Wichita's, were open.

The state Board of Education was closed for the holiday on Monday, so statewide estimates on the number of schools that stay open for the holiday were not available.

Districts in Derby, Sedgwick and Valley Center joined Wichita schools in closing Monday.

Valley Center Superintendent Bob Neel said his district had school on Martin Luther King Jr. Day last year, but later received a request from patrons that the school be closed for the holiday.

Several school officials say staying open doesn't mean the district is refusing to honor King and his accomplishments.

Mike Rooney, superintendent of schools in Rose Hill, lived in Washington during the 1960s and took part in civil rights marches. Rose Hill schools were open Monday.

"It certainly isn't intended to be disrespectful," Rooney said.

Rooney said the district also does not close for Presidents Day or Columbus Day.

In the Circle district, which stretches from far northeast Wichita to El Dorado and includes Benton and Towanda, students were expected to be in school Monday, partly to learn about King.

"We feel, probably within our district, we can do more promoting Martin Luther King and his legacy through activities in the classroom than just having it a non-school day for kids," said Eliese Holt, a spokeswoman for the Circle district.

Some schools dismissed their students, but kept teachers on the job for in-service or work days.

Marvin Sisk, superintendent at Douglass, said having the district's teachers spend the day in an in-service session is a good compromise because it is difficult to get in the required 191 teacher contract days.

"If we had more options, we'd probably be totally dismissed Monday," he said last week.

"No Coupon" Specials (NO coupon needed, NONE accepted)
Everyday Two-fers
2 - PIZZAS with
2 - TOPPINGS each
2 - COKES with ice
$9.12
Everyday Three-fers
3 - PIZZAS with
1 - TOPPING each
3 - COKES with ice
$11.23
Prices do not include sales taxes.
Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

Dr. Paul E. Bullock
Optometrist
$10 Off
Complete Eye Exam
(with coupon)
Free In-Office Contact Lens Consultation
Save up to $40 on disposable contact lens programs
(with coupon)
Save up to $20 on a complete pair of eyeglasses
(with coupon)
1441 Anderson Ave. • Anderson Village • 776-9461 • Toll Free 1-800-432-0036
Adjacent to KSU Expires 1/31/97

Suds Y'R Duds
Welcomes K-State Students Back
With Free Dryers
Between 5 a.m. & 3 p.m. when available
Monday thru Friday · Located in Anderson Village
1453 Anderson Ave.
537-2325
Open 5 a.m. - midnight
7 days a week

KSU PARKING SERVICES SHUTTLE SCHEDULE for Spring Semester 1997

The shuttle service will travel from Edwards Hall to KSU Union, to the Foundation Building, and then back to the KSU Union and to Edwards Hall. The Motor Pool destination was removed from the schedule due to the lack of ridership.

EDWARDS HALL to UNION leave time:	K-STATE UNION to FOUNDATION leave time:	KSU FOUNDATION to UNION leave time:	K-STATE UNION to EDWARDS leave time:
7:45AM	7:53AM	8:00AM	8:07AM
8:15AM	8:23AM	8:30AM	8:37AM
8:45AM	8:53AM	9:00AM	9:07AM
9:15AM	9:23AM	9:30AM	9:37AM
9:45AM	9:53AM	10:00AM	10:07AM
10:15AM	10:23AM	10:30AM	10:37AM
10:45AM	10:53AM	11:00AM	11:07AM
11:15AM	11:23AM	11:30AM	11:37AM
*******	*******	*******	*******
12:15PM	12:23PM	12:30PM	12:37PM
12:45PM	12:53PM	1:00PM	1:07PM
1:15PM	1:23PM	1:30PM	1:37PM
1:45PM	1:53PM	2:00PM	2:07PM
2:15PM	2:23PM	2:30PM	2:37PM
2:45PM	2:53PM	3:00PM	3:07PM
3:15PM	3:23PM	3:30PM	3:37PM
3:45PM	3:53PM	4:00PM	4:07PM
4:15PM	4:23PM	4:30PM	4:37PM
4:45PM	4:53PM	5:00PM	5:07PM

KSU PARKING SERVICES
532-PARK (7275)

* Shuttle will only run on days that classes are in session.
 Schedule adjustments may be made as needed.
 Schedule: January 13th 1997 to May 16th 1997.

K-STATE STUDENT UNION
Host to the Campus & Open to the Community
Bluemont Buffet
K-State Student Union
Come dine under the umbrella and listen to LP sing!
Monday - Friday, 11:00am - 1:30pm
2nd floor of the K-State Student Union
New Coops Chicken featuring roasted & fried chicken
It's a Winter Beach Party
Jan. 21-24
Week long Contests and Prizes featuring a Hawaiian Luau on the Kitchen Classic Line.
Create your own potato at the Potato Bar

TUESDAY
Carved BBQ Brisket
Swiss-style Steak
Crustless Quiche
Porcupine Meatballs
Rissole Potatoes
Seasoned Green Beans
Broccoli
Ham and Vegetable Soup

WEDNESDAY
Carved Ham with Au Jus
Chicken Parmesan
Spicy Red Beans and Rice
Pinto Beans
Corn Chowder

THURSDAY
Carved Beef with Au Jus
Veal Scallopini
Vegetable Noodle Casserole
Parsley Red-Skin Potatoes
Fried Cabbage
Chicken Gumbo

FRIDAY
Carved Pork with A Jus
Western Meat Loaf
Chicken and Dumplings
Cottage Fried Potatoes
Cauliflower
Cream of Broccoli Soup

RANGERS' CATCHER INKS LARGEST ONE-YEAR SIGNING

▶ Texas Rangers catcher, Ivan Rodriguez, signed a one-year $6.65-million contract with the Rangers. It is the richest one-year signing in major-league baseball history.

Draft prospects clinch Canty's decision to leave Cats

▸ K-State cornerback signs with agency, hopes to be top-15 draft pick in NFL.

SHANE MCCORMICK
sports writer

Everyone thought junior cornerback Chris Canty would make the decision before the Cotton Bowl. Then Canty told reporters he would announce it the night after the bowl game. The night came and went, no decision.

What was he waiting for?

He was waiting for a report from the NFL committee regarding his draft prospects. Once he heard from them, his decision to leave K-State early was made.

"I thought I would get it back in time to tell everyone the night of the bowl," Canty said. "Once I got it, they told me that I would go somewhere in the top 15. Once I heard what I wanted to hear, I was sold."

Canty said that he had decided to sign with agents Anthony Norris and Jimmy Sexton of Athletic Resource Management of Memphis, Tenn. Norris and Sexton have handled the contracts of NFL stars Reggie White and Isaac Bruce. In the NBA, they have handled the contracts of Scottie Pippen and Horace Grant.

But Canty said it was more than just their track record that impressed him.

"I really like the way they handled themselves," Canty said. "I wanted someone there that I could talk to. I can talk to them without having to talk about football or money. I just jelled with everyone in the organization."

Coming off a banner year in 1995 in which he lead the nation in interceptions, expectations were high for Canty. He was a preseason all-American, a leading candidate for the Jim Thorpe Award and rated as the No. 1 cornerback in the nation by the Sporting News.

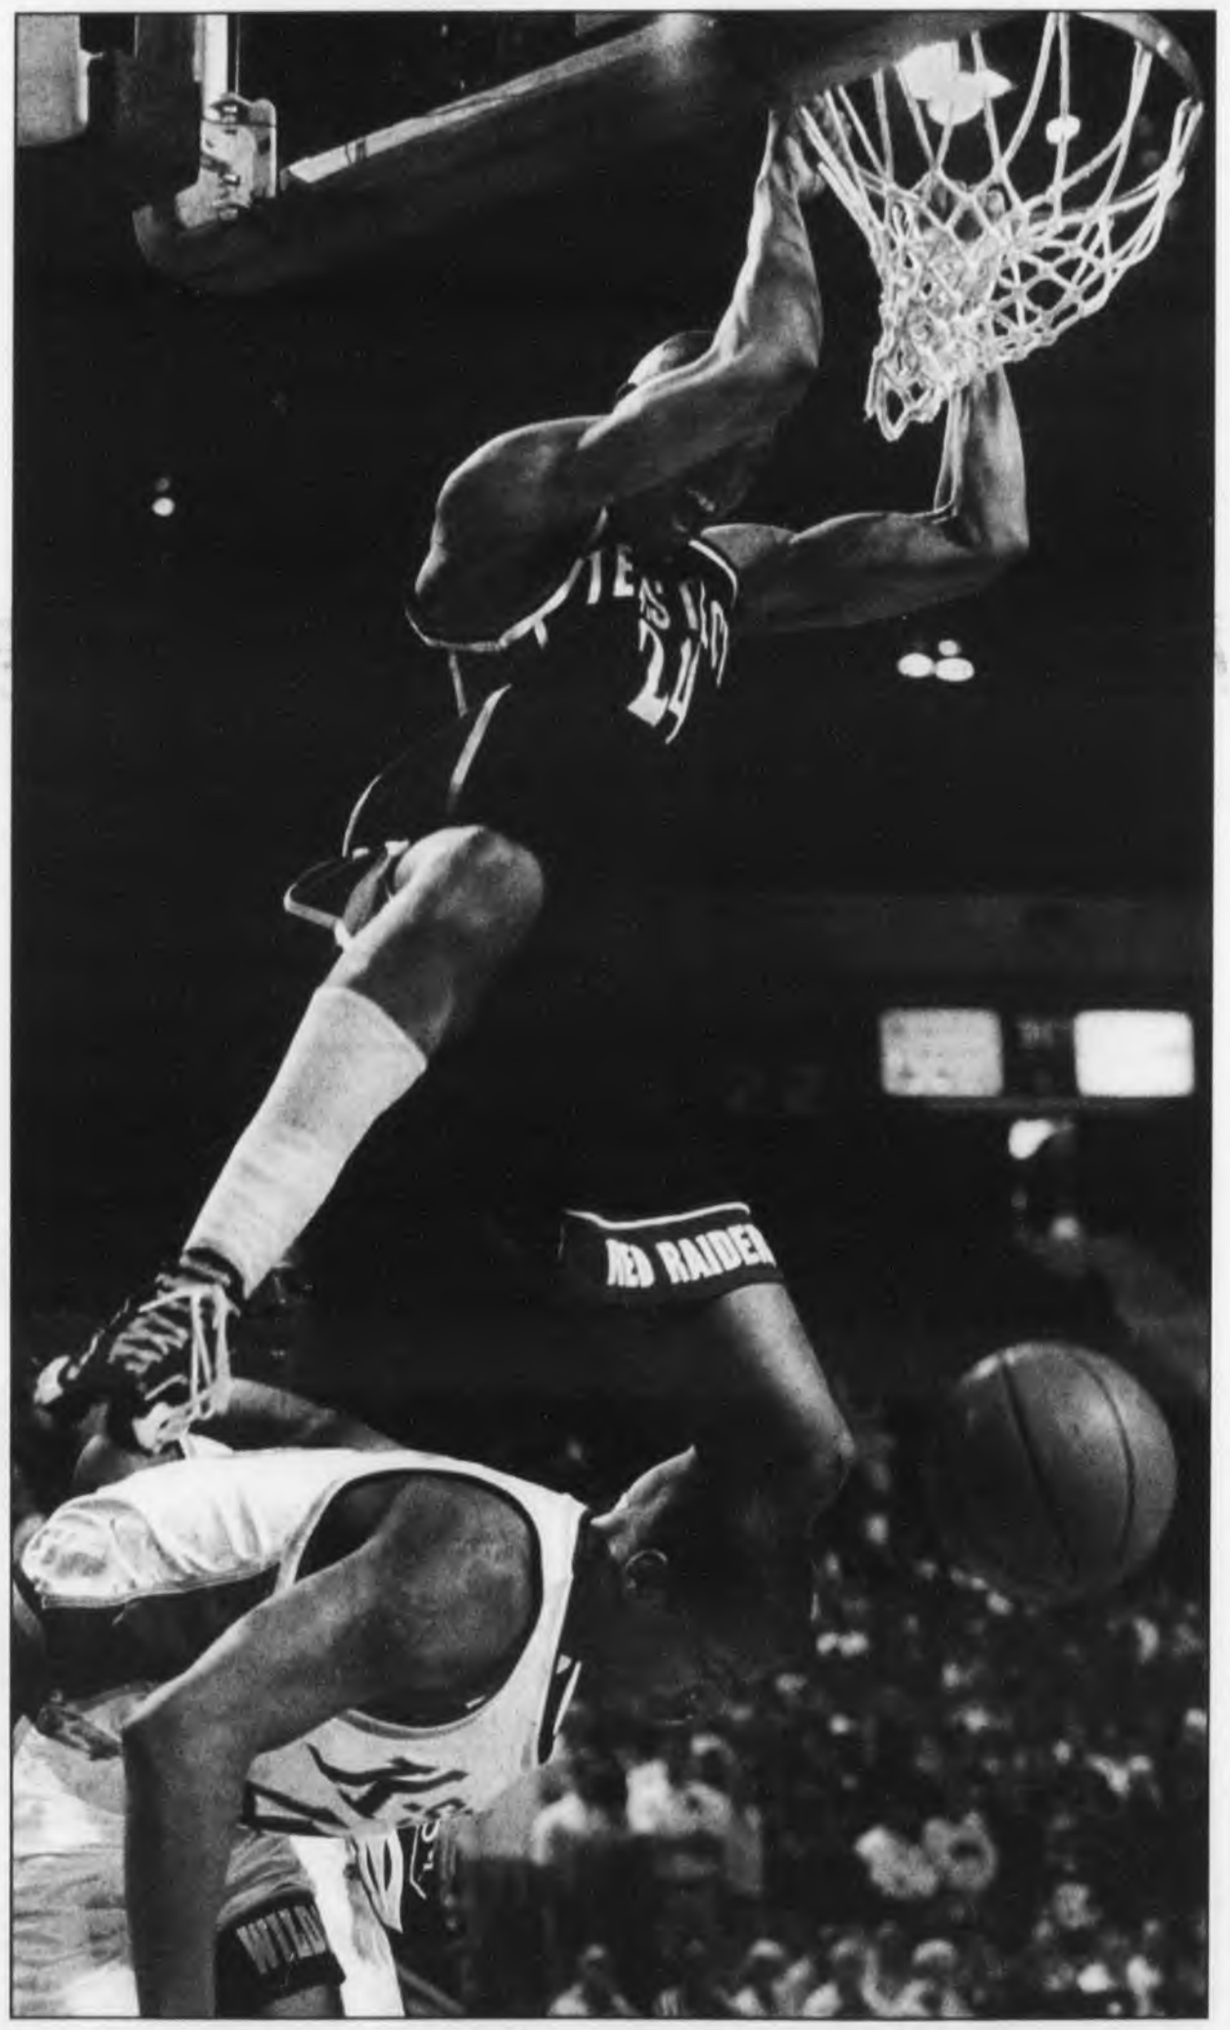
Although statistically he might not have had such a good year, Canty definitely made his presence felt in 1996. In both the Texas A&M and Oklahoma game, Canty forced a turnover to save Wildcat victories in the opponents final offensive play. Once again, he led the team in interceptions, with five.

But Canty's presence wasn't felt just on the defensive end this season. As a wide receiver, Canty averaged more than 15 yards a catch. He also led the team in average kickoff and punt returns, including a punt return for a 58-yard touchdown against Missouri. He was listed by Sports Illustrated as the nation's No. 2 two-way player. For the second straight year, Canty was a consensus first-team all-American.

But there was one dark cloud that hung over Canty's season in 1996. It came on Dec. 9 when Canty was arrested by K-State Police for suspicion of DUI.

"I regret what happened. I feel like I really let a lot of people down in this community," Canty said.

Despite the arrest, Canty said the incident had no effect on his final decision.



"It really was no part of my decision process," he said. "It really didn't affect whether

See CANTY, Page 7

CORNERBACK Chris Canty decided to forego his final year of NCAA eligibility to enter the NFL draft. Canty is the first player in K-State football history to make the decision to leave early.
JILL JARSULIC
Collegian

THROWN DOWN

TEXAS TECH'S Tony Battie looms over the back of K-State's Gerald Eaker after dunking over him in the first half of Saturday's game at Bramlage Coliseum. Texas Tech dominated the last 10 minutes of the game to beat K-State 73-64.
STEVE HEBERT
Collegian

Cats run out of steam at half; Red Raiders take advantage of self-destructive tendencies

JEREMY KELLEY
sports editor

K-State fell to 0-4 in the Big 12 Saturday with a loss at Bramlage Coliseum against the Texas Tech Red Raiders that moved the Wildcats to an even 7-7 overall.

Like it had done in the previous game, K-State controlled most of the first half, only to falter in the end of the contest.

"We made some panic plays down the stretch," Coach Tom Asbury said. "We did some dumb things in the gut of the game, and we had a chance to get it right down towards the end, and we just kind of self-destructed."

But the bomb wasn't delivered until late in the game. K-State led 22-12 with 10 minutes, 24 seconds remaining in the first half, but then went cold and Texas Tech was just warming up.

"I'm glad they went cold," Tech coach James Dickey said. "We did a better job of getting it to our shooters."

Behind their two all-America candidates, guard Cory Carr and center Tony Battie, Tech outscored the Cats 16-5 over the next five minutes to regain the lead 28-27 with 5:35 remaining.

"We picked up the defensive intensity. We forced them to turn the ball over a couple of times," Battie said. "Those were precious possessions for them."

From then on it was nip-and-tuck as the lead changed hands five times during the last five minutes in the first half. Cory Carr knotted the halftime score at 38 with a three-point buzzer-beater that put the momentum in Tech's favor.

"Carr got away from us a couple of times." Asbury said. "He hit some

See THE GAME, Page 7

Men's Basketball

K-State (64)
FGA/M, FTA/M, R, A, TO, S, MP, TP
Young 5-16, 1-3, 8, 4, 3, 0, 26:12, 11; Rhodes 4-8, 0-1, 8, 2, 3, 4, 32:16, 8; Eaker 5-18, 0-0, 10, 1, 1, 1, 31:04, 10; Griffin 2-4, 2-2, 2, 4, 0, 1, 0, 25:22, 6; Swartz 3-8, 2-2, 3, 1, 2, 2, 34:52, 9; Dies 2-5, 2-3, 3, 0, 1, 0, 15:52, 6; May 4-10, 2-4, 4, 0, 0, 1, 20:14, 10; McCollough 1-3, 2-2, 3, 2, 0, 0, 0, 13:20, 4; Jones 0-0, 0-0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 00:48, 0; Totals 26-72, 11-17, 43, 14, 10, 9, 200, 64

Texas Tech (73)
Carr 7-19, 3-4, 5, 2, 3, 1, 36:03, 23; Cooper 2-4, 1-3, 13, 0, 2, 1, 27:17, 5; Battie 10-14, 6-10, 13, 2, 2, 1, 36:26, 26; Jones 0-1, 0-0, 0, 0, 2, 0, 8:07, 0; Bonewitz 3-7, 4-5, 3, 10, 5, 2, 37:06, 13; Young 0-6, 0-0, 1, 1, 1, 0, 19:58, 0; Averil 2-4, 0-1, 2, 2, 3, 1, 19:42, 4; Owens 1-2, 0-0, 3, 3, 1, 0, 12:43, 2; Carmichael 0-0, 0-0, 0, 1, 0, 0, 3:34, 0; Totals 25-57, 14-23, 46, 19, 18, 6, 200, 73

Source: The Associated Press

ZACHARY BAZE/Collegian

Texas Tech confirms fears; Carr, Battie hard to stop

SHANE MCCORMICK
sports writer

Going into the Texas Tech game, K-State knew they had to shut down two players. If the Wildcats were going to win, they had to limit the productivity of forward Cory Carr and center Tony Battie.

The Cats knew the task, but could not complete it as they fell to the Red Raiders 73-64 at Bramlage Coliseum.

▶ Where's the rest? Looking for the women's results and the AP top 25? It's on page 7.

Tech's dangerous inside/outside attack came into the game averaging over 20 points a piece. The duo combined for 49 of the team's 73 points Saturday.

"Together they are really tough to defend," sophomore forward Shawn Rhodes said. "If you try to double-down on Battie, he can kick it outside and vice versa."

But the Cats did a decent job of shutting the two down in the first half. The Cats lead for the majority of the half, even building a 10-point lead at the 10:24 mark. Guarding him for the majority of the game, forward Mark Young held Carr to 5-of-13 shooting in the first half, while Eaker battled down low with Battie.

"I was really worried about his (Eaker's) physicality coming into the game," Red Raider coach James Dickey said. "He was very physical with

See SHUTDOWN, Page 10

Wildcats' frustrating 2nd-half showings display lack of motivation

VIEWPOINT

SHANE McCORMICK

SHANE McCORMICK is a senior in radio/TV. You can e-mail your comments to Shane at (shanem@ksu.edu)

Fans are starting to get upset and frustrated. They are growing tired of seeing the K-State men's basketball team lose.

More specifically, they are getting tired of seeing the Wildcats lose games down the stretch that they could have won.

In three of their last four games, the Cats have played tremendous basketball ... until the second half.

In the second half, the Cats can't seem to hang on to a lead. They can't seem to buy a basket. They can't seem to hang on to the ball. Their opponents can't seem to miss a basket.

Get the picture?

Against Nebraska, the Cats came out in the first half and out-played the Huskers. They were shooting lights out; they put up 48 points in the first half. Going into halftime, the Cats had a 18-point lead.

But then came the dreaded second half.

A second half that saw the Cats put up only 24 points. In the overtime, the Cats were outscored 15-5.

It was a similar story for the Cats against Texas Tech. The Cats came out early and jumped on the Red Raiders, building a 10-point lead. They had done a pretty good job on the Red Raider's leading scorer Cory Carr, holding him to 5-of-13 from the field.

But then came the dreaded second half.

The Wildcats took a one-point lead when Ayome May hit a jump shot with 10 minutes, 19 seconds remaining in the game. Then the Cats went the next 3:26 without scoring a single point.

"I'm not sure what we did. It looked like they missed a lot of shots," Red Raider coach James Dickey said.

If you think missing 13 shots in a row is a lot, then you are correct on that assessment, coach.

This has to be getting tiresome. Players are surely starting to get frustrated, right?

Well, not really.

"I don't think our team is getting frustrated right now," guard Aaron Swartzendruber said.

Forward Mark Young shared the same sentiments.

"I'm not getting frustrated. I think everyone is going out and trying," he said.

Maybe this is the problem. Someone on this team needs to get frustrated. Someone needs to get mad and light a fire under these guys.

You've seen teams do it before in different sports. A team has hit a bad streak and someone calls for a players-only meeting, where some hostility and motivation is let out.

Admitting that you are frustrated and mad is not a bad thing; at least you are showing some emotion. Not showing your emotions, not minding missed shots, lay-ups, careless turnovers and skipping post-game interviews is a bad thing.

Will this solve the Cats' problems in the second halves of games?

Who knows. But it isn't going to hurt

See MOTIVATION, Page 10

Wildcats fall to Texas Tech; Patterson remains optimistic

Women's Basketball

K-State (61)
FGA/M, FTA/M, R, A, TO, S, MP, TP
Decker 4-7, 0-0, 3, 2, 2, 40, 10; Jones 8-23, 2-2, 10, 4, 2, 30, 19; Hester 1-6, 1-2, 9, 2, 6, 34, 4; Jacobson 3-13, 1-2, 4, 4, 3, 37, 7; Larson 0-0, 0-0, 0, 0, 1, 2, 0; Coalson 2-2, 0-0, 4, 0, 1, 13, 5; Finkes 8-13, 2-3, 5, 2, 2, 39, 16; Ramage 0-0, 0-0, 1, 0, 0, 5, 0; Totals 26-64, 4-6, 36, 14, 18, 200, 61

Texas Tech (76)
Hanebutt 4-9, 8-10, 7, 7, 3, 30, 18; Thompson 12-23, 1-2, 2, 2, 0, 34, 25; Boles 1-3, 0-2, 7, 2, 3, 34, 2; Lake 5-11, 0-0, 2, 4, 1, 34, 12; Parker 0-0, 0-0, 4, 4, 3, 30, 0; Schmucker 2-4, 1-2, 1, 0, 0, 15, 6; Dickerson 4-4, 3-5, 4, 2, 0, 14, 11; Brown 0-0, 0-0, 0, 0, 0, 1, 0; Walker 1-1, 0-0, 0, 1, 0, 1, 2; Sumrall 0-0, 0-0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0; Tate 0-0, 0-0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0; Totals 29-55, 13-21, 27, 22, 10, 200, 76

Source: The Associated Press

ZACHARY BAZE/Collegian

SUN DEE MILLS
staff reporter

Although the K-State women's basketball team lost to the seventh-ranked Texas Tech Red Raiders 76-61 last Saturday in Lubbock, Coach Deb Patterson was pleased with the team's performance and the direction in which her team is heading.

"We competed well for 40 minutes against Tech," she said. "It's all a learning process."

The Red Raiders' two scores in the first minute were answered by seniors Missy Decker and Andria Jones, who sunk three-pointers within 30 seconds of each other. The Cats maintained a slim lead throughout the half, and a layup by junior Brit Jacobson put the Cats up by nine points with 9:20 to go in the first half. This would turn out to be the largest lead for the Cats.

Freshmen players contributed to the game on both sides of the ball. Red Raider freshmen Melinda Schmucker and Keitha Dickerson entered the lineup and pulled down four boards, sunk seven points and forced a turnover against the Cats during the next 6:30. With a little more than three minutes left in the half, the Cats' lead had been narrowed to one point.

Cat freshman Angie Finkes, in her third career start, had made four of six baskets and pulled three rebounds when Jones recorded her third foul. The free-throw shot tied the game at 29 with 1:29 left in the half. Two fouls and three free throws later, the Cats were down 31-30 at the half.

"Angie has asserted herself as an offensive presence for this ball club," Patterson said. "Obviously, Andria Jones is a player other teams are focused in on, but now we have two in the paint."

Finkes came out strong and put up the first points in the second half, followed by two jumpers by Jones.

The Cats were up by one when Tech's Crystal Boles was fouled on an offensive rebound by Jones, which was her fourth of the game. With 16:40 left in the game, Jones sat down.

"It hurt that A.J. (Jones) had to sit down," Finkes said. "Kayla (Hester) stepped up and played a spot she really hadn't played very much. Everyone really stepped up."

By the time Jones returned to the game, the Lady Raiders had pulled ahead by seven. The Cats played aggressively, but never managed to cut the lead to less than five, losing the game 76-61.

"When we went to Texas Tech, we were the new Kansas State," Patterson said. "We were very much in that ball game and were in a position to sneak away with a victory.

"When you're on the road, the ball has to bounce your way, and you have to get a couple of breaks," she said. "We didn't get the breaks, but it wasn't because of a lack of intensity or focus or execution."

CANTY

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

I would stay or go."

Instead it was Canty's accomplishments on the field that had him thinking about leaving college early.

"In my heart, it was something I wanted to do," Canty said.

"The last couple of years, I've pretty much done everything I set out to do. I feel like I am at the peak of my career. It was time," he said.

If the projections hold true, Canty will be the first Wildcat taken in the first round since Clarence Scott in 1971. He will be the first underclassman in coach Bill Snyder's eight years to leave early for the NFL.

Although he is leaving early, Canty said that finishing his degree was something he assured his mother he would do. Instead of dropping out of school, Canty has enrolled in six hours this semester. He said he needs about 28 hours for a degree in criminal justice.

During the winter break, Canty said he took in a movie. He went with his agent to see the hit movie "Jerry Maguire." Now Canty can tell his agent and teams to show him the money.

But the question is how much money.

"I'm sure it's around a couple of million dollars," Canty said. "I'm not too worried about that now. I just want to be drafted and show the team that they didn't make a bad pick."

THE GAME

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

really tough shots. He goes six of 11 from the three-point line, and that's a stake in the heart."

To K-State's dismay, Carr and Texas Tech kept stabbing away. After leading by as many as five in the second half, the Red Raiders cranked up the defensive and forced K-State to take some bad shots.

"They tightened up their defense, and we panicked a little offensively," Asbury said. "We were running things, but we weren't executing things. There's a big difference there. We have to execute better."

> "We sure didn't make the extra pass that you need to do when you're not a good offensive team to begin with. That's the bottom line."
> TOM ASBURY
> head coach

K-State again went cold in the second half scoring just two field goals and a pair of free throws in the final 10 minutes of the game. Texas outscored the Cats 16-6 down the stretch and won its 12th game of the year 73-64.

"We sure didn't make the extra pass that you need to do when you're not a good offensive team to begin with. That's the bottom line," Asbury said.

The combo of Battie and Carr proved to be too much for the Cats to handle. The duo combined for 49 of Tech's final tally. Battie, who has scored in double figures every game thus far, also nabbed 13 rebounds.

"Those are two of the toughest players we'll play all year," guard Aaron Swartzendruber said. "When they threw the ball into Battie we didn't double-down on him enough, and he burned us."

Forward Mark Young paced the Cats with 11 points and eight rebounds, and center Gerald Eaker and guard Paco May each chipped in 10.

The road doesn't get any easier for the Cats, who travel to Iowa State Wednesday to face one of the nation's top teams.

"We haven't been the most efficient offensive team — that's not a mystery. The end result is the end result," Asbury said. "I'm kinda in the end results, bottom-line kind of business."

AP men's college basketball Top 25

1. Kansas
2. Clemson
3. Kentucky
4. Wake Forest
5. Utah
6. Louisville
7. Maryland
8. Minnesota
9. Cincinnati
10. Duke
11. Arizona
12. Villanova
13. Michigan
14. Iowa State
15. New Mexico
16. Xavier
17. Stanford
18. Colorado
19. North Carolina
20. Texas Tech
21. Indiana
22. Boston College
23. Texas
24. Tulsa
25. Marquette

Source: The Associated Press

ZACHARY BAZE/Collegian

TROPICAL TAN
"When The Beach Is Out Of Reach"
• 10 WOLFF SYSTEM TANNING BEDS
• STAND-UP BOOTH
• WALK-INS WELCOME
• APPOINTMENTS AVAILABLE
• SPECIAL PACKAGE DEALS OFFERED YEAR ROUND
537-0744
1814 CLAFLIN (2nd LEVEL-ABOVE CLAFLIN BOOKS)
BACK-TO-SCHOOL SPECIAL 10 tans for $25
Exp. 1-24-97
Southern Sun
NEW CANDLEWOOD LOCATION
Manhattan's Original Wolff Systems Center
Great New West Side Location
Open Year-Round With Convenient Hours
Serving Both Professional & Student Clientele
Keep Your Tan Glowing With Us!
776-8060
3232 KIMBALL (NEXT TO BOBBY T'S)
Always Great Bulbs at the Best Prices!

Sausage and Egg Bagel
Open 24 hours, 7 days a week
COUNTRY KITCHEN
• Scrambled eggs
• Savory sausage
• Melted cheddar
• Sandwiched between two bagel slices
• Served with baby red potatoes
• Garnished with fresh fruit
420 Tuttle Creek Blvd. (913) 776-6301

Start Your Engines
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN 532-6560

GOODSON AUTO TRIM
Complete Upholstering & Fabric • Custom Made Auto & Truck Seat Covers
Convertible Tops • Headliners
Boat Upholstery & Covers • Vinyl Tops • Window Tinting
1-800-773-7679
201 Sarber Lane Between K-Mart & Walmart 776-7679

Rose MUFFLER HOUSE
"Our business is exhausting"
MUFFLERS & TAILPIPES
DUAL SYSTEMS
AUTOS (American & Foreign)
RVs LIGHT & HEAVY DUTY TRUCKS
CUSTOM PIPE BENDING
COMPLETE BRAKE SERVICE FOR AMERICAN, FOREIGN, & LIGHT TRUCKS
SHOCK ABSORBERS & STRUTS
Rose HOUSE OF TINT
GLASS TINTING SERVICES AVAILABLE FOR YOUR AUTO, HOME OR BUSINESS
DRAW-TITE
TRAILER HITCHES - SALES & INSTALLATION
Mon.-Fri. 7:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
2049 Ft. Riley Blvd.
776-8955 or 1-800-439-8956
Take advantage of our courtesy van for rides to school and home while your vehicle is being serviced.
Same Location!
FREE ESTIMATES

PRECISION AUTOMOTIVE INC.
GREGG FRAKES, OWNER
*21 years experience in 537-5050
WESTSIDE LOCATION
1120 WATERS ST.
Behind Westloop Auto Supply
—COMPLETE CAR & TRUCK SERVICE & REPAIR—
Domestic & Imported
—DIESEL SERVICE & REPAIR—
—ALLEN DIAGNOSTIC COMPUTER—for late model cars with on-board computer control systems & electronic fuel injection
—ENGINE REPAIR & REBUILDING—
—AUTOMATIC & MANUAL TRANSMISSION SERVICE & REBUILDING—
—AIR CONDITIONING SERVICE & REPAIR—
Freon recycling system for a safe, clean environment
HOURS: MON.-FRI. 7:30

WESTGATE AUTO REPAIR
BEAR WHEEL ALIGNMENT AXLE & FRAME STRAIGHTENING SERVICE
• Wheel Alignment
• CV Joints and Boots
• Brakes
• Suspension Repair
610 HAYES DRIVE •776-4239

We're Driven to Be the Best.
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
Advertising • 532-6560

Western Auto
YOUR TOTAL AUTOMOTIVE HEADQUARTERS!!
*Complete Line of Automotive Accessories and High Performance Parts
*Discount Auto Parts
*Professional Installation Available
*Convenient Store Hours
*Fast, Friendly Service
Western Auto
MANHATTAN, KANSAS
The Auto Supply Company
539-0535
Tuttle Creek Blvd. & Kimball Ave.
Next to Dutch Maid Supermarket
LOW DISCOUNT PRICES EVERY DAY OF THE WEEK

De Dee's TIRE & AUTO SERVICE CENTER
conoco HOTTEST BRAND GOING!
11th & Poyntz 776-9311
COUPON
ALL SEASONS RADIALS
13" 155/80R13, 165/80R13 WITH COUPON ONLY $24.95 each expires 2/28/97
14" 185/75R14, 195/75R14, 205/75R14 WITH COUPON ONLY $35.95 each expires 2/28/97
15" 205/75R15, 215/75R15, 225/75R15, 235/75R15 WITH COUPON ONLY $38.95 each expires 2/28/97
COUPON
Oil Change & Filter $14.95
•Install Up to 5 Qts. Quaker State Oil •Change Filter
Call for Appointment
Expires 2/28/97
COUPON
Flush & Fill and Winter Safety Check $29.95
•Flush Cooling System
•Pressure Test System
•Winter Safety Check
Includes Up to 2 Gal of Antifreeze
Call for Appointment
Expires 2/28/97
Quality Used Tires $10 & up

Restoration artists complete Farrell Library mural project

Lillian Beebe
staff writer

The cathedral room murals at Farrell Library are cleaner and brighter thanks to the work of restoring artists Louise Thiele and Esther Blackburn.

"We painted them with blood, sweat and tears," Thiele said.

The murals are located on the south wall of the library's third-floor reading room, commonly know as the cathedral room. At 11 feet by 15 feet, each of the four murals symbolize one of the four major fields of study at the former K-State Agricultural College: "The Industries," "Agriculture," "The Arts" and "The Home."

Blackburn and Thiele began working on the murals in mid-July. They eliminated water streaks and sunlight-faded areas by cleaning the murals and repainting them.

"The paintings should look exactly like they did, minus the water," Blackburn said.

Some students did not notice the difference.

"I thought they were neat and that they had been done a long time ago. I didn't know they had been redone," said Jamie Hillman, sophomore in pre-veterinary medicine.

The artists took color pictures of the murals and had them computer analyzed at a paint store in order to start restoration with colors close to the ones they needed, said Bob Kreger, Farrell building manager.

"When you are a restoring artist, you do not use your individuality or what you think looks good. You must make that a copy (of the original). That's what we have worked at, to be able to duplicate," Thiele said.

The murals were cleaned with chemicals instead of soap and water, Thiele said. Blackburn said the chemical mixture they used is a secret. "It was one heck of a hard job," Thiele said.

Because the murals are painted on the walls above bookcases, Thiele and Blackburn worked on a cherry picker. Blackburn said she did most of the cleaning of the murals, because the scrubbing rocked the cherry picker. Thiele, who is slightly afraid of heights, did not like that.

Some paint chipped off when the murals were scrubbed, but they repainted it later, Thiele said.

Once the murals were clean, Blackburn said, they painted them with oil-based paints to look like they used to.

"What you see on the ground is different from what you see 25 feet up in the air and inches away from the painting," Thiele said.

Blackburn added, "It is impossible to match something until you put your brush on it."

"The Arts" and "Agriculture" murals took a little more than a week to complete, Blackburn said. While "The Home" needed some replastering done in a patch on the upper middle part of the painting.

"The Industries" mural was the hardest because of extensive damage and hard detail, Thiele said. It took more than a week to complete.

"The industrial grouping took longer to do. We had to match every little thing perfectly," Blackburn said. "When a picture is simplified, every little thing stands out."

In figuring their bid for a job, Thiele said, they look at the condition of the work and charge by the square foot.

"The Industries," because of its condition, cost more to restore. The total cost of the restoration was about $5,000, Thiele said. When David Hicks Overmyer painted them in 1934, he was paid only $200, she said.

Overmyer painted the murals as part of a federal Public Works Artists project in Kansas. He is best known for the eight murals he painted on the walls of the Kansas Statehouse Rotunda depicting scenes of Kansas history. He has also painted works for several other schools, churches and courthouses throughout Kansas.

Both Blackburn and Thiele thoroughly enjoyed restoring the murals and each developed a favorite. Thiele was partial to "The Arts" because of the colors and figures in the painting. She also identified with the painting through her own interest in the arts.

Blackburn liked "Agriculture" because she is a farm girl, but she said she also liked "The Arts."

"I have five children so 'The Home' didn't thrill me," she said.

Blackburn and Thiele have worked together in art restoration for about five years, Blackburn said. Their company, Artistic Restorations, is based in Wichita. They subcontract with Nick's Carpetrite of Wichita, and much of their work is artwork damaged in house fires, Blackburn said.

Blackburn said that as artists, they already knew how to restore paintings.

Restoration of the murals is part of the $30-million library expansion and renovation project.

STEVE HEBERT/Collegian

BLOOD, SWEAT AND TEARS, was what it took to restore the cathedral room murals in the Farrell Library. The four murals, which were restored by restoring artisits Louise Thiele and Esther Blackburn, symbolize the four major fields of study at the former K-State Agricultural College.

Espresso Coffee Stains Espresso
Whole Sandwich
TURKEY, ROAST BEEF, PASTRAMI
$2.99 EXP. 1-31-97
1140 Westloop Center
tucked away behind Little Caesars
537-0699

FREMONT LAUNDRY
304 Fremont 539-3261
Full-Service Drop-off
(wash, dry & fold)
Reg. $155.80
Special $88.80
only $5.55/week w/coupon book
Attendant On Duty
Student Coupon Book $88.80
Full Semester of Laundry at a 44% Savings
QUALITY IS OUR TRADITION

JANUARY.
Cabernet Sauvignon.
J. LOHR ESTATE Reg. 12.99 $10.78
Full-Bodied Cabernet...Soft Tanning Finish...
RAYMOND NAPA ESTATE Reg. 11.99 $9.88
Rich Raspberry and Cherry Flavors...Bold...
VICHON COASTAL Reg. 12.99 $8.98
Owned By Robert Mondavi...Very Fruity...Excellent...
PEPPERWOOD GROVE Reg. 8.99 $6.76
Soft, Bright Flavors of Raspberries and Blackberries...
MONTEREY VINEYARDS Reg. 7.99 $6.47
Black Cherry Aromas with a Medium Full
FORTANT DE FRANCE Reg. 7.99 $6.47
Rich Raspberry and Cedar Flavors Abound in the Cabernet...
All Cabernet Sauvignon in Jan 10% Off
All prices refer to 750mL bottles. Prices are not good with any other discount.
DEAN LIQUOR
Aggieville • 539-5269

We Care Enough to Listen FONE Crisis
Volunteer Training:
Do you like to help people?
Are you a good listener?
Call to Register
537-0999

IMPRESSIONS
HAIR DESIGN & NAIL STUDIO
Let us Re-Fashion your image for 1997.
$5 OFF
• Permanent Waves
•Highlights
Ask for Frank
Specializes in Massage
Gift Certificates Available
(Offer exp. 2-28-97)
REDKEN
5TH AVENUE NYC 1129 MORO 537-1332

BLUE KEY
LEADING THE WAY
Blue Key applications are available in 102 Holton Hall and the SGA office.
Blue Key Informational Meeting will be on Tuesday, January 21, 7 p.m., Union, Big 12 Room.

DON'T TELL YOUR MOMMA
SPRING BREAK 97
SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, TX
LET'S PADRE
TOLL FREE CENTRAL RESERVATIONS
1-800-SUNCHASE
"Free Charlie's T-Shirt for the first 2,000 to book" together... we're going places
HIT THE WEB AT: http://www.sunchase.com
1-800-SOPADRE
www.sopadre.com/springbreak
SURF THE NET AND ENTER THE ISLAND SWEEPSTAKES
FIND AZTEC-TEX ON THE WEB
Breakers that Know How to Break... Break at the Best...Let's Party!!!
Sheraton Fiesta South Padre Island Beach Resort
Beachside Condominiums & Rooms Available
For Reservations & Information Call
1-800-222-4010 1-210-761-6551
Island Reservation Service
Our friendly agents can help accommodate you and your amigos this Spring Break.
Budget rated efficiencies • 3 bedroom deluxe condos • Round trip transfers from airport
1-800-926-6926 P.O. Box 3469 • SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, TX 78597
Padre South
The hottest place to Padre!
Right on the beach! Reserve your place before February 1, 1997, and we'll cut 10% off your rate!
Rooms are going fast. Call 210-761-4951 today!
Padre South, 1500 Gulf Boulevard, South Padre Island, TX 78597
210-761-4951 fax 210-761-4951 xt. 116
Take A Break...It's Spring Break!
Blast Off for the Holidays at the "Best" Beachside Inn.
For Reservations & Information Call
1-800-531-7405 1-210-761-5401
Holiday Inn SunSpree Resort South Padre Island
Radisson
Spring Break & Coca-Cola Party Headquarters
Located on ten acres beachfront
For Reservations call:
1-800-292-7704
210-761-6511
Radisson Resort South Padre Island
Spring Break '97
A Complete Tropical Resort Directly on the Beach. Featuring the Beachside Cabana Bar, the Largest Indoor Dance Club on the Island. Great Pool Area Surrounded by Cascading Water, Restaurant and Bar, Tennis Courts, Water Sports, A 12-Story Hotel with Standard Rooms, Kitchenettes, and Suites. Also Two and Three Bedroom Condominiums.
Rates starting at $99.00 per nt.*
Bahia Mar
BAHIA MAR RESORT 800-99-PADRE
6300 Padre Blvd., South Padre Island, Texas
* The price quoted is based on a standard room, 2 persons, minimum 3 night stay. Other restrictions apply. Offer expires at Management Discretion.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
K-STATE LIFE
TUESDAY, JANUARY 21, 1997

VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITIES IN MANHATTAN HIGHLIGHTED

▶ Look for the upcoming series of stories on how students give back to the community by contributing their time, talent and heart in the Manhattan area. The series will begin in the Collegian on Thursday with a profile of Red Cross volunteerism.

SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
JILL JARSULIC
e-mail: (jjar@ksu.edu)

THIS WEEK

Super Bowl Special
The Collegian will present its coverage of this year's Super Bowl as Green Bay gets ready to take on the New England Patriots in New Orleans.

LOOKING BACK

the past year brought defeat for some, exhilaration for others

At K-State, national and world headlines sometimes took a back seat to the tempo of life in Manhattan

The official announcement that the Wildcats were going to the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day in Dallas to face Brigham Young University came Dec. 8. K-State fans set Cotton Bowl records for ticket sales. More than 40,000 fans were in Dallas to cheer on the Cats. The Cats lost to BYU, 19-15.

▶ Chris Canty, all-America cornerback, was arrested for DUI just hours after the football team received word it would play in the Cotton Bowl. Canty later issued an apology and removed his name from all three top-defensive award ballots. Canty was a finalist for the Jim Thorpe Award, the Bronko Nagurski Trophy and the Maxwell Defensive Award.

▶ Student Senator Chris Avila was arrested on a warrant for lewd and lascivious behavior. Avila later pleaded innocent.

▶ Steve Fritz, K-State assistant track and field coach, placed fourth in the decathlon at the Olympic Games in Atlanta. A torn hamstring kept Ed Broxterman from making the opening height in the high-jump competition.

▶ On Oct. 1, the minimum wage increased to $4.75, and Sept. 1, 1997, it will increase to $5.15 per hour. President Clinton signed the Small Business Job Protection Act of 1996 on Aug. 20.

▶ Mike Stoops, football co-defensive coordinator, was arrested for DUI and transportation of an open container Sept. 8.

▶ The new mail-in fee-payment system was used for the spring 1997 semester. Statements for tuition and fees were mailed to students the first week of December with a payment deadline of Jan. 8.

▶ The 1996 FEI World Championship Equine Endurance Event was held at Rock Springs 4-H Center near Junction City. The event was a 100-mile horse race with competitors from around the world. The event was Sept. 16-22.

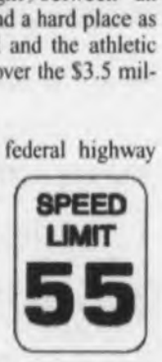
▶ Talk-show host Phil Donahue spoke to journalism students Nov. 4. He talked about his talk show, politics and the status of society in America. Donahue was invited to visit Manhattan by Mayor Sydney Carlin.

Donahue

▶ In early October, gamma hydroxybutyric acid, a drug similar to the Rohypnol pill, or "roofies," surfaced in Manhattan. GHB acts as a strong anesthetic that depresses the central nervous system when placed in alcoholic drinks.

Victims might have ingested the drug in their alcoholic beverages at area bars or parties.

▶ The Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art was opened Oct. 13. Midwestern and local art is a theme of the art museum. Ross and Marianna Kistler donated $3 million.



▶ Marlin Fitzwater, former press secretary for Presidents Reagan and Bush and a K-State alumnus, returned to K-State to deliver the 108th Landon Lecture on Nov. 21. Fitzwater spoke of the changing role of the media in today's society.

▶ Former Sen. Nancy Kassebaum spoke at the 107th Landon Lecture named for her father, Gov. Alf Landon, on Sept. 10. Kassebaum retired after 18 years in the U.S. Senate representing Kansas.

Kassebaum

▶ Controversy over rising ticket and concession prices and student fees surrounded the Title IX debate. Title IX legislation was passed in 1972 to ensure equality in sports for women. Students were caught between an administrative rock and a hard place as President Jon Wefald and the athletic department tried to cover the $3.5 million debt.

▶ Rather than lose federal highway funding, the state transportation committee recommended speed limits be increased to 70 mph on multi-lane separated highways. Drivers began traveling faster in March.

▶ In February, women's basketball coach Brian Agler and senior point guard Carlene Mitchell were suspended for alleged violations of NCAA rules. Jack Hartman, the winningest coach in K-State history, was named interim coach. Deb Patterson, assistant coach at Vanderbilt, was hired in April. Agler left K-State for the ABL.

▶ Radio play-by-play man Mitch Holthus announced his resignation as the Voice of the Kansas State Wildcats on March 5. For 13 years, Holthus was heard and seen during Cat games and in local commercials. Greg Sharpe replaced Holthus.

▶ Predicted to go nowhere, the men's basketball team nabbed the No. 10 seed in the East regional of the NCAA tournament.

The Cats (17-11) lost to New Mexico (27-4) by a score of 69-48.

▶ Citizens of the world mourned the deaths of 28 kindergartners and one teacher March 13 in Dunblane, Scotland. Dunblane resident and former Boy Scouts Association member Thomas Hamilton, 43, opened fire on the students in the school gymnasium.

▶ Early in April, federal agents searched the cabin of Theodore John Kaczynski in connection with the Unabomber case. Fifty-three-year-old Kaczynski was charged with possessing bomb components, but the charge did not include the Unabomber attacks.

FBI sketch

▶ Former Nebraska quarterback Brook Berringer died in a plane crash near Raymond, Neb. Berringer was from Goodland. He was piloting the Piper Club two-seater when it went down.

▶ Ropin' in huge ticket sales, Garth Brooks returned to Bramlage Coliseum in April to perform two sold-out shows. Fans had to wait in line at Bramlage to get a wrist band that would admit them to the coliseum on the day tickets were actually sold. Some fans waited more than three hours.

▶ K-State linebacker David Damon was expelled in May after violating University sanctions. Damon's football scholarship was revoked after he was convicted of misdemeanor sexual assault.

ONE VOICE * ONE VOTE

President – Bill Clinton
U.S. Senate – Sam Brownback
U.S. House – Jim Ryun
Kansas Senate – Lana Oleen
Kansas House – Jeff Peterson
Kansas House – Kent Glasscock
County Commission – Bob Newsome
County Clerk – Rich Vargo

▶ Country Stampede had the attention of country fans for three days in June. The concert was at the Tuttle Creek River Pond Area.

According to police reports, a domestic disturbance ended in the death of David Shoop of Wichita. Tina Springwater, Shoop's girlfriend, was charged with second-degree murder.

▶ Timothy Leary, 1960s revolutionary who was known for making the drug LSD popular, died June 3. Leary, who coined the phrase "turn on, tune in, drop out," was diagnosed with terminal cancer in January 1995.

Leary

PRESIDENT CLINTON and the first lady wave to the crowd gathered at the Old State House in Little Rock, Ark., on election night. Clinton was re-elected on the Democratic ticket for a second term in the White House.

BRANDON WHITE/Collegian

FORMER SENATOR and presidential candidate Bob Dole, above, greets supporters in Abilene. Dole spoke at the Eisenhower Library in August.

JILL JARSULIC/Collegian

GARTH BROOKS entertains a large crowd at Bramlage Coliseum during a tour stop in Manhattan last April.

STEVE HEBERT/Collegian

Yeltsin displays purple pride for campaign

ANDREW FRANCIS
staff writer

K-State sweatshirts and logos are a common sight in the heart of Kansas, but they're not common on Russian President Boris Yeltsin.

A photo of Yeltsin wearing a K-State sweatshirt appeared in a brochure promoting the president's re-election campaign this past summer.

Yeltsin is shown relaxing with a Russian newspaper, wearing a sweatshirt that features the lettering "K-State" across the shirt, along with the University seal.

Tatiana Okolzina, wife of math professor Lev Kapitanski, saw the brochure in St. Petersburg, Russia, this past summer.

She was visiting family and returned in November.

Walter Kolonosky, professor of modern languages, received a copy of the photo from Kapitanski, then passed it along to University President Jon Wefald.

K-State officials said the sweatshirt is probably the same shirt Wefald presented to Yeltsin during Yeltsin's Russian agricultural tour of the United States in 1992. The tour included a stop at a wheat farm in south-central Kansas.

"I'm sure he gets a lot of sweatshirts from various institutions, but it was marvelous he decided to wear ours," Kolonosky said.

Kolonosky said Yeltsin may have been relaxing after a game of tennis.

"He is a tennis buff and tries to play as often as he can," Kolonosky said.

Yeltsin is apparently the biggest name to publicly wear a K-State garment since actor Michael J. Fox wore a purple and white sweatshirt in the 1987 film, "The Secret of My Success."

This past month, the 66-year-old Yeltsin returned to his presidential duties in the Kremlin since undergoing quintuple bypass heart surgery on Nov. 5.

SHUTDOWN

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

our players and was big on the boards."

But in the second half, the Cats couldn't find an answer to stopping the duo.

Battie scored at will down low, scoring on four of Tech's first seven possessions in the second half.

"I don't think we did a bad job on him," K-State coach Tom Asbury said. "He's a real load, a terrific player, he will definitely play at the next level."

Battie made his presence felt on the defensive end as well, limiting Eaker to just four first-half points. Although he didn't record a block, he altered many of the Cats shots.

"He's tough to go against. You really have to adjust your shots at times to get it over him," Rhodes said.

While Battie was scoring down low, Carr was hitting from the outside. Eighteen of Carr's 23 points came from behind the three-point line. Two of his three-pointers came at the sound of the buzzer. The first came at the end of the first half, pulling the Red Raiders even, 38-38.

Then with 3:39 remaining in the game, Carr connected from the top of the arch as the shot clock expired. The basket stretched the Red Raider's lead to 68-60.

"That was a pretty big shot," Asbury said. "But you expect a player like him to make it. He had a lot of confidence the whole game. He and Battie are the reason they are as good as they are."

Battie finished the game with 26 points and 13 rebounds. It was his 12th double-double this season.

MOTIVATION

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

anything. It could only help. There is nothing to lose and everything to gain.

Like Young said, it's not like this team isn't trying. They are going out and hustling. Against Tech, players were chasing down loose balls and diving for them.

"I feel good about our energy level," Coach Tom Asbury said. "If we hustle like that every game, we will do fine."

The Cats are hitting the main part of their Big 12 schedule. Four of their next five games are on the road. Their only home game in that span is against a Colorado team that is on fire.

Bringing an attitude with them to these games could be just what the Cats need in those dreaded second halves.

This team has athletes that can score. They have the potential to beat some good teams in the conference. But if they continue to be complacent with the lack of play in the second half, things could only get worse.

Read the Collegian.
It's news you can use.

This coupon good for
Moo Goo Gai Pan $4.40
HUNAM EXPRESS
1116 Moro
537-0886
Mon.-Sat.
11 a.m.-1 a.m.
Sun.
11 a.m.-Midnight
Dine-in & carryout
All You Can Eat Buffet for Lunch and Supper
FREE DELIVERY
(Minimum order $9)
Expires 2-4-97
Not valid with any other specials, coupons, or on deliveries.

Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road • Across from Goodnow Hall
BOOKS
SELF-SERVE COPIES
RESUMES
WORD PROCESSING
NEWSPAPERS
DESKTOP PUBLISHING
FAX SERVICE
GREETING CARDS
Don't settle for OLD NEWS
The New York Times
Special Academic Subscription Rate
53¢
($38.16 total)
Save 47 % off the cover price
Read the New York Times the day of publication
(913) 776-3771
Fax: (913) 776-1009
E-mail: cbcbkcpy@interkan.net

Beat the Winter Blahs
With A Make-Over and get
$5.00 OFF Any Service
Not valid with any other promotion.
#23
Hair Experts Design Team 776-4455

This Week's Specials
Sancho or Burrito $1.40 (reg. $1.80)
Taco Dinner $2.15 (reg. $2.90)
Good through 1-25-97
TACO HUT
Sun.-Thurs. 11 a.m.-10 p.m.
Fri.-Sat. 11 a.m.-Midnight
"Where good friends get together"
Overlooking Westloop
2809 Claflin
539-2091

Taco Tuesday at Bobby T's
50¢ Tacos (Chicken or Beef, Hard or Soft Shell)
$1 Margaritas (Reg. or Strawberry)
$1 Frosty Mugs
•Bobby T's•Candlewood Shopping Center•
Featuring Daily Drink & Food Specials 4:30-9:30 p.m.

No, your Mom doesn't live here.
You could wait until you go home and have your mom do your laundry, you could spend all your money at the coin-operated laundry...or you could rent a GE washer and dryer for just $14.95 a month each.
$14.95 a month each GE Washer or dryer
Applies to used equipment
Your Mom would approve.
Ask for RANDY • 776-9454
"We're more than a Hardware Store"
ACE MIDWEST APPLIANCE HARDWARE SERVICES
800 Tuttle Creek Blvd. • Mon.-Sat. 8:30-9, Sun. 10-6

COTTONWOOD RACQUET CLUB
offers:
3 indoor/3 outdoor Tennis Courts
2 Racquetball Courts
Free Weights & Machines
Treadmill/Bicycles/Stepper
Pro-shop with Racquet Stringing
Whirlpool & Sauna
Family • Single • Student memberships
3615 Claflin 776-6060
(West on Claflin at Hudson)

Raoul's Escondido
BUY ONE BUFFET, GET THE SECOND FOR ½ PRICE
Expires May 31, 1997
Lunch buffet M - F
11 a.m. - 1:45 p.m.
Home of Mary's Famous Margaritas
Raoul's Escondido
"Manhattan's Taste of Mexico"
215 Seth Child Road
539-3410
Across from Seth Child Cinema

Welcome Back Students!
WHOLESALE BEAUTY CLUB & CLUB BEAUTY SALON
Great Deals
• Nexxus, Joico, & Motions
Buy 1 Get 1 at 1/2 Price
• Conair 2 inch jumbo iron only $14.95
• Sebastian 13oz. bonus size Shaper and Shine plus Hair Spray only $8.99
• Paul Mitchell The Conditioner Hair Sculpting Lotion, Freeze and Shine, and The Detangler all 8oz. sizes are only $3.99 (reg. $4.65 - $6.50)
Offers good thru Feb. 1, 1997
Many other fantastic specials throughout the store!
Salon Specials
Early Bird Specials
25% OFF all regularly priced salon services for appointments from 9 a.m. - 11:30 a.m. everyday.
Not an early bird...
15% OFF all regularly priced salon services for appointments from 1 - 4 p.m. everyday.
WHOLESALE BEAUTY CLUB & CLUB BEAUTY SALON
409 Poyntz~Manhattan, Store~539-5999 Salon~539- 6969
Monday~Saturday 9-8 Sunday 1-5

WELCOME BACK STUDENTS!
Don't miss our INVENTORY CLEARANCE SALE.
Our buyers have just returned from the Consumer Electronics Show where they have ordered New '97 products. We must sell out our existing inventory.
Many items at Dealers Cost!
Hurry Quantities Limited.
HOME STEREO SYSTEMS-COMPONENTS-SPEAKERS-CARS STEREOS
ADCOM Precision Power PIONEER The Art of Entertainment ALPINE
SONY Rockford Fosgate Cerwin-Vega! MB QUART
DENON KENWOOD Definitive Technology
AUDIO JUNCTION, INC.
Hi Fi — Car Stereo — Video
Monday - Friday 10-7
Saturday 10-5
307 Ft. Riley Blvd.
587-4646

A&E EDITOR
PORTIA SISCO
e-mail: (andra@ksu.edu)

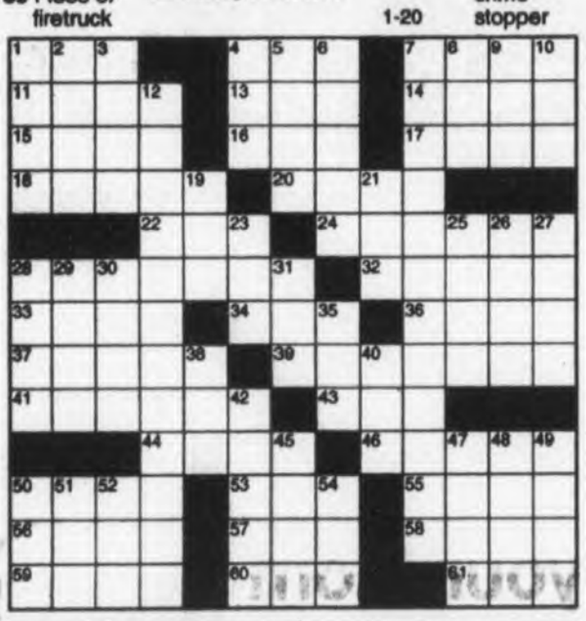
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
HOME EC.
TUESDAY, JANUARY 21, 1997

WHAT'S THIS HOME EC. STUFF ALL ABOUT?

▶ Has your shirt lost a button? Are you looking for the perfect restaurant for that romantic first date? Check out the Home Ec. page for recipes, the latest fashion trends and food.

▶ DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 I love, to Livy
4 Handle clumsily
7 Hotel employee
11 "That was no —..."
13 Round Table address
14 Competent
15 Lotion additive
16 "— not choose to run"
17 Jodie Foster movie
18 Alley cat, e.g.
20 Part of A.D.
22 Roulette bet
24 Hearty laugh
28 Midwestern capital
32 Thespian's place
33 Unyielding
34 Ingredient in Long Island ice tea
36 Palette assortment
37 Aquarium fish
39 Piece of firetruck equipment
41 They're responsible for museum holdups
43 Worker's due
44 Centrifuge insert
46 Majestic
50 Amahl's night visitors
53 AAA job
55 — mater
56 Reed instrument
57 Candle count
58 Freeway access
59 Flat-bottomed vessel
60 San Francisco's — Hill
61 Tijuana two



DOWN
1 Reaction re Yorick
2 Beer-making need
3 Stench
4 Penultimate Greek letter
5 Verdi opera
6 Mistaken
7 Lindbergh was Time's first
8 Rushmore carving
9 Misfortune
10 East Coast st.
12 Annual magazine issue, often
19 Indubitably
21 Greek consonants
23 Biscuit lover, often
25 Satyr's counterpart
26 Writer James
27 Into the sunset
28 Teensy bit
29 Neighborhood
30 Morse morsels
31 0
35 Pinch
38 Actress MacGraw
40 A long way off
42 Soul man?
45 Trademark symbol
47 Pleased
48 Bullets
49 Track circuits
50 Calendar pp.
51 One network
52 Sticky stuff
54 Spider-Man's crime-stopper

Solution time: 24 min.

	M	O	T	T	O		J	A	C	O	B
M	E	S	H	E	D		E	M	O	T	E	S
E	X	P	O	S	E		Z	O	D	I	A	C
D	I	R		T	U	B	E	S		O	V	A
A	C	E	S		M	O	B		U	S	E	R
L	O	Y	A	L		B	E	E	P	E	R	S
			B	O	S		L	A	S
P	A	R	L	A	Y	S		R	E	B	U	S
I	N	E	E		N	A	P		T	U	N	A
E	T	C		G	O	T	A	T		T	I	X
R	E	A	G	A	N		R	O	T	A	T	E
S	U	P	P	L	Y		C	R	A	N	E	S
	P	S	A	L	M		H	O	N	E	D

Saturday's answer

1-20

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

1-20 CRYPTOQUIP

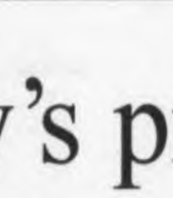
B'A ECS CZ CEEBEOCZO PDZAGPODM PDGQA EGMIQS JI PCQQIA C JCZA-CBAI.

Saturday's Cryptoquip:CAN'T SOMEONE FINALLY WRITE A CRITICAL HISTORY OF WATCHES ON TIME?

Today's Cryptoquip clue: P equals C

▶ MELVIN VS. THE WORLD

DINNER IS SERVED



Harry's provides a quiet place to enjoy quiet, romantic dinner

REVIEW BY PORTIA SISCO • ILLUSTRATION BY SCOTT M. LADD

The lights are turned low. Candles flicker at every table, and overhead the crystal chandelier shimmers dimly.

It's just another evening at Harry's Uptown Supper Club, 418 Poyntz Ave.

Harry's features a menu with a wide selection. It includes pizzas, pastas, salads, entrees, poultry, seafood, beef and pork.

Specialty items, such as raspberry peppercorn duck and grilled blackjack chicken breast are also featured on the dinner menu.

The blackjack chicken breast is covered in Harry's tangy blackjack-barbecue sauce.

Steaks on the menu include the filet mignon, top sirloin and Kansas City strip.

Another specialty is the Uptown Mixed Grille. This sampler plate features a tender filet of beef, a pork tenderloin and a marinated chicken breast. It is topped by fresh mushrooms with a rich demi-glace sauce.

The meat is lean and juicy and is served slightly pink.

These dinner selections come with zucchini and fresh peas in the pods and a choice of a baked potato, twice baked potato, rice or pasta with alfredo or marinara sauce.

The spicy marinara sauce is thick with large chunks of zesty tomatoes. It tastes strongly of basil and oregano.

Dinner rolls rolled in white cloth napkins are served in a wire basket with fresh salad.

When I went, the service at Harry's was continuous throughout the meal. The servers were quiet, polite and efficient.

Dining is quiet and private, with the lights dimmed low and every table is separated by a width of several feet.

Classical music is played softly in the background, emphasizing the quiet elegance of the room.

All of the tables are covered in white tablecloths and the chairs are high-backed and upholstered, very similar to a living room recliner. To add a touch of class, each table is set with crystal salt and pepper shakers and lighter candles.

When diners enter, they walk past an elevator and down a hallway past a grand staircase with a curving bannister to the dining area.

Near the front of the building, Harry's also offers an old-fashioned bar with barstools.

Harry's offers very formal dining, despite the fact that guests wear everything from K-State sweatshirts to three-piece suits.

Presentation is key to the atmosphere. Creamy raspberry cheesecake is served on a plate covered in raspberry sauce and powdered sugar. The cheesecake has a graham cracker crust and a thin layer of chocolate coating. To the side, whipped cream is served with sprigs of mint.

A back room offers private dining that can be reserved for parties.

Harry's takes diners back into the past to a time of elegance and opulence. At Harry's, dining isn't just a meal. It's an experience.

Harry's is located next to the courthouse, on the ground floor of the historic Wareham Hotel.

▶ DILBERT

DIVERSIONS MUTATED!

Monday, get weekend reviews in Rewind.
Tuesday, whet your appetite with food features in Home Ec.
Wednesday, get health information and features from Health&Sex.
Thursday, catch up on money matters in Currency.
Friday, cut loose with Impulse.

Shear Dynamics
Start Your Semester Off With A New Look!
1215 Laramie 776-9100

$30 full set of nails
$16 fill, $10 manicure
$18 pedicure
Add a paraffin dip for $5
Expires 2-1-97

$10 men's haircut & style or $15 women's haircut & style with Nikki or Shiloh
Expires 2-1-97

1 hour massage - $25
1/2 hour massage - $20
Basic facial - $25
Expires 2-1-97

$10 off any perm or color with a haircut & style with Nikki, Shiloh, or Sandy
Expires 2-1-97

WE USE AND RECOMMEND Matrix ESSENTIALS
Prices not good with any other coupons or specials
Buy one product, get one half price
SYSTÈME BIOLAGE

SUPER SUBS AT SUPER BOWL PRICES, ONLY AT

4 FT. AND 6 FT. SUBS

Place your order before Wednesday, Jan. 22 and receive a 10% discount on 4 FT and 6 FT SUBS.

211 S. Seth Childs * 537-2411 * We Deliver

RECALL

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

advises women to use a back-up contraceptive to be safe.

"They're at significantly higher risk of pregnancy," said FDA contraceptive chief Lisa Rarick.

Only Ovcon 35's 28-day formula is involved in the recall.

Lannie Zweimiller, director of Lafene, said Lafene does not distribute Ovcon 35.

"We did look into the recall and found we were not affected," Zweimiller said.

Shirley Arck, pharmacist at Barry's Drug Center, said Barry's Drug Center does carry the Ovcon brands, but she did not think there would be any students affected by the recall.

"I cannot think of a student we have on it," Arck said.

Paul Hayen, pharmacist at the Medicine Shoppe, said he does not have many customers who use birth control pills, and the pharmacy does not carry the Ovcon brand.

The Manhattan Wal-Mart pharmacy said it could not comment on the recall because it has not received information from either Bristol-Myers or the FDA.

The Ovcon 35 comes in a blister pack with four rows of seven tablets. The rows represent weeks and the tablets are to be taken in order. The first three rows of peach-colored tablets contain the birth control, while the last row contains green-colored dummy pills that are taken during menstruation.

About a half-dozen packages have been discovered in one Ovcon batch that had the green-dummy pills positioned to be taken during week 1 instead of week 4, Bristol-Myers said.

The batch is Lot No. H6J272A. Under the recall, women who have packs from that lot may return them to their pharmacies for a free replacement.

Check the pills' colors, the FDA advised.

Only pill veterans who take another week of green pills after menstruation instead of taking the active pills are at risk, Rarick said. Women whose recalled Ovcon was their first-ever birth control would be under doctors' orders to use a back-up contraceptive during the first month anyway, she said.

Taking the dummy pills during the wrong week could temporarily disrupt a woman's menstrual cycle, Bristol-Myers said.

Because most women do not begin ovulating until two weeks after menstruation — and pregnancy only occurs during ovulation — it is unlikely women who did not notice the mix-up and took the green dummy pills would get pregnant, said Bristol-Myers' Dr. Sharon Henry.

However, the pills' label says women may become pregnant if they have sex within seven days of missing two or more of the peach pills during either week 1 or week 2. The label also instructs them to use a back-up contraceptive during those seven days.

Bristol-Myers spokesman Patrick Donahue said few of the 150,000 packs in this batch are believed to be mispackaged and many probably are still on pharmacy shelves because they were not shipped until mid-December.

The Associated Press contributed to this story.

CLINTON

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

the slain civil rights leader whose birthday is honored today.

He started his second inaugural speech the same way he began his first — my fellow citizens. But from there it bore little resemblance to the speech four years ago that demanded dramatic change.

"We need a government for a new century," Clinton said. "A government that is smaller, lives within its means and does more with less."

Casting a shadow over the second-term celebrations are legal and ethical problems lingering from the first term: Whitewater, questionable fundraising, the piles of FBI files and Paula Jones' sexual harassment allegations.

Four years ago, Clinton swept in from Arkansas promising bold action and cleaner government. The economy was weak, the federal government was $4 trillion in debt, and a world of foreign policy problems awaited his attention.

The economy recovered, budget deficits have ebbed and hopes for stability have grudgingly taken root in Bosnia, the Middle East, Haiti and Northern Ireland.

Still, Clinton lost his Democratic majority in Congress, saw his plan to revamp health care fail and learned to repress the part of his nature that demanded dramatic change in his first inaugural address. He won re-election on a platform of bite-sized, low-cost initiatives, such as helping schools require student uniforms.

Left for later will be details of his other goals: balance the budget, move millions from welfare to work, help improve schools and strengthen campaign finance laws.

UNION

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Paul Ashley, associate vice president, said he and Chambers wanted to create an outdoor room with the plaza.

"We wanted to create a space you could relax in," Ashley said. "We wanted to make a gesture with a water feature (fountain) that would welcome the pedestrian into the Union from the angular walkway from the main campus."

The plaza design also includes a covered portico entrance, which is unattached to the north facade of the building.

"The arrival at the Union can actually begin outdoors," Ebert said.

Ebert said the flags and lighting are fun attractions that will draw people to the space.

"We're going to do everything we can to eliminate the feel of a street."

Winston Place Apartments

"The Place You Can Come Home To"

Spacious studio, one and two bedroom apartments

•Water/Trash Paid
•Small Pets OK
•Pool/Weight Room
•Laundry on-site

539-9339

Kimball & Seaton Avenue

PETS 'N' STUFF

539-9494 Reptiles & Snakes 1105 Waters

HAVE YOU SEEN DIVERSIONS LATELY? IT'S DIFFERENT.

Pregnancy Testing Center

539-3338

•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment

Located across from campus in Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

NAIL Sale

$15 full set
$20 full set OPI Micro-bond Gels
$20 full set Acrylic with tips

save 50% off regular prices

2 week guarantee

Offer expires Jan. 31, 1997

Reflections Hair Company

776-1330 314 E. Tuttle Creek Plaza

for Adults Only

Scholarship opportunities for adult students (full and part-time, undergrad and grad).

Call for an appointment
532-6434
Adult Student Services

Claflin Books and Copies

1814 Claflin Road • Across from Goodnow Hall

BOOKS
SELF-SERVE COPIES
RESUMES
WORD PROCESSING
NEWSPAPERS
DESKTOP PUBLISHING
FAX SERVICE
GREETING CARDS

Welcome (Back)!

Monday-Thursday: 7am-Midnight
Friday: 7am-7pm
Saturday: 9am-5pm
Sunday: 10am-Midnight

(913) 776-3771
Fax: (913) 776-1009
E-mail: cbcbkcpy@interkan.net

SMART CHOICE

"It's always nice to have choices in life. ITI's rapid growth and professional training means more career choices and advancement opportunities for you. When it comes to the teleservices industry, ITI isn't just the smart choice...it's the only choice."

NEVER UNDERESTIMATE THE IMPACT OF A POWERFUL COMPANY

$6.00/HR

$ Flexible Scheduling
$ Paid Vacations
$ Paid Training
$ Casual Dress
$ Insurance
$ 401K Plan

Day Shifts Available
Choose your hours; evening or weekend; Part-time or full-time.

SMART CHOICE, HUH!

CALL TODAY
776-5000
Or apply in person:
3224 Kimball
Manhattan, KS

ITI: Positively Professional

ITI MARKETING SERVICES
The Teleservices Solution

WAREHOUSE CLEAR-OUT

Reduced Drastically

Bound Area Rugs

4x6 STARTING AT ONLY $19.99 5x8 STARTING AT ONLY $29.99

6x9 STARTING AT ONLY $39.99 9x12 STARTING AT ONLY $79.99

Over 500 IN STOCK to choose from!!!

90 Days Same as cash

Mon.-Fri. 8:30-5:30 p.m.
Sat. 9:30-4 p.m.
Financing Available

Bryant Carpet
Heartland Home Interiors
520 Pillsbury Dr. Manhattan, Ks. 66502
776-4367

Moonlight Madness SALE

5:00-8:00 p.m.
Tuesday, January 21

Up to 70% OFF

Fall and Winter Merchandise

including

Sweaters	$7 and up	Slacks	$8 and up
Skirts	$7 and up	Blazers	$35 and up
Blouses	$12 and up	Coats	$35 and up
Accessories	$1 and up	Belts	$1 and up

1225 Moro
Aggieville

Woody's ladies

Closed 3:30-5:00 for staff break

TW LONGHORNS

Aggieville's Premier Country Bar

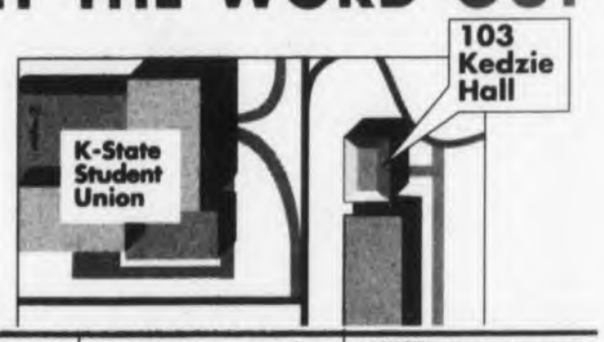
WELCOME BACK STUDENTS!

Weekly Drink Specials

TUES. $1 DRINKS
No Cover Before 10 P.M.
Free Dance Lessons Start Jan. 28, 7-8:30 P.M.

WED. LADIES NITE
No Cover For Ladies
$1 Bottles

THURS. THIRSTY THURSDAYS
$7 Cover
Free Beverages w/ Armband
- EXCEPT PITCHERS
*Rocky Mountain Oyster Fry 7-10 P.M.



FRI. $1 CAN SPECIAL
$1.75 Margaritas

SAT. $1.50 WINE COOLERS
$1.75 Well Special

1115 Moro Aggieville
More Info 776-8770

CLASSIFIEDS

GET THE WORD OUT

• DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classified display must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.

• HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an established account with Student Publications Inc.

Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks.

•CALL OR STOP BY

To place your classified, call 532-6555.

Place your classified ad in 103 Kedzie.

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010

Announcements

COLLEGE FINANCIAL AID -Student Financial Services has information on 3,400+ public and private sector funding sources. A must for anyone seeking financial aid! For information: 1-800-263-6495 ext.F57689.

Wedding Open House

January 25 and 26

Drawings for free gifts!

Mr. P's Party Outlet

Manhattan, KS 66502
318 Poyntz 776-7547

Topeka Capital-Journal

SEMESTER SPECIAL

$31

call 776-1552

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 539-3733.

SALE ON Mary Kay products. Great opportunity to purchase Mary Kay products at a reduced rate. Call Marianne at 565-0754.

SCUBA DIVE Dreaming of those warm nights and clear waters... Learn to dive now for spring break and summer. Classes now forming. Call David Garvin, PADI, Creative Travel and Scuba, 539-0531.

Need some Extra Cash

It's quick.
It's easy.
You can earn $80 a week, just by donating plasma.
Ask our friendly staff for details.

Manhattan Biomedical Center NABI

776-9177

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.
1130 Gardenway

SCUBA KSU classes starting Jan. 25th. NAUI and YMCA certification offered. Come join the fun. Contact UFM for info and registration 539-8763.

ZEN MEDITATION instruction. The Manhattan Zen group offers two lectures and instruction by Professor L. Rappoport, Wednesday January 22 and Tuesday January 28, 7:30- 9:00p.m., At 121-A south 4th st. Second floor, room 211. Bring a sitting cushion. No charge.

020

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

BIKE MITTEN found in Kedzie restroom Jan. 16. Claim in 103 Kedzie.

030

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

DEBORAH FROM Wakeeney (studying Criminal Justice), thank you, to you and your friends for buying me the Beck's at Last Chance on Monday 12/17 and for listening to an "old" Wildcat reminisce. Good luck in your internship in Junction City. Paul/ Jerz (the Arbitrator from Rochester, NY).

040

Meetings/ Events

CLERGY ABUSE Support Group for women who have experienced clergy abuse. Confidential! For more information call Ann 537-3936 or Adene 776-6884.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

ABSOLUTELY THE best three of four-bedroom deal you'll find. One block from campus. Washer/ dryer etc. 539-9345.

CONVENIENT BASEMENT one-bedroom apartment on quiet street very near campus. Washer, dryer, comfy, $275, day 532-4964. Eve 539-3134.

ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO apartment one block east of campus. Furnished or unfurnished. Ample parking, quiet conditions. $250. 776-3624.

TWO-BEDROOM, ONE block east of campus. 539-6236.

TWO-BEDROOM, THREE blocks east of campus, ample parking, quiet conditions, reasonable rent. 776-3624.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

814 THURSTON studio apartment water/ trash paid. No pets, available now, five month or more lease, $275. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE NOW. 915 Claflin, three-bedroom apartment heat, water, trash paid. Newly redecorated. No pets. $525. Call 539-3085.

AVAILABLE NOW. Leases through May. Rent negotiable. Most utilities paid. Cat ok. 537-8389, leave message please- will call as soon as possible.

AVAILABLE NOW: one-bedroom apt in quiet six-plex, adjacent to west campus. Central air and heat, appliances, private parking. Water and trash paid. No pets. $320/ month. Please call 532-7569 between 8-5p.m. or leave message.

GOLD KEY apartments, two-bedroom available now, 1419 Leavenworth, $510. Water and trash paid. Stove, refrigerator, washer and dryer provided. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom. Close to campus and City Park. $475/ month. Available immediately. 776-1771, Elaine.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT two-bedroom basement by campus. 537-1550. Lease until July 97 on.

ONE-BEDROOM WITH study in Aggieville available now, 1130 Fremont, $275. Water and trash paid. Stove and refrigerator.

Leasing Now For August
- Fremont Apts
- Sandstone Apts
- College Heights
- Cambridge Square

Large 2-bedroom Units.
537-9064
Weekdays:
8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Sat. 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

Lawn care provided. Cats okay. Call MDI 776-3804.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS leasing one, two and three-bedroom apartments. Two pools, hot tub, horseshoes, volleyball. 539-2951.

PARKVIEW APARTMENT, two-bedroom available in February, 1026 Osage, $460. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher. On-site laundry and parking. Bedrooms have built-in student desks. No pets. Walk to KSU. Call MDI 776-3804.

ROYAL TOWER Apartments, four-bedroom/ two bath available in February, $860. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances with dishwasher and microwave. Fitness room, jacuzzi, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

STUDIO APARTMENT, one block from campus. (913)494-2240.

THREE-BEDROOM, CENTRAL air, one and one-half bath. Near campus. Laundry in complex. 537-1746.

TWO AND Three-bedroom apartments. Close to campus. 539-1713

TWO-BEDROOM $285. No smoking. No pets. 537-4016.

TWO-BEDROOM DUPLEX 2627 Claflin. Inspected and approved by code service section of Manhattan Fire services. No pets. Available, 539-3524.

TWO-BEDROOM HOUSE, Feb. 1. Two blocks from campus, nice, hardwood floors, storage. $500 month. 537-2968, leave message.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now, 1807 College Heights, $410. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now, 411 N 17th $360. Water and trash paid. No balcony, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now , 1854 Claflin, $365. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. Yes, cats are welcome. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now and February, 925 Denison, $410. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking. Newly remolded kithcens. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now and February, 1722 Laramie, $385. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking, walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

115

Rooms Available

ONE-BEDROOM, TWO blocks from campus. Freshly redecorated. Washer/ dryer. 776-4130.

120

For Rent- Houses

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Four-bedroom, one study house. Close to campus. $1,100 non-negotiable rent. Call 776-1340.

ONE, TWO, three-bedroom for non-smoking, non-drinking, no pets. 539-1554.

ONE-BEDROOM HOUSE. Two blocks from campus. No pets. $350. Desperate to rent. Available now! 565-0797.

TWO BLOCKS from campus. Three-bedroom, eat-in kitchen, living room, dining area, freshly redecorated, washer/ dryer. Second semester bargin. $600/ month. 776-4130.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT new bath and kitchen, washer/ dryer. Near city park. $350 plus deposit, 539-1145.

TWO-BEDROOM, VERY nice in Manhattan. Carpet, storage shed, cnetral air and heat, carpets, no pets. (913)238-2963.

130

For Rent- Mobile Homes

NICE, CLEAN, two-bedroom trailer near Manhattan. Call after 5p.m. (913)456-2325.

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

14X 70 Windsor. Two-bedrooms central air, all appliances, $10,500. 587-0119.

1984 MOBILE home in Redbud estates; three-bedroom, two bath; all appliances include dishwasher, washer/ dryer; $12,000 negotiable; 537-7526.

145

Roommate Wanted

$175/ MONTH plus one-half utilities. Own room in two-bedroom duplex. Available beginning January 1. 719 Leavenworth, 537-8651, leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share four-bedroom apartment. Near campus. Call 539-9165.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed immediately to share two-bedroom apartment. One-half block east of campus. Washer/ dryer. Call 587-4159. Leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted $210 rent plus one-third utilities. Walk to Aggieville and campus. 539-0543.

FEMALE ROOMMATE. Nice four-bedroom, one one-half bathroom house with washer/ dryer, $225. 776-0441

MALE ROOMMATE needed to take over lease for furnished apartment. One block from campus. $240 plus utilities. 565-9070.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Very nice two-bedroom apartment next to campus. Reasonable price, trash/ water paid. Available immediately. No smoking/ drinking/ pets. 565-9250 (Leave message).

MALE ROOMMATES wanted: nice clean spacious house for rent. One block from campus. $185/ month. Call 587-9052.

MALE STUDENTS needed to complete four-bedroom house, $200 each plus deposit. Located near campus. 776-1196.

MALE WANTED for furnished basement. No smoking/ drinking/ pets, please. Walk to KSU. 539-1554.

MALE/ FEMALE roommate needed to share four-bedroom, two bath house near campus. Central air, washer/ dryer, dishwasher, $212.50/ month. All bills split. 530 Bluemont. Call Briana, (816)455-6542.

NON-SMOKER TO share furnished two-bedroom apartment. $255 plus half utilities. Very close to campus. 1215 Bertrand. Call 539-8636.

ROOM FOR rent with own bathroom. 10 minute from campus in a brand new home room can be furnished if needed. $250 all bills paid. Smoking ok. (913)494-8791.

ROOMMATE NEED for two-bedroom apartment across from campus $137.50. Utilities paid. 539-8538.

ROOMMATE NEEDED at 1230 Vattier- directly across from campus. Private bedroom, washer/ dryer, fireplace. $155 per month plus utilities, 539-1269.

ROOMMATE NEEDED at 824 Laramie. Private bedroom, washer, dryer provided. $185 per month plus utilities. 587-8338.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share nice two-bedroom mobile home in Redbud Estates. Call Guy at 539-3503, 587-5711 or e-mail at graffix@kansas.net

ROOMMATE WANTED as soon as possible. Nice three-bedroom house. $210/ month plus one-third utilities. Call 539-0975.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share three-bedroom house. $250/ month plus one-half utilities. Washer/ dryer. Pets allowed. Fenced yard. Carrie 776-6563.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, close to campus and Aggieville, 822 fremont, 3rd floor, $150/ month , water and trash paid, 537-7087.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, furnished, close to campus, rent $274.50 plus KPL. Call 776-7457 or (913)367-6097 collect.

150

Sublease

$295 PLUS utilities. Charming one-bedroom cottage duplex available now. Parking and laundry facilities included. Near campus/ Aggieville. 719 Leavenworth. 537-8651.

$350 PLUS gas/ electric. One-bedroom. Spacious apartment three blocks west of campus. Parking and laundry. 537-8651.

AVAILABLE NOW! Female roommate needed to share two-bedroom apartment at Westchester Park. $244.50/ month plus one-half electricty. Call 776-8707 or 537-4666 Ext. 23. Ask for Joann.

HALF BLOCK from campus! Available now, female roommate needed for three-bedroom house. Completely furnished. 776-0604 or 587-9309.

ONE-BEDROOM ONE block from campus. Abailable immediately. Wildcat Mangement 537-2332.

ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO for sublease now until August. Rent is $200. Water, trash , electric paid. Call 539-4174 or (316)231-6854.

TWO-BEDROOM WITH balcony and dishwasher, one-half block from campus and Aggieville.Water and trash paid. Call 776-9353.

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY

235

Child Care

SEEKING RELIABLE student with car and no Tuesday classes for child care on Tuesdays in Christian home. Call 456-7899.

300 EMPLOYMENT/CAREERS

310

Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 537-0056.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$$$$ JOBS FOR SPRING SEMESTER $$$$ Need a good job and want the convenience, safety, and friendships a campus job offers! Apply now for a position in the residence hall dining centers. Class schedules and your preference for number of hours you wish to work are considered. Jobs available in Customer Service, Custodial/ Dishroom, and Production. Entry level pay is $4.90 per hour and raises are scheduled. Pick up a job application at: Derby dining Center, Secretary's office, room 129. Gramer Dining Center, Secretary's office, room 106. Van Zile dining Center, Secretary's office, room 111.

A GRAPHIC designer/ illustrator with computer access. Freelance employment. Flexible hours. Must have portfolio. Contact Eric at Office of Community Health 532-7750 or email: ezoller@oz.oznet.ksu.edu

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT -Fishing industry. Many earn up to $4000+/ month during peak season. Benefits often include transportation and/ or room and Board. For details: (206) 971-3510 ext-A57688.

ASSISTANT SCIENTIST (#304), Full-time, temporary position, not to exceed 12 months, int the Department Agronomy. B.S. degree in computer science plus six months experience with C++, Visual Basic, and Windows 3.1/ 95. Experience in forage management and/ or cow-calf production systems preferred. Send letter of application, resume, transcripts, and arrange for three letters of reference to be sent to: Dr. Gerry L. Posler, Head, Department of Agronomy, Throckmorton Plant Sciences Center, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506-5501. Application deadline: February 28, 1997. Kansas State University is an Affirmative Action/ equal opportunity employer. KSU encourages diversity among its employees.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Midwest Distributors P.O. Box 624, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate Response.

BABYSITTER ON Mondays 3:45p.m. -7:30p.m. Must have car. 539-6643

CAMP COUNSELORS for educational camp south of Kansas City. Can lead fishing, canoeing, crafts, games, and many more activities while teaching children 8- 14 about the outdoors. Lifeguard helpful. June 7- August 10. Must be sophomore or older. $1600 plus room and board. For details, send inquiry before February 7, 1997 to Wildwood, 7095 W. 399th St., LaCygne, KS 66040.

COLLEGE STUDENTS, part-time assistants needed for leasing. Must posses good attitude, team player, and work well with people. Apply in person at 2215 College Ave. Capstone trailer in afternoons after 2p.m.

CRUISE LINE positions! Up to $2,500 plus/ month. No experience necessary. Seasonal or full-time. current hiring details: (604) 878-9777 (24hrs.)

CRUISE SHIP EMPLOYMENT -Travel the world (Hawaii, Mexico, Caribbean) and earn an excellent income in the Cruise and Land- Tour industry. For details, call 1-206-971-3550 ext.C57689.

EARN $427 plus a week at home! Write for application: Generations, Dept. KSU, P.O. Box 13486, Atlanta, GA 300324, Genmarker@aol.com

EVENING AND WEEKEND CLASSES in hair design, ethnic hair design and nail technology. Start Feb. 4. Thousands in scholarships plus financial aid available. Free info. Call Crum's Beauty College @ 776-4794.

FONE CRISIS Center. Two-three staff positions available. Must be able to work evenings and weekends. Applications available at SGA in Student Union. 537-0999.

GRAPHIC ARTIST to work 10- 20 hours per week on campus. Interested in students majoring in this field of study. Please send resume to Box 2 c/oCollegian.

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assembling products at home. No experience. INFO (504)646-1700 DEPT. KS-6438

HIRING IMMEDIATELY! Student needed for part-time work demostrating Avery Dennison products on campus. Must be familiar with Miscrosoft Word, and willing to use own personal computer, with Windows software $10.00 per hour. Contact Lex Deines at 800-569-6461.

HORTICULTURAL SERVICES Inc. is seeking reliable individuals for full or part-time employment at our retail Garden Center. Sales experience and plant knowledge preferred. Above average wages and benefits. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (913)494-2418 or (913)776-0397.

HORTICULTURAL SERVICES Inc. is seeking reliable individuals for full or part time employment for our production, landscape and irrigation operations. Farm or landscape experience preferred. Above average wages and benefits. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (913)494-2418 or (913)776-0397.

JOB COACH: Part-time position available immediately. Responsible for assisting, supervising and training individuals placed on a job site. Coordinates with client, Vocational Rehabilitation and employer. Must have high school education and varied competitive employment experiences or be certified as a job coach. Please make inquiry to Dennis Winter, Pawnee Mental Health Services, Phone: (913)587-4333. EOE.

JOBS IN THE GREAT OUTDOORS- Positions are now available at National Parks, Forests and Wildlife Preserves. For employment program, call (206)971-3620 ext. N57688.

CAMP TAKAJO

for boys, Outstanding Maine camp noted for magnificent lakefront setting and exceptional facilities. Over 100 positions for heads and assistants in tennis, baseball, basketball, soccer, lacrosse, golf, street hockey, roller hockey, swimming, sailing, canoeing, waterskiing, SCUBA, archery, riflery, weight training, journalism, photography, videography, woodworking, ceramics, crafts, drawing and painting, nature study, radio and electronics, dramatics, piano accompanist, music instrumentalist, band director, backpacking, rock climbing, whitewater canoeing, ropes course, general (w/ youngest campers), secretarial. June 16 - August 24. Top salaries, room and board, travel provided. Call 800-250-8252. Or WRITE Camp Takajo c/o Mike Sherbun 2366 Cascade Terrace Grand Rapids MI 49546. Or FAX resume to 616-954-2950. A camp representative will be in Union Room 207 Wed., Feb. 5 from 10am-4pm. Walk-ins are welcomed!

LEASING CONSULTANT. Upscale apartment complex seeking individual to assist with leasing. Part-time during school, full-time in summer. 3.0 GPA. Sales experience preferred. Outgoing personality and excellent people skills. Training provided. Send resume to: P.O. Box 483, Manhattan, KS 66505-0483.

LUNCHROOM/ PLAYGROUND Supervisors- needed immediately for the rest of the 1996-97 school term. $4.75 per hour one and one-half to two hours per day. 11:00a.m.- 1:00p.m. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Ave., Manhattan, KS 587-2000. EOE.

MARKET INTERNSHIP available: Graphic Images Incorporated has several paid marketing internships, available to students who are currently involved with the fraternity and sorority system. Please contact our office between hours of 9a.m. to 5p.m. to schedule an interview (800)946-2434 ask for Steve Ray.

MEDICAL TRANSCRIPTIONIST for pathology laboratory. Ideal part-time position. Early evenings. Previous transcription experience preferred. Contact Pam as soon as possible at 539-5363 or bring resume or application to Petterson Clinical Laboratory at 1133 College Avenue, Building B, Manhattan, KS 66503. Equal Opportunity Employer.

NATIONAL PARK EMPLOYMENT -National Parks hire forestry workers, park rangers, firefighters, lifeguards, + volunteer and government positions. Excellent benefits + bonus potential. Call: 1-206-971-3620 ext.N57689.

PC/ NETWORK TECHNICIAN (20- 30 hours/ week, $6/ hour). Extensive knowledge of PC's required. Preference given to candidates with knowledge of Novell networks, TCP/IP configuration issues and PC diagnostic experience. Contact Glenn at Office of Information Systems, 2323 Anderson Ave., Suite 215, at 532-4781 or electronic mail to glenn@ksu.edu. Application deadline: January 24, 1997. Minorities, women and handicapped are encouraged to apply.

PERFECT STUDENT job. Earn $15/ hour in your spare time. No experience necessary. For more information, call 1(888)817-7027

PHOTOGRAPHER NEEDED to photo shoot special events on campus. Work hours vary according to event to cover. Please send resume to Box 3, c/oCollegian.

REWARDING, EXCITING summer for sophomore or older college students counseling in the Colorado Rockies. Backpacking, Western Riding, water activities, natural science, and many outdoor programs. Write: Sanborn Western Camps, PO Box 167, Florissant, CO 80816.

SILVERADO SALOON is now hiring bartenders, waitstaff and DJ's. Apply at 531 N. Manhattan, Tuesday through Saturday 6p.m.- 2a.m..

STUDENT INTERNS, part-time positions available immediately. Excellent English communication and interpersonal skills required. Must be friendly with customer-oriented attitude. Applicants should apply in person at the Veterinary Medical Library, Fourth Floor, Trotter Hall, KSU. EOE. Applications accepted through January 22, 1997.

SUMMER CAMP JOBS in Northeast. For free list, send self-addressed stamped envelope: Camps, 1785 Red Coat, Maryland Hgts, MO 63043.

SUPPORTED EMPLOYMENT Specialist: Full-time position to work with the severe and persistent mentally ill. Will work with employers to obtain placement and provide job coaching services. Bachelors Degree required (certification as an Employment Training Specialist perferred), along with the ability to communicate with a wide variety of community agencies/ businesses. Salary Commensurate with degree and experience. Fringe benefits are competitive. Send resume and transcript to Mr. Francis Begnoche, RMLP, Pawnee Mental Health Services, 1650 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502. EOE.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT position available for K-State student with a variety of skills. Must have good interpersonal and problem solving skills. Experience with PC's and popular software packages such as WordPerfect, QuattroPro and Windows applications desired. Must have understanding of MS-DOS and Windows. Network experience preferred. Application available/ accepted through Friday, January 31, 1997, in 211 Umborger Hall. (Department of Communications, Information and Education Technology.)

WAITRESSES NEEDED. Apply in person at Rusty's 1213 Moro.

WANTED FREELANCE Artist Sampler Stores is seeking talented artist to design both serious and hurmurous full chest and left pocket designs for t-shirts and sweat shirts. Using a KSU, Wildcats, "Kansas", Wizard of Oz, sunflower, wheat or similar theme. Embroidered and silk screen designs are wanted. Please call 432-3355 10a.m. to 5p.m. or leave a message on our voice mail, 381-0185.

ZAP YOUR ZITS. Have the complexion you've always wanted! New Bio-Tech program. No animal ingredients or testing. Guaranteed results. 539-7336.

330

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

WORK FROM home. Twenty second commute! Serious income potential working from home. We provide training and support via revolutionary system. Call (toll free) 1-888-444-6242 for overview. Then call us live at 776-5429.

400 OPEN MARKET

410

Items for Sale

BEER SIGNS, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, antiques, collectibles, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit $14.95. See ALL the channels (313)523-2769.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY Sale for Cash Pawn and Gun. Selling cd's $2 and $3 each. Movies for $4 each. Cassette tapes for $0.75 each. Sega and Super NES Systems for$49.00. 10% off all Spiderco knives. 20% off a large selection of items store wide. Lowest priced guns and jewelry. We buy sell and trade. Have money to loan. 1917 Fort Riley Blvd., 776-3332.

HOME STEREO System: receiver, cassette, CD player, equalizers, speakers. 10-inch table saw, heavy-duty weight-lifting bench, attachments, Logitech Mouse, 537-4512.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

FULL SIZE XL mattress and boxsprings with frame. Pre-owned $50. Quantities limited. Furniture Warehouse 2326 Sky-Vue Lane. 537-2288.

JERRY'S WHOLESALE carpet. Carpet remnants and vinyl remnants. 2501 Stagg Hill Road. Monday- Friday, 8:30a.m.- 5:30p.m. Sat. 8a.m.- 12p.m. Open to the public.

MUST SELL matching sofa and love seat, bed, microwave, rug, chair, dining room table. 537-2968 leave message.

SOFA PULL out and two twin beds $75 each. 537-8654.

420

Garage/Yard Sales

INDOOR GARAGE sale. TV $50, dining table $200, VCR $75, sofa $125, chairs $40, rockers $30, washer/ dryer. (913)784-5650

430

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Flea Market 7000 square feet, 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

435

Computers

486SX PACKARD Bell computer. $900, (913)363-7679.

I MUST sell my computers 486 $450, 486 $550, 386 $350, 286 laptop $250, printers $40 and $80. 784-5650

INTERKAN.NET: MANHATTAN'S newest Internet Service Provider. Free setup software. Monthly rates: 10 hours @ $5, 30 hours @ $7.50, 90 hours @ $10, 200 hours @ $17.50. http://www.interkan.net or 565-0991.

445

Music Instruments

EMERALD GREEN IBANEZ SR500 Bass with acitve pickups. Crate BX-15 Amp. 25-foot Spectraflex cables. Hardshell case. Yamaha YT-1200 Electronic tuner. Seiko DM-10 digital MetRanome. Lizard guitar strap. Ultimate guitar stand. Bass Basics 1 & 2 on VHS. 11 Instructional manuals with CD's. Stack of Guitar World magazines with Bass Tab. Asking $600 for everything. Call Kelly at 539-8379 and leave message or email me at alram@ksu.edu

WELCOME BACK to The Music Co.! Best prices on new and used instruments and accessories. No pressure sales, we try to get what you need. Straight down 17th st from K-state Union, in the Midtown Plaza, 539-1958.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1986 HONDA Civic, five-speed, lots of new parts. $1,900. 1983 Toyota Corolla automatic high miles runs great, $800. 532-7855 leave message.

1988 BERETTA GT 2.8L, V-6, five-speed, tilt, cruise, power windows, power locks, looks and runs good. Evenings 776-2073.

1990 FORD F150 XLT Lariat PU, five-speed, low miles, like new, $7,700. 776-9597.

520

Bicycles

CANNONDALE TOURING bicycle. Excellent condition. Hardly used. $325. Call Rob: 532-6137 work; 776-6849 home.

530

Motorcycles

750 KAWASAKII Vulcan. V-twin, four-stroke, shaft driven, liquid cooled, very fast, 11,000 miles, looks great, runs even better. $3500 or best offer. 776-1081.

600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

610

Tour Package

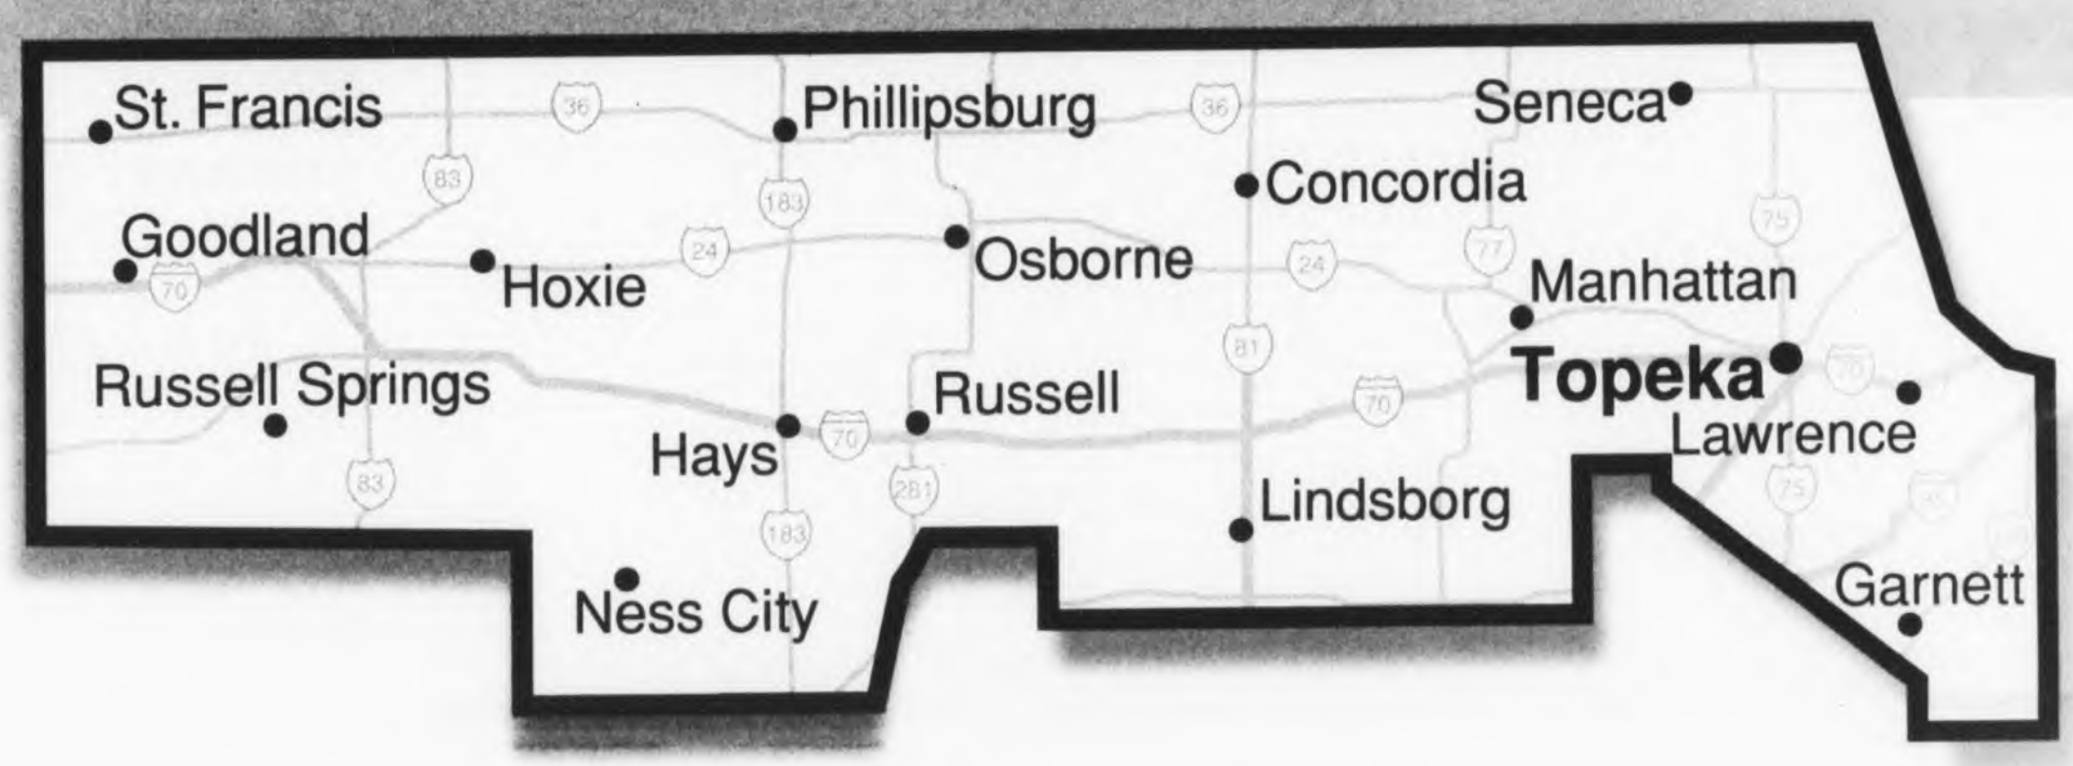
30 SHOPPING DAYS LEFT! Now is the time to guarantee the lowest rates and best hotels for spring break. Leisure tours has packages to South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica and Florida. (800)838-8203.

CANCUN- PADRE- MAZATLAN SPRING BREAK'S HOTTEST! 1-800-328-7513 Free food, drink and party special!?! Up To $200 discount Coupons on our Website www.studentadvtrav.com.

If Advertising Isn't Your De-Pod-Ment!

Let it be ours!

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
Advertising • 532-6560



HELP WANTED PART-TIME

(2 days a month-2 weeks a year)
Great pay and excellent benefits!
Truck Drivers, Mechanics, Cooks, Medical Specialists, Military Police, Supply, Artillery and Armor Crewmen. Prior military service not required, we will train. Prior services may enter at last rank held up to E-6. No Basic Training!
For more information, call today!
537-4108; 537-4003
Kansas Army National Guard

We don't want you to sell your books to pay your phone bill.

Save that for Spring Break.

With 1+Saver Direct,℠ you pay just $19.95 a month to talk to someone in this area as often, and for as long, as you want.

College is the best time of your life. Unfortunately, it's not the most profitable. So to help you out, we're offering the 1+SAVER Direct calling plan. For just $19.95 a month, you get unlimited, regional calling to the number you call the most in the area shown on the map. It works with one-plus, direct dialed calls, so it's easy to use. And there are no time limits, no specified calling times, and no limit to the amount of times you call. So call Southwestern Bell today and sign up for the 1+SAVER Direct calling plan.

And hold onto your books until you really need them. Yes, it's that simple.

1 - 8 0 0 - 9 2 4 - 5 2 9 6

Southwestern Bell

Not available to dorm students. Not available for Internet access.

Exp. Date 06/06
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

JANUARY 22, 1997
WEDNESDAY

HIGH 55
LOW 25
Partly sunny today with highs in the mid-50s. Cloudy and much cooler tomorrow.

FORECAST PAGE 2

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN

MANHATTAN, KS 66506

VOL. 101 NO. 79

K-STATE COLLEGIAN DIRECTORY

NEWSROOM 532-6556
DISPLAY ADVERTISING 532-6560
CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555

e-mail (collegn@ksu.edu)
http://collegian.ksu.edu

GETTING HOOKED UP WHILE HOOKED TO THE NET

▶ One K-State student met a possible fiance who lives in Georgia on the Internet. However, most K-State students worry about safety of online dating.

See HEALTH & SEX page 7

ETC.

In today's paper

Briefs 2
Opinion 7

In tomorrow's paper

The parking debate heats up in Justin Wild's column.

COSBY RESCHEDULES MANHATTAN APPEARANCE

▶ Bill Cosby rescheduled for 3 p.m. May 4 at Bramlage Coliseum. Tickets for the January show will still be honored.

See RELATED STORY page 10

Player faces DUI charges

Davis

▶ DUANE DAVIS ARRESTED FOR reckless driving and DUI.

JEREMY KELLEY
sports editor

K-State basketball player Duane Davis, a transfer from Arizona State, was arrested for DUI at 11:28 Saturday night.

Davis, a native of Los Angeles, was arrested near the 1400 block of Claflin Road in conjunction with reckless driving. Davis was then taken to the Riley County Police Department for further testing and then released on $500 bond.

Davis, who plays guard, reportedly exited his 1996 Toyota 4-Runner from North Manhattan Avenue and turned onto Claflin at high speeds and then proceeded west in the east-bound lane.

The on-coming vehicle, a 1990 Ford Probe, attempted to evade Davis' vehicle but was struck. The 4-Runner continued west hitting an unattended Ford pickup and then drove over shrubbery south of Lot A-16.

Robert Mellgren, K-State Police captain, said the situation was still being investigated.

"I'm still waiting for a report to trickle down," Mellgren said. "Those things take time. They've got 10 days to finish the report and get it back to us. It's still in process."

Davis' blood alcohol content level was not printed in the standard offense report produced by the campus police. Mellgren said he did not know the blood alcohol content either.

Neither Davis nor K-State head coach Tom Asbury could comment on the situation because they were headed to Ames, Iowa.

Davis transferred to K-State from Arizona State last year after playing just 10 minutes a game and averaging 2.5 points per contest. Davis will have three years of eligibility remaining with the Wildcats starting next season.

Halstead woman dies in one-car accident

SANDY DAVIS
staff writer

Amber Lea Arnold, an 18-year-old from Halstead died in a car accident Tuesday morning on the Kansas Highway 18 bypass, two miles north of Interstate 70.

Sheriff Bill Deppish, of the Geary County Police Department, said Arnold had been staying with a friend who attends Manhattan Christian College and was leaving Manhattan when the car she was driving ran off the road and flipped several times. Arnold was thrown from the car and the car apparently rolled over her. Arnold died at Irwin Army Community Hospital.

It is not known where Arnold was going at the time of the accident. Alcohol is not believed to have been involved in the accident.

Arnold was a 1996 graduate of Halstead High School and was considering attending K-State next fall.

Budget increase for Board of Regents proposed

Budget proposal

Money will be provided for modernization of classrooms by the following sources.

$2.1 million
Gov. Bill Graves' proposal for new technology at K-State

$200,000
granted from the one time 0.5 percent tuition increase in 1998

Hall expansions

The $11.4 million Durland Hall expansion could begin design work in spring.

The $11 million Ackert Hall expansion is still pending.

DAN HOLMGREN/Collegian

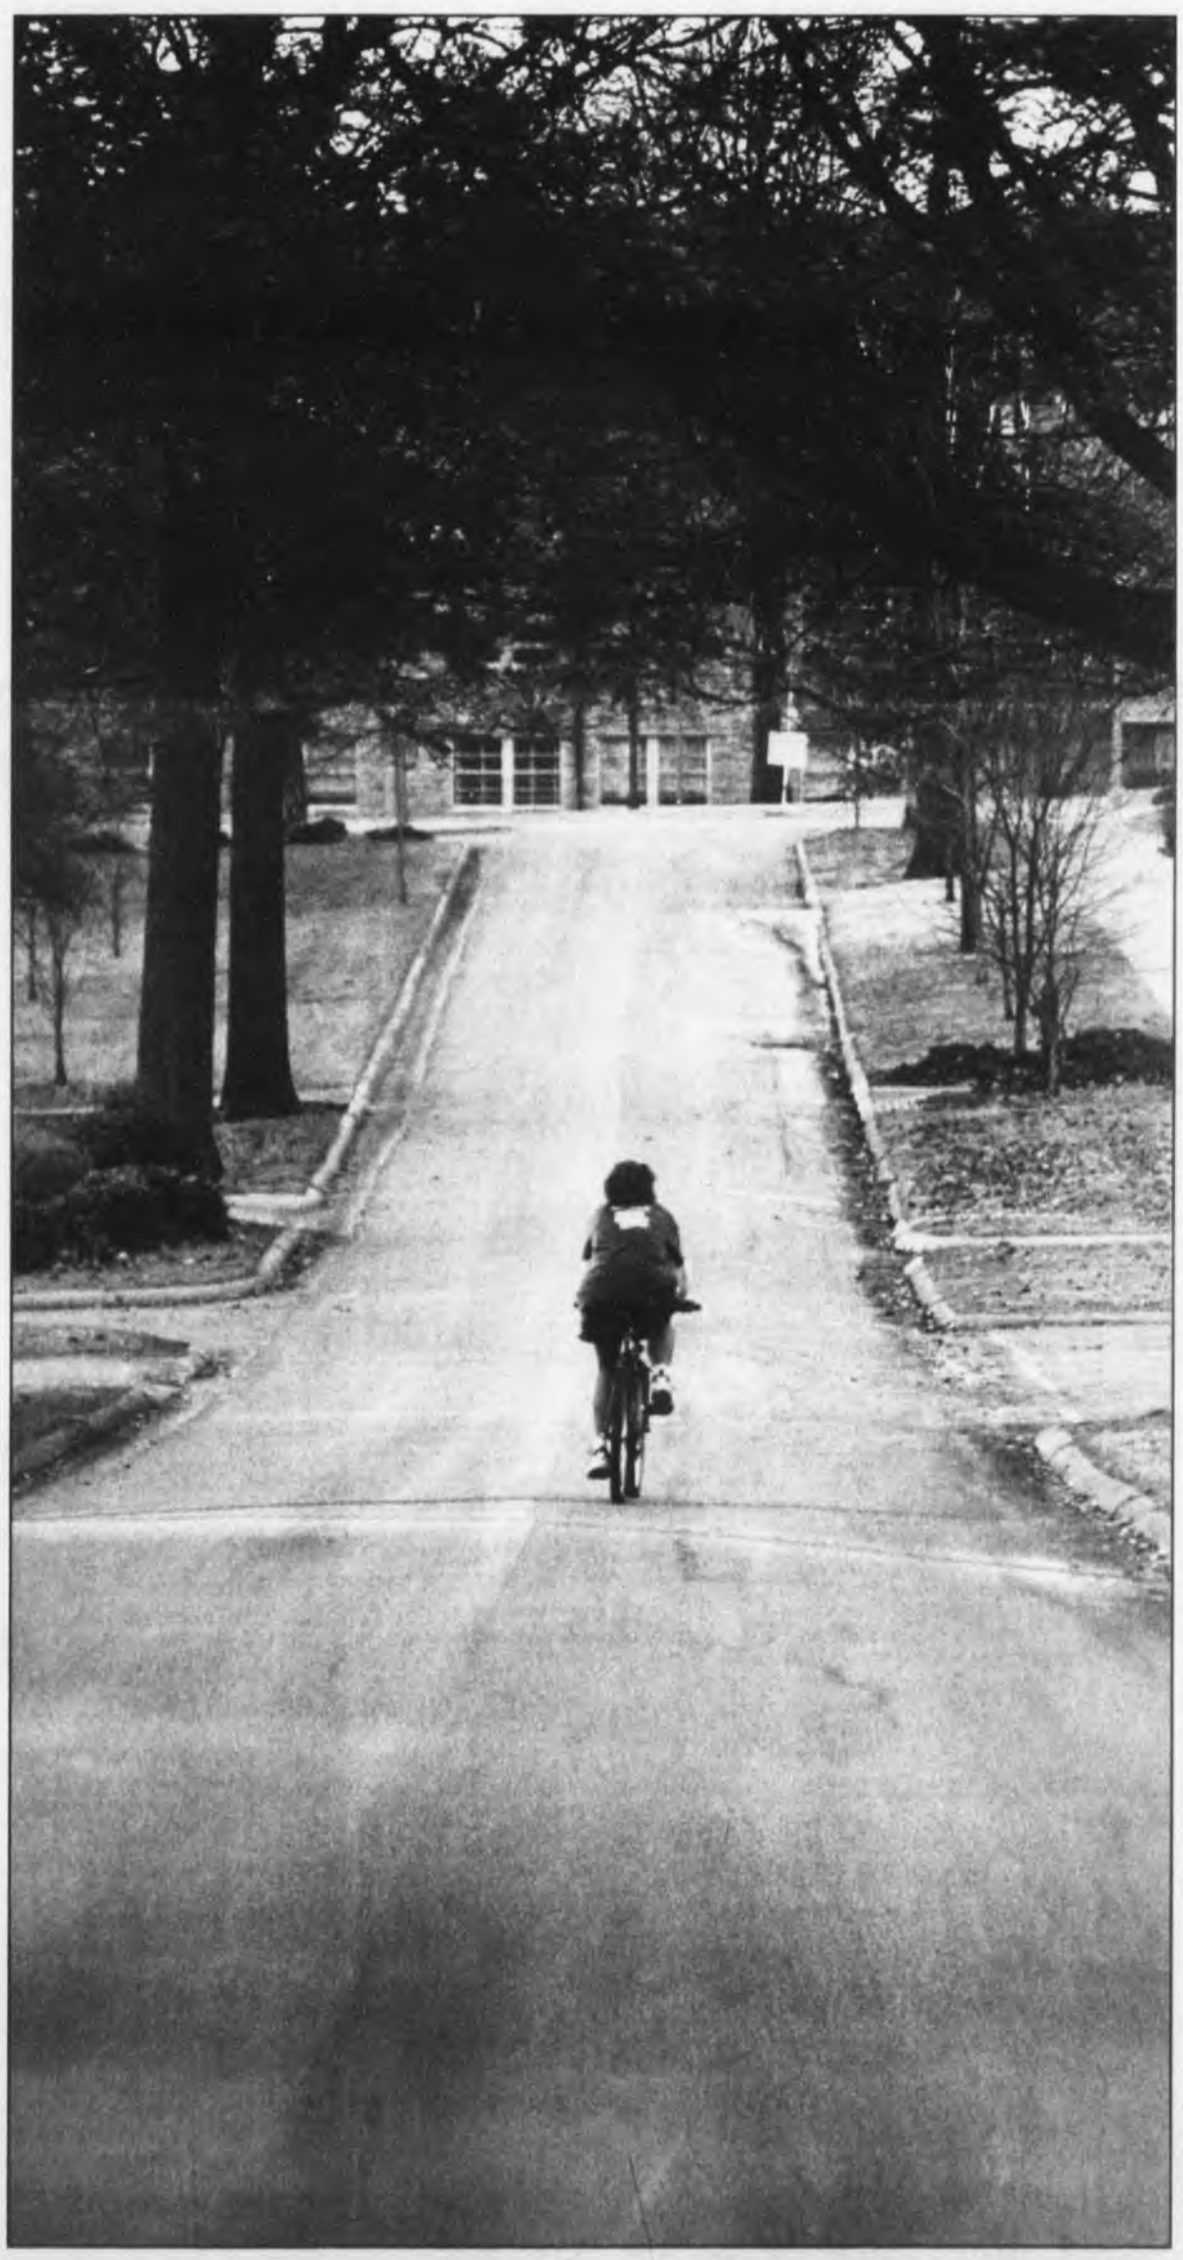
RUSSELL FORTMEYER
senior staff writer

There's a battle between property taxes and higher education shaping up in the Kansas legislature.

Gov. Bill Graves has proposed increasing the Kansas Board of Regents budget over last year's budget while balancing a large tax cut from the 29-mill levy for public education. A mill is a tax of $1 on each $1,000 owned in property.

For K-State, Graves has proposed to raise faculty salaries — an issue K-State's administration has put at the top of its list for years.

Graves has also recommended millions in new construction funds and debt retirement, authorized a 900-car parking garage and nearly $2.5 million for new technology.



President Jon Wefald said he is pleased with Graves' proposal.

"The Governor has demonstrated that he is keenly supportive of education in Kansas," Wefald said. "We know enough of Governor Bill Graves to call him an education governor."

Wefald said he is particularly pleased with the proposed 3.5 percent unclassified faculty salary increase and the money for new technology.

Sue Peterson, assistant to the president for governmental affairs, said she sees the technology money as a

See BUDGET, Page 10

A CYCLIST rides through an empty campus Monday afternoon. Classes were not in session in observance of Martin Luther King Jr. Day.

BRANDON WHITE
Collegian

Court rejects Phelps' 1st Amendment appeal

▶ Religion in school. The Supreme Court rejected an appeal by an Indiana substitute school teacher who said he was wrongfully dismissed for discussing religion with students and reading his Bible silently in class. The teacher said the firing violated his religious freedom.

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA — The U.S. Supreme Court refused to overturn restrictions on his church's picketing of another church, but the Rev. Fred Phelps Sr. remained undaunted Tuesday.

Phelps, pastor of Westboro Baptist Church, said its legal dispute with St. David's Episcopal Church is far from over. Westboro members are known for their anti-homosexual picketing, but they also regularly picket what they call fag churches for promoting the sodomite agenda.

In July 1994, a Shawnee County district judge issued a temporary restraining order on behalf of St. David's, requiring Westboro members to stay at least 36 feet from the church immediately before, during and after St. David's services. The order came in a lawsuit filed by St. David's against Westboro Baptist Church.

Phelps said the ruling is not an important one, because the lawsuit has yet to go to trial. He said Westboro Baptist would appeal an adverse ruling in the lawsuit through state appellate courts and federal court if necessary.

"We are just going to exhaust every avenue," Phelps said. "It'll be years — years."

Westboro Baptist Church members routinely carry signs with slogans such as "God hates fags" and "Gays

See PHELPS, Page 10

18-year-old man remains at large after escape from police custody

ANDREA COREY
staff writer

An 18-year-old man escaped from police custody Tuesday while being transported from the Geary County Juvenile Detention Center to the Riley County Jail.

Neoun Neang, Clue Valley Trailer Court, Lot 54, was arrested for two counts of theft: grand theft auto and items taken from another theft situation, Lt. Buddy Mays of Riley County Police Department said. Mays added that Neang would also face a charge of escape from custody, if caught.

Neang was transported to the jail because, even though the crime was committed when Neang was a juvenile, he turned 18 Jan. 18.

Capt. Nick Edvy, of the legal process and jail division, said when the police officer who transported Neang arrived at the jail at 600 Colorado St., Neang bolted from the car and ran south. The officer pursued Neang for several blocks and then lost him.

See ESCAPE, Page 10

New addition causes traffic concerns for Manhattan residents

NICOLE KIRBY
investigations editor

Some of the residents of the Briar Heights subdivision voiced their objections to the increased traffic that will be caused by a new development at Tuesday night's city commission meeting.

Mark Taylor, third-year student in veterinary medicine, lives at the intersection of Juniper and Stonewood drives.

Stonewood, he said, is basically just his driveway — a gravel drive where his children play. He also said the terrain at the intersection would pose safety concerns due to steepness and low visibility.

But Mike Hill, a developer with ULD Inc., said Stonewood was necessary for access to the first unit of the new Woodland Hills addition, which will contain 23 single-family lots.

The Manhattan Urban Area Planning Board found the Woodland Hills addition in accordance with regulations and approved it on Jan. 6.

The Planning Board makes its decisions based on compliance with regulations, so it did not take the concerns of the neighbors into consideration when it voted two weeks ago.

The commissioners, on the other hand, acted to prevent the paving of Stonewood.

They voted to accept the developers'

See CITY, Page 10

DEADLINES
TO PLACE AN ITEM in the Daily Planner, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to (collegn@ksu.edu) by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

MANAGING EDITOR
MIRANDA KENNEDY
e-mail: (seahors@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
DIGEST
WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 22, 1997

DROP CLASSES THIS WEEK FOR A FULL TUITION REFUND

▶ Students can get back 100 percent of their tuition for dropped classes, if they drop the classes by Friday. After that the percent of their tuition that students can recover will get smaller each week.

▶ 24 HOURS IN REVIEW

These briefs encapsulate the news of the past 24 hours and are from staff reports, wire reports and other news services.

▶ CAMPUS

MEMORIAL SCHEDULED FOR K-STATE SENIOR

A memorial service is scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday for Catherine E. Joyce, a K-State student who was killed while studying abroad in November 1996.

Joyce was a senior in civil engineering. She died after an automobile accident in Nambour, Queensland, Australia. She was attending the University of Southern Queensland under the supervision of the International Student Exchange Program.

At K-State, Joyce was involved in the College of Engineering's concrete canoe race, a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers and a Ford Hall representative. She was also a member of the civil engineering honorary Chi Epsilon, the engineering honorary Tau Beta Phi and the Phi Kappa Phi honor society.

The memorial service will be at St. Isidore's University Chapel on the corner of Denison and Anderson avenues.

— Sandy Davis

▶ NATION AND WORLD

• BAIL SET FOR TEEN-AGERS ACCUSED OF KILLING BABY SON.

WILMINGTON, Del. — Two high-school sweethearts accused of killing their newborn son and dumping his body were granted bail of $300,000 each today in a move that will allow prosecutors to keep their case under wraps.

Amy Grossberg and Brian Peterson, both 18, were to be released later today and kept under house arrest while electronic monitoring systems are set up in their New Jersey homes.

Prosecutor Peter Letang said the state declined to oppose bail because it did not want a long hearing where it would have to reveal its case.

He said the state is not backing away from the death penalty.

It is rare, but not unprecedented, for bail to be allowed in first-degree murder cases in Delaware in which defendants face the possibility of the death penalty.

Prosecutors had sought $500,000 bail.

Peterson had just started school at Gettysburg College in Pennsylvania and Grossberg had begun classes at the University of Delaware in Newark when she had the baby in a Newark motel Nov. 12.

The 6-pound, 2-ounce boy was found wrapped in plastic and left in a motel trash bin.

An autopsy showed the infant suffered a skull fracture and had been shaken.

• PLAINTIFF ATTORNEY: 'THERE'S A KILLER IN THIS COURTROOM.'

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — A plaintiff's lawyer challenged jurors today to hold O.J. Simpson responsible for two slayings, pointing to him and declaring: "There's a killer in this courtroom."

In an angry closing argument, Daniel Petrocelli attacked Simpson's character.

He called him a liar whose sense of superiority prevents him from taking responsibility for the killings of Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman.

Nicole Brown Simpson and Goldman were killed on June 12, 1994.

Using Simpson's own words against him, Petrocelli showed jurors a photo of Nicole Brown Simpson and asked: "What kind of man, confronted with a bruised and battered picture of Nicole, says I take responsibility for those injuries, but I didn't slap her. ... I was just defending myself?"

Closing arguments were expected to stretch over two days, with the case going to the jury on Thursday.

▶ DAILY PLANNER

The Daily Planner is a campus bulletin board service offered by the K-State Collegian. Items in the planner can be published up to three times. Items may not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to (collegn@ksu.edu) by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

▶ CHECK THESE EVENTS OUT

• Career and Employment Services will conduct a Winning Interviews Workshop at 3:30 p.m. today in Union 213.

• Career and Employment Services will conduct an orientation to services and on-campus interviews. The Path to Employment Opportunities for human ecology majors will be at 4:30 p.m. today in Justin 146, for arts and sciences majors at 6 tonight in Union 212 and for business majors at 7 tonight in Calvin 208.

• The German Club/German Stammtisch will meet at 7 tonight at Espresso Royale Caffe in Aggieville.

• The Society of Automotive Engineers will meet at 7 tonight in Durland 168.

• KSU Aikido meets at 7 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and at 10 a.m. Saturdays in Ahearn 301, the dance studio.

• Students who took Orientation to Health Careers in fall 1996, please come to Eisenhower 113 to pick up your assignments from class.

• Blue Key Senior Honorary applications are available in the Office of Student Activities and Services and Holton 102. They are due by 4 p.m. Friday in Holton 102.

• Career and Employment Services will conduct a World Wide Web Job Search Strategies Workshop at 3:30 p.m. Thursday in Bluemont 014.

• KSU Men's Lacrosse Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Union 205.

▶ POLICE BLOTTER

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

▶ K-STATE POLICE

• No reports of note were made.

▶ RILEY COUNTY POLICE DEPARTMENT

• MONDAY, JAN. 20

• At 3:59 p.m., a rural fire was reported at one-quarter mile east of Airport Road. A rural fire department was advised.

• At 4:03 p.m., a rural fire was reported at Wildcat Creek and Kansas Highway 18. A rural fire department was advised.

• At 4:36 p.m., a rural fire was reported at Tuttle Creek Boulevard across from the water plant. The fire was extinguished.

• At 5:46 p.m., a fire was reported at 5560 Blue River Road. Water assistance for a structure fire was requested.

• At 6:06 p.m., a rural fire was reported on Parallel Road. The fire was extinguished.

• At 9:21 p.m., a fight in progress was reported at 411 S. Juliette Ave. Thomas Charles Kent was injured with multiple lacerations to the back of the head. An aggravated battery report was filed.

• At 10:15 p.m., a fight in progress was reported at 801 Moro St. An information report was filed.

• TUESDAY, JAN. 21

• At 12:23 a.m., Steven E. Springer, 203 S. Lake, Riley, was arrested for DUI.

▶ CORRECTIONS AND CLARIFICATIONS

Sometimes the K-State Collegian makes a mistake. If a mistake occurs, contact Claudette Riley, news editor, by phone (532-6556), by e-mail (collegn@ksu.edu) or by stopping by the Collegian at Kedzie 116.

▶ HOW TO CONTACT THE COLLEGIAN

• BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Advertising	532-6560
Classifieds	532-6555

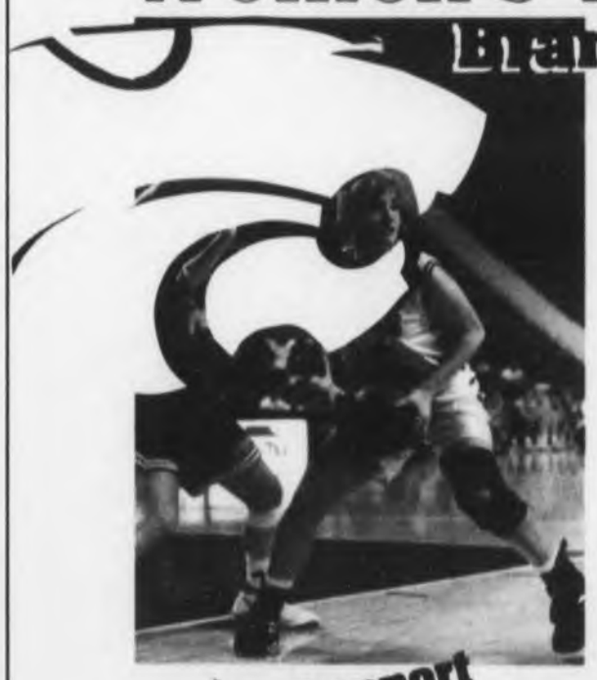
• BY E-MAIL
(collegn@ksu.edu)

• ON THE WORLD WIDE WEB
(http://collegian.ksu.edu)

• BY SNAIL MAIL
Kansas State Collegian
116 Kedzie Hall
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

• IN PERSON
The Collegian newsroom office is located at Kedzie 116 (across from the K-State Student Union).

▶ STATEMENT OF PUBLICATION



The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1997

TROPICAL TAN
"When The Beach Is Out Of Reach"
•10 WOLFF SYSTEM TANNING BEDS
•STAND-UP BOOTH
•WALK-INS WELCOME
•APPOINTMENTS AVAILABLE
•SPECIAL PACKAGE DEALS OFFERED YEAR ROUND
537-0744
1814 CLAFLIN (2nd LEVEL-ABOVE CLAFLIN BOOKS)
BACK-TO-SCHOOL SPECIAL 10 tans for $25
Exp. 1-24-97
Southern Sun
NEW CANDLEWOOD LOCATION
Manhattan's Original Wolff Systems Center
Great New West Side Location
Open Year-Round With Convenient Hours
Serving Both Professional & Student Clientele
Keep Your Tan Glowing With Us!
776-8060
3232 KIMBALL (NEXT TO BOBBY T'S)
Always Great Bulbs at the Best Prices!

K-STATE Women's Basketball
Bramlage Coliseum

Kansas State vs. Iowa State Wednesday, Jan. 22, 7 p.m.

Kansas State vs. Texas A&M Saturday, Jan. 25, 7 p.m.

Come Support the K-State Women's Basketball Team

FOR TICKETS CALL 532-7606
$3 Adult/ $1 High School and Under/Free with Student ID

Wednesday, January 22

Noon Courtyard Jazz, conducted by Dennis Wilson, director of jazz studies at K-State. Union Courtyard.

3 p.m. College of Architecture, Planning and Design lecture, "Mental Musement: Rhythm, Rituals and Play," by Perry Howard, associate professor of landscape architecture, North Carolina A&T State University, Greensboro, N.C. Union Little Theatre.

4 p.m. Reception for Teto Henderson, adviser and administrator of the Union Program Council and recipient of the Commerce Bank Presidential Award for Distinguished Service to Minority Education. Union Flint Hills Room.

Thursday, January 23

10:30 a.m. Martin Luther King Jr. All-University Convocation Lecture: Beverly Harvard, chief of police, Atlanta, Ga. McCain Auditorium.

11:45 a.m. Martin Luther King Jr. luncheon. Main Ballroom, Union. Call Patricia Hudgins, 532-6555, for reservations and more information.

7:30 p.m. "Interfaith Dialogue: Interfaith Marriages." Sponsored by the KSU Committee on Religion. 213 Union.

"MAKE REAL THE DREAM, FRAME THE VISION FOR THE 21ST CENTURY"
Martin Luther King Jr. Observance Week
January 18-26, 1997
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

Friday, January 24

11:30 a.m. Dr. Willie Baber presents "The Legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.: An Anthropological Perspective." Sponsored by the College of Arts and Sciences and the American Ethnic Studies Program. Big 12 Room, Union.

2:30 p.m. "Exploring the Dynamics of Ethnicity and Race in the United States: Senior Research Projects in American Ethnic Studies." Presenters include students Robert Cowles, Sarah Engler, Laurie Harrison, Lana Lambert and Alima Ramnarine. A reception will follow. Sponsored by the American Ethnic Studies Program. 206 Union.

Sunday, January 26

12:30 p.m. Judging of entries in contest concerning the message of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Sponsored by the KSU Association of Residence Halls. Gold Room, Derby Dining Center.

JILL JARSULIC/Collegian

VERA ORLOCK'S Modern 2 dance class works in one of the dance program's studios in Ahearn Field House. The dance department is in the process of moving to facilities in the basement of Nichols Hall.

Dance moves program prepares for Nichols

JILL JARSULIC
staff reporter

After 12 years of negotiation and struggling, the K-State dance program is a few steps closer to moving out of Ahearn Field House and into Nichols Hall.

The dance program has been in Ahearn since it started in 1977.

When Bramlage Coliseum was built, there was the possibility for the program to get more space in Ahearn.

"When the coliseum was built, there was talk about us getting additional space in this building," said Luke Kahlich, director of the dance program. "Since that time, those talks came and went and came and went as bureaucracy goes."

In 1986, the dance program was academically moved to the Department of Speech, Communication and Theater.

At that time, Kahlich said it was also thought the program would be physically moved to the basement of Nichols to cooperate with the other departments.

"The understanding was that dance and theater programs would start to mesh and cooperate," he said.

But Computing and Network Services needed that space then. Now that Farrell Library construction is finished, CNS has other space.

"Last April we received a notice from the provost that yes, indeed, as the library opened, CNS would be moving, and that the space we had allocated would then become vacant," Kahlich said.

Kahlich said the dance program has been working with facilities over the last six months to develop a proposal for the move.

The program needs money for renovation of the Nichols space.

The official proposal should go to the Kansas Board of Regents in April, and then on to the state legislature next year.

The estimate for the move is just less than $500,000, Kahlich said.

"Part of it will be state funded, and part of it will have to be privately funded," he said.

"We are also in the process of proposing a fundraising drive. We need a Fred Bramlage of the arts, basically. But we don't need that much money."

In Nichols, the dance program will have one space that is exclusively dance, and it will share three other spaces with the theater program.

Kahlich said the dance faculty are eager to integrate the programs.

If all goes as planned, approval would come in April or May 1998, construction would be summer 1998, and the dancers would move in to their new home in fall 1998.

"Those are our dreams," Kahlich said.

Coffee hour offers opportunity for discussion, entertainment

HANG NGUYEN
staff reporter

A new coffee hour at the International Student Center offers students an opportunity to express their international concerns while enjoying entertainment, coffee, cookies and participating in a discussion group.

The first coffee hour begins 4 p.m. today with a Malaysian guitarist who prefers to go only by his first name, Albert.

For every other Wednesday, there will be a performer or presenter to speak about international issues, Jim Endrizzi, program coordinator of the ISC, said.

"It's a forum that's targeted towards highlighting international students," Endrizzi said.

The coffee hour is co-sponsored by the International Student Center and the Union Program Council Issues and Ideas Committee. UPC provides the advertisements while ISC provides coffee and cookies.

"There's a lot going on out there that we don't know about," Endrizzi said. "This hopefully is going to spark some discussion about what's going on out there."

The coffee hours will only last until March 19, Endrizzi said.

Its success will determine its continuation in the future, he said.

Scheduled performances range from the pepa, a Chinese instrument, to the topic of Zoroastrianism, an ancient religion that began in Persia.

"It's a very good idea," Majed Khan, international student and speaker, said. "It's a chance to hear the international students' voices and introduce different cultures and religions to the Manhattan community."

Khan is scheduled to hold a discussion on the role of Jesus in the Islamic community March 5.

"The idea of this coffee hour is to get students to become familiar and comfortable with the International Student Center," Endrizzi said. "We want students to think of it as more than just an office."

With the $250,000 expansion of the ISC beginning in May, the ISC hopes the coffee hours will encourage students to put the new center to good use.

Coffee Talk

The International Student Center is sponsoring coffee, entertainment and discussion at the center.

Feb. 5
Stephan Tubene from Zaire will be speaking about the Mobutu Era.

Feb. 19
Ming-Tie Huang from Taiwan will play the pepa, a traditional chinese instrument.

For more information contact Jim Endrizzi at 532-6448.

MEGAN LaRUE/Collegian

New farm bill neglects to eliminate same loopholes found in previous bill

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WICHITA — The new Freedom to Farm Act contains the same eligibility loopholes that landed Dean Gigot in trouble with the federal government under the old bill, an agricultural official said.

"The new bill maintained loopholes already in place — loopholes to create corporations and partnerships," Kelly O'Neill of the Center for Rural Affairs in Nebraska said on Monday. "If Mr. Gigot wanted to do what he did in the past, the mechanisms are still there."

Gigot, the 65-year-old Garden City farmer who argued the wording in the old bill was confusing, was found innocent on Jan. 11 of defrauding the U.S. government of more than $3 million in farm subsidies.

Gigot had faced one count of mail fraud and three counts of making a false statement. Federal prosecutors said he created four phony farming partnerships to get around the $50,000-per-farmer limit on U.S. Department of Agriculture's farm payments. The partnerships existed between 1986 and 1991.

The new farm bill enacted in 1996 doesn't change who is eligible for farm payments, said Barry Flinchbaugh, a professor of agricultural economics at K-State University.

"What's a person and what's a farm, et cetera, is still very confusing," Flinchbaugh said.

The bill lists those who are eligible for subsidies as landowners or producers who lease the land. But those landowners and producers can be partnerships or corporations, and each person in those entities can be eligible for a subsidy payment as well.

"Payment limitation has always been very difficult to enforce. But I think it's impossible to tighten anymore than it is tightened," Flinchbaugh said, comparing the farm subsidy regulations to IRS tax regulations that try to cover every possible angle. "Agriculture is very individualistic. Each farmer is very unique."

And the definition of a person does not refer to an individual, said O'Neill, of the Center for Rural Affairs. She called the language bureaucratic and hard to understand.

Rick Case, county executive director of the Sedgwick County Farm Services Agency, said that Congress did not intend for people to draw massive sums of money, so it created the so-called persons designation to limit payments.

Big-farm operations might have problems under the new Freedom to Farm Act, Case said, but the average farmer won't. The smaller farmer doesn't have enough acres or yield to qualify for more than the new $40,000-per-person limit.

Case is skeptical of statements by Gigot and his accountants that regulations are too complex to be followed with certainty.

"I think it was because of the different entities he was setting up to get government payments," Case said. "If you are just a basic operation, you don't have a problem with the rules. This guy Gigot had all kinds of entities. Sounds like just about everybody he knew."

BRYAN LYKINS & HEJTMANEK

Lawyers Representing Consumers

Injured?

Call For A Free Discussion
1-800-608-2473

Topeka.....913 235-5678

Blue Key applications are available in 102 Holton Hall and the SGA office.

ALL UNIVERSITY MARTIN LUTHER KING CONVOCATION LECTURE

Beverly Harvard
Chief of Police, Atlanta, GA

10:30 a.m., Thursday, January 23, 1997
McCain Auditorium
Kansas State University
Manhattan, Kansas

TW LONGHORNS
Aggieville's Premier Country Bar
WELCOME BACK STUDENTS!

Weekly Drink Specials

TUES. $1 DRINKS
NO COVER BEFORE 10 P.M.
FREE DANCE LESSONS START Jan. 28, 7-8:30 P.M.

WED. LADIES NITE
No Cover For Ladies
$1 Bottles

THURS. THIRSTY THURSDAYS
$7 COVER
FREE BEVERAGES W/ ARMBAND
- EXCEPT PITCHERS
*ROCKY MOUNTAIN OYSTER FRY 7-10 P.M.

FRI. $1 CAN SPECIAL
$1.75 Margaritas

SAT. $1.50 WINE COOLERS
$1.75 Well Special

1115 Moro Aggieville
More Info 776-8770

OPINION EDITOR
KEVIN KLASSEN
e-mail: (kevkk@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
OPINION
WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 22, 1997

A GUIDE TO SECTIONS OF THE COLLEGIAN OPINION PAGE

▶ COLUMNS are opinions expressed by the columnists. The opinions are not necessarily the opinions of the Collegian.

OUR VIEW is an editorial written by the Collegian Editorial Board. The board meets every day and discusses editorial topics. The editorial is a compilation of those opinions and represents the opinion of the Collegian.

▶ OUR VIEW

Graves' budget works, but needs some help

If you have ever had to dust off cobwebs from lab equipment that dates to the 19th century, Gov. Bill Graves understands what you're going through.

Graves' proposed Kansas Board of Regents institutions' budget addresses some K-State needs that have been neglected too long.

One of those things is the increasing need for new technology for our classrooms. Without the large amounts of money needed for new equipment, K-State research and teaching methods could easily be surpassed by other schools.

As students, we interact with this technology every day — whether it be a classroom projector, a microscope or a classroom of the future with full multi-media capabilities.

If a student at K-State uses equipment dating from the 1950s, (or the stress tester in a civil engineering lab that dates to the 1880s) while a student at Texas A&M uses equipment made in 1994, who's getting the better deal?

Although Graves' proposal for increasing faculty salaries by 3.5 percent will no doubt help K-State recruit and retain faculty members, better technology also attracts more faculty members to K-State.

If students want to see the $2.1 million in state money Graves is proposing, they need to actively support it.

This means writing or calling your legislator. This means an active Student Governing Association lobbying campaign on behalf of students.

Call SGA at 532-6451 to speak with the student body president or a senator about this important issue.

If you don't know your legislator's address or phone number, call (913) 296-7694 and they will direct you to your legislator's office.

Whether you are a student or a faculty member, this is an issue we cannot afford to ignore.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR IN CHIEF
Kimberly Hefling
MANAGING EDITOR
Miranda Kennedy
NEWS EDITOR
Claudette Riley
PHOTO EDITOR
Steve Hebert
PRESENTATION EDITOR
Scott M. Ladd
COPY CHIEF
Tanya Nisly
OPINION EDITOR
Kevin Klassen
CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
Andrew Francis
CAMPUS EDITOR
Jill Story
SPORTS EDITOR
Jeremy Kelley
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR
Tara Wray
ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
Portia Sisco
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
Jill Jarsulic
INVESTIGATIONS EDITOR
Nicole Kirby
E-COLLEGIAN EDITOR
Kady Guyton
ASSISTANT E-COLLEGIAN EDITOR
Kelly Furnas
OTHER EDITORIAL BOARD MEMBERS
Russell Fortmeyer, senior in architectural engineering

Our View, an editorial selected and debated by a majority of the editorial board, is written by the editorial board after a concensus opinion is reached. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other students. For details on how you can become involved with the editorial board, contact Kevin Klassen, opinion editor.

New Student Union design neglects modern architecture, art galleries

The architectural design for the K-State Student Union expansion is nearly complete, although for some strange reason it doesn't matter. Architect Ken Ebert's master design brings the Union into the 1980s, at least with its mall-like concepts of public space.

It doesn't matter because many important decisions, such as the future of the Union Art Gallery, have been left to the last minute to be decided by the Union Governing Board.

VIEWPOINT

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

RUSSELL FORTMEYER is a senior in architectural engineering. You can e-mail comments to Russell at (rmf@ksu.edu)

It probably goes without saying that this elected body has little, if any, design or planning experience. However, it has the elected right to use our student money as it sees fit.

Among those decisions is whether the art gallery will exist in the new, highly commercial Union. If UGB thinks the art gallery isn't revenue-positive in the grand scheme of things, it could vote to turn it into a bank (which, heaven knows, we've all been wanting since the 1940s).

A good case can be made for saving the art gallery. For one, it exposes thousands of otherwise unwilling students to many varied exhibits each year in an unpretentious and convenient atmosphere.

> When the next administration tires of looking at the trendy details of our new Union design, they'll just float another student fee past us to redecorate again.

The art gallery provides an artistic outlet for art students they can't find with the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art, because it does not accept student work and has limited programming capacities. The art gallery can switch shows every few months.

With McCain Auditorium turning its shoulders to student art and the Willard Art Gallery being so hidden away as to be a secret (not to mention overbooked), students need their galleries more than ever.

The case against the art gallery is simple economics. UGB would be serving no one except the pocketbooks of the Union and the retail outlet by allowing one of the few art galleries on campus to become part of our new mall.

And that is what is happening to our Union.

The architectural scheme, while solving some basic circulation problems and knocking down some walls, has been oriented to providing new retail clients with the most bang for their buck.

As our Union now exists, it is more of a community center with public space for meetings and studying, an art gallery, theaters and campus services. The new Union will have a food court, a trendy coffee bar, a computer store, a bank, a convenience store and whatever takes visual precedence over everything else.

Ebert's high-concept interior architectural finishes, with a little obvious help from the Los Angeles-based RTKL architectural firm, is showy and trendy, just the sort of architectural transformation the Union needed to become a mall.

The food court concept of a running frieze of a Flint Hills landscape, the starscape lights leading into the dining room, and the flags and fountains in the Union Plaza are all part of a late 1970s move toward festival architecture. It's architecture that is so fun, you feel like buying things.

You've seen this if you've been to New York City's South Street Seaport or Chicago's Navy Pier. The bright colors and strange shapes give visual excitement to a place that lures tourists for impulse buys.

This is all fine and dandy, but how many times have you been in the Union and walked out with an impulse buy? Never? Once?

The truth of the matter is this architectural scheme is not meant to be sustainable. When the next administration tires of looking at the trendy details of our new Union design, they'll just float another student fee past us to redecorate again.

What our Union needs is a long-term vision. There is no need to put trendy architecture in a space that could be timeless.

The Union Plaza plan would forgo the abandoned street look for a concrete-and-stone surface with outdoor seating, an amphitheater and a fountain area — all inspired ideas. This would finally create a kind of public space that does not exist on this campus.

The north exterior of the building would not change, but will be complimented by a semi-arched, unattached portico that will run half the length of the facade. Unlike earlier sketches, this design stays true to the modern International Style of our Union.

It's only too bad the interior could not keep with the modern influence of the building, instead of so blatantly disregarding it.

However, while the design can be ignored, the lack of an art gallery is an evident reminder of an eroding quality of life.

MATT HAWKINS/Collegian

Penis envy

Columnist explores advantages and disadvantages of having a penis

I have always wanted a penis.

I'm genuinely curious. There must be something really special about having a penis.

Men seem unusually emotionally attached to this particular body part. Some guys even name the silly thing. (Among my personal favorites: Willy Wanker, Mr. Happy and Big Jim and the twins.) No one names their arm Lefty or their nose the Big Smellster, but apparently this bit of anatomy is in a league all its own.

VIEWPOINT

MARY RENEE SMITH

MARY RENEE SMITH is a sophomore in speech and theatre. You can e-mail your comments to Mary Renee at (mojo@ksu.edu)

Men talk about their penises as if this scrap of flesh dangling between their legs is a different entity, altogether separate from themselves.

Sure, women have appendages exclusive to the female condition, breasts. I'm a big bosom fan myself. But I sure as hell don't name them or refer to them in the third person.

I have seen a few large men try to overcome their breast envy by growing some of their own. This is truly an unfair advantage. No matter how many tubs of Ben and Jerry's ice cream I consume, I will never grow a penis, not even a little one.

Not, that I want to be a man. I'm happy being a woman. I'd just like to enjoy the advantages that seem to go along with having a penis.

Top on my list, having the equipment to urinate while standing up. This would be handy. It seems so much faster and more energy-efficient than sitting down. Most women I know do twice the work of men. They could really use that extra time.

I have heard tales of women, mostly avid campers, who have mastered the skill. But for the most part, peeing while in a perpendicular position is confined to the shower and public pools.

Personally, I'd fancy being able to write my name in the snow without leaving all those footprints and doing all that running. (The letter "M" is a real challenge.)

Another penile plus — if it itches, scratch it. For a woman scratching anywhere near the genitals is uncouth and, as my grandmother would say, unladylike. Scratching is not an activity a woman undertakes outside the seclusion of her own bathroom no matter how urgent the need.

There are a few drawbacks to having a penis I suppose.

I'm told cold water is a big no-no. The penis and testicles seem to have an overwhelming fear of cold. I understand why. Men, however masculine, resemble pre-pubescent boys when exposed to less-than-tepid water.

Women, on the other hand, look fabulous in the cold. Our bodies are taut, our tummies are sucked in and our breasts are perky during a chill. It's proof enough for me that God is a woman or at the very least a man with a great sense of humor.

Pain is the other colossal fear of the penis and testicles. Apparently any sort of unsolicited contact with this region brings an incredible amount of suffering and despair. The men I talked to seem to relive these painful moments so vividly it was hard for them to discuss it.

I have my doubts about the actual amount of pain involved in unwanted, sudden testicular contact. A warning: don't ever try to argue this with a man. Suddenly he'll become very in touch with his sensitive side and be personally offended by your lack of sympathy.

Men and women are equally balanced or cursed by their genitals. Still, every once in a while it would be nice to walk in another man's pants.

▶ YOUR VIEWS

• STUDENTS SHOULD BE PROUD OF ARCHITECTURE.

Editor,

During the holidays I was back in Manhattan. On one of my excursions, I was south of campus and turned north on 16th Street. As I looked at Nichols Hall I thought, "What an awesome structure. And to think, they almost 'dozed it down."

The building was a source of great controversy in the 1970s and 1980s, as some with authority wanted to demolish the entire structure after only the interior was destroyed.

K-State should be proud of its architecture, and I hope it is. Many of the buildings are built in a similar style and are of the same stone. It is truly a grand sight.

If you have a chance, read the book about the 100 years of what is now K-State (1863-1963) as I did when I was back. It is fascinating to read about and see the structures as they came to be.

Anderson Hall was built in the middle of nowhere, looking like an isolated castle. Memorial Stadium was being used before it was even complete. Fans were in temporary bleachers as we played host to the University of Kansas for our 1922 Homecoming.

Memorial Stadium, designed and constructed as a memorial for those who died in service in World War I, is still functioning. Uses include classrooms, studios, a theater, band practice field and a jogging track.

I've heard the controversy of tearing it down or modifying it. In America we seem to have a history of tearing down rather than preserving. Yet once it's gone, it's gone. Only when things are too late do we regret our actions.

There are unused places for a multi-level parking structure. I also acknowledge the baseball field needs work. You wouldn't guess it's an NCAA college facility. But I personally don't think Memorial Stadium is the place. Modify (please!) the existing baseball facility. Memorial Stadium's field is worth it. It's what we have and what K-State is, and it cannot be replaced.

Margaret Engler
former student
Kearney, Neb.

P.S. If I win a big sweepstakes, I'll contribute to Memorial Stadium's restoration!

To submit a letter

- Visit the Collegian newsroom. Submit letters to Kevin Klassen at Kedzie 116.
- Drop it in the mail. Send letters to Letters to the Editor, c/o Kevin Klassen, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506.
- Send it by e-mail. Our e-mail address is (collegn@spub.ksu.edu).
- Remember this. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo ID will be necessary for hand-delivered letters. No poetry will be accepted. Letters may be edited for length, clarity and grammar.

No suspects found in bank robbery

RUSSELL FORTMEYER
senior staff writer

Commerce Bank, 3150 Westloop, was robbed Tuesday.

The robbery occurred at 10:27 a.m. when a man entered the bank, paused at a counter and then asked a teller to fill a bag with money.

Lt. Herb Crosby, investigator with the Riley County Police Department, said the amount of money taken is undetermined at this time, although there was a dye pack included with the money which should explode and taint the money with red dye.

Crosby said area merchants should be wary to accept any money with red dye on it.

Crosby, who is also working with the Federal Bureau of Investigation on the case, said citizens with any information that might be helpful to the case should call the RCPD at 537-2112 as soon as possible.

Jim Kastner, vice president of Commerce Bank of Manhattan, said the bank is not commenting on the robbery, but is helping RCPD with the investigation.

The suspect is described as a white male, about 5'8" or 5'9", weighing 180 pounds, with a medium build and a reddish complexion. He is believed to have short, gray hair and to be in his 40s. At the time of the robbery, he was wearing a light-colored ball cap, a tan or light brown waist-length jacket and light-colored blue jeans.

Crosby said there is no reason to believe the suspect is involved in other bank robberies, although there have been several in Kansas, including Junction City, El Dorado and Salina over the past week.

Crosby said witnesses are helping to create a composite which will eventually be released.

He said the suspect is believed to have been unarmed, but that is not confirmed.

"It's basically a conventional bank robbery," Crosby said.

BRANDON WHITE/Collegian

THREE-YEAR-OLD Leif Nelson braves the heights of the stone wall along Manhattan Avenue on Monday. Leif's mother, Elizabeth, and his father, Kent, were accompanying him.

University publications receive regional awards for excellence

KIM BRUNA
staff reporter

Between University Publications and the KSU Alumni Association, K-State departments won 14 awards for excellence in promotional publications.

University Publications and the Alumni Association were recognized with awards at the Council for Advancement and Support of Education conference Tuesday, Jan. 21 in Kansas City, Kan.

The CASE District VI recognition program is held annually to honor excellent performance in publications and alumni promotions in the district, which includes a region of eight states.

University Publications was honored with 11 awards, including three first-place awards. Two of these awards were for "Before You're a Senior," which was a mailing to attract new students. The other gold award was for "Campus Buzz," another recruitment mailing.

The Alumni Association was recognized with three awards, including two second-place awards. The first was for a photo series, "Bungee Bound," which was published in the K-Stater magazine. The second was for a board of directors voters' guide for the Alumni Association's magazine.

Brad Beets, vice president of the Alumni Association, said this was a chance for several areas to be recognized.

"It does show our strength to be successful as an Alumni Association," Beets said.

Shane Shanks, assistant director of publications at University Publications, said that while this is not the first time his office has been honored, it does not mean that they do not appreciate it.

"It's nice to have people who do the same kinds of work we do recognize what we do, especially if we try something different."

While being recognized is encouraging, Shanks said there is more to it than being honored.

"The real bottom line isn't the awards. It's that the publications work."

Aubrey Abbott, junior in political science, also attended the conference. Partially sponsored by the Alumni Association, Abbott was one of five students in the district who were selected to attend the conference to find out more about institutional advancement. Abbott, a Student Alumni Board member from Larned, was the first student from K-State to be selected to attend.

"I'm real interested in institutional advancement," Abbott, who hopes to continue her interest after graduation, said. "I want to use this conference as a way to narrow down my field of interest."

Abortion clinics fear security risks after multiple bombings

ERICA DUNCAN
staff reporter

Abortion clinics in Kansas City and Wichita are maintaining a high level of security after last week's bombing in Atlanta and Sunday's bombing in Tulsa, Okla.

"Any time there is a terroristic act like this certainly it heightens our awareness," Peggy Jarman, spokeswoman for Dr. George R. Tiller, said.

Tiller is a physician who was shot by a protester outside his Wichita clinic in 1993.

After the attempt on Tiller's life, the Wichita Family Planning clinic implemented the highest level of security possible, Jarman said.

When people enter the clinic, they pass through security cameras mounted on gates. Then they go through metal detectors and have their purses and bags examined. A picture ID is required and held throughout their time at the clinic.

All patients are notified of the security precautions when they make an appointment, Jarman said.

The intense airport-type security concerned the clinic when it was first implemented.

Clinic officials were worried about the patients' reactions, she said.

Jarman said she has found that in addition to competent physicians, the patients want to be safe and appreciate good security.

Comprehensive Health in Kansas City performs drills to get its staff ready for any emergency that may occur, Betty Armstrong, public relations specialist for the clinic, said.

They have an armed guard on duty at all times, and anyone entering the clinic must be on a list of approved entries. Identification must be shown and all bags are checked for guns and mace. There are cameras on the buildings that monitor what is happening.

There has never been a bomb threat at the Comprehensive Health clinic, but clinic officials realize they are not exempt from danger.

"We don't think we are safe from (bombings). Just because we haven't had to deal with them doesn't mean we won't," Armstrong said.

Read the Collegian. It's good for you.

FREMONT LAUNDRY
304 Fremont 539-3261
Full-Service Drop-off
You Dirty It - We wash, dry & fold it
Just Like Mom Did!
Reg. $155.80
Special
$88.80
COUPON BOOK
WE DO IT ALL. Full Semester of Laundry
16 weeks
44% Savings
WASH, DRY, FOLD
QUALITY IS OUR TRADITION

AMERICA'S #1 STUDENT TOUR OPERATOR
SPRING BREAK '97
Cancun from $399
Jamaica from $429
Florida from $119
STS STUDENT TRAVEL SERVICES
1344 Ashton Rd. Hanover, MD 21076
http://ststravel.com/
Book with Creative Travel and receive $50 off SCUBA certification!!!
SPACE IS LIMITED SO CALL TODAY!!!
CALL CREATIVE TRAVEL @ 539-0531

TK Specialty Programs Presents
Box - Aerobics
Starting January 20, 1997
Box Aerobics combines actual boxing techniques with aerobic principles to produce an intense cardiovascular training workout for the entire body.
Friday Nights - 6:30
Pro Fitness
1125 Laramie
Manhattan, Kansas
Bring this coupon in for one
Free Trial Class
Try it!
You'll love it!
Prices as low as $10 a month
Kickboxing & Karate classes also available

This Week's Specials
Sancho or Burrito $1.40 (reg. $1.80)
Taco Dinner $2.15 (reg. $2.90)
Good through 1-25-97
TACO HUT
Sun-Thurs 11 a.m.-10 p.m.
Fri-Sat 11 a.m.-Midnight
Where good friends get together
Overlooking Westloop
2809 Claflin
539-2091

GOT A RUSTY HORN?*
WE'VE GOT A BAND FOR YOU!
You've been meaning to get that old horn out and practice, but it's not much fun playing the tuba part of the Holst's First Suite by yourself. It's missing a lot, and so are YOU! If you enjoyed a musical experience in high school, this is a great opportunity to continue it now! Music is NOT for music majors alone.
Be a part of the ALL NEW University Band. This ensemble meets from 4:30 to 6:00 on Tuesdays and Thursdays and will perform a concert at the end of the semester. If you are interested, enroll in Concert Band, section B, and meet in McCain 201 on Thursday, January 23. If you have any questions, please call the band office at 532-5740

Network Computer Solutions
1212 Moro 776-9088
SYSTEMS
PENTIUM 100MHZ.....$1365
PENTIUM 120MHZ.....$1380
PENTIUM 133MHZ.....$1425
PENTIUM 150MHZ.....$1500
PENTIUM 166MHZ.....$1625
EACH SYSTEM INCLUDES:
Triton II Motherboard • 16 MB EDO RAM 1.2 GB HD • 2MB PCI Bus Video Card • 3.5" Floppy Drive • 8x CD-ROM • Soundblaster Vibra 16 • 15" .28 Monitor • Mouse/Keyboard/Windows 95/ MS Works/Microsoft Money/Speakers
All systems come with a 1 year MANUFACTURERS WARRANTY
ADD-ONS (Available only with purchases of a system)
16MB OF EDO RAM (TOTAL 32MB)...$68
2.0GB HARD DRIVE (UPGRADE)...$55
17" MONITOR (UPGRADE)...$300
33.6 MODEM...$100
MS OFFICE 95...$185
HARDWARE
8X CD-ROM...$110
12X CD-ROM...$135
33.6 FAX/MODEM W/VOICE...$105
1.6 GB WESTERN DIGITAL HD...$230
DIAMOND STEALTH 3D PCI 2MB VIDEO...$125
2MB CIRRUS LOGIC PCI VIDEO CARD...$75
SOUNDBLASTER 16 PNP...$80
GAMES
MECHWARRIOR II: MERCENARIES...$32
COMMAND & CONQUER: RED ALERT...$49
Starting Jan. 20, 1997 we are ordering games once per week at 10% above cost.
8MB 72 pin $37
16MB 72 pin $68
90 Days Same As Cash with approved credit
We are dedicated to low prices and amazing service. For all your upgrades, repairs or questions stop in or call.
VISA MasterCard DISCOVER

FREE
McCain Tickets
McCain Auditorium is in search of community members, including KSU staff, students, faculty willing to usher in exchange for FREE TICKETS to McCain Performance Series Events such as: Alvin Ailey Dance, or The Odd Couple.
Join us for 1 of 2 orientation Meetings in the McCain Auditorium Lobby.
Thursday, January 23 at 4 and 5 p.m.
If you are unable to attend, call 532-2358 for details.

THE HAMMER SIGNS ONE-YEAR CONTRACT WITH K.C. ROYALS

▶ Kansas City Royals first-baseman Bob "The Hammer" Hamelin signed a one year $700,000 contract with the Royals on Tuesday, avoiding arbitration salary.

Donnie Baseball announces retirement after 14 years

ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK — Don Mattingly, the greatest New York Yankees player never to reach the World Series, will never get that chance.

Mattingly, who sat out last season when New York won the championship, is set to formally announce his retirement Wednesday at Yankee Stadium. A news conference has been called for 2 p.m.

A six-time all-Star and a nine-time Gold Glove first baseman, Mattingly hit .307 in a 14-season career. He was the AL MVP in 1985, later became only the 10th player to be named captain of the Yankees and earned the nickname Donnie Baseball as a fan favorite in New York.

Mattingly became a free agent after the 1995 season, saying he did not intend to play in 1996. He left open the possibility that he would return at another date, however.

In his past two years combined, Mattingly hit just 13 homers and drove in only 100 runs.

Last September, during a charity golf outing in his hometown of Evansville, Ind., Mattingly said he had 90 percent made a decision on whether to play again. At the time, though, he did not definitely say what he would do.

"If and when I go back, I want at-bats, and it doesn't matter where I'm getting them from," Mattingly said then.

Mattingly, 35, recently said some teams had contacted him about a comeback, although no clubs publicly indicated they would offer him a contract.

The Yankees acquired Tino Martinez and Cecil Fielder to play first base last season. Martinez, obtained in an off-season deal with Seattle, hit .292 with 25 home runs and 117 RBIs and Fielder hit 13 of his 39 homers last year.

Mattingly played briefly for the Yankees in 1982, the year after they lost the World Series to Los Angeles. The Yankees did not reach postseason play again until 1995, their longest such drought since the days of Babe Ruth.

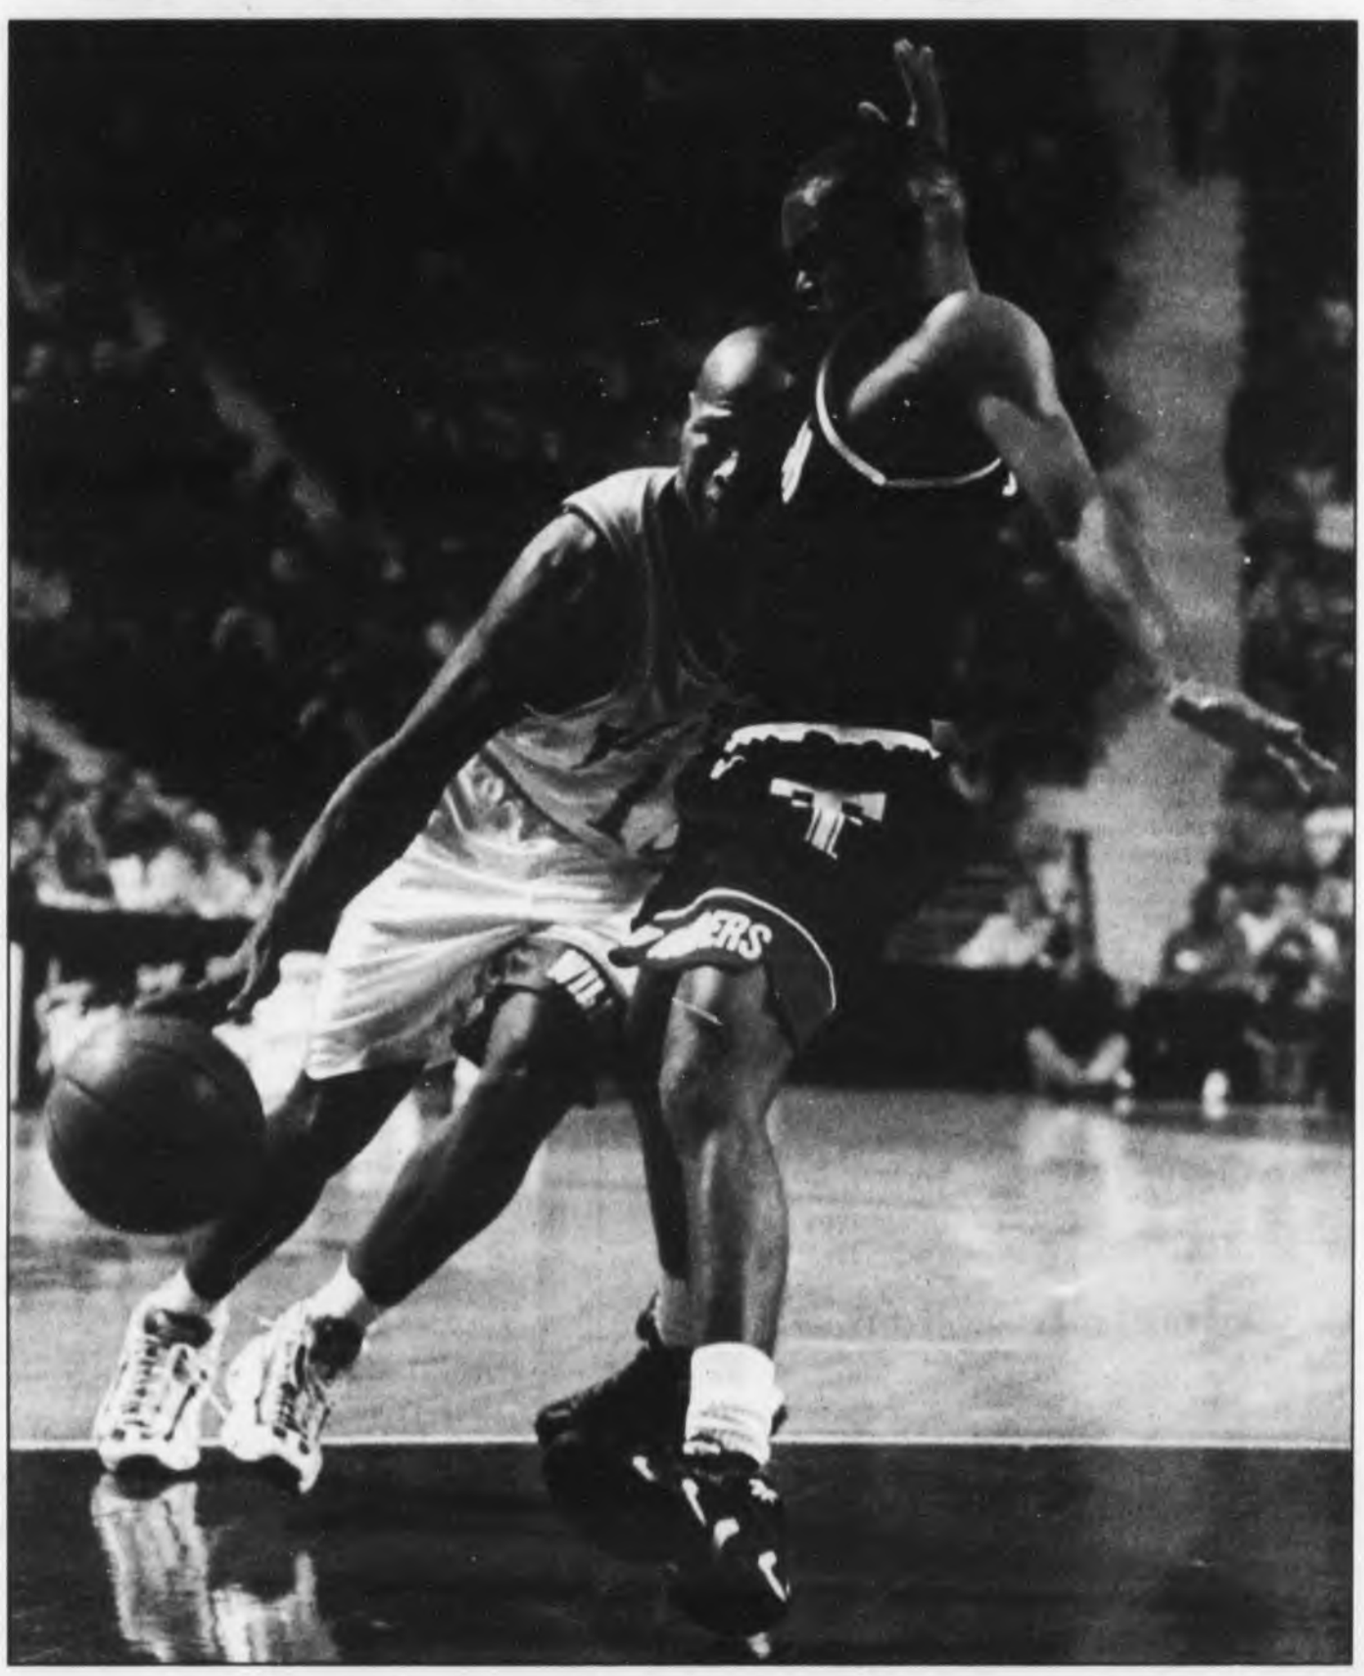
Mattingly hit .288 with just seven homers and 49 RBIs in 1995, but finished strong in his first appearance in the playoffs.

In the opening round of the AL playoffs, he batted .417 with one homer and six RBIs in the Yankees' five-game loss to Seattle.

In 1991, Mattingly was appointed captain of the Yankees, an honor he had for five years.

Mattingly hit 222 home runs and had 1,099 RBIs in his career.

He led the AL in batting at .343 and won the MVP in 1985, when he hit .324 with 35 homers and league-leading totals of 145 RBIs and 48 doubles.



In 1986, he hit .352 and topped the AL with 238 hits and 53 doubles.

Mattingly—A Yankee legend leaves cats on roadtrip to isu face a situation most

DANGEROUS

CHRIS GRIFFIN drives around Texas Tech's Deuce Jones during Saturday's game. The Red Raiders took advantage of a Wildcat breakdown in the second half to win 73-64.
JILL JARSULIC
Collegian

Team plans rebound against ISU

STORY BY JEREMY KELLEY

The Wildcats look to halt the five game losing streak tonight when they face the 14th-ranked Iowa State Cyclones in Ames.

The Cyclones plummeted six spots in the Associated Press basketball poll after falling by 25 points at Colorado last Saturday, without head coach Tim Floyd who was tossed out of the game with seven minutes left in the first half.

Last year K-State won both games against Iowa State, a combination which Coach Tom Asbury said might be deadly.

"We're well aware of that," Asbury said. "They lost their coach. They'll be upset, and we had good fortune to beat them last year. You combine that and it's a dangerous scenario."

Wednesday night K-State's struggling offense must produce against Iowa State, who leads the Big 12 in scoring defense, only allowing 57.9 points per game.

"I have been real pleased with our effort," Asbury said. "We've got to try to come closer to our optimal ability level then we'll start winning."

When facing up with the Cyclones, the Cats must again try to halt their opponent's three-point attack like they were forced to do against Wichita State and Coppin State.

Iowa State currently leads the Big 12 in three-point field goal percentage at 44 percent. However, Dedric Willoughby leads the team, popping in 53 percent of his shots behind the arc.

"I haven't been particularly pleased with how we've defended the three, but when great shooters make threes on you, that's going to happen," Asbury said.

Asbury said a bright spot for K-State is the fact that Iowa State's team only goes as far as its starting five. Asbury said the only thing the Cyclones lack is production from the bench.

"Make no mistake about it, their starting lineup is the nuts and bolts of that team — there's no doubt about that," he said.

K-State center Gerald Eaker will have his work cut out for him when he takes to the court with one of the Big 12's better centers in Kelvin Cato. The 6'11" senior is averaging 11.3 points, grabbing 8.3 rebounds and swatting nearly five shots per outing to anchor Iowa State's post play.

"We're a good defensive team when we all come together and play hard," Shawn Rhodes said. "We can defend anybody. We've found that out in the last couple of games."

Rhodes said after Saturday's 73-64 loss to Texas Tech the teams attitude remained positive.

"We came out with a positive attitude. We played hard," he said. "We're still going to be up, and we're not going to hang our heads. We're going to go to Ames and play hard and hopefully come out with a win."

As for Asbury and the rest of the Catbackers, the only thing they can do is accept the loss and concentrate on the next opponent.

"Obviously the schedule hasn't worked in our favor," he said. "We've got to move from one to the next — which is the old trite statement. We need to home in on our next opponent and what you need to do against them. That's the only way to look at it."

WOMEN SEEK TO END TWO-GAME LOSING STREAK

The K-State women's basketball team will look to end a two-game losing streak against Iowa State at 7 tonight in the friendly confines of Bramlage Coliseum.

The Wildcats (8-6,1-3) will look to improve their record against the Cyclones (9-5,2-2), who are coming off an overtime loss to Colorado.

Last season the Cyclones gave the Cats trouble, winning both games.

The Cats only managed to score 58 points.

Like last season, Cat coach Deb Patterson said the team will not be able to focus on just one or two Cyclone players.

"When you look at Iowa State, you first notice their diversity," Patterson said. "They get a lot of people involved in their offense, then Olson can post you up or step out and hit the threes."

Junior center Jayme Olson leads the Cyclones in scoring this season, averaging more than 17 points a game. Against Colorado, she was 4-of-6 from the three-point line.

The Cats will have to try to control the points of Cyclone forward Janel Grimm.

Patterson said she expects a lot of different looks from the Cyclone defense.

One person the Cats are looking toward to help break down defenses is freshman center Angie Finkes. In her past outing against Texas Tech, Finkes played an important role in the contest. Playing 39 minutes, Finkes set career highs with eight field goals made and 13 attempted.

"Angie has really been asserting herself as an offensive presence," Patterson said. "She has really been showing some consistency, which has made a tremendous difference."

Patterson said Finkes' increased time will help senior forward Andria Jones on both sides of the ball against the Cyclones.

"We will put Angie on their best inside player, which will help Andria out a little bit," she said. "Also, with Angie scoring some now, their defenses will not be able to focus on Andria all the time. This will help lighten her load."

A win would pull the Cats up to eight in the Big 12 standings, one spot ahead of the Cyclones.

STORY BY SHANE McCORMICK

Bench gives KU key support in basketball

We are now in the gut of college basketball season and while Manny Dies is building up one the firmest structures known to man, the Kansas Jayhawks are padding their win column every time they take to the floor.

Forget what the critics say. KU and K-State are archrivals and they always play each other close no matter whose court they play on. KU was just toying with the Cats on Jan. 4, and when the Cats take to Allen Fieldhouse on Feb. 22 the Hawks will demoralize K-State and their hopes of a narrow defeat. It was a valiant effort, but it is the same old scenario every year: close in Manhattan, bludgeoning in Lawrence.

VIEW

JEREMY KELLEY

JEREMY KELLEY is a sophomore in print journalism. You can e-mail your comments to Jeremy at (weasal1@ksu.edu)

Let's look at it this way. At least one team in Kansas is having a great year, and the reason they are having the success that they are is simple — they have depth.

Albeit, KU has some of the more premier players in the country, but their bench always must produce or KU won't win. Depth is something that is becoming old hat for Roy Williams, isn't it?

I recall the days of Steve Woodberry, the greatest sixth man in basketball at the time, who always would give KU a lift off the bench. And of course who could forget the championship team of 1988 with support players like Clint Normore and Scooter Barry. The bench — it's what makes Kansas basketball.

The czar of zone, Tom Asbury, needs to take to the likes of the head honcho at KU and go recruit good, quality players who can come off the bench in the years to come and turn K-State basketball around.

Don't get me wrong, my heart is still made of purple, but I am a native of Kansas and Jayhawk basketball has always been one of the greatest things to watch during basketball season. I guess it's all about unselfishness, team, heart and hustle. It's KU basketball in a nutshell.

That's what K-State lacks in their offense — depth. Mark Young and Aaron Swartzendruber can only carry this team for so long before they completely breakdown.

The Cats don't have any quality players off the bench except maybe for a binge of offensive leadership from Shawn Rhodes.

But wait, here comes the savior, Marcus McCullough. After having to watch his Cats get slapped silly game after game, McCullough was fed up and he threw his redshirt aside.

Look for McCullough to give the Cats quality minutes. Mark my words, McCullough will put this team in the NCAA tournament only to falter to Clemson. Yeah, the Cats are in a rut but all they really need is for someone to pull them out of it.

If K-State had the trio of KU forward Paul Pierce, Young and McCullough they could hang with anyone. Young needs to have some basketball players to win a basketball game, not just a bunch of K-State students who think basketball is fun.

K-State has some good basketball players. Paco May, Chris Griffin and Gerald Eaker are all excellent players but they are not consistent like Mark "Yeah, that's right" Young.

Another thing that adds to the success of KU basketball is the wonderful fan support, something that K-State desperately needs. If it must take a contest with an archrival and the No. 1 team in the country to sell out Bramlage Coliseum, that's pretty pathetic.

The reason that game was so close is because the Cats had support from you — the fans. The Jayhawks can always count on 16,000 fans to back them all the way. We are lucky if we get 7,000, and our arena only holds 13,500. It's pathetic — just get out there.

In closing, let us all remember the old adage of one of the world's most famed poets, Shakespeare: "Shall quips and sentences of these rare paper bullets awe a man from the career of his humor? No, the world must be peopled."

A&E EDITOR
PORTIA SISCO
e-mail: (andra@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
HEALTH&SEX
WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 22, 1997

CURIOUS ABOUT HEALTH&SEX AND WANT TO KNOW MORE?

▶ This page will address the personal health and sexuality issues. Have a question about sex or health, but too afraid to ask? Send your questions to the Collegian to be answered in a future paper.

▶ ART BRIEFS

The Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art will offer a free public tour at 2 p.m. Sunday. The tour will begin in the downstairs lobby of the Beach art museum. Reservations are not required.

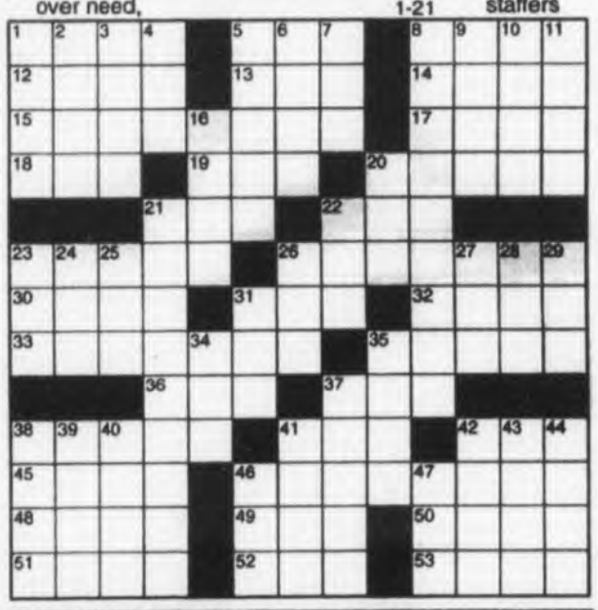
Faculty artists David Littrell, cellist, and William Wingfield, pianist, will perform three full-length recitals in All Faiths Chapel entitled "Masterpieces of the Cello Repertoire." Littrell and Wingfield will honor Brahms and Schubert by performing their compositions. The first concert at 8 p.m. on Thursday will feature concertos. The two remaining concerts at 3 p.m. on Sunday and 1 p.m. on Feb. 9 will be dedicated to sonatas. All three concerts are free and open to the public.

The Beach art museum will feature Food For Thought at noon Feb. 5. Education Coordinator Kathrine Walker will speak about the controversy with the Statehouse Murals and the lithograph of John Brown by John Steuart Curry.

Students will have an opportunity to create original valentines at 1 p.m. Feb. 8 in the Beach art museum. With a Beach Bums membership the cost is $5. Beach Bum membership brochures are available at the museum.

▶ DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 Cribbage needs
5 Ointment infiltrator
8 Encrust
12 Frenzied
13 Wade opponent
14 Radial's neighbor
15 "Enough already!"
17 Spree
18 Symbol of penance
19 Moreover
20 Theater-goers' souvenirs
21 Suitable
22 Reply to one who overstates the obvious
23 Might
26 Hodge-podge
30 "— ben Adhem"
31 Succor
32 Toast topper
33 Colori-zation
35 Religion
36 Don't just sit there
37 Sleep-over need, maybe
38 Striped cat
41 "Ben- —"
42 Resort
45 Medley
46 Annoying injury
48 Former talk-show bigwig
49 Harvarder's rival
50 Dodger pitcher
51 The A train?
52 Become one
53 Took to the pool



DOWN
1 Tropical rodent
2 Aussie flock
3 Barbarian
4 Tackle moguls
5 Down-stage
6 High on the decibel scale
7 Neverthe-less
8 Ruthless
9 Fraternal fielder
10 Handle
11 Grub
16 Record
20 Above: prefix
21 Some-what better than
22 Old man
23 Dirty word to Richard Simmons
24 Sapporo sash
25 Guitarist Wood
26 Calimyrna, e.g.
27 "The Greatest"
28 Compre-hend
29 Ah's mate
31 Tiny socialist?
34 Slick
35 Links warning
37 You'll fall when he hits you
38 Sepul-cher
39 Guinness or Waugh
40 Celtics legend
41 "One life to lose" patriot
42 Punt, e.g.
43 Cougar
44 Scintilla
46 Sunday seat
47 Hosp. staffers

Solution time: 27 mins.

A	M	O			P	A	W		M	A	I	D
L	A	D	Y		S	I	R		A	B	L	E
A	L	O	E		I	D	O		N	E	L	L
S	T	R	A	Y		A	N	N	O
			R	E	D		G	U	F	F	A	W
M	A	D	I	S	O	N		S	T	A	G	E
I	R	O	N		G	I	N		H	U	E	S
T	E	T	R	A		L	I	F	E	N	E	T
E	A	S	E	L	S		P	A	Y
			V	I	A	L		R	E	G	A	L
M	A	G	I		T	O	W		A	L	M	A
O	B	O	E		A	G	E		R	A	M	P
S	C	O	W		N	O	B			D	O	S

Yesterday's answer

1-21

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 | 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

1-21 CRYPTOQUIP

Z V K V P Y J O A B R A L M N V P G D R A B M V D D L M I O C J Y C L Y N L M K L R G O T K R T R M I L Z?

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: I'D SAY AN ASSISTANT CONDUCTOR COULD SURELY BE CALLED A BAND-AIDE.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: D equals B

▶ MELVIN VS. THE WORLD

while one k-state student discovers

ROMANCE ON THE INTERNET

other students question the safety and practicality of online dating

Internet leads to cross-country love interest

STORY BY PORTIA SISCO

Last summer, James Beck, junior in accounting, met someone. He didn't meet her at a bar, in class or in Aggieville. He met her on the Internet.

Beck started using America Online at the end of the spring semester in 1996.

"I did it just to waste time," he said.

Beck said he met Kelly Swords on one of the chat lines. Swords lives in Gainesville, Ga.

Beck and Swords developed a romantic relationship communicating over the Internet and on the telephone several times a week.

"There are plans for the future. It's serious," Beck said.

It's hard trying to be there for the other person when they both live so far apart, Beck said.

"It's kind of hard not to be down there when I know she needs somebody. It's the hardest thing for me," Beck said.

Swords attends a small private school with a little over 700 students.

"Umberger can hold about two-thirds of her school," Beck said.

Beck visited Kelly for the first time over winter break. Beck flew down to Georgia on Dec. 29.

"I really wasn't nervous up until I got on the plane. It didn't hit me until the plane was descending," Beck said. "I was so nervous, I thought I would walk right past her. She was the first person I saw when I got off the plane. Our eyes met, and there were grins on both of our faces.

"It was different seeing each other in person for the first time," Beck said. "It was a new experience for me and for her to have physical contact with each other. I knew it was going to work when I first saw her."

After Swords picked Beck up at the airport, they faced a long car ride back to Gainesville.

"It was kind of a quiet drive back to her house. The first thing I had to do was meet the parents," Beck said.

Beck stayed with Swords' family for a week.

"I met her grandparents. We all got along," Beck said.

Communication is still an issue for the couple.

"It's easier now because before I went down there the only way we could communicate was by the telephone," he said. "She's finally got a computer account down there."

Beck and Swords now communicate daily by sending e-mail. They still talk on the phone several times a month.

"With e-mail, we talk through letters every day, unlike last semester when we had to wait three or four days to talk to each other," Beck said.

Now that they've met, it makes some things harder.

"It's harder in terms of wanting to see each other and wanting to go down there," Beck said. "There's really no way to deal with it. We both have to accept the facts. There's no way to stop thinking about it."

Beck will travel to Gainesville again around Valentine's Day to see Swords again. Beck said Swords has planned two trips, one in April and one during the summer, to visit him.

"She'll stay one week to two weeks in the summer. That's when she'll be exposed to my family," Beck said.

His parents are supportive of his relationship.

"My mom is gung-ho about it," Beck said.

Although they have plans for the future, the distance is still a problem, Beck said.

"There will probably be fewer phone calls and more flights," Beck said. "That's probably an absolute lie. There will probably be the same number of phone calls, and more flights down there."

BILL KRAAI/Collegian

Risk of deception concerns potential Internet couples

STORY BY SANDY DAVIS

The Internet can be an online dating service. Still, K-State students said they are unsure of its safety and practicality.

"I think it's a little strange," Shannon Totman, junior in business, said. "It's kind of like a blind date, and those usually don't turn out very well. I'd assume it's a little like that."

Scott Lunsford, freshman in electrical engineering, said it would be too easy for someone to deceive others over the Internet. Since the relationship is based on the computer, it is not easy to tell if the person has been truthful.

"Someone could just make up a character and describe that online," Lunsford said.

Elisabeth Walker, junior in elementary education, said she thinks a cyber romance isn't realistic because of the possibility for deception.

"It could be a girl who says she's a really gorgeous guy," Walker said. "You're just setting yourself up for disappointment."

Erin Bloom, junior in elementary education, said a potential problem for the romance is the absence of a physical relationship. If you're just looking for a new friend, then this isn't an important consideration. But if you want something more intimate, then the lack of physical love could be a problem.

"There's a physical aspect to a relationship that's important, and you won't have that online," Bloom said.

Bloom said she thinks that while a cyber romance might not be good for her, some people might flourish in that situation.

"I'm skeptical, but I do have a friend who met somebody that she had been talking to online, and now they have a very good friendship," Bloom said.

Walker said she knew someone from her hometown who didn't have such good luck. Her friend had been writing to an American soldier in Bosnia over the Internet. He sent her flowers and called her regularly, but he cut off their communication after he returned to the United States. She hasn't heard from him since.

Bloom said, "You don't know who's on the other end, and you don't know if you could trust them."

Audrey Jo Alexander, freshman in agricultural and biological engineering and feed science, said, "I might play with them online, but it would never get past the computer."

▶ DILBERT

So what do you think?

The Collegian is in the process of changing what used to be the Diversions page. Now there's more variety. E-mail your comments and story ideas to Portia Sisco at (andra@ksu.edu) or call 532-6556.

House votes to fine, reprimand Gingrich

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — In a day of dishonor for Newt Gingrich, the House voted for the first time in history to discipline its speaker for ethical misconduct. After months of partisan strife, the vote was a lopsided 395-28 to reprimand Gingrich and impose a $300,000 penalty.

"The penalty is tough and unprecedented," ethics committee Chairwoman Nancy Johnson, R-Conn., said at the start of a 90-minute debate. Republicans and Democrats agreed that Gingrich had done wrong — indeed he had admitted it — but they clashed over the gravity of his misbehavior.

The partisanship that permeated the two-year investigation was undiminished Tuesday despite the overwhelming vote. At one point, Rep. Nancy Pelosi, D-Calif., questioned whether Gingrich was ethically fit to continue as speaker.

However, most of the 435 seats on the floor — and most in the visitors' gallery — were empty.

Gingrich was attending meetings in his office and did not watch the debate, said his spokeswoman, Lauren Maddox. When admitting his guilt Dec. 21, Gingrich acknowledged in a written statement that he brought down on the people's house a controversy which could weaken the faith people have in their government.

After two years of denials, Gingrich confessed to committee findings that he failed to seek and follow legal advice that would have warned him not to use tax-exempt projects to further partisan goals.

He also agreed that he should have known statements submitted under his name — denying his political organization's connection to the tax-exempt activities — were inaccurate, incomplete and unreliable.

There were 196 Republicans, 198 Democrats and one independent who supported the penalty. Twenty-six Republicans and two Democrats were opposed and five members merely voted present.

Still unannounced is how Gingrich will pay the $300,000. Some Republicans said he would risk further political uproar if he used campaign money or established a legal defense fund rather than using his own money.

A vote to reprimand a member is reserved for serious violations of the rules. The financial penalty, never before imposed, was to reimburse the ethics panel for costs associated with expanding the investigation after Gingrich submitted his misleading statements.

PRO Fitness
20 Tans Free*
In Aggieville 12th & Laramie
539-7095
*Manhattan's Premier Fitness Center
*BEST RATES ON SUPPLEMENTS IN TOWN
*With purchase of Spring Membership

Suds Y'R Duds
Welcomes K-State Students Back
With Free Dryers
Between 5 a.m. & 3 p.m. when available
Monday thru Friday · Located in Anderson Village
1453 Anderson Ave.
537-2325
Open 5 a.m. - midnight
7 days a week

27th ANNUAL
MANHATTAN BRIDAL SHOW, INC.
SUNDAY, JANUARY 26, 1997
Houston Street Ballroom, 5th & Houston
Doors open at noon — Fashion Show at 2 p.m.
Admission is FREE

REGISTER TO WIN
OVER $1500 IN FREE GIFTS & PRIZES including
A DREAM HONEYMOON
Value $750.00
(Must be present to win)
SPONSORED BY:
Atwood Rentals
Bocker's Two Catering
Borch Brothers
Bridal World
Campbell's
G. Thomas Jewelers
Heirloom Portraits
Houston Street Ballroom
Kansas State Travel
KQLA/Q-103.5 Radio
Jennifer O'Briant, Longaberger Rep.
Party Inc.
Patricia's Undercover
Realty Executives
Rickel-McMillin Liquor
Rod's Hallmark
Florence Schwab, Harpist, and Mary Lee Cochran, Flutist
Steve's Floral
Tina's Studio 32
Vern's Donuts & Cakes
Waters True Value
Woody's Ladies Shop

KSU Men's Lacrosse Meeting

Thursday, Jan. 23
7:30 p.m. Union Rm. 205
More Info. call Curt 537-9406 or Jay 537-3017.
Newcomers Welcome.
Current players should attend.

TALENT AUDITIONS
For Singers & Dancers
"All the World's a Stage" at Worlds of Fun from our lively 60's - 70's rock revue, STAX OF WAX, to our spectacular contemporary country music show at the Tivoli Music Hall. Performing at Worlds of Fun is FUN, and it can be that important First Step toward a professional career. More than 1.3 million Worlds of Fun Guests are waiting to discover YOU!

AUDITION INSTRUCTIONS
If you are a singer, please sing one verse and chorus of two contrasting styles of song: one up-tempo and one ballad. Sing any type music you enjoy: rock, country, show tunes, etc. (No Rap.) Singer auditions should be no longer than three minutes in length.
Dancers should prepare one song to sing and a jazz routine no longer than two minutes.
You must provide your own accompaniment whether it be a pianist or a cassette tape. We will provide a cassette deck and a piano. A cappella auditions will not be accepted.
We are not auditioning bands, solo instrumentalists or dramatic actors.

THE CLOSEST AUDITIONS:
Manhattan, Kansas
Wednesday, January 31 - Kansas State University
The "K & S" Rooms in the K-State Union.
3:00 p.m. (Registration closes at 5:00 p.m.)
Lawrence, Kansas
Monday, February 5 - The University of Kansas
In the Kansas Room (level 6) at the Kansas Union.
3:00 p.m. (Registration closes at 5:00 p.m.)
Kansas City, Missouri
Sunday, February 4 - Park Place Hotel
1601 N. Universal Avenue (Just off Front Street at I-435.)
1:00 p.m. (Registration closes at 4:00 p.m.)
Worlds of Fun
*Applicants must be at least 16 years of age by 5-5-96.
For more information and a complete audition schedule, contact the Worlds of Fun Live Entertainment Department at (816) 454-4545, Ext. 1350. E.O.E.

Optical Perspectives
Eyeglasses as low as $59
Some restrictions apply
Repairs and free adjustments.
We fill your hometown doctor's prescription.
300 Poyntz • Downtown • 539-5105
2439 Claflin • Medical Center • 539-2555

"No Coupon" Specials (NO coupon needed, NONE accepted)
Everyday Two-fers
2 - PIZZAS with
2 - TOPPINGS each
2 - COKES with ice
$9.12
Everyday Three-fers
3 - PIZZAS with
1 - TOPPING each
3 - COKES with ice
$11.23
Prices do not include sales taxes.
Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

We Care Enough to Listen FONE Crisis
Volunteer Training:
Do you like to help people?
Are you a good listener?
Call to Register
537-0999

CAREER AND EMPLOYMENT SERVICES
ORIENTATION TO SERVICES AND
ON-CAMPUS INTERVIEWS...THE PATH TO EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

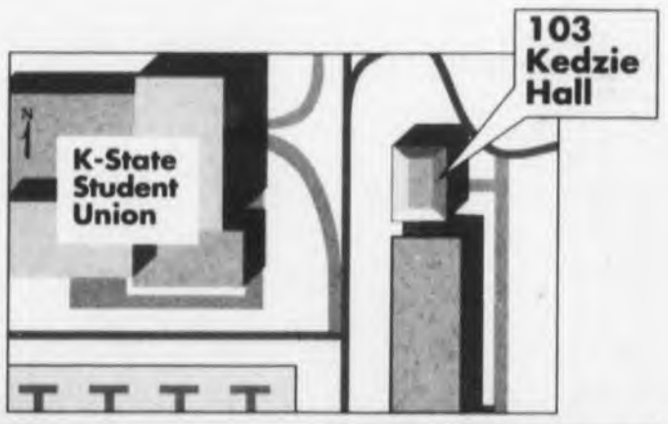
COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE
Tuesday, January 28, 1997 @ 4:30 pm Waters 231

COLLEGE OF ARTS & SCIENCES
Wednesday, January 22, 1997 @ 6:00 pm Union 212
Friday, January 24, 1997 @ 1:30 pm Union 212
Tuesday, January 28, 1997 @ 3:30 pm Union 212

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION
Tuesday, January 21, 1997 @ 7:00 pm Calvin 208
Wednesday, January 22, 1997 @ 7:00 pm Calvin 208



COLLEGE OF EDUCATION
Friday, January 24, 1997 @ 10:30 am Denison 224
Wednesday, Febuary 19, 1997 @ 3:30 pm Bluemont 15

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING
Thursday, January 16, 1997 @ 7:00 pm Durland 173

COLLEGE OF HUMAN ECOLOGY
Wednesday, January 22, 1997 @ 4:30 pm Justin 146
Thursday, January 23, 1997 @ 4:30 pm Justin 109

Requests for on-campus interviews begin Thursday, January 16, 1997, in Holtz Hall.

CLASSIFIEDS

• DEADLINES
Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classified display must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.

• HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an established account with Student Publications Inc.
Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks.

• CALL OR STOP BY
To place your classified, call 532-6555.
Place your classified ad in 103 Kedzie.

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING plus ground school for private, instrument and multi-engine ratings. K-State Flying Club approved instructor. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

ATTENTION ALL students!!! Grants and scholarships available from sponsors!!! No repayments, ever!!! $$$ Cash for college $$$ for information: (800)243-2435.

COLLEGE FINANCIAL AID -Student Financial Services has information on 3,400+ public and private sector funding sources. A must for anyone seeking financial aid! For information: 1-800-263-6498 ext.F57689.

Wedding Open House
January 25 and 26
Drawings for free gifts!
Mr. P's Party Outlet
318 Poyntz 776-7547

Topeka Capital-Journal
SEMESTER SPECIAL
$31
call
776-1552

DISCOVER DIVING scuba lessons, college credit, low rates, Aggie Dive Shop 539-DIVE.

GRADUATING OR need help with your resume? Information tips and sample resumes available. Guaranteed results. Send SASE to: Resemue Renovations P.O. Box 1384 Clemson, SC 29633.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 539-3733.

SALE ON Mary Kay products. Great opportunity to purchase Mary Kay products at a reduced rate. Call Marianne at 565-0754.

SCUBA DIVE Dreaming of those warm nights and clear waters... Learn to dive now for spring break and summer. Classes now forming. Call David Garvin, PADI, Creative Travel and Scuba, 539-0531.

SCUBA KSU classes starting Jan. 25th. NAUI and YMCA certification offered. Come join the fun. Contact UFM for info and registration 539-8763.

Change your tune
...buy a guitar, sell a tuba, or find someone to teach you to play either...
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie 532-6555

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS

ZEN MEDITATION instruction. The Manhattan Zen group offers two lectures and instruction by Professor L. Rappoport, Wednesday January 22 and Tuesday January 28, 7:30- 9:00p.m., At 121-A south 4th st. Second floor, room 211. Bring a sitting cushion. No charge.

MONO

Have you had mononucleosis within the last month? If so, your plasma could make a valuable contribution to research and earn you $50 at the same time. You may qualify for $$$ incentives for the second donation in a week.

For more information call

Manhattan Biomedical Center

776-9177

NABI 1130 Gardenway

020

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

BIKE MITTEN found in Kedzie restroom Jan. 16. Claim in 103 Kedzie.

030

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

DEBORAH FROM Wakeeney (studying Criminal Justice), thank you, to you and your friends for buying me the Beck's at Last Chance on Monday 12/17 and for listening to an "old" Wildcat reminisce. Good luck in your internship in Junction City. Paul/ Jerz (the Arbitrator from Rochester, NY).

040

Meetings/ Events

CLERGY ABUSE Support Group for women who have experienced clergy abuse. Confidential! For more information call Ann 537-3936 or Adene 776-6884.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

ABSOLUTELY THE best three of four-bedroom deal you'll find. One block from campus. Washer/ dryer etc. 539-9345.

CONVENIENT BASEMENT one-bedroom apartment on quiet street very near campus. Washer, dryer, comfy, $275, day 532-4964. Eve 539-3134.

NEXT TO campus: one-bedroom in very nice complex. Sublease rate. 539-2702 call/ message.

NICE, LARGE, one-bedroom apartment, near KSU, 1531 Leavenworth, $275 includes heat, water and trash, 537-4977.

ONE-BEDROOM. ONE block to campus. Washer and dryer. 537-4947 after 6p.m.

TWO-BEDROOM, ONE block east of campus. 539-6236.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

814 THURSTON studio apartment water/ trash paid. No pets, available now, five month or more lease, $275. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE NOW. 915 Claflin, three-bedroom apartment heat, water, trash paid. Newly redecorated. No pets. $525. Call 539-3085.

AVAILABLE NOW. Leases through May. Rent negotiable. Most utilities paid. Cat ok. 537-8389, leave message please– will call as soon as possible.

AVAILABLE NOW: one-bedroom apt in quiet six-plex, adjacent to west campus. Central air and heat, appliances, private parking. Water and trash paid. No pets. $320/ month. Please call 532-7569 between 8-5p.m. or leave message.

GOLD KEY apartments, two-bedroom available now, 1419 Leavenworth, $510. Water and trash paid. Stove, refrigerator, washer and dryer provided. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom. Close to campus and City Park. $475/ month. Available immediately. 776-1771, Elaine.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT two-bedroom basement by campus. 537-9188. Lease until July 97 on.

ONE-BEDROOM WITH study in Aggieville available now, 1130 Fremont, $275. Water and trash paid. Stove and refrigerator. Lawn care provided. Cats okay. Call MDI 776-3804.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS leasing one, two and three-bedroom apartments. Two pools, hot tub, horseshoes, volleyball. 539-2951.

PARKVIEW APARTMENT, two-bedroom available in February, 1026 Osage, $460. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher. On-site laundry and parking. Bedrooms have built-in student desks. No pets. Walk to KSU. Call MDI 776-3804.

ROYAL TOWER Apartments, four-bedroom/ two bath available in February, $860. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances with dishwasher and microwave. Fitness room, jacuzzi, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

STUDIO APARTMENT, one block from campus. (913)494-2240.

TWO AND Three-bedroom apartments. Close to campus. 539-1713

Leasing Now For August

- Fremont Apts
- Sandstone Apts
- College Heights
- Cambridge Square

Large 2-bedroom Units.

537-9064

Weekdays: 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Sat. 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

TWO-BEDROOM $285. No smoking. No pets. 537-4016.

TWO-BEDROOM DUPLEX 2627 Claflin. Inspected and approved by code service section of Manhattan Fire services. No pets. Available, 539-3524.

TWO-BEDROOM HOUSE, Feb. 1. Two blocks from campus, nice, hardwood floors, storage. $500 month. 537-2968, leave message.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now, 1807 College Heights, $410. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now , 1854 Claflin, $365. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. Yes, cats are welcome. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now and February, 925 Denison, $410. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking. Newly remolded kithcens. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now and Febraury, 1722 Laramie, $385. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking, walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

115

Rooms Available

ONE-BEDROOM, TWO blocks from campus. Freshly redecorated. Washer/ dryer. 776-4130.

120

For Rent- Houses

ONE, TWO, three-bedroom for non-smoking, non-drinking, no pets. 539-1554.

ONE-BEDROOM HOUSE. Two blocks from campus. No pets. $350. Desperate to rent. Available now! 565-0797.

TWO BLOCKS from campus. Three-bedroom, eat-in kitchen, living room, dining area, freshly redecorated, washer/ dryer. Second semester bargin. $600/ month. 776-4130.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT new bath and kitchen, washer/ dryer. Near city park. $350 plus deposit, 539-1145.

TWO-BEDROOM, VERY nice in Manhattan. Carpet, storage shed, cnetral air and heat, carpets, no pets. (913)238-2963.

130

For Rent- Mobile Homes

NICE, CLEAN, two-bedroom trailer near Manhattan. Call after 5p.m. (913)456-2325.

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

14X 70 Windsor. Two-bedrooms central air, all appliances, $10,500. 587-0119.

1984 MOBILE home in Redbud estates; three-bedroom, two bath; all appliances include dishwasher, washer/ dryer; $12,000 negotiable; 537-7526.

145

Roommate Wanted

$175/ MONTH plus one-half utilities. Own room in two-bedroom duplex. Available beginning January 1. 719 Leavenworth, 537-8651, leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share four-bedroom apartment. Near campus. Call 539-9165.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed immediately to share two-bedroom apartment. One-half block east of campus. Washer/ dryer. Call 587-4159. Leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE nonsmoker for two-bedroom mobile home. $175 plus one-half KPL. Cable, water and trash paid. 587-0157

FEMALE ROOMMATE. Nice four-bedroom, one one-half bathroom house with washer/ dryer, $225. 776-0441

MALE ROOMMATE needed to take over lease for furnished apartment. One block from campus. $240 plus utilities. 565-9070.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Very nice two-bedroom apartment next to campus. Reasonable price, trash/ water paid. Available immediately. No smoking/ drinking/ pets. 565-9250 (Leave message).

MALE ROOMMATES wanted: nice clean spacious house for rent. One block from campus. $185/ month. Call 587-9052.

MALE STUDENTS needed to complete four-bedroom house, $200 each plus deposit. Located near campus. 776-1196.

MALE WANTED for furnished basement. No smoking/ drinking/ pets, please. Walk to KSU. 539-1554.

MALE/ FEMALE roommate needed to share four-bedroom, two bath house near campus. Central air, washer/ dryer, dishwasher, $212.50/ month. All bills split. 530 Bluemont. Call Briana, (816)455-6542.

NON-SMOKER TO share furnished two-bedroom apartment. $255 plus half utilities. Very close to campus. 1215 Bertrand. Call 539-8636.

ROOM FOR rent with own bathroom. 10 minute from campus in a brand new home room can be furnished if needed. $250 all bills paid. Smoking ok. (913)494-8791.

ROOMMATE NEEDED at 1230 Vattier- directly across from campus. Private bedroom, washer/ dryer, fireplace. $155 per month plus utilities, 539-1269.

ROOMMATE NEEDED at 824 Laramie. Private bedroom, washer, dryer provided. $185 per month plus utilities. 587-8338.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share two-bedroom apartment. Washer/ dryer. Cats allowed, rent negotiable. Call Rhonda at 776-2788 or 537-3819.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share nice two-bedroom mobile home in Redbud Estates. Call Guy at 539-3503, 587-5711 or e-mail at graffix@kansas.net

ROOMMATE TO share three-bedroom house three blocks from campus. Close to campus and Aggieville. $275, all utilities paid. Cable. Washer/ dryer. Joanna or Jen. 776-9548. February rent free.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share three-bedroom house. $250/ month plus one-half utilities. Washer/ dryer. Pets allowed. Fenced yard. Carrie 776-6563.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, close to campus and Aggieville, 822 fremont, 3rd floor, $150/ month , water and trash paid, 537-7087.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, furnished, close to campus, rent $274.50 plus KPL. Call 776-7457 or (913)367-6097 collect.

150

Sublease

$140/ MONTH. One-bedroom available in large four-bedroom house. Near campus plus the 'Ville. 539-7674.

$295 PLUS utilities. Charming one-bedroom cottage duplex available now. Parking and laundry facilities included. Near campus/ Aggieville. 719 Leavenworth. 537-8651.

$350 PLUS gas/ electric. One-bedroom. Spacious apartment three blocks west of campus. Parking and laundry. 537-8651.

AVAILABLE NOW! Female roommate needed to share two-bedroom apartment at Westchester Park. $244.50/ month plus one-half electricty. Call 776-8707 or 537-4666 Ext. 23. Ask for Joann.

HALF BLOCK from campus! Available now. female roommate needed for three-bedroom house. Completely furnished. 776-0604 or 587-9309.

HELP! FEMALE roommate needed immediately for large two-bedroom at Chase Manhattan. Large room with walk-in closet. Great first floor location, large patio faces pool and basketball court. Paid water and trash, cheap on-site laundry facilities. Cheap cable, $275/ month plus utilities, call Carolynn at 565-0613 to come and see.

ONE-BEDROOM ONE block from campus. Abailable immediately. Wildcat Mangement 537-2332.

ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO for sublease now until August. Rent is $200. Water, trash , electric paid. Call 539-4174 or (316)231-6854.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Own room with own bath and outside entry. Near campus and Aggieville $240/ month. No smokers. 565-0324.

TWO ROOMS available in four-bedroom townhouse, no pets, washer/ dryer, all appliances, garage. Very nice, 3303 Abbey Circle. Call 587-8498 or 539-6358 to see.

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY

235

Child Care

NEW REGISTERED daycare now enrolling infants. If you're in need of loving care please call 776-1596. ask for Sandy.

SEEKING RELIABLE student with car and no Tuesday classes for child care on Tuesdays in Christian home. Call 456-7899.

300 EMPLOYMENT/CAREERS

310

Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 537-0056.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

CAMP TAKAJO

for boys, Outstanding Maine camp noted for magnificent lakefront setting and exceptional facilities. Over 100 positions for heads and assistants in tennis, baseball, basketball, soccer, lacrosse, golf, street hockey, roller hockey, swimming, sailing, canoeing, waterskiing, SCUBA, archery, riflery, weight training, journalism, photography, videography, woodworking, ceramics, crafts, drawing and painting, nature study, radio and electronics, dramatics, piano accompanist, music instrumentalist, band director, backpacking, rock climbing, whitewater canoeing, ropes course, general (w/ youngest campers), secretarial. June 16 - August 24. Top salaries, room and board, travel provided. Call 800-250-8252. Or WRITE Camp Takajo c/o Mike Sherbun 7366 Cascade Terrace Grand Rapids MI 49546. Or FAX resume to 616-954-2950. A camp representative will be in Union Room 207 Wed., Feb. 5 from 10am-4pm. Walk-ins are welcomed!

$1000'S POSSIBLE READING BOOKS. Part-time. At home. Toll free (800)218-9000 ext.R-1915 for listings.

$1000'S POSSIBLE TYPING. Part-time. At home. Toll free (800)218-9000 ext. T-1915 for listings.

$$$$ JOBS FOR SPRING SEMESTER $$$$ Need a good job and want the convenience, safety, and friendships a campus job offers! Apply now for a position in the residence hall dining centers. Class schedules and your preference for number of hours you wish to work are considered. Jobs available in Customer Service, Custodial/ Dishroom, and Production. Entry level pay is $4.90 per hour and raises are scheduled. Pick up a job application at: Derby dining Center, Secretary's office, room 129. Kramer Dining Center, Secretary's office, room 106. Van Zile dining Center, Secretary's office, room 111.

A GRAPHIC designer/ illustrator with computer access. Freelance employment. Flexible hours. Must have portfolio. Contact Eric at Office of Community Health 532-7750 or email: ezoller@oz.oznet.ksu.edu

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT -Fishing industry. Many earn up to $4000+/ month during peak season. Benefits often include transportation and/ or room and Board. For details: (206) 971-3510 ext-A57688.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Midwest Distributors P.O. Box 624, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate Response.

CAMP COUNSELORS for educational camp south of Kansas City. Can lead fishing, canoeing, crafts, games, and many more activities while teaching children 8- 14 about the outdoors. Lifeguard helpful. June 7- August 10. Must be sophomore or older. $1600 plus room and board. For details, send inquiry before February 7, 1997 to Wildwood, 7095 W. 399th St., LaCygne, KS 66040.

CHELEY COLORADO Camps in the Rocky Mountains near Estes Park is hiring enthusiastic individuals to work with campers ages 9-17. Cooks/ dishwashers, Unit directors, drivers, office personnel, RNs, wranglers; Counselors with skills in horseback riding, mountain biking, climbing wall, challenge course, camping, sports, crafts, song leading, archery, or riflery. Room/ board, salary, travel allowance. Must be at least a sophomore and able to work June 9- August 12, 1997. On-campus interviews. For information, please contact Cheley Colorado Camps at (800)226-7386.

CLERICAL ASSISTANTS: Temporary, part-time. Requires computer literacy and telephone/ customer service skills. Proficiency in WordPerfect and spreadsheet/ database programs desired. Hourly rate $5. Positions available immeditately. Send letter of application, resume and three references to: Area Agency on Aging, 437 Houston Street, Manhattan, KS 66502. Deadline is January 31, 1997. Note: These positions require Kansas Career Work Study eligibility. If you are unsure whether you are eligible, call Walt Cooper at 776-9294. EOE/AA

CRUISE LINE positions! Up to $2,500 plus/ month. No experience necessary. Seasonal or full-time. current hiring details: (604) 878-9777 (24hrs.)

CRUISE SHIP EMPLOYMENT -Travel the world (Hawaii, Mexico, Caribbean) and earn an excellent income in the Cruise and Land- Tour industry. For details, call 1-206-971-3550 ext.C57689.

EARN $427 plus a week at home! Write for application: Generations, Dept. KSU, P.O. Box 13486, Atlanta, GA 300324, Genmarker@aol.com

EVENING AND WEEKEND CLASSES in hair design, ethnic hair design and nail technology. Start Feb. 4. Thousands in scholarships plus financial aid available. Free info. Call Crum's Beauty College @ 776-4794.

FISCAL ASSISTANT: Temporary, part-time. Requires computer literacy and general office/ filing skills. Proficiency in QuattroPro or other spreadsheet programs and basic math skills preferred. Hourly rate $5. Positions available immediately. Send letter of application and resume and three references to: Area Agency on Aging, 437 Houston Street, Manhattan, KS 66502. Deadline is January 31, 1997. Note: These positions require Kansas Career Work Study eligibility. If you are unsure whether you are eligible, call Walt Cooper at 776-9294. EOE/AA.

FONE CRISIS Center. Two-three staff positions available. Must be able to work evenings and weekends. Applications available at SGA in Student Union. 537-0999.

GRAPHIC ARTIST to work 10- 20 hours per week on campus. Interested in students majoring in this field of study. Please send resume to Box 2 c/oCollegian.

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assembling products at home. No experience. INFO (504)646-1700 DEPT. KS-6438

HIRING IMMEDIATELY! Student needed for part-time work demostrating Avery Dennison products on campus. Must be familiar with Miscrosoft Word, and willing to use own personal computer, with Windows software $10.00 per hour. Contact Lex Deines at 800-569-6461.

HORTICULTURAL SERVICES Inc., is seeking reliable individuals for full or part-time employment at our retail Garden Center. Sales experience and plant knowledge preferred. Above average wages and benefits. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (913)494-2418 or (913)776-0397.

HORTICULTURAL SERVICES Inc. is seeking reliable individuals for full or part time employment for our production, landscape and irrigation operations. Farm or landscape experience preferred. Above average wages and benefits. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (913)776-0397 or (913)776-0397.

LUNCHROOM/ PLAYGROUND Supervisors- needed immediately for the rest of the 1996-97 school term. $4.75 per hour one and one-half to two hours per day. 11:00a.m.- 1:00p.m. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Ave., Manhattan, KS 587-2000. EOE.

MARKET INTERNSHIP available: Graphic Images Incorporated has several paid marketing internships, available to students who are currently involved with the fraternity and sorority system. Please contact our office between hours of 9a.m. to 5p.m. to schedule an interview (800)946-2434 ask for Steve Ray.

MEDICAL TRANSCRIPTIONIST for pathology laboratory. Ideal part-time position. Early evenings. Previous transcription experience preferred. Contact Pam as soon as possible at 539-5363 or bring resume or application to Petterson Clinical Laboratory at 1133 College Avenue, Building B, Manhattan, KS 66503. Equal Opportunity Employer.

NATIONAL PARK EMPLOYMENT -National Parks hire forestry workers, park rangers, firefighters, lifeguards, + volunteer and government positions. Excellent benefits + bonus potential. Call: 1-206-971-3620 ext.N57689.

PC/ NETWORK TECHNICIAN (20- 30 hours/ week, $6/ hour). Extensive knowledge of PC's required. Preference given to candidates with knowledge of Novell networks, TCP/IP configuration issues and PC diagnostic experience. Contact Glenn at Office of Information Systems, 2323 Anderson Ave., Suite 215, at 532-4781 or electronic mail to glenn@ksu.edu. Application deadline: January 24, 1997. Minorities, women and handicapped are encouraged to apply.

PERFECT STUDENT job. Earn $15/ hour in your spare time. No necessary. For more information, call 1(888)817-7027

PHOTOGRAPHER NEEDED to photo shoot special events on campus. Work hours vary according to event to cover. Please send resume to Box 3, c/oCollegian.

SALES CLERK to work 10-15 hours per week. Must be available mornings and weekends. Accepting applications until 1-29-97. Wildcat Spirit, 716 N. Manhattan Ave.

SILVERADO SALOON is now hiring bartenders, waitstaff and DJ's. Apply at 531 N. Manhattan, Tuesday through Saturday 6p.m.- 2a.m..

STUDENT INTERNS, part-time positions available immediately. Excellent English communication and interpersonal skills raquired. Must be friendly with customer-oriented attitude. Applicants should apply in person at the Veterinary Medical Library, Fourth Floor, Trotter Hall, KSU. EOE. Applications accepted through January 22, 1997.

SUMMER CAMP JOBS in Northeast. For free list, send self-addressed stamped envelope: Camps, 1785 Red Coat, Maryland Hgts, MO 63043.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT position available for K-State student with a variety of skills. Must have good interpersonal and problem solving skills. Experience with PC's and popular software packages such as WordPerfect, QuattroPro and Windows applications desired. Must have understanding of MS-DOS and Windows. Network experience preferred. Application available/ accepted through Friday, January 31, 1997, in 211 Umborger Hall. (Department of Communications, Information and Education Technology.)

TIMBER LAKE/ TYLER HILL CAMPS. Top NY and PA resident camps have over 200 summer job openings for qualified students and faculty. Counselors, WSI, Arts, Athletics Specialists and more!!! Best salaries and travel allowance in addition to "the finest summer you'll ever have." On campus interview Thursday, February 6th. Call Career and Employment Services at 532-6506 for an application and an interview appointment.

WAITRESSES NEEDED. Apply in person at Rusty's 1213 Moro.

WANTED 100 students. Lose 5- 100 pounds. New metabolism breakthrough. RN assisted, free gift. $35 fee. (800)579-1634.

WANTED FREELANCE Artist Sampler Stores is seeking talented artist to design both serious and hurmurous full chest and left pocket designs for t-shirts and sweat shirts. Using a KSU, Wildcats, "Kansas", Wizard of Oz, sunflower, wheat or similar theme. Embroidered and silk screen designs are wanted. Please call 432-3355 10a.m. to 5p.m. or leave a message on our voice mail, 381-0185.

WANTED: FULL or part-time farm help. Skills in construction, machine repair, welding or equipment operation. (913)457-3440.

ZAP YOUR ZITS. Have the complexion you've always wanted! New Bio-Tech program. No animal ingredients or testing. Guaranteed results. 539-7336.

330

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

WORK FROM home. Twenty second commute! Serious income potential working from home. We provide training and support via revolutionary system. Call (toll free) 1-888-444-6242 for overview. Then call us live at 776-5429.

400 OPEN MARKET

410

Items for Sale

BUY SELL TRADE

Video Games & Computer CD Roms

PLAYSTATION, SEGA, NINTENDO, ETC.

GAME GUY

709 N. 12th

Aggieville

537-0989

www.flinthills.com/~gameguy

BEER SIGNS, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, antiques, collectibles, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit $14.95. See ALL the channels (313)523-2769.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY Sale for Cash Pawn and Gun. Selling cd's $2 and $3 each. Movies for $4 each. Cassette tapes for $0.75 each. Sega and Super NES Systems for$49.00. 10% off all Spiderco knives. 20% off a large selection of items store wide. Lowest priced guns and jewelry. We buy sell and trade. Have money to loan. 1917 Fort Riley Blvd., 776-3332.

FOR SALE: Radio Shack power graphic EC-4034 scientific calculator with manual. $50 or best offer. (913)456-2133.

HOME STEREO System: receiver, cassette, CD player, equalizers, speakers. 10-inch table saw, heavy-duty weight-lifting bench, attachments, Logitech Mouse, 537-4512.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

MUST SELL matching sofa and love seat, bed, microwave, rug, chair, dining room table. 537-2968 leave message.

SOFA PULL out and two twin beds $75 each, 537-8654.

420

Garage/Yard Sales

INDOOR GARAGE sale. TV $50, dining table $200, VCR $75, sofa $125, chairs $40, rockers $30, washer/ dryer. (913)784-5650

430

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Flea Market 7000 square feet, 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

435

Computers

386- 25MHZ, 120 meg HD, five and one-fourth to three and one-half floppy, DOS 5.0, Win 3.1. 537-1797

486 PACKARD Bell computer. 8 Meg Ram. MS Office and Windows '95. $750. 565-0509. Call after 5.

486SX PACKARD Bell computer. $900, (913)363-7679.

I MUST sell my computers 486 $450, 486 $550, 386 $350, 286 laptop $250, printers $40 and $80. 784-5650

INTERKAN.NET: MANHATTAN'S newest Internet Service Provider. Free setup software. Monthly rates: 10 hours @ $5, 30 hours @ $7.50, 90 hours @ $10, 200 hours @ $17.50. http://www.interkan.net or 565-0991.

445

Music Instruments

EMERALD GREEN IBANEZ SR500 Bass with acitve pickups. Crate BX-15 Amp. 25-foot Spectraflex cables. Hardshell case. Yamaha YT-1200 Electronic tuner. Seiko DM-10 digital Metranome. Lizard guitar strap. Ultimate guitar stand. Bass Basics 1 & 2 on VHS. 11 Instructional manuals with CD's. Stack of Guitar World magazines with Bass Tab. Asking $600 for everything. Call Kelly at 539-8379 and leave message or email me at alram@ksu.edu

WELCOME BACK to The Music Co.! Best prices on new and used instruments and accessories. No pressure sales, we try to get what you need. Straight down 17th st from K-state Union, in the Midtown Plaza, 539-1958.

460

Stereo Equipment

FOR SALE: Sanyo portable CD player. New car kit, adapters, headphones! $90 or best offer. Call 537-2531 and leave message.

INFINITY HOME theater subwoofer. Dual six and one-half 300 Watts RMS. Has satellite speaker inputs. Excellent condition. $210 Negotiable leave message. Ryan 537-9513.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1985 LTD II wagon 30K on factory motor, auto, air-conditioned, cruise. $1100. 539-4069, call after 7p.m.

1986 HONDA Civic, five-speed, lots of new parts, $1800. 1983 Toyota Corolla automatic high miles runs great, $800. 532-7855 leave message.

1988 BERETTA GT 2.8L, V-6, five-speed, tilt, cruise, power windows, power locks, looks and runs good. Evenings 776-2073.

1989 ESCORT GT loaded, five-speed, cruise, air-conditioned. $2500. 539-4069 after 7p.m.

1990 FORD F150 XLT Lariat PU, five-speed, low miles, like new, $7,700. 776-9597.

MERCURY LYNX 1985 white, automatic, air-conditioned, 89,000 miles, $1100. Astro Van 1985, seven passengers, automatic, air-conditioned, new tires, cruise control $2200, 539-7508.

SEIZED CARS from $175. Porsches, Cadillacs, Chevy, BMW's, Corvettes. Also Jeeps, 4WD's. Your area. Toll free (800)218-9000 ext.A-1915 for current listings.

520

Bicycles

CANNONDALE TOURING bicycle. Excellent condition. Hardly used. $325. Call Rob: 532-6137 work; 776-6849 home.

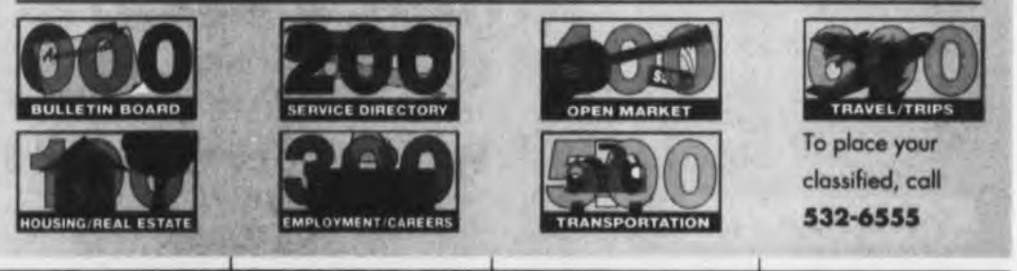
530

Motorcycles

750 KAWASAKII Vulcan. V-twin, four-stroke, shaft driven, liquid cooled, very fast, 11,000 miles, looks great, runs even better. $3500 or best offer. 776-1081.

600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

610



Tour Package

30 SHOPPING DAYS LEFT! Now is the time to guarantee the lowest rates and best hotels for spring break. Leisure tours has packages to South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica and Florida. (800)838-8203.

CANCUN- PADRE- MAZATLAN SPRING BREAK'S HOTTEST! 1-800-328-7513 Free food, drink and party special!?! Up To $200 discount Coupons on our Website www.studentadvtrav.com.

For all your needs, advertise in the Kansas State Collegian Classifieds. 532-6555

CLASSIFIEDS DIRECTORY

To place your classified, call 532-6555

BUY-HIRE-SELL-RENT

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

103 KEDZIE - Mon.-Fri. 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

532-6565

BUDGET

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

difficult issue with the legislature.

"It's going to take all of us to convince the legislature that is important," Peterson said.

Peterson said to get the initiative passed, students should take an active role by writing or talking with their legislators.

Although K-State's administration is pleased with the budget, Peterson said Graves' tax-cut-friendly recommendations do come at a crucial time in his term.

"Your third year is your big year," she said. "What you accomplish in your third year is what you see when you are running for re-election."

Peterson said she is surprised to see Graves address the issue of salary and equipment spending increases with the pressures of providing tax relief.

Tom Rawson, vice president of finance and administration, agrees with Wefald and Peterson that the budget proposal, in light of other state finance considerations, is good for K-State.

Of concern to Rawson is the $2.5 million in new technology funds.

Rawson said he thinks the proposal will require a lot of work to get passed in the legislature.

The $2.5 million doesn't even put a dent into K-State's technological requirements plan, which Rawson said includes an equipment and facility list which would cost $54 million.

"It's more than a wish list," Rawson said. "It can be depressing to look at a notebook full of needs worth $54 million, but it's $2.5 million we didn't have last year."

He said the $54 million would not only bring in state-of-the-art equipment, it would also replace obsolete equipment. Rawson said he and the academic deans would begin working on how best to dispense the $2.5 million as it is approved by the legislature.

Although Graves proposed only $2.1 million for new technology at K-State, another $200,000 is granted through a regents-approved, one-time 0.5 percent tuition increase in fiscal year 1998.

Rawson said the technology initiative is good for K-State because it is compatible with the crumbling classrooms program, which modernizes older classrooms.

In this way, money would be provided for both the physical and technological modernization of classrooms.

"It's going to take a lot of work on the part of the regents institutions," Rawson said. "We can't quit now — the next 90 days is really crucial."

Another large project approved by Graves is the expansion of both Durland and Ackert halls. The $11.4-million Durland expansion, or phase three, could begin design work as early as this spring.

The $11-million Ackert expansion is still waiting on private and federal money for its budget.

Rep. Jeff Peterson, R-Man., said he thinks K-State's budget prospects are very good, although he said most of what Graves has proposed won't be decided until the end of the session.

Peterson said he sees the salary increases and technology equipment initiative as important parts of the budget.

"We will have to see what we can afford with the tax cuts," he said. "I don't think anyone sees technology as frivolous."

Peterson said much of the discussion and rumors in Topeka now are only strategizing and politics. He said he thinks the legislature will eventually pass a budget that is in line with Graves' proposal, although a little encouragement from students would help.

"There might be someone in the House who doesn't know much about regents institutions' technology," he said. "The people we need to talk to are the ones who are not representing a regents institution."

PHELPS

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

are worthy of death." Phelps also is known for his denunciations of public officials, including President Clinton, in telefacsimile messages.

Parishioners at other churches, particularly St. David's, have complained that Westboro members are abusive and use vulgar language — charges that Westboro members deny.

Phelps also is a frequent candidate for political office. He has run unsuccessfully for governor twice, for the U.S. Senate and for mayor of Topeka. He filed to run for mayor again this year, saying that Topeka has a God problem.

The Rev. Robert Layne, pastor at St. David's, said the Supreme Court ruling recognized the validity of worshiping the Prince of Peace in peace.

"I don't feel any elation," Layne said. "I feel it's tragic that we have to deal with the whole situation anyway."

In June 1995, a three-member Kansas Court of Appeals panel upheld most provisions of the restraining order, concluding that the picketing can be limited because government has in interest in protecting the privacy of religious worship. It also said that the government has greater authority because the audience for the Westboro picketing includes children.

The Kansas Supreme Court rejected Westboro Baptist's ensuing appeal in September.

The U.S. Supreme Court let those lower court rulings stand without comment Tuesday.

ESCAPE

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Neang was handcuffed when he escaped.

"He should have been leg-arm shackled," Edvy said, adding that Neang's age probably gave the officer who transported Neang a false sense of security.

RCPD couldn't comment on Neang's prior convictions because he was a minor, but Edvy said officers did have contact with him when he was a minor.

Edvy described Neang as 5'5", weighing 140 pounds with brown eyes and black hair and of Asian descent. He asked that anyone who sees or comes into contact with Neang to call the RCPD immediately.

No new leads in Cosby's son's death

ASSOCIATED PRESS

LOS ANGELES — The goateed man depicted in a police sketch as another possible witness to the Ennis Cosby slaying was candid and cooperative, police said Tuesday, but unable to give them any help in finding the killer.

"He did not have any additional information of substance to offer," said police Cmdr. Tim McBride.

Meanwhile, CBS reported Tuesday night that it had received a threatening fax, purportedly from the same woman police arrested in New York over the weekend for allegedly trying to extort $40 million from the victim's father. Authorities said she claimed to be entertainer Bill Cosby's illegitimate daughter.

The elder Cosby has denied being related to the woman, identified as Autumn Jackson. Police say they don't believe the extortion case is connected to the killing.

CBS said the fax it received threatened the network with extortion if a woman identified as Autumn Jackson Cosby doesn't receive a fair settlement. The network carries the entertainer's show, "Cosby."

Meanwhile, the man police had hoped might help them solve the murder case was released after being questioned for eight hours. He had been surrounded by officers in a parking lot in suburban Torrance Monday afternoon because his car was similar to a blue hatchback seen by a security guard near the crime scene.

The man, who was not identified by police, was candid and cooperative, McBride said. He told police he had gone to the hilltop Mulholland Drive area to look at the city's lights.

Cosby's 27-year-old son had pulled off Interstate 405 near Mulholland Drive to change a flat tire early Thursday when he was shot to death. Police believe robbery was the motive.

A $12,500 reward for the arrest and conviction of the killer was approved Tuesday by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors. The National Enquirer and Globe tabloids earlier posted a total of $300,000 in rewards.

Across the country, the woman allegedly claiming to be the illegitimate daughter of Bill Cosby was ordered held without bail in New York.

Jackson, 22, of Los Angeles, and Jose Medina, 51, of Bethesda, Ohio, were arrested Saturday in the New York office of a Cosby lawyer, where they allegedly went to discuss a payoff.

A federal complaint said the Cosby family had given Jackson money for education for several years, as the family has done for numerous other young people in need of tuition assistance.

Earlier this month, the complaint says, Jackson sent a facsimile note demanding money. She warned that if Cosby did not send money, she would tell her story to the press, the complaint says.

On Thursday, the day Ennis Cosby was slain, Jackson allegedly sent a fax to Bill Cosby's representative saying it was "urgent that he contact her to make certain arrangements," the complaint said. "I need monies and I need monies now."

CBS said it also received a fax on Thursday. The network said that it stated that Cosby's show was one of the network's best properties, and disclosure that Jackson was the entertainer's illegitimate daughter would undoubtedly affect its ratings.

Medina's lawyer, Neil Checkman, said his client says he is a screenwriter and denies the charges. "I don't believe he necessarily knew that anything was going on," Checkman said.

1,000 from Fort Riley to be deployed

WASHINGTON — The next large group of U.S. soldiers sent to Bosnia probably will include more troops from Fort Riley, Defense Secretary William Perry said Tuesday.

About 1,000 soldiers from Fort Riley will be tapped for the first rotation, while troops from Fort Polk, La., are in line for the next shift, said military officials who spoke on condition of anonymity.

Moving troops from the United States marks a shift since the Army units that served in Bosnia over the past year were drawn from bases in Europe. A rotation of forces is expected in April, though no deployment orders have been issued.

"I've had no problem ... with rotating forces into Bosnia from the United States," Perry said during a farewell interview with the Associated Press in his Pentagon office.

"When the time comes to rotate those forces ... probably a higher percentage will come from units in the United States," he said.

Deb Skidmore, a spokeswoman at Fort Riley, said she could not confirm the report of upcoming deployment.

"We have a unit, the 1st Battalion, 41st Infantry, that has been identified to conduct training for possible deployment to the European Theater. But we have no orders right now," Skidmore said.

Skidmore said the unit has 638 soldiers at full strength, but is closer to 600 soldiers at the moment.

In December, President Clinton ordered 8,500 U.S. soldiers to become part of a 31,000-person international peacekeeping force. The mission will last until mid-1998, or about 18 months.

NATO's top military commander, U.S. Army Gen. George A. Joulwan, told reporters he wants U.S. soldiers to serve there in six-month increments.

Senior military planners are looking to Fort Riley because it is the home of a combat brigade that is part of the 1st Infantry Division (Mechanized), based in Wuerzburg, Germany. The division's soldiers have been in Bosnia since October, when they moved in to protect other European-based U.S. units that were departing after a year-long stay.

One senior military officer familiar with the deployment plans said the six-month time frame will allow troops to train for the mission, and it also will give their families advance notice of the rotations.

A second military officer, also speaking privately, said the battalion from Fort Riley will serve in Bosnia with the other battalion of the 1st Infantry Division from Germany.

The following rotation is expected to be covered by members of the 2nd Armored Cavalry Regiment, the Army's only light armored cavalry unit, based at Fort Polk, the second officer said.

CITY

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

petitions for water main and sewer placements, but denied the petition for street pavement, advising them to return with a petition that did not include the paving of Stonewood.

The commissioners and area residents said they thought the developer had earlier agreed not to pave Stonewood, but Hill denied this.

"We made it very clear at the last city commission meeting that Stonewood should be left in," Hill said.

Commissioner Justin Kastner apologized for what he said was a communication breakdown and said an earlier commission in the 1980s had erred by allowing Stonewood to be placed where it is.

City Manager Gary Greer offered to help mediate further negotiations between the residents and the developer and to advise them of their options.

Martin Luther King Jr. Observance Week Jan 18-26

Today
12 p.m.
Courtyard Jazz conducted by Dennis Wilson, director of jazz studies at K-State. Union Courtyard.
3 p.m.
College of Architecture, Planning and Design lecture: "Mental Musement: Rhythm, Rituals and Play." Union Little Theatre.
4 p.m.
Reception for Teto Henderson, adviser and administrator of the Union Program Council. Union Flint Hills Room.

Thursday
10:30 a.m.
Martin Luther King Jr. All-University Convocation Lecture: Beverly Harvard, Atlanta chief of police. McCain Auditorium.
11:45 a.m.
Martin Luther King Jr. luncheon. Union Main Ballroom. Call Patricia Hudgins, 532-6555, for reservations and more information.
7:30 p.m.
"Interfaith Dialogue: Interfaith Marriages." Union 213.

Friday
11:30 a.m.
"The Legacy of Dr. Martin Luther king Jr.: An Anthropological Perspective." Union Big 12 Room
2:30 p.m.
"Exploring the Dynamics of Ethnicity and Race in the United States: Senior Research Projects in American Ethnic Studies." A reception will follow. Union 206.

MEGAN LaRUE/Collegian

PETS 'N' STUFF
539-9494 Baby bunnies & more 1105 Waters

Multi-Engine Flight Training
• Twin Comanche w/HSI, RMI, GPS
• 6,500-Hour ATP Instructor
• Reasonable Rates
• Hugh Irvin
539-3128

AMERICAN FAMILY INSURANCE
AUTO HOME BUSINESS HEALTH LIFE
KSU Grad '88
TIM ENGLE
"Call Us For A Quote"
3258 Kimball Ave. Manhattan, Ks.
537-4661

A Wedding To Remember
•Bridal Gowns • Bridal Shoes •
•Bridal Accessories •
•Bridesmaid Fabric •
•Tuxedo Rentals •
Weisner's Bridal Boutique
314 Poyntz 776-6100

SUPER SUBS AT SUPER BOWL PRICES, ONLY AT
SUBS 'N SUCH
Home of the Kitchen Sink
4 FT. AND 6 FT. SUBS
537-2411
We Deliver

Claflin Custom Resumés
When something off the rack just won't do.
Claflin Books and Copies

WINTER CLEARANCE SALE
Selected Columbia & Marmot Coats up to $100 off
the PATHFINDER 539-5639 304 Poyntz

Men's & Women's
Sterling Silver Bands
$6 to $25
Krystallos
Ring Sale 1/2 Price Trays
708 N. Manhattan

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

RAOUL'S ESCONDIDO
MEXICAN RESTAURANT
"MANHATTAN'S TASTE OF MEXICO"
WEDNESDAY NIGHT
LIVE COUNTRY MUSIC
MARK MONROE
6:30 - 9:30
• Domestic Bottles $1.50
• Mary's Famous Margaritas - 10 oz. $.99!
• 1/2 Price Appetizers from 7 p.m. to close!
• Buy 1 dinner (#1-9), get the 2nd for 1/2 price!
• 12 oz. bottle of Root Beer, $.85!
MARY SEZ: MI CASA ES SU CASA!
Raoul's Escondido
215 S. SETH CHILD RD. IN MANHATTAN 539-3410

WAREHOUSE CLEAR-OUT
Reduced Drastically
Bound Area Rugs
4x6 STARTING AT ONLY $19.99 5x8 STARTING AT ONLY $29.99
6x9 STARTING AT ONLY $39.99 9x12 STARTING AT ONLY $79.99
Over 500 IN STOCK to choose from!!!
90 Days Same as cash
Mon.-Fri. 8:30-5:30 p.m. Sat. 9:30-4 p.m.
Financing Available
Bryant Carpet
Heartland Home Interiors
520 Pillsbury Dr. Manhattan, Ks. 66502
776-4367

Dilly's Deli
Try our nightly specials!
Mon.~Buy 1 whole sandwich, Get 2nd 1/2 price
Tues.~Buy 1 Dilly's Deal, Get 2nd 1/2 price
Wed.~Whole Reuben $2.89
Thurs.~1/2 sandwich & side order $2.59
1219 Bluemont • Aggieville

Exp. Date 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

JANUARY 23, 1997
THURSDAY

HIGH 45
LOW 25
Cooler and mostly cloudy. Cooling trend throughout the weekend, highs in the upper 20s.
FORECAST PAGE 2

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN
MANHATTAN, KS 66506
VOL. 101 NO. 80

WHY CAN'T STUDENTS END THE PARKING PROBLEM?

▶ Justin Wild comments on the campus parking situation at K-State and on what he thinks about some of the proposed solutions for this dilemma.

See OPINION page 4

ETC.
In today's paper
Briefs 2
Sports 6
In tomorrow's paper
Get ready for the Super Bowl with a Collegian special section

DON'T GET CAUGHT WITHOUT YOUR RENTER'S INSURANCE

▶ Check out Currency for the scoop on Renter's Insurance. Is it a waste of money or a valuable asset?

See CURRENCY page 7

DIRECTORY
NEWSROOM 532-6556
DISPLAY ADVERTISING 532-6560
CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555

e-mail: (collegn@ksu.edu)
http://collegian.ksu.edu

New right to know bill promised; Roe v. Wade anniversary observed ▶ Protest in peace. Today's editorial board discusses the First Amendment and how to use it while effectively when protesting.

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA — Pro-life activists promised Wednesday to push again for a right-to-know bill but said they will drop one provision in hopes of getting Gov. Bill Graves to sign it.

Kansans for Life, the state's largest pro-life group, announced its strategy during a day of activities at the Statehouse to mark the 24th anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court's Roe v. Wade decision. That decision legalized abortion across the nation.

The right-to-know legislation is designed to give women more information before they have an abortion. Critics say it would create unnecessary hurdles.

Graves vetoed a version of the legislation last year, one that also would have increased the length of time a woman must wait before obtaining an abortion from eight to 24 hours. Kansans for Life will ask legislators to drop that change in hopes of getting Graves' support.

Kansans for Life held a luncheon in the basement of a church across the street from the Statehouse, then held a rally at the south steps of the Statehouse. About 200 people attended the rally, but organizers estimated that as many as 500 participated in the day's events.

Another group, Right to Life of Kansas, delivered red roses to legislators, sponsored a church service and a prayer vigil at a Topeka clinic where abortions are performed. Right to Life describes itself as the state's only "no exceptions, no compromise" group.

Abortion rights activists were less visible, but they handed out bells and canvas tote bags to legislators. They also presented petitions with about 2,500 signatures in support of current Kansas law to Senate President Dick Bond, R-Overland Park.

Both sides used the anniversary of the 1973 U.S. Supreme Court decision to lobby legislators. Pro-life groups set up tables in the Statehouse rotunda with displays touching on adoption services and fetal development.

"We're just encouraging people to get involved and lobby their legislators," said Jeanne Gawdun, Kansans for Life's lobbyist.

Supporters of right-to-know legislation say it will require doctors to give women crucial information about the procedure and its possible effects. The law also would require doctors to discuss fetal development and services available should the woman change her mind and have the child.

Spokeswoman Robyn Johnson said the increase in the waiting period appeared to be Graves' biggest concern last year. She said that without the change, Graves should get a bill that he can sign.

Opponents of the legislation contend it is designed to create more obstacles for women seeking abortions.

Carla Mahany of the American Civil Liberties Union described its provisions as "extreme hoops." She said removing the proposal to change the waiting period does not make the bill much better.

"People supporting the bill aren't really sacrificing anything," she said.

The pro-life rally had religious as well as political overtones. For example, the president of Kansans for Life, Harry Biltz, said abortion rights advocates are getting into a fight with the living God.

Units ready to receive assignment

▶ FORT RILEY SOLDIERS have not been deployed to Bosnia, but they will be ready if called upon.

TRISHA LANGFORD
staff reporter

The U.S. Army has not given actual orders for Fort Riley soldiers to deploy to Bosnia, despite reports of an actual deployment, spokesperson Deb Skidmore said.

"Right now there are no orders for anyone to go anywhere. We have been identified for training, but we are always training to be ready if called upon," Skidmore said.

Training for the 600 soldier unit includes perfecting classroom and soldier skills; checking to see that soldiers are qualified on weapons such as machine guns, grenades and the Bradley Fighting Vehicle; and seeing that health and dental records, insurance and wills are in order

Soldiers must also pass a physical training test and Military Occupational Specialties. This would include CPR and how to treat wounds in the battle field.

If deployed, the 1st Battalion, 41st Infantry would be traveling to the European Theater, which is any country in Europe.

"It could be Bosnia, but not necessarily Bosnia. The European Theater is a big place," Skidmore said.

Other Fort Riley troops are located throughout the United States, Honduras, Europe and Haiti.

Skidmore said the training orders caused mixed emotions at Fort Riley. There is concern to see that families receive proper care.

There is also excitement because travel is involved and new discoveries are possible. There's also a feeling of nervousness because they don't know where they are going, if they're going at all.

The same type of situation occurred last year with the fires in California and Oregon. Soldiers from Fort Riley were trained and ready to go, yet never had to, Skidmore said.

"I use the fire as an example because I don't want people to get nervous about this. We do not have an order at this time to leave Fort Riley. And we do not leave without an order," she said.

ALANNA ENGELKEN: IN TOUCH WITH REALITY

STORY BY HANG NGUYEN
PHOTOS BY STEVE HEBERT

Meet Alanna Engelken.

No, she didn't receive the Nobel Prize. She didn't win the lottery. However, standing at 5 feet, Engelken does what many of us can't or won't.

As the only student volunteer at the American Red Cross, her routine includes pulling files for people requesting assistance. She also prepares statistics about who comes in and when because donors like to see that kind of information.

story continues on page ten

ALANNA ENGELKEN, junior in social work, began volunteering for the American Red Cross in mid-December.

BRANDON WHITE/Collegian

EVAN TUTTLE, sophomore in theater, passes through the hall while doing household chores Tuesday.

smith scholarship house offers residents a new outlook on living with

DIVERSITY

STORY BY JILL JARSULIC

While their son answered questions in the executive director's apartment, Robert and Patsy Baker, of Leon, waited in the living room of Smith Scholarship House Tuesday afternoon.

The hardwood floor of the house creaked with every bustling step of the Smith residents. One resident busied himself with sweeping the entryway.

Shane Baker will be enrolled as a pre-veterinary student at K-State next fall, and the Bakers were visiting campus for the day.

Shane Baker was invited to apply at Smith after he received a K-State Leadership Scholarship.

"Our foundational concept is leadership, scholarship, fellowship," executive director Cynthia Shanley said. "So we take anybody who receives a scholarship or a leadership scholarship as a member of the house."

Patsy Baker said she thought one of the biggest advantages of Smith was the different academic majors of the members.

"I think it's really nice. There is a diversity there, with all the guys," she said. "They are from all areas and aspects of the education process. That has to be good.

"He's a farm boy, and he's from a very small school," Baker said of her son.

"He's an excellent student, but this is a big place."

House president John Popp said the diversity and the closeness of the 34 residents helped him.

"When I came to Smith house, I was a small town country boy, and I learned so much about people and things," Popp said. "I've even learned how to tolerate preppy city boys. It really opens your eyes."

In the application process, the recruiting chair and a group of residents make decisions based on grades, ACT scores, leadership activities and differences in views and involvement.

"We try to get a broad variety of majors, religions, backgrounds and outlooks on life," said Eric Runnebaum, junior in management information systems. "It's a growth experience because you learn to relate."

Unlike fraternity members, Smith men become full-voting members after only one week of orientation

See DIVERSITY, Page 10

DEADLINES
TO PLACE AN ITEM in the Daily Planner, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to (collegn@ksu.edu) by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

MANAGING EDITOR
MIRANDA KENNEDY
e-mail: (seahors@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
DIGEST
THURSDAY, JANUARY 23, 1997

GRADUATING SENIORS: GET CRACKING ON PAPERWORK

▶ If you are planning to graduate this May, turn in that application soon. Applications for May 1997 undergraduate graduation are due in deans' offices no later than Feb. 7.

▶ 24 HOURS IN REVIEW

These briefs encapsulate the news of the past 24 hours and are from staff reports, wire reports and other news services.

▶ NATION AND WORLD

• RETURNING ASTRONAUT SHEDS RIGHT STUFF IMAGE.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — Astronaut John Blaha returned to Earth on Wednesday after a punishing four months aboard the Russian space station Mir and instead of playing the hero, allowed himself to be carried off shuttle Atlantis on a stretcher.

It was the first time an astronaut agreed to be carried off after a long space flight. The decision delighted NASA doctors, who wanted to gauge immediately the effects of long-term weightlessness on the body, including dizziness and weakened bones and muscles.

Paramedics gently carried the weak Blaha onto an airport-style people-mover minutes after Atlantis landed with its crew of six. He was greeted by hugs and kisses from his wife of 30 years, Brenda, and their 23-year-old daughter, Carolyn.

• CROWDED VEHICLE FLEES BORDER PATROL, CRASHES; 1 DIES.

ALPINE, Calif. — A vehicle suspected of carrying at least 18 illegal immigrants crashed and burst into flames today minutes after the Border Patrol stopped chasing it, authorities said. One man was killed.

The crash, which happened about 20 miles north of the U.S.-Mexico border, closed several lanes of westbound Interstate 8. Five people, including the man who died, were taken to hospitals and nine were in Border Patrol custody, authorities said. Their ages and nationalities were being investigated, Border Patrol Agent Scott Marvin said.

• MILITANTS DELIVER ON THREATS WITH 4 BOMBINGS IN 4 DAYS.

ALGIERS, Algeria — Islamic insurgents appeared to be making good on their threat to make the holy month of Ramadan a bloody one Wednesday, when a fourth car bombing in as many days killed five more people.

Young men of Algiers began policing the streets themselves to prevent more deadly attacks.

The militants have threatened stepped-up attacks during the Muslim holy month, and nearly 150 people have been reported killed since Ramadan began 13 days ago.

• SHOTS FIRED INSIDE COMPOUND WHERE HOSTAGES KEPT IN PERU.

LIMA, Peru — Rebels fired bursts of machine-gun fire Wednesday inside the diplomatic compound where they hold 73 hostages, in apparent warning to increasingly bold police to stay away.

Hours later, the government dispatched two armored personnel carriers filled with police commandos to a site a block from the Japanese ambassador's residence. It was not clear if the rebels could see the armored trucks, and the vehicles later withdrew without incident.

Despite the exchange of martial gestures, there were signs that lines of communication between rebels and the government are still open, more than a month after rebels seized the residence during a Dec. 17 gala.

• WEST POINT CADET ACCUSES CLASSMATE OF ASSAULT.

WEST POINT, N.Y. — The first U.S. Military Academy cadet to accuse a classmate of rape told a military jury that she awoke to find the man assaulting her after a night of drinking at a party.

The 20-year-old woman testified Tuesday as court martial proceedings began against James P. Engelbrecht, 22, of Conroe, Texas, at West Point.

Hers is the first such accusation since West Point began enrolling women 20 years ago.

Engelbrecht is accused of assaulting the woman May 24.

The woman acknowledged she had been intoxicated during the party.

Engelbrecht has said the woman climbed into the top bunk bed where he was sleeping and initiated sex.

He said he did not know she had been drinking heavily because he went to bed early.

▶ DAILY PLANNER

The Daily Planner is a campus bulletin board service offered by the K-State Collegian. Items in the planner can be published up to three times. Items may not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to (collegn@ksu.edu) by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

CHECK THESE EVENTS OUT

- Blue Key Senior Honorary applications are available in the Office of Student Activities and Services and Holton 102. They are due by 4 p.m. Friday in Holton 102.
- Career and Employment Services will conduct a World Wide Web Job Search Strategies Workshop at 3:30 p.m. today in Bluemont 014.
- Career and Employment Services will conduct a Résumé Building Workshop at 4 p.m. today in Union 207.
- Career and Employment Services will conduct a Student Employment Job Search Orientation at 4 p.m. today in Holtz Hall.
- Career and Employment Services will conduct an orientation to services and on-campus interviews. The Path to Employment Opportunities for human ecology majors will be at 4:30 p.m. today in Justin 109.
- Career and Employment Services will conduct a Returning Co-op Seminar at 5:30 p.m. today in Union 213.
- KSU Horseman's Association will meet at 6:30 tonight at the emergency front desk at the Veterinary Medicine Complex.
- Pre-Vet Club will meet at 7:30 tonight in Trotter 201. The group will talk about the symposium.
- KSU Men's Lacrosse Club will meet at 7:30 tonight in Union 205.
- Stevan Knezevic will give his final oral defense of his doctoral dissertation at 10 a.m. Monday in Throckmorton 1017.

▶ POLICE BLOTTER

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

▶ K-STATE POLICE

- No reports of note were made.

▶ RILEY COUNTY POLICE DEPARTMENT

• TUESDAY, JAN. 21

- At 7:49 a.m., a past vehicle burglary was reported. A shotgun and an ammunition case were taken. The driver's side window was also broken out. Loss is estimated at $175.
- At 8:25 a.m., a past criminal damage to property report was filed at 1515 Campus Road. A window was broken out of a truck. Loss was estimated at $150.
- At 9:18 a.m., a past theft was reported at Susan B. Anthony Middle School, 2501 Browning Ave. Taken were 25 ice cream bars and two key rings with six keys attached. Loss was $35.
- At 9:33 a.m., a past theft was reported at Manhattan High School, 2100 Poyntz Ave. A compact-disc player was taken.
- At 9:34 a.m., a past criminal damage to property report was filed at Grace Baptist Church, 2901 Dickens Ave. A fork lift was damaged. The victim was Hartman Masonry. Loss is estimated at $2,000.
- At 11:33 a.m., an escape from police custody was reported. Escaped was an Asian man, Neoun Neang, who is 5'5", weighs 140 pounds, and has black hair and brown eyes.
- At 4:02 p.m., a past theft was reported at the city offices, 11th and Poyntz Avenue, of a silver and gold bicycle. Loss was $50.
- At 7 p.m., an injury vehicle accident was reported on E. Poyntz Avenue. A 43-year-old man suffered a back injury.

• WEDNESDAY, JAN. 22

- At 4:28 a.m., a past theft was reported. A Topeka Capital-Journal rack was broken into and the brass security lock was taken. Loss was $5.
- At 5:18 a.m., a past theft was reported at Dutch Maid, 2309 Tuttle Creek Blvd. Someone broke into a newspaper rack and took a padlock and a tie bar. Loss was $50.

▶ CORRECTIONS AND CLARIFICATIONS

Sometimes the K-State Collegian makes a mistake. If a mistake occurs, contact Claudette Riley, news editor, by phone (532-6556), by e-mail (collegn@ksu.edu) or by stopping by the Collegian at Kedzie 116.

▶ HOW TO CONTACT THE COLLEGIAN

• BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Advertising	532-6560
Classifieds	532-6555

• BY E-MAIL
(collegn@ksu.edu)

• ON THE WORLD WIDE WEB
(http://collegian.ksu.edu)

• BY SNAIL MAIL
Kansas State Collegian
116 Kedzie Hall
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

• IN PERSON
The Collegian newsroom office is located at Kedzie 116 (across from the K-State Student Union).

▶ STATEMENT OF PUBLICATION

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020) a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1997

Alpha Tau Omega
would like to congratulate its new officers.

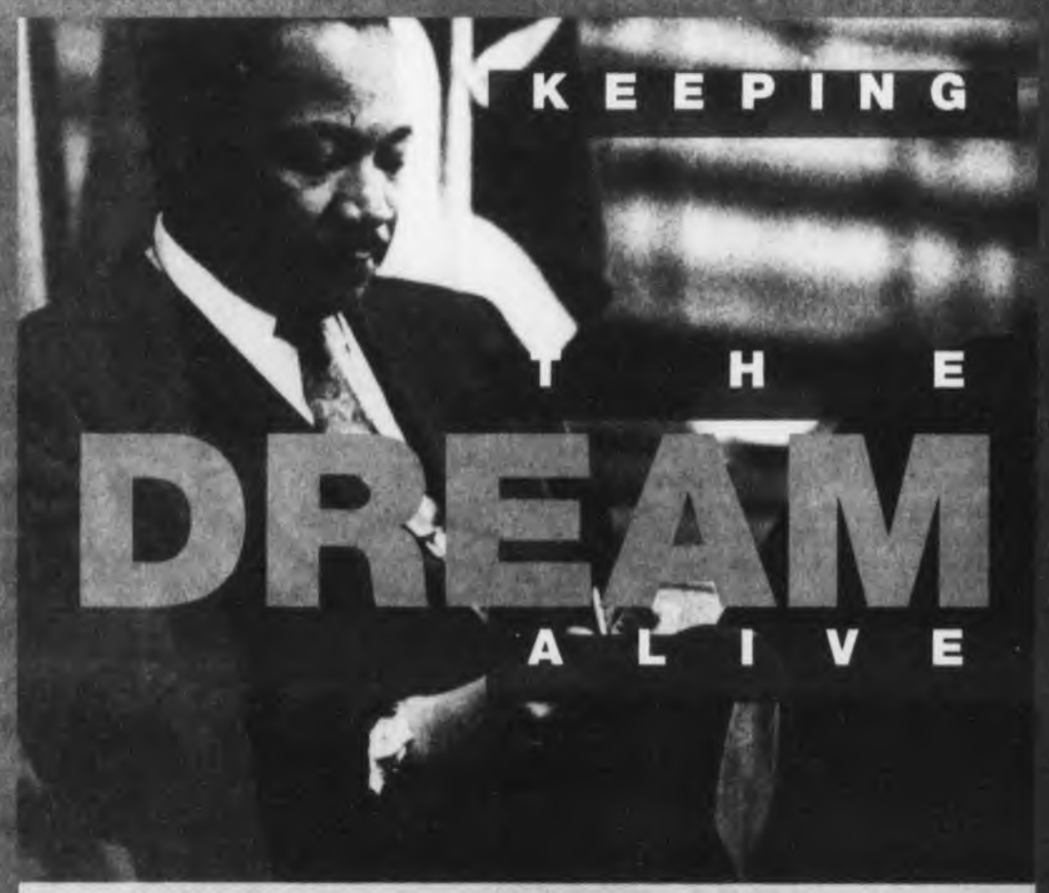
President	Jon Freeman
Vice President	Steve Prusa
Chaplain	Vince Sparks
Treasurer Elect	Brent Taylor
Secretary	David Woolf
Historian Elect	Neil Adamson
Sergeant-at-Arms	Rob Bensman
Doorkeeper	Andrew Pleviak
Membership Education Chairman	Sean Jackson
Public Relations Officer	Rod Helus
Social Service Coordinator	Curtis Snowden
Alumni Relations Officer	Josh Brueggemann
House Manager	Russ Baldwin
Social Chairman	Chris Coad (S '97)
Social Chairman	Gregg Farrar (F '97)
Annex Coordinator	Chris Kelly
Kitchen Manager	Jarred Soukup
Undergraduate to Board of Trustees	Brandon Keely

ΑΤΩ

Recreational Services INTRAMURALS



Intramural Entry Deadline
Friday, January 24, at 5 p.m.
Recreational Services Office
Basketball & Individual Sports

Captains'/Managers' Meeting
Wednesday, January 29, at 5 p.m.
Union, Forum Hall
Basketball schedules will be distributed at this meeting only.
All Captains / Managers must attend!

Basketball Officials' Clinics
Monday, January 27, 6:30 p.m.
Tuesday, January 28, 6:30 p.m.
Wednesday, January 29, 6:30 p.m.
Recreation Complex
Mandatory attendance at all three meetings.

Recreational Services Office 532-6980

Wednesday, January 22

Noon Courtyard Jazz, conducted by Dennis Wilson, director of jazz studies at K-State. Union Courtyard.

3 p.m. College of Architecture, Planning and Design lecture, "Mental Musement: Rhythm, Rituals and Play," by Perry Howard, associate professor of landscape architecture, North Carolina A&T State University, Greensboro, N.C. Union Little Theatre.

4 p.m. Reception for Teto Henderson, adviser and administrator of the Union Program Council and recipient of the Commerce Bank Presidential Award for Distinguished Service to Minority Education. Union Flint Hills Room.

Thursday, January 23

10:30 a.m. Martin Luther King Jr. All-University Convocation Lecture: Beverly Harvard, chief of police, Atlanta, Ga. McCain Auditorium.

11:45 a.m. Martin Luther King Jr. luncheon. Main Ballroom, Union. Call Patricia Hudgins, 532-6555, for reservations and more information.

7:30 p.m. "Interfaith Dialogue: Interfaith Marriages." Sponsored by the KSU Committee on Religion. 213 Union.

"MAKE REAL THE DREAM, FRAME THE VISION FOR THE 21ST CENTURY"

Martin Luther King Jr. Observance Week
January 18-26, 1997

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

Friday, January 24

11:30 a.m. Dr. Willie Baber presents "The Legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.: An Anthropological Perspective." Sponsored by the College of Arts and Sciences and the American Ethnic Studies Program. Big 12 Room, Union.

2:30 p.m. "Exploring the Dynamics of Ethnicity and Race in the United States: Senior Research Projects in American Ethnic Studies." Presenters include students Robert Cowles, Sarah Engler, Laurie Harrison, Lana Lambert and Alima Ramnarine. A reception will follow. Sponsored by the American Ethnic Studies Program. 206 Union.

Sunday, January 26

12:30 p.m. Judging of entries in contest concerning the message of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Sponsored by the KSU Association of Residence Halls. Gold Room, Derby Dining Center.

Sponsored by the Martin Luther King Jr. Observance Committee

Photos by STEVE HEBERT/Collegian

ABOVE. JOANNA MALLON, junior in accounting, peers through a window in the TV room of the K-State Student Union to watch a billiard exhibition by internationally known pocket-billiard and trick-shot artist Jack White Wednesday. White dazzled a large crowd with his humor and amazing trick shots.

LEFT. JACK WHITE, right, gestures while Pavan Kumar Jella, graduate student in industrial and manufacturing systems engineering, lines up his billiard shot during the billiard exhibition in the courtyard of the Union Wednesday.

Grocery store wins case against ABC

ASSOCIATED PRESS

GREENSBORO, N.C. — A jury Wednesday ordered ABC to pay Food Lion more than $5.5 million for sending two reporters undercover with cameras in their wigs for an expose accusing the supermarket chain of selling spoiled meat.

While Food Lion disputed the allegations in the 1992 "PrimeTime Live" report, it was ABC's news-gathering methods that were at issue in the federal trial. The jury earlier found the network committed fraud, trespassing and breach of loyalty.

But in the closely watched case that opened a new line of legal attack against the media Food Lion got far less than the $52.5 million to $1.9 billion in punitive damages it sought.

Juror Tony Kinton called the award a slap on the wrist.

"We weren't in there trying to handcuff the media," said Gregory Mack, foreman of the jury that deliberated the damages for six days. "We would not have gotten the story if the media had not gone in."

Bruce Sanford, a First Amendment lawyer in Washington, called the Food Lion verdict emotional, irrational and unconstitutional and said it will force journalists to think twice before doing investigative pieces.

"It's punishing the messenger, plain and simple," Sanford said.

The jury, in the second multimillion-dollar verdict against ABC in as many months, ordered the network to pay $5.5 million and its employees an additional $45,750.

ABC said it will appeal.

ABC News president Roone Arledge called the punitive damages troubling, noting they were about 4,000 times the amount of compensatory damages.

"If large corporations were allowed to stop hard-hitting investigative journalism, the American people would be the losers," Arledge said in a statement.

The "PrimeTime Live" report accused Food Lion of selling rat-gnawed cheese, expired meat, and old ham and fish that had been washed in bleach to kill its smell.

Food Lion denied the allegations and said it lost more than $1 billion in sales and stock value because of the report, but the judge barred the supermarket chain from seeking compensatory damages for those losses.

ABC producers Lynn Dale and Susan Barnett landed jobs as food handlers at Food Lion and went to work there with tiny cameras hidden in their wigs and microphones inside their clothing. Small video decks were strapped to their bodies and activated by a switch in their pockets.

Former executive producer Richard Kaplan was ordered to pay $35,000 in punitive damages and Ira Rosen, the head of the show's investigative unit, was told to pay $10,750. Dale and Barnett, who used fake references and backgrounds to get jobs at Food Lion stores, will not have to pay punitive damages.

"What frightens me most about all this is that Food Lion tried to punish us as journalists without ever challenging the truth of the broadcast," Dale said. "I think that should concern anyone who cares about a free press in this country."

Richard Wyatt, an attorney for Food Lion, said the truth of the broadcast would be addressed in a separate lawsuit filed against the supermarket chain by its own shareholders.

Mack, the jury foreman in the Food Lion case, said of the verdict: "The media has a right to bring the news, but they have to watch what they do. It's like a football game. There are boundaries, and you have to make sure you don't go outside the boundaries."

Professor develops ingredient for low-fat cake batter

TANYA NISLY
staff reporter

After 15 years and many destroyed cake batters, a low-fat, low-calorie cake has been developed.

Carole Setser, professor of foods and nutrition, has accomplished this by developing an emulsifier. An emulsion is a mixture of liquids that will not mix with each other such as oil and water.

"Emulsifiers are stabilizers. It is material that has both water-loving and oil-loving materials," Setser said.

As with most low-fat foods, the low-fat cakes have somewhat of a different taste.

"We use different flavoring agents. We use high-potency sweeteners, not just sucrose. We are using other sweeteners, because we want low calories, and of those sweeteners, some will taste very sweet in the beginning or some will seem sweeter in the end," Setser said.

Setser compared the low-fat cakes to the use of margarine. She said when margarine was first developed it was not readily accepted, but now many people prefer the flavor.

"It is not going to taste exactly the same as a full-fat, full-sugar cake, but if it is an appropriate and pleasant, acceptable flavor, then it can be OK," Setser said.

A cake made with an emulsifier will have up to 200 calories for a typical serving portion, which is approximately 100 grams of cake. This is almost half the amount of calories of a traditional layer-type cake, which will have from 350 to 400 calories per 100-gram serving.

In the case of a cake batter, separating phases allow the batter to remain smooth. Without the emulsifier, the batter would be lumpy and have a gummy bottom.

Setser said the reason they are able to reduce the calories of the cake is because of the pre-hydration process. Through this process they can use very low levels of the emulsifier, reducing the amount of calories.

If the full amount of shortening were to be used instead, there would be many more calories.

This idea was not developed by Setser alone.

"We had to do a couple of different things, but amazingly it did work. It didn't work the first try, but we were getting positive results, and we continued along those lines.

"I had several graduate students working with me at the time and they would do some different experiments, and it worked," Setser said.

Setser

Ramblers
STEAK HOUSE & SALOON
Thursday Night Steak Special
12 oz. USDA Choice
Top Sirloin
Baked Potato
Salad
Texas Toast
$5.99
$1 Draws
East Hiway 24 & State Lake Rd.

I Can't Believe It's Yogurt!
11th & Moro - Aggieville
537-1616
Buy One, Get One Free!
Buy one cup, cone, or cappuccino and receive one of equal value FREE with this coupon.
HOURS: 10 A.M. - 8 P.M. DAILY
Noon - 8 P.M. SUNDAYS
(Expires 2-28-97)

WINTER CLEARANCE SALE
Selected Columbia & Marmot Coats up to $100 off
the PATHFINDER 539-5639 304 Poyntz

Multi-Engine Flight Training
• Twin Comanche w/HSI, RMI, GPS
• 6,500-Hour ATP Instructor
• Hugh Irvin
539-3128

PRO Fitness
In Aggieville 539-7095
12th & Laramie
20 Tans Free*
*Manhattan's Premier Fitness Center
*BEST RATES ON SUPPLEMENTS IN TOWN
*With purchase of Spring Membership

TW LONGHORNS
Aggieville's Premier Country Bar
WELCOME BACK STUDENTS!
Weekly Drink Specials
TUES. $1 DRINKS
NO COVER BEFORE 10 P.M.
FREE DANCE LESSONS START Jan. 28, 7-8:30 P.M.
WED. LADIES NITE
No Cover For Ladies
$1 Bottles
THURS. THIRSTY THURSDAYS
$7 COVER
FREE BEVERAGES w/ ARMBAND
- EXCEPT PITCHERS
*ROCKY MOUNTAIN OYSTER FRY 7-10 P.M.
FRI. $1 CAN SPECIAL
$1.75 Margaritas
SAT. $1.50 WINE COOLERS
$1.75 Well Special
1115 Moro Aggieville
More Info 776-8770

UPC
Steven Seagal Keenen Ivory Wayans
The GLIMMER MAN
TWO GOOD COPS
ONE BAD SITUATION
Friday,Jan. 24
7:00 and 9:30 p.m.
Saturday, Jan. 25
7:00 p.m.
Sunday, Jan. 26
8:00 p.m.
Forum Hall
K-State Student Union
UPC Feature Films Committee
http://union.ksun.ksu.edu/upc/ff/films.htm
WELCOME TO THE DOLLHOUSE
junior high is hell.
"Funny and uncannily well written."
-Todd McCarthy PREMIERE
Thursday, Jan. 23
7:00 & 9:30 p.m.
Saturday, Jan. 25
9:30 p.m.
Forum Hall
K-State Student Union
UPC Kaleidoscope Films Committee
All movies $1.75. Special Sunday Showings only $1
Cheapest concessions in town!!!
For more information call the UPC Office at 532-6571

FRIDAY

Got a professor who might not give you an "A" for simply showing up for class? Friday, Ken Wells will provide some tips to win over professors and influencing teachers.

OPINION EDITOR
KEVIN KLASSEN
e-mail: (kevkk@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
OPINION
THURSDAY, JANUARY 23, 1997

A GUIDE TO SECTIONS OF THE COLLEGIAN OPINION PAGE

▶ COLUMNS are opinions expressed by the columnists. The opinions are not necessarily the opinions of the Collegian.

OUR VIEW is an editorial written by the Collegian Editorial Board. The board meets every day and discusses editorial topics. The editorial is a compilation of those opinions and represents the opinion of the Collegian.

▶ OUR VIEW

Peaceful protests enhance, reinforce 1st Amendment arguments

More than 200 years ago, our founders framed a document to ensure our essential freedoms — speech, press, peaceable assembly, religion and petition.

Then, those forefathers got together and had a meeting of the minds.

Today, when we disagree with what someone says, we set off a bomb.

Today, when we disagree with a U.S. Supreme Court decision, we show graphic depictions of fetuses to people weighing difficult decisions.

Perhaps we should follow Martin Luther King Jr.'s lead when dealing with these situations. Do it with an open mind and an even temper.

The First Amendment is a powerful weapon in this country. A weapon we should use wisely.

By protesting in violent manners, what message is conveyed? Surely not the one intended.

If we feel our rights are in danger, protest peacefully — either by rallies, conversations or legal channels.

Through those rallies and conversations, a point might be made.

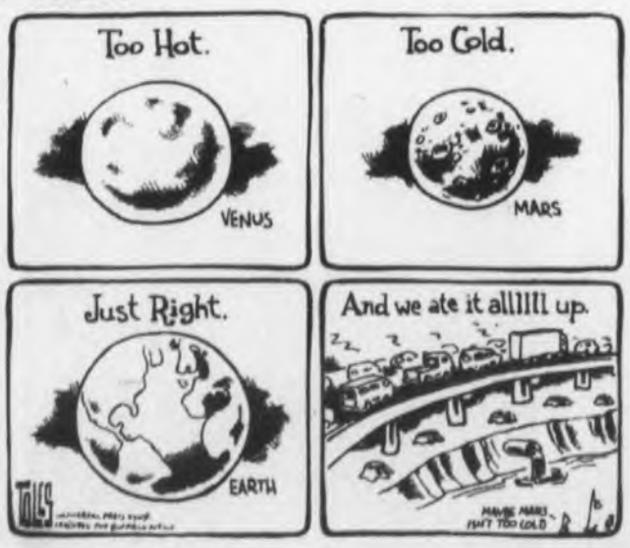
Through those legal channels, a decision might be made.

In the past, it has been the courts that have outlined our First Amendment freedoms. Sometimes for better. Sometimes for worse. However, the courts' decisions are what we must obey.

Disagree as much as you want. Just do it peacefully.

You might just get your point across better.

EDITORIAL BOARD



EDITOR IN CHIEF
Kimberly Helling
MANAGING EDITOR
Miranda Kennedy
NEWS EDITOR
Claudette Riley
PHOTO EDITOR
Steve Hebert
PRESENTATION EDITOR
Scott M. Ladd
COPY CHIEF
Tonya Nisly
OPINION EDITOR
Kevin Klassen
CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
Andrew Francis
CAMPUS EDITOR
Jill Story
SPORTS EDITOR
Jeremy Kelley
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR
Tara Wray
ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
Portia Sisco
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
Jill Jarsulic
INVESTIGATIONS EDITOR
Nicole Kirby
E-COLLEGIAN EDITOR
Kady Guyton
ASSISTANT E-COLLEGIAN EDITOR
Kelly Furnas
OTHER EDITORIAL BOARD MEMBERS
Russell Fortmeyer, senior in architectural engineering

Our View, an editorial selected and debated by a majority of the editorial board, is written by the editorial board after a concensus opinion is reached. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other students. For details on how you can become involved with the editorial board, contact Kevin Klassen, opinion editor.

▶ TOLES

▶ TOLES

To submit a letter

- Visit the Collegian newsroom. Submit letters to Kevin Klassen at Kedzie 116.
- Drop it in the mail. Send letters to Letters to the Editor, c/o Kevin Klassen, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506.

MATT HAWKINS/Collegian

LEARNING TO WALK

k-state's parking debate rages on

VIEWPOINT
JUSTIN WILD

JUSTIN WILD is a senior in English and education. You can e-mail your comments to Justin at (justone@ksu.edu)

As students, we are defined by many boundaries. In the past, when I conceptualized these boundaries, I believed them to consist of ethnicity, gender and socioeconomic class.

With the advent of an old debate, I've decided the boundaries we hold between one another also consist of yellow lines and parking meters. It's time for K-State to once again dwell on the debate concerning a parking garage.

I am opposed to a parking garage anywhere near K-State for a variety of reasons. Permits should, first of all, be limited to those who truly need them, like the physically challenged. Those who live out of town should be able to acquire them as well, as should those who live in dormitories. And, of course, if an employee of K-State desires a permit, then they should be issued one as well.

My heart does not go out to those who live two or three blocks from campus and feel the need to drive on a morning when it dips below freezing or is raining. Walking is healthy. A few blocks won't hurt anyone. Humanity existed in the elements for four thousand years without the need to park next to the K-State Student Union or Durland Hall.

The second point I'd like to raise is over the physical appearance of the campus. At one point and time, it was proposed to build a parking garage in the middle of the Memorial Stadium. That idea, thankfully, was eliminated.

Location, however, goes beyond nostalgia. Why mar any part of the K-State campus with a parking garage so more people can crowd through campus, jockeying for a spot? I contest that, should a parking garage be built on campus, pedestrians would not only face bicycle riders bearing down on them, but the hazards of even more cars speeding through the loop.

The solution is not more cars, but fewer.

Beautification goes far beyond keeping a large parking garage from blocking the front of the K-State Student Union or devouring the field of Memorial Stadium. It also has to do with the smell of exhaust in the middle of campus.

Besides air pollution, K-State has a problem with noise pollution. Some students like to share their music, particularly the bass line, with the rest of the student body, rattling windows and fillings.

Finally, couldn't K-State utilize the funds for a parking garage, as well as the space, towards a better end? The interior of various buildings appear run-down. Remodeling would help the University far more than a monolithic parking garage.

Granted, if K-State continues to expand, more parking will be needed. However, as aforementioned, this could be remedied by giving parking permits only to those who need them.

I maintain that the need for a parking garage is not a problem, but a symptom of our own ills. The Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex is crowded every day with people working out, trying to stay healthy or look good for spring break. Even during warm weather, the lot is fairly crowded. Few people seem to jog there, or even walk, forming a contradiction through action.

Parking, like driving, is a privilege and not a right. If the University took open access to the elevators away from the general student population, people would complain. But eventually, everyone would start taking the stairs.

When K-State realizes a parking garage is a luxury and not a necessity, people will protest, but then learn to walk again.

Splashes of purple could bolster campus spirit

VIEWPOINT
VALERI CRENSHAW

VALERI CRENSHAW is a graduate student in print journalism. You can e-mail your comments to Valeri at (vrc4359@ksu.edu).

It's a new year and a new semester. There is an excitement in the air. Our notebooks still look new and there isn't the heavy burden of classes weighing on our shoulders yet. Now is the perfect time to harness the enthusiasm felt on campus because, as any student knows, it will soon fade.

This positive energy should be channeled into projects and ideas that improve the campus. And it just so happens, I have a couple of ideas.

With the exception of football games, Manhattan could still use more purple. Don't get me wrong, there is more spirit floating around than when I was a kid and used to get teased for being a K-State fan. I have devised two plans that could boost the purple quota.

Getting around campus is not always the easiest activity for students or visitors. Campus is marked with these dull, grayish street signs, which in reality, look nothing like street signs. They resemble those maps in large business buildings that designate where your dentist is located.

Many of the streets have cute little names and provide directions to places on campus, but it is hard to read them because they are dreary and seem to blend into the landscape.

With just a small amount of money, this problem could be solved and K-State would be an even more colorful campus. To achieve these high goals, the boring street signs could be replaced by signs that look like the typical green street signs that are used in most cities, but instead of being green they could be purple. The writing on the signs would be white with white Powercats next to the street name.

Think of the possibilities. Imagine how great Lovers Lane would look on a purple street sign.

The purple street signs would only exist on campus, so there would be less confusion as to where K-State ends and the world begins.

I can hear the administration now. Their pockets are empty and their heads ache at the thought of fitting something like this in the budget.

But really, how much could this cost? Make a few calls. Knock on a few doors. The KSU Alumni Association is bound to be giddy over an idea like this. I have confidence that there are more than a few past K-Staters who would love to drive on campus and see purple street signs. The current street signs, advertised as pieces of K-State history, could be sold to raise money for new signs.

Whatever the means, I don't think this is out of reach for a university of size with the support that we have. The second project to colorize the campus involves the K-State Marching Band.

Like very few other students, I attend most of the basketball games, both men's and women's, and have noticed how the band works to excite the small crowds in Bramlage. They play the songs every K-Stater loves to hear and have even choreographed many of the tunes, but it is hard to tell what they are doing because there is no uniformity to what they wear to the games.

Maybe this sounds picky, but if the marching band were to wear matching purple shirts, their silver instruments would be more visible and their dance movements would be easier to recognize.

The marching band is an asset to the sometimes rather sterile atmosphere at Bramlage Coliseum, but many of the members do not even wear school colors to the games.

Simple purple shirts would give them more school spirit and a uniform appearance. The members could wear top-quality sweatshirts, long-sleeved shirts or rugbys. They would look more organized. The marching band is a classy organization. They at least deserve a sharp uniform.

Funds could be the root of this problem, but this obstacle could easily be overcome. Maybe the money could come from the band's budget or each member could buy a purple shirt.

If purchased in bulk, they would not cost too much. There are many past K-Staters who would love to contribute to the marching band.

Whether it be for purple street signs or pep band shirts, there are 40,000 K-Staters who are still feeling the euphoria of the Cotton Bowl. Give them a call!

Maybe some day we'll drive around campus and see purple street signs or you'll have a marching band member knocking on your door asking for money. As for now, I am feeling a purple deficiency.

BILL KRAAI/Collegian

Albright 1st female secretary of state

Albright

Cohen

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Senate ratified President Clinton's groundbreaking national security team with lightning speed Wednesday, confirming Madeleine Albright as the nation's first female secretary of state and former Republican Sen. William Cohen as defense secretary.

Both won 99-0 approval with no word of doubt or dissent.

"She's a strong lady. She's a courageous lady," Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman Jesse Helms, D-N.C., said of Albright, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations during Clinton's first four years in office.

The Cohen debate was equally laudatory.

"It's a pleasure to participate in your coronation — I mean, your confirmation," said Sen. Pat Roberts, R-Kan., welcoming back his former colleague.

President Clinton was quick to turn the praise back on the Senate, saying it sent a strong signal to the world of its determination to work in a constructive and bipartisan spirit with the administration on the nation's foreign policy and national defense.

Sen. Jay Rockefeller, D-W.Va., out of the country with a trade mission in Japan, was the only senator not to vote.

The Pentagon scrambled Wednesday to make plans for Cohen to take the oath of office. The full Senate vote came within an hour of unanimous approval by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Albright's swearing-in was expected as early as Thursday.

"I think the vote truly does signal a new era of bipartisan foreign policy," Albright said at the United Nations. "And now I can't wait to get started."

Though lavishly endorsing Albright, Helms repeated his blanket disagreement with administration foreign policy. He said he hopes the new secretary of state would turn it around.

"My support for the nomination should in no way be misconstrued as an endorsement of the Clinton foreign policy," Helms said.

He criticized U.S. actions regarding Haiti, Somalia, Bosnia, China, Iraq and other countries, as well as the administration's support for U.N. funding.

Helms said he expects Albright to work with the Republican-controlled Congress to limit sending U.S. troops abroad, to reform the U.N. and to modernize the State Department.

Cohen assured the panel he would maintain his independence as defense secretary.

"Uniformity of opinion within an administration is not an imperative or an ideal even to be sought," he said.

Cohen said the president wants strong-minded advisers to guide him on national security matters.

KICKING BACK and playing a little blues, Trent Murray, foreground, senior in history, and Albert Balendran, junior in electrical engineering, entertain a gathering of students Wednesday in the International Student Center. Murray is an American citizen, but has lived most of his life in Austria. Balendran is from Malaysia, and has been living in the United States and attending K-State since fall 1995.

CLIF PALMBERG
Collegian

Julliard grad to perform on campus

SARA EDWARDS
staff reporter

Freeman Davis II graduated from the Julliard School and has performed concerts across the country from Carnegie Hall to the Los Angeles Music Center, but the voice instructor hasn't given any concerts in Manhattan until now.

Davis will perform at 8 p.m. Monday in All Faiths Chapel. Davis said this was the first time in his three years at K-State he has planned and performed a recital here.

Davis is a classically trained singer, but he dabbles in pop songs, musicals and jazz.

Davis said his performance will include a little bit for everybody. His selections include work by Handel, Aaron Copeland and Hall Johnson.

Davis said he chose his selections because they were all his favorites, and he wanted them to appeal to everybody.

"I wanted to give a potpourri of selections — a slice of pie for each person," he said.

Davis also serves as coordinator for multicultural student organizations and is the K-State National Pan-Hellenic Council adviser.

Davis said the turning point for him came when he was at Julliard. At this point he got serious about voice and music, and it became a large part of his life. Davis was a seven-year scholarship recipient at Julliard. He was exposed to people who were already world-renowned.

"It's just rich, ripe exposure," he said.

Davis said it is hard to teach technique in a half-hour session, but he said he has had some successes.

He said he always tries to practice what he teaches when he performs.

"Hopefully, I can talk the talk and walk the walk," he said.

Keep up with local and national news. Pick up the Collegian.

The Collegian. Read it.

Winston Place Apartments
"The Place You Can Come Home To"
Spacious studio, one and two bedroom apartments
•Water/Trash Paid
•Small Pets OK
•Pool/Weight Room
•Laundry on-site
539-9339
Kimball & Seaton Avenue

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

KJs Dance Club and Pizza Hut
have combined to bring you
a Super Bowl blowout
$3.99 All you can eat pizza during the game
"not just pizza - Pizza Hut Pizza"
Big Screen
Everytime you see a Bud Light commercial = a
Pick the Score Before the Game
Closest to Halftime Score = $50 gift certificate
FREE T-Shirt
Closest to the Final Score = $50 cash
COUCHES
Doors open 2 p.m.
See ya here

Go State!

We stay open late at Claflin Books and Copies

27th ANNUAL
MANHATTAN BRIDAL SHOW, INC.
SUNDAY, JANUARY 26, 1997
Houston Street Ballroom, 5th & Houston
Doors open at noon — Fashion Show at 2 p.m.
Admission is FREE
REGISTER TO WIN OVER $2500 IN FREE GIFTS & PRIZES including A DREAM HONEYMOON Value $750.00 (Must be present to win)
SPONSORED BY:
Atwood Rentals
Bocker's Two Catering
Borck Brothers
Bridal World
Campbell's
G. Thomas Jewelers
Heirloom Portraits
Houston Street Ballroom
Kansas State Travel
KQLA/Q-103.5 Radio
Jennifer O'Briant, Longaberger Rep.
Party Inc.
Patricia's Undercover
Realty Executives
Rickel-McMillin Liquor
Rod's Hallmark
Florence Schwab, Harpist, and Mary Lee Cochran, Flutist
Steve's Floral
Tina's Studio 32
Vern's Donuts & Cakes
Waters True Value
Woody's Ladies Shop

Let the Collegian be YOUR WEDDING SOURCE

Bridal Show
January 26, 1997
Come Get Ideas for Your Wedding Day.

BRIDAL BASICS
A MATCH MADE IN HEAVEN.
BERNINA
The Art and Science of Sewing
Bernina Sewing & Quilting Center
330 N. 4th Street•537-8919
Authorized Sales & Services
Tues.-Fri. 10-6 p.m. Sat. 9-1 p.m.

Joyce's Hair Tamers
We tame the tough ones
Perms Reg. $40-$48
On Sale Now!
$25-$38
Haircuts
Shampoo & Style
Gals $12.50
Guys $8.50
539-TAME
2026 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

Enjoy personal attention from Marsha, the international designer of AUSUM Fashion Designs, when she creates a gown designed especially for you . . . a gown which will reflect your style and personality like no other.
EXCLUSIVES from AUSUM FASHION DESIGNS
By Appointment Only at 714C Poyntz Ave, Manhattan
Tel: (913) 587-1929 Fax: (913) 587-0038

BRIDAL REGISTRY AVAILABLE
Patricia's UNDERCOVER Lingerie
Mon.-Thurs. 10-7
Fri. & Sat. 10-5
1224 MORO MANHATTAN
AGGIEVILLE SINCE 1989
GIFTS WRAPPED FREE

WEDDING OPEN HOUSE
Saturday and Sunday, January 25 & 26
Register For Free Prizes
• 1- $100 Gift Certificate for Carlson Craft Wedding Invitations
• 5- $10 in store Gift Certificates.
• 1- $25 Wedding Ensemble: Bride and Groom Champaign Glasses, Cake Knife and Bride and Groom Garters.
• 1- 100 Beverage Napkins printed. A $11.50 value.
• 1- $35 Cake Topper with Unity Candle.
Refreshments will also be served.
WEDDING INVITATIONS 30% OFF
Mr. P's Party Outlet
318 Poyntz
Manhattan, KS 66502
913-776-7547

TOMORROW
The K-State men's soccer club heads to Kansas City for an indoor tournament today. The competiton will kick off the spring season for the club.

SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY
e-mail: (weasal1@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
SPORTS
THURSDAY, JANUARY 23, 1997

BULLS' RODMAN APOLOGIZES FOR KICKING PHOTOGRAPHER

▶ Dennis Rodman is saying he's sorry for kicking a cameraman, both with his words and a checkbook. The Chicago Bulls star apologized to cameraman Eugene Amos Tuesday after agreeing to a $200,000 out-of-court settlement that also assured that Rodman would not face criminal prosecution.

STEVE HEBERT/Collegian
BRIT JOHNSON smothers Iowa State's Tara Gunderson during second-half action at Bramlage Coliseum Wednesday night.

While Coach Tom Asbury and the men's basketball team struggle in Ames, Coach Deb Patterson and the women's basketball team play in your face basketball to produce wins. Asbury on the men's basketball team:

'I'M FRUSTRATED AND PISSED OFF'

K-STATE FORWARD Manny Dies looks to shoot or pass around Iowa State guard DeAndre Harris during first-half action Wednesday night at Hilton Coliseum in Ames.
JILL JARSULIC
Collegian

Women's team outscores ISU Cyclones by 8 points

SUN DEE MILLS
staff reporter

A conference win at home was just what the doctor ordered for the K-State women's basketball team after two road losses to Texas Tech and Kansas. The Cats defeated Iowa State Wednesday night, 62-54, in front of 1,067 fans.

"I told my assistants that this game was like being at the dentist," Coach Deb Patterson said. "You're saying, 'Oh, when is something good going to happen?'"

The first three minutes of the game were all Cats, who scored eight points, five by center Kayla Hester, and the Cyclones were kept to three. The next three minutes were about trading places. The Cyclones tied the score at eight at 13:59, marking the first of six lead changes.

"Our shots weren't falling," said guard Brit Jacobson, who scored a game-high 22 points. "We were taking halfway decent shots, but they weren't falling."

The first half of the game ended with the Cats down by three, 22-25, and the teams went into the locker rooms tied with 31-percent field-goal shooting.

"We were kind of soft and didn't make good decisions," Patterson said. "As the ball went in, we kind of stood around and waited for it to come back out. That's what a good zone does, it makes you a passive team. For a good part of the first half, they controlled our offense."

The Cats had 20 boards and six turnovers, while the Cyclones pulled down 19 boards and gave away eight balls in the first half of play.

A spark plug by the name of Kjersten Larson entered the second half of the game.

"She helped us reverse the ball, which we hadn't been doing," Patterson said. "She defended the ball very well, and she was bringing back some loose-ball rebounds. She helped to change the energy on the court."

At the 11-minute mark, the Cats went on an eight-point scoring streak, which was only answered once by the Cyclones.

"It was time for us to step up and start playing our game," Jacobson said.

Forward Andria Jones fouled Cyclone center Jayme Olson, and Olsen's two charity shots put the score at 39-42.

Center Angie Finkes then scored off a defensive rebound, and the one-point deficit was the closest the Cats had come to a lead since losing it 13 minutes into the first half.

The Cats maintained control of the lead throughout the rest of the game, pulling ahead by as many as 11 points at the 1:08 mark.

"I just think we wanted it more in the end of the game than they did," Hester said.

Winning at home has become a standard for the team, who held its own to post big wins against nationally ranked Memphis and Texas. The home-field advantage is good for the players, and Jacobson said the team would like to build a new tradition.

"The fans are great," Jacobson said. "We would like to get that win at home and take it on the road to other places."

TEAM MATCHES COACH'S FEELINGS ON PERFORMANCE

AMES, IOWA — The Wildcats fell to the Cyclones Wednesday night in Ames, and team consensus is woefully clear.

"I'm frustrated and pissed off," Asbury said. "I'm just fed up with this from our team, maybe when we get sick enough, we will start winning."

For the majority of the second half, the Cats traded baskets with the 14th-ranked Cyclones. A Manny Dies basket at the 9:21 mark of the second half silenced the crowd and put the Cats up 38-36.

However, that would be among the last highlights for K-State. From that point on, the Cat debacle began.

During the next five minutes the Cyclones would go on an 11-2 run that had them up 49-40 with just more than three minutes left. In that span, the Cats missed on six-consecutive shots.

Iowa State senior center Kelvin Cato's presence was felt on the defensive side of the ball.

"He was blocking everything we put up in the second half," Asbury said. "We were hoping to get him in foul trouble, but we didn't. He took advantage of it."

Cato, who finished the game with 18 points and eight blocks, said he credited his coach's words for his defensive intensity.

"Coach had ripped me all this week because I wasn't playing with enough intensity on the defensive side," Cato said. "He yelled at me during halftime, so I just came out stronger in the second half."

During the Cyclone's key run, it wasn't senior center Gerald Eaker guarding Cato. It was forward Manny Dies.

"He was playing Cato pretty physical the whole game, trying to keep him from posting up down low," Eaker said. "I think he was doing a better job of keeping him off the blocks than I was. Cato just got some good looks down low. He's a terrific player."

Cat guard Ayome May did all he could to keep the inevitable from happening. In a span of 17 seconds, May hit two three-pointers that pulled the Cats within one, 49-48.

"At that point, I was thinking that we really had a chance, we seemed to have the momentum," Eaker said.

But the Cats would go on to miss their last four shots, losing the momentum and the game.

Unlike their past loss against Texas Tech, Cat players were vocal about the frustration of losing close games.

"It is getting really frustrating losing like this," Eaker said. "We play hard, but we don't get any positive results with our effort."

Despite the loss, Asbury said his team will eventually get over this hump.

"We're going to win and turn this corner," he said. "We came close tonight but close doesn't help, and it doesn't count for anything."

STORY BY SHANE McCORMICK

Men's team falls in Ames by 6; losing streak extends to 0-5

JEREMY KELLEY
sports editor

AMES, IOWA — It was the same old story.

In K-State's past three games it has simply dominated the first half.

At Nebraska a week ago the Wildcats led by 18 at the half only to fall by 10 in overtime to the Huskers.

Saturday in Manhattan, they led throughout most of the first half against Texas Tech and continued to control much of the second, only to falter toward the end and lose by nine.

It seems as if the aforementioned scenarios are becoming old hat. So was the case in Ames Wednesday night. The Cats dominated the 18th-ranked Cyclones throughout most of the game.

Again the operative word is most.

K-State busted out again to the early lead mounting the Cyclones and their faithful 13-3 with 12 minutes, with 58 seconds left off a five-foot jumper in the lane by Paco May.

Everything was going K-State's way. Iowa State was shooting a dismal 9 percent from the field. The Wildcats were dominating the glass. For K-State, everything was falling into place.

But then, just like the past two games, K-State fell apart.

"This is a team that if you make a mental mistake or if you get out of control, they make you pay the price," Coach Tom Asbury said.

But the mistakes K-State made toward the end of the first half didn't cost it the game. Once again the Wildcats led at halftime, 24-22.

But it was a different story in the second half. At the start it was nip and tuck and K-State managed to stay in control for a while. But without all-America guard Dedric Willoughby, center Kelvin Cato and the Cyclones mounted a comeback.

Iowa State took its first lead of the ballgame when forward Shawn Bankhead scored a lay-up with 8:19 and the Iowa State crowd came alive.

K-State tried to take it inside but Cato was just too much as he swatted eight shots in the game and grabbed 15 rebounds.

"Cato was real tough tonight," center Gerald Eaker said. "He's a great shot blocker, and we tried to get around him, but failed."

It was Cato's presence inside that doomed the Cats as they went scoreless for a period of four minutes down the stretch and Iowa State took advantage.

"We got to have more poise," Asbury said. "We can't just throw the ball up on the rim and hope it goes in. We did that tonight."

Down 49-40 with 2:52 left, K-State found what appeared to be a savior. Paco May stepped up and hit two back-to-back clutch three-pointers that put the Cats within one, 49-48 with 1:45 left.

"I felt like nobody was stepping up," May said. "I just felt comfortable, and I nailed those two shots."

But Cato sank three free throws in the final minute to seal the win for the Cyclones who move to 12-3 on the year and 3-2 in the Big 12.

As for K-State, May said it was the same thing every game.

"It's real frustrating," May said. "It seems like we take control until about four or five minutes and then have a mental lapse or something."

The Cats, who faltered to 0-5 in the Big 12, remain on the road through the weekend to face Texas A&M.

"Right now we're sick of losing. I can't ask for more from them other than they play hard," Asbury said. "We're still 0-5. That's all."

JONES AND FINKES STEP UP TO HELP DEFEAT CYCLONES — BY SUN DEE MILLS

Get the ball. Get set. Shoot. Another day at the office for offensive weapons Andria Jones and Angie Finkes, but not against Iowa State Wednesday night.

"You have to give credit to Iowa State's defense," Coach Deb Patterson said, after her team beat the Cyclones 62-54. "They got us standing still."

Jones, a forward, averages 19 points a game but was kept to eight Wednesday night. Finkes, a center, had a career-high 16 points against Texas Tech, but the Cyclones also kept her to eight points.

"They collapsed on our post, which made it very difficult to score," Patterson said. "Even though Angie Finkes had her tough moments during this game, ultimately, she came out of it and she got us some baskets."

The Cyclones played a tight-zone defense, which allowed paint players like Jones and Finkes chances to get the ball. However, neither player received good looks at the basket.

"Angie and Andria were a little tentative early in the game, and that kind of prevented us from going in," Patterson said. "Every time A.J. (Jones) caught the ball in the beginning, there were three players within about a foot of her."

Their hesitation and inability to find a rhythm was overcome by three-point shooters Missy Decker, a guard, and center Kayla Hester, with two each, and guard Brit Jacobson, whose 22 points included four treys.

"Once you hit your first shot, pretty much you feel like the rest of them are going to go in," Jacobson said. "It kind of builds your confidence."

Hester posted the game's first two scores, with one of those shots from outside the three-point line.

"It definitely gives you confidence when you start the game two for two," Hester said.

Patterson said she was encouraged by the win despite the shutdown of her post players.

"I thought that it was significant that we got a win in a game where A.J. struggled," Patterson said. "The pattern to this point has been when A.J. struggles, we don't win the game. That was significant from our end."

A&E EDITOR
PORTIA SISCO
e-mail: (andra@ksu.edu)

KANSAS CITY JAZZ SINGER CANCELS MANHATTAN PERFORMANCE

▶ A concert of Kansas City jazz singer Queen Bey and her quartet at the Manhattan Center for the Arts has been canceled. The performance was to be at 8 p.m. this Saturday, but due to a variety of circumstances, the concert has been postponed until March 8. More info and tickets will be available in two weeks.

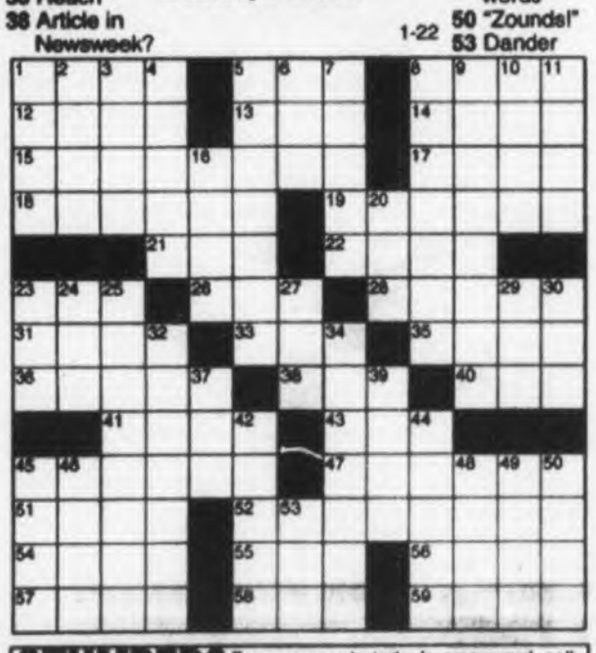
TOMORROW

The Columbian Theatre in Wamego, Kan., features the Kansas Art Education Association Exhibit. Russell Fortmeyer explores the Theatre in tomorrow's Impulse section.

▶ DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 Meccan pilgrim
5 Turn right
8 Fraud
12 Image: alt. sp.
13 Angler's need
14 Mah-jongg piece
15 Abandonment
17 College site on the Thames
18 Happened next
19 Puts in office
21 "Cool, dude!"
22 Erstwhile frosh
23 Make like a bunny
26 Motherly specialty, for short
28 Move along unnoticed
31 "Exodus" author
33 Aurora's counterpart
35 Oklahoma city
36 Reach
38 Article in Newsweek?
40 Zeppelin fill
41 Gunk
43 Rio de —
45 Ball
47 "Truly" singer Lionel
51 Sam Shepard's "— of the Mind"
52 Enchantment
54 "Candid Camera" creator
55 Prior to
56 "Born Free" heroine
57 Easter Bunny's delivery
58 Longing
59 Crucifix



DOWN
1 Stash
2 Related
3 Makes marginalia
4 Become liable for
5 Where the batter warms up
6 A billion years
7 A cube has 12
8 Forefingers extended, in a kids' rhyme
9 Seeking a ride
10 Greatly
11 "— sana in corpore sano"
16 Tournament segment
20 Diary
23 Cling to
24 Raw rock
25 Nolan Ryan's skill
27 Barracks item
29 24 horas
30 Mag. staffers
32 Map lines
34 Curtail
37 "— Town"
39 Singer Clapton
42 1948 victor, said the Chicago Daily Tribune
44 Yellowish shade
45 Protected
46 Advertisement
48 Hawaiian city
49 Not — many words
50 "Zounds!"
53 Dander

Solution time: 21 mins.

P	E	G	S		F	L	Y		C	A	K	E
A	M	O	K		R	O	E		U	L	N	A
C	U	T	I	T	O	U	T		T	O	O	T
A	S	H		A	N	D		S	T	U	B	S
			A	P	T		D	U	H
F	O	R	C	E		F	A	R	R	A	G	O
A	B	O	U		A	I	D		O	L	E	O
T	I	N	T	I	N	G		F	A	I	T	H
			A	C	T		C	O	T
T	A	B	B	Y		H	U	R		S	P	A
O	L	I	O		P	A	P	E	R	C	U	T
M	E	R	V		E	L	I		N	O	M	O
B	C	D	E		W	E	D		S	W	A	M

Yesterday's answer

1-22

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

1-22 CRYPTOQUIP

U P M N S V G H W V M R U C B X G C W R U M B F W V G H X H W D M O U S F G B M C O W U S R U P W N D.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: DO YOU THINK A NERVOUS BANK ROBBER MIGHT GET VERY EASILY ALARMED?

Today's Cryptoquip clue: D equals K

▶ MELVIN VS. THE WORLD

What happens when your home burns down or your apartment is robbed? If you have renter's insurance, you're OK, otherwise

BEWARE

STORY BY NICOLE KIRBY

If your apartment were to burn down tomorrow, chances are your landlord would be liable for the building, but your property loss would be your problem.

Now suppose you have renter's insurance and your apartment were to burn down tomorrow. Your loss would be covered.

"Let's say the apartment did catch fire," Ruth Fry, property manager at Abbott Management, said. "We're not going to be liable for their property; we're just going to be liable for the building. They'll just be out of luck."

Most leases specify that the owner does not accept liability for any damage to your property. Abbott Management's lease provides a typical list of catastrophes that are the tenant's problem:

"Owner will not be liable for any damages or losses to person or property caused by other residents or persons, theft, burglary, assault, vandalism or other crimes. Owner shall not be liable for personal injury or for damage to or loss of resident's personal property (furniture, jewelry, clothing, etc.). Owner strongly recommends that resident secure his own insurance to protect against all of the above occurrences."

Renter's insurance covers such catastrophes. Allstate Insurance offers one plan, which would cover property damage from fire, lightning, smoke, water damage, vandalism, falling objects, explosion, hail and windstorms.

The plan's theft coverage extends beyond the walls of your apartment or house.

"Their personal property would be covered if someone breaks into their house or car," Deb Ebert, Allstate agent and customer service representative, said.

Credit cards and checkbooks are also protected, and there is even guest medical coverage, just in case your friend falls down your stairs.

Fry is protected by a similar renter's insurance policy at her home on post in Fort Riley.

"If something happens to someone on the property, we're covered," Fry said. "As a tenant, I think it's worthwhile."

MIKE WEATHERFORD/Collegian

Band combines humorous lyrics with rap sound

ANDREW FRANCIS
city/government editor

Music Review

Combinations of rap, sampling and goofy lyrics have landed Bloodhound Gang near the top of the contemporary music scene.

The members of Bloodhound Gang refer to themselves as five idiot white-boy rappers who are bored. They decided to put their personalities over drum beats, and before they knew it, they were selling records.

The band established a loyal fan base with its 1994 album, "Dingleberry Haze." That EP turned out "Mama Say," a track that became popular with radio and video play.

Bloodhound Gang's latest album "One Fierce Beer Coaster," is a follow-up to its 1995 full-length debut album "Use Your Fingers," which expanded the band's style.

"One Fierce Beer Coaster" shows the band's lighter side with songs like "Kiss Me Where It Smells Funny" and "I Wish I Was Queer So I Could Get Chicks." The album mainly contains rapped lyrics with hard-edged music driving the beat.

"Fire Water Burn," the third track on the album, has hit the radio waves and broadened exposure to Bloodhound Gang.

The song's video can occasionally be seen on MTV's "120 Minutes."

The melody of "Fire Water Burn" starts off with an acoustic feel but quickly turns into a fuzzed power-chord progression. The lyrics are rapped with a calm and mellow feeling by Jimmy Pop Ali.

"Your Only Friends Are Make Believe" pokes fun at the ever-famous relationship between Mr. Rogers and his mailman Mr. McFeelie. Bloodhound Gang's lyrics poke fun at the pleasant friendship.

The explicit lyrics may be considered offensive. The song is just one example of Bloodhound Gang's "Dumb and Dumber" style.

While most of the album is a reflection of the band members' class-clown personalities, the band still proves it can put out a hard-core sound.

By using high-energy guitar riffs and driving drum beats, Bloodhound Gang has found a new way to package rap lyrics.

The members of Bloodhound Gang are not typical rappers. Ali has always been happy to proclaim his wimpiness and lack of sexual success.

The band has many similarities to the Beastie Boys. Bloodhound Gang offers its own version of the Beastie's "It's Tricky."

Humorous lyrics and diverse melodies make for a great album. The band's humor fits somewhere between Adam Sandler and Cheech and Chong.

Listeners who need a break from the norms of new music need to give "One Fierce Beer Coaster" a chance.

▶ Catch the beat on the E-Collegian. Want to sample the Bloodhound Gang and not spend any dough? Go to E-Collegian at (http://collegian.ksu.edu)

▶ DILBERT

Give us feedback. Send your e-mail comments to the Collegian at (collegn@ksu.edu)

Interfaith Dialogue
"Interfaith Marriages"
When: Thursday, Jan. 23
Where: Union 213
Time: 7:30 pm

*Couples will share their experiences
Sponsored by the Committee on Religion at K-State

FREE
McCain Tickets
McCain Auditorium is in search of community members, including KSU staff, students, faculty willing to usher in exchange for FREE TICKETS
to McCain Performance Series Events such as: Alvin Ailey Dance, or The Odd Couple.
Join us for 1 of 2 orientation Meetings in the McCain Auditorium Lobby.
Thursday, January 23 at 4 and 5 p.m.
If you are unable to attend, call 532-2358 for details.

KJ's Thursday Night
BLOWOUT
Ladies Night
$1.50 Shiner bock Bottles
Tequila Rose Shots only $2 in Souvenier glass
DJ - The Funky Marky Mark
Free Prizes all night Shiner bock & Teq Rose T-shirts
Doors Open 5 pm
Week #1 vote on the "Wall of Shame" 5-11:30 pm
Winners weekly

We take news tips. Call 532-6556 with your news!

DO YOU HAVE THE WRITE STUFF?
The Collegian is looking for a few good staff writers.
Want to apply?
Stop by Kedzie 103 and fill out an application.

PETS 'N' STUFF
539-9494 Reptiles & Feeder Mice 1105 Waters

"No Coupon" Specials (NO coupon needed, NONE accepted)
Everyday Two-fers
2 - PIZZAS with
2 - TOPPINGS each
2 - COKES with ice
$9.12
Everyday Three-fers
3 - PIZZAS with
1 - TOPPING each
3 - COKES with ice
$11.23
Prices do not include sales taxes.
Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

Burgers & Beer at Bobby T's
"Calling All Comedians and Singers"
Open Mike Night
Any Burger, Fries & Beer
Every Thursday
$1 pilsners
$3.25
•Bobby T's•Candlewood Shopping Center•
Featuring Daily Drink & Food Specials

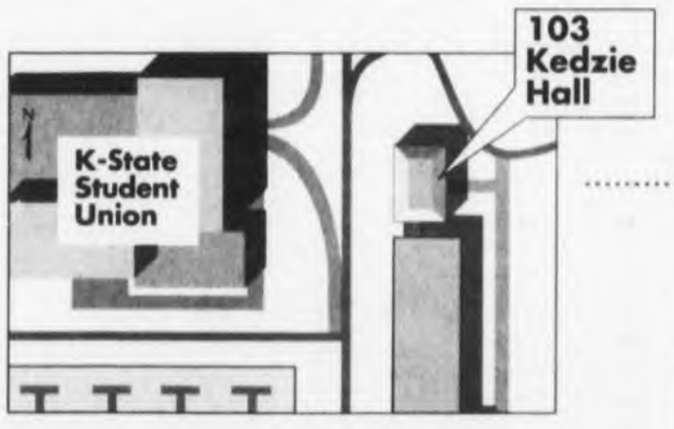
MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR
3 doors up the alley from Downtown Burger King
$ 1.00 OFF
FOR EACH PAIR OF HEELS
Expires February 15, 1997
(Good only at 315 B Poyntz Location)
Tuesday thru Friday 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.
Saturday 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.
315 B Poyntz - Back Door
Manhattan, KS
776-1193
Vibram Authorized Dealer
•One Coupon Per Customer
•Must Present With Shoes
•Void With Other Offers

Recreational Services
INTRAMURALS
Basketball Officials' Clinic
Monday, Jan. 27, at 6:30 p.m. Rec. Complex
Tuesday, Jan. 28, at 6:30 p.m. Rec. Complex
Wednesday, Jan. 29, at 6:30 p.m. Rec. Complex
Mandatory Attendance at All Three Meetings!
Rec Services Office 532-6980

KSU Men's Lacrosse Meeting
Thursday, Jan. 23
7:30 p.m. Union Rm. 205
More Info. call Curt 537-9406 or Jay 537-3017.
Newcomers Welcome.
Current players should attend.

Suds Y'R Duds
Welcomes K-State Students Back With Free Dryers
Between 5 a.m. & 3 p.m. when available
Monday thru Friday · Located in Anderson Village
1453 Anderson Ave.
537-2325
Open 5 a.m. - midnight
7 days a week

LOWMAN'S MEN'S~STORE
BIG SALE!
20-50% Off
All Fall & Winter Merchandise
1201 Moro 776-7304
In Historic Aggieville



The Perfect Suit
WHEN YOUR FUTURE IS AT STAKE . . . look to the professionals for that perfect suit.

Prices start at $275
• One Button
• Two Button
• Three Button
• Six Button Double Breasted
Now On Sale
BORCK Brothers
Fine Menswear
Mon.-Sat. 9:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Thurs. till 8 p.m.
Westloop Shopping Center

We Care Enough to Listen FONE Crisis
Volunteer Training:
Do you like to help people?
Are you a good listener?
Call to Register
537-0999

CLASSIFIEDS

• Office Hours
MON. - FRI.
8-5 P.M.
Except holidays

1 DAY 20 words or less – $7 each word over 20 – $ 20 per word
2 DAYS 20 words or less – $8.25 each word over 20 – $ 25 per word
3 DAYS 20 words or less – $9.25 each word over 20 – $ 30 per word
4 DAYS 20 words or less – $10 each word over 20 – $ 35 per word
5 DAYS 20 words or less – $10.50 each word over 20 – $ 40 per word (consecutive day rate)

• FREE FOUND ADS
As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

• HOW TO PAY
All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an established account with Student Publications Inc.
Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks.
We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

• DEADLINES
Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.

• CANCELLATIONS
If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.
You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.

• HEADLINES
For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

• CORRECTIONS
If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

• Phone
532-6555
• Fax
532-6236

• Or write
COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS
Kansas State Collegian
Kedzie 103
Manhattan, Kan. 66506

010 BULLETIN BOARD

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING plus ground school for private, instrument and multi-engine ratings. K-State Flying Club approved instructor. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

ATTENTION ALL students!!! Grants and scholarships available from sponsors!!! No repayments, ever!!! $$$ Cash for college $$$ for information: (800)243-2435.

COLLEGE FINANCIAL AID -Student Financial Services has information on 3,400+ public and private sector funding sources. A must for anyone seeking financial aid! For information: 1-800-263-6495 ext.F57689.

DISCOVER DIVING scuba lessons, college credit, low rates, Aggie Dive Shop 539-DIVE.

GRADUATING OR need help with your resume? Information tips and sample resumes available. Guaranteed results. Send SASE to: Resemue Renovations P.O. Box 1384 Clemson, SC 29633.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 539-3733.

SALE ON Mary Kay products. Great opportunity to purchase Mary Kay products at a reduced rate. Call Marianne at 565-0754.

SCUBA DIVE Dreaming of those warm nights and clear waters... Learn to dive now for spring break and summer. Classes now forming. Call David Garvin, PADI, Creative Travel and Scuba, 539-0631.

SCUBA KSU classes starting Jan. 25th. NAUI and YMCA certification offered. Come join the fun. Contact UFM for info and registration 539-8763.

WICHITA EAGLE SUNDAY ONLY 15-week semester subscription only $12. Call Colleen Hampton at 539-5934 to subscribe. Offer expires 1/28/97.

Wedding Open House
January 25 and 26
Drawings for free gifts!
Mr. P's Party Outlet
Manhattan, KS 66502
318 Poyntz 776-7547

Having a garage sale?
GARAGE SALE
If you're trying to sell your old stuff, let the Collegian help you. It's only $8.85 for 20 words. Come see us or give us a call.
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie (east of Union) 532-6555

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS

Need some
Extra Cash
It's quick.
It's easy.
You can earn $80 a week, just by donating plasma. Ask our friendly staff for details.
Manhattan Biomedical Center
NABI
776-9177
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.
1130 Gardenway

020

Lost and Found

Found ads can be placed free for three days.

BIKE MITTEN found in Kedzie restroom Jan. 16. Claim in 103 Kedzie.

030

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

DEBORAH FROM Wakeeney (studying Criminal Justice), thank you, to you and your friends for buying me the Beck's at Last Chance on Monday 12/17 and for listening to an "old" Wildcat reminisce. Good luck in your internship in Junction City. Paul/ Jerz (the Arbitrator from Rochester, NY).

040

Meetings/ Events

CLERGY ABUSE Support Group for women who have experienced clergy abuse. Confidential! For more information call Ann 537-3936 or Adene 776-6884.

100
HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

ABSOLUTELY THE best three of four-bedroom deal you'll find. One block from campus. Washer/ dryer etc. 539-9345.

CONVENIENT BASEMENT one-bedroom apartment on quiet street very near campus. Washer, dryer, comfy, $275, day 532-4964. Eve 539-3134.

NEXT TO campus: one-bedroom in very nice complex. Sublease rate. 539-2702 call/ message.

NICE, LARGE, one-bedroom apartment, near KSU, 1531 Leavenworth, $275 includes heat, water and trash, 537-4977.

ONE-BEDROOM. ONE block to campus. Washer and dryer. 537-4947 after 6p.m.

TWO-BEDROOM, ONE block east of campus. 539-6236.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

Leasing Now For August
- Fremont Apts
- Sandstone Apts
- College Heights
- Cambridge Square

Large 2-bedroom Units.
537-9064
Weekdays:
8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Sat. 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

814 THURSTON studio apartment water/ trash paid. No pets, available now, five month or more lease, $275. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE NOW. 915 Claflin, three-bedroom apartment heat, water, trash paid. Newly redecorated. No pets. $525. Call 539-3085.

AVAILABLE NOW. Leases through May. Rent negotiable. Most utilities paid. Cat ok. 537-8389, leave message please- will call as soon as possible.

AVAILABLE NOW: one-bedroom apt in quiet six-plex, adjacent to west campus. Central air and heat, appliances, private parking. Water and trash paid. No pets. $320/ month. Please call 532-7569 between 8-5p.m. or leave message.

GOLD KEY apartments, two-bedroom available now, 1419 Leavenworth, $510. Water and trash paid. Stove, refrigerator, washer and dryer provided. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom. Close to campus and City Park. $475/ month. Available immediately. 776-1771, Elaine.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, large, clean, dishwasher, pool, in a quiet complex, $370. 539-2649.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT two-bedroom basement by campus. 537-9188. Lease until July 97 on.

ONE-BEDROOM WITH study in Aggieville available now, 1130 Fremont, $275. Water and trash paid. Stove and refrigerator. Lawn care provided. Cats okay. Call MDI 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM. CLOSE to campus. Water, trash, gas paid. No pets. Available. 539-1975.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS leasing one, two and three-bedroom apartments. Two pools, hot tub, horseshoes, volleyball. 539-2951.

PARKVIEW APARTMENT, two-bedroom available in February, 1026 Osage, $460. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher. On-site laundry and parking. Bedrooms have built-in student desks. No pets. Walk to KSU. Call MDI 776-3804.

ROYAL TOWER Apartments, four-bedroom/ two bath available in February, $860. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances with dishwasher and microwave. Fitness room, jacuzzi, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

STUDIO APARTMENT, one block from campus. (913)494-2240.

STUDIO APARTMENT. $215. All utilities except electricity paid. Lease and deposit required. Available now 537-7794.

THREE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, $395. Available now. 539-2450.

TWO AND Three-bedroom apartments. Close to campus. 539-1713

TWO-BEDROOM $285. No smoking. No pets. 537-4016.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, lower level, new carpet, large and in a quiet complex, $400. 539-2649.

TWO-BEDROOM DUPLEX 2627 Claflin. Inspected and approved by code service section of Manhattan Fire services. No pets. Available, 539-3524.

TWO-BEDROOM HOUSE, Feb. 1. Two blocks from campus, nice, hardwood floors, storage. $500 month. 537-2968, leave message.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now, 1807 College Heights, $410. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now , 1854 Claflin, $365. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. Yes, cats are welcome. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now and February, 925 Denison, $410. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking. Newly remolded kithcens. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now and February, 1722 Laramie, $385. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking, walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

115

Rooms Available

ONE-BEDROOM, TWO blocks from campus. Freshly redecorated. Washer/ dryer. 776-4130.

120

For Rent- Houses

FOUR TO five-bedroom house available June 1. One block to KSU, 539-1713.

ONE, TWO, three-bedroom for non-smoking, non-drinking, no pets. 539-1554.

ONE-BEDROOM HOUSE. Two blocks from campus. No pets. $350. Desperate to rent. Available now! 565-0797.

SEVEN-BEDROOM HOUSE. Close to KSU. 539-1713.

TWO BLOCKS from campus. Three-bedroom, eat-in kitchen, living room, dining area, freshly redecorated, washer/ dryer. Second semester bargin. $600/ month. 776-4130.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT new bath and kitchen, washer/ dryer. Near city park. $350 plus deposit, 539-1145.

TWO-BEDROOM, VERY nice in Manhattan. Carpet, storage shed, cnetral air and heat, carpets, no pets. (913)238-2963.

130

For Rent- Mobile Homes

NICE, CLEAN, two-bedroom trailer near Manhattan. Call after 5p.m. (913)456-2325.

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

14X 70 Windsor. Two-bedrooms central air, all appliances, $10,500. 587-0119.

1984 MOBILE home in Redbud estates; three-bedroom, two bath; all appliances include dishwasher, washer/ dryer; $12,000 negotiable; 537-7526.

145

Roommate Wanted

$175/ MONTH plus one-half utilities. Own room in two-bedroom duplex. Available beginning January 1. 719 Leavenworth, 537-8651, leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE lease through July. West Chester Apartments 537-8423 or (913)451-0567.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for spring semester. Own bedroom, lots of closet and storage space. Close to campus (1850 Claflin) $230 plus one-third utilities January paid. Call 565-0160.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share four-bedroom apartment. Near campus. Call 539-9165.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed immediately to share two-bedroom apartment. One-half block east of campus. Washer/ dryer. Call 587-4159. Leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE nonsmoker for two-bedroom mobile home. $175 plus one-half KPL. Cable, water and trash paid. 587-0157

FEMALE ROOMMATE, share four-bedroom, $209/ month, one-fourth utilities, GREAT ROOMMATES! 537-6291.

FEMALE ROOMMATE. Nice four-bedroom, one one-half bathroom house with washer/ dryer, $225. 776-0441

MALE ROOMMATE needed to take over lease for furnished apartment. One block from campus. $240 plus utilities. 565-9070.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Very nice two-bedroom apartment next to campus. Reasonable price, trash/ water paid. Available immediately. No smoking/ drinking/ pets. 565-9250 (Leave message).

MALE ROOMMATES wanted: nice clean spacious house for rent. One block from campus. $185/ month. Call 587-9052.

MALE STUDENTS needed to complete four-bedroom house, $200 each plus deposit. Located near campus. 776-1196.

MALE WANTED for furnished basement. No smoking/ drinking/ pets, please. Walk to KSU. 539-1554.

MALE/ FEMALE roommate needed to share four-bedroom, two bath house near campus. Central air, washer/ dryer, dishwasher, $212.50/ month. All bills split. 530 Bluemont. Call Briana, (816)455-6542.

NON-SMOKER TO share furnished two-bedroom apartment. $255 plus half utilities. Very close to campus. 1215 Bertrand. Call 539-8636.

ROOM FOR rent with own bathroom. 10 minute from campus in a brand new home room can be furnished if needed. $250 all bills paid. Smoking ok. (913)494-8791.

ROOMMATE FOR three-bedroom apartment across from campus. $230/ month. contact Niki, 537-2098.

ROOMMATE NEEDED as soon as possible. Woodway Apartments, four-bedroom, two bath. $204/ month plus one-fourth utilities. 537-4732.

ROOMMATE NEEDED at 1230 Vattier- directly across from campus. Private bedroom, washer/ dryer, fireplace. $155 per month plus utilities, 539-1269.

ROOMMATE NEEDED at 824 Laramie. Private bedroom, washer, dryer provided. $185 per month plus utilities. 587-8338.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share two-bedroom apartment. Washer/ dryer. Cats allowed, rent negotiable. Call Rhonda at 776-2788 or 537-3819.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share nice two-bedroom mobile home in Redbud Estates. Call Guy at 539-3503, 587-5711 or e-mail at graffix@kansas.net

ROOMMATE TO share three-bedroom house three blocks from campus. Close to campus and Aggieville. $275, all utilities paid. Cable. Washer/ dryer. Joanna or Jen. 776-9548. February rent free.

ROOMMATE WANTED. $188.33/ month, gas paid, 587-0889 ask for Rich. Close to campus.

ROOMMATE WANTED for farmhouse. Good, quiet location on all-weather road with horse facilities. $140/ month plus utilities, 539-2029.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share three-bedroom house. $250/ month plus one-half utilities. Washer/ dryer. Pets allowed. Fenced yard. Carrie 776-6563.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, close to campus and Aggieville, 822 fremont, 3rd floor, $150/ month , water and trash paid, 537-7087.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, furnished, close to campus, rent $274.50 plus KPL. Call 776-7457 or (913)367-6097 collect.

TWO-BEDROOM IN fully furnished house for females. All bills paid. Walking distance to campus. 539-6098.

150

Sublease

$140/ MONTH. One-bedroom available in large four-bedroom house. Near campus plus the 'Ville. 539-7674.

$295 PLUS utilities. Charming one-bedroom cottage duplex available now. Parking and laundry facilities included. Near campus/ Aggieville. 719 Leavenworth. 537-8651.

$350 PLUS gas/ electric. One-bedroom. Spacious apartment three blocks west of campus. Parking and laundry. 537-8651.

AVAILABLE NOW! Female roommate needed to share two-bedroom apartment at Westchester Park. $244.50/ month plus one-half electricty. Call 776-8707 or 537-4666 Ext. 23. Ask for Joann.

HALF BLOCK from campus! Available now. female roommate needed for three-bedroom house. Completely furnished. 776-0604 or 587-9309.

HELP! FEMALE roommate needed immediately for large two-bedroom at Chase Manhattan. Large room with walk-in closet. Great first floor location, large patio faces pool and basketball court. Paid water and trash, cheap on-site laundry facilities. Cheap cable, $275/ month plus utilities, call Carolynn at 565-0613 to come and see.

ONE-BEDROOM ONE block from campus. Abailable immediately. Wildcat Mangement 537-2332.

ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO for sublease now until August. Rent is $200. Water, trash , electric paid. Call 539-4174 or (316)231-6854.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Own room with own bath and outside entry. Near campus and Aggieville $240/ month. No smokers. 565-0324.

TWO ROOMS available in four-bedroom townhouse, no pets, washer/ dryer, all appliances, garage. Very nice, 3303 Abbey Circle. Call 587-8498 or 539-6358 to see.

200
SERVICE DIRECTORY

235

Child Care

NEW REGISTERED day-care now enrolling infants. If your in need of loving care please call 776-1596. ask for Sandy.

300
EMPLOYMENT/CAREERS

310

Help Wanted

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. No experience required. Begin now. For info call (301)429-1326.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 537-0056.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$$$$ JOBS FOR SPRING SEMESTER $$$$ Need a good job and want the convenience, safety, and friendships a campus job offers! Apply now for a position in the residence hall dining centers. Class schedules and your preference for number of hours you wish to work are considered. Jobs available in Customer Service, Custodial/ Dishroom, and Production. Entry level pay is $4.90 per hour and raises are scheduled. Pick up a job application at: Derby dining Center, Secretary's office, room 129. Kramer Dining Center, Secretary's office, room 106. Van Zile dining Center, Secretary's office, room 111.

A GRAPHIC designer/ illustrator with computer access. Freelance employment. Flexible hours. Must have portfolio. Contact Eric at Office of Community Health 532-7750 or email: ezoller@oz.oznet.ksu.edu

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT -Fishing industry. Many earn up to $4000+/ month during peak season. Benefits often include transportation and/ or room and Board. For details: (206) 971-3510 ext-A57688.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn extra cash stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Send SASE to Midwest Distributors P.O. Box 624, Olathe, KS 66051. Immediate Response.

CAMP COUNSELORS for educational camp south of Kansas City. Can lead fishing, canoeing, crafts, games, and many more activities while teaching children 8- 14 about the outdoors. Lifeguard helpful. June 7- August 10. Must be sophomore or older. $1600 plus room and board. For details, send inquiry before February 7, 1997 to Wildwood, 7095 W. 399th St., LaCygne, KS 66040.

CHELEY COLORADO Camps in the Rocky Mountains near Estes Park is hiring enthusiastic individuals to work with campers ages 9-17. Cooks/ dishwashers, Unit diresctors, drivers, office personnel, RNs, wranglers; Counselors with skills in horseback riding, mountain biking, climbing wall, challenge course, camping, sports, crafts, song leading, archery, or riflery. Room/ board, salary, travel allowance. Must be at least a sophomore and able to work June 9- August 12, 1997. On-campus interviews. For information, please contact Cheley Colorado Camps at (800)226-7386.

CRUISE LINE positions! Up to $2,500 plus/ month. No experience necessary. Seasonal or full-time. current hiring details: (604) 878-9777 (24hrs.)

CRUISE SHIP EMPLOYMENT -Travel the world (Hawaii, Mexico, Caribbean) and earn an excellent income in the Cruise and Land- Tour industry. For details, call 1-206-971-3550 ext.C57689.

EARN $427 plus a week at home! Write for application: Generations, Dept. KSU, P.O. Box 13486, Atlanta, GA 300324, Genmarker@aol.com

EVENING AND WEEKEND CLASSES in hair design, ethnic hair design and nail technology. Start Feb. 4. Thousands in scholarships plus financial aid available. Free info. Call Crum's Beauty College @ 776-4794.

FONE CRISIS Center. Two-three staff positions available. Must be able to work evenings and weekends. Applications available at SGA in Student Union. 537-0999.

GRAPHIC ARTIST to work 10- 20 hours per week on campus. Interested in students majoring in this field of study. Please send resume to Box 2 c/oCollegian.

HELP WANTED: Earn up to $500 per week assembling products at home. No experience. INFO (504)646-1700 DEPT. KS-6438

HIRING IMMEDIATELY! Student needed for part-time work demostrating Avery Dennison products on campus. Must be familiar with Miscrosoft Word, and willing to use own personal computer, with Windows software $10.00 per hour. Contact Lex Deines at 800-569-6461.

HORTICULTURAL SERVICES Inc., is seeking reliable individuals for full or part-time employment at our retail Garden Center. Sales experience and plant knowledge preferred. Above average wages and benefits. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (913)494-2418 or (913)776-0397.

HORTICULTURAL SERVICES Inc. is seeking reliable individuals for full or part time employment for our production, landscape and irrigation operations. Farm or landscape experience preferred. Above average wages and benefits. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (913)776-0397 or (913)776-0397.

LUNCHROOM/ PLAYGROUND Supervisors- needed immediately for the rest of the 1996-97 school term. $4.75 per hour one and one-half to two hours per day. 11:00a.m.- 1:00p.m. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz Ave., Manhattan, KS 587-2000. EOE.

MARKET INTERNSHIP available: Graphic Images Incorporated has several paid marketing internships, available to students who are currently involved with the fraternity and sorority system. Please contact our office between hours of 9a.m. to 5p.m. to schedule an interview (800)946-2434 ask for Steve Ray.

MEDICAL TRANSCRIPTIONIST for pathology laboratory. Ideal part-time position. Early evenings. Previous transcription experience preferred. Contact Pam as soon as possible at 539-5363 or bring resume or application to Petterson Clinical Laboratory at 1133 College Avenue, Building B, Manhattan, KS 66503. Equal Opportunity Employer.

ACCENT
Sales Reps-Immediate opening at your University. Offering exceptional pay and very flexible hours. Call Accent Screen Printing 1-800-243-7941

NATIONAL PARK EMPLOYMENT -National Parks hire forestry workers, park rangers, firefighters, lifeguards, + volunteer and government positions. Excellent benefits + bonus potential. Call: 1-206-971-3620 ext.N57689.

PHOTOGRAPHER NEEDED to photo shoot special events on campus. Work hours vary according to event to cover. Please send resume to Box 3, c/oCollegian.

SALES CLERK to work 10-15 hours per week. Must be available mornings and weekends. Accepting applications until 1-29-97. Wildcat Spirit, 716 N. Manhattan Ave.

CAMP TAKAJO
for boys,
Outstanding Maine camp noted for magnificent lakefront setting and exceptional facilities. Over 100 positions for heads and assistants in tennis, baseball, basketball, soccer, lacrosse, golf, street hockey, roller hockey, swimming, sailing, canoeing, waterskiing, SCUBA, archery, riflery, weight training, journalism, photography, videography, woodworking, ceramics, crafts, drawing and painting, nature study, radio and electronics, dramatics, piano accompanist, music instrumentalist, band director, backpacking, rock climbing, whitewater canoeing, ropes course, general (w/ youngest campers), secretarial. June 16 - August 24. Top salaries, room and board, travel provided. Call 800-250-8252. Or WRITE Camp Takajo c/o Mike Sherburn 7366 Cascade Terrace Grand Rapids MI 49546. Or FAX resume to 616-954-2950. A camp representative will be in Union Room 207 Wed., Feb. 5 from 10am-4pm. Walk-ins are welcomed!

SILVERADO SALOON is now hiring bartenders, waitstaff and DJ's. Apply at 531 N. Manhattan, Tuesday through Saturday 6p.m.-2a.m..

STUDENT DISPATCH/ Control Clerk: Work 15- 30 hours per week. Must be willing to work summer and during school breaks. Job involves working with mainframe computer users and delivering printouts across campus. Applicants with two or more years employment potential will be given preference. Applications can be picked-up in Farrell Library, Room 2B. Applications accepted until 5 p.m., January 27, 1997.

SUMMER CAMP JOBS in Northeast. For free list, send self-addressed stamped envelope: Camps, 1785 Red Coat, Maryland Hgts, MO 63043.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT position available for K-State student with a variety of skills. Must have good interpersonal and problem solving skills. Experience with PC's and popular software packages such as WordPerfect, QuattroPro and Windows applications desired. Must have understanding of MS-DOS and Windows. Network experience preferred. Application available/ accepted through Friday, January 31, 1997, in 211 Umborger Hall. (Department of Communications, Information and Education Technology.)

TUTORS NEEDED for Managerial Reporting, Taxation, Accounting Research, Accounting for Non-Profit, Quantative Management, Intro. to Finance, US Politics. Graduate students should not have assistantships. Must have taken course and achieved an A/B. Salary based on experience. Contact Educational Supportive Services, Holton 201, 532-5642.

WAITRESSES NEEDED. Apply in person at Rusty's 1213 Moro.

WANTED 100 students. Lose 5- 100 pounds. New metabolism breakthrough. RN assisted, free gift. $35 fee. (800)579-1634.

WANTED FREELANCE Artist Sampler Stores is seeking talented artist to design both serious and hurmurous full chest and left pocket designs for t-shirts and sweat shirts. Using a KSU, Wildcats, "Kansas", Wizard of Oz, sunflower, wheat or similar theme. Embroidered and silk screen designs are wanted. Please call 432-3355 10a.m. to 5p.m. or leave a message on our voice mail, 381-0185.

WANTED: FULL or part-time farm help. Skills in construction, machine repair, welding or equipment operation. (913)457-3440.

ZAP YOUR ZITS. Have the complexion you've always wanted! New Bio-Tech program. No animal ingredients or testing. Guaranteed results. 539-7336.

330

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

WORK FROM home. Twenty second commute! Serious income potential working from home. We provide training and support via revolutionary system. Call (toll free) 1-888-444-6242 for overview. Then call us live at 776-5429.

400
OPEN MARKET

410

Items for Sale

BEER SIGNS, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, antiques, collectibles, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

BROTHER WORD Processor. Disk access, monitor, example files. $150 or best offer. 537-2090.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit $14.95. See ALL the channels (313)523-2769.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY Sale for Cash Pawn and Gun. Selling cd's $2 and $3 each. Movies for $4 each. Cassette tapes for $0.75 each. Sega and Super NES Systems for$49.00. 10% off all Spiderco knives. 20% off a large selection of items store wide. Lowest priced guns and jewelry. We buy sell and trade. Have money to loan. 1917 Fort Riley Blvd., 776-3332.

BUY SELL TRADE
Video Games
& Computer CD Roms
PLAYSTATION, SEGA, NINTENDO, ETC.
GAME GUY
709 N. 12th
Aggieville
537-0989
www.flinthills.com/-gameguy

FOOSBALL TABLE $175, 565-9248.

FOR SALE: Radio Shack power graphic EC-4034 scientific calculator with manual. $50 or best offer. (913)456-2133.

GALAGA ARCADE machine. 537-0474.

HOME STEREO System: receiver, cassette, CD player, equalizers, speakers. 10-inch table saw, heavy-duty weight-lifting bench, attachments, Logitech Mouse, 537-4512.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

DRESSER WITH mirror, nightstand, headboard and bed frame set, $60. Coffee table and end tables, set $20. Large study table with four chairs, set $50. Call 776-1902.

MUST SELL matching sofa and love seat, bed, microwave, rug, chair, dining room table. 537-2968 leave message.

SOFA PULL out and two twin beds $75 each, 537-8654.

420

Garage/Yard Sales

INDOOR GARAGE sale. TV $50, dining table $200, VCR $75, sofa $125, chairs $40, rockers $30, washer/ dryer. (913)784-5650

430

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Flea Market 7000 square feet, 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

435

Computers

386- 25MHZ, 120 meg HD, five and one-fourth to three and one-half floppy, DOS 5.0, Win 3.1. 537-1797

486 PACKARD Bell computer. 8 Meg Ram. MS Office and Windows '95. Call . $750. 565-0509. Call after 5.

486DX50 8 MEG RAM, 340 meg HD, 5V6A monitor, keyboard, mouse 586, 133MHZ with CPU, 16 meg RAM. Kevin, 537-1863.

I MUST sell my computers 486 $450, 486 $550, 386 $350, 286 laptop $250, printers $40 and $80. 784-5650

INTERKAN.NET: MANHATTAN'S newest Internet Service Provider. Free setup software. Monthly rates: 10 hours @ $5, 30 hours @ $7.50, 90 hours @ $10, 200 hours @ $17.50. http://www.interkan.net or 565-0991.

MUST SELL laptop portable computer, sharp 5740, 6.20 DOS, 120MB hard drive, 256K video memory, excellent carrying case. Machine at 539-9238.

445

Music Instruments

EMERALD GREEN IBANEZ SR500 Bass with acitve pickups. Crate BX-15 Amp. 25-foot Spectraflex cables. Hardshell case. Yamaha YT-1200 Electronic tuner. Seiko DM-10 digital Metranome. Lizard guitar strap. Ultimate guitar stand. Bass Basics 1 & 2 on VHS. 11 Instructional manuals with CD's. Stack of Guitar World magazines with Bass Tab. Asking $600 for everything. Call Kelly at 539-8379 and leave message or email me at alram@ksu.edu

WELCOME BACK to The Music Co.! Best prices on new and used instruments and accessories. No pressure sales, we try to get what you need. Straight down 17th st from K-state Union, in the Midtown Plaza, 539-1958.

450

Pets and Supplies

AKC YELLOW labs, shots and warmed, ready for loving home. Call 776-8237 or weekends (913)584-6626.

460

Stereo Equipment

FOR SALE: Sanyo portable CD player. New car kit, adapters, headphones! 490 or best offer. Call 537-2531 and leave message.

INFINITY HOME theater subwoofer. Dual six and one-half 300 Watts RMS. Has satellite speaker inputs. Excellent condition. $210 Negotiable leave message. Ryan 537-9513.

500
TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1982 CHEVY Citation. Good condition, 537-3267.

1985 LTD II wagon 30K on factory motor, auto, air-conditioned, cruise. $1100. 539-4069, call after 7p.m.

1986 HONDA Civic, five-speed, lots of new parts, $1800. 1983 Toyota Corolla automatic high miles runs great, $800. 532-7855 leave message.

1988 BERETTA GT 2.8L, V-6, five-speed, tilt, cruise, power windows, power locks, looks and runs good. Evenings 776-2073.

1989 ESCORT GT loaded, five-speed, cruise, air-conditioned. $2500. 539-4069 after 7p.m.

1990 FORD F150 XLT Lariat PU, five-speed, low miles, like new, $7,700. 776-9597.

1994 MAZDA Navajo LX, automatic, four-wheel drive in excellent condition. Power doors, windows, locks, power leather seats, sunroof, AM/FM cassette. Asking $16,800 or best offer. Owner must sell. 776-7025.

MERCURY LYNX 1985 white, automatic, air-conditioned, 89,000 miles, $1100. Astro Van 1985, seven passengers, automatic, air-conditioned, new tires, cruise control $2200, 539-7508.

OLDSMOBILE, TORONADO 1984, 108K miles, many options, very nice car, $2775 or best offer. Must sell. 587-0121.

520

Bicycles

CANNONDALE TOURING bicycle. Excellent condition. Hardly used. $325. Call Rob: 532-6137 work; 776-6849 home.

530

Motorcycles

750 KAWASAKII Vulcan. V-twin, four-stroke, shaft driven, liquid cooled, very fast, 11,000 miles, looks great, runs even better. $3500 or best offer. 776-1081.

600
TRAVEL/TRIPS

610

Tour Package

30 SHOPPING DAYS LEFT! Now is the time to guarantee the lowest rates and best hotels for spring break. Leisure tours has packages to South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica and Florida. (800)838-8203.

CANCUN- PADRE- MAZATLAN SPRING BREAK'S HOTTEST! 1-800-328-7513 Free food, drink and party special!?! Up To $200 discount Coupons off our Website www.studentadvtrav.com.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
Advertising • 532-6560

Red Cross volunteer learns to touch base with reality

Story continues from Page 1

A junior enrolled in 12 hours, Alanna Engelken works part time at Farrell Library and spends her Wednesday afternoons visiting Ellen, a woman at the Meadowlark Hills Retirement Community. This is in addition to volunteering at the American Red Cross on Fridays.

Engelken is a nontraditional student in social work from Sabetha. She began volunteering for the Red Cross a month ago.

"I really, really do like it. It gives me both aspects of social work — the paperwork and the dealing with people," Engelken said. "They tell you in class that there was going to be lots of paperwork. It's definitely lived up to its expectations and then some."

Activities Engelken has been involved with include CPR, First Aid, Services to the Armed Forces and Disaster Services, Rick Bowles, director of program and services at the Red Cross, said.

"I think she's been excellent. She's been willing to do anything we ask, from computer entry to clipping articles. She's been very helpful," Bowles said.

The American Red Cross is an organization that provides various services to the community. It provides assistance ranging from disaster relief to the annual blood drive to swimming and lifeguarding classes through UFM.

However, the main service it provides is financial assistance to help those in need pay for their KPL Gas Service bills, Engelken said.

There are around 30 requests for KPL assistance per week, excluding telephone requests, Bowles said.

"Everyone has a stereotype of those who come in to ask for money," said Engelken. "It (volunteering) really touches base with reality. It's not what people think. It's not people from the streets. It's those who got a little less on their last check than they expected."

Residents who ask for assistance fill out a form at KPL. KPL then informs the Red Cross of those in need, Engelken said. The Red Cross sends the money, a maximum of $30, directly to KPL.

Engelken has found that social work is more difficult than people perceive.

"It is harder than what people say it's going to be. But I like helping people, and I like the experience," she said.

Volunteers have to be people who are outgoing and able to act on their own — people who want to help.

"The Red Cross is always in need of volunteers," Bowles said.

Interested students can call the local American Red Cross at 537-2180.

DIVERSITY

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

instead of a semester as a pledge, he said.

"There is one week of orientation before school starts, and then everyone is on equal standing," Ryan Norman, senior in pre-med, said.

There are three paid positions available in the house — house manager, kitchen manager and treasurer. The managers are responsible for overseeing duties of everyone in the house and making sure bills are paid. Duties might include cleaning the living room or kitchen, or actually cooking dinner.

Smith is a non-profit organization, and the property is owned by the KSU Foundation. The Smith program is administered by Smith alumni who donate to the house through the Foundation on a regular basis.

Shanley, the executive director, acts as a liaison between the current Smith residents and the alumni. Shanley is in her first year as director. Similar to the students' paid positions, she works a 10-month appointment.

Shanley and the residents resist her being called a housemom.

"The men don't like me to be called a houseparent, because they are grown ups," she said. "We do try to respect their autonomy here. But living in any residential structure there has to be one responsible party, and that falls to me."

Shanley lives in an apartment in Smith, and the apartment is part of her salary. Though she does live in the house, she is not a voting member.

Smith residents said they had heard there might be a stereotype of them because it is a scholarship house.

"A lot of my friends back home, I tell them I live in Smith and they say, 'What's that? A bunch of brainiac nerds?'" Popp said. "But after many of my friends have come and spent time here, they're like, 'This is a really nice house.' And they wish they would have known about it."

The support network is the most important thing to the Bakers.

"Here, I think I can find some guys I can really connect with," Shane Baker said.

File your taxes by phone

With Kansas Telefile, many people can now file their Kansas taxes by phone – in about 10 minutes.

Just fill out the simple Telefile worksheet in your 1996 Kansas Income Tax booklet, call the 800 number, follow the easy step-by-step instructions, and your tax or refund is figured right there on the phone – free. No tax tables. No hassle. And you'll get your refund faster, too.

If you didn't receive a 1996 Kansas Income Tax booklet, pick one up at the post office, library or in many grocery stores.

This year, file your Kansas taxes the fast and easy way – with Kansas Telefile.

Kansas Telefile

Easy. Does it.

Telefile worksheet available at www.ink.org/public/kdor

Stay in Class!!

UNIVERSITY COMMONS

Now leasing!

Brand New!

FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL NOW! (539-0500)

FEATURING:

- Private bedrooms
- Individual leases
- Computer lab
- Alarm systems
- Reserved parking
- Fully equipped kitchen
- Washer & dryer
- Fitness center/Rec room
- Swimming pool

UNIVERSITY COMMONS APARTMENTS
2215 COLLEGE AVE

WITH LOCATIONS AT: UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA, LSU, TEXAS A&M, UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH CAROLINA, UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA, UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA, OLE MISS, MIAMI OF OHIO, MISSISSIPPI STATE, PENN. STATE, FLORIDA STATE, UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY & KANSAS STATE

Exp. Date 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

JANUARY 24, 1997
FRIDAY

HIGH 29
LOW 15
Chilly and rain possible. Weekend sees a warming trend with highs reaching 50 by Sunday.

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN
MANHATTAN, KS 66506
VOL. 101 NO. 80

NEWSROOM 532-6556
DISPLAY ADVERTISING 532-6560
CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555
e-mail (collegn@ksu.edu)
http://collegian.ksu.edu

THE BIG FOOTBALL MATCH-UP TAKES IT TO THE BIG EASY

▶ Look for in-depth coverage and columns regarding this year's big grid-iron match-up. It's the Packers up against the Patriots.

See SUPER BOWL page 5

ETC.

In today's paper
Briefs 2
Sports 8
In Monday's paper
Get your Super Bowl post-game coverage.

MATERIAL GIRL CROSSES THE BORDERLINE FOR 'EVITA'

▶ Even though 'Evita' has won numerous Golden Globes, Madonna's musical movie faces big box office competition.

See IMPULSE page 9

Atlanta police chief emphasizes America's need for diversity, peace

▶ CONVOCATION LECTURE POINTS out how MLK's dream for universal brotherhood can become reality.

CORY MORGAN
staff reporter

America needs diversity to be successful Atlanta Police Chief said in the Convocation Lecture Thursday in McCain Auditorium.

"It's important that we keep speaking the themes and messages of Dr. King, since we are still in violent times," Beverly Harvard, Atlanta Police Chief, said. "It is time to speak out and relate to non-violence as we approach social change. His dreams have not been totally realized."

Harvard is the first African American woman to be in charge of a large police department in the United States and is responsible for the overall operation of the largest municipal law-enforcement agency in Georgia.

She began her law-enforcement career in 1974 as a patrol officer but has since climbed the ladder.

She served as executive protection officer, affirmative action specialist, director of public affairs and deputy chief for the department's career development, criminal investigations and administrative services divisions. She has been the chief of police since October 1994.

She started her lecture by quoting Martin Luther King Jr.

"I refuse to accept the view that the daybreak of peace and universal brotherhood cannot become reality," she said.

Individuals need to protect themselves and others from terrorism and protect the United States so that our children will be able to grow up in a more diverse society, Harvard said.

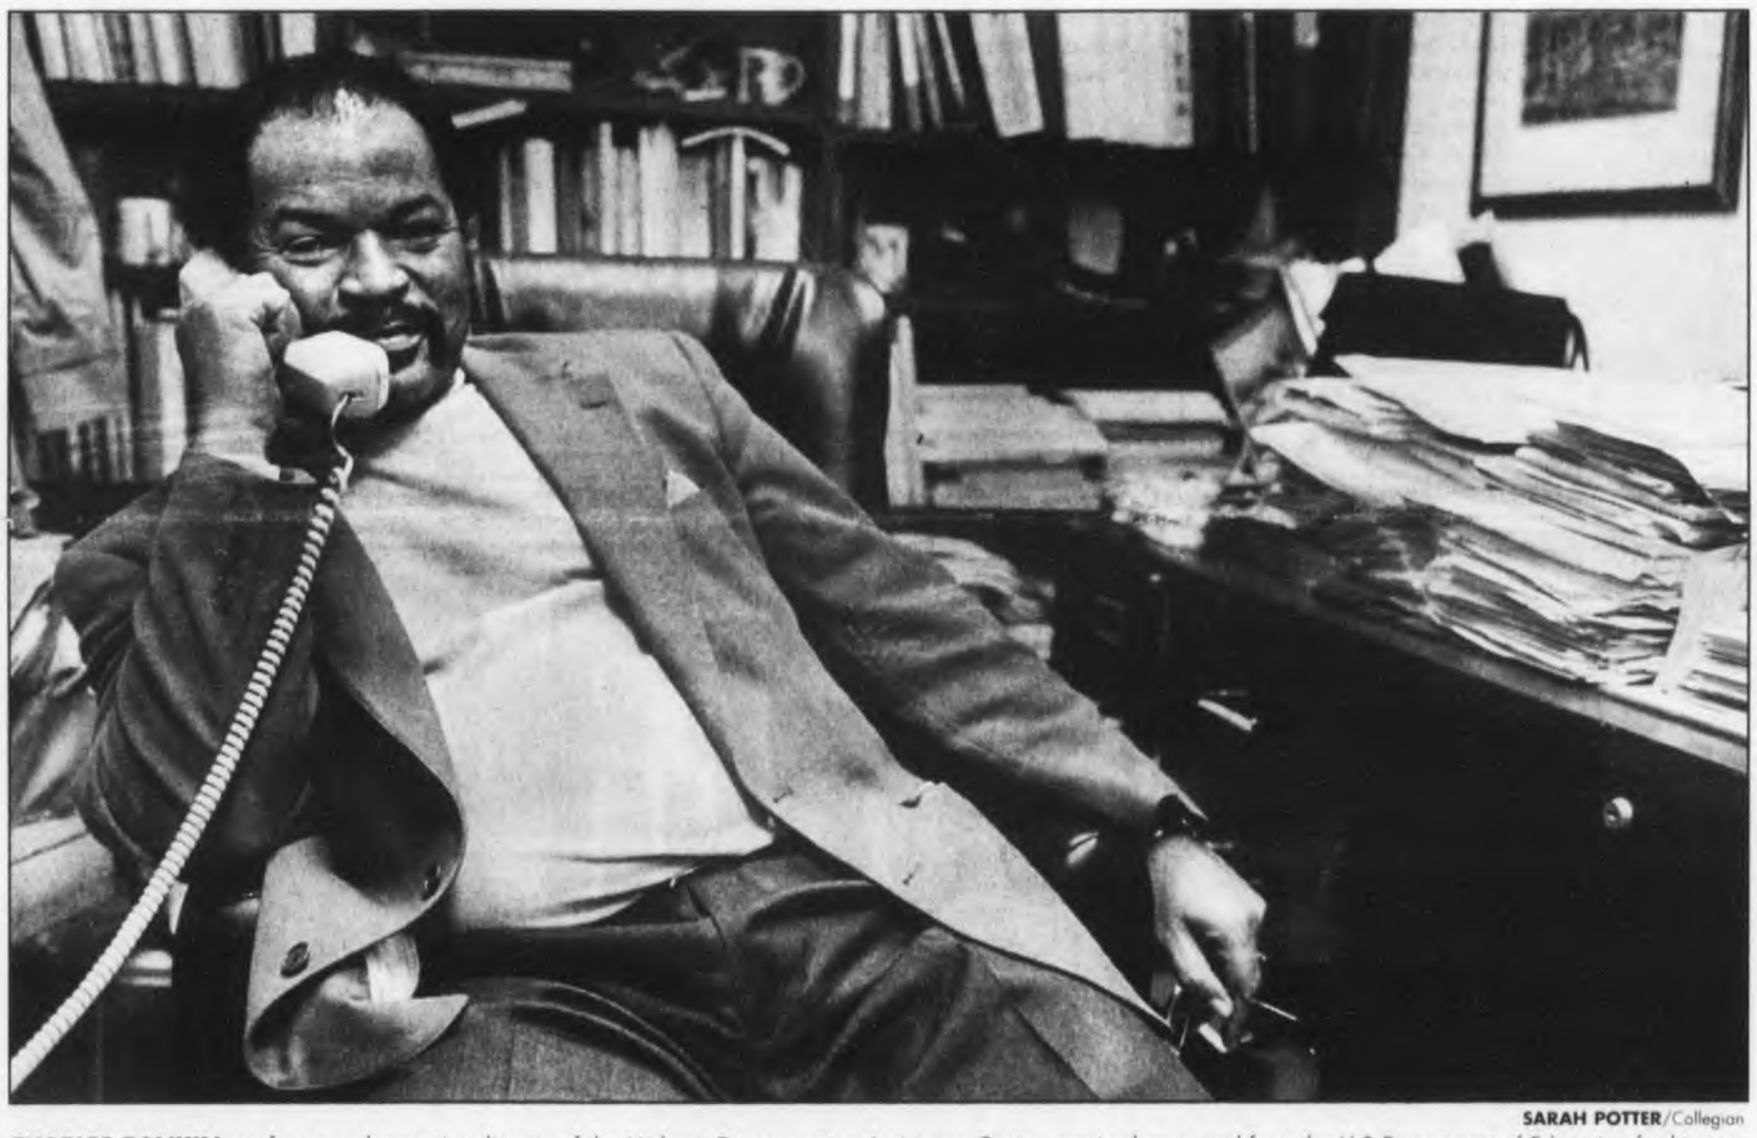
Martin Luther King Jr. not only survived his efforts, but he was a leader and achieved what he could to the maximum level of his ability, she said. He not only lived for himself, but he lived his life for the children of our nation not even born yet.

Our nation is successful because Martin Luther King Jr. took matters into his own hands and risked his life for what he believed in, Harvard said. He worked for the success of not only himself but also for others.

She then said examples of past dates in history that have changed the outlook of our country and cited two cases, the 1954 Brown v. Topeka Board of Education and the 1955 Montgomery Bus Boycott.

Today, 31 years later, she said the United States is faced with poverty, drugs and crime, and is a nation struggling to come together. However, society's leaders are still young and have a lot of potential.

Harvard then said our country needs to build bridges between individuals and strive to achieve what is best for our nation. She said this will take personal involvement.



Harvard said the values and morals of our society are extremely important, and should relate to the

See LECTURE, Page 12

BEVERLY HARVARD, chief of police in Atlanta, speaks to a crowd at McCain Auditorium Thursday as part of the Martin Luther King Jr. All-University Convocation Lecture.

CLIF PALMBERG
Collegian

SARAH POTTER/Collegian

CHARLES RANKIN, professor and executive director of the Midwest Desegregation Assistance Center, received an award from the U.S Department of Education for his contributions to the desegregation of public schools.

TRANSFORMATIONS

professor wins award for working toward desegregation

CLAUDETTE RILEY
news editor

Nearly 43 years after Brown v. Topeka Board of Education outlawed segregation, a professor of foundation and adult education continues the mission of equality and integration.

Charles Rankin, professor and executive director of the Midwest Desegregation Assistance Center, was honored with a U.S. Department of Education Distinguished Service award for outstanding contributions to the desegregation of public schools on Jan. 6.

"The award is nice. It means people appreciate what you are attempting to do," he said. "This is not just a job. It's a mission, and it's a hard mission. People build walls, but we're making progress."

Rankin became director of the Midwest Desegregation Assistance Center in 1973 at the University of Missouri-Columbia. He moved to K-State with the center five years later.

The Midwest Center, one of 10 regional equity-assistance centers in the country, is a federally funded service organization supporting school desegregation efforts in more than 2,200 school districts throughout Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and Iowa.

Services include workshops, seminars, conferences, in-service training, technical assistance and information dissemination on issues involving sexual, racial and national-origin discrimination. The goal is to promote equal educational opportunities for all students.

The center will work to meet the needs or concerns of the individual school district by developing strategies to target at-risk students. They also provide information to increase awareness of diverse teaching and learning styles and coordinate strategies to resolve conflicts.

Although Rankin has seen progress, he said educators are constantly combatting negative stereotypes on behalf of equality.

"I think one of the things Americans are learning, slowly, is that if you do something to help the minority students, you are also doing something to help the majority," he said. "When you do something that benefits the least fortunate you are in turn helping everyone."

Rankin said he has experienced hatred and discrimination from others but continues to believe America will live up to the Constitution.

"I really thought I wouldn't be doing this any longer than five years," he said. "I really didn't think people could dislike each other that much."

He said increasing contact and positive experiences with minorities is a powerful tool in bringing about change. Rankin said he believes those changes begin with education.

"The benefit of this program being here is that we're trying to work ourselves out of a job," Rankin said.

"K-State trains teachers, and we're helping to educate educators. If we can get to them before they leave then they can take along the message," he said.

The center is on the fourth floor of Bluemont. Rankin said he has seen progress toward diversity even on the K-State campus.

"President Wefald has made a tremendous, concerted effort to diversify the teaching faculty at K-State," Rankin said.

Camille Barnett, program planner at Midwest Desegregation Assistance Center, has worked with Rankin for 16 years.

"We came about, originally, to help the school systems with desegregation. We didn't know then all the issues that would entail," Barnett said. "The issues of race, gender and

See TRANSFORM, Page 12

Council discusses parking garage site

BRIAN SMOLLER
staff reporter

Parking Council members added another potential parking garage site to the list Thursday. The new proposed site is in the parking lot north of Waters Hall.

The site for the proposed garage is essential to the plans for the expansion of Anderson Avenue from 16th Street to Sunset Avenue, John Lambert, director of public safety, said.

The Parking Council decided the plans cannot be finalized until the site is chosen, allowing designers to pinpoint the trouble areas of traffic.

The reasoning behind the suggestion is that the original locations were too far from McCain Auditorium and Farrell Library, two primary sources of night activity on campus. Of the three original sites, the lots south of the K-State Student Union are the leading candidates for the garage's location, Lambert said.

"The lots at the Ramada Inn are too small," Lambert said. "And the West Stadium lots are too far from McCain and the rest of the campus. So, we're left with one site."

However, other members were not as quick to eliminate the West Stadium lots.

"I don't know how the garage would look in the south Union lot. To think that the West Stadium lot is out of walking distance is hard to believe," Phil Anderson, parking council member, said.

Robert Burgess, assistant director of the Department of Housing and Dining Services, agreed with Anderson, saying the garage location in the Union lot would only add more traffic to an already congested area.

For more information regarding parking regulations, check the homepage at (http://www.ksu.edu/psafe/parking).

Concert set to honor former band director

ANDREA COREY
staff writer

A former K-State band director and percussion instructor died Wednesday.

Stanley G. Finck worked at K-State from 1983 to 1992, when he retired due to health problems.

"He was a very special person. He was probably, in addition to being a fine musician, is the epitomie of what a gentleman — a gentle man — is," Jack Flouer, head of the music department, said.

Finck requested that a number of former students come to Manhattan to perform a memorial recital. One of those students is G. G. Gauthreaux, who currently lives in Washington, D.C.

Gauthreaux is now a timpanist in the U.S. Navy Band, and was a student of Finck's when he was a professor at a university in Louisiana in the 1970s. Gauthreaux plans on returing to perform at Finck's memorial, to take place within the next month.

Gauthreaux said he and Finck became close friends during his schooling at Louisiana.

"I was young and impressionable. He taught me several things that have made me sucessful in my life," he said. "He was just an extraordinary person."

Rod Manges has been the band director for Manhattan High School for 12 years, and knew Finck through work.

"He was always giving, always thought about others first — how he could help them," he said.

New dean named for engineering

CLAUDETTE RILEY
news editor

The College of Engineering has named a new dean for the first time in 23 years.

Terry King, chair of Iowa State University's department of chemical engineering, will begin his duties in June. He will succeed Donald Rathbone, who has the longest tenure of any dean of engineering in the United States.

King spent three years at Exxon Chemical Co. before taking the job at Iowa State. He has been awarded three patents and is an active industry consultant for several national and international companies.

During his 14 years at Iowa State, King acquired $3.7 million in funding from the U.S. Department of Energy and the National Science Foundation. He published more than 60 articles in his field and directed 20 graduate and post-doctoral students.

King earned his bachelor's degree from Iowa State in 1975 and his doctorate from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology four years later. His research includes fundamental catalysis and surface science, surface thermodynamics and reaction engineering.

At K-State, King will lead nine departments and 179 faculty members. Last fall, enrollment in the College of Engineering was nearly 2,500 students.

DEADLINES
TO PLACE AN ITEM in the Daily Planner, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to (collegn@ksu.edu) by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

MANAGING EDITOR
MIRANDA KENNEDY
e-mail: (seahors@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
DIGEST
FRIDAY, JANUARY 24, 1997

▶ 24 HOURS IN REVIEW

These briefs encapsulate the news of the past 24 hours and are from staff reports, wire reports and other news services.

▶ NATION AND WORLD

• 4 DIE ON EVERGLADES MISSION WHEN HELICOPTER HITS TOWER.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — A helicopter on a herbicide-spraying mission to the Everglades clipped the top of a radio tower and crashed Thursday, killing all four aboard.

A piece of the tail section was intact on the ground, but the rest of the Bell helicopter was obliterated. Sheets covered three bodies thrown several yards from the wreckage, and the pilot's body remained inside.

Airboat captain Parker Priest saw the helicopter flying toward the 300-foot tower.

• PROTESTERS BEATEN, OPPOSITION LEADERS ARRESTED IN SERBIA.

KRAGUJEVAC, Yugoslavia — Riot police clubbed protesters, who tried to blockade this central Serbian city, and opposition activists attempted to block key roads throughout Yugoslavia on Thursday in a sign that President Slobodan Milosevic and his opponents were headed for a showdown.

Opposition leaders warned of spiraling violence.

Hundreds of policemen barricaded themselves inside the radio and TV station to prevent its takeover by new city officials in Kragujevac, an industrial city about 90 miles south of Belgrade.

• HUNDREDS REPORTED KILLED WHEN ARMY STRIKES REBELS.

RUHENGERI, Rwanda — The army has struck back at Hutu insurgents in northwestern Rwanda, killing as many as 350 people in a series of attacks, aid workers and residents said Thursday.

The military operations were intended to flush out Hutu militants accused of killing 50 people, including three Spanish aid workers, Rwandan army Capt. Frank Ndore said.

Hutu insurgents have stepped up their attacks in the northwest in their push to drive out the Tutsi-controlled government; it seized power in 1994, after a Hutu government-backed genocide killed a half-million people — most of the Tutsis. Hutus make up 85 percent of the population, Tutsis 14 percent.

• FDA GIVES APPROVAL TO NEW HOME DRUG-TESTING SYSTEM.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Parents who want to quietly test their children for drugs can soon use the first government-approved home test.

The Food and Drug Administration on Tuesday approved Dr. Brown's Home Drug Testing System to detect cocaine, heroin, marijuana, PCP, amphetamines and other drugs in a mail-in urine sample.

"It's therapeutic, nonpunitive and comparatively inexpensive," said J. Theodore Brown Jr., the Maryland psychologist who created the test, which will be on drugstore shelves within six weeks and will cost less than $30.

"This system would be something to empower the individual citizen," he said. The approval comes four months after the Clinton administration battled congressional charges that, in the face of escalating teen-age drug use, the FDA was blocking parents' efforts to test their children at home instead of in a doctor's office.

The controversy erupted in September after the FDA cracked down on an Atlanta woman who sold 1,000 home drug tests without the agency's knowledge. The FDA said it had no way to know if her test was accurate, but congressional critics argued the agency was keeping from parents the same tests employers can use — and charged that it has no clear policy to say when home tests for any disease are ready for laymen.

The FDA relented, letting home drug tests sell temporarily while it re-evaluates how strictly they should be regulated.

Rep. Thomas Bliley, R-Va., called for congressional hearings next month to determine why the FDA hasn't yet finalized a home-testing policy.

Any consumer can use the test. Brown expects it to be widely used by relatives of people just out of drug treatment.

▶ DAILY PLANNER

The Daily Planner is a campus bulletin board service offered by the K-State Collegian. Items in the planner can be published up to three times. Items may not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to (collegn@ksu.edu) by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

CHECK THESE EVENTS OUT

- Career and Employment Services will conduct an orientation to services and on-campus interviews. The Path to Employment Opportunities for education majors will be at 10:30 a.m. today in Thompson 101 and for arts and sciences majors at 1:30 p.m. today in Union 212.
- Blue Key Senior Honorary applications are available in the Office of Student Activities and Services and Holton 102. They are due at 4 p.m. today in Holton 102.
- Intramural basketball and individual sports entries are due at 5 p.m. today at the Rec Services Office in the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex.
- KSU Aikido meets at 7 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and at 10 a.m. Saturdays in Ahearn 301, the dance studio.
- Lutheran Campus Ministry Worship is at 7:15 every Sunday night in Danforth Chapel.
- The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Stevan Knezevic at 10 a.m. Monday in Throckmorton 1017.
- Phi Beta Lambda will have an information meeting at 5 p.m. Monday in Union 203. It is open to all majors.
- Circle K will meet at 5:30 p.m. Monday in the Union Council Chamber.
- Public Relations Student Society of America will meet at 7 Monday night in Kedzie 105. The program will be about résumés and portfolios.
- S.A.M., the Society for the Advancement of Management, will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in Union 208.
- K-State's Women's Soccer Club will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in Union 207. Anyone interested in playing soccer for the Women's Soccer Club is invited to attend this spring planning meeting.
- KSU Institute for Electrical and Electronic Engineers will meet at 6 Monday night in Durland 173. David Soldan, head of the Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering, will speak about changes in the department. Free pizza will be served after the program.
- The Rodeo Club meets at 7 every Tuesday night in Weber 111. The executive meeting is at 6 p.m. every Tuesday in the same room.
- Mortar Board Senior Honorary is accepting membership applications from juniors. Information sheets can be picked up in the Office of Student Activities and Services. They must be returned to the Office of Student Activities and Services, mailbox 26, by 5 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 30.
- The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Curtis Brungardt at 2 p.m. Thursday in Bluemont 257.
- Collegiate Cattlewomen are sponsoring a Beef Cook-Off. If you are interested in participating, sign up by Jan. 31 in Weber 134.
- Student Alumni Board applications are available at the KSU Alumni Association or the Office of Student Activities and Services. They are due Jan. 31. If you have questions, call Heather Lansdowne at 532-5058.

Take advantage of this space.
Is your organization planning an event or meeting that it needs to get the word out about? Send your bulletin to (collegn@ksu.edu).

▶ POLICE BLOTTER

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

▶ K-STATE POLICE

• THURSDAY, JAN. 23

- At 1:54 a.m., officers were in pursuit of a vehicle for speeding. The driver had a non-injury accident at University Drive and Claflin Road. Riley County Police Department worked on the accident due to the damage of a street sign. Stanley K. Gregg, 1810 Laramie St., was arrested for fleeing and eluding, reckless driving and DUI. Gregg was taken to RCPD for final processing, where bond was set at $1,100. Citations were also given for expired license plate and driver's license.

▶ RILEY COUNTY POLICE DEPARTMENT

• WEDNESDAY, JAN. 22

- At 8:28 a.m., an injury accident report was filed at Fourth Street and Poyntz Avenue. David E. Winden suffered injuries to the neck and head and was transported by EMS.
- At 8:40 a.m., an injury accident was reported on U.S. Highway 24. Nola M. Schmale was transported to Mercy Health Center on College Avenue.
- At 10:04 a.m., the past theft of a 4-wheel Honda was reported. Loss was $2,500.
- At 12:25 a.m., a past aggravated assault was reported. Cordell D. Black, 1022 Garden Way, Apt. A, was arrested.
- At 2:55 p.m., the past theft of a ring was reported. Loss was $3,000.
- At 3 p.m., a past criminal damage to property was reported at 1600 Garden Way. A tire was taken. Loss was $135.
- At 3:22 p.m., a past theft report was filed at Howie's Recycling, 625 S. 10th St. Three rolls of stamps were taken. Loss was $25.
- At 5:23 p.m., Jennifer A. Welsch, 403 S. 6th St., was arrested on an Ellis County warrant for contempt of court. Bond was set at $690.
- At 7:45 p.m., an arson report was filed when a woodpile was found to be on fire at 1725 Denholm. The fire was extinguished.
- At 9:07 p.m., a past vehicle burglary was reported at the parking lot across from Rowdy Trouty's. Taken were two compact-disc players and a canvas cover. Loss was estimated at $550.

• THURSDAY, JAN. 23

- At 2:02 a.m., a battery in progress was reported. Matthew S. Craig, 1632 McCain Lane, was arrested for battery. Bond was set at $500.
- At 2:36 a.m., Rufus L Forrest, 207 E. 1st St., Oiltown, Okla. was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

▶ HOW TO CONTACT THE COLLEGIAN

• BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Advertising	532-6560
Classifieds	532-6555

• BY E-MAIL
(collegn@ksu.edu)

• ON THE WORLD WIDE WEB
(http://collegian.ksu.edu)

• BY SNAIL MAIL
Kansas State Collegian
116 Kedzie Hall
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

• IN PERSON
The Collegian newsroom office is located at Kedzie 116 (across from the K-State Student Union).

▶ STATEMENT OF PUBLICATION

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1997

WAREHOUSE
CLEAR-OUT
Reduced Drastically
Bound Area Rugs
4x6 STARTING AT ONLY $19.99 5x8 STARTING AT ONLY $29.99
6x9 STARTING AT ONLY $39.99 9x12 STARTING AT ONLY $79.99
Over 500 IN STOCK to choose from!!!
90 Days Same as cash
Mon.-Fri. 8:30-5:30 p.m.
Sat. 9:30-4 p.m.
Financing Available
Bryant Carpet
Heartland Home Interiors
520 Pillsbury Dr. Manhattan, Ks. 66502
776-4367

Recreational Services
INTRAMURALS
Intramural Entry Deadline
Friday, January 24, at 5 p.m.
Recreational Services Office
Basketball & Individual Sports
Captains'/Managers' Meeting
Wednesday, January 29, at 5 p.m.
Union, Forum Hall
Basketball schedules will be distributed at this meeting only.
All Captains / Managers must attend!
Basketball Officials' Clinics
Monday, January 27, 6:30 p.m.
Tuesday, January 28, 6:30 p.m.
Wednesday, January 29, 6:30 p.m.
Recreation Complex
Mandatory attendance at all three meetings.
Recreational Services Office 532-6980

SUPER BOWL SUNDAY
17 TV's + BIG SCREEN
Be here by the 1st quarter to Win Prizes
10¢ WINGS
During the game
Dine in only
Support your favorite team - wear your gear & if your team wins Win a FREE Chance shirt
2 FREE STARTER JACKETS
one for each team
$1 Chili Cheese Dogs Stadium Nachos
Rustin's
LAST CHANCE SALOON
LAST CHANCE SALOON
1209 Moro Aggieville U.S.A

Senate passes entire agenda; honor sytem to be enacted

BENJAMIN YODER
staff reporter

Student Senate opened the spring semester Thursday night passing all measures on its agenda, including a University honor code.

The honor code would require students to sign a statement saying they will not cheat.

The honor system was the only bill that wasn't passed unanimously.

Passing 42-8, it will introduce a program that will reduce undergraduate cheating on the University level, Jeff Dougan, chair of the Academic Affairs Committee, said.

Violators of the honor code will come before a board to face consequences. It will not affect graduate students.

Bill Muir, faculty representative to the Senate, said the resolution would be a tremendous asset to the University.

Senate also decided to continue to fund KSDB-FM 91.9 at $35,600 for the next two years. The budget will be reviewed in the 1999-2000 school year and will be reviewed each fiscal year thereafter.

SGA will be allocated $2,160 for spring elections. The funds allow for $890 for Scantron ballots, $270 for printing, $800 for scanning and $200 for supplies.

According to the constitutional amendment, candidates for the 1997 spring elections must be enrolled in 12 credit hours to be eligible.

Before the change, candidates were required to be full-time students, but this language was made obsolete by the new linear fees system.

The second constitutional change allows senators to be excused from meetings and lets other senators cast their votes in emergency situations or illnesses.

Senate also passed a resolution to commend State Rep. Jeff Peterson for his service to the University.

Then the Senate was introduced to a bill on qualified admissions, which it will vote on next week.

If passed, the resolution will change the requirement for admission to K-State. No longer will all Kansas high-school graduates automatically be admitted to the University.

Also introduced were measures to increase faculty salaries, make tuition more affordable and support a state-sponsored college savings plan.

Philip Morris Inc. agrees to keep Marlboro sign out of bowl picture

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — Under threat of government court action, Philip Morris Inc. agreed Wednesday to remove a large Marlboro sign from the Louisiana Superdome on Sunday so the cigarette advertisement won't be televised during professional football's Super Bowl XXXI.

The Cigarette Labeling and Advertising Act prohibits cigarette advertising on television. The Justice Department obtained court orders in 1995 against Philip Morris and New York's Madison Square Garden to make sure cigarette ads placed around arenas and athletic fields are not telecast during sports events.

While denying that the sign near one of the Superdome end zone video monitors violated the law or the court order, the company's lawyers wrote the Justice Department that Philip Morris has made arrangements for this special event only to ensure that the Marlboro sign in question will not be in place during the Super Bowl.

"Philip Morris has made this decision in light of the unusually intense level of coverage for this unique event," according to the letter signed by attorneys Jerome I. Chapman and Douglas Dworkin.

In a Jan. 15 letter, Eugene M. Thirolf, director of Justice's Office of Consumer Litigation, had advised the lawyers that this sign was broadcast repeatedly during this year's Sugar Bowl football game, not only in wide angle beauty shots of the stadium, but also on numerous occasions in coverage of game action, sideline game-related activity, and other situations integral to the sporting event.

Thirolf also noted that two of four smaller Marlboro signs in more remote areas of the Superdome also were shown during the telecast.

"We are serving notice that these signs may violate," Thirolf said.

"In light of the extensive exposure that end zone Marlboro sign received during the Sugar Bowl, we expect that the sign will be covered or removed prior to the Super Bowl," Thirolf said. "Should the sign appear in the Super Bowl broadcast, we are prepared to seek appropriate remedies."

Thirolf did not specifically threaten any action about the two smaller, more remote signs that were shown during the telecast of the Super Bowl game between the Green Bay Packers and New England Patriots, and Philip Morris lawyers made no mention of moving those signs. The company lawyers said that two other signs had been moved some time ago as a result of the discussions between the government and the company about the court order.

"Philip Morris has repeatedly and consistently demonstrated that it has no interest in having its stadium signage seen on television," the lawyers said, noting that the company does not control what network T.V. cameras show.

Thirolf said Fox Television, which will broadcast the game, and the National Football League urged them to

See ADS, Page 12

Varsity closes because of poor parking, antiquated equipment

HEATHER PERKINS
staff reporter

The Varsity Theatre in Aggieville showed its last film on Dec. 30 because of limited parking and out-dated equipment.

First International Theatres decided to close the theater and move art films to Westloop 6 Theatres starting Jan. 31.

"The Varsity Theatre wasn't doing well. There was very little parking available, and the equipment was older," said Bob Howard, manager of First International Theatres in Manhattan.

The Varsity's future had been a concern for several months before its closing.

"The closing of the theater has been a question for us for the last three to four months. It had not been producing well. We kept asking ourselves how we could improve the situation. About a month ago we decided to close," Howard said.

The Varsity reopened in 1992 as a dollar-house movie theater. In February 1996 the theater began showing art films.

The first art movie shown at Westloop 6 will be "The English Patient," a 1997 Golden Globe winner.

Kari Edson, freshman in Spanish, said she is glad Manhattan will continue to have an art theater.

"It gives people a more diverse movie selection," Edson said.

The new location has made the art films more accessible for some students.

Chiquita Hishaw, freshman in life sciences, said she was not aware the Varsity was showing art films.

"Now that I know about them I might go see them," Hishaw said.

There are no plans for the Varsity building at this time.

Limited access to blame in AOL complaints

ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK — Consumer-protection officials from 20 states met with America Online Thursday to try to resolve a plethora of complaints against the nation's largest online service, even as a fresh technical glitch further irked its customers.

The meeting in Chicago was spurred by customers' growing difficulty in getting the online access they paid for. A new pricing plan that charges customers $19.95 a month for unlimited online time has strained AOL's network creating long delays in going online, busy signals and other frustrations.

The representatives from 20 state attorneys general offices tried to get the company to give some relief to AOL customers who said they felt the company is not living up to its pledge, said Dan Curry, a spokesman for Illinois Attorney General Jim Ryan, whose office was host to the meeting.

Details from the meeting weren't disclosed, and state officials said they were waiting for AOL's next move. AOL said only that the meeting was constructive, and that the company was cooperating with the states.

Meanwhile, AOL's latest brownout, which prevented customers from receiving e-mail for two hours Thursday morning, has only heightened concerns about its ability to accommodate a flood of new users.

AOL spokeswoman Tricia Primrose characterized the brownout, triggered by the installation of new computer hardware to increase AOL's capacity, as a minor problem. Overall, AOL reduced downtime to 1 percent from 3.5 percent last year, she said.

But AOL users experienced two other episodes of technical glitches just last week, and at least five lawsuits have been filed by consumers against AOL this past month accusing the company of breach of contract and deceptive marketing.

"It has been virtually impossible to log on from 6 p.m. until midnight," said Michael W. Fine of Avon Lake, Ohio, one of three AOL users in Ohio who filed suit Thursday.

Primrose said the company was working to upgrade its network and expects to prevail in the class-action suits.

A source close to the attorneys general talks, speaking on condition of anonymity, said some states were interested in trying to get AOL to refund some money to customers.

Any agreement would be AOL's second in two months with state attorneys general. Last month, AOL agreed to revise its new pricing strategy in a settlement with 19 states that followed complaints from subscribers that they weren't given enough notice when automatically switched to the new flat-rate plan for unlimited Internet access.

One of AOL's biggest rivals tried to exploit the company's woes. A new T.V. commercial for CompuServe, breaking in Sunday's Super Bowl, stresses the theme that people can get online access through CompuServe on the first try 97 percent of the time, said Scott Kauffman, CompuServe's vice president of Interactive Services.

Meanwhile, in a Washington hearing, Federal Communications Commission regulators began exploring ways to ease network congestion by giving companies incentives to provide more high-speed connections into homes.

The congestion has pitted Internet providers and computer companies against local telephone companies, which contend that soaring Internet usage could cause a breakdown in the public telephone network. They want Internet providers to pay them for using local lines to route Internet traffic.

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Suds Y'R Duds
Welcomes K-State Students Back With Free Dryers
Between 5 a.m. & 3 p.m. when available
Monday thru Friday · Located in Anderson Village
1453 Anderson Ave.
537-2325
Open 5 a.m. - midnight
7 days a week

Alpha Tau Omega
would like to welcome their new brothers.
Todd Bohn
Andy Brackin
Jeff Connell
Ryan Cummings
Kyle Deatherage
Andrew DeSantis
Brad Joiner
Matt Kenkel
Cameron Klein
Wayne Ryan
Tom Taphorn
Richard Webdell
Spring '97

UPC
Steven Seagal Keenen Ivory Wayans
The GLIMMER MAN
TWO GOOD COPS
ONE BAD SITUATION
Friday,Jan. 24
7:00 and 9:30 p.m.
Saturday, Jan. 25
7:00 p.m.
Sunday, Jan. 26
8:00 p.m.
Forum Hall
K-State Student Union
UPC Feature Films Committee
http://union.ksun.ksu.edu/upc/ff/films.htm
WELCOME TO THE DOLLHOUSE
junior high is hell.
"Funny and uncannily well written."
-Todd McCarthy PREMIERE
Thursday, Jan. 23
7:00 & 9:30 p.m.
Saturday, Jan. 25
9:30 p.m.
Forum Hall
All movies $1.75. Special Sunday Showings only $1
Cheapest concessions in town!!!
For more information call the UPC Office at 532-6571

K-STATE Women's Basketball
Bramlage Coliseum
Kansas State vs. Texas A&M
Saturday, Jan. 25, 7 p.m.
Come Support the K-State Women's Basketball Team
FOR TICKETS CALL 532-7606
$3 Adults/ $1 High School and Under/KSU Students Free with ID

OPINION EDITOR
KEVIN KLASSEN
e-mail: (kevkk@ksu.edu)

A GUIDE TO SECTIONS OF THE COLLEGIAN OPINION PAGE

▶ COLUMNS are opinions expressed by the columnists. The opinions are not necessarily the opinions of the Collegian.

OUR VIEW is an editorial written by the Collegian Editorial Board. The board meets every day and discusses editorial topics. The editorial is a compilation of those opinions and represents the opinion of the Collegian.

▶ OUR VIEW

Varsity's closing shrinks diversity of film selections

The marquees at community movie theaters are showing a lack of diversity. This situation was not improved with the close of Aggieville's Varsity Theater December 1996.

When Varsity's doors closed, it ended a 10-month attempt to bring independent and art-house films to the Manhattan area.

Union Program Council's Kaleidoscope Films Committee continues to bring independent, foreign and critically acclaimed films to campus.

However, the committee rarely shows such films during the original release period. A good example is "Welcome to the Dollhouse," a critical success scheduled for this weekend, was shown at Varsity during this past semester and is now in release on video.

Although Varsity brought in such films as "Trainspotting" and "Il Postino" during their original release, some issues continued to impede their success.

The movies were often shown only once daily, even on the weekends, and at inconvenient times. Students who worked early evening shifts or had free time on weeknights could rarely find a show time after 8 p.m.

Movies were shown for short runs, often with a turn-around each weekend, and hardly ever offered matinee performances. Many of the movies now being discussed for Oscar-worthy recognition, including "Breaking the Waves," "Shine" and "Secrets and Lies," have not shown here.

Westloop Theater will begin showing traditionally considered art films this weekend. If they want to succeed and draw students in, they should consider rectifying the problems Varsity faced.

The movie theaters should show films at times convenient to college students. They should also consider advertising or publishing movie times in the Collegian.

Students begin jamming phone lines Friday afternoon to find out listings and show times for the weekend. Access to general movie information and up-coming releases would only improve the theaters' ability to serve this community.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR IN CHIEF
Kimberly Hefling
MANAGING EDITOR
Miranda Kennedy
NEWS EDITOR
Claudette Riley
PHOTO EDITOR
Steve Hebert
PRESENTATION EDITOR
Scott M. Ladd
COPY CHIEF
Tonya Nisly
OPINION EDITOR
Kevin Klassen
CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
Andrew Francis
CAMPUS EDITOR
Jill Story
SPORTS EDITOR
Jeremy Kelley
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR
Tara Wray
ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
Portia Sisco
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
Jill Jarsulic
INVESTIGATIONS EDITOR
Nicole Kirby
E-COLLEGIAN EDITOR
Kady Guyton
ASSISTANT E-COLLEGIAN EDITOR
Kelly Furnas
OTHER EDITORIAL BOARD MEMBERS
Russell Fortmeyer, senior in architectural engineering

Our View, an editorial selected and debated by a majority of the editorial board, is written by the editorial board after a concensus opinion is reached. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other students. For details on how you can become involved with the editorial board, contact Kevin Klassen, opinion editor.

▶ TOLES

▶ TOLES

It's only the end of the second week.
Already burning out?
Need some help finding ways to survive this semester? Try these sure-fire tips.

survive this year

VIEWPOINT

KEN WELLS

KEN WELLS is a graduate student in theatre. You can e-mail comments to Ken at (sigma7@ksu.edu).

Thus endeth the second week. It hasn't been too bad so far, now has it? Granted, the first week was a couple of get-acquainted prologue days and this Monday happened to be a holiday. The rest of the way doesn't look so easy.

There are a few hundred hungry faculty members out there just waiting to feast on your academic entrails, and the time out of class hasn't helped their appetites.

You need to get on their good side fast (unless, of course, you've already doomed that concept by snoring during lecture or attacking one of them with tinfoil). Just follow a few basic, easy-to-digest guidelines:

- Start working on your final project now. Never mind that some of these 15-bazillion page papers are going to be incoherent slush no matter how long you work on them. The instructor likes hard-working students, or, failing that, the appearance thereof.

If you don't have a final project you can start working on, make one up. Say, "It's for my personal growth in (insert field of study here)." They like that, too.

- Unite the students. Rehearse in-class exercises like answering in unison. Nothing throws a lecture off its outline more than 400 voices chanting simultaneously, "Yes, we're all individuals."

In high school, this could reduce an instructor to tears, but this is the big leagues — they're made of stronger stuff here. Have a backup plan ready. Exploding poultry usually does the trick.

- Turn a minus into a plus. If you sleep through a class, insist that you were attending a lecture/seminar/study group about the subject matter covered in class.

If pressured for specific details, insist that the melodic voice of the speaker dulled your senses to the specifics, but insert a general concept ("Hitler was bad!" or "Math is good!" are acceptable starting points) to prove you were there.

When (not if) you are asked about the time and location of this event, whisper quietly that the hosts are members of a secret organization dedicated to the ritualistic study of the class' subject and that to reveal more could risk death. Look both ways often and hide in the shadows whenever possible.

- Bribe the secretaries. Granted, some departments have office managers, others have secretaries. These roses by any other name make up the spine of all activity on the University.

If you want to find someone who can do something (or anything) on campus, look for the whirling Tasmanian Devil-esque blur of activity in the main office.

Recommended offerings to these clerical deities include ibuprofen and plane tickets to Rio. This will not win you any level of control — one cannot control forces of nature — but may coax a moment of mercy when you need it most. You may need all the help you can get.

- Show devotion and passion to your studies. Get a tattoo of the periodic table in an imaginative place and show it to the class (of course, it has more effect if you're actually a chemistry student).

Express fondness for the author of the text you are studying. Ask the instructor if the author is single. Handcuff yourself to the desk and refuse to leave until your hunger for knowledge is satiated. Demand that the class meet on weekends.

- Stick pamphlets about the class under the windshield wipers of every car in Aggieville. On second thought, that's just too annoying for words. Skip that. Instead, aspire to be an instructor yourself. Take your passion to the streets, to the stores, to the pastures of this great nation. Address passersby, party-goers, herds of farm animals who will listen to the gospel you will preach.

If all of these backfire miserably, the bright side is you have laid the perfect foundation for an unstoppable insanity plea.

Just remember, these are rough guidelines. Feel free to improvise. When in doubt, deny everything and run away.

LEARNING THROUGH NOSTALGIA

the approach millennium is generating a rehashing of pop culture

VIEWPOINT

JEFF CHAN

JEFF CHAN is a graduate student in English. You can e-mail comments to Jeff at (defcon1@ksu.edu).

1926 — boy, there was a year. Ernest Hemingway's "The Sun Also Rises" was published in 1926, as was William Faulkner's first novel, "Soldier's Pay."

The Book of the Month Club, those nice folks who nowadays offer revered tomes like "The Elvis Cookbook" and "Everything I Learned, I Learned From My Cat" was founded in 1926. (Twelve books for a dollar? They're practically givin' 'em away!)

Sinclair Lewis turned down the Pulitzer Prize, while A.A. Milne published the adventures of your favorite bear and mine, "Winnie the Pooh," in 1926.

Such are the benefits of studying English. A lot of other really neat historical stuff happened in 1926, too. Germany was admitted to the League of Nations, and Joseph Goebbels was named Nazi Gauleiter of Berlin. Emperor Hirohito ascended the throne of Japan, while Fascist youth organizations in Italy and Germany became active.

Sounds like the prelude to one of those "Century of Warfare" documentaries on the History of Lifetime Discovery channel.

What else happened? How about Robert Goddard firing the first liquid fuel rocket, and Kodak producing the first 16mm film? Or the Norwegian explorer Roald Amundsen, who's perched somewhere on my own family tree, flying to the North Pole in an airship? It all happened here.

All right, now you have the fodder to wow your history professor, but it's not enough to excuse you from class. Is there any more to this than facts and figures in a book, moments abstracted by history? Can someone like me, a twenty-nothing living on the cusp of the millennium, really know 1926?

Years ago I attended a Roaring Twenties party, where the idea was to dress up and swing to the, well, swinging sounds of the period (on LP, even!).

Unfashionable in T-shirt and jeans, yet surrounded by that carefully orchestrated ambience, perhaps a little tipsy from the wine, I couldn't help but feel more than a little immersed in the popular conception of the '20s as that jumping, jazzed-up period of post-war euphoria.

That got me thinking. While watching my boa-encircled flapper and zoot-suited dandy friends, I had this curious notion of how we try to keep in touch with the past by emulating it, and I'm not talking about Civil War re-enactments or other such creative anachronisms. I mean things like those sock hops they threw us into in middle school, or Frontier Land at whichever Disney park is nearest you.

Is this how we enliven the facts and figures off the page, by romancing ourselves temporarily into a past never lived? Or is this how we go about our history these days? Might others, more learned than I, discern from this further evidence of the much ballyhooed, post-modern condition, the ideal paradigm for a people without a sense of history?

1926 saw the revolutionary jazz of Duke Ellington and "Jelly Roll" Morton first recorded. 1997 sees Madonna in "Evita" and the Beatles once again in the charts (oops, sorry, that's Oasis).

Music, like the other fine arts, has always been the contemplative reflection of the times. As Henry David Thoreau said, "What a comment on our life is the least strain of music!"

What then can we make of a culture that insists on bringing back the 1960s in the 1980s, the 1970s in the early 1990s, the '80s in the mid-'90s, and now the early '90s in the late '90s? Is it just me, or is the coming turn of the millennium some sort of strange event horizon toward which our culture is accelerating?

Perhaps we've learned, or are in the process of learning, an important new truth: those who do not repeat history are doomed to learn from it. Perhaps we've grown so used to our packaged history and our pantomime-like evocations of it that we're applying the same process to our own times, our own shared, lived history.

The nostalgia machine is on and set for overdrive. As we careen on the razor's edge of the ever-present now toward the end of the century, we look back in ever-smaller increments on our recently recent past, hoping to find something ... new?

I've seen the "Hits of the '90s" advertisements. I've seen the melancholy look on the faces of friends who pine for the so-called good ol' days of the early '90s. What will we look back on next year? And the year after that? Is there a mathematical equation we could employ to forecast our realm of nostalgia?

Will I be lamenting the fact, sometime in 1998, that I "didn't really live" the previous week? Will I gaze with misty eyes back on yesterday's glories some blustery autumn evening in 1999?

Will I lament the passing of the past five seconds, Dec. 31, 2000, perhaps finally coming to an actual grip with the present moment at the stroke of midnight?

Or is this just a bunch of nonsense, incorrectly divined out of a montage of forces too subtle for me to see? I'm sure someone's best people are on it, and I would expect a report on it any day now.

Say, ya know, I ... I sure do miss that time a while back when this column began — remember? Ya know, back in the good ol' days ... .

▶ YOUR VIEWS

• EBONICS HAS GOOD SIDES.

Editor,

The Ebonics issue has been one of those hot-button issues lately that everyone seems to have an opinion on. Why in the world would anyone want to help children from inner-city neighborhoods polish the language skills that will keep the American dream forever out of their reach?

Seeing that the controversy is being stirred by educators that have invested their own futures in the outcome of the pupils that will be affected should make us all want to explore this question more deeply.

In the Jan. 13 issue of Newsweek, John Leland and Nadine Joseph ask Oakland educators how Ebonics can benefit the students. They cite studies which demonstrate positive preliminary results in the use of contrasting Ebonics with standard English to help improve skills in standard English.

I encourage Justin Wild and anyone concerned about this issue to read their article and reconsider the potential for the use of Ebonics as an educational tool for polishing standard English skills in these students.

Greg Shenk
senior in natural history

• WRITER QUESTIONS LANDLORD INTERGRITY

Editor,

Why do some landlords think deposits are simply free money? We thought that the landlords from whom we began renting in October 1995 were going to be reasonable. We never had a problem with landlords before now.

This time was different. During our stay, we became skeptical of their integrity and started questioning their fairness when it would be time to move. Fortunately, the Collegian had an article about the legal services offered through KSU Student Activities. What caught our attention in the article was a service concerning tenant affairs.

This was exactly what we needed to get all the information about moving from a rental. After contacting the office, we met with Todd O'Donnell, director of Consumer and Tenant Affairs.

We reviewed the history of our landlords and outlined our concerns over a pending move. He consulted us and offered to perform an independent walk-through checklist of the house before our landlords were scheduled to do the same. He was extremely thorough with his inspection. Later, when our landlords went through the for their records, they only mentioned small carpet repairs. We expected and agreed to this.

We then received a check of our deposit return, minus the carpet repairs and an additional $200 of miscellaneous items. Surprise! We were shocked. We notified O'Donnell of our disagreement with the returned deposit and he attempted to resolve our dispute with the landlords.

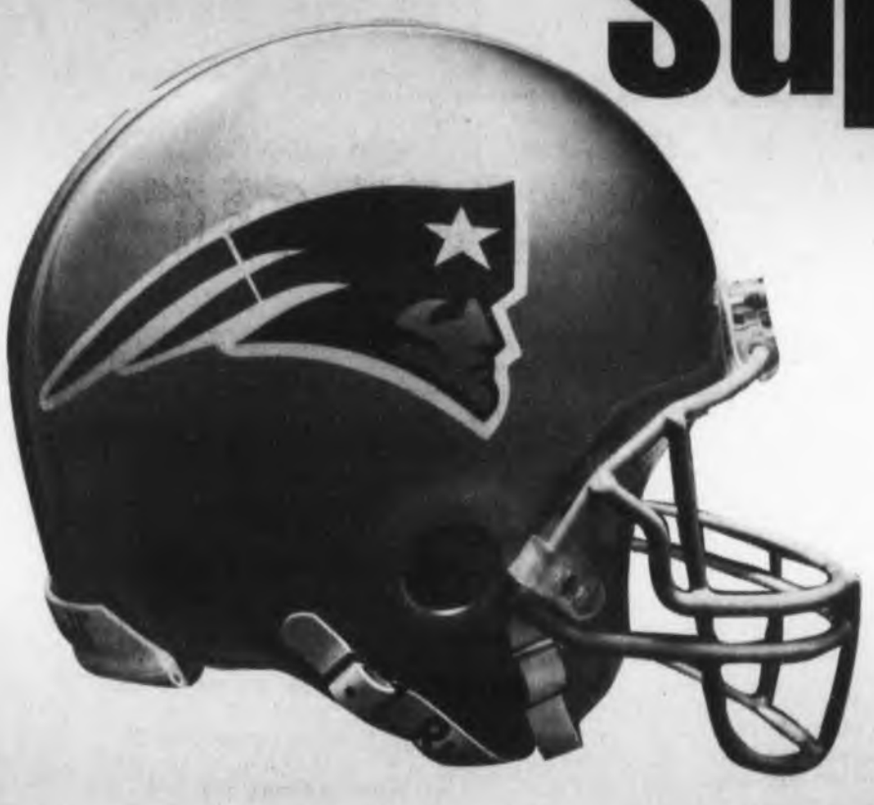
They were not willing to cooperate. The next step was small claims court. The final day arrived, and, with Mr. O'Donnell as an unbiased witness and our own pieces of evidence, we were able to reclaim the $200, and court costs, from the landlords.

The services offered at K-State, for tenants, in our case, are extremely valuable to those needing legal advice. Every student needs to know the steps before, during, and after renting a house to prepare for all possible actions by their landlords.

Many landlords may believe that students will not contest a partial, or unjust, deposit return because they will either be out of town or otherwise unable to justify their rights. We truly appreciate how our situation was handled by Mr. O'Donnell and feel the advice will be useful for future renting situations for us.

Every step of our action was correct to the law and professional. With our newly acquired information about renting, we sought a house we liked as well as a landlord we trusted. He has been very good to us and we believe he will remain so ... even with respect to our deposit.

Gerald Zuercher
graduate — Ph.D in curriculum and instruction



Michele Zuercher

SUPER BOWL XXXI: THE MATCH-UP

Kickoff time: 5:18 p.m. Sunday
Site: Louisiana Superdome, New Orleans

Network: FOX-TV, Channel 6, Topeka
Game commentary: Pat Summerall, John Madden

Super Bowl XXXI

Patriots vs. Packers

Turbulent seasons for both teams not reflected in win-loss records

MARVIN BELLAMY
contributing writer

The Super Bowl is back with two long-absent visitors representing their respective divisions this year.

The Green Bay Packers haven't been to the big game since Vince Lombardi took them there 29 years ago. The New England Patriots are also back, in better-looking uniforms, some 13 years later.

Green Bay looks to cap off a season of dominance while New England tries to steal the show as the underdog.

Looking at the wins column, one would think the Pats had a great year.

The Patriots were successful in garnering the cherished first-round bye and a second seed in the AFC behind the Denver Broncos. But, under the stats the team looks a lot uglier.

The Pats lost most of their big games against quality opponents. They fell to Washington early in the season, split divisional contests with Miami and Buffalo, lost to Dallas, and were defeated by the Broncos.

Things didn't improve much in the postseason, however. Although the Steelers' upset had an impressive-looking score, it wasn't a decisive victory.

With their two-week break, the Patriots chose to concentrate solely on preparing for the Steelers. The gamble paid off as Pittsburgh was the first team to challenge New England in the playoffs. An excellent initial game plan for the Pats offense attacked the Steelers early for a quick score.

The Steelers' defense spooked and fell into a conservative non-blitzing role. This blunder gave up another two quick touchdowns. (Incidentally, the Steelers' defensive coordinator is no longer employed in Pittsburgh).

As soon as the Steelers resumed blitzing Bledsoe, his sparkling performance from the first and third quarters declined to run 1-9 passing with two interceptions.

The Pats were kept scoreless for another two quarters after the Steelers resumed their characteristic zone blitzing. On the defensive side, the Pats still gave up 127 rushing yards to the Steelers, who were missing their second running back and played with a hobbling Jerome Bettis. Bettis was kept to 3.3 yards a carry, but the rest of the Steelers, including third-string backs, rushed for 5.7 yards an attempt.

The win against the Jaguars was simply a gift from heaven. All games, the Pats offense was stagnant, unable to sustain any drives. In fact, the only Pats touchdowns came off of Jacksonville turnovers.

ANALYSIS

The first one, a bad long snap, gave the Patriots the ball on the Jaguar 3-yard line and led to a touchdown. Later in the game, Jaguars quarterback Mark Brunell forced a horrible pass into coverage into the end zone that resulted in an interception.

However, the Jaguars defense held and gave their offense another go at it. On the first play of the Jaguars' next drive, rookie running back James Stewart fumbled the ball for a New England recovery. The Patriots' defense returned it for a touchdown that put the game out of reach. The Patriots did keep Natrone Means to 43 yards on 19 carries for the day, but the Jaguars rushed for 101 yards as a team.

Green Bay comes into the game with a versatile offense. The last several games, the Packers have been playing their West Coast offense and the power I-formation running game. Dorsey Levens is a great perimeter running back while complemented nicely by Edgar Bennett's power up-the-middle style.

The Packers also have a gang of receivers to go to in Beebe, Freeman, Rison and the tight ends, Chmura and Jackson. With the talent of their receivers, Green Bay can attack New England's secondary probably picking on Ty Law's cornerback counterpart, Otis Smith, on the deep routes.

Look for the Packers to force the running game against the aggressive Patriots front seven. The Pats are quite proud of the reputation their running game has built up and, once they start biting on the running plays, the Packers can use play-action and dump it off to the tight ends underneath.

Green Bay has phenomenally good special teams. Led by return man and Heisman winner Desmond Howard, the Packers set an NFL record five kicks returned for touchdowns.

For the Pats to win, quarterback Drew Bledsoe has to have a great game, something he hasn't been doing during the postseason. His playoff passing average of 166 yards per game isn't going to put enough points on the board to win.

Rookie wide receiver Terry Glenn will have to produce against a great Green Bay defense. A weak link might be Glenn matched up against cornerback Craig Newsome. Newsome likes to bite on the first move by receivers leaving him vulnerable to long passes.

The Pats will also have to stick Favre early in the game, even at the risk of roughing-the-passer calls. Favre is a great passer on the run, but he does start acting giddy and launch premature throws once he's been knocked on his butt a few times.

25% OFF
COATS, JACKETS AND LINED WINDPANTS
Thursday, Jan. 23 - Sunday, Jan. 26, 1997
IT'S GREEK TO ME
"It's Greek To Me" Inc.
528 Pillsbury Dr.
Manhattan, KS 66502-7005
Hours
Mon. - Fri. 8:30 a.m. - 6 p.m.
Sat. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Sun. noon - 5 p.m.

Beat the Winter Blahs

With A Make-Over and get
$5.00 OFF
Any Service
Not valid with any other promotion.
#23
Hair Experts Design Team 776-4455

1996 mccain 1997

Count Basie Orchestra and
The New York Voices

Back by popular demand! The boppingest big band swings back through town with the exciting vocals of The New York Voices. This special event is presented in conjunction with the KSU Jazz Festival.
Public: $25; Senior: $23; Student/Child: $12.50.
Saturday, February 1, 8 p.m.

Wolfgang Holzmair, baritone*

This remarkable artist is in such demand that his concert postponed from 1995 could be rescheduled only now. A 1996 Grammy nominee and an exclusive Philips recording artist who has a loyal following among those who know him from CDs, Holzmair has thrilled audiences at Covent Garden and La Scala. For McCain he sings an all-Schubert program to celebrate the composer's 200th birthday.
Public: $16; Senior: $14; Student/Child: $8.
Sunday, February 9, 3 p.m.

Winnie the Pooh*

Cleveland Signstage Theatre
Isn't it time to refresh your memories of Christopher Robin, Pooh and all their friends in the Hundred Acre Wood? Share an adventure with your family when CST brings A. A. Milne's lovable menagerie to life in sign language and words.
Corporate sponsor: Mercy Health Center of Manhattan
Public: $12; Senior: $10; Student/Child: $6.
Sunday, February 16, 3 p.m.

Call 532-6428 or come to the McCain box office.
Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. VISA and MC accepted. Tickets also available at the usual outlets.
Kansas State Bank provides a free bus service to series events for patrons 55 years or older. For details, call Marie Dellen at 587-4000, 9 to 5 p.m. weekdays.
Persons with disabilities may call 532-6428 for accessibility information.
*Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency.
Events in the McCain Performance Series are supported by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.
All dates and artists subject to change without notice.

SILVERADO SALOON
Welcome Back, Students!
Friday
$2 Pitchers
$1 TQ Hot Shots
Saturday
$1 TQ Hot Shots
Live DJ Nightly
Bring this ad in for no cover Friday and Saturday
Sunday
Super Bowl Party!
Open at 3:00
No Cover
50¢ draws
539-0229 in Aggieville

Campbell's
Bridal Registry
China-Crystal-Silver
Home Accessories
Wedding Invitations
Visit us at the Manhattan Bridal Show
Jan. 26th 12:00
Houston Street Ballroom
776-9097 • 5th Poyntz • Downtown Manahttan

SUPER BOWL XXXI: THE FAVORITES

With Favre, the Packers just can't lose

VIEWPOINT

SHANE McCORMICK

SHANE McCORMICK is a senior in print journalism. You can e-mail comments to Shane at (shanem@ksu.edu)

New Orleans, the Big Easy, the site of Super Bowl XXXI. Tons of people will fill Bourbon Street, enjoying the sweet taste of an alcoholic beverage or two.

But no matter how many drinks any of the Green Bay Packer players have, there is no way they can screw this game up.

There are so many reasons the Packers are going to beat the Patriots. I will limit myself to five:

1. Brett Favre. Favre is the Packers. It's simple. Without him, they are not nearly as good. In the past two regular seasons, Favre has tossed an amazing 77 touchdowns.

It is consistency that makes Favre a much better quarterback than his counterpart, Drew Bledsoe. While Bledsoe has been unstable at times this season, Favre has been the Packers mainstay throughout the year, tossing only 13 interceptions.

While Bledsoe is a one-dimensional quarterback, Favre has the ability to scramble out of the pocket and make things happen. On the season, Favre has rushed the ball 49 times, with a long of 23. Bledsoe has rushed the ball only 24 times, with a long of eight yards.

In a battle of passing attacks, Favre will pick apart the Patriots' secondary and lead a pounding that should at least double the point spread.

2. The Defense. It's hard to believe that the NFL's No. 1 defense could be considered underrated. Because of the attention to the offense, the defense has gone unnoticed this season. The Pack defense gave up the fewest passing yards, the fewest total yards and the fewest points in the NFL this season.

The defense was very opportunistic this season, forcing an NFC-best 39 turnovers. The relentless pressure of Reggie White and Sean Jones will force Bledsoe to make mistakes, which will lead to Packer points.

This defense has also been dominating against the run, allowing only 88.5 yards a game. The Patriots have to rely on running back Curtis Martin to take pressure off of Bledsoe.

But the Packers interior line, led by big Gilbert Brown, will stuff the Patriots running attack. This will force Bledsoe to go to the air often, which is not a good thing. Bledsoe is 14-20 when he has to throw the ball 40 or more times in a game.

> I think the last time the AFC won a Super Bowl, the games were still broadcast on radio. The fact is that the NFC has had the more dominant, physical teams in the last 12 years.

3. History. I think the last time the AFC won a Super Bowl, the games were still broadcast on radio. The fact is that the NFC has had the more dominant, physical teams in the last 12 years.

This year is no different for the NFC. Every time the Super Bowl has been played in the Superdome, the losing team has only scored 10 points. Look for the same point production out of the Patriots this year.

4. Special teams. The special teams unit for the Packers this year has been tremendous. The unit is led by Desmond Howard. Howard took on all of the punt returning duties for the Pack this season. He averaged more than 15 yards a return and returned three for touchdowns. In a 35-14 win over San Francisco, Howard returned a 71-yard punt for a touchdown and set up another with a long return. Howard is just another weapon in this dangerous Packer attack.

5. Intangibles. The Packers are more experienced on both sides of the ball and have an overall better coaching staff.

The Pack should also have the crowd on its side. Over the years, the team has accumulated tons of Cheeseheads across America. Everyone loves the Pack, and the Pack loves everyone.

If the Patriots are down or not up by much come halftime, just put a stamp on it and mail the Packers win in. This season, the Packers have outscored their opponents 252-82 in the second half. Expect a lot of leaps from the Packers into the stands on Sunday.

Prediction: The game will be a blowout and one of the lowest rated Super Bowls in recent years.

Green Bay, 41
New England, 10

History's best in the bowl

Most points, lifetime – 42, Jerry Rice, San Francisco.

Most points, game – 18, Roger Craig, San Francisco vs. Miami, 1985; Jerry Rice, San Francisco vs. Denver, 1990 and vs. San Diego, 1995; Ricky Watters, San Francisco vs. San Diego, 1995.

Most touchdowns, lifetime – 7, Jerry Rice, San Francisco.

Most touchdowns, game – 3, Roger Craig, San Francisco vs. Miami, 1985; Jerry Rice, San Francisco vs. Denver, 1990, and vs. San Diego, 1995; Ricky Watters, San Francisco vs. San Diego, 1995.

Most points after touchdown, lifetime – 9, Mike Cofer, San Francisco.

Most points after touchdown, game – 7, Mike Cofer, San Francisco vs. Denver, 1990; Lin Elliott, Dallas vs. Buffalo, 1993; Doug Brien, San Francisco vs. San Diego, 1995.

Most field goals, lifetime – 5, Ray Wersching, San Francisco.

Most field goals, game – 4, Don Chandler, Green Bay vs. Oakland, 1968; Ray Wersching, San Francisco vs. Cincinnati, 1982.

Longest field goal – 54, Steve Christie, Buffalo vs. Dallas, 1994.

Quarterback plans to avoid French quarter before game

ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW ORLEANS — Brett Favre's agent said Tuesday that the two-time MVP's ban on drinking alcohol has been lifted by the NFL, but said that doesn't mean the quarterback will be tearing up Bourbon Street before the Super Bowl.

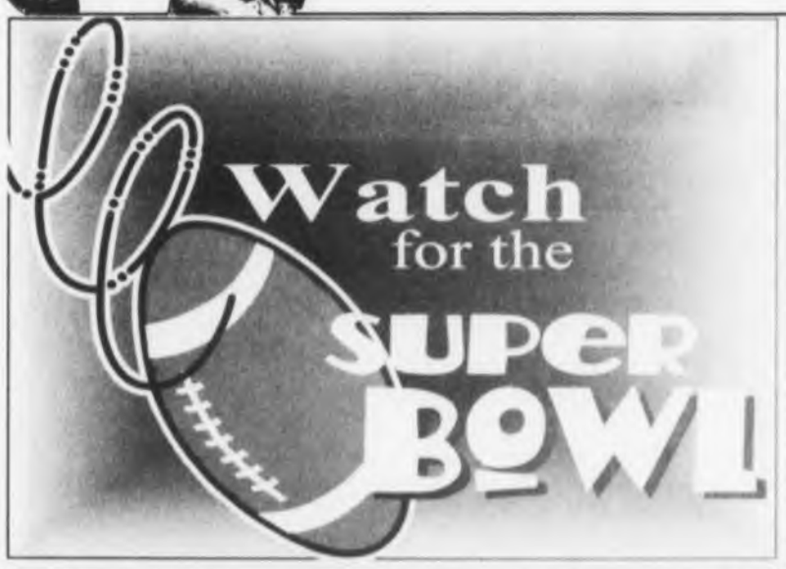
"It's not like Brett's jumping stumps to go out drinking," James "Bus" Cook said from his office in Hattiesburg, Miss. "He's not there to go out partying. He's there to win the Super Bowl."

Cook said the Green Bay Packers star informed him late last week that the league had upheld his appeal to change his status in its substance-abuse program and that he'll no longer face random testing for alcohol use.

The NFL wouldn't comment because of the confidentiality of its substance-abuse policy. But the league was upset that Favre's agent spoke publicly about the matter.

NFL spokesman Greg Aiello said commissioner Paul Tagliabue informed Favre and the Packers several weeks ago that a final report on the quarterback's appeal would be delivered after Green Bay's season is over.

"The details of any player's status under our drug program are confidential. We don't plan to make any further comment this week, nor at the time the final report is delivered," Aiello said. "Due to the policy's confidentiality provisions, we would hope that the Packers and Brett's agent would take the same position."



Cook's comments came as the Packers prepare for Sunday's Super Bowl against the New England Patriots.

"This isn't about drinking. It's about freedom," Cook said. "If they win the ballgame Sunday, and he wants to drink a beer, then he can drink a beer. It's just a choice that he has the right to make. It's not like he's been overly anxious to do that."

Favre joined the league's substance-abuse program in May after he told the NFL he was addicted to the pain-killer Vicodin. He later protested his status, arguing he shouldn't be treated like a player who got caught using illicit drugs.

He spent 46 days last summer at the Menninger Clinic in Topeka to treat his addiction. He now takes non-narcotic medicine to deal with his aches and pains.

SuperBOWL XXXI

BOOMTOWN SOUND
PROFESSIONAL INSTALLATION AT LOW, LOW PRICES
J.V.C. • US Amps • Panasonic • Lanzar
KEYLESS ENTRY AND REMOTE START $149 PLUS INSTALLATION
Financing Available
CAR STEREOS - ALARMS SALES - SERVICE - INSTALLATION
The Best Sounds Around...Come From BOOMTOWN SOUND
OPEN 11-7 M-F, 11-5 SAT 539-7929 BEHIND HARDING GLASS

BOOMTOWN SOUND
PROFESSIONAL INSTALLATION AT LOW, LOW PRICES
J.V.C. • US Amps • Panasonic • Lanzar
KEYLESS ENTRY AND REMOTE START $149 PLUS INSTALLATION
Financing Available
CAR STEREOS - ALARMS SALES - SERVICE - INSTALLATION
The Best Sounds Around...Come From BOOMTOWN SOUND
OPEN 11-7 M-F, 11-5 SAT 539-7929 BEHIND HARDING GLASS

PIZZA ENVY

1130 Moro 539-4888

TWOZEE Two 10" Pizzas (One topping) plus TWO Med. Drinks $9.99 void w/other promos

THREEZEE Three 10" Pizzas (one topping) plus THREE Med. Drinks $13.99 void w/other promos

SUPERBOWL SPECIAL Buy A Large Pizza, Get A Second For $4.00 void w/other promos exp. 1-27-97

No Royal Purple Paint & Body in Russia?

Drop into Royal Purple Paint and Body and see Jim or Bob, the collision experts. They will be able to answer all of your questions, in a language that you can understand.

Royal Purple Paint & Body & Glass
We will roll out the Royal Purple Carpet for anyone.
1100 C Hostetler Rd. 776-6920

SUPER BOWL XXXI: THE UNDERDOGS

Patriots try to shrug off AFC's record in big game

ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New England Patriots are perfect Super Bowl underdogs. They are from the AFC, they have the inferior record, and they feel they aren't being taken seriously.

It's a job description nearly every AFC team in the current 12-game losing streak has filled with efficiency, if not flair.

So why should anyone believe the Patriots will beat the Green Bay Packers on Sunday and avoid turning the AFC's Dirty Dozen into an Unlucky 13?

"Mike Tyson was a big favorite, too," Patriots linebacker Willie McGinest said. "Everyone thought he would knock out Evander Holyfield, and I did too. But in that kind of fight and this kind of game, anything goes. The Packers have a good team, and they have a right to be confident. But that doesn't shatter our confidence. They don't scare us."

> Mike Tyson was a big favorite, too.
>
> WILLIE McGINEST
> Patriots linebacker

Nor does the 14-point line. Both sides, in fact, are discounting it.

The Packers claim they won't get trapped into thinking that just because history, the oddsmakers and — according to some Patriots — the media say they are locks for their first NFL crown in 29 years, that the outcome isn't in doubt. They don't believe in this same-time-next-year stuff.

"The best two teams are here," Packers defensive end Sean Jones said. "When we beat Carolina last week, it was the two best teams in the NFC. I believe New England defied the odds and showed they are the best team in the AFC. It's always good for football when the two best teams are playing."

Usually, the two best teams are meeting for the NFC crown, punctuated by the lengthy championship runs of San Francisco and Dallas, which have three victories each in the ongoing Super Bowl string.

Only in 1988, when the Bengals were 12-4 and the 49ers 10-6, did the AFC champion have a better record.

Only in 1987, when the Broncos were favored over Washington, and 1990, with the Bills favored over the Giants, was the NFC representative an underdog.

Patriots coach Bill Parcells, who has been the center of attention concerning his status after Sunday's game, guided the Giants to two championships in the streak.

He understands the reasons for the NFC's dominance and why virtually any of that conference's winners will be favored in the Super Bowl — at least until an AFC team wins the darn thing.

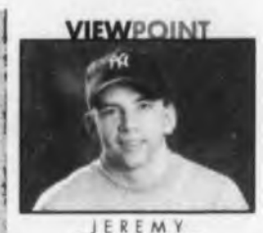
"When I was coaching in the NFC," said Parcells, who had a relatively easy media day after being grilled about his future on Monday, "we had a lot of good teams there.

"And I think that the teams that came out of the NFC at that time and eventually made it to the Super Bowl were battle-hardened, because they had to beat the Bears and the Redskins and the 49ers. You know, there were a lot of teams that you had to beat."

The Patriots had to beat a Pittsburgh team with an ailing main weapon, Jerome Bettis and a second-year Jacksonville club that was playing its third road game in as many weeks. To get here, the Packers knocked off the 49ers and the Panthers, also a second-year team, but one that finished 12-4 and won eight straight — including eliminating the defending champion Dallas Cowboys.

That, plus the streak and the statistics — Green Bay led the league with 456 points and allowed the fewest, 210 — made the Pats heavy longshots. Since the Dolphins began the 12-game slide with a 38-16 loss as a 3-point underdog to San Francisco, AFC squads have gotten lots of points in betting spreads.

New England is the second-largest underdog since 1984, ahead of only San Diego's 19-point margin two years ago, the most in Super Bowl history.



Brett Favre could care less. The Packers quarterback didn't come to New Orleans on holiday.

"I think this team can handle it well, because it's been like that all season. We've been the favorite for the majority of games," Favre said. "When we were not favored, I think we lost.

"I think it's how teams handle all the pressure, not who is the favorite. The team that handles the pressure has a better chance to win, but as far as being a favorite or an underdog, that doesn't bother us. That doesn't matter."

Parcells' success with Giants will carry over for a victory

VIEWPOINT

JEREMY KELLEY

JEREMY KELLEY is a sophomore in print journalism. You can e-mail your comments to Jeremy at (weasal1@ksu.edu).

The New England Patriots will win the Super Bowl for one reason and for one reason only: head coach Bill Parcells.

Parcells has revitalized the Patriots since taking over the team in 1993 and has guided the once-forgotten New England team to the Super Bowl. Parcells is 5-0 in championship games — three conference and two Super Bowls — and would love nothing better than to be the first to record a Super Bowl victory in both the NFC and the AFC.

But should one be surprised? After all, Parcells did the same thing with the New York Giants. When Parcells began with the Giants in 1983, the team went 3-12 and everyone thought Parcells was a phony, but then he turned everything around.

> Bledsoe will trigger a Patriot offense that will put mega-points on the board.

The next two years the Giants went 9-7 and 10-6 and eventually fell in the playoffs both years to the eventual Super Bowl Champions.

Then 1986 came, and the world saw a new Parcells and a new Giants organization. The Giants shocked the world by recording a 14-2 regular season tally, and they were heavily favored to win the Super Bowl.

The Giants up-ended San Francisco and Washington in the playoffs and then routed Denver 39-20 to win the Super Bowl.

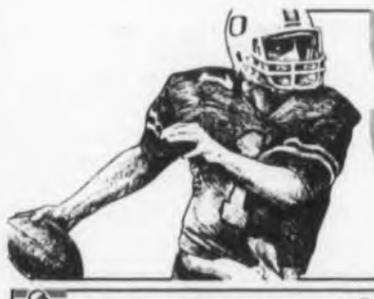
Sure, the Giants fell off the face of the Earth the next year, but Parcells changed things around again and directed his team to another Super Bowl victory over Buffalo in 1990.

When Parcells took over the Patriots in 1993, he was dismal as the team went 5-11, 10-6 and then 6-10 in the past three years. But here they are in the Super Bowl. Look for the AFC powerhouse to regain the Super Bowl reigns for the AFC.

Pure coincidence? I don't think so. The AFC hasn't won a Super Bowl in the past 13 years, because the NFC has been so dominant. Parcells brings that NFC mentality to the Patriots, and that's the main reason they will win.

What will further anchor an AFC win for the Patriots is a defense that allowed just 68 points in its past seven games. Middle linebacker Ted Johnson and defensive end Willie McGinest have provided an excellent defensive against the run. Oh yes, who can forget the favorite: 297-pound Pio Sagapolurele — you've got to love this czar of zone just because he has a cool name. You know the Patriot defense is like butter, because it's on a roll.

Punter Tom Tupa is an extra weapon for the Patriots. He is a punter, but was once a starter for the Phoenix Cardinals. Don't be surprised if Tupa executes a few fake punts. That's a trademark of New England coach Parcells, who broke open the 1987 Super Bowl with a fake punt.



Mark my words, Drew Bledsoe will have the greatest game of his career against the Packers. It is high time that Bledsoe have a good game, and what a perfect opportunity it would be for him to break loose in the Super Bowl.

In his two playoff games he has been rather inconsistent. Against Pittsburgh he had a good first half, but then fell apart as the game grew older. Against Jacksonville he was basically out of sync.

Bledsoe will trigger a Patriot offense that will put mega-points on the board. Don't be surprised if wide receiver Terry Glenn is the MVP. He set a rookie record this season with 90 receptions. Look for Bledsoe to connect with the rookie sensation and throw the Cheeseheads for a loop.

Bledsoe will be the heart and soul of this football team. Let me stress the word heart. He is inconsistent, but the guy has heart. He's due for an outstanding performance and this fourth-year quarterback will show the Pack his heart and probably a little of his arm at the same time.

Bledsoe will out-scrap, out-hustle and out-lay Brett Favre. Favre will be the happiest man in the world once the Super Bowl is over, but he won't be thrilled because the Pack has an NFL championship. He'll rejoice even more because the NFL lifted his alcohol ban.

SUPER BOWL XXXI

KJs Dance Club and Pizza Hut
have combined to bring you
a Super Bowl blowout
$3.99 All you can eat pizza during the game
"not just pizza - Pizza Hut Pizza"
BIG SCREEN
Everytime you see a Bud Light commercial = a FREE T-Shirt
Pick the Score Before the Game
Closest to Halftime Score = $50 gift certificate
Closest to the Final Score = $50 cash
COUCHES
Doors open 2 p.m.
See ya here

LARGE PEPPERONI $6.99
2 Medium 1-Topping Pizzas $10.99
DINE IN • CARRY OUT • DELIVERED
3033 ANDERSON AVE.
BREADEAUX PIZZA
ORIGINAL FRENCH CRUST
537-5080

SUPER SUBS AT SUPER BOWL PRICES, ONLY AT
SUBS N SUCH
Home of the Kitchen Sink
4 FT. AND 6 FT. SUBS
537-2411
We Deliver

Rose Muffler House & House of Tint
FOR EXHAUST, BRAKES, SHOCKS & STRUTS, WINDOW TINTING & AUTO ACCESSORIES SEE
Jim, Mark, Brian, Wayne & Tim
2049 Ft. Riley Blvd. • Manhattan
776-8955 • 1-800-439-8956

FREE DELIVERY
HUNAM Restaurant
1304 Westloop AND LOUNGE
539-8888
539-0888
Super Bowl Delivery Special
No Minimum Delivery
Sweet & Sour Pork.....$5.55
Sweet & Sour Chicken....$5.55
Sweet & Sour Shrimp.....$5.55
Pepper Steak.....$5.55
Beef With Broccoli.....$5.55
Almond Chicken.....$5.55
Moo Goo Gai Pan.....$5.55
Cashew Chicken.....$5.55
Mongolian Beef.....$5.55
Yu Shiang Shrimp.....$5.55
*All items come with eggroll and fried rice.
Open 7 Days a Week

Spectacular Super Bowl Savings at Dean Liquor
Keystone Light 12-pack $4.75 reg. $5.79
Bud & Bud Lt. 12-pack Bottles $6.98 save $2
Crown Royal 750ml $16.96 save $4
Captain Morgan 375ml $4.98 reg. $6.19
Seagram's 7 1.75L $10.95 * save almost $10 per bottle
Seagram's VO 1.75L $16.95 *
Dos Equis Lager 6 pk $4.48 save $1.50
Franzia 3.0L $5.96 save $2
White Rose, Blush, Chillable Red, Blush, Mountain Chablis
White Zinfandel $8.96 save $3
Fumé Chardonnay, Cabernet Sauvignon $9.96 save $5
Call us last for your best keg prices and selection
12th & Laramie· Aggieville
539-5269
* with mail-in rebate
DEAN LIQUOR

Claflin Books and Copies
1814 Claflin Road • Across from Goodnow Hall
BOOKS
SELF-SERVE COPIES
RESUMES
WORD PROCESSING
NEWSPAPERS
DESKTOP PUBLISHING
FAX SERVICE
GREETING CARDS
HELP!
Calling all CHEESEHEADS and Chowderheads! The staff at CBC would like to have the day off to watch the Superbowl. But we need your help to convince her--please stop by the store and tell Stormy what a good idea it would be to let us have the day off. If would mean a lot to us . . . We'll all root for your team . . . honest . . .
(913) 776-3771
Fax: (913) 776-1009
E-mail: cbcbkcpy@interkan.net

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
SPORTS
FRIDAY, JANUARY 24, 1997

SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY
e-mail: (weasal1@ksu.edu)

STEVE HEBERT/Collegian
K-STATE'S Jenny Coalson (center) tries to pull down a rebound over Iowa State's Jayme Olson (left) and K-State's Angie Finkes (right) in Bramlage Coliseum Wednesday night.

K-State saddles up for Aggies

Cats look for solution to breakdown Texas A&M

JEREMY KELLEY
sports editor

One thing will be certain come Saturday's Big 12 showdown between K-State and Texas A&M at College Station: one team will record its first Big 12 victory.

Texas A&M (6-9, 0-5) fell to the No. 1 team in the country Wednesday night, 89-60. Meanwhile, K-State lost its sixth-straight game, fifth straight in the conference, to Iowa State.

In its last three games, K-State has had double-digit leads at some point in the ballgame only to falter in the end.

In Saturday's game, the only thing on the Wildcats' minds will be to record its first win in the Big 12.

"Texas A&M is just another game," Coach Tom Asbury said. "The only thing I know is that we have to get a win somewhere along the line."

The Wildcats hung tight against the Cyclones, but Asbury said they lost their poise in the final minutes of the game.

"We've got to have more poise and more concentration to get good shots down the stretch," Asbury said.

Texas A&M doesn't have a win in the conference either, but that shouldn't take away from their season.

The Aggies boast four players who are averaging double-digit scoring tallies every night out, led by a sophomore guard who is chipping in 12.3 points and nabbing six rebounds per game.

Like K-State, the Aggies are in a losing slump of their own, dropping their last eight games, three of which came to top-10 teams.

The Cats look to avoid another breakdown while maintaining their poise down the stretch.

Guard Paco May said the team's breakdown wasn't due to a lack of effort.

"I don't know what the breakdown is," May said. "It seems everybody's playing hard at times, but when we get down to the end we can't pull it off."

Wednesday night after the game, May said he really didn't have answers for K-State's six-consecutive losses.

"I don't know. For real, I don't know," he said. "We ain't winning. I don't care if we play hard, but we get no results."

Guard Marcus McCullough said he hopes K-State can find some answers Saturday in College Station.

"We're looking for a win and that's pretty much what we want — to go out and get one," he said. "That's our next obstacle."

JILL JARSULIC/Collegian
K-STATE'S Shawn Rhodes takes a jump shot over the arms of Cyclone Tony Rampton.

Women attempt to halt aggressive mentality, improve winning streak

SUN DEE MILLS
staff reporter

Texas A&M's women's basketball team is 7-8 for the season, and only 1-4 in the Big 12. However, Coach Deb Patterson said she expects a tough game from the Aggies at 7 Saturday night in Bramlage Coliseum.

"This team has a real aggressive mentality," Patterson said. "They will pressure us 94 feet and will try to force us into a lot of mistakes."

Aggie coach Candi Harvey is in her third year of coaching at A&M, but she has visited the NCAA Tournament with her teams two out of three of those years.

"They've got a lot of youth on the team," Patterson said. "They had one of the best point guards in the nation, but they graduated a lot of those players. They're re-establishing who they are."

It is safe to say Aggie senior guard Lana Tucker is a probable starter. Tucker has only missed one game in her Aggie career and has started since the end of her freshman year.

This year, Tucker averages 15 points a game, is 41 percent from the three-point line and shoots free throws with 80 percent accuracy.

The Cats also need to watch senior forward Melissa Rollerson, who averages six boards and 11 points per game.

The Cats have had two days to prepare for the Aggies, coming off their eighth home victory over Iowa State, 62-54. Junior guard Brit Jacobson said all Big 12 teams are a challenge and must not be taken lightly.

"I think any time you play in the Big 12, you have a big game on your hands," Jacobson said. "You've always got to be ready for anything."

Senior forward Kayla Hester said surprises were definitely possible.

"Anything can happen in the Big 12," Hester said. "We already know that from the win against Texas. There have already been so many upsets."

Men's soccer club kicks off season with tournament in Kansas City

MATT SPURGIN
staff writer

The K-State men's soccer club will be getting a head start on its season this weekend in the regionals of the North American Indoor Soccer Championship.

"Normally, we don't play in indoor tournaments," Eric Fitzwater, club member, said.

Fitzwater said the team usually doesn't start the season this early because of the weather, but the indoor tourney gave it an unusual opportunity.

The tournament will be in the All American Indoor Sports complex in Lenexa. This is one of 57 regional sites in North America.

K-State will be playing in the men's open division. The team will play three games in two days this weekend.

Fitzwater said if the team finishes in the top three, it will go on to nationals, which will take place March 7-9 in Columbus, Ohio.

The men's club team is looking at a tournament in Wichita later this semester.

The Lazzlo tournament is one the team won last year, and it can hope to muster a repeat performance.

The Men's Open National Finals will be a showcase for the new Eastern Indoor Soccer League, which is a professional, developmental league for the Continental Indoor Soccer League and the National Professional Soccer League.

Coaches from the EISL will be scouting the Men's Open National Finals for talent and at least one player will be offered an opportunity to play in the season starting summer 1997.

Andrew Beard, club vice president, said he really didn't know what to expect from the tournament because the team doesn't really play much indoors.

He said about 2,000 players, ranging in age from 6 to 40, are expected to play in the 57 regional tournaments.

"I hope we do well," Beard said. "It kind of depends how quickly we click."

Fitzwater said the team was looking for more and more opportunities to gain closeness as a team, and he thought this tournament would accomplish that.

"This will give us a chance to get used to playing with each other again," Fitzwater said.

K-STATE FORWARD RASHAD ADAMS attempts to maneuver around an Iowa State defender last fall in the Ed Chartrand Memorial Tournament at Frank Annenberg Park. The men's soccer club begins its spring season this weekend at an indoor tournament in Kansas City.

BLAIN FISHER/Collegian

Little guys deserve pat on back

You all know the tune — sing along:

"It's a small world after all. It's a small world after all. It's a small world after all. It's a small, small world."

It would seem at first thought that there's no place those words appear to ring less true than in the land of giants — otherwise known as the world of sports — but I wonder if this is actually the case.

I pondered this query and came to the conclusion that it's in fact the small that make the sports world go round. I myself am knee-high to a tadpole and tend to take notice of these things.

I have composed my list of the Small World Hall of Fame. I am not yet included.

● The smallest man ever to play the game of baseball was a 3'7" titan of pure power-hitting potential. Actually, he could have been if he hadn't been walked on four consecutive pitches.

Sporting the number one-eight on his teeny-tiny jersey, the 65-pound pint-size pinch hitter stepped up to the plate in 1951 for the St. Louis Browns.

Following his at bat, baseball's rules were rewritten and the strike zone was reinvented to ensure he wouldn't become the sport's all-time walk leader.

Such a small man, such a shrinking strike zone.

And who can overlook the shortstop position: Cal graced the spot and his unbelievable streak is still going. Ozzie Smith, the Wizard of Oz, may have called it quits, but his legacy won't melt away any time soon. I know neither of them are necessarily small in stature, but they still were shortstops (I'm stretching here, I know.)

VIEWPOINT

TARA WRAY

TARA WRAY is a sophomore in pre-journalism and mass communications. You can e-mail comments to Tara at (twray @ksu.edu)

● In the ultimate game of giant beasts, football, who can overlook the importance of the kicker? Thank God for those little guys. Without them there would never be a kickoff, punt or field goal.

They're easy to hoist up when they kick a game winner, and they're easy to get rid of when they don't. (Has anyone seen Lin Elliot lately?)

They're indispensable and yet easily disposable.

● Basketball — the holy grail of hugeness. Shoe sizes here are bigger than my entire body. The prerequisite in this sport is the inability to fit into the average size car. You thought their salaries were exorbitant — you try expanding a car to fit your 7'3" frame. It doesn't come cheap.

Basketball, though it's the epitome of the colossal sports, places all its importance on scoring. Mind you, this is happening through a hoop that is not much larger than the average players' hands from the tip of the middle finger to the bottom of their wrist.

Such a small target for such huge men.

However, there are those who defy the basketball rules. There's Spud Webb for instance. At 5'7", he won a NBA slam-dunk competition. So did Muggsy Bogues, and he only stands 5'3".

● Gymnastics or the so-called little girls in pretty boxes (if anyone can explai they wear is smaller than any helmet you'll ever see, but not a single player will ever forgo it.

So the next time you're taking a look at the big picture in the sporting world, stop and think for a minute. Then stand up, look down and give those littlefigure it's the smallest things in a game that make the most difference.

When it comes down to it, football is a game that can be won or lost by inches; golf is a game of yards where the ultimate target is the size of a fist; and baseball, well, that cup they wear is smaller than any helmet you'll ever see, but not a single player will ever forgo it.

So the next time you're taking a look at the big picture in the sporting world, stop and think for a minute. Then stand up, look down and give those little guys a pat on the head. They deserve it.

ADD SPICE TO YOUR DINNER BY ATTENDING THEATER

▶ Union Program Council will feature "Red, White Murder Dinner Theater" at 7 p.m. Jan. 30 in the Union Ballroom. Reservations can be made in the UPC office, which is located on the third floor of the Union.

▶ DEAR CASSIE

I read your ad today and thought I would give you a little work. I don't know if you'll be able to help me or not, but I'll give it a shot anyway.

I'm a single black male who has just about given up on relationships. The problem is that I just can't seem to find a young lady who believes in an honest, open and sincere relationship.

I know that there are plenty of young ladies looking for these same three principles in a relationship, but I have yet to meet them.

I thought I would give this method a try and see if I could get a response. Race isn't an issue; I want to be with someone on a down-to-earth level.

Games are for kids

Dear Games,

As the weaver of all love games, I find myself somewhat insulted by your insinuation that you can have a relationship without games. After all, love is the game humans have been playing for millions of years. It's the best indoor game I can think of.

You've heard this a million times, but it's true: you won't find her until you quit looking. In the meantime, get off your butt and socialize.

The next time you see a pretty woman smiling at you, smile back. Heck, go talk to her. No guts, no glory, bucko.

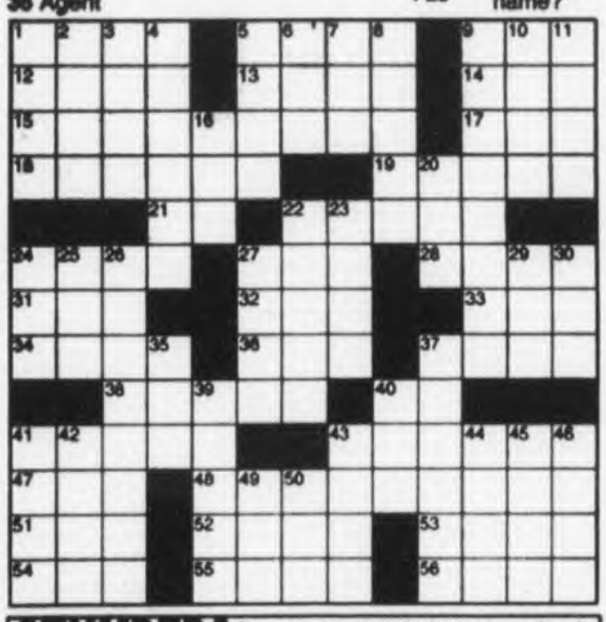
I'm here to tell you it will end in tears. Unless, of course, you don't care about her. Then it won't matter if she stomps on your heart like a doormat.

Love is worth all the tears, torment and pain, because of the smile you get at the breakfast table and the joy that fills you just watching her sleep.

Love,
Cassie

▶ DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 "Lights out" call
5 Masticate
9 Scroogean cry
12 Erstwhile Hemsley sitcom
13 Tra followers
14 Brewery output
15 Fashion model/ actress
17 Promptly
18 Off
19 Fare, maybe
21 Actor Marshall
22 Opera extra's handful
24 Abrades
27 Conk out
28 Cobain or Waldheim
31 "There — tide in the affairs..."
32 Paul Bunyan's need
33 — Beta Kappa
34 "Two Years Before the Mast" author
36 Agent
37 Fermi's concern
38 Some sportswear
40 Baseball pos.
41 "Mary's a Grand Old Name" composer
43 "Sweeney Todd" star
47 Luau music-maker
48 Alaska city
51 Lingerie purchase
52 Writer Ferber
53 Between gigs
54 Blue
55 Peregrinate
56 Twosome



DOWN
1 Farewell
2 Grant and Irving
3 Saucy
4 Entraps
5 Gumby's makeup
6 400-year Chinese dynasty
7 Wapiti
8 Haste product
9 Worst space on the Wheel of Fortune
10 — vera
11 Chopped
16 Gladstone, e.g.
20 Erstwhile acorn
22 "Boxcars"
23 Incubator sound
24 Disencumber
25 "Born in the —"
26 "Lifeboat" star
27 Pub missile
29 Plato's P
30 "A Christmas Carol" lad
35 Literary collection
37 Trepid
39 Reach a conclusion
40 Urban transport
41 Losers since 1908
42 Gumbo base
43 Pull an all-nighter
44 "Temple of Doom" hero
45 Sooners' st.
46 Previously owned
49 Bustle
50 "What's — name?"

Solution time: 22 mins.

H	A	J	I		G	E	E		S	H	A	M
I	K	O	N		R	O	D		T	I	L	E
D	I	T	C	H	I	N	G		E	T	O	N
E	N	S	U	E	D		E	L	E	C	T	S
			R	A	D		S	O	P	H
H	O	P		T	L	C		G	L	I	D	E
U	R	I	S		E	O	S		E	N	I	D
G	E	T	T	O		T	H	E		G	A	S
		C	R	U	D		O	R	O
S	P	H	E	R	E		R	I	C	H	I	E
A	L	I	E		W	I	T	C	H	I	N	G
F	U	N	T		E	R	E		E	L	S	A
E	G	G	S		Y	E	N		R	O	O	D

Yesterday's answer

1-23

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

1-23 CRYPTOQUIP

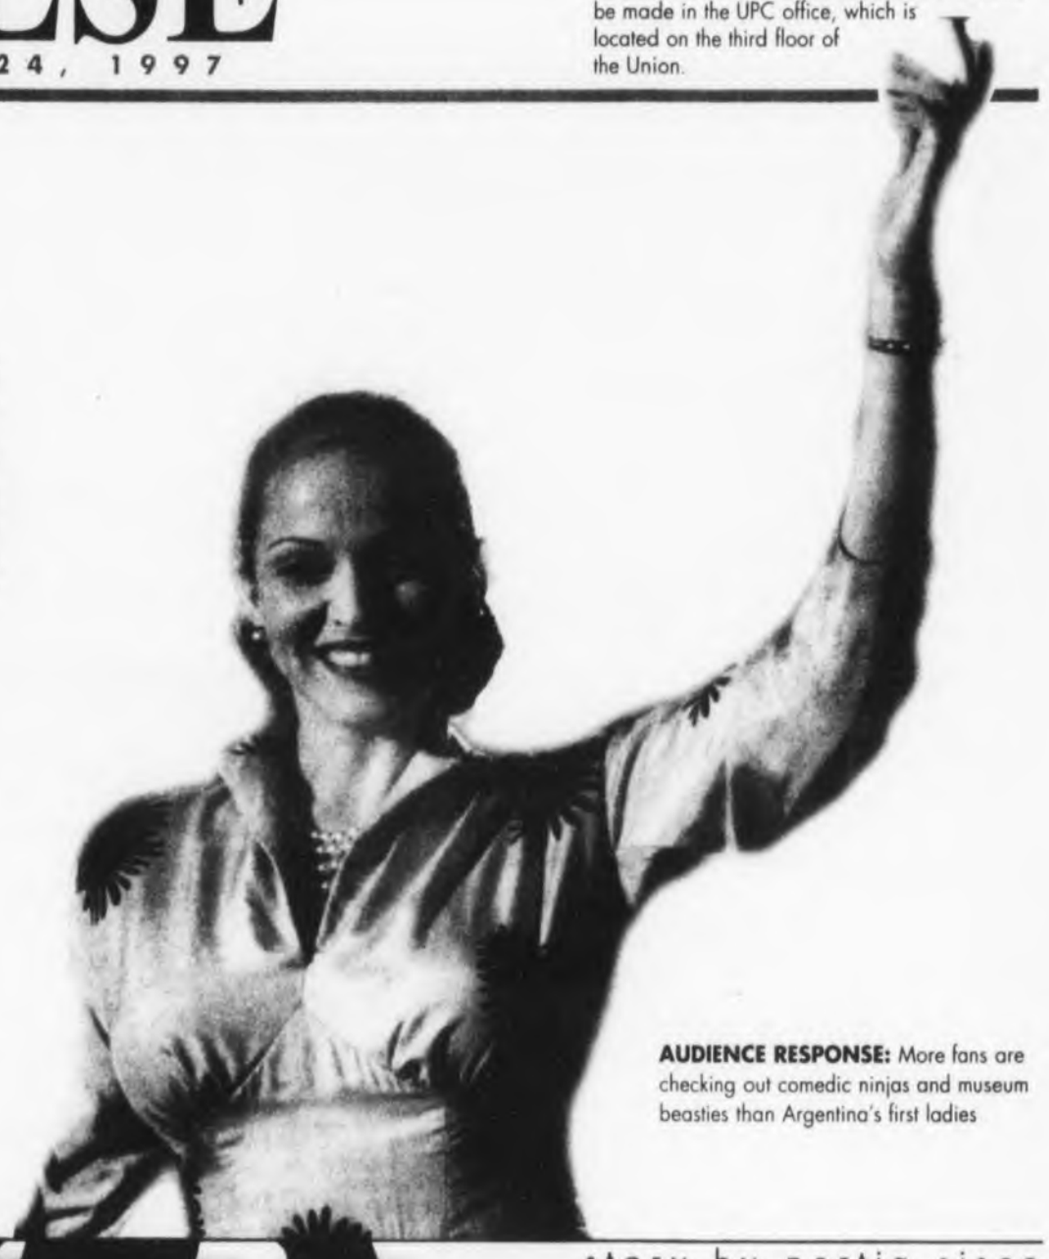
U EMGYYC KFRSME UT CFD BFDYS MNME BFRIUSME G TMGIQ GR MGQ KGNM.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE COMPLIMENTARY PAINTER SIMPLY LIKED TO SPREAD IT ON THICK.



Today's Cryptoquip clue: K equals W

▶ MELVIN VS. THE WORLD

This weekend, movie-goers can bypass the normal fare to see Madonna spin the tale of the first lady of Argentina in the Golden Globe award winning screenplay

AUDIENCE RESPONSE: More fans are checking out comedic ninjas and museum beasties than Argentina's first ladies

EVITA

story by portia sisco

In her award-winning performance as Eva Perón in "Evita," Madonna beckons the people to love her. And they do.

Who is this Santa Evita?

The character Evita is based on Eva Perón, wife of Juan Perón, a former president of Argentina. Eva Perón died of cancer at the age of 33.

Andrew Lloyd Webber and Tim Rice developed the award-winning score to "Evita" before Madonna was the queen of pop rock. So why is it so popular now?

This screenplay has, in its own way, brought Broadway musicals back to the big screen. "Evita" was filmed in Buenos Aires, Budapest and London.

What Madonna lacks in operatic ability, she makes up for in her enthusiasm for the role. Although Madonna lacks the full-trained vocal ability of an opera singer, her enthusiasm makes her performance spectacular. Madonna shines on the screen. She makes crooked Eva, a narcissistic embezzler, a sympathetic character. The audience loves her.

Madonna has never done well in the box office. Her movies were all recognized as incredible flops, with the exception of "A League of Their Own," in which she had a minor role.

Is it the music? There are differences in the original score and in the new screenplay version. Some verses and lyrics are changed, but the backbone of the music remains intact.

"Evita" doesn't pretend to be anything but a rock opera. There are no words spoken. The story is told entirely through music. The song "You Must Love Me" has even gained popularity on the radio.

Madonna was chastised for taking the role because of her reputation. This has no effect on her performance in "Evita." As Eva Perón, she bears very little resemblance to the bleached blond junk-jewelry Madonna of the early 1980s.

We see Eva through her transition from poor country girl to first lady of Argentina. This is very similar to Madonna's own ascension as a singer.

Although Eva is self-centered, it is clear that she helped the people of Argentina, although it was for her own narcissistic reasons. The music behind the songs is all Webber's creation. His magical touch sets the mood in every scene. Combined with Rice's lyrics, "Evita" moves the audience to tears.

On her deathbed, Eva has no regrets. In a song titled "Lament," Eva accepts her death. This is a powerful scene because of Madonna's vocal ability. Even dying, Evita's tenacious character is determined to hold on.

Madonna earned best actress in a musical or comedy at the Golden Globes for her performance.

Antonio Banderas holds his own in his role as Che.

Che is a storyteller and advocate of the people. His character portrays the truth, although he is often ignored by the people he represents.

Banderas' vocal background includes a solo in "Desperado." He is obviously a talented vocalist, but this is a change from his role as a hard killer in "Desperado."

"Evita" was beat out for first place last week in the box offices by "The Relic," with "Michael" coming in at a close third. This is an impressive accomplishment for a musical in a medium that is dominated by action adventure and comedy.

"Evita" has a message. Eva was a woman, and despite her incredible popularity, she wasn't good or bad. She was a person, not a saint.

BIG SWITCH: Antonio Banderas switches from gunslinger to music man

THE ORIGINAL FIRST LADY: Eva Peron circa 1945

THE CURRENT VERSION: Madonna in "Evita"

▶ DILBERT

Give the Collegian your opinion?

See something you like, don't like or would like to see covered, contact us by e-mail at (collegn@ksu.edu)

Shows give educators artistic outlet

RUSSELL FORTMEYER
senior staff writer

After working with students all day, the last thing a teacher might wish to do is to work all evening.

An art educator, like a poetry or music professor, almost has to practice what they preach or possibly face a creative block.

Although there are art teachers who do not practice their art, so-to-speak, there are many across the state of Kansas who do and do so surprisingly well.

The art of educators is the focus of the Kansas Art Education Association Second Annual Juried Members Exhibit at the Columbian Gallery in Wamego.

The exhibition, which originated at the Columbian last year, is a chance to see the diverse styles and mediums educators, from elementary school to the university level, employ when they are out of the classroom.

Margaret Buie, education and gallery coordinator at the Columbian, curated the show for the second year in a row. Buie was an art teacher at Wamego Middle School for 28 years, while also finding time to teach some K-State courses.

Buie said the exhibition is a way to give Kansas art educators, who are not always considered artists, some exposure to a state audience.

"When you are teaching, it's really hard to focus on your own art," Buie said. "It is difficult to concentrate on yours when you're concentrating on your students' work."

Buie said the show has also worked to encourage more art educators to create art more proficiently.

"Last year, it was the first time in a juried gallery show for some of the people," she said. "I know from talking to the artists they really appreciate being able to show their work in this state."

Two pieces by Buie were selected for the show, which were juried by artist Ron Hinton, of Lawrence.

Buie's "American Stonehenge II" and "Sarah" are watercolor-monotype prints, a medium she has experimented with since taking a workshop in Salina.

"They are based on people and events in my life," she said. "It's a totally new focus for me. Because I can do more than one of the prints, I can do things with them like draw on them."

The show's mixed arrangement helps, according to Buie, to place each piece with contrasting or complementary pieces.

"We wanted to arrange it so there was a balance," she said.

There may be balance, but the variety of the pieces is what is so obvious.

Nearly every medium, outside of anything electronic, is represented.

K-State is represented by the works of Lynda E. Andrus, assistant professor of art, who has included two of her mixed collages of paint, fabric and paper.

Phyllis Epps, instructor of art, is represented by two minimalist drawings, notably "Lamb," in graphite, which leaves a few clues of Epps' deceptively simple process.

The odd piece of the lot is D. Deanna Trapp's strangely hypnotic "But," a painting of a large, overweight woman's behind. The bright pastels, slightly shaded in the nether regions, really do glow — as Buie herself will testify. It dares you to turn away.

The entire exhibition is anchored by the work of Jinx Wright, an art educator in Hutchinson for nearly 33 years, who now works in watercolors.

Wright's colorful and precise watercolors, such as the complex "Homage to

See GALLERY, Page 12

BEN WHITE/Collegian

THE KANSAS ART Education Association Second Annual Juried Members Exhibit is at the Columbian Gallery, 521 Lincoln Ave., in Wamego, until Feb. 9. Call 1-800-899-1893 for more information.

Read the Collegian because we're cool.

PETS 'N' STUFF
539-9494 Hand Fed Cockatiels 1105 Waters

"No Coupon" Specials (NO coupon needed, NONE accepted)
Everyday Two-fers
2 - PIZZAS with
2 - TOPPINGS each
2 - COKES with ice
$9.12
Everyday Three-fers
3 - PIZZAS with
1 - TOPPING each
3 - COKES with ice
$11.23
Prices do not include sales taxes.
Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

This coupon good for
Hot Braised Chicken $4.40
Dine-in & carryout
All You Can Eat Buffet for Lunch and Supper
FREE DELIVERY
(Minimum order $9)
Expires 2-7-97
Not valid with any other specials, coupons, or on deliveries.
HUNAM EXPRESS
1116 Moro
537-0886
Mon.-Sat. 11 a.m.-1 a.m.
Sun. 11 a.m.-Midnight

CUPPA JOE Presents,
Musician Rob Watson,
Live Tonight 7-9 p.m.
111 S. 4th 537-5119
Visit our home page at http://www~personal.interkan.net/~javajoe/cuppajoe.html

RELIGION DIRECTORY

FIRST LUTHERAN
10th Poyntz 537-8532
Worship Sat. 5:30 p.m., Sun. 8:30 & 11 a.m.
Sunday School all ages 9:40 a.m.

St. Isidore's
Masses: Sat. 5 p.m.
Sun. 9:30, 11 a.m., & 5 p.m.
Confessions: Sat. 4 p.m.
711 Denison 539-7496
Chaplain: Father Brad Sterrett

Manhattan Mennonite Church
Sunday School 9:30 a.m., Worship 10:45 a.m.
Eldon Epp, Pastor
10th and Fremont 539-4079
Child Care Available

St. Francis Canterbury Episcopal Campus Ministry
Eucharist & Guitar in Danforth Chapel
Every Sunday at 5 p.m.
Rev. Cathy Chittenden-Bascom
532-9099

CRESTVIEW CHRISTIAN CHURCH
College Class 9:15 a.m.
Morning Worship 10:30 a.m.
Evening Bible Study 6 p.m.
4761 Tuttle Creek Blvd.
(3 miles north of Kimball Ave.)
776-3798

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH
8:30 & 11 a.m. Worship
9:45 a.m. Church School including University and Young adult classes
Nursery provided for all services
Omer G. Tittle, Pastor
612 Poyntz 776-8821
DIAL-A-PRAYER 776-9569

First Church of the Nazarene
MORNING WORSHIP..10:40 a.m.
EVENING PRAISE.....6:00 p.m.
SUNDAY SCHOOL.....9:30 a.m.
COLLEGE.....9:30 a.m.
3031 Kimball
539-6376 (pastor)
539-2851 (church)
Pat Weyrauch, Pastor

WESTVIEW COMMUNITY CHURCH
Morning Worship
8:30 & 10:45 a.m.
Sunday School 9:45 a.m.
College Career Classes Offered
Sunday Evening Worship 6 p.m.
1st Sunday
CARE CELLS (Small Groups)
2, 3, 4 Sunday 6 p.m.
3001 Ft. Riley Blvd. 537-7173

ST. LUKE'S LUTHERAN CHURCH
(LCMS)
6 p.m. Saturday Evening Service
7:45 a.m. Early Service
9 a.m. Bible Study
10 a.m. Contemporary Service
11:15 a.m. Late Service
330 N. Sunset Ave. 539-2604

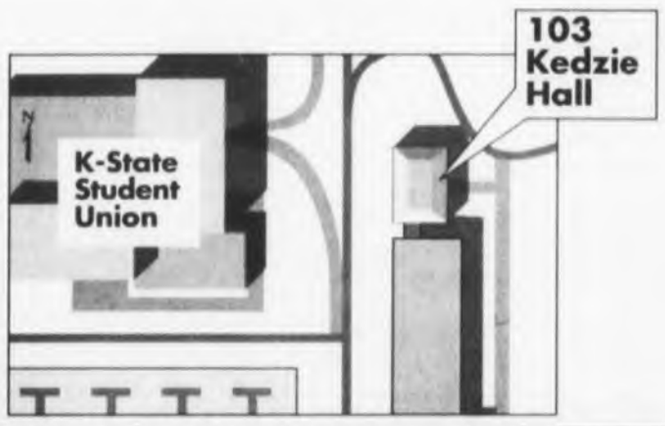
LIVING WATER RANCH CHURCH
An Affiliate of RHEMA Bible Church aka Kenneth Hagin Ministries
SUNDAY
Service 10:30 a.m.
School of Bible 9:30 a.m.
7 p.m. KOINONIA Fellowship
WEDNESDAY Service 7:30 p.m.
STERLING HUDGINS-PASTOR
Located 12 miles north of Tuttle Creek Dam, turn off Hwy. 13 at the sign.
4150 LIVING WATER DR.
OLSBURG, KS 66520
(913) 468-3615

First Presbyterian Church
Sunday School
9 A.M
Sunday Worship
10:30 AM
801 Leavenworth St. (913)537-0518

First Baptist Church
Sunday Worship 11 a.m.
Church School 9:45 a.m.
For free transportation within city limits, call the church.
Pastors Karen & Alan Selig
2121 Blue Hills Rd.
539-8691
An American Baptist Congregation

Join us this Sunday!
College Heights Baptist Church
2221 College Heights Road
(on Anderson, across from KSU Foundation building)
College Bible Study 9:15 a.m.
Worship Service 10:30 a.m.

Lutheran Campus Ministry
at Luther House 1745 Anderson
Sunday Worship 7:15 p.m.
in the Danforth Chapel
College Liturgy
"Now the Feast and Celebration"
Pastor Jayne Thompson
539-4451
— Open to All —



First Baptist Church
Sunday Worship 11 a.m.
Church School 9:45 a.m.
For free transportation within city limits, call the church.
Pastors Karen & Alan Selig
2121 Blue Hills Rd.
539-8691
An American Baptist Congregation

First Congregational Church
700 Poyntz (Poyntz and Juliette) 537-7006
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
Adult Ed. Class
Worship 10:45 a.m.
Sermon:
"Life is like a Road Trip"
Sunday, Jan. 26
Rev. Donald Longbottom

The Assembly
Manhattan's first Assembly of God
2310 Candlewood
537-7633
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
College Sunday School Class 9:30 a.m.
Hispanic Sunday School Class 9:30 a.m.
Worship Service 10:30 a.m.
Evening Praise 6 p.m.
Wed. Family Night 7 p.m.
- Youth Group
-Royal Rangers
- Missionettes
Nursery Provided For All Services

St. Francis Anglican Fellowship at KSU
"Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord."
Psalm 33:12
The Anglican Churches of :
Uganda
South India
the Province of Nigeria
the Province of the West Indies
the Province of Southern Africa
the Province of Tanzania
the Province of Kenya
England
Services are held in Danforth Chapel on Campus.
Sundays at 5 p.m..
Call Tim or Cathy Bascom at 532-9099.

CLASSIFIEDS

● DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classified display must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.

● HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an established account with Student Publications Inc.

Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks.

● CALL OR STOP BY

To place your classified, call 532-6555.

Place your classified ad in 103 Kedzie.

010 BULLETIN BOARD

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING plus ground school for private, instrument and multi-engine ratings. K-State Flying Club approved instructor. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

ATTENTION ALL students!!! Grants and scholarships available from sponsors!!! No repayments, ever!!! $$$ Cash for college $$$ for information: (800)243-2435.

Need some Extra Cash
It's quick.
It's easy.
You can earn $80 a week, just by donating plasma. Ask our friendly staff for details.
Manhattan Biomedical Center NABI
776-9177
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.
1130 Gardenway

COLLEGE FINANCIAL AID -Student Financial Services has information on 3,400+ public and private sector funding sources. A must for anyone seeking financial aid! For information: 1-800-263-6495 ext.F57689.

Wedding Open House
January 25 and 26
Drawings for free gifts!
Mr. P's Party Outlet
Manhattan, KS 66502
318 Poyntz 776-7547

DISCOVER DIVING scuba lessons, college credit, low rates, Aggie Dive Shop 539-DIVE.

FAST FUNDRAISER-RAISE $500 IN FIVE DAYS- GREEKS, GROUPS, CLUBS, MOTIVATIONAL INDIVIDUALS. FAST, EASY-NO FINANCIAL OBLIGATION. (800)862-1982 EXT. 33.

GRADUATING OR need help with your resume? Information tips and sample resumes available. Guaranteed results. Send SASE to: Resemue Renovations P.O. Box 1384 Clemson, SC 29633.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 539-3733.

SALE ON Mary Kay products. Great opportunity to purchase Mary Kay products at a reduced rate. Call Marianne at 565-0754.

SCUBA DIVE Dreaming of those warm nights and clear waters... Learn to dive now for spring break and summer. Classes now forming. Call David Garvin, PADI, Creative Travel and Scuba, 539-0531.

SCUBA KSU classes starting Jan. 25th. NAUI and YMCA certification offered. Come join the fun. Contact UFM for info and registration 539-8763.

WICHITA EAGLE SUNDAY ONLY 15-week semester subscription only $12. Call Colleen Hampton at 539-5934 to subscribe. Offer expires 1/28/97.

030

Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU, driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

DEBORAH FROM Wakeeney (studying Criminal Justice), thank you, to you and your friends for buying me the Beck's at Last Chance on Monday 12/17 and for listening to an "old" Wildcat reminisce. Good luck in your internship in Junction City. Paul/ Jerz (the Arbitrator from Rochester, NY).

WE KICK ADS!
WE KICK ADS!
WE KICK ADS!

040

Meetings/ Events

CLERGY ABUSE Support Group for women who have experienced clergy abuse. Confidential! For more information call Ann 537-3936 or Adene 776-6884.

HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

NEXT TO campus: one-bedroom in very nice complex. Sublease rate. 539-2702 call/ message.

NICE, LARGE, one-bedroom apartment, near KSU, 1531 Leavenworth, $275 includes heat, water and trash, 537-4977.

ONE-BEDROOM. ONE block to campus. Washer and dryer. 537-4947 after 6p.m.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO baths, fireplace, central air, washer and dryer, $550/ month. Water and trash included. No pets. 776-8914.

TWO-BEDROOM, ONE block east of campus. 539-6236.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

814 THURSTON studio apartment water/ trash paid. No pets, available now, five month or more lease, $275. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE NOW. 915 Claflin, three-bedroom apartment heat, water, trash paid. Newly redecorated. No pets. $525. Call 539-3085.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS

AVAILABLE NOW. Leases through May. Rent negotiable. Most utilities paid. Cat ok. 537-8389, leave message please- will call as soon as possible.

AVAILABLE NOW: one-bedroom apt in quiet six-plex, adjacent to west campus. Central air and heat, appliances, private parking. Water and trash paid. No pets. $320/ month. Please call 532-7569 between 8-5p.m. or leave message.

GOLD KEY apartments, two-bedroom available now, 1419 Leavenworth, $450. Water and trash paid. Stove, refrigerator, washer and dryer provided. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom. Close to campus and City Park. $475/ month. Available immediately. 776-1771, Elaine.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, large, clean, dishwasher, pool, in a quiet complex, $370. 539-2649.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT two-bedroom basement by campus. 537-9188. Lease until July 97 on.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE in February, 430 Vattier, $350. Water and trash paid. Stove and refrigerator. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM WITH study in Aggieville available now, 1130 Fremont, $275. Water and trash paid. Stove and refrigerator. Lawn care provided. Cats okay. Call MDI 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM. CLOSE to campus. Water, trash, gas paid. No pets. Available, 539-1975.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS leasing one, two and three-bedroom apartments. Two pools, hot tub, horseshoes, volleyball. 539-2951.

PARKVIEW APARTMENTS, two-bedroom available in February, 1026 Osage, $495. Water and trash paid. Stove, refrigerator and dishwasher. On-site laundry and parking provided. Built in student desk in each bedroom. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

ROYAL TOWER Apartments, four-bedroom/ two bath available in February, $860. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances with dishwasher and microwave. Fitness room, jacuzzi, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

STUDIO APARTMENT, one block from campus. (913)494-2240.

STUDIO APARTMENT. $215. All utilities except electricity paid. Lease and deposit required. Available now 537-7794.

Leasing Now For August
- Fremont Apts
- Sandstone Apts
- College Heights
- Cambridge Square

Large 2-bedroom Units.
537-9064
Weekdays:
8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Sat. 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

THREE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. $395. Available now. 539-2450.

TWO AND Three-bedroom apartments. Close to campus. 539-1713

TWO-BEDROOM $285. No smoking. No pets. 537-4016.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, lower level, new carpet, large and in a quiet complex, $400. 539-2649.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment close to campus. All utilities except electricity. No smoking or pets. New carpeting, $300. 1122 N 8th, 565-9642.

TWO-BEDROOM DUPLEX 2627 Claflin. Inspected and approved by code service section of Manhattan Fire services. No pets. Available, 539-3524.

TWO-BEDROOM HOUSE, Feb. 1. Two blocks from campus, nice, hardwood floors, storage. $500 month. 537-2968, leave message.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now, 1807 College Heights, $410. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now and February, 925 Denison, $410. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking. Newly remolded kithcens. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

115

Rooms Available

ONE-BEDROOM, TWO blocks from campus. Freshly redecorated. Washer/ dryer. 776-4130.

120

For Rent- Houses

FOUR TO five-bedroom house available June 1. One block to KSU. 539-1713.

ONE, TWO, three-bedroom for non-smoking, non-drinking, no pets. 539-1554.

ONE-BEDROOM HOUSE. Two blocks from campus. No pets. $350. Desperate to rent. Available now! 565-0797.

SEVEN-BEDROOM HOUSE. Close to KSU. 539-1713.

THREE-BEDROOM BRICK house. $570 per month. 537-8430.

TWO BLOCKS from campus. Three-bedroom, eat-in kitchen, living room, dining area, freshly redecorated, washer/ dryer. Second semester bargin. $600/ month. 776-4130.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT new bath and kitchen, washer/ dryer. Near city park. $350 plus deposit, 539-1145.

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

1984 MOBILE home in Redbud estates; three-bedroom, two bath; all appliances include dishwasher, washer/ dryer; $12,000 negotiable; 537-7526.

145

Roommate Wanted

$175/ MONTH plus one-half utilities. Own room in two-bedroom duplex. Available beginning January 1. 719 Leavenworth, 537-8651, leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE lease through July. West Chester Apartments 537-8423 or (913)451-0567.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for spring semester. Own bedroom, lots of closet and storage space. Close to campus (1850 Claflin) $230 plus one-third utilities January paid. Call 565-0160.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share four-bedroom apartment. Near campus. Call 539-9165.

FEMALE ROOMMATE non-smoker for two-bedroom mobile home. $175 plus one-half KPL. Cable, water and trash paid. 587-0157

FEMALE ROOMMATE, share four-bedroom, $209/ month, one-fourth utilities, GREAT ROOMMATES! 537-6291.

FEMALE ROOMMATE. Nice four-bedroom, one one-half bathroom house with washer/ dryer, $225. 776-0441

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Very nice two-bedroom apartment, next to campus. Reasonable price, trash/ water paid. No smoking/ drinking/ pets. 565-9250 (leave message).

MALE WANTED for furnished basement. No smoking/ drinking/ pets, please. Walk to KSU. 539-1554.

MALE/ FEMALE roommate needed to share four-bedroom, two bath house near campus. Central air, washer/ dryer, dishwasher, $212.50/ month. All bills split. 530 Bluemont. Call Briana, (816)455-6542.

NON-SMOKER TO share furnished two-bedroom apartment. $255 plus half utilities. Very close to campus. 1215 Bertrand. Call 539-8636.

ROOMMATE FOR three-bedroom apartment across from campus. $230/ month. contact Niki, 537-2098.

ROOMMATE NEEDED as soon as possible. Woodway Apartments, four-bedroom, two bath. $204/ month plus one-fourth utilities. 537-4732.

ROOMMATE NEEDED at 1230 Vattier- directly across from campus. Private bedroom, washer/ dryer, fireplace. $155 per month plus utilities, 539-1269.

ROOMMATE NEEDED at 824 Laramie. Private bedroom, washer, dryer provided. $185 per month plus utilities. 587-8338.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for apartment close to campus and Aggieville. Rent/ lease negotiable. One-third utilities. 537-6297.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share two-bedroom apartment. Washer/ dryer. Cats allowed, rent negotiable. Call Rhonda at 776-2788 or 537-3819.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share nice two-bedroom mobile home in Redbud Estates. Call Guy at 539-3503, 587-5711 or e-mail at graffix@kansas.net

ROOMMATE TO share three-bedroom house three blocks from campus. Close to campus and Aggieville. $275, all utilities paid. Cable. Washer/ dryer. Joanna or Jen. 776-9548. February rent free.

ROOMMATE WANTED for farmhouse. Good, quiet location on all-weather road with horse facilities. $140/ month plus utilities, 539-2029.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share three-bedroom house. $250/ month plus one-half utilities. Washer/ dryer. Pets allowed. Fenced yard. Carrie 776-6563.

ROOMMATE WANTED- Male/ female. Close to campus. $210/ month. Available now. Call Bill toll free (888)675-8464, leave message.

ROOMMATE WANTED. House close to campus. Own bedroom and bathroom. $215/ month plus one-fourth utilities. Call 776-3014.

ROOMMATE WANTED. $188.33/ month, gas paid, 587-0889 ask for Rich. Close to campus.

ROOMMATE WANTED: One-half utilities, water/ trash paid. Very nice, $170/ month. Call 587-4645.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, furnished, close to campus, rent $274.50 plus KPL. Call 776-7457 or (913)367-6097 collect.

TWO-BEDROOM IN fully furnished house for females. All bills paid. Walking distance to campus. 539-6098.

150

Sublease

$140/ MONTH. One-bedroom available in large four-bedroom house. Near campus plus the 'Ville. 539-7674.

$295 PLUS utilities. Charming one-bedroom cottage duplex available now. Parking and laundry facilities included. Near campus/ Aggieville. 719 Leavenworth. 537-8651.

$350 PLUS gas/ electric. One-bedroom. Spacious apartment three blocks west of campus. Parking and laundry. 537-8651.

AVAILABLE NOW! Female roommate needed to share two-bedroom apartment at Westchester Park. $244.50/ month plus one-half electricty. Call 776-8707 or 537-4666 Ext. 23. Ask for Joann.

HALF BLOCK from campus! Available now. female roommate needed for three-bedroom house. Completely furnished. 776-0604 or 587-9309.

HELP! FEMALE roommate needed immediately for large two-bedroom at Chase Manhattan. Large room with walk-in closet. Great first floor location, large patio faces pool and basketball court. Paid water and trash, cheap on-site laundry facilities. Cheap cable, $275/ month plus utilities, call Carolynn at 565-0613 to come and see.

ONE-BEDROOM ONE block from campus. Abailable immediately. Wildcat Mangement 537-2332.

ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO for sublease now until August. Rent is $200. Water, trash , electric paid. Call 539-4174 or (316)231-6854.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Own room with own bath and outside entry. Near campus and Aggieville $240/ month. No smokers. 565-0324.

TWO ROOMS available in four-bedroom townhouse, no pets, washer/ dryer, all appliances, garage. Very nice, 3303 Abbey Circle. Call 587-8498 or 539-6358 to see.

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY

235

Child Care

NEW REGISTERED daycare now enrolling infants. If your in need of loving care please call 776-1596. ask for Sandy.

300 EMPLOYMENT/CAREERS

310

Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 537-0056.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1000'S POSSIBLE READING BOOKS. Part-time. At home. Toll free (800)218-9000 ext.R-1915 for listings.

$1000'S POSSIBLE TYPING. Part-time. At home. Toll free (800)218-9000 ext. T-1915 for listings.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. No experience required. Begin now. For info call (301)429-1326.

A GRAPHIC designer/ illustrator with computer access. Freelance employment. Flexible hours. Must have portfolio. Contact Eric at Office of Community Health 532-7750 or email: ezoller@oz.oznet.ksu.edu

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT -Fishing industry. Many earn up to $4000+/ month during peak season. Benefits often include transportation and/ or room and Board. For details: (206) 971-3510 ext-A57688.

CAMP COUNSELORS for educational camp south of Kansas City. Can lead fishing, canoeing, crafts, games, and many more activities while teaching children 8- 14 about the outdoors. Lifeguard helpful. June 7- August 10. Must be sophomore or older. $1600 plus room and board. For details, send inquiry before February 7, 1997 to Wildwood, 7095 W. 399th St., LaCygne, KS 66040.

CHELEY COLORADO Camps in the Rocky Mountains near Estes Park is hiring enthusiastic individuals to work with campers ages 9-17. Cooks/ dishwashers, Unit direscters, drivers, office personnel, RNs, wranglers; Counselors with skills in horseback riding, mountain biking, climbing wall, challenge course, camping, sports, crafts, song leading, archery, or riflery. Room/ board, salary, travel allowance. Must be at least a sophomore and able to work June 9- August 12, 1997. On-campus interviews. For information, please contact Cheley Colorado Camps at (800)226-7386.

CLERICAL ASSISTANTS: Temporary, part-time. Requires computer literacy and telephone/ customer service skills. Proficiency in WordPerfect and spreadsheet/ database programs desired. Hourly rate $5. Positions available immeditately. Send letter of application, resume and three references to: Area Agency on Aging, 437 Houston Street, Manhattan, KS 66502. Deadline is January 31, 1997. Note: These positions require Kansas Career Work Study eligibility. If you are unsure whether you are eligible, call Walt Cooper at 776-9294. EOE/AA

CRUISE LINE positions! Up to $2,500 plus/ month. No experience necessary. Seasonal or full-time. current hiring details: (604) 878-9777 (24hrs.)

ACCENT
Sales Reps-Immediate opening at your University. Offering exceptional pay and very flexible hours. Call Accent Screen Printing 1-800-243-7941

CRUISE SHIP EMPLOYMENT -Travel the world (Hawaii, Mexico, Caribbean) and earn an excellent income in the Cruise and Land- Tour industry. For details, call 1-206-971-3550 ext.C57689.

EARN $427 plus a week at home! Write for application: Generations, Dept. KSU, P.O. Box 13486, Atlanta, GA 300324, Genmarker@aol.com

ENHANCED UNIVERSITY EXPERIENCE LEADERS are now being recruited by the Academic Assistance Center for the 1997 fall semester. Applicants should be good student role-models, be committed to the concept of academic success for all students, desire to teach other how to learn, be able to relate to a diverse group of people, have proven success in social science and/ or mathematics courses and have a minimum g.p.a. of 3.0. Undergraduates with sophomore status or higher are preferred. We have twelve positions for recitation/ social science study group leaders and two positions for study group leaders in Intermediate and College Algebra. All positions require a time commitment of 10 hours per week for a total salary of $750 for the fall semester. Selected applicants will be required to attend training sessions during the final eight weeks of the spring 1997 semester. Applications are available in Holton 101 prior to February 14.

ESTABLISHED, AGGRESSIVE, growing advertising agency looking for "fresh, re-hot" graphic artist with still photography experience. Mac based with knowledge of Quark Illustrator, Freehand, PhotoShop. Send resume to: Production Director, P.O. Box 4512, Topeka, KS, 66604.

EVENING AND WEEKEND CLASSES in hair design, ethnic hair design and nail technology. Start Feb. 4. Thousands in scholarships plus financial aid available. Free info. Call Crum's Beauty College @ 776-4794.

FISCAL ASSISTANT: Temporary, part-time. Requires computer literacy and general office/ filing skills. Proficiency in QuattroPro or other spreadsheet programs and basic math skills preferred. Hourly rate $5. Positions available immediately. Send letter of application and resume and three references to: Area Agency on Aging, 437 Houston Street, Manhattan, KS 66502. Deadline is January 31, 1997. Note: These positions require Kansas Career Work Study eligibility. If you are unsure whether you are eligible, call Walt Cooper at 776-9294. EOE/AA.

FONE CRISIS Center. Two-three staff positions available. Must be able to work evenings and weekends. Applications available at SGA in Student Union. 537-0999.

GRAPHIC ARTIST to work 10- 20 hours per week on campus. Interested in students majoring in this field of study. Please send resume to Box 2 c/oCollegian.

HORTICULTURAL SERVICES Inc., is seeking reliable individuals for full or part-time employment at our retail Garden Center. Sales experience and plant knowledge preferred. Above average wages and benefits. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (913)494-2418 or (913)776-0397.

HORTICULTURAL SERVICES Inc. is seeking reliable individuals for full or part time employment for our production, landscape and irrigation operations. Farm or landscape experience preferred. Above average wages and benefits. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (913)776-0397 or (913)776-0397.

LOSE WEIGHT without dieting. Call 537-6892.

MEDICAL TRANSCRIPTIONIST for pathology laboratory. Ideal part-time position. Early evenings. Previous transcription experience preferred. Contact Pam as soon as possible at 539-5363 or bring resume or application to Petterson Clinical Laboratory at 1133 College Avenue, Building B, Manhattan, KS 66503. Equal Opportunity Employer.

NATIONAL PARK EMPLOYMENT -National Parks hire forestry workers, park rangers, firefighters, lifeguards, + volunteer and government positions. Excellent benefits + bonus potential. Call: 1-206-971-3620 ext.N57689.

PART-TIME DELIVERY help needed. Must be available in the afternoons. Apply at Homestead Rental, 2332 Sky-Vue Lane.

PHOTOGRAPHER NEEDED to photo shoot special events on campus. Work hours vary according to event to cover. Please send resume to Box 3, c/oCollegian.

SALES CLERK to work 10-15 hours per week. Must be available mornings and weekends. Accepting applications until 1-29-97. Wildcat Spirit, 716 N. Manhattan Ave.

STUDENT DISPATCH/ Control Clerk: Work 15- 30 hours per week. Must be willing to work summer and during school breaks. Job involves working with mainframe computer users and delivering printouts across campus. Applicants with two or more years employment potential will be given preference. Applications can be picked-up in Farrell Library, Room 2B. Applications accepted until 5 p.m., January 27, 1997.

TIMBER LAKE/ TYLER HILL CAMPS. Top NY and PA resident camps have over 200 summer job openings for qualified students and faculty. Counselors, WSI, Arts, Athletics Specialists and more!!! Best salaries and travel allowance in addition to "the finest summer you'll ever have." On campus interview Thursday, February 6th. Call Career and Employment Services at 532-6506 for an application and an interview appointment.

CAMP TAKAJO

for boys. Outstanding Maine camp noted for magnificent lakefront setting and exceptional facilities. Over 100 positions for heads and assistants in tennis, baseball, basketball, soccer, lacrosse, golf, street hockey, roller hockey, swimming, sailing, canoeing, waterskiing, SCUBA, archery, riflery, weight training, journalism, photography, videography, woodworking, ceramics, crafts, drawing and painting, nature study, radio and electronics, dramatics, piano accompanist, music instrumentalist, band director, backpacking, rock climbing, whitewater canoeing, ropes course, general (w/ youngest campers), secretarial. June 16 - August 24. Top salaries, room and board, travel provided. Call 800-250-8252. Or WRITE Camp Takajo c/o Mike Sherbun 7366 Cascade Terrace Grand Rapids MI 49546. Or FAX resume to 616-954-2950. A camp representative will be in Union Room 207 Wed., Feb. 5 from 10am-4pm. Walk-ins are welcomed!

TUTORS NEEDED for Managerial Reporting, Taxation, Accounting Research, Accounting for Non-Profit, Quantative Management, Intro. to Finance, US Politics. Graduate students should not have assistantships. Must have taken course and achieved an A/B. Salary based on experience. Contact Educational Supportive Services, Holton 201, 532-5642.

WAITRESSES NEEDED. Apply in person at Rusty's 1213 Moro.

WANTED 100 students. Lose 5- 100 pounds. New metabolism breakthrough. RN assisted, free gift. $35 fee. (800)579-1634.

WANTED: FULL or part-time farm help. Skills in construction, machine repair, welding or equipment operation. (913)457-3440.

ZAP YOUR ZITS. Have the complexion you've always wanted! New Bio-Tech program. No animal ingredients or testing. Guaranteed results. 539-7336.

330

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

WORK FROM home. Twenty second commute! Serious income potential working from home. We provide training and support via revolutionary system. Call (toll free) 1-888-444-6242 for overview. Then call us live at 776-5429.

400 OPEN MARKET

410

Items for Sale

BEER SIGNS, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, antiques, collectibles, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

BROTHER WORD Processor. Disk access, monitor, example files. $150 or best offer. Oak computer stand $100 or best offer. 537-2090.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit $14.95. See ALL the channels (313)523-2769.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY Sale for Cash Pawn and Gun. Selling cd's $2 and $3 each. Movies for $4 each. Cassette tapes for $0.75 each. Sega and Super NES Systems for$49.00. 10% off all Spiderco knives. 20% off a large selection of items store wide. Lowest priced guns and jewelry. We buy sell and trade. Have money to loan. 1917 Fort Riley Blvd., 776-3332.

FOOSBALL TABLE $175, 565-9248.

FOR SALE: Radio Shack power graphic EC-4034 scientific calculator with manual. $50 or best offer. (913)456-2133.

GALAGA ARCADE machine. 537-0474.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

COMPUTER DESK with desk light and printer cart $45. Call 776-9847 after 7 p.m.

DRESSER WITH mirror, nightstand, headboard and bed frame set, $60. Coffee table and end tables, set $20. Large study table with four chairs, set $50. Call 776-1902.

'MUST SELL matching sofa and love seat, bed, microwave, rug, chair, dining room table. 537-2968 leave message.

SOFA PULL out and two twin beds $75 each, 537-8654.

420

Garage/Yard Sales

INDOOR GARAGE sale. TV $50, dining table $200, VCR $75, sofa $125, chairs $40, rockers $30, washer/ dryer. (913)784-5650

1/2 Price Sale!
All clothes, shoes, & bedding 1/2 price.
Furniture, pots, & pans, lamps, appliances, glassware, knick-knacks, collectibles 15% off.
Albums 4 for $1
CDs $4 each
Cassette tapes 75¢ each
Offer good on Friday & Saturday 10 a.m.-6 p.m.
Grandma's Trunk
Thrift Shop
1304 Pillsbury Dr.
537-2273

430

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Flea Market 7000 square feet, 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

435

Computers

386- 25MHZ, 120 meg HD, five and one-fourth to three and one-half floppy, DOS 5.0, Win 3.1. 537-1797

486 PACKARD Bell computer. 8 Meg Ram. MS Office and Windows '95. Call . $750. 565-0509. Call after 5.

486DX50 8 MEG RAM, 340 meg HD, SVGA monitor, keyboard, mouse 586, 133MHZ MB with CPU, 16 meg RAM. Kevin, 537-1863.

I MUST sell my computers 486 $450, 486 $550, 386 $350, 286 laptop $250, printers $40 and $80. 784-5650

INTERKAN.NET: MANHATTAN'S newest Internet Service Provider. Free setup software. Monthly rates: 10 hours @ $5, 30 hours @ $7.50, 90 hours @ $10, 200 hours @ $17.50. http://www.interkan.net or 565-0991.

MUST SELL laptop portable computer, sharp 5740. 6.20 DOS, 120MB hard drive, 256K video memory, excellent carrying case. Machine at 539-9238.

445

Music Instruments

EMERALD GREEN IBANEZ SR500 Bass with acitve pickups. Crate BX-15 Amp. 25-foot Spectraflex cables. Hardshell case. Yamaha YT-1200 Electronic tuner. Seiko DM-10 digital Metranome. Lizard guitar strap. Ultimate guitar stand. Bass Basics 1 & 2 on VHS. 11 Instructional manuals with CD's. Stack of Guitar World magazines with Bass Tab. Asking $600 for everything. Call Kelly at 539-8379 and leave message or email me at alram@ksu.edu

WELCOME BACK to The Music Co.! Best prices on new and used instruments and accessories. No pressure sales, we try to get what you need. Straight down 17th st from K-state Union, in the Midtown Plaza, 539-1958.

450

Pets and Supplies

AKC YELLOW labs. shots and warmed, ready for loving home. Call 776-8237 or weekends (913)584-6626.

460

Stereo Equipment

FOR SALE: Sanyo portable CD player. New car kit, adapters, headphones! 490 or best offer. Call 537-2531 and leave message.

INFINITY HOME theater subwoofer. Dual six and one-half 300 Watts RMS. Has satellite speaker inputs. Excellent condition. $210 Negotiable leave message. Ryan 537-9513.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1982 CHEVY Citation. Good condition, 537-3267.

1985 LTD II wagon 30K on factory motor, auto, air-conditioned, cruise. $1100. 539-4069, call after 7p.m.

1986 HONDA Civic, five-speed, lots of new parts. $1800. 1983 Toyota Corolla automatic high miles runs great, $800. 532-7855 leave message.

1988 BERETTA GT 2.8L, V-6, five-speed, tilt, cruise, power windows, power locks, looks and runs good. Evenings 776-2073.

1989 ESCORT GT loaded, five-speed, cruise, air-conditioned. $2500. 539-4069 after 7p.m.

1990 FORD F150 XLT Lariat PU, five-speed, low miles, like new, $7,700. 776-9597.

1994 MAZDA Navajo LX, automatic, four-wheel drive in excellent condition. Power doors, windows, locks, power leather seats, sunroof, AM/FM cassette. Asking $16,800 or best offer. Owner must sell. 776-7025.

MERCURY LYNX 1985 white, automatic, air-conditioned, 89,000 miles, $1100. Astro Van 1985, seven passengers, automatic, air-conditioned, new tires, cruise control $2200, 539-7508.

OLDSMOBILE, TORONADO 1984, 108K miles, many options, very nice car, $2775 or best offer. Must sell. 587-0121.

SEIZED CARS from $175. Porsches, Cadillacs, Chevy, BMW's, Corvettes. Also Jeeps, 4WD's. Your area. Toll free (800)218-9000 ext.A-1915 for current listings.

600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

610

Tour Package

30 SHOPPING DAYS LEFT! Now is the time to guarantee the lowest rates and best hotels for spring break. Leisure tours has packages to South Padre, Cancun, Jamaica and Florida. (800)838-8203.

CANCUN- PADRE- MAZATLAN SPRING BREAK'S HOTTEST! 1-800-328-7513 Free food, drink and party special!?! Up To $200 discount Coupons on our Website www.studentadvtrav.com.

For all your needs, advertise in the Kansas State Collegian Classifieds. 532-6555

HIGH NOON

is the deadline for

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.
532-6555

HELP WANTED PART-TIME
(2 days a month-2 weeks a year)
Great pay and excellent benefits!
Truck Drivers, Mechanics, Cooks, Medical Specialists, Military Police, Supply, Artillery and Armor Crewmen. Prior military service not required, we will train. Prior services may enter at last rank held up to E-6. No Basic Training!
For more information, call today!
537-4108; 537-4003
Kansas Army National Guard

Nobody Does Spring Break Better!
SPRING BREAK '97
AS SEEN ON CBS NEWS "48 HOURS"
DRIVE YOURSELF & SAVE!
AFFORDABLE Book a Group of 15 and Break Free!
"ROAD TRIP!"
$97 as low as
16th Sellout Year!
PARTY Sunchase
SOUTH PADRE ISLAND
PANAMA CITY BEACH
DAYTONA BEACH
STEAMBOAT
KEY WEST
HILTON HEAD ISLAND
* PER PERSON DEPENDING ON DESTINATION / BREAK DATES / LENGTH OF STAY.
1-800-SUNCHASE
TOLL FREE INFORMATION & RESERVATIONS
HIT THE WEB AT: http://www.sunchase.com

CLASSIFIEDS DIRECTORY

600 BULLETIN BOARD
200 SERVICE DIRECTORY
400 OPEN MARKET
600 TRAVEL/TRIPS
100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE
300 EMPLOYMENT/CAREERS
500 TRANSPORTATION

To place your classified, call 532-6555

LECTURE

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Golden Rule — treat others as you would like to be treated. Individuals should measure themselves in terms of deeds, not alphabetic letters, like BMW or MBA.

"Our values, traditions and practices have brought us this far, so we need to educate America and respect the diversity of the world we live in," Harvard said.

She said society as a whole needs to take social responsibility for the youth of our country and ensure they are fed, looked after and cared for.

"We need to move away from the saying 'Our way is right' to a new saying: 'Take the best way of a variety of ways,'" Harvard said. "It's natural to want a simple solution, but there is no recipe to follow. Diversity must be an important issue to everyone in order to achieve the success we strive for."

In closing, she challenged individuals to hold on to the steadfastness of King's dream, and not to judge people by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character. She challenged individuals to make a difference.

"Everyone has the ability and obligation to make the world a better place for our children to live in. Less than that would not be just," she said. "I challenge you to stand up and be counted."

Slain girl's father received bonus equal to amount in ransom note

ASSOCIATED PRESS

BOULDER, Colo. — The father of slain 6-year-old beauty queen JonBenet Ramsey received a $118,000 bonus last year from his computer company, the same amount demanded in a ransom note, according to media reports.

Ramsey, 53, founder and president of Access Graphics, a billion-dollar computer company received the bonus for his 1995 performance, family spokesman Pat Korten said Tuesday. He would not discuss the amount of the bonus or whether it matched the amount requested in the ransom note.

"I just see a point where they (the family) won't be considered suspects. We don't know what the police have. They are sharing no information with us now," he said.

Various media have reported that Ramsey's 1995 bonus was $118,000.

Access Graphics vice president Laurie Wagner said very few people other than Ramsey would know the amount of his bonus.

"Those kinds of things are not known publicly," she said. "As in most companies, the employee knows, and the employee's boss knows; in John's case, someone at Lockheed Martin (knows), also a few payroll processing people. But these are people who deal with confidential records all the time."

JonBenet's body was found Dec. 26 in the basement of her family's expensive Tudor home about eight hours after her mother, Patricia Ramsey, 39, said she discovered the three-page ransom note in the house and summoned police. The note demanded $118,000 in exchange for JonBenet.

Police said the former Little Miss Colorado was strangled. Media reports said she also had a fractured skull and had been sexually assaulted.

City spokesman Kelvin McNeill said formal interviews with the Ramsey family, including Ramsey's two older children from a previous marriage that ended in divorce, still have not been arranged.

"We still officially consider it a matter of scheduling," he said.

The Denver Post reported that Boulder police have asked that Ramsey family members take a polygraph test, but that request has not been granted.

The Collegian is looking for a few good writers.
Think you have the stuff? Pick up an application in Kedzie 103.

GALLERY

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 10

Gershwin," 1996, of a waterfall, are accomplished works in this difficult medium.

The real gem of her work is "Friendship," 1991, where she has taken an ordinary natural scene of tree trunks in a forest and created a visual maze of colors.

The intricate details of the bark have been abstracted into a dizzying network of light and dark colors — a refreshing new twist to the overdone, and usually under-accomplished, subject of trees.

"Now that she isn't teaching, she really has time to focus on it and is really maturing," Buie said.

ADS

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

avoid broadcasting the signs.

NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue said the league would consult with Fox to ensure that cigarette advertising plays no part in this year's Super Bowl broadcast.

Matt Meyers, general counsel for the National Center for Tobacco-Free Kids, an anti-smoking group, said Philip Morris appears to be doing the absolute minimum that the law requires.

Meyers said the tobacco company has chosen to disobey the spirit of the law by its refusal to take down or cover all of the Marlboro signs in the arena.

Philip Morris spokeswoman Karen Daragan said there are no plans to replace the other four signs because the Justice Department did not make an issue of them in their discussions.

TRANSFORM

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

national origin have become global issues of equality."

Barnett said combatting prejudice, bias and racism is a long-term process of understanding and education.

"We work with education and educators," Barnett said. "The issues haven't changed but the faces have."

Barnett said Rankin is dedicated to all areas of equality.

"Charles has seen it all. Sometimes you get frustrated and wonder if it is ever going to change. He has a positive attitude and a hope that things will change," Barnett said. "He tries to bring diversity to schools and to K-State. This extends beyond his job. It's really his life."

This space could be yours. Call 532-6560 for details.

All '96 Bikes On Sale!
Up to $400 Off!
Great Deals on Many Bikes!
the PATHFINDER
539-5639
304 Poyntz

HANSEN NUTRITION CENTER
Diet Cures What Diet Causes
ATTENTION STUDENTS!
Improve Concentration AND Mental Performance
• THINK BARS
• BRAIN PEP
• SMART PILLS
3112 Anderson Ave ~ 9:30 -6p.m. Mon. - Sat. ~ 537-4571

Multi-Engine Flight Training
• Twin Comanche w/HSI, RMI, GPS
• 6,500-Hour ATP Instructor
• Reasonable Rates
• Hugh Irvin
539-3128

Men's & Women's
Sterling Silver Bands
$6 to $25
Krystallos
708 N. Manhattan
Ring Sale 1/2 Price Trays

PRO Fitness
20 Tans Free*
In Aggieville 12th & Laramie
539-7095
*Manhattan's Premier Fitness Center
*BEST RATES ON SUPPLEMENTS IN TOWN
*With purchase of Spring Membership

We Care Enough to Listen FONE Crisis
Volunteer Training:
Do you like to help people?
Are you a good listener?
Call to Register
537-0999

GOLDEN KEY NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY
General Chapter Meeting
Monday, January 27
7 p.m.
Union Big 12 Room
Mission Statement
The KSU Chapter of Golden Key exists to recognize academic excellence, enrich the collegiate experience of our members and positively impact our community.

Mel's Tavern
Manhattan's Downtown Sports Bar
Great Daily Food and Drink Specials
Big Screen T.V.
Pool Table
105 N. 3rd 776-9879

WHOLESALE BEAUTY CLUB & CLUB BEAUTY SALON
Salon Specials
Early Bird Specials
25% OFF all regular priced Salon Services for Appointments from 9 a.m. - 11:30 a.m. Everyday.
Not an early bird...
15% OFF all regular priced Salon Services for Appointments from 1 - 4 p.m. Everyday.
Great Deals
• Nexxus, Joico, & Motions
Buy 1 Get 1 at 1/2 Price
• Sebastian 13oz. Bonus Size Shaper and Shaper Plus Hair Spray Only $8.99
• Paul Mitchell
The Conditioner, Hair Sculpting Lotion, Freeze and Shine, and The Detangler all 8oz. sizes are Only $3.99 (reg. $4.65 - $6.50)
Many other Fantastic specials throughout the Store!
Offers good thru Feb. 1, 1997
WHOLESALE BEAUTY CLUB & CLUB BEAUTY SALON
409 Poyntz~Manhattan, Store~539-5999 Salon~539- 6969
Monday~Saturday 9-8 Sunday 1-5

GREEK'S PIZZERIA
hours: 11 a.m.-10 p.m.
M-T 11 a.m. - midnight
F & Sat 11 a.m. - 2:30 a.m.
1124 Moro in Aggieville
FREE DELIVERY
539-1999
SUPER BOWL WEEK
ONE 16" EXTRA LARGE SINGLE TOPPING PIZZA $9.99 NO LIMIT - EXPIRES 2-2-97
TWO 16" EXTRA LARGE TWO TOPPING PIZZAS $18.98 NO LIMIT - EXPIRES 2-2-97
TWO 8" SINGLE TOPPING PIZZAS AND STIX $6.99 NO LIMIT - EXPIRES 2-2-97
Greek's Pizzeria
1124 Moro
In Aggieville
539-1999

Exp. Date 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

JANUARY 27, 1997
MONDAY

HIGH 15
LOW -8
Very cold and mostly cloudy with chance of snow and freezing drizzle possible

FORECAST PAGE 2

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN

MANHATTAN, KS 66506 — VOL. 101 NO. 81

EGIAN
ORY
NEWSROOM 532-6556
DISPLAY ADVERTISING 532-6560
CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555
e-mail: [collegn@ksu.edu]
http://collegian.ksu.edu

O' MAGIC BALL! WHAT'S IN STORE FOR 1997?

▶ Wondering what 1997 has in store? Page Getz gives her predictions for what we can expect on the political, scientific and prophetic fronts.

See OPINION Page 4

ETC.

In today's paper

Briefs 2
Sports 6

In tomorrow's paper
Need to shed those holiday pounds? Tomorrow's Home Ec. helps you out.

LATEST SNL-ALUMNI MOVIE TAKES IT IN THE CHOPS

▶ Chris Farley's "Beverly Hills Ninja" has gained a following. See why everyone is watching this movie on Rewind Monday.

See REWIND Page 7

KURT RETTIG, senior in history, celebrates while watching the Super Bowl at Scoreboard in Aggieville. See how other students spent the evening on Page 5.

STEVE HEBERT Collegian

Packers win national title, 35-21

▶ GREEN BAY'S CHEESEHEADS find reason to party when the Packers defeat the Patriots.

ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW ORLEANS — Andre astounded 'em, Antonio amazed 'em and Desmond dazzled 'em at the Superdome Sunday night.

The trio of waiver-wire castoff Andre Rison, second-year star Antonio Freeman and free-agent steal Desmond Howard ran wild over the New England Patriots as the Green Bay Packers returned the Super Bowl title to Titletown with a 35-21 victory.

They did it with big plays from their playmakers.

The Packers, who had 12 regular-season touchdowns of 50 or more yards — the most in the NFL since 1970 — got three more Sunday: Howard's 99-yard kickoff return, Rison's 54-yard reception and Freeman's 81-yard catch.

"That's how we played all year," Freeman said. "Nothing different."

Except that this time the world was their stage.

"I think we showed the world what this offense is capable of," Rison said. "We have a lot of great players. And we have the MVP back there in Brett Favre. Don't forget that."

Howard, the first special-teams player to win Super Bowl MVP honors, had 244 return yards, including a Super Bowl-record 90 punt-return yards.

His biggest play, though, was an NFL playoff-record 99-yard kickoff return for a touchdown after Curtis Martin's touchdown pulled the spunky Patriots within 27-21 late in the third period.

"I was just another strong link in this very, very strong chain," Howard said.

See BOWL, Page 5

▶ What did you do? Students flocked to televisions in search of the Super Bowl.

▶ Bookies lose out. 2-point conversion disrupts Las Vegas betting pools.

▶ Performer killed. A bungee cord snapped during practice sending a woman to her death on the 50-yard line.

▶ See stories on Page 5

THE RIGHT TO BEAR ARMS

When a law passed in September 1996, people convicted of domestic violence discovered the 2nd Amendment meant little. Now after several months, people are questioning whether timeframes are needed, or if the law is appropriate.

PRO

"I think they should have a right to go hunting or anything they want to do if they didn't use a firearm in that instance. It's fundamentally unfair the way they wrote it."

• Alvan Johnson director of the Riley County Police Department

CON

"If someone did something when they were 18 in 1988, they could have changed a lot since then, and we have to believe that does happen sometimes. There needs to be specific timelines for stuff like that."

• Debi Holcomb volunteer and outreach coordinator for the Crisis Center Inc.

Law-enforcement officials ponder effects of law that could take their weapons

STORY BY YVONNE PEARSON • PHOTO ILLUSTRATION BY CLIF PALMBERG AND BRANDON WHITE

A federal law passed Sept. 30 prohibits those convicted of domestic violence to possess firearms or ammunition, including law-enforcement officials and military personnel.

The law is an extension to the Gun Control Act of 1968. It also applies to those convicted before the law was passed.

"It's all new. We're only recently becoming aware of the requirements," said Alvan Johnson, director of the Riley County Police Department.

Johnson said he agrees with the law, but not with the way it is written.

"Domestic violence can be purely verbal. It can be the sort where there's pushing, or it can be where someone takes somebody and moves them from point A to point B without hurting them," Johnson said.

"Those things are all considered assault," he said.

According to the law, if people are convicted of this kind of assault, they are ineligible to own a firearm of any kind for the rest of their lives. Some people say they disagree with this part of the law.

"If someone did something when they were 18 in 1988, they could have changed a lot since then and we have to believe that does happen sometimes. There needs to be specific time lines for stuff like that," said Debi Holcomb, volunteer and outreach coordinator for the Crisis Center Inc.

As the law stands, if people are convicted of domestic violence with or without firearms, then they are not allowed to possess firearms or ammunition.

"I think they should have a right to go hunting or anything they want to do if they didn't use a firearm in that instance. It's fundamentally unfair the way they wrote it," Johnson said.

As the law stands, people in law enforcement and the military who have been convicted of domestic violence cannot possess firearms for any purpose, including work.

"The law should be written so that it would affect their personal weapons. When they're on duty at their work station they should be able to carry a gun. The weapon is to defend their lives and other people in the community and they should have it. That could've easily been

See GUNS, Page 5

▶ The editorial. The Collegian editorial board takes a stand on the issue of domestic violence and guns. For the opinion see Our View on Page 4.

▶ Tomorrow. The Collegian explores the gun concealment law.

Students discover taillights shattered

JOHN HENDERSON
staff reporter

At least four K-State students found their taillights kicked in when they went to check their cars Friday afternoon.

All four cars, parked next to each other, had their taillights broken sometime before 1 p.m. Friday. The cars were parked at the edge of Lot B-2 near the Derby Food Center.

Jim Lehne, spokesman for the K-State Police, said the four students had no obvious connection to each other, other than where they had parked their cars Friday.

Rachel Skadburg, freshman in family studies, said she and another student found their taillights broken at about the same time, and reported them to the police together.

"I didn't expect students to be that immature," she said. "This kind of thing shouldn't be happening on campus."

The theory, Lehne said, is that someone, probably while intoxicated, used their heel to kick in the lights. The only lead so far is part of a print made by an athletic shoe on one of the cars.

The lot has security cameras, but the detectives have yet to review the tapes, Lehne said.

"It'll take them a while," he said. "We're looking at least a 12-hour time frame."

The police have no suspects at this time.

Butts

Carpenter

Davidson

Reeves

Four K-State math and science students earn nomination as Goldwater Scholarship finalists

RYAN O'HALLORAN
staff reporter

Four K-State students have been nominated by the University as candidates for a Barry M. Goldwater Scholarship.

The program, set up by Congress in 1989, awards $14,000 scholarships to up to 250 math and science students. Since its inception, K-State has won 27 scholarships — the most in the nation among public universities.

The K-State nominees are junior John Carpenter, junior Wendy Reeves, senior Lance Davidson and sophomore David Butts.

Beth Powers of K-State News Services said the Goldwater process is different from other scholarship processes.

"There is no interview for this one and no regional clearinghouse," Powers said. "All of the Goldwater nominees are reviewed by a national committee."

Besides being involved in a major related to math or science, there are two other requirements. Students must be of sophomore or higher standing, and they cannot hold jobs that interfere with their class work, Powers said.

Each school can nominate a maximum of four students. Twelve K-State students applied to be nominated.

"There was a campus competition and a Kansas State University Goldwater Committee selected the nominees," Powers said.

That committee is made up of scientists who teach at K-State in different disciplines.

If the past is any indication, K-State should be adding to its number of winners. In each of the past four years, all four K-State candidates have won scholarships. K-State also had winners in 1989 and 1990.

"All four can win scholarships," Powers said. "With the Truman scholarships, it's rare that everyone from the same school can win, but not in this case."

All four of this year's candidates are from Kansas. Carpenter is a physics, chemistry and math major who graduated from Manhattan High School in 1995. Reeves is a microbiology student from Oberlin who graduated from Decatur Community High School in 1994. Davidson is a biochemistry major from Salina, and Butts is a mechanical

See HONOR, Page 5

DEADLINES
TO PLACE AN ITEM in the Daily Planner, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to (collegn@ksu.edu) by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

MANAGING EDITOR
MIRANDA KENNEDY
e-mail: (seahors@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
DIGEST
MONDAY, JANUARY 27, 1997

EXPERIENCE KING'S DREAM IN FARRELL'S TOWER ROOM

▶ The K-State Libraries' Multicultural Center is sponsoring a display of library materials about Martin Luther King Jr. Experience King's dream from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. through Friday in the third floor tower room of Farrell Library.

▶ 24 HOURS IN REVIEW

These briefs encapsulate the news of the past 24 hours and are from staff reports, wire reports and other news services.

▶ NATION AND WORLD

• TEEN-AGER ARRESTED IN SLAYING OF 17-YEAR-OLD GIRL.

LOS ANGELES — Hours before the victim's funeral, a 16-year-old boy was arrested Saturday in the killing of a teen-age girl who was shot to death in a gang attack on Jan. 16.

Robert Johnson was arrested, but police refused to disclose in which state.

Police believe Johnson fired the shots, intended for a rival gang, that killed Corie Williams, 17, as she rode home from school on a city bus Jan. 16, police spokesman Eduardo Funes said.

A friend of hers was wounded.

Williams, a high school senior, was killed with a receipt for her graduation dress in her pocket. Johnson is the fifth suspect arrested in the case; another man was being sought.

• THOUSANDS WITHOUT POWER DAY AFTER KILLER TORNADOES.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Thousands were without electricity Saturday after tornadoes ripped through central Tennessee and part of Alabama, killing one person and destroying or damaging more than 200 homes and businesses.

Barfield, a tiny community just southeast of Nashville, was hardest hit by the twisters and thunderstorms that rolled through on Friday evening.

The twisters skipped through nine counties in central Tennessee and an adjacent part of Alabama.

• HOUSE SPEAKER DECRIES ETHICAL DOUBLE STANDARD.

ROSWELL, Ga. — House Speaker Newt Gingrich was showered with applause and cheers Saturday as he denounced an ethical double standard for conservatives.

But he acknowledged he made mistakes, to a 17-year-old constituent who told him that young people aren't voting because they don't trust politicians.

Gingrich was reprimanded by the House on Tuesday and ordered to pay a $300,000 penalty.

The Georgia Republican admitted last month he violated House ethics rules by failing to seek and follow legal advice that would have warned him not to use tax-exempt projects to further potentially partisan goals.

• CYCLONE LEAVES THOUSANDS HOMELESS IN MADAGASCAR.

ANTANANARIVO, Madagascar — A cyclone that tore through this African island nation has left at least 15 people dead, another hundred missing and thousands homeless, state radio reported Sunday.

Earlier officials said the death toll was at least 118.

Communications with the affected areas was poor, complicating efforts to get accurate casualty figures.

The cyclone churned winds of almost 124 mph and created severe flooding that destroyed several cities Saturday and left many others damaged.

Emergency services were having difficulty reaching the hardest-hit areas of the island, southeast of the capital, Antananarivo.

Many of Madagascar's most populated rural regions are difficult to reach even in normal conditions.

• 15 DIE IN 2ND BIG BLAZE TO HIT HONG KONG IN 2 MONTHS.

HONG KONG — A fire blamed on arsonists engulfed a bustling four-story karaoke club early Saturday, killing 15 people in the second large blaze in Hong Kong in two months.

One of several club managers reportedly tried to alert his customers, but could not get to the upper floors because of the flames and thick smoke.

The fire broke out at 4 a.m. on the first floor of the Top One nightclub in the densely built, neon-lit Tsim Sha Tsui area of Kowloon.

About 80 customers and 20 employees were inside, drinking, playing mahjongg and singing along to pop videos.

Police classified the fire as arson and homicide, and said one man had been arrested for questioning.

▶ DAILY PLANNER

The Daily Planner is the Kansas State Collegian campus bulletin board service. Items in the planner can be published up to three times. Items may not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to (collegn@ksu.edu) by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

CHECK THESE EVENTS OUT

- The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Stevan Knezevic at 10 a.m. today in Throckmorton 1017.
- The Adult Student Services Office will be open in Bluemont Hall from 4:15 to 7:15 p.m. today.
- Phi Beta Lambda will have an informational meeting at 5 p.m. today in Union 203. It is open to all majors.
- Circle K will meet at 5:30 p.m. today in the Union Council Chamber.
- Intramural basketball officials will meet at 6:30 tonight at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex.
- Public Relations Student Society of America will meet at 7 tonight in Kedzie 105. The program will be about résumés and portfolios.
- Marketing Club will have an informational meeting at 7 tonight in Calvin 306.
- KSU Aikido meets at 7 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and at 10 a.m. Saturdays in Ahearn 301, the dance studio.
- K-State's Women's Soccer Club will meet at 8 tonight in Union 207. Anyone interested in playing soccer for the Women's Soccer Club is invited to attend this spring planning meeting.
- S.A.M., the Society for the Advancement of Management, will meet at 8 tonight in Union 208.
- The Adult Student Services Office will be open from 3 to 7 p.m. Tuesday in the K-State Student Union.
- Applications for May 1997 undergraduate graduation are due in deans' offices no later than Feb. 7.

▶ POLICE BLOTTER

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

▶ K-STATE POLICE

• FRIDAY, JAN. 24

- At 2:20 a.m., Raymond Herzog III was arrested for DUI and taken to RCPD.
- At 4:40 a.m., Raymond Herzog III was arrested for DUI and taken to RCPD.

• SATURDAY, JAN. 25

- At 3:23 a.m., Matthew I. Jones was arrested for DUI and taken to RCPD.
- At 8:32 p.m., Methawee Chousurin reported the theft of $83 at the Union.

▶ RILEY COUNTY POLICE DEPARTMENT

• THURSDAY, JAN. 23

- At 4:47 a.m., Deborah D. Junior was arrested for probation violation. Bond was $1,000.
- At 2:44 p.m., criminal damage to property and criminal trespassing reports were filed at Chop Sticks, 1200 Moro St.
- At 3:43 p.m., Andre C. Anderson was arrested for a probation violation. Bond was $1,000.
- At 4:46 p.m., Andre C. Anderson, Topeka, was arrested for a probation violation. Bond was $1,000.

• FRIDAY, JAN. 24

- At 12:58 p.m., Bryan Perez, 109 N. 17th St., Apt. 3, was arrested for possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. Bond was $500.
- At 1:16 p.m., Corey D. Bloom, 2161 Griffith Terrace, was arrested for possession of a controlled substance. Bond was $1,000.
- At 4:10 p.m., Richard S. Branch, Ogden, was arrested for aggravated indecent liberties with a child. Bond was $5,000.
- At 4:11 p.m., Heath K. Kraft, 2401 Galloway Drive, was arrested for domestic battery.
- At 4:13 p.m., Kelly W. Neufeld, 1420 Watson Place, Apt. 10, was arrested for battery. Bond was $500.
- At 7:57 p.m., Ryan M. Tatum, 1501 University Drive, was arrested for burglary.

• SATURDAY, JAN. 24

- At 1:41 p.m., Mynon M. Ericson, 1221 Ratone, Apt. 3, was arrested for DUI. Bond was $500.
- At 1:54 a.m., Jeffrey L. Birney, St. George, was arrested for DUI. Bond was $500.
- At 2:23 a.m., Johnny F. Ransom, Fort Riley, was arrested for DUI. Bond was $500.
- At 3:15 a.m., Marjorie Jane Channel, 403 S. 18th St., was arrested for aggravated assault and battery. Bond was $1,500.
- At 6:20 p.m., Deborah Woodward, Junction City, was arrested for DUI. Bond was $500.

• SUNDAY, JAN. 26

- At 1:44 a.m., Derek Alan Siebert, 39 Red Bud Estates, was reported battered and transported to Mercy Health Center on Sunset. An aggravated battery report was filed.
- At 3:27 a.m., Jill L. Schmitt, Great Bend, was arrested for DUI. Bond was $500.

▶ CORRECTIONS AND CLARIFICATIONS

In Thursday's edition of the Collegian, the article "Alanna Engelken: In touch with reality" reported that Engelken was the only student volunteer at the American Red Cross. She is the only student volunteer at the American Red Cross office. However, other K-State students volunteer for the Red Cross blood drive and work with Riley County emergency first aid service.

▶ STATEMENT OF PUBLICATION

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1997

"The world is like a book, and those that never leave home read but one page"

-- St. Augustine

Peace Corps Is Coming To KSU!

INFORMATION TABLE
January 28th & 29th
K-State Memorial Union

FILM PRESENTATION
"Completely Alive"
January 29th, 4 pm
K-State Union, Rm. 209

PEACE CORPS:
The Toughest Job You'll Ever Love!
800/424-8580 [press #1 and ask for ext: 248]

PEACE CORPS

K-STATE STUDENT UNION
Host to the Campus & Open to the Community

Bluemont BUFFET
K-STATE STUDENT UNION

Come dine under the umbrella and listen to LP sing!
Monday - Friday, 11:00am - 1:30pm
2nd floor of the K-State Student Union

K-STATE STUDENT UNION

A Spoonful of Good Taste

MONDAY
Carved Corned Beef
Beef Pot Pie
Spaghetti with Red Sauce
Potatoes O'Brien
Carrots
Minestrone Chowder

TUESDAY
Carved Ham with Au Jus
Teriyaki Meatballs
Cheese and Vegetable Biscuit
Rice
Sauteed Squash
Turkey Corn Chowder

WEDNESDAY
Carved Beef with Au Jus
Burgundy Mushroom Steak
Vegetable Curry and Rice
Delmonico Potatoes
Corn
Split Pea Soup

THURSDAY
Carved Brisket
Breaded Pork Chop
Fettuccine with Mexi-Bean Sauce
Home Fries
Vichy Carrots
Beef Noodle Soup

FRIDAY
Carved Turkey with Au Jus
French Dip Sandwich
Vegetable Burger with Sauce
Herbed Potatoes
Okra and Tomatoes
Chicken Noodle Soup

Agriculture students to receive résumé tips, practice interviews

Interview Tips

The dos and don'ts while going through a job interview.

Dos

Things to remember while being interviewed.

- Be early
- Have a firm handshake
- Make eye contact
- Be formal with names
- Be confident in yourself
- Research the company

Don'ts

Things to avoid while being interviewed.

- Don't be late
- Don't look sloppy
- Don't be overbearing
- Don't make excuses
- Don't emphasize money
- Don't condemn past employers

Source: The Associated Press

CASEY OCONNOR/Collegian

RYAN O'HALLORAN
staff reporter

K-State College of Agriculture students can get a leg-up on competition from other schools on Thursdsy.

As has been the case for the last several years, agriculture-related companies will be on campus for the College of Agriculture Interview Clinic.

No jobs will be up for grabs on that day, but eight companies will be on hand to give tips to students — from sophomores who have not been interviewed before to seniors whose résumés need some fine-tuning.

"It is a real interview," said Jackie McClaskey, Assistant Director of Academic Programs.

"But it is a clinic. This is meant to be like a dress rehearsal."

Among the companies visiting are the Bayer Corp., Cargill, Koch Industries, Management Recruiters, Quaker Oat, Angus Journal, Excel and the KSU Cooperative Extension Service.

Cargill is bringing three of its top interviewers, while Koch and Bayer are bring two representatives each.

"They are the top recruiters from the top companies," she said. "They are coming to campus only with the intent of helping our students get familiar with the interview process for the start of their careers."

And the students will be taking advantage of this opportunity.

Of the 96 available interview slots, McClaskey said Friday 80 of those had been filled, and she expects the others to be taken quickly.

McClaskey said students should go through the interview process as if a job were in fact on the line.

"They should go into it as serious as a real interview and be prepared to answer questions they'll be asked and be prepared to ask questions themselves, as well as general things like how you should present yourself and what to expect," she said.

The students, who are advised to prepare a résumé that will be critiqued by company representatives, are not the only ones that go into the clinic with an agenda.

"The companies' goals is to be able to help the students learn to be more prepared and increase their own visibility as how the students look at them as potential employers after they graduate," McClaskey said.

The number of companies arriving has doubled since the clinic began.

"And we've included a broader range of employers this year," McClaskey said.

JILL JARSULIC/Collegian

KATE HAGAUN, from Blue Valley North High School, sings her part while Jay Gilbert conducts Saturday in All Faiths Chapel. Gilbert is chair of the music department at Doane College in Crete, Neb.

High-school music students learn band tips at annual K-State clinic

TAMARA PETERSON
staff reporter

High-school band members from across the state got a taste of college life during the weekend at the fourth annual Concert Band Clinic.

The three-day event had 360 high-school students, 20 band directors, four guest conductors and K-State music faculty and students filling McCain Auditorium and All Faiths Chapel with music.

Frank Tracz, K-State director of bands, was previously a faculty member at Morehead State in Kentucky. While there, he sponsored an all-state high-school concert band clinic.

He brought that idea with him when he came to K-State.

"I wanted to further the band movement and promote the idea to students to continue playing," Tracz said.

Before the clinic every year, high-school band directors submit names of students who they feel would benefit from the clinic to K-State's music department. If those students and band directors are available, they are invited to participate.

On Friday afternoon, K-State music students had live auditions for the high-school participants and assigned them to one of four bands, based on their skill levels.

"Last year there were only three bands. An additional band was added this year to allow more kids to participate and receive this good experience," Charles Yengling, Winfield High School band director and fourth-year clinic participant, said.

One of the big draws of the clinic is that Tracz brings in guest conductors.

See BAND, Page 10

2 killed in 3-alarm apartment fire at KU

ASSOCIATED PRESS

LAWRENCE — Careless smoking is believed to be the cause of a three-alarm apartment fire that killed two people and displaced 45 other residents, fire officials said.

The fire started in a couch Saturday in the apartment where the victims were found, according to a statement by the Lawrence-Douglas County Fire and Medical Department.

Fire officials said careless handling of smoking materials was the apparent cause of the fire, but they did not specify what kind of smoking materials.

The victims were identified as Charlie Schumacher, 34, of Kansas City, Kan., and Bruce Kloss, 34, of Rogers, Ark.

The men, who were both construction workers, died of smoke inhalation and were found in separate bedrooms. Schumacher had been in town about one week building houses, said Clay Englehart, Schumacher's brother-in-law.

Englehart, of Kansas City, Kan., said Schumacher had planned to stay in Lawrence for about a month and a half, working construction.

The fire, reported about 2:30 a.m., consumed three units and damaged several others at Sundance Apartments, a furnished complex seven blocks north of the University of Kansas campus. Damages were estimated at $250,000.

I Can't Believe It's Yogurt!
11th & Moro - Aggieville
537-1616
Buy One, Get One Free!
Buy one cup, cone, or cappuccino and receive one of equal value FREE with this coupon.
HOURS: 10 A.M. - 8 P.M. DAILY
Noon - 8 P.M. SUNDAYS
(Expires 2-28-97)

HANSEN NUTRITION CENTER
Diet Cures What Diet Causes
ATTENTION STUDENTS!
Improve Concentration AND Mental Performance
• THINK BARS
• BRAIN PEP
• SMART PILLS
3112 Anderson Ave ~ 9:30 -6p.m. Mon. - Sat. ~ 537-4571

KSU CYCLING CLUB MEETING
When: January 28
Where: Union 207
Time: 8:30 pm
ROAD AND MOUNTAIN BIKE RACE TEAMS AND RECREATIONAL RIDES WILL BE DISCUSSED

RUGBY
PLAYERS WANTED!
NO EXPERIENCE NECESSARY
INFORMATIONAL MEETING
WEDNESDAY, JAN. 29, 7 p.m.
UNION
CONTACT:
SCOTT CONOVER 776-8548

Have Your Bottom Lines

Gotten Out of Hand?
Replace those Bottom Lines with Tan Lines
20 FREE TANS
with purchase of spring semester membership
DP Fitness PRO
IN AGGIEVILLE
 Manhattan's Premier Fitness Center
 Lowest Prices on Supplements and Workout Apparel
Your Pre Spring Break Headquarters
539-7095 12th & Laramie

The TECHNICAL COLLEGE
MANHATTAN AREA TECHNICAL COLLEGE
Spring 1997 Continuing Education Course Schedule

CLASS	TIME/DAY	CLOCK HOURS	CREDIT HOURS	SESSIONS	DATES	COST
Business English	6:00-8:30 M,W	60	2	24	Feb. 10 - May 7	$65
Business Communication	6:00-9:00 T,Th	60	2	20	Feb. 18 - May 1	$65
Computer Concepts	6:00-8:30 M,W	60	2	24	Feb. 10 - May 7	$65
Spreadsheet Fund.	6:00-8:30 M,W	40	1	15	March 31 - May 21	$45
Computer Accounting	6:00-8:30 M,W	30	NC	12	March 31 - May 7	$35
Adv. Desktop Publish.	6:00-8:30 M,W	20	NC	8	Feb. 24 - March 19	$35
Adv. WordPerf. 6.0 Win.	6:00-8:30 T,Th	20	NC	8	Feb. 18 - March 13	$25
Beg. Lotus for Win.	6:00-8:30 T,Th	20	NC	8	Feb. 25 - March 20	$25
Beg. Paradox for Win.	6:00-8:30 M,W	20	NC	8	March 31 - April 23	$25
Int. AutoCAD	6:00-10:00 M,Th	48	NC	12	March 31 - May 8	$60
Basic First Aid	8:30-3:30 SAT	12	0.5	2	March 8 - March 15	$25
Medical Terminology	6:00-9:00 Wed	36	NC	12	Feb. 12 - May 7	$45
First Responder	6:00-9:30 T,F	70	2	10	March 4 - May 16	$95
EMT	6:15-10:15 M,Th	210	7	47	Feb. 24 - Aug. 28	$235
EMT	2:00-6:00 M,W,F	210	7	47	Feb. 3 - June 4	$235

Complete course descriptions and schedules are available at The Technical College.
Textbooks may be purchased at Varney's Bookstore, 622 N. Manhattan Avenue, Manhattan, KS.

Enroll in these courses at Manhattan Area Technical College, 3136 Dickens Avenue,Manhattan, KS 66503, during regular office hours, 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Friday. For more information, call The Technical College, 913/587-2800 or 800/352-7575.

Your Partner in a Productive and Successful Future

OPINION EDITOR
KEVIN KLASSEN
e-mail: (kevkk@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
OPINION
MONDAY, JANUARY 27, 1997

A GUIDE TO SECTIONS OF THE COLLEGIAN OPINION PAGE

▶ COLUMNS are opinions expressed by the columnists. The opinions are not necessarily the opinions of the Collegian.

OUR VIEW is an editorial written by the Collegian Editorial Board. The board meets every day and discusses editorial topics. The editorial is a compilation of those opinions and represents the opinion of the Collegian.

▶ OUR VIEW

Law adds credibility to police, military

A federal law, which was passed last fall, prohibits people convicted of domestic violence to possess firearms. The law includes police officers and military personnel.

Under this law, people convicted of this kind of assault are ineligible to own a firearm for the rest of their lives. This also includes people in law enforcement and the military who have been convicted.

According to this law, they are not allowed to possess firearms even while on duty.

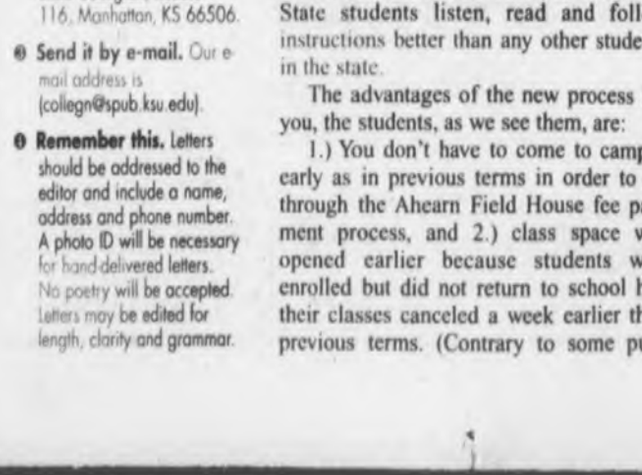
This law is an accurate punishment per se, to those who have been convicted of these heinous crimes.

However, should those criminals who are in a position of law be trusted to enforce the law if they don't even follow it in the first place?

First of all, society is better off if people convicted of these crimes aren't allowed to be in these positions. Furthermore it is not necessary for those convicted of domestic violence to carry a gun into the workplace and sit behind a desk all day.

Secondly, these officers do not lose their livelihoods. They are punished, but their sources of income are not taken away.

In this day and age, police and military personnel are being kept to a higher standard, as they should be. If normal, everyday, average people can't get a gun after a domestic-violence conviction, neither should the law-enforcement officers.



Finally, domestic violence offenses should be taken seriously. Those offenders should pay for their crimes and should be punished accordingly. Allowing police officers and military personnel access to a gun after beating a spouse isn't helping the criminal justice system, is it?

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR IN CHIEF
Kimberly Hefling
MANAGING EDITOR
Miranda Kennedy
NEWS EDITOR
Claudette Riley
PHOTO EDITOR
Steve Hebert
PRESENTATION EDITOR
Scott M. Ladd
COPY CHIEF
Tanya Nisly
OPINION EDITOR
Kevin Klassen
CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
Andrew Francis
CAMPUS EDITOR
Jill Story
SPORTS EDITOR
Jeremy Kelley
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR
Tara Wray
ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
Portia Sisco
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
Jill Jarsulic
INVESTIGATIONS EDITOR
Nicole Kirby
E-COLLEGIAN EDITOR
Kady Guyton
ASSISTANT E-COLLEGIAN EDITOR
Kelly Furnas
OTHER EDITORIAL BOARD MEMBERS
Russell Fortmeyer, senior in architectural engineering

Our View, an editorial selected and debated by a majority of the editorial board, is written by the editorial board after a concensus opinion is reached. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other students. For details on how you can become involved with the editorial board, contact Kevin Klassen, opinion editor.

▶ TOLES

1997 PREDICTIONS

Insight into the changing realm of politics and philiosophy in 1997

PAGE GETZ

PAGE GETZ is a sophomore in women's studies and print journalism. You can e-mail comments to Page at (namaste@ksu.edu).

At last, the masochistic aftertaste of 1996 fades into a distant grind reminiscent of the mating call of an upturned Junebug.

I return equipped with customary scowl to the retro-technology of the newsroom prepared to disinfect any remaining phobic backwash of last semester's mental masturbation.

At the risk of sabotaging my own optimism, I can't resist the temptation to counterfeit my two-cents worth with a list of un-psychic predictions for the 357 days insulated for most by two hangovers, like bookends supporting the year.

On the political front:

● The original constitution will be burned and reprinted on non-hemp paper in response to a national War-on-Drugs petition (funded by the tobacco lobby) protesting the use of hemp.

● Bill Clinton will make a guest appearance on the Simpsons.

● Apathy will increase as rapidly among those who can afford to be apathetic as desperation grows among those who can't.

● A straight-A high school student will drop out of school and resort to welfare, because of a poster of an aborted fetus.

On the prophetic front:

● The seventh son of a seventh son will open a 7-Eleven somewhere.

● Donald Trump will be born again and open 24-hour drive-thru baptisms in neon nativity casinos in Atlantic City, N.J., and Las Vegas where show tunes will be replaced by hymns and Trump tokens will feature Marla Maples as the Virgin Mary.

● Some genius who was beheaded or crucified "in the name of God," for treason a few centuries ago, will be pardoned with "no hard feelings."

● Someone will find God.

● Someone will bow to Allah.

● Someone will fall in love with Krishna.

● Someone will trade a syringe for a crucifix.

MATT HAWKINS/Collegian

● Someone will run into Elvis at a Burger King in Reno, Nev.

● And they will each dedicate the remainder of their lives to serving their brothers and sisters.

In the scientific circle:

● Little progress will be made in finding a cure for AIDS, but there will be a research break-through in finding a cure for the hangover.

● Corpses of millions of rejected moths will be discovered, casualties of their fatal attraction to less-than-affectionate light bulbs.

Somewhere between Wall Street and Crack Alley:

● The cost of medical insurance will increase.

● The number of jobs that provide medical insurance will decrease.

● Taxes will increase, but not to cover socialized medicine, which would cost less in taxes than insurance.

● Aaron Spelling and Calvin Klein will unite in a fragrance called "Spelling Be." The ad campaign will feature Kate Moss competing with other adolescent girls in a spelling bee.

● The war on gangs will be used to abuse African-American men in a Rodney-King-sort-of-way.

● Someone in a dress that costs more than tuition will fart at a debutantes ball and lie about it.

On the Tabloid rack:

● An unidentified flying object will be reported.

● An unidentified flying object will become an unidentified non-flying object in an encounter with a fly swatter.

● Planet Hollywood will popularize a trend of celebrity gargoyles and will be sued for copyright infringement by the pope.

● Dr. Kevorkian's court cases will clog the already constipated legal system. Although most of his clients will have been suffering from lung cancer and other smoking-related illnesses, he will spend more time in court than any of the cigarette companies put together.

● Death Row Records will organize an influential series of inspirational campaigns using Gangsta rap as a method of self-help therapy and will be quoted in the next release of "Chicken Soup for the Soul."

● Evidence that Jesus was not the son of Joseph will be discovered when alleged samples of his DNA are found in Bethlehem, Pa.

● MTV will remake the original "Gong Show." It will be hosted by Cheech Marin and retitled the "Bong Show."

● A life-long vegatarian will bit the dust anonymously, having saved 1000 animals.

● Pretzels will replace peanuts as the standard national airline munchie when psychographic marketing research reveals a phallic association aroused at high altitudes by peanuts, resulting in aggression among 80 percent of travelers who happen to be sexually repressed.

● The aliens will lose interest, invest in Jolt soda and "Al Bundy is GOD" T-shirts and laminate their Jerry Springer ticket stubs as souvenirs stopping only for one last night in Vegas.

Childhood reflections darken with unfortunate memories

BRANDI HERTIG

BRANDI HERTIG is a sophomore in print journalism and English/creative writing. You can e-mail your comments to Brandi at (blh0377@ksu.edu).

Many a Saturday night in my youth was spent holed up in my room, listening to the colorful array of gastric noises emerging from the living room. His name was Randy, and he epitomized every facet of disgust and sloth I had ever imagined in all of the years spent in his confines.

How the whole obnoxious affair between he and my mother began I'll never know. I just know that it lasted for about 12 years of my life, ending on Christmas morning when I was 15.

I never knew how to explain Randy to my peers. Common-law marriage isn't a term tossed around by your average pack of third graders. Early on I realized something was amiss with the whole situation. Every once in a while, I'd just tell people he was my father to avoid the short lesson in the new-wave nuclear family.

Randy was originally from Chicago and brought his own brand of phonetics to every state he ever visited. He thought he was Elvis, thus cultivating in me a serious disdain for any man with big hair and blue suede shoes. When he wasn't working at the local greyhound park, he was sitting in front of the television with a can of Budweiser and a really prime episode of "The Rifleman."

Speaking of beer, Randy was quite the connoisseur and was well-versed on the subject. He knew that beer at a supermarket had a lower proof than that sold at a bona fide liquor store. He could taste it, he said.

Whenever the beer supplies ran low, Randy also took to mixing whatever alcohol we had lying around with Kool-Aid. What a male-version of Martha Stewart he was!

In fact, a little known tidbit is that Randy actually concocted the marriage of America's two favorite anytime snack treats: pork-n-beans and hot dog chunks. Now that I think about it, I honestly cannot recall a time when he ate something other than Beanie Weenies and beer.

After he was overflowing with mirth and goodwill from his daily 12-pack, Randy liked to venture down to his workshop in the basement. All it was was a bench with a few rusty tools, posters of busty babes bursting out of tube tops and a stack of Popular Mechanics left over from 1982.

Before he'd head down there, he'd gather up all of the kitchen knives and bring them along. And then, for an hour or two, he'd engage in his drunken ritual of knife sharpening.

ADRIAN FLEMING/Collegian

At holidays we always had a good time, especially when his relatives came to visit. Randy's parents were disheartening proof that environment actually does determine behavior.

For the entire week of their visit, neither of them got up from their strategic position at the dining room table (except to hack up a few unnecessary organs in the toilet), parked within reaching distance of their cigarettes and a bowl of Chex Mix. They only stirred during the half-hour of "Wheel of Fortune."

Masking tape was a sacred thing to Randy. Not God, not football, not even his damn Beanie Weenies. Masking tape. Somehow he magically knew the precise amount he had on the roll. If I ever used any of the tape for any reason, I had hell to pay for it later. When my mom and I moved out, I had my very own roll of masking tape, and it felt good.

Being the complete package that he was, Randy also always knew the right things to say. When I was about 12, I had a fleeting aspiration to be a model, thanks to some smutty teen magazine. When I asked my mom if she thought I was pretty, her reply, naturally, was a positive one. Randy, with none of his genes riding on this, replied, "Well, you're not ugly or anything, but ... ."

I was never afraid of much when I was a kid, but I was afraid of Randy.

No blows were ever brought down upon my head, not of any physical nature anyway. Randy liked to calculate his spars with words and behavior. And I was his biggest challenge. Me. A kid.

He yelled at me for faults I didn't even know I had. He got me for being a kid. He emotionally molested me for 12 years, and I spent a lot of that time thinking he was right.

I think of Randy from time to time, and I wonder how many other women and children are living the same existence my mother and I once did.

It's a sad statement about America, but I'd say that Randy more than likely typifies a good chunk of this country. And I wonder how many women and children endure that kind of abuse on a daily basis, just shrugging it off because bruises are not involved.

And no amount of masking tape will make them whole again.

▶ YOUR VIEWS

- To submit a letter
- Visit the Collegian newsroom. Submit letters to Kevin Klassen at Kedzie 116.
- Drop it in the mail. Send letters to Letters to the Editor, c/o Kevin Klassen, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506.
- Send it by e-mail. Our e-mail address is (collegn@spub.ksu.edu).
- Remember this. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo ID will be necessary for hand-delivered letters. No poetry will be accepted. Letters may be edited for length, clarity and grammar.

• OFFICE THANKS THE STUDENTS FOR SUCCESSFUL FEE PAYMENT SYSTEM.

Editor,

A sincere thank you goes out to all students for making the new Fee Payment By Mail process a success. The process would not have worked if you had not followed instructions as presented to you. It reinforces the administration's belief that K-State students listen, read and follow instructions better than any other students in the state.

The advantages of the new process for you, the students, as we see them, are:

1.) You don't have to come to campus early as in previous terms in order to go through the Ahearn Field House fee payment process, and 2.) class space was opened earlier because students who enrolled but did not return to school had their classes canceled a week earlier than previous terms. (Contrary to some published information, this is a normal process and dropping 8090 schedules is the normal rate.) We learned what worked well and what needs improvement. We will build on that experience to help make future fee payments by mail even more successful.

If you have any suggestions that you think might improve the process (no, we can't waive tuition for everyone), please drop your written comments by the cashier's office in Anderson 212. Or you can send e-mail to (CONTROLL @andy.ksu.ksu.edu).

Keith Ratzloff
University controller

• PROFESSOR SPEAKS OUT AGAINST PARKING GARAGE PROPOSAL.

Editor,

It is easy for me to say we do not need a campus parking garage, because my house is only 2-1/2 blocks from campus. But 15 years ago, my wife and I lived more than a mile from campus, and we endured the same frustrations about parking then that people rightly complain about now. Back then, we wished for more and better parking too. But a parking garage is not the answer.

The automobile industry in the U.S. puts about 4,000,000 more vehicles on the road each year. It has been California's experience that within a few months of the opening of a new freeway, it is as crowded with traffic as the congested ones it was built to relieve. That will be the case with even a 1,000 space parking garage. It would tempt even the people who live in my neighborhood to drive the two blocks and park. It would be full the day it opens, and drivers would still be circling like vultures, waiting for a space to open. That is exactly what has happened with the parking garages at the University of Kansas. Why will it be any different here?

The $10.5-million cost of building a 1,080-space facility would be only the beginning of the expense. Beyond normal maintenance, it would need constant patrolling to prevent the greater incidence of personal attacks and robberies that take place in such structures. The garage would also increase vehicular traffic on streets that are already very busy. That would tempt the road building lobby to petition for the further widening of feeder streets like Denison.

An innovative campus transportation system would buy us sustainable answers, and ones that could be implemented very quickly. The place to begin is with a greatly expanded campus shuttle service, its hub the vast, underutilized parking area at the KSU Stadium. Parking there would be free; to use the service you would buy a shuttle pass. Several dozen 10 and 15-passenger vans and about 10 minibuses would comprise the fleet.

The service must be flexible, frequent, convenient and affordable.

In other words, the cost of a shuttle pass should be no more than what a person now spends to drive a car to and from campus and to park.

We are one of the few universities of our size and stature without on-campus mass transit. Even if the legislature approves the $10.5-million bond authorization, K-State is not obligated to build a parking garage; the initial money would be used to hire a consultant and begin the planning process.

There is still time to turn our attention to the only solution that provides both immediate answers to the parking problem and that promises long-term sustainability. After all the years of frustration, we are owed a solution, but we must make sure it is in the best long-term interest of life on the planet.

David T. MacFarland
associate professor,A. Q. Miller School of Journalism and Mass Communications

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
SUPER BOWL SUNDAY
MONDAY, JANUARY 27, 1997

ABOVE. TOM UTERMOEHLEN, 1988 K-State graduate, responds to a New England Patriots mistake on television in the first half of the Super Bowl at Scoreboard in Aggieville. Utermoehlen's friends said he was the biggest Patriots fan in town.

SNOT PASS QUIETLY

Local bars, parties grant football fans somewhere to cheer

STORY BY TODD STEWART • PHOTOS BY STEVE HEBERT

Super Bowl Sunday comes only once a year, and K-State students are not about to let it pass quietly.

"You can't beat this," Ryan Thompson, junior in graphic design, said. "You've got a good game and cold beer. I look forward to this day all year long."

Thompson and three friends watched the game at Last Chance Restaurant & Saloon, which drew its patrons there with T-shirt giveaways and drink specials.

Mike Sullivan, Manhattan resident, said Last Chance provided just the right atmosphere for watching the game.

"This is a great escape from classes, at least for a day," Sullivan said.

But Super Bowl Sunday boiled down to the game drawing people together.

Ben Thoennes, senior in marketing, had a party for his friends, and said as of halftime, Super Bowl XXXI was the best one in recent memory.

"It is probably the best game since San Francisco and Cincinnati a few years back," Thoennes said.

He said he thought Super Bowl Sunday needs to become an even bigger deal than it already is.

"I think they should name Super Bowl Sunday a national holiday, like Christmas," Thoennes said. "Except keep the liquor stores open."

For Aimee Noel, junior in elementary education, the game was not the focus, but more importantly Green Bay quarterback Brett Favre.

"It doesn't matter about the game, only hot quarterbacks and beer," Noel said.

But gameday was not as enjoyable for all.

Thoennes' roommate, Jason Martinez, senior in business, said he was unable to focus on the game after having an accident in the kitchen.

Martinez burned his hand on a skillet while cooking chili for his guests, and he was forced to watch the game with his right hand covered in ice. At halftime, friends went to get Martinez a first-aid kit.

"I saw it instantly swell up. I can't even watch the game," Martinez said.

But if people were not watching the game, there were always the commercials to be watched.

Thompson said the best commercial was Nike's Li'l Penny Super Bowl Party.

"That Li'l Penny cracks me up," Thompson said. "Everyone in the world was in that commercial."

And even if Martinez was unable to enjoy the game because of the injury to his hand, he had a take on the Super Bowl commercials.

"We're going to give our props to Nissan," Martinez said. "As of halftime, Nissan commercials rule. Bud is second, Pepsi third."

Sullivan echoed Martinez's comments on the Nissan commercials, and in particular, one showing a flock of pigeons racing after a car, but unable to catch it and dirty up the squeaky-clean Nissan.

"After watching that pigeon one, I couldn't stop laughing for five minutes," Sullivan said.

For more laughs, the people at Thoennes' party enjoyed "Beavis and Butt-Head's Butt Bowl IV" at halftime.

Thoennes said the outcome of the game did not affect the atmosphere.

"The party continues at the bars after the game," Thoennes said.

ABOVE. JOEL APPLEBEE, sophomore undecided, sips down a beer while watching the Super Bowl on one of the big-screen televisions at Scoreboard Sunday night.

LEFT. ROB BUSS, freshman undecided, and April Moeder, freshman in public health, relax while watching the Super Bowl in one of the TV rooms in Haymaker Hall Sunday.

TOP. RHETT BUTLER, graduate student in business, squeezes on his rally cap, a small New England Patriots helmet, for good luck during the second half of the Super Bowl Sunday night at Scoreboard.

Bungee cord snaps, kills performer during practice

ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW ORLEANS — The Super Bowl halftime show included a short memorial to a bungee-jumper killed when she plunged more than 100 feet to the Superdome floor and hit her head while practicing for the program.

The bungee jump, part of the climax of the $1.2 million, 10-minute halftime spectacle, was taken out of the act.

Laura Patterson, 43, of Sarasota, Fla., struck her head at the Superdome's 50-yard line late Thursday. She died instantly of severe brain and head damage, coroner Frank Minyard said.

The halftime show included a memorial to Patterson.

The commissioner also said the league wasn't trying to make Super Bowl halftime shows more spectacular and therefore more risky.

"The overriding thing is we are here to play a football game that will decide the championship of American football," he said.

New Orleans police were investigating the accident, which occurred during the third and final run-through of the practice. It had not been determined whether human or mechanical error caused Patterson to hit the floor.

2-point conversion blocks out biggest win for bookies, fans

ASSOCIATED PRESS

LAS VEGAS — This city's legal bookies were a two-point conversion away from their biggest Super Bowl win ever.

As it turned out, there weren't too many winners on either side of the betting window after a Super Bowl that ended exactly how Las Vegas bookmakers predicted — with Green Bay a 14-point winner.

"If it wasn't for that two-point conversion it would have been the biggest win in Nevada bookmaking history," said Michael "Roxy" Roxborough, who sets the lines for Nevada sports books. "We would have won $20 million at least, maybe $25 million."

Instead, most bettors lined up after the game either to get their original bet back or to collect, if they were lucky enough to get the game either at 13-1/2 or 14-1/2 points.

"We have the world's largest lines in front of the cashier's window," Roxborough said after the game. "You are either getting your money back or you won."

Before anyone starts feeling too sorry for bookmakers, however, Roxborough said they were likely to end up with a small profit overall because bettors lost big on the so-called prop bets and parlay cards.

Because ties lose on most parlay cards, anyone combining the 14-point spread with, say, the over-under, was a loser.

If Green Bay would have kicked the extra point on its last touchdown, though, instead of making the two-point conversion that made it a final 14-point win, bookmakers would have had a huge payday.

The Packers winning by 13 points would have been the best scenario for sports books that had heavy Packer action at 14 points.

"We would have overcome everything bad we've done the last five years," Roxborough said. "It would have been the trifecta for us, with the Pats covering, the game over (49 points total) and the Packers winning."

At the Holiday Inn Boardwalk, assistant manager Kevin Roberts said the book would have to make up for losses on the game itself with the proposition bets and parlays.

"It was absolutely the worst possible number it could have landed on," Roberts said. "You try to make a number close to the number you think it will be to get two-way action. But this is a case of getting middled, and that's every bookmaker's nightmare."

Roxborough, though, predicted a small profit for books, but not on the lines of the $7 million they won on $70.9 million in bets on last year's Super Bowl.

Gun control

The recent amendment to the Gun Control Act of 1968 makes it unlawful for any person convicted of a "misdemeanor crime of domestic violence" to ship, transport, possess, or recieve firearms or amunition.

The new law took effect Sept. 30.

The new law does not exempt law enforcement officers or the military personel.

Source: The Associated Press

DAN HOLMGREN/Collegian

GUNS

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

written in there, but they didn't," Johnson said.

Holcomb said she does not agree.

"If a person is going to use a firearm at home to intimidate and threaten his wife or significant other, then it's really scary to think that the same person is going to have a firearm that's supposed to protect the community and public," Holcomb said.

"We find that very scary at the Crisis Center," she said.

Johnson said the new law has not affected any law-enforcement officers in Manhattan.

Holcomb said because domestic violence is about power and control, people should imagine being a spouse of a police officer who is an abuser.

"Knowing that you may ruin this person's career is already a deterrent. That might intimidate some women, but we help them through that kind of stuff," Holcomb said.

"They can report it and know the law is on their side. It's becoming more and more on their side instead of against them," she said.

Although Johnson said he does not think the new law will have much effect at all on domestic violence, Holcomb said she hopes it will be a deterrent to abusers.

"Bottom line is if today someone is threatening somebody's life or uses a gun, it would be nice to know the consequences will be real," Holcomb said.

A memo from the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms urges any person who has been convicted of domestic violence and possesses a firearm or ammunition to give it to a third party, such as a police agency, lawyer or gun dealer.

HONOR

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

engineering student who graduated from Topeka's Washburn Rural High School in 1995.

Reeves said her future has already been helped, win or lose.

"It just helps a lot getting into graduate school and it builds the résumé," she said.

Committees at all schools pay particular attention to the amount of out-of-the-classroom work done by the student.

"It's really important that you've had experience in labs," Reeves said.

The winners will be announced in late March, and the scholarships will be good for two years of undergraduate studies.

BOWL

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Rison and Freeman did their damage in the first half.

Nobody was happier about getting out of Green Bay for this game than Brett Favre's starting receivers, who had languished for five of the last six games at frigid Lambeau Field, where the runners ruled.

Their eagerness to put the pass back into Mike Holmgren's West Coast offense showed in a hurry.

On the Packers' second play from scrimmage, Favre stunned the Patriots by finding Rison for a 54-yard touchdown.

Rison, who said he dreamed last week about scoring 10 touchdowns, spun cornerback Otis Smith, hauled in the pass at the New England 20 and strutted the final eight yards to the end zone.

After the Patriots went ahead 14-10, Favre hit Freeman for an 81-yard touchdown that sparked a 17-point second quarter and put the Packers ahead 27-14 at halftime.

Freeman's reception was the longest play from scrimmage in Super Bowl history.

Freeman, who missed a month with a broken forearm and still wears a cumbersome cast, saw strong safety Lawyer Milloy come up to the line and smiled.

"I was licking my chops," Freeman said. "Take nothing from Milloy, but I knew that was a mismatch. I broke free and Brett delivered a strike."

Freeman juked his defender, grabbed Favre's pass at the Green Bay 46 and outsprinted Milloy and safety Willie Clay, dancing into the end zone untouched and dunking the ball over the goal post.

There were stars on defense, too. Reggie White had three sacks and the Packers intercepted four of Drew Bledsoe's passes.

"We have playmakers on this team," Freeman said. "Today you saw the playmakers make the big plays on offense, defense, special teams. That was special, because this is a team in the truest sense of the word.

"It wasn't just Andre, myself and Desmond."

FRESHMAN PHENOM

▶ K-State Guard Norris Coleman averaged the most points by a freshamn in the history of K-State basketball in 1985 with a 21.8 points per game average in that season.

K-STATE'S ANDRIA JONES, left, fights off Texas A&M's Kim Linder during the second half of play Saturday night at Bramlage Coliseum.
STEVE HEBERT Collegian

UNDER PRESSURE

Cats defuse full-court defense en route to win

SUN DEE MILLS
staff reporter

K-State's women's basketball team has figured out how to do something the men's team hasn't grasped yet — win in the Big 12.

The Wildcats defeated Texas A&M, 73-61, Saturday night at Bramlage Coliseum.

Expecting tough, full-court pressure from the Aggies, Coach Deb Patterson said her team handled it well.

"They (Aggies) are very active," Patterson said. "They extended the floor, and we knew that going into the game. I really thought our players did a real good job against the press tonight."

The Cats scored the first three points but the Aggies' Prissy Sharpe sunk a three-pointer three minutes into the game to give the Aggies their first lead.

Cats' center Kayla Hester took the lead back for the Cats with a layup followed by a trey, but the Aggies answered quickly and resumed the lead at 13:32.

"Early on I think we were still testing out their full-court pressure," Patterson said. "They were effective in keeping us just a little off-beat."

The Aggies' Kim Linder put up a basket at the 11:35 mark, extending their lead to three points, but that was the last score for the Aggies for the next six minutes.

Cat guard Brit Jacobson shot a three-pointer to put the Cats ahead by two, and they never looked back. Forward Andria Jones pulled down two defensive boards, and the Cats scored on both possessions.

With less than five minutes to go in the first half, Jones sunk her first three-pointer, putting the Cats up by 10. The Cats put up 11 more points and kept the Aggies to four.

Up 38-21 at the half, Patterson said she saw Jones was getting warm and worked with it in the second half.

"We were trying to get the ball into AJ's (Jones') hands," Patterson said. "I think the team did a good job of recognizing that and making that happen."

Three minutes into the second half, Jones sunk her second of two three-pointers, which was the last score for the Cats for the next four minutes.

The Aggies' Amy Yates and Sharpe sunk two three-pointers and the Cats' defensive pressure was running down the shot clock for the Aggies. Yates sunk two more three-pointers, cutting the Cats' lead to six with 10 minutes to go in the game.

"We came out real tentative," Patterson said. "There is going to be some games where you have dry spells like that. You just have to step up and continue to compete."

Freshman center Angie Finkes put only four total points on the board in the game. Finkes recorded her fourth foul at the 9:18 mark.

Jones returned and with 6:42 left she extended the lead the Aggies had cut to four points. Finkes put up a basket early in Jones' shooting streak and Jones' assist to Finkes at the 1:38 mark brought the Cats' lead to 11 points.

After that point, the Aggies contained Jones for the rest of the game. Kjersten Larson, Missy Decker (100 percent from the free-throw line) and Jacobson added eight more points, with the final score at 73-61.

"Overall, I think we did an all right job tonight," Decker said. "Better than in the last few games when we've seen this kind of pressure."

ANDRIA JONES HAS TURNAROUND GAME

Maybe Andria Jones should have bad games more often.

After a poor offensive performance Wedneday night against Iowa State, Saturday the senior forward responded in a big way, posting 28 points to lead the Cats to a 73-61 win over Texas A&M.

So was Jones looking to prove something against the Aggies?

"No, not really," Jones said. "I try not to think about my previous performance that much. The points are going to come in time."

Jones turned her game around against Texas A&M. Every time the Aggies made a run at the Cats, Jones was there to turn them back.

With 5:41 left in the first half, Aggie forward Prissy Sharpe hit a three-pointer that brought the Aggies within seven points. But Jones was there with the response, scoring seven straight points.

"I was just getting the ball a lot inside," she said. "I was open when I got it, and I took advantage of it."

In the second half, Jones not only picked up where she left off, she provided more for the Cats.

At the 17:48 mark, Jones hit a key shot that gave the Cats their first points of the half.

But the Aggies were still hanging around. At the 6:42 left in the second half, Jones came up with a big play. With the shot clock near zero, Jones hit a jump shot that stretched the Cat lead to 53-45.

With less than six minutes to play, the Aggies pulled within four. Angie Finkes' basket at the 5:30 mark put the Cats up by six, 55-49

Then Jones came back.

Jones dominated the Aggie defense, scoring eight straight points for the Cats. Her 15-foot jump shot with 2:38 left put the Cats up 63-50.

Cat coach Deb Patterson said her strategy was simple. She told her players to get the ball to Jones every time down the court.

"I told the team to run the plays that would get Andria the ball," she said. "At that point, you get the ball to her no matter where she is."

"She stepped up and hit the critical shots for us tonight. You need that out of your seniors," she sai

STORY BY SHANE McCORMICK

K-State falters again down stretch; fall to 0-6 in Big 12

JEREMY KELLEY
sports editor

As if Wednesday's drubbing via the hands of Iowa State wasn't enough for K-State to reveal the same old storybook ending, it happened again Saturday against Texas A&M.

It was a contest of two Big 12 teams that hadn't recorded a conference victory yet. It also was two teams looking to end multiple-game losing streaks.

But again, it was the same old story.

The Wildcats again managed to falter down the stretch because of poor shooting and lost their seventh-straight game, 76-67.

"I'm more disappointed, because we didn't take care of business on the defensive end," Coach Tom Asbury said. "We got in a panic mode offensively and at the start of the second half they came out and took it to us, and we were soft and back on our heels and we have no business doing that."

But, as in the past three games, K-State controlled most of the ballgame.

K-State led 34-28 at halftime and cushioned its lead even more, 40-33, when guard Aaron Swartzendruber sank three free-throws with 18 minutes remaining.

Enter Calvin Davis.

This sophomore forward was shut out and shut down in the first half, in part because of a wound over his right eye that required four stitches.

In the second half, Davis went on a scoring binge scoring 21 points and grabbing nine of his 15 rebounds that rallied the Aggies back into the game. His three-point play with 5:05 left gave the Aggies the lead for good at 65-62.

"That's six times in a row that this has happened," guard Paco May said. "We didn't do things down the stretch that we needed to do to win."

K-State again fell apart down the stretch and could do nothing but say a prayer and hope that it would go in.

"It's the same old story in the last couple of games," Asbury said. "We're in close games, and nobody steps up and makes plays in the end. We just throw the ball up like we're drop kicking it, like it's supposed to go in."

Unlike in past games, K-State was dominated on the glass 41-25 against a smaller Texas A&M team.

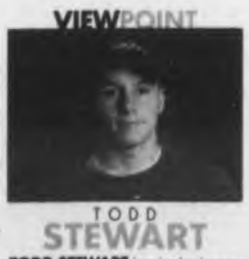
"We're getting our butts beat on the boards by some guys who have no business doing it," Asbury said. "That was one of our accidents in the game."

A bright spot in the game was the play of forward Mark Young who tallied a career-high 25 points in the losing effort. Young also led the Cats in rebounds with nine, assists with five and also notched a steal.

With the loss K-State moves to 7-9 on the season and 0-6 in the Big 12. It is the worst start for a K-State team since the 1983-84 campaign under Jack Hartman when that team started 8-8.

"No matter where we play, if we don't play hard and smart in the last five to 10 minutes — we could play on Mars but that isn't going to do us any good," Asbury said. "Our guys have to get more mentally tough down the stretch."

men's basketball



K-State (67)
FGA/M, FTA/M, R, A, TO, S, MP TP
Young 9-11, 5-5, 9, 5, 2, 1, 33, 25; Rhodes 3-8, 1-2, 1, 5, 2, 0, 34, 7; Eaker 0-0, 0-0, 1, 1, 0, 0, 10, 0; Griffin 0-1, 0-0, 2, 3, 1, 0, 18, 0; Swartz. 3-9, 3-3, 2, 4, 2, 0, 32, 12; Dies 3-5, 2-2, 4, 0, 1, 0, 22, 8; May 5-13, 0-1, 1, 2, 1, 0, 25, 10; Jones 0-1, 0-0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 10, 0; Reid 1-3, 0-0, 2, 2, 2, 0, 10,3; McCollough 1-2, 0-0, 2, 2, 0, 0, 7, 2; Totals 25-53, 11-13, 25, 24, 11, 1, 200, 67

Texas A&M (76)
Davis 7-16, 7-9, 15, 1, 2, 1, 30, 21; Jones 6-8, 3-3, 3, 1, 4, 2, 25, 15; Quesada 3-6, 5-6, 8, 4, 3, 0, 38, 12; Anderson 5-15, 0-0, 6, 3, 2, 0, 38, 11; Brown 6-11, 0-1, 2, 4, 0, 2, 39, 17; Barone 0-4, 0-0, 2, 7, 1, 1, 25, 0; Stricker 0-0, 0-0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 2, 0; Reeves 0-0, 0-0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 3, 0; Totals 27-60, 7-18, 41, 20, 12, 6, 200, 76

ZACHARY BAZE/Collegian

Dysfunctional, can't-miss prospect college basketball's worst

VIEWPOINT

TODD STEWART

TODD STEWART is a junior in secondary education / English. You can e-mail comments to Todd at (toddvs@ksu.edu).

Let's just get it out in the open. Manny Dies is the worst player in the history of college basketball. Now bear in mind I am not saying just K-State basketball, or NCAA I-A basketball but college basketball history. He is the worst.

He has two non-functioning left hands, his inside game is nonexistent, his defense disgraceful, he is uncoachable, and all this comes from the most recruited player in the state only two years ago.

Manny Dies was a can't-miss prospect. He was the next superstar. Out of Wichita South High School, he was the state's top recruit. It was an intrastate battle between K-State and KU for the state's top prospect, and K-State prevailed. He was Coach Tom Asbury's gem for the next four years.

So what in the name of Dr. James Naismith happened to Dies?

I'll tell you what happened — nothing. Absolutely nothing.

This is the same player Dies was at Wichita South. The only problem is that when Dies is not the biggest player on the court, he cannot function. At all.

In high school, the ball could be thrown down low to Superstar Manny, and he could turn around and lay it in. Or at least, he could try and try again until finally he got it in the basket, because he was so much taller than everyone else, no one could get the rebound.

But in college basketball our superstar is rendered useless.

A college player of any size can defend Dies simply by getting out of his way. The odds of Dies mishandling the pass, dribbling off his foot or throwing the ball away are much greater than him actually getting the shot off. Even if Dies gets the shot off, the defense still considers it a success, because when Dies shoots the ball, it will just not go in.

Dies has no place on this K-State team.

When the team is even so fortunate that he does do something positive, it never outweighs the mistakes. Each and every time, this Wildcat team would be better off playing with only four players than four plus Dies. He causes too many negative things to warrant playing time.

Our superstar tried to leave K-State over the summer, and everyone would have been better for it. The Cats have only one scholarship to give out this next season and Dies' departure would have freed up one more.

Or even better, the University would have saved a chunk of change letting him go and spending that scholarship money elsewhere. Spend it anywhere but on Manny Dies.

I challenge Asbury and his coaching staff to defend Dies and his place on the team. Show me what Dies can do that forward Shawn Rhodes or reserve center Dax Jones cannot do.

In fact, I challenge Dies to show me what he can do on a basketball court that I cannot do.

I could without hesitation look Superstar Manny in the eyes, and without a hint of smile or doubt, say, "Manny, I am a better basketball player, and I will prove it."

So, K-State fans, sit back and watch as the career of history's worst player unravels in front of us. Tickets are still available for the next Dies debacle. The next Manhattan showing is Jan. 29. If you have seen Mitch Richmond, if you have seen Rolando Blackman, if you have seen Askia Jones, you have not seen K-State basketball until you have seen Manny Dies.

And since the coaching staff is intent on playing our superstar, don't look for improvements in this team anytime soon. Dies is the problem, so now the only thing left for the fans is to enjoy Dies as he whittles his way into basketball history.

So, c'mon superstar, show us Manny Dies basketball the way only you can.

TOMORROW

Trying to lose that Christmas weight? Tuesday's Home Ec. will offer tips and suggestions about the easiest and healthist ways to lose weight.

A&E EDITOR
PORTIA SISCO
e-mail: (andra@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
REWIND
MONDAY, JANUARY 27, 1997

NAGASAKI AFTERMATH PHOTO EXHIBIT OPEN TO PUBLIC

▶ Nagasaki Journey opened Sunday in K-State Union Art Gallery. It features the works of Yosuke Yamahata, a photographer who documented the aftermath of the bomb in Nagasaki on August 10, 1945. Admission is free.

▶ ART BRIEFS

Manhattan Center for the Arts, 1520 Poyntz Ave., will play host to a Jazz Kick-Off Party to support the 1997 K-State Jazz Festival at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday. The K-State Jazz Quartet will perform.

Dong Wanli, visiting scholar from the Yannan Art Institute in China, will conduct a mold-making workshop for the K-State Art Department Thursday and Friday in the West Stadium.

The Count Basie Orchestra and the New York Voices will perform at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in McCain Auditorium as a part of the 1997 K-State Jazz Festival. Tickets are available at the McCain Auditorium Box Office.

Catfish Keith will perform at 8 p.m. Friday at the Manhattan Center for the Arts. This event is sponsored by the Birdhouse Music Series. Tickets are available at MCA Box Office.

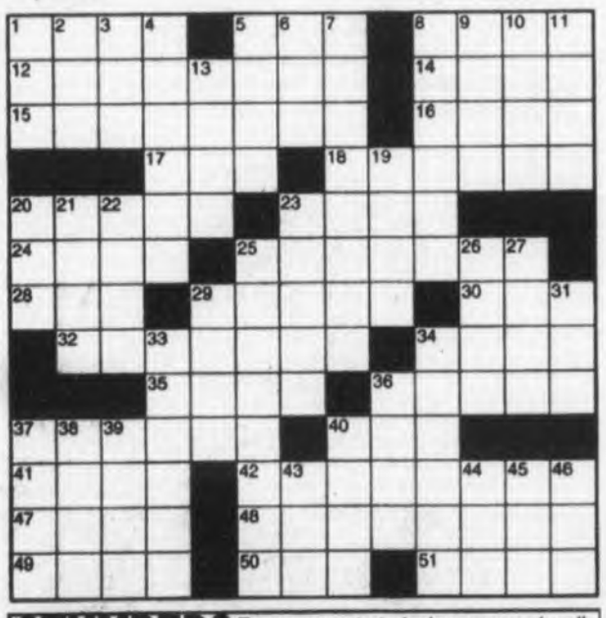
The Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art will feature Kathrine Walker, education coordinator, at noon on Feb. 5 in the First Wednesday's Food for Thought. Walker will speak about John Steuart Curry's lithograph of John Brown and the Statehouse Mural controversy.

Faculty artists David Litrell, cellist, and William Wingfield, pianist, will present part three of their concert series entitled "Masterpieces of the Cello Repertoire."

The concert will begin at 1 p.m. on Feb. 9 In All Faiths Chapel. Litrell and Wingfield will play sonatas composed by Shostakovich and Brahms, as well as "Celtic Passage" by Eby. This is the third concert Litrell and Wingfield will play in a two week period. The concert is free and open to the public.

▶ DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 Off base
5 Omelet add-in
8 "Price Is Right" decor items
12 Tournament of Roses locale
14 "I cannot tell —"
15 Abstruse
16 Envelope
17 Possessed
18 "20 Questions" category
20 One side of the gender gap
23 Waste allowance
24 Stench
25 Carbon —
28 Bottom line
29 Explorer Sebastian
30 — Jima
32 Condense
34 Eternally
35 Flatfoot's route
36 Lewis' partner
37 Croatia's capital
40 Task
41 California city
42 Mother-of-pearl providers
47 Unpunctual
48 Hero, perhaps
49 "East of Eden" character
50 Storm center
51 Pivot



DOWN
1 Mimic
2 "How Green — My Valley"
3 Barcelona bruin
4 Foam
5 Bovine bunch
6 Blackbird
7 Coconut cookie
8 Gauguin's milieu
9 Astringent
10 Arizona river
11 Broker's advice
13 Campus VIP
19 Barbershop call
20 Triumphed
21 Praiseful
22 Lepidopteran
23 Himalayan region
25 Researcher's tool
26 Prima donna
27 Basin accessory
29 Algonquian language
31 Mork's home planet
33 Rockne portrayer
34 Jostles
36 Freezing
37 "J'accuse" writer
38 Somewhat open
39 Francisco's feline
40 Tarzan's mate
43 Serenade the moon
44 Zero
45 Old French coin
46 Yon wench

Solution time: 25 min.

G	U	R	U		S	A	L	E		C	H	O
A	N	O	N		W	H	A	M		R	O	B
Z	I	N	C		I	M	P	S		A	W	E
E	T	A	L		N	E	T		A	B	L	Y
			E	G	G		O	R	U
B	R	A	V	E	S		P	I	N	A	T	A
I	O	T	A	S				S	T	R	A	D
T	W	E	N	T	Y		S	K	I	E	R	S
			Y	E	A		E	Y	E
Y	O	G	A		K	I	D		M	I	L	L
U	R	I		D	I	V	A		A	B	O	U
M	A	L		A	M	E	N		M	E	N	S
A	N	T		M	A	S	S		E	X	I	T

Saturday's answer

2-3

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 | 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

2-3

CRYPTOQUIP

Y C A W J Y V K J P I A I J E Z D I K W C H Y I U J K I P I F Z I K I U J Z Q H E F K D I Q H V K J ?

Saturday's Cryptoquip: IT'S TRUE I TOLD THE BOTHERSOME ENTOMOLOGIST, "DON'T BUG ME!"

Today's Cryptoquip clue: H equals P

▶ MELVIN VS. THE WORLD

It might be light-hearted and set for the Saturday Night Live alums, but when compared to the other fare, a better title for recent ninja movie might be

Photo courtesy of TRI-STAR PICTURES

Fans may be disappointed by lacking plot in recently released 'Beverly Hills Ninja'

REVIEW BY KELLY FLYNN

You have had one rough week. Classes are hell, your schedule was dropped from the computers, and your parents have yelled at you because supposedly you have spent way too much of their money.

Movie Review

Your brain hurts, your head is spinning and you need a mindless escape from reality. If you have been in any of these situations recently, go see "Beverly Hills Ninja."

"Beverly Hills Ninja" opened January 17 in Manhattan-area theaters. It stars Chris Farley as the famous chosen one, a white ninja raised by a pack of sacred Japanese ninjas. Nicolette Sheridan plays the token damsel in distress, and Chris Rock is the bell boy at the posh Beverly Hills hotel where Farley stays when he comes to the states.

We begin our tale in Japan, where an odd trunk has just landed on the shores of Japan. Our heroes, the sacred ninja pack, stealthy creep up on the trunk and open it to discover a baby inside.

The ninjas take the baby in as their own, thinking it is the baby of a long lost tale of a great white ninja who saves the day. (If you actually believe any of this stuff right now I hope that you are still in grade school and have grabbed a Collegian from your parents or your older siblings.)

Fast forward to the present day when the great white hope has turned out to be a lot of hype. Our poor hero, the Great White Ninja, cannot become a ninja because he is a klutz. So while the rest of the ninjas are off fighting evil, our hero is left by himself in the family dojo.

Enter the damsel in distress. She has a naughty boyfriend who dated her sister until she found out too much about his business affairs and killed her, and now the damsel is afraid that she will be next.

The Great White Ninja to the rescue. A white ninja from Japan, weighing 250 pounds, runs off to the states to save this beautiful, yet completely helpless bimbo from her fraudulent and evil boyfriend.

The rest of the story is pretty simple. The Great White Ninja fights the bad guys, turns them into the police and gets the girl.

No, you will probably not see this movie up for an Academy Award next March (unless they amend the Best Movie of the Year category to include slapstick, goofball, mindless humor).

The performances by Farley and Sheridan are silly but definitely entertaining, but Rock delivers the funniest lines in the movie.

Upon seeing Farley's sword twirling demonstration, Rock exclaims, "Man that was sooooo dope," and then begins flailing his arms around displaying his own version of Kung Fu fighting.

Unlike the past Saturday Night Live-inspired movies like "Tommy Boy" (Chris Farley was a lot funnier and genuine in his performance) or "Happy Gilmore" (Adam Sandler running amuck on a golf course and the fight scene between Sandler and Bob Barker is worth the price of the rental), "Beverly Hills Ninja" falls flat.

Many of the jokes that were supposed to be funny didn't receive so much as a giggle from the audience. Maybe the audience was tired after returning to classes. Or maybe they were tired of being offered the same kind of movie again and again, just packaged in a different way.

Don't see this movie if you are expecting a plot. This isn't "The English Patient" or "Portrait of a Lady." See this movie if you have had a bad week, you need a good escape from reality, and you don't mind seeing something less than "Happy Gilmore."

▶ WEEKLY HOROSCOPE

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb.18) Even your idealism may short change you. The immediate future reveals an unnavigated horizon. Don't limit yourself by trying to define or manipulate the present.

Take the passenger seat, and don't cling to road-side attractions. Guides, gurus and guardian angels are hitchhiking between pit stops. Seek opportunity in old friends and pace yourself in relationships.

The packages enlightenment arrives in may be intriguing, but don't let illusion distract you from its message. A bad time to get a tattoo.

Local Aquariuses: Nyle Wiren, senior defensive end, and Jason Johnson, senior center for Wildcat football.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Competition for your time stirs imbalance between the domestic front and a foreign agenda. Transition disguised as indecision methodically shifts your center, but be sensitive to the emotional casualties. It is time to piss or get off the pot. If you've been feeling alienated, maybe it's you who isn't ready to establish residency.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If there doesn't seem to be a right side of the bed and you're beginning to develop a Charlie Brown complex, put your stock in bubble bath and remember you have no right to condemn yourself. Allow others to help you find a karmic punch line without fighting your own progress, and don't underestimate Seinfeld therapy.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you're feeling a little indulgent these days, be aware that it is a small town for dodging a past. Access to excess may amplify your indiscretion, but try to convert some of that radiance into boosting your grade point average or filter it out on a StairMaster. Try to substitute your compulsion for motivation. Discipline is beyond grasp for now, but as a public service, consider doubling up on masturbatory efforts.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be patient with the irresistibly transcendental looneys making appearances in your life. A nomadic lover may be heartbreakingly unreliable, but don't forget that is what you were drawn to. Honor everything around you as a muse. It will help you maintain your independence and your sanity when you get honest about your own motives. Counter your losses with creativity.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Channel anxiety into indirect alliances. Now is an important time to establish boundaries with those you love. It's not too late. A little isolation will go a long way. Seek solitude to access some needed perspective and interrupt a draining concentration of your emotional resources. Be gentle with yourself, keep the blinds open and eat light.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Watch that your relentless ambition doesn't choke those closest to you, and be conscious of a potentially destructive dependency developing. If you find yourself feeling obligated to overcompensate financially for neglecting someone you love, maybe you should re-evaluate what it was that brought you to it in the first place. Stand on your head, invest in Pez and seek the relief of therapeutic nonsense.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) While basking in the glory of recent payoffs, don't forget what it took to get there. Pay attention to your roots, and exchange pride for gratitude. Spread your inspiration out generously. There is plenty to go around, and it will be reciprocated when you really need it. Use your voice. Others are especially receptive to your message right now, but be diplomatic.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Spend your money where it counts. Concentrate on tying up split ends and stop running from taking responsibility for unhealed wounds. You may not be able to make amends, but by acknowledging your part, you can stop infecting old wounds. Don't allow your sensitivity to blind you to the power you've taken for granted. A victim mentality will only arm you with justification for your own victimizing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Take a hint and compromise your priorities just long enough to escape isolation. There is a surplus of inspiration available, but your instincts will detour you. Don't hide in the storm shelter when you've been praying for rain. Your complacency and guilt will not protect you from your own tradition of self-criticism. If deprivation and defensiveness have been your solution, ask yourself if it's worked.

SAGITARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Do not equate compromise with failure; it will only result in loneliness. You have an opportunity to support those still climbing the ladder or you have the option of holding steady. Don't allow yourself to feel threatened or to be indifferent. You may make friends in unlikely places.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan.19) Men: Transfer New Year's momentum to finally take the initiative in conquering unfinished business. A partnership is vital to important projects, but the one you've been waiting for is you.

Women: For now, others may adjust so your expectations are met, but it doesn't mean your demands are not resented. Spiritual coasting may come back to haunt you if you're taking your intuition for granted.

▶ DILBERT

The Collegian awaits your comments. Send your words of wisdom to the Collegian by e-mail at (collegn@ksu.edu).

TV station to list sex charges

ASSOCIATED PRESS

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — It's about to become a lot easier to get your face on television in Kansas City.

The city is expanding an experiment to post on its cable channel the names of men and women convicted of participating in prostitution, soliciting prostitutes or engaging in indecent exposure.

The new plan, which was scheduled to start about March 1, will name people who are arrested — before they go to court — and post their pictures on KCCG-TV, American Cablevision Channel 25 or Channel 2.

The Police Department is even buying a digital camera to make sure the mug shots are of the best quality.

"We don't want any cases of mistaken identity," said council member Teresa Loar, who championed the project.

But the American Civil Liberties Union, already concerned about naming the guilty, warns that naming those only charged with the crimes would be worse.

"One of the bedrock principles in this country is that you are assumed innocent until proven guilty," said Dick Kurtenbach, director of the ACLU in Kansas and western Missouri.

"For something to be a deterrent there's got to be some punishing value to it. So clearly that's what they're doing. Also as clearly, if they do it they will be punishing innocent people. Inevitably it will happen."

Municipal Court Administrator Bernard Schneider said the city won't televise anything that is not already on the public record, if anyone takes the trouble to inquire.

All arrest records are open to the public, Schneider said. They are only closed if a person is adjudicated and found innocent.

For that reason, the city will not be able to clear the name of a person whose picture is televised and who is subsequently acquitted.

Loar said the program will carry a disclaimer that defendants are innocent until proven guilty.

The City Council approved a resolution in November to post the names of people who were convicted of prostitution-related crimes. Loar plans to introduce a broader, amended resolution, although she said the city law department told her it is not necessary.

The current plan is to begin the project on March 1, possibly sooner. The photos and names will be updated weekly but televised daily, with the broadcasts tentatively scheduled for 1 a.m., 1:35 a.m., 7:30 a.m., 1 p.m., 1:35 p.m. and 6:30 p.m.

AMERICAN FAMILY INSURANCE
AUTO HOME BUSINESS HEALTH LIFE
KSU Grad '88
TIM ENGLE

"Call Us For A Quote"
3258 Kimball Ave.
Manhattan, Ks.
537-4661

Beat the Winter Blahs

With A Make-Over and get
$5.00 OFF
Any Service
Not valid with any other promotion.
#23
Hair Experts Design Team 776-4455

Multi-Engine Flight Training
• Twin Comanche w/HSI, RMI, GPS
• 6,500-Hour ATP Instructor
• Reasonable Rates
• Hugh Irvin
539-3128

EAT A LOT OF CHICKEN WINGS AND WIN A TRIP TO VEGAS!
CHICKEN WING EATING CONTEST AT BOWINKLES SPORTS BAR TONIGHT AT 7P.M.
BoWinkle's
3043 ANDERSON 776-1022

Recreational Services
KANSAS STATE
INTRAMURALS

— Basketball Officials' Clinic —
Monday, Jan. 27, at 6:30 p.m. Rec. Complex
Tuesday, Jan. 28, at 6:30 p.m. Rec. Complex
Wednesday, Jan. 29, at 6:30 p.m. Rec. Complex
Mandatory Attendance at All Three Meetings!
Rec Services Office 532-6980

AMERICA'S #1 STUDENT TOUR OPERATOR
SPRING BREAK '97
Cancun from $399
Jamaica from $429
Florida from $119
Book with Creative Travel and receive $50 off SCUBA certification!!!
STS STUDENT TRAVEL SERVICES
1344 Ashton Rd. Hanover, MD 21076
http://ststravel.com/
SPACE IS LIMITED SO CALL TODAY!!!
CALL CREATIVE TRAVEL @ 539-0531

The Perfect Suit

WHEN YOUR FUTURE IS AT STAKE . . . look to the professionals for that perfect suit.
Prices start at $275
• One Button
• Two Button
• Three Button
• Six Button Double Breasted
Now On Sale
BORCK Brothers
Fine Menswear
Mon.-Sat. 9:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Thurs. till 8 p.m.
Westloop Shopping Center

1996 mccain 1997

Count Basie Orchestra and The New York Voices

Back by popular demand! The boppingest big band swings back through town with the exciting vocals of The New York Voices. This special event is presented in conjunction with the KSU Jazz Festival.
Public: $25; Senior: $23; Student/Child: $12.50.
Saturday, February 1, 8 p.m.

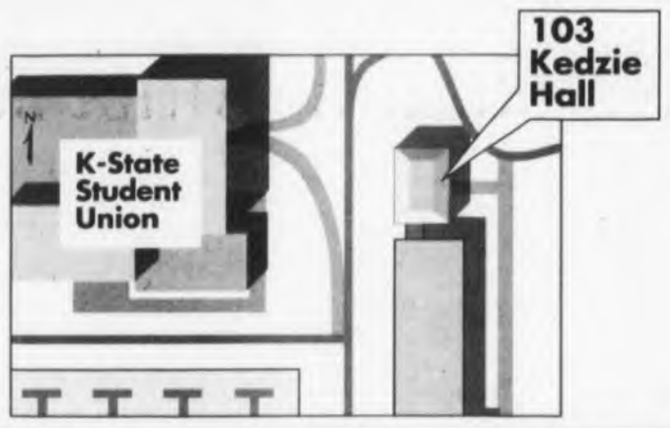
Wolfgang Holzmair, baritone*

This remarkable artist is in such demand that his concert postponed from 1995 could be rescheduled only now. A 1996 Grammy nominee and an exclusive Philips recording artist who has a loyal following among those who know him from CDs, Holzmair has thrilled audiences at Covent Garden and La Scala. For McCain he sings an all-Schubert program to celebrate the composer's 200th birthday.
Public: $16; Senior: $14; Student/Child: $8.
Sunday, February 9, 3 p.m.

Winnie the Pooh*

Cleveland Signstage Theatre
Isn't it time to refresh your memories of Christopher Robin, Pooh and all their friends in the Hundred Acre Wood? Share an adventure with your family when CST brings A. A. Milne's lovable menagerie to life in sign language and words.
Corporate sponsor: Mercy Health Center of Manhattan
Public: $12; Senior: $10; Student/Child: $6.
Sunday, February 16, 3 p.m.

Call 532-6428 or come to the McCain box office.
Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. VISA and MC accepted. Tickets also available at the usual outlets.
Kansas State Bank provides a free bus service to series events for patrons 55 years or older. For details, call Marie Dellen at 587-4000, 9 to 5 p.m. weekdays.
Persons with disabilities may call 532-6428 for accessibility information.
*Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency.
Events in the McCain Performance Series are supported by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.
All dates and artists subject to change without notice.



CRUISE LINE JOBS!
• Students Needed Immediately
• Up To $2,500+/mo.
• FREE World Travel
• Part/Full Time
• Entry Level

CALL NOW for hiring details:
1-604-878-9777 (24 hrs.)
©1997 Tristar Employment Services * Not a direct hiring company

Rose MUFFLER HOUSE
"Our business is exhausting"
MUFFLERS & TAILPIPES
DUAL SYSTEMS
AUTOS (American & Foreign)
RVs LIGHT & HEAVY DUTY TRUCKS
CUSTOM PIPE BENDING
COMPLETE BRAKE SERVICE FOR AMERICAN, FOREIGN, & LIGHT TRUCKS
SHOCK ABSORBERS & STRUTS
Rose HOUSE OF TINT
GLASS TINTING SERVICES AVAILABLE FOR YOUR AUTO, HOME OR BUSINESS
DRAW-TITE
TRAILER HITCHES - SALES & INSTALLATION
Mon.-Fri. 7:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
2049 Ft. Riley Blvd.
776-8955 or 1-800-439-8956
Take advantage of our courtesy van for rides to school and home while your vehicle is being serviced.
Same Location!
FREE ESTIMATES

GREEK'S PIZZERIA
hours: 11 a.m.-10 p.m.
M-T 11 a.m. - midnight
F & Sat 11 a.m. - 2:30 a.m.
1124 Moro in Aggieville
FREE DELIVERY
539-1999
SUPER BOWL WEEK
ONE 16" EXTRA LARGE SINGLE TOPPING PIZZA $9.99 NO LIMIT - EXPIRES 2-2-97
TWO 16" EXTRA LARGE TWO TOPPING PIZZAS $18.98 NO LIMIT - EXPIRES 2-2-97
TWO 8" SINGLE TOPPING PIZZAS AND STIX $6.99 NO LIMIT - EXPIRES 2-2-97
Greek's Pizzeria
1124 Moro
In Aggieville
539-1999

CLASSIFIEDS

DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classified display must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.

HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an established account with Student Publications Inc.

Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks.

CALL OR STOP BY

To place your classified, call 532-6555.

Place your classified ad in 103 Kedzie.

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING plus ground school for private, instrument and multi-engine ratings. K-State Flying Club approved instructor. Hugh Irvin, 539–3128.

ATTENTION ALL students!!! Grants and scholarships available from sponsors!!! No repayments, ever!!! $$$ Cash for college $$$ for information: (800)243-2435.

COLLEGE FINANCIAL AID -Student Financial Services has information on 3,400+ public and private sector funding sources. A must for anyone seeking financial aid! For information: 1-800-263-6495 ext.F57689.

Need some
Extra Cash
It's quick.
It's easy.
You can earn $80 a week, just by donating plasma. Ask our friendly staff for details.
Manhattan Biomedical Center
NABI
776-9177
Mon-Fri 9 a.m.,
Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.
1130 Gardenway

DISCOVER DIVING scuba lessons, college credit, low rates, Aggie Dive Shop 539-DIVE.

FAST FUNDRAISER-RAISE $500 IN FIVE DAYS- GREEKS, GROUPS, CLUBS, MOTIVATIONAL INDIVIDUALS. FAST, EASY-NO FINANCIAL OBLIGATION. (800)862-1982 EXT. 33.

GRADUATING OR need help with your resume? Information tips and sample resumes available. Guaranteed results. Send SASE to: Resemue Renovations P.O. Box 1384 Clemson, SC 29633.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 539-3733.

SCUBA DIVE Dreaming of those warm nights and clear waters... Learn to dive now for spring break and summer. Classes now forming. Call David Garvin, PADI, Creative Travel and Scuba, 539-0531.

WICHITA EAGLE SUNDAY ONLY 15-week semester subscription only $12. Call Colleen Hampton at 539-5934 to subscribe. Offer expires 1/28/97.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

NEXT TO campus: one-bedroom in very nice complex. Sublease rate. 539-2702 call/ message.

NICE, LARGE, one-bedroom apartment, near KSU, 1531 Leavenworth, $275 includes heat, water and trash, 537-4977.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO baths, fireplace, central air, washer and dryer, $550/ month. Water and trash included. No pets. 776-8914.

TWO-BEDROOM, ONE block east of campus. 539-6236.

110

For Rent-Apt. Unfurnished

814 THURSTON studio apartment water/ trash paid. No pets, available now, five month or more lease, $275. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE NOW. 915 Claflin, three-bedroom apartment heat, water, trash paid. Newly redecorated. No pets. $525. Call 539-3085.

AVAILABLE NOW. Leases through May. Rent negotiable. Most utilities paid. Cat ok. 537-8389, leave message please- will call as soon as possible.

AVAILABLE NOW. reduced rent through May. One, two and four-bedroom apartments. 587-0399.

GOLD KEY apartments, two-bedroom available now, 1419 Leavenworth, $450. Water and trash paid. Stove, refrigerator, washer and dryer provided. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom. Close to campus and City Park. $475/ month. Available immediately. 776-1771, Elaine.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, large, clean, dishwasher, pool, in a quiet complex, $370. 539-2649.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT two-bedroom basement by campus. 537-9188. Lease until July 97 on.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE in February, 430 Vattier, $350. Water and trash paid. Stove and refrigerator. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM WITH study in Aggieville available now, 1130 Fremont, $275. Water and trash paid. Stove and refrigerator. Lawn care provided. Cats okay. Call MDI 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM. CLOSE to campus. Water, trash, gas paid. No pets. Available, 539-1975.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS leasing one, two and three-bedroom apartments. Two pools, hot tub, horseshoes, volleyball. 539-2951.

PARKVIEW APARTMENTS, two-bedroom available in February, 1026 Osage, $495. Water and trash paid. Stove, refrigerator and dishwasher. On-site laundry and parking provided. Built in student desk in each bedroom. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

ROYAL TOWER Apartments, four-bedroom/ two bath available in February, $860. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances with dishwasher and microwave. Fitness room, jacuzzi, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

STUDIO APARTMENT, one block from campus. (913)494-2240.

Leasing Now For August
- Fremont Apts
- Sandstone Apts
- College Heights
- Cambridge Square

Large 2-bedroom Units.
537-9064
Weekdays:
8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Sat. 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

STUDIO APARTMENT. $215. All utilities except electricity paid. Lease and deposit required. Available now 537-7794.

THREE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. $395. Available now. 539-2450.

TWO AND Three-bedroom apartments. Close to campus. 539-1713

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, lower level, new carpet, large and in a quiet complex, $400. 539-2649.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment close to campus. All utilities except electricity. No smoking or pets. New carpeting, $300. 1122 N 8th, 565-9642.

TWO-BEDROOM DUPLEX 2627 Claflin. Inspected and approved by code service section of Manhattan Fire services. No pets. Available, 539-3524.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now, 1807 College Heights, $410. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now and February, 925 Denison, $410. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking. Newly remolded kithcens. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

115

Rooms Available

ONE-BEDROOM, TWO blocks from campus. Freshly redecorated. Washer/ dryer. 776-4130.

120

For Rent-Houses

FOUR TO five-bedroom house available June 1. One block to KSU, 539-1713.

ONE, TWO, three-bedroom for non-smoking, non-drinking, no pets. 539-1554.

ONE-BEDROOM HOUSE. Two blocks from campus. No pets. $350. Desperate to rent. Available now! 565-0797.

SEVEN-BEDROOM HOUSE. Close to KSU. 539-1713.

THREE-BEDROOM BRICK house. $570 per month. 537-8430.

TWO BLOCKS from campus. Three-bedroom, eat-in kitchen, living room, dining area, freshly redecorated, washer/ dryer. Second semester bargin. $600/ month. 776-4130.

135

For Sale-Mobile Homes

1984 MOBILE home in Redbud estates; three-bedroom, two bath; all appliances include dishwasher, washer/ dryer; $12,000 negotiable; 537-7526.

TWO-BEDROOM, BATH and a half trailer in Manhattan. Includes washer/ dryer. 764-1182.

145

Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE lease through July. West Chester Apartments 537-8423 or (913)451-0567.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for spring semester. Own bedroom, lots of closet and storage space. Close to campus (1850 Claflin) $230 plus one-third utilities January paid. Call 565-0160.

FEMALE ROOMMATE nonsmoker for two-bedroom mobile home. $175 plus one-half KPL. Cable, water and trash paid. 587-0157

FEMALE ROOMMATE, share four-bedroom, $209/ month, one-fourth utilities, GREAT ROOMMATES! 537-6291.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Very nice two-bedroom apartment, next to campus. Reasonable price, trash/ water paid. No smoking/ drinking/ pets. 565-9250 (leave message).

MALE WANTED for furnished basement. No smoking/ drinking/ pets, please. Walk to KSU. 539-1554.

MALE/ FEMALE roommate needed to share four-bedroom, two bath house near campus. Central air, washer/ dryer, dishwasher, $212.50/ month. All bills split. 530 Bluemont. Call Briana, (816)455-6542.

ROOMMATE FOR three-bedroom apartment across from campus. $230/ month. contact Niki, 537-2098.

ROOMMATE NEEDED as soon as possible. Woodway Apartments, four-bedroom, two bath. $204/ month plus one-fourth utilities. 537-4732.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for apartment close to campus and Aggieville. Rent/ lease negotiable. One-third utilities. 537-6297.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share two-bedroom apartment. Washer/ dryer. Cats allowed, rent negotiable. Call Rhonda at 776-2788 or 537-3819.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share nice two-bedroom mobile home in Redbud Estates. Call Guy at 539-3503, 587-5711 or e-mail at graffix@kansas.net

ROOMMATE TO share three-bedroom house three blocks from campus. Close to campus and Aggieville. $275, all utilities paid. Cable. Washer/ dryer. Joanna or Jen. 776-9548. February rent free.

ROOMMATE WANTED for farmhouse. Good, quiet location on all-weather road with horse facilities. $140/ month plus utilities, 539-2029.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share three-bedroom house. $250/ month plus one-half utilities. Washer/ dryer. Pets allowed. Fenced yard. Carrie 776-6563.

ROOMMATE WANTED-Male/ female. Close to campus. $210/ month. Available now. Call Bill toll free (888)675-8464, leave message.

ROOMMATE WANTED. House close to campus. Own bedroom and bathroom. $215/ month plus one-fourth utilities. Call 776-3014.

ROOMMATE WANTED. $188.33/ month, gas paid, 587-0889 ask for Rich. Close to campus.

ROOMMATE WANTED: One-half utilities, water/ trash paid. Very nice, $170/ month. Call 587-4645.

TWO-BEDROOM IN fully furnished house for females. All bills paid. Walking distance to campus. 539-6098.

150

Sublease

$140/ MONTH. One-bedroom available in large four-bedroom house. Near campus plus the 'Ville. 539-7674.

$295 PLUS utilities. Charming one-bedroom cottage duplex available now. Parking and laundry facilities included. Near campus/ Aggieville. 719 Leavenworth. 537-8651.

$350 PLUS gas/ electric. One-bedroom. Spacious apartment three blocks west of campus. Parking and laundry. 537-8651.

AVAILABLE NOW! Female roommate needed to share two-bedroom apartment at Westchester Park. $244.50/ month plus one-half electricty. Call 776-8707 or 537-4666 Ext. 23. Ask for Joann.

HELP! FEMALE roommate needed immediately for large two-bedroom at Chase Manhattan. Large room with walk-in closet. Great first floor location, large patio faces pool and basketball court. Paid water and trash, cheap on-site laundry facilities. Cheap cable, $275/ month plus utilities, call Carolynn at 565-0613 to come and see.

ONE-BEDROOM ONE block from campus. Abailable immediately. Wildcat Mangement 537-2332.

ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO for sublease now until August. Rent is $200. Water, trash , electric paid. Call 539-4174 or (316)231-6854.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Own room with own bath and outside entry. Near campus and Aggieville $240/ month. No smokers. 565-0324.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Very spacious two-bedroom apartment. Walk-out patio. Pool. May 20 through July 31. 776-8711.

TWO ROOMS available in four-bedroom townhouse, no pets, washer/ dryer, all appliances, garage. Very nice, 3303 Abbey Circle. Call 587-8498 or 539-6358 to see.

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY

235

Child Care

NEW REGISTERED daycare now enrolling infants. If your in need of loving care please call 776-1596. ask for Sandy.

300 EMPLOYMENT/CAREERS

310

Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 537-0056.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. No experience required. Begin now. For info call (301)429-1326.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT -Fishing industry. Many earn up to $4000+/ month during peak season. Benefits often include transportation and/ or room and Board. For details: (206) 971-3510 ext-A57688.

CAMP COUNSELORS for educational camp south of Kansas City. Can lead fishing, canoeing, crafts, games, and many more activities while teaching children 8- 14 about the outdoors. Lifeguard helpful. June 7- August 10. Must be sophomore or older. $1600 plus room and board. For details, send inquiry before February 7, 1997 to Wildwood, 7095 W. 399th St., LaCygne, KS 66040.

CAMP OZARK, Christian Sports and Adventure Camp -- Seeking qualified counselors to work with boys and girls ages 8- 16. Employment terms for all or part of the summer. If remotely interested, come to our KSU informational video presentation 8:30pm, Monday, February 3 at K-State Union, Little Theater. Located Mount Ida, AR. (501)867-4131. Visit our website at www.campozark.com.

CAMP WEKEELA in Canton, Maine is hiring experienced dynamos to instruct tennis, swimming, outdoor trips, high-ropes, drama, dance, music, sailing, windsurfing, waterskiing, basketball, lacrosse, baseball, volleyball, gymnastics, soccer, horseback riding, photography, woodworking, ceramics and creative arts. Share your skills at one of the premier co-ed camps in the world. 2807 C Delmar Drive, Columbus, OH 43209 (800)959-3177.

CHELEY COLORADO Camps in the Rocky Mountains near Estes Park is hiring enthusiastic individuals to work with campers ages 9-17. Cooks/ dishwashers, Unit direscotors, drivers, office personnel, RNs, wranglers; Counselors with skills in horseback riding, mountain biking, climbing wall, challenge course, camping, sports, crafts, song leading, archery, or riflery. Room/ board, salary, travel allowance. Must be at least a sophomore and able to work June 9- August 12, 1997. On-campus interviews. For information, please contact Cheley Colorado Camps at (800)226-7386.

CAMP TAKAJO

for boys, Outstanding Maine camp noted for magnificent lakefront setting and exceptional facilities. Over 100 positions for heads and assistants in tennis, baseball, basketball, soccer, lacrosse, golf, street hockey, roller hockey, swimming, sailing, canoeing, waterskiing, SCUBA, archery, riflery, weight training, journalism, photography, videography, woodworking, ceramics, crafts, drawing and painting, nature study, radio and electronics, dramatics, piano accompanist, music instrumentalist, band director, backpacking, rock climbing, whitewater canoeing, ropes course, general (w/ youngest campers), secretarial. June 16 - August 24. Top salaries, room and board, travel provided. Call 800-250-8252. Or WRITE Camp Takajo c/o Mike Sherbun 7366 Cascade Terrace Grand Rapids MI 49546. Or FAX resume to 616-954-2950. A camp representative will be in Union Room 207 Wed., Feb. 5 from 10am-4pm. Walk-ins are welcomed!

CRUISE SHIP EMPLOYMENT -Travel the world (Hawaii, Mexico, Caribbean) and earn an excellent income in the Cruise and Land- Tour industry. For details, call 1-206-971-3550 ext.C57689.

EARN $427 plus a week at home! Write for application: Generations, Dept. KSU, P.O. Box 13486, Atlanta, GA 300324, Genmarker@aol.com

EASTERN EUROPE/ ASIAN JOBS. Live in Prague, Budapest, Tokyo, etc. teaching simple conversational English. No languages/ teaching experience required. (919)918-7767, Ext. W161.

ENHANCED UNIVERSITY EXPERIENCE LEADERS are now being recruited by the Academic Assistance Center for the 1997 fall semester. Applicants should be good student role-models, be committed to the concept of academic success for all students, desire to teach other how to learn, be able to relate to a diverse group of people, have proven success in social science and/ or mathematics courses and have a minimum g.p.a. of 3.0. Undergraduates with sophomore status or higher are preferred. We have twelve positions for recitation/ social science study group leaders and two positions for study group leaders in Intermediate and College Algebra. All positions require a time commitment of 10 hours per week for a total salary of $750 for the fall semester. Selected applicants will be required to attend training sessions during the final eight weeks of the spring 1997 semester. Applications are available in Holton 101 prior to February 14.

EVENING AND WEEKEND CLASSES in hair design, ethnic hair design and nail technology. Start Feb. 4. Thousands in scholarships plus financial aid available. Free info. Call Crum's Beauty College @ 776-4794.

HIRING IMMEDIATELY! Student needed for part-time work demostrating Avery Dennison products on campus. Must be familiar with Miscrosoft Word and willing to use own personal computer with Windows software $10.00 per hour. Contact Lex Deines at 800-569-6461.

HORTICULTURAL SERVICES Inc., is seeking reliable individuals for full or part-time employment at our retail Garden Center. Sales experience and plant knowledge preferred. Above average wages and benefits. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (913)494-2418 or (913)776-0397.

HORTICULTURAL SERVICES Inc. is seeking reliable individuals for full or part time employment for our production, landscape and irrigation operations. Farm or landscape experience preferred. Above average wages and benefits. Apply in person at 11524 Landscape Ln., St. George, KS 66535. (913)776-0397 or (913)776-0397.

LEASING CONSULTANT. Upscale apartment complex seeking individual to assist with leasing. Part-time during school, full-time in summer. 3.0 GPA. Sales experience preferred. Outgoing personality and excellent people skills. Training provided. Send resume to: P.O. Box 483, Manhattan, KS 66505-0483.

LOSE WEIGHT without dieting. Call 537-6892.

NATIONAL PARK EMPLOYMENT -National Parks hire forestry workers, park rangers, firefighters, lifeguards, + volunteer and government positions. Excellent benefits + bonus potential. Call: 1-206-971-3620 ext.N57689.

NATIONAL PARKS HIRING. Also Beach Resorts, Ranches, Rafting Co.'s. Benefits, Bonuses! Nationwide summer openings. Call (919)918-7767, ext. R161.

PART-TIME DELIVERY help needed. Must be available in the afternoons. Apply at Homestead Rental, 2332 Sky-Vue Lane.

PREMIERE BROTHER-SISTER CAMPS IN MASSACHUSETTS. Counselor positions for talented and energetic students as Program Specialists in all Team Sports, especially Baseball, Basketball, Roller Hockey, Gymnastics, Field Hockey, Soccer, Volleyball; 30 Tennis openings; also Golf, Archery, Riflery, Pioneering/ Overnight Camping, Ropes and Rock Climbing, Weights/ Fitness and Cycling; other openings include Performing Arts, Fine Arts, Figure Skating, Newspaper, Photography, Yearbook, Radio Station, and Rocketry; All Waterfront/ Pool Activities (Swimming, Skiing, Sailing, Windsurfing, Canoeing/ Kayaking). Top salaries, room, board and travel. June 22nd- August 20th. Inquire: MAH-KEE-NAC (Boys): 1-800-753-9118. DANBEE (Girls): 1-800-392-3752.

REWARDING, EXCITING summer for sophomore or older college students counseling in the Colorado Rockies. Backpacking, Western Riding, water activities, natural science, and many outddor programs. Write: Sanborn Western Camps, PO Box 167, Florissant, CO 80816.

STUDENT DISPATCH/ Control Clerk: Work 15- 30 hours per week. Must be willing to work summer and during school breaks. Job involves working with mainframe computer users and delivering printouts across campus. Applicants with two or more years employment potential will be given preference. Applications can be picked-up in Farrell Library, Room 2B. Applications accepted until 5 p.m., January 27, 1997.

SUMMER JOBS!!! Camp Birchwood and Gunflint Wilderness camp, two of Minnesota finest summer camps, seek college students to work as counselors and instructors. Activities include: Horseback riding (english & western), Sailing, Wilderness trips, tennis, arts & crafts, rifle, archery and more. Working with kids in a camp setting, is a chance to be part of something significant. Employment begins June 6th to August 12th or 22nd. For an application and to schedule an interview call (800)451-5270.

TUTORS NEEDED for Managerial Reporting, Taxation, Accounting Research, Accounting for Non-Profit, Quantative Management, Intro. to Finance, US Politics. Graduate students should not have assistantships. Must have taken course and achieved an A/B. Salary based on experience. Contact Educational Supportive Services, Holton 201, 532-5642.

WAITRESSES NEEDED. Apply in person at Rusty's 1213 Moro.

WANTED 100 students. Lose 5- 100 pounds. New metabolism breakthrough. RN assisted, free gift. $35 fee. (800)579-1634.

WANTED: FULL or part-time farm help. Skills in construction, machine repair, welding or equipment operation. (913)457-3440.

ZAP YOUR ZITS. Have the complexion you've always wanted! New Bio-Tech program. No animal ingredients or testing. Guaranteed results. 539-7336.

330

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

WORK FROM home. Twenty second commute! Serious income potential working from home. We provide training and support via revolutionary system. Call (toll free) 1-888-444-6242 for overview. Then call us live at 776-5429.

400 OPEN MARKET

410

Items for Sale

BEER SIGNS, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, antiques, collectibles, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

BROTHER WORD Processor. Disk access, monitor, example files. $150 or best offer. Oak computer stand $100 or best offer. 537-2090.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit $14.95. See ALL the channels (313)523-2769.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY Sale for Cash Pawn and Gun. Selling cd's $2 and $3 each. Movies for $4 each. Cassette tapes for $0.75 each. Sega and Super NES Systems for$49.00. 10% off all Spiderco knives. 20% off a large selection of items store wide. Lowest priced guns and jewelry. We buy sell and trade. Have money to loan. 1917 Fort Riley Blvd., 776-3332.

FOOSBALL TABLE $175, 565-9248.

FOR SALE: Radio Shack power graphic EC-4034 scientific calculator with manual. $50 or best offer. (913)456-2133.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

COMPUTER DESK with desk light and printer cart $45. Call 776-9847 after 7 p.m.

DRESSER WITH mirror, nightstand, headboard and bed frame set, $60. Coffee table and end tables, set $20. Large study table with four chairs, set $50. Call 776-1902.

430

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Flea Market 7000 square feet, 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

435

Computers

486 PACKARD Bell computer. 8 Meg Ram. MS Office and Windows '95. Call . $750. 565-0509. Call after 5.

486DX50 8 MEG RAM, 340 meg HD, SVGA monitor, keyboard, mouse 586, 133MHZ MB with CPU, 16 meg RAM. Kevin, 537-1863.

INTERKAN.NET: MANHATTAN'S newest Internet Service Provider. Free setup software. Monthly rates: 10 hours @ $5, 30 hours @ $7.50, 90 hours @ $10, 200 hours @ $17.50. http://www.interkan.net or 565-0991.

MUST SELL laptop portable computer, sharp 5740. 6.20 DOS, 120MB hard drive, 256K video memory, excellent carrying case. Machine at 539-9238.

445

Music Instruments

WELCOME BACK to The Music Co.! Best prices on new and used instruments and accessories. No pressure sales, we try to get what you need. Straight down 17th st from K-state Union, in the Midtown Plaza, 539-1958.

450

Pets and Supplies

AKC YELLOW labs, shots and warmed, ready for loving home. Call 776-8237 or weekends (913)584-6626.

460

Stereo Equipment

FOR SALE: Sanyo portable CD player. New car kit, adapters, headphones! 490 or best offer. Call 537-2531 and leave message.

INFINITY HOME theater subwoofer. Dual six and one-half 300 Watts RMS. Has satellite speaker inputs. Excellent condition. $210 Negotiable leave message. Ryan 537-9513.

MAGNAVOX HOME stereo for sale, sounds good and it's in great shape. For more information call Ken 537-1621.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1982 CHEVY Citation. Good condition, 537-3267.

1985 LTD II wagon 30K on factory motor, auto, air-conditioned, cruise. $1100. 539-4069, call after 7p.m.

1986 HONDA Civic, five-speed, lots of new parts, $1800. 1983 Toyota Corolla automatic high miles runs great, $800. 532-7855 leave message.

1988 BERETTA GT 2.8L, V-6, five-speed, tilt, cruise, power windows, power locks, looks and runs good. Evenings 776-2073.

1989 ESCORT GT loaded, five-speed, cruise, air-conditioned. $2500. 539-4069 after 7p.m.

1994 MAZDA Navajo LX, automatic, four-wheel drive in excellent condition. Power doors, windows, locks, power leather seats, sunroof, AM/FM cassette. Asking $16,800 or best offer. Owner must sell. 776-7025.

DODGE SHADOW ES Turbo. Good gas mileage, perfect condition, power everything. $3250. 776-1507.

FOR SALE: 1983 Z-28 Cross-fire Camero. Charcoal gray. Tinted windows. Looks and runs good, 93,000 miles. 587-4152.

OLDSMOBILE, TORONADO 1984. 108K miles, many options, very nice car, $2775 or best offer. Must sell. 587-0121.

600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

610

Tour Package

CANCUN- PADRE- MAZATLAN SPRING BREAK'S HOTTEST! 1-800-328-7513 Free food, drink and party special!?! Up To $200 discount Coupons on our Website www.studentadvtrav.com.

If Advertising Isn't Your De-Pod-Ment!
Let it be ours!
KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
Advertising • 532-6560

Nobody Does Spring Break Better!
SPRING BREAK '97
AS SEEN ON CBS NEWS "48 HOURS"
DRIVE YOURSELF & SAVE!
AFFORDABLE
Book a Group of 15 and Break Free!
"ROAD TRIP!"
$97 and up
16th Sellout Year!
PARTY SUNCHASE
SOUTH PADRE ISLAND
PANAMA CITY BEACH
DAYTONA BEACH
STEAMBOAT
KEY WEST
HILTON HEAD ISLAND
* PER PERSON DEPENDING ON DESTINATION / BREAK DATES / LENGTH OF STAY
1-800-SUNCHASE
TOLL FREE INFORMATION & RESERVATIONS
HIT THE WEB AT: http://www.sunchase.com

FOR MORE INFORMATION
UNIVERSITY APARTMENTS
2215 COLLEGE AVE
CALL 539-0500
Now Leasing
"Stay in class at the University"
Leasing '97-'98 School Year
539-0500

BAND

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 10

He selects nationally known conductors, usually college band directors who can work with students of all ages.

This year's conductors were Jay Gilbert, director of bands at Doane College in Nebraska; Michael Haithcock, director of bands at Baylor University in Texas; Quincy Hilliard, assistant professor of music at the University of Southwestern Louisiana; and Joseph Manfredo, director of bands at Eastern Illinois University.

"Dr. Tracz gives the clinician a good idea of the level of students attending the clinic so that they know what types of music to select for the three-day event," said Dan Beich, K-State graduate student in music education. "Usually, the clinician will select five pieces of music. They'll bring an easy and a hard song. It depends on the group if the hard or the easy song is tossed out."

Students rehearsed all day Saturday for Sunday afternoon's performance.

Megan Agaman, senior at Abilene High School, plays four instruments and also studies privately with K-State professors.

"The clinic is a good experience. I learned to work with people in a short amount of time and adapt to the style of a new conductor," she said. She plans to go into music education but is undecided about which school to attend.

Students like Agaman are one reason K-State sponsors the clinic.

"It's an outstanding recruiting tool. What a great way to bring the high-school students to campus," Tracz said.

The high-school band directors said they appreciate the opportunity the clinic gives their students. Craig Allison, Abilene High School band director, said he liked the way the clinic was organized and the way it challenged his students.

"Last year, the kids came back to Abilene excited to get things accomplished in their own band," Allison said.

Sabrina Seehafer, sophomore at Sylvan Grove High School and a first-year clinic participant, said she enjoyed the clinic.

"It's fun to meet new people. It's cool that you're not sitting by anyone that you know," Seehafer said.

Also, it was an excellent opportunity for the K-State students to sit in with nationally known conductors working with the high-school musicians.

"Overall, K-State students get a feel for the field and what's going on," Tracz said.

The clinic ended with a concert of each of the four clinic bands on Sunday afternoon in McCain.

Get a daily dose of news and features. Read the Collegian.

Books will speak plain when counselors blanch.
Francis Bacon
Claflin Books and Copies

WINTER WOOLIES SALE
Selected Coats, Hats, Gloves, Shirts, Sweaters & Outerwear
Up to 50% OFF
the PATHFINDER 539-5639 304 Poyntz

Winston Place Apartments
"The Place You Can Come Home To"
Spacious studio, one and two bedroom apartments
•Water/Trash Paid
•Small Pets OK
•Pool/Weight Room
•Laundry on-site
539-9339
Kimball & Seaton Avenue

GOLDEN KEY NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY
General Chapter Meeting
Monday, January 27
7 p.m.
Union Big 12 Room
Mission Statement
The KSU Chapter of Golden Key exists to recognize academic excellence, enrich the collegiate experience of our members and positively impact our community.

Go to the World Wide Web.
(http://collegian.ksu.edu)

Dilly's Deli
Try our nightly specials!
Mon.~Buy 1 whole sandwich, Get 2nd 1/2 price
Tues.~Buy 1 Dilly's Deal, Get 2nd 1/2 price
Wed.~Whole Reuben $2.89
Thurs.~1/2 sandwich & side order $2.59
1219 Bluemont • Aggieville

"No Coupon" Specials (NO coupon needed, NONE accepted)
Everyday Two-fers
2 - PIZZAS with
2 - TOPPINGS each
2 - COKES with ice
$9.12
Everyday Three-fers
3 - PIZZAS with
1 - TOPPING each
3 - COKES with ice
$11.23
Prices do not include sales taxes.
Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

SCOREBOARD Sports Bar
The Total Sports Package
Big Monday
NCAA Basketball
Villanova vs. Georgetown
Oklahoma St. vs. Oklahoma
Tulsa vs. Utah
75¢ DRAWS
$1.75 BIG DRAWS
776-7714 1119 MORO

sa•m
"The Society for the Advancement of Management"
INFORMATIONAL MEETING
&
Tom Payne of SIFE
"Students In Free Enterprise"
Monday, January 27
Union Room 208
8:00 PM
ALL MAJORS ARE WELCOME!
NEW MEMBERS ARE ENCOURAGED TO ATTEND.

THE ART PRINT & POSTER SALE
OVER 2,000 IMAGES!!
Monday-Friday, January 27-31
K-State Union Alcove
9am-5pm
Sponsored by K-State Student Union / UPC Arts Committee
HUNDREDS OF CLOSEOUT SPECIALS FROM THE 1996 STOCK!
DISCOUNTED 20-50% OR MORE!!!
LOOK FOR THE COLORED SALE LABELS
Photographs
Sandra Bullock
John Coltrane
Trainspotting
The Beatles
The Scream
Bob Marley
The X-Files
The Usual Suspects
THE ART PRINT & POSTER sale!
Audrey Hepburn
Raphael's Sistine Madonna

Exp. Date 06/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

JANUARY 28, 1997
TUESDAY

HIGH 25
LOW 20
Sunny, windy and not as cold. Snow possible tomorrow. Warming trend for the weekend.

FORECAST PAGE 2

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN
MANHATTAN, KS 66506
VOL. 101 No. 83

NEWSROOM 532-6556
DISPLAY ADVERTISING 532-6560
CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555
e-mail: (collegn@ksu.edu)
http://collegian.ksu.edu

CLOSURE NOT AN ENDING FOR DEPOT'S LONG LIFE

▶ A train depot that brought such dignitaries as Teddy Roosevelt to Manhattan is closed. However, the depot is not forgotten.

See END OF THE LINE Page 8

ETC.
In today's paper
Briefs 2
Opinion 4
In tomorrow's paper
Find out about an interesting course selection in Health&Sex.

ALREADY FALLEN OFF THE DIET AND GAINING THE WEIGHT?

▶ Find out the quickest and healthiest ways to lose weight and keep it off.

See HOME EC. Page 7

Art or no art? Project looks at revised Union gallery plan options

RUSSELL FORTMEYER
senior staff writer

The Union Art Gallery has become a focus of attention in the K-State Student Union enhancement project.

On one side is the Union Governing Board, which is making the final decision on all the proposals for the Union project. The board is faced with rising costs, limited space and a variety of Union patrons who are demanding new and improved services.

The other side, mostly art students and faculty, are concerned that on a campus that is already gallery-needy, the most-used gallery space on campus could become a retail outlet.

▶ Does the Union need a gallery?
The editorial board gives reasons why the Union needs an art gallery.

See Page 4

Patrick Carney, president of the Union Program Council and chairman of the Union Governing Board, said he does not see the Union art gallery as having an educational focus, but rather a new focus on bringing national touring exhibitions to campus.

"The position of UGB at this time is that we want an art presence in the building," Carney said, "and we believe we need a gallery the size that can show a national artist's showing. There would be an art gallery in the building, where it will be is up in the air."

Carney said he is submitting his own proposal to Union Director Bernard Pitts, who was unavailable for comment, at a meeting today, although Carney will not say what he is proposing.

"Let's just say the gallery would be larger than it is," Carney said.

Carney is using a loophole in the design contract that says UGB has the last say in design issues.

However, redesigning the Union plan this late in the design process could account for cost overruns that could send the project over-budget, said Ken Ebert, architect for the Union enhancement and principal with the Ken Ebert Design Group, at the Jan. 17 Union design meeting.

"If UGB wants it, they can get it," Carney said.

At UGB's last meeting on Jan. 21, he said there was a motion to scrap the art gallery completely, but it failed.

Carney said UGB is not primarily concerned with the art department's concern for student gallery space.

"We felt it was important to bring big national shows into the gallery," he said. "We did not feel the academic concerns were of primary concern."

Carney said he was working to find other campus space for student work.

Anna Holcombe, head of the art department, said she's glad UGB is considering bringing in more national shows, but she wonders where they will get the money.

"Do they realize what they are talking about?" Holcombe asked. "I don't see anybody ready to pay for those shows and pay for a full-time curator."

Holcombe, who worked 15 years in a professional gallery, said the Union art gallery would need a security system, a full-time curator, and a larger budget to bring in more national shows.

"The person who is considering this is not knowledgeable in that arena at all," Holcombe said.

She said the mission of the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art is to bring in national touring shows or stage its own. Holcombe said it would benefit the campus most if the Union did something else.

The majority of student shows in the gallery take 4-6 weeks, with UPC programming filling it the rest of the year. The student artists who show in the gallery are generally master's of fine arts and bachelor's of fine arts candidates who must have a gallery show as part of their degree requirements.

"Students can perform in the Union. Why can't they do art shows in the Union?" she said.

There is the possibility of using new gallery space in Farrell Library as an alternative to the Union Art Gallery, although the plans remain fuzzy.

Karen McCulloh, assistant to the dean of libraries, said the dean thinks the space could best be used as a shared space between the departments of art and architecture, and the library.

"The dean is very supportive of the concept," McCulloh said. "I think everyone is in favor of the idea. We just need to work out the logistics."

CARY CROW, senior in animal sciences, was the recipient of the $10,000 Independent Retail Cattleman's Association Scholarship. Crow, who works at the Purebred Beef Barn, is the first K-State student to win the award.

HARVESTING HONORS

$10,000 scholarship gives student something to crow about

STORY BY CLAUDETTE RILEY • PHOTOS BY STEVE HEBERT

After showing his first pig at age 7, Cary Crow knew animals would always be a part of his life.

Crow, senior in animal sciences and industry, has been rewarded for his potential in the beef cattle industry. He is the recipient of the first $10,000 Independent Retail Cattleman's Association Scholarship ever awarded to a K-State student.

The exposure to animals came while growing up on his family farm in Maple Hill.

"We had a little farm with chickens, hogs, cattle and a milk cow or two. It was really a barnyard setting," Crow said.

Crow's involvement in 4-H taught him about responsibility and the life cycle.

"I showed my first pig when I was 7. It was a spotted pig I had hand-picked. I played with him everyday and fed him and learned his temperament. When we sold him I knew where he was going," Crow said. "That really tore my insides up but I try not to think about it much now."

Eventually, Crow's interest shifted to purebred beef cattle. He helped raise his father's commercial cattle and invested in a small number of registered Simmental cattle. During high school, he also began to work on a nearby ranch.

His interest in cattle evolved into an award-winning livestock judging team while attending Fort Scott Community College. He transferred to K-State his junior year.

"The livestock judging team was really strong here, and that drew me here," Crow said. "I came up and got on a team with a lot of good people. They have built a good program here."

Crow was part of a five-member team which competed and won the National Championship of Livestock Judging in Louisville, Kentucky in November.

Scott Schaake, livestock judging coach, said fellow teammates and colleagues look to Crow as a leader.

"We always have role-model students. He is the example of a student who is strong academically and in extra-curricular activities," Schaake said. "He is the perfect example of a student who hadn't grown up judging cattle but was willing to work hard and be the very best he can be. Cary has a very positive attitude."

As a member of the team, Crow practiced and competed with a tight-knit group of students.

"You travel with people and spend so much time together that you learn how to deal with all types of people," Crow said. "I learned a lot about judging from Schaake and how to speak, express my thoughts and make good decisions."

Crow became an employee of the K-State Purebred Beef Barn during the summer when his main duties included putting up hay, mowing and checking the more than 300 cows and heifers housed there.

He lives in an apartment with another student at the facility. Along with four additional student employees, Crow vaccinates, grooms and feeds the three types of registered cattle breeds K-State owns.

Crow works an average of 20 hours per weeks and in addition to helping with the artificial insemination process, he works at least one night shift each week. During that shift, he checks for pregnancy in the heifers.

"It's pretty nice at work," he said. "Anytime I'm not in class, I can work. When I get out of class I drive up there and work for awhile."

Crow's interests also include singing, playing the guitar and writing songs. At the end of his sophomore year, he recorded a self-titled demo and sold more than 150 copies.

Whether his future includes music, Crow said he knows he will continue working with cattle.

"I don't ever want to work away from cattle. I know that is what I want to do for the rest of my life," he said.

Crow is considering graduate school and giving back to the programs which have taught him well.

"In an ideal world, I would be able to raise purebred beef cattle, go to the big shows and I think I'd like to coach a livestock team," he said. "I want to help make a difference in kids' lives just like my coaches have done for me."

1-70 SIGN HONORS JUDGING TEAM

K-State has won the National Livestock Judging Team contest the last three years. For their achievements, the Livestock Judging team is recognized on Interstate 70 on a sign near exit 303, which leads to Ogden and Manhattan.

Scott Schaake, coach of the livestock judging team and an assistant professor in animal science, said he is pleased with the new sign.

"It tickles me to death to see a sign that recognizes our students' achievements," Schaake said. "They have worked so hard to win the national championship. It's a great honor."

To get the information on the sign, the University sent the appropriate information to the State Highway committee. The committee added the material to the sign, which already recognized K-State's national debate champions.

"It's an honor to have our students recognized for their achievements along a major interstate highway, where travelers throughout the nation can become aware of our students' successes," said John Fairman, assistant vice president for institutional advancement.

The new sign also replaces Willie the Wildcat with the Powercat.

— Cory Morgan

Students experience inaugural event firsthand

CLAUDETTE RILEY
news editor

While most Americans watched the 53rd Presidential Inauguration on television, two K-State students tried to keep warm on the terrace of the Capitol Building in Washington, D.C.

Three K-State students were originally chosen for $500 Southwestern Bell scholarships based on essay applications submitted during the fall semester. Jeremy Claeys, freshman in journalism, declined to attend.

Gregg Pfister, graduate student in finance, said he was interested in learning more about how Congress worked.

Along with 40 other students from Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas, Pfister participated in "Campaign '96: The Inauguration." The week-long academic seminar gave students from the Midwest an opportunity to learn firsthand about the Inauguration and political process.

The Washington Center for Internships and Academic Seminars played host to the seminar, which began Jan. 13.

Students participated in four days of lectures by politicians and political analysts, had a free weekend to tour Washington, D.C. ,sites and were invited to galas and inaugural events.

"The main reason I went was to see Washington, and now I have more of an understanding of how things worked," Pfister said.

The lectures and foreign-policy discussions revolved around the theme "America in Transition at Home and Abroad."

Pfister said he was impressed with the motivation speech given by Wilson Livingood, sergeant at arms for the U.S. House of Representatives. Livingood was the longest serving member of the secret service and the character upon whom the movie "In the Line of Fire" was based.

Keynote speakers included Sam Donaldson, senior correspondent for ABC News' "Primetime Live" and David Gergen, editor-at-large for U.S. News and World Report.

Jennifer Searfoss, sophomore in microbiology and secondary education, said she was interested in learning more about the political process.

"The best thing was going to Washington D.C. during that time and experiencing Washington for what it is," Searfoss said.

Searfoss said she found the small group discussions beneficial and learned from the panel discussions on international affairs.

As an intern last year for Student Government Association and a student justice for the Student Review Board, Searfoss said she thought this opportunity would offer a better background on the political process.

In addition to the Inauguration parade and ceremony, Searfoss attended an inaugural ball for the Midwest at the Washington Hilton.

Students toured the historical sites. Members of the academic seminar were given a private tour of the White House's west wing and the Congress.

"The high point was standing in the podium of the House and seeing the Oval Office," Pfister said.

"The main thing I gained was a knowledge of how free we are as a people and the fact that I could tour the White House, walk in and talk with representatives and be so close," Pfister said.

Pfister watched the Inauguration amid a crowd of more than 250,000 on the steps of the Capitol Building.

"I came away from the Inauguration with a sense of patriotism and how great our democracy is," Pfister said.

STUDENT ARRESTED FOR SEXUAL BATTERY

A K-State student was arrested Sunday night for aggravated sexual battery.

Bryan Crow was arrested for the incident that occurred in Putnam Hall, according to police records. Crow is a resident of Putnam Hall.

"He wasn't forceful enough to rape her," Sgt. Jim Lehne of the K-State Police said.

Police records state that Crow reported he was battered on Sunday night by one of three suspects.

Robert Mellgren, campus police captain, said the incidents were being investigated.

Crow could not be reached for comment. He did not return phone calls Monday evening, and his roommate said he was out of the room studying Monday night.

Andrew Fink, residence-life coordinator for the Strong Complex, which includes Putnam, did not comment on the situation.

Rob Rounbehler, Putnam Hall president, said, "This is the first I've heard of it."

For this reason, he said he did not know what the official hall statement on this incident would be.

— Matt Spurgin

DEADLINES
TO PLACE AN ITEM in the Daily Planner, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to (collegn@ksu.edu) by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

MANAGING EDITOR
MIRANDA KENNEDY
e-mail: (seahors@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
DIGEST
TUESDAY, JANUARY 28, 1997

DIG UP THAT CREATIVITY ALONG WITH SOME BEEF

▶ People who want to enter the beef cook-off sponsored by the Collegiate Cattlewomen should sign up by Friday in Weber 134.

▶ 24 HOURS IN REVIEW

These briefs encapsulate the news of the past 24 hours and are from staff reports, wire reports and other news services.

▶ NATION AND WORLD

• 14-YEAR-OLD FATALLY SHOT OUTSIDE MIDDLE SCHOOL.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — An eighth grader was killed Monday in a shooting outside his school, and police said a fellow student who fled was taken into custody as a suspect.

The 14-year-old boy was shot on a sidewalk about a half-hour before the start of classes at Conniston Middle School, attended by more than 1,200 sixth, seventh and eighth graders. He was declared dead a short time later.

The suspect was taken into custody later, said police spokeswoman Dena Peterson.

No weapon was recovered.

Witnesses said they heard shots and saw the assailant run onto the campus.

• DEVICE EXPLODES OUTSIDE BANK, ANOTHER FOUND NEAR LIBRARY.

VALLEJO, Calif. — Three automated teller machines were damaged in an early morning explosion outside a bank, a day after children found 30 sticks of dynamite and three detonating devices near a public library.

No money was taken, and there were no injuries from the bank blast Sunday, officer JoAnn West said. The library bomb was dismantled safely.

Detectives were considering robbery as a possible motive for the 3 a.m. explosion outside the Wells Fargo Bank, said Jeff Johnson, a security manager for Wells Fargo.

The bomb, apparently powered by one stick of dynamite, could have injured anyone walking or standing nearby, police said.

• MOTEL FIRE IN DENVER SUBURB KILLS 5 PEOPLE, INJURES 1.

THORNTON, Colo. — A suspicious fire roared through a residential motel early Monday, rousing occupants from their beds and killing at least five people. One firefighter was injured when she fell through the roof.

Fire officials said the blaze began at the La Hacienda motel about 2:35 a.m. and destroyed at least 70 units of the 107-room motel.

• JAPANESE HOSPITAL DENIES ALLOWING SICK PEOPLE TO DIE.

TOKYO — A doctor said Monday he has allowed three terminally ill patients to die since 1991, but denied a report that 20 patients had been allowed to die at his hospital in the past year alone.

Dr. Atsushi Murai, head of the Kochi Aiwa Hospital in Kochi, 400 miles southwest of Tokyo, said the three patients suffered from senile dementia.

A Japanese court ruled in 1995 that doctors can help terminally ill patients end their lives if the patients are in extreme pain and near death, clearly say they want to die or their pain cannot be alleviated with drugs.

Murai said the three patients' families consented to stopping treatment. The patients, he said, were too weak mentally or physically to discuss the issue.

The nationally circulated Mainichi newspaper reported Monday that the hospital had allowed 20 patients to die in the past year.

• TRAIN RAMS BUS IN INDIA.

NEW DELHI, India — An express train rammed into a bus at a crossing in southern India Monday, killing at least 13 people, Press Trust of India reported.

Initial reports did not indicate whether the casualties were in the bus or in the train.

The Nagarjuna Express train hit the bus in Guntur in Andhra Pradesh state, about 850 miles south of New Delhi.

• AILING YELTSIN CANCELS TRIP, RECOVERING AT HOME.

MOSCOW — In another sign that his health is not improving, Russian President Boris Yeltsin Monday canceled a planned trip to the Netherlands next week.

The Feb. 4 trip to The Hague for talks with European leaders was seen as an important test of how well Yeltsin was recovering after months of illness.

▶ DAILY PLANNER

The Daily Planner is the Kansas State Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the planner can be published up to three times. Items may not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to (collegn@ksu.edu) by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

CHECK THESE EVENTS OUT

- A live satellite discussion of environmental issues facing Indian nations will be down-linked at 2 p.m. in Waters 137. This program is co-sponsored by the Great Plains/Rocky Mountain Hazardous Substance Research Center at K-State.
- The Adult Student Services Office will be open from 3 to 7 p.m. in the K-State Student Union.
- Career and Employment Services will conduct an orientation to services and on-campus interviews. The Path to Employment Opportunities for arts and sciences majors at 3:30 today in Union 212 and for agriculture majors at 4:30 today in Waters 231.
- KSU Institute for Electrical and Electronic Engineers will meet at 6 tonight in Durland 173. David Soldan, head of the Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering, will speak about changes in the department. Free pizza will be served after the program.
- The Social Work Organization will meet at 6 tonight in Union 203.
- Lutheran Campus Ministry supper is at 6 p.m. Tuesdays at the Baptist Campus Center.
- Hispanic American Leadership Organization will meet at 6:30 tonight in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry building.
- The Rodeo Club meets at 7 every Tuesday night in Weber 111. The executive meeting is at 6 every Tuesday night in the same room.
- Career and Employment Services will have a résumé critique session from 3:30-5 p.m. Wednesday in Holtz Hall.

K-STATE WEATHER

Wednesday	36 / 20
Thursday	23 / 6
Friday	46 / 15
Saturday	55 / 27

Today

Sunny and not as cold. Southwest winds of 10–20 mph. Highs around 25 with lows tonight around 10 below.

Around the State

	High	Low
Chanute	27	-4
Garden City	43	-4
Goodland	40	-6
Kansas City	24	-7
Russell	35	-10
Salina	34	-11
Topeka	25	-10
Wichita	34	-5

▶ POLICE BLOTTER

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

▶ K-STATE POLICE

• SUNDAY, JAN. 26

- At 12:23 p.m., Moore Hall staff reported a vehicle was stolen. A suspect was arrested by Riley County Police Department with the assistance of K-State Police. The suspect was transported to Riley County Jail.
- At 6:11 p.m., a sexual battery occurred at Putnam Hall.
- At 8:29 p.m., Bryan J. Crow reported that he was battered by one of three suspects.

• MONDAY, JAN. 27

- At 2:51 p.m., a printer was reported stolen from Throckmorton 116. Loss was estimated at $260.

▶ RILEY COUNTY POLICE DEPARTMENT

• SUNDAY, JAN. 26

- At 12:37 p.m., Jonathon David Best, Moore 520, was arrested for taking a light blue 1986 Oldsmobile. Bond was set at $1,000.
- At 11:05 p.m., an aggravated sexual battery report was filed by campus police. Bryan J. Crow, Putnam Hall, was arrested for the Jan. 26 incident.
- At 11:26 p.m., a woman was reported to be having trouble breathing. Emergency Medical Service was advised. An aggravated battery report was filed. The victim had a cut on her back and was treated and released from Mercy Health Center on College.
- At 11:41 p.m., Eric Von Stein, 727 Griffith, Apt. 3, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $1,000.
- At 11:55 p.m., Ryan Allen Bradshaw, Fort Riley, was arrested for DUI. Bond was set at $500.

▶ CORRECTIONS AND CLARIFICATIONS

Sometimes the K-State Collegian makes a mistake. If a mistake occurs, contact Claudette Riley, news editor, by phone (532-6556), by e-mail (collegn@ksu.edu) or by stopping by the Collegian at Kedzie 116.

▶ HOW TO CONTACT THE COLLEGIAN

• BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Advertising	532-6560
Classifieds	532-6555

• BY E-MAIL
(collegn@ksu.edu)

• ON THE WORLD WIDE WEB
(http://collegian.ksu.edu)

• BY SNAIL MAIL
Kansas State Collegian
116 Kedzie Hall
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

• IN PERSON
The Collegian newsroom office is located in Kedzie 116 (across from the K-State Student Union).

▶ STATEMENT OF PUBLICATION

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1997

PRO Fitness
20 Tans Free*
In Aggieville 12th & Laramie
539-7095
*Manhattan's Premier Fitness Center
*BEST RATES ON SUPPLEMENTS IN TOWN
*With purchase of Spring Membership

HUNAM EXPRESS
1116 Moro
537-0886
Mon.-Sat.
11 a.m.-1 a.m.
Sun.
11 a.m.-Midnight
This coupon good for
Chicken with Broccoli $4.40
Dine-in & carryout
All You Can Eat Buffet for Lunch and Supper
FREE DELIVERY
(Minimum order $9)
Expires 2-11-97
Not valid with any other specials, coupons, or on deliveries.

Recreational Services INTRAMURALS
Basketball
Captain's/Managers' Meeting
Wednesday, January 29
5 p.m., Union, Forum Hall
Basketballl schedules will be distributed at this meeting only.
All Captains/Managers Must Attend!
Recreational Services Office 532-6980

Multi-Engine Flight Training
• Twin Comanche w/HSI, RMI, GPS
• 6,500-Hour ATP Instructor
• Reasonable Rates
• Hugh Irvin
539-3128

Open Dance Auditions
For Spring Dance '97
No Experience Necessary
Thursday, January 30, 1997
5:30 - 7:00 pm
304 Ahearn Gym
For further information contact the KSU Dance Office
(913) 532-6887

AUDITIONS
For Singers and Dancers
Live on Stage...It could be YOU! From our 60's and 70's rock review, Stax of Wax, to our spectacular country music show in the Tivoli Music Hall, you could be in the spotlight for the '97 season, entertaining millions of Worlds of Fun guests. If you work the entire season (six days per week in the summer & weekends in the spring and fall) you could earn over $8,000!
AUDITION INSTRUCTIONS
If you are a singer, please sing one verse and chorus of two contrasting styles of song; one up-tempo and one ballad. Sing any type of music you enjoy; rock, country, show tunes, etc. (No Rap).
Please limit your material to no more than three minutes total in length.
Dancers should prepare one song to sing and a jazz routine no longer than two minutes.
You must provide your own accompaniment whether it be a pianist or a cassette tape. We will provide a cassette deck and a piano. Acapella auditions will not be accepted.
We are not auditioning bands, solo instrumentalists or dramatic actors.
THE CLOSEST AUDITIONS:
Manhattan, Kansas
Tuesday, January 28 - Kansas State University
Forum Hall in the K-State Union
3:00 p.m. (Registration closes at 5:00 p.m.)
Kansas City, Missouri
Saturday, January 25 - Park Place Hotel
1601 N. Universal Avenue
(Just off Front Street at I-435)
9:00 a.m. (Registration closes at 1:00 p.m.)
Kansas City, Missouri
Sunday, February 9 - Adams Mark Hotel
9103 E. 39th Street
(I-70 at Truman Sports Complex)
1:00 p.m. (Registration closes at 4:00 p.m.)
Worlds of Fun

WHOLESALE BEAUTY CLUB & CLUB BEAUTY SALON
Salon Specials
Early Bird Specials
25% OFF all regular priced Salon Services for Appointments from 9 a.m. - 11:30 a.m. Everyday.
Not an early bird...
15% OFF all regular priced Salon Services for Appointments from 1 - 4 p.m. Everyday.
Great Deals
• Nexxus, Joico, & Motions
Buy 1 Get 1 at 1/2 Price
• Sebastian 13oz. Bonus Size Shaper and Shaper Plus Hair Spray Only $8.99
• Paul Mitchell
The Conditioner, Hair Sculpting Lotion, Freeze and Shine, and The Detangler all 8oz. sizes are Only $3.99
(reg. $4.65 - $6.50)
Many other Fantastic specials throughout the Store!
Offers good thru Feb. 1, 1997
WHOLESALE BEAUTY CLUB & CLUB BEAUTY SALON
409 Poyntz~Manhattan, Store~539-5999 Salon~539- 6969
Monday~Saturday 9-8 Sunday 1-5

K-STATE SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATION DEADLINE
FEBRUARY 1, 1997
Applications Are Now Being Accepted For K-State General, Departmental And College Scholarships
Pick Up An Application In The Office Of Student Financial Assistance 104 Fairchild Hall
OR
APPLY ON-LINE AT
www.ksu.edu/sfa/application/scholarship_app.html

FREEMAN DAVIS, the coordinator of multicultural affairs, gave his first vocal performance at All Faiths Chapel on Monday evening. He trained at Julliard.
SARAH POTTER
Collegian

All Faiths' show highlights multicultural coordinator

PORTIA SISCO
arts & entertainment editor

Wearing a black tuxedo and a purple vest, Freeman Davis II, coordinator of multicultural affairs, gave his first performance at K-State last night in All Faiths Chapel.

Davis' performance incorporated a diverse selection of music that appealed to a range of audience members.

The performance began with selections from Handel, such as "Where'er You Walk," from "Semele," and "Sound An Alarm," from "Judas Maccabeaus."

Davis was very poised throughout his performance, with one hand resting lightly on the piano, the other extended in front of him, as if he were carrying the notes from his mouth and into the air.

A powerful vocalist, Davis had the sound of a classically trained opera singer, which is not surprising, considering the fact he trained at Julliard.

His clear enunciation made the music more personal.

"Comfort Me" was a selection from Handel's "Messiah." This was perhaps one of the most challenging pieces Davis performed. This demanding song required a critical vocal ability and range.

"Comfort Me" led directly into "Every Valley," an aria from the "Messiah." It was euphoric celebration of faith. The emotions behind the music were expressed through Davis' vocal ability, control and presentation. His long, sustained notes filled the auditorium.

The last piece before intermission was entitled "E La Solita Storia," from Francesco Cilea's Italian opera, "L'Arlesiana."

The opera portrayed Federico, a love-struck young man who heard rumors that his lover betrayed him. Although the song was sung in Italian, the language was no barrier for understanding. It was a tearful lament, in which Davis held the notes until he shook from lack of oxygen.

The second half of Davis' performance was comprised of several religious selections.

Two songs composed by Aaron Copeland were traditional church hymns, modified by Davis' incredible voice. "At the River" and "Zion's Walls" were impassioned, with full, rich lyrics.

The fourth segment of the performance brought the audience back in time to an old-fashioned tent revival, recalling songs composed by Hall Johnson, such as "Jesus Lay Yo' Head in Da Winder," and "His Name's So Sweet."

Less than 20 minutes after his classical rendition of "E La Solita Storia," Davis switched to black hymns. With a deep accent, Davis emoted the words of a working man in love with Jesus.

"My Soul's Been Anchored," composed by Florence B. Price, was the last song of the evening. Davis' expressive face and voice related to the audience and made him approachable.

Davis' range and ability to create the stories behind the music made the performance personal for the audience. The audience responded to Davis. He pulled them into his music and his stories.

Davis has an expressive voice and stamina that allowed him to sing a series of incredibly difficult pieces with ease.

William Wingfield played the accompaniment to Davis' vocals. This was Wingfield's third performance in five days at All Faiths Chapel. Wingfield will perform again with David Littrell, cellist, on Sunday in the third part of a performance entitled "Masterpieces of the Cello Repertoire."

Davis' performance earned him a standing ovation and an encore from audience members.

Smoking, diet put teens at risk for heart disease

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Teen-agers might increase their risk of heart disease later in life by smoking or eating fatty foods, according to a study of autopsy results that found artery blockage in young people who died accidentally.

The study found dramatic differences in the severity of fatty deposits on the arteries of teen-agers and other young people, depending on whether they smoked or ate diets rich in fat.

Fatty deposits and lesions were found in the arteries of young people with high levels of cholesterol in their blood, according to the autopsies performed on 1,079 men and 364 women between the ages of 15 and 34.

The amount of fatty deposits increased with age, and the difference between subjects with high and low cholesterol showed up as early as age 15, according to the study published in the January issue of Arteriosclerosis, Thrombosis and Vascular Biology.

Although studies based on autopsies of American soldiers killed during the Korean and Vietnam wars found similar results, this is the first large sample of data from young women, said Dr. Basil Rifkind, of the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute, which sponsored the research.

The researchers said their study disproves the notion that women, who generally have heart attacks 10 years later than men, do not have to alter their diets as early in life as men.

"It pretty firmly adds another large piece to the jigsaw puzzle and says the problems of diet and heart disease is something that starts off early in life," Rifkind said.

A childhood diet rich in fatty foods can begin the progression toward heart disease later in life, the researchers concluded.

Children who eat a lot of cheeseburgers and milkshakes increase their risk of heart attacks if they do not change their dietary habits by young adulthood, researchers said.

"The saturated fat intake and the calories a single meal of that sort provides is tremendous and make you use up your daily rations in one meal," Rifkind said.

The heart institute's National Cholesterol Education Program recommends that all children older than 2 years keep fat consumption at less than 30 percent of daily calories and saturated fat at less than 10 percent.

But there has been a debate among scientists about how early dietary changes are needed to reduce the risk of heart disease later in life.

Begun in 1985, the study's findings were extended for the first time to women.

The study found a high correlation between cholesterol levels and fatty deposits in girls and young women as well as boys and men. The same patterns were found in whites and blacks.

Blood-serum cholesterol tests were performed during the autopsies, which also tested for the presence of the chemical thiocyanate, an indicator of smoking.

Subjects with high levels of low-density cholesterol, the bad cholesterol, also had streaks of fat or raised lesions on the inner surfaces of the aorta and the right coronary artery.

Board talks about possible fee increase

SANDY DAVIS
staff writer

The Board of Student Publications met with the Student Governing Association Privilege Fee Committee Monday night to discuss the board's proposal for the Student Publications equipment fee.

The board is asking for $382,900 to replace and buy new equipment for Student Publications Inc., including the Collegian and the Royal Purple yearbook.

Student Publications Inc. receives $65,000 a year from the equipment fee.

Patrick Carney, chairman of the board, proposed a partnership between the board and SGA to help pay for the new equipment.

"It's never been a question of living within our means. We realize that we have to stretch every dollar that we get," Carney said.

The fee would pay to replace obsolete equipment and buy new machines, such as an insert machine, to produce larger newspapers with more color.

Jake Breeding, SGA privilege chair, said, "In essence, spending a little money here could save a little money later, potentially, in terms of fees."

The SGA Privilege Fee Committee and the board will meet at 7 next Sunday night to decide on the proposal, after the board looks at other financing possibilities.

Avila to stand trial for misdemeanor

CHARLE SIOUX CHARLETON
staff writer

A K-State student senator arrested in December for lewd and lascivious behavior will go to trial in late February, said his attorney, Robert Littrell. The charge is a misdemeanor.

Chris Avila, graduate school senator, was arrested late in November. Avila pleaded not guilty on Dec. 11.

Police arrested Avila after a complaint to the police by Becky Baalmann, sophomore in early childhood education. Several times last semester, Baalmann said she and her roommate Katie McElroy saw Avila masturbating.

The police swore out a warrant and arrested Avila.

The court record said the charge of lewd and lascivious behavior implied the defendant would "publicly expose a sex organ or expose a sex organ in the presence of a person, to-wit; Rebecca L. Baalmann, who is not the spouse of the defendant and who did not consent thereto, with the intent to arouse or gratify the sexual desires of the defendant or another."

Bacon and Cheddar Scrambler
Open 24 hours, 7 days a week

COUNTRY KITCHEN

- Fluffy scrambled eggs
- Savory bacon
- Cheddar cheese
- Three slices of real French Bread, dipped in special batter and grilled to perfection

420 Tuttle Creek Blvd. (913) 776-6301

TUESDAY NIGHT LIVE
Live Music at Last Chance
Jan 28 - Ruskabank
Manhattan's premire SKA band
ENJOY
Rustys LAST CHANCE SALOON
- All U can eat tacos only $1 from 5-7!
- $1.50 Margaritas
- $1.50 Coronas

1209 Moro · Aggieville

"The world is like a book, and those that never leave home read but one page"
-- St. Augustine

Peace Corps Is Coming To KSU!

INFORMATION TABLE
January 28th & 29th
K-State Memorial Union

FILM PRESENTATION
"Completely Alive"
January 29th, 4 pm
K-State Union, Rm. 209

PEACE CORPS:
The Toughest Job You'll Ever Love!
800/424-8580 [press #1 and ask for ext: 248]

OPINION EDITOR
KEVIN KLASSEN
e-mail: (kevkk@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
OPINION
TUESDAY, JANUARY 28, 1997

A GUIDE TO SECTIONS OF THE COLLEGIAN OPINION PAGE

▶ COLUMNS are opinions expressed by the columnists. The opinions are not necessarily the opinions of the Collegian.

OUR VIEW is an editorial written by the Collegian Editorial Board. The board meets every day and discusses editorial topics. The editorial is a compilation of those opinions and represents the opinion of the Collegian.

▶ OUR VIEW

Best bet might not be on the bank when it comes to Union art

Members of the Union Governing Board have proposed the elimination of the Union Art Gallery in the K-State Student Union.

Current proposals show a bank will take the gallery's space under the redesign plans. The gallery might be offered space in another area in the Union.

UGB has not sponsored a public forum or asked for the opinion of their constituents about these changes.

The Union Art Gallery is a free service for the students and should be protected. Many of the new services offered by the Union will be for the purpose of increasing revenue, but this means students will lose a space dedicated to showing student and faculty art.

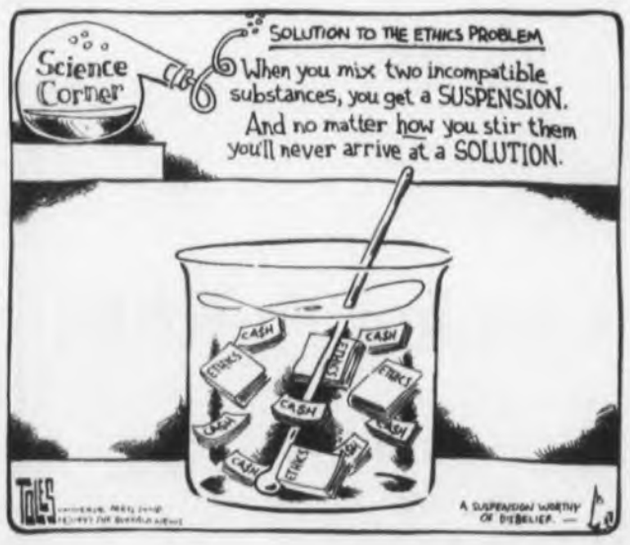
The art gallery is a service for the Department of Art and the students.

Although the Hale addition to Farrell Library includes a space for an art gallery, students cannot rely on this space to show their works. Farrell is still unsure how this space will be used and which campus departments will be allowed to display there. This means the art department will have less space to display student and faculty art.

The current gallery already serves students because of its convenience and its location. It also decreases the need for advertising. If the gallery is moved, it will decrease accessibility for students and faculty.

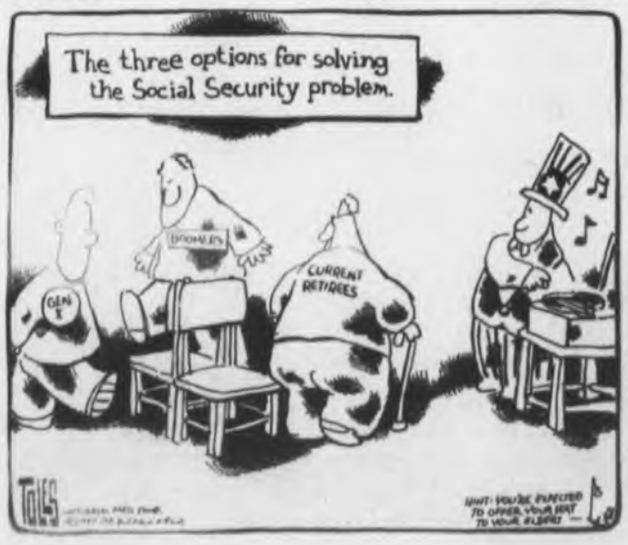
Another proposal is to make the art gallery a space to display national touring shows. This would replace the student art shows, which is the purpose of the gallery.

The Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art is dedicated to showing nationally-renowned artists. The Union Art Gallery doesn't have the man-power, budget or space to display a national touring show.



The Union is the host to the campus. Its purpose is to be a community center for the students, and its space should be balanced to preserve its free space.

EDITORIAL BOARD



EDITOR IN CHIEF
Kimberly Hefling
MANAGING EDITOR
Miranda Kennedy
NEWS EDITOR
Claudette Riley
PHOTO EDITOR
Steve Hebert
PRESENTATION EDITOR
Scott M. Ladd
COPY CHIEF
Tanya Nisly
OPINION EDITOR
Kevin Klassen
CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
Andrew Francis
CAMPUS EDITOR
Jill Story
SPORTS EDITOR
Jeremy Kelley
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR
Tara Wray
ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
Portia Sisco
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
Jill Jarsulic
INVESTIGATIONS EDITOR
Nicole Kirby
E-COLLEGIAN EDITOR
Kady Guyton
ASSISTANT E-COLLEGIAN EDITOR
Kelly Furnas
OTHER EDITORIAL BOARD MEMBERS
Russell Fortmeyer, senior in architectural engineering

Our View, an editorial selected and debated by a majority of the editorial board, is written by the editorial board after a concensus opinion is reached. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other students. For details on how you can become involved with the editorial board, contact Kevin Klassen, opinion editor.

▶ TOLES

▶ TOLES

MATT HAWKINS/Collegian

GOALS vs. Resolutions

Typically, New Year's Resolutions lack the staying power of long term goals

Here we are, 27 excruciating days into 1997. We've already celebrated three holidays (counting the Super Bowl) and inaugurated a president.

During this time, I've grown thoroughly convinced that more than half of the population has already given up on their New Year's resolutions.

I've been watching my friends and family members struggle to keep their resolutions alive. Most of them have already watched their resolutions sprinkle down around them like volcanic ash after a large eruption.

Between the bunch of them, this year's litany of resolutions seems like an all-around flop.

There's my mother, who on a yearly basis swears she is going to quit saturating her lungs with that nasty cigarette smoke. She goes through cigarettes like a fraternity house goes through toilet paper. I'm not embellishing. The woman asked the doctor for a smoke right after he slapped her on the butt.

I remember one year she begged my little brother and I to help her break the bonds of nicotine addiction. We tried everything.

We started stuffing her cigarettes full of Loads. You know those little fire cracker-like things that explode and scare the bee-jee-bees out of the smoker when they light up.

After the first one she lit exploded in her mouth, she dropped the lit match from her hand and set the kitchen throw rug on fire. Let me assure you it wasn't pretty.

The following year, we just took her cigarettes and hid them from her. Going cold turkey didn't work well for Mom.

The woman got so stressed out she beat up the neighbor's Doberman over the infamous flower garden fiasco. The mongrel never ate her daisies again.

Having my mother around as a role model taught me that New Year's resolutions are like laws. They're placed there to be broken. Maybe she should try setting goals.

I've always found more comfort in setting goals than in making a long list of resolutions. Resolutions have always made me feel as if life is dictating to me. I much prefer to attack life.

Goals have always granted me the offensive in the game of life. Goal-oriented people are more inclined to sit down and plan out a step-by-step process in surmounting the obstacle that lies before them.

It's not that I think resolutions are negative things. I'll admit it, I've made a couple of resolutions this year. So far they're progressing much better than my mother's yearly debacle.

The first resolution is very simple: I intend to pry my eyes away from the television. I'm talking no television at all. None, zip, zilch, zero. Well, except of course for the big show. I'd lose my mind with out my daily dose of "ESPN's Sports Center." Aside from the Center and other various sporting events, I've done a fairly good job with this resolution.

The other resolution is so asinine, I might as well have resolved to grow two feet. Somehow I decided to quit cussing.

It's not going well. Sometimes I think I was placed on this earth just to offend people with my colorful vocabulary. I could make a pimp blush with some of the running rhetoric that spews from my mouth.

Unfortunately, one of my close friends was nice enough to help me in defeating the habit. Every time I curse, she promptly adds a quarter to my running total. In hindsight I'm beginning to realize it's nothing more than a get-rich-quick scheme for her.

Hopefully when it's all over, she'll take me on a cruise with all the bounty she has collected.

I think the reason the first resolution has proven successful is due to the fact that I've approached it like a goal. I've drawn up a list of things to do on a daily basis. This has kept me away from the brain-frying television.

The deletion of swearing from my speech hasn't gone as well as I initially hoped. As a matter of fact, I've completely given up. Last night, I walked outside my front door and started screaming profanities into the cold Manhattan night. It felt great.

The problem with resolutions is we approach them in a half-assed manner. After the first few weeks of the new year, resolutions seem to vanish quicker than a trailer park in a tornado. We act as if by the divine grace of God our lives are going to improve without any work.

This is why we should make New Year's goals. If we all took a proactive stance in life, the world would spin much easier.

You'll have to excuse me now. I have a package of cigarette loads to buy.

VIEWPOINT

JESS LOUK

JESS LOUK is a junior in print journalism. You can e-mail comments to Jess at (Jess31@ksu.edu).

"I've always found more comfort in setting goals than in making a long list of resolutions. Resolutions have always made me feel as if life is dictating to me. I much prefer to attack life."

Recycling industry needs streamlining, consumer interaction for preservation of long term resources

VIEWPOINT

JONATHAN WINKLER

JONOTHAN WINKLER is a senior in mathematics, physics and English. You can e-mail your comments to Jonothan at (winkler @phys.ksu.edu).

Look around at the things you use every day. How many of them can be recycled?

Toothpaste tubes? These are made out of a plastic-and-aluminum laminate for which an effective reclamation scheme has yet to be developed, although the operators at Procter & Gamble's toll-free inquiry line insist that research on this subject is "on-going."

Motor oil filters? These use-and-pitch devices consist of a fiberglass filter medium crimped inside a steel or aluminum housing. Allied Signal, which produces most of the passenger car oil filters sold in the United States, states flatly that none of its products are recyclable.

Hypodermic syringes? In spite of the growing popularity of two-piece syringes where the needle is attached to a plastic plunger barrel immediately before injection, many medicines still ship inside a one-piece syringe which, barrel and all, is thrown into a biohazard box after an injection.

In spite of the growing proliferation of recycling facilities for a variety of materials — glass, paper, several different weights of paperboard and cardboard, six different types of plastic, motor oil, etc. — a number of materials are still not recyclable or have had reclamation programs defeated by corporate arrogance.

BG Products, a small Wichita company which specializes in producing oil and fuel additives for automobiles, several years ago developed a machine to change the coolant in a car by filtering out sediment in the existing coolant, injecting several rust inhibitors and water-pump lubricants to restore additive content, and pumping the renewed mixture back into the cooling system.

This environmentally friendly machine stands in many Jiffy Lubes throughout the Midwest and probably processed your coolant the last time you took your car in for a coolant change.

Yet several large car manufacturers, including Toyota, claim this procedure is inferior to actually replacing the coolant and fill their owners' manuals with threats to void the warranty if this device is used, in spite of the fact that normally only 6,000 miles of warranty remain when this service first needs to be performed.

Many communities still don't have adequate facilities to dispose of ethylene-glycol antifreeze, which is a nightmare to get rid of. Taken in sufficient quantity it causes seizures, brain damage and death, but because it has to be mixed with equal amounts of water to be used in a car and the two cannot be easily separated. Half of the capacity reserved for antifreeze storage has to be wasted storing the water half of the coolant mix.

What we need is an aggressive and integrated approach towards materials reclamation. Things that have traditionally been used only once and then thrown away should be designed for easy disassembly so that the recyclable materials, such as plastic needle barrels, aluminum laminates and metal filter housings, can be separated and used to build new products.

The consumer should be given the freedom from corporate intimidation to filter, purify or otherwise renew for reuse other objects or substances that can't easily be recycled. The long-term costs of wresting new material from the earth while throwing away the perfectly good old material simply cannot be borne.

Do we want our descendants to inherit a planet so depleted that they have to root around in landfills, at considerable risk to life and limb, just to find raw materials?

MATT HAWKINS/Collegian

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

LETTERS

TUESDAY, JANUARY 28, 1997

OPINION EDITOR
KEVIN KLASSEN
e-mail: (kevkk@ksu.edu)

A GUIDE TO SECTIONS OF THE COLLEGIAN OPINION PAGE

COLUMNS are opinions expressed by the columnists. The opinions are not necessarily the opinions of the Collegian.

OUR VIEW is an editorial written by the Collegian Editorial Board. The board meets every day and discusses editorial topics. The editorial is a compilation of those opinions and represents the opinion of the Collegian.

▶ YOUR VIEWS

• To submit a letter

- Visit the Collegian newsroom. Submit letters to Kevin Klassen at Kedzie 116.
- Drop it in the mail. Send letters to Letters to the Editor, c/o Kevin Klassen, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506.
- Send it by e-mail. Our e-mail address is (collegn@spub.ksu.edu).
- Remember this. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo ID will be necessary for hand-delivered letters. No poetry will be accepted. Letters may be edited for length, clarity and grammar.

• STUDENT DISAPPOINTED WITH RESEARCH REGARDING THURSDAY'S RED CROSS ARTICLE.

Editor,

I have enjoyed reading the Kansas State Collegian for almost eight years. Since I was a freshman in high school, the Collegian has provided me with creative insight into interesting members of the K-State and surrounding community, as well as important news.

Thursday's issue was no exception. Alas, I am a little disappointed in the research that was done regarding the cover photo and continued article about the student volunteer, Alanna Engelken.

I know as an eight-year veteran of the American Red Cross' First Aid Services that she is not the only student currently helping at the ARC. In fact, many of the services my colleagues and I provide are at University athletic events and concerts at Bramlage Coliseum.

I think the idea of trying to raise student interest in such community activities is an excellent idea, and I hope this letter does not discourage it.

John Stamey
junior in biological and agricultural engineering

• ALUMNUS SAYS COLLEGIAN SHOULD EXIST AS NEWS PROVIDER, NOT CRITICIZE STUDENTS.

Editor,

As an alumnus of K-State, I feel I must respond to the article published on Jan. 27 regarding Manny Dies. The article is the worst piece of journalism that I have ever read or seen. The Collegian exists to report news and information that is important to the students of K-State. To allow an article that openly blasts a student is completely out of line.

Do your job and control your journalists.

John Blasi
North Richland Hills, Texas

• MANHATTAN RESIDENT QUESTIONS PROPER USE OF WORD 'BEAR' IN HEADLINE.

Editor,

The cover of your paper on Monday simply says that there was a law passed for domestic violence and the right to bear arms.

Now, I realize that their might be a threat in the forest, I certainly don't think bears cause that much domestic violence anywhere else. And why would anyone want bear arms to begin with? Don't we have enough fowl hobbies already?

This brings me to my next thought, which is a thought that brings me to wonder why there should be any disagreement on weather or not these bear arms should be concealed. I don't think it's right to show everyone these heinous excuses for hunting. And it makes me mad to think that the paper didn't think about these things before shoving it in our faces like that. I think that's in poor taste.

Please try and discourage the right to have bear arms to begin with! Remember what happened to Yellowstone!

Anna Michaels
Manhattan resident

Editor's Note: "For the purpose of maintaining a well-regulated militia, preserves the right to keep and BEAR arms." — Amendment II, Constitution of the United States (1791).

• READER FINDS PICTURE INAPPROPRIATE WITH CYNICAL VIEW POINT OF COLUMNIST.

Editor,

I find it very ironic that Page Getz's "View Point," which is always extremely cynical and full of contempt toward our society, is accompanied by such a cheerful picture of her. I believe a more fitting picture would be one of Getz giving the reader the finger.

David Levin
graduate student in entomology

• ASBURY PARTIALLY TO BLAME FOR TEAM'S PERFORMANCE ACCORDING TO READER.

Editor,

First of all, I believe Todd Stewart went a bit too far in his annihilation of Manny Dies. I agree that Dies is somewhat of a bust as a superstar, but he is coming along as an average player that can help the team.

I think the reason most K-Staters don't take to Dies too well is because he doesn't always seem to be giving his all. If his effort would improve, most Catbackers would forgive his discrepancies in shooting and dribbling.

Secondly, I went to K-State at a time when football was horrible and basketball was great. Mitch Richmond ruled the land and the Cats went to the Elite 8. But that was a different era, and it sure helps that we're now winning in football. It makes stomaching this horrible basketball team a little easier.

However, I also remember when Dana Altman was here, and we were a so-so team that could compete with most teams in the Big 8. Now, in Coach Tom Asbury's third year we can't even compete with Texas A&M, who before this weekend was the worst team in college basketball.

Of course, now we are. When Altman was here and people were calling for his head, at least we could beat Texas A&M in a non-conference game by about 40 points.

I'm not faulting most of the players because they seem to be playing hard, but somebody has to take the blame, and that blame falls on Asbury. A team that consistently falls apart down the stretch is a team that is not well coached. Asbury keeps talking about needing someone to stand up and take charge, but with the lack of that kind of player on this team, he has to be the glue that keeps the team together down the stretch.

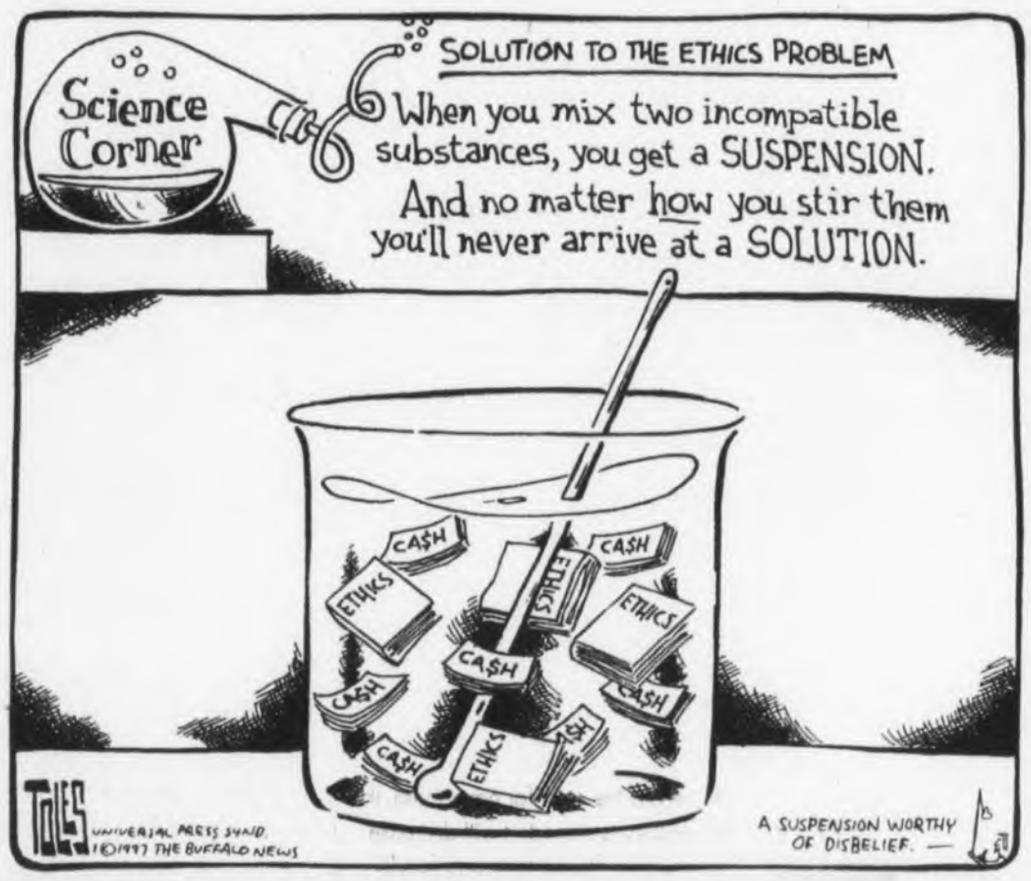
It's you, Asbury, that must call the time-outs at the right time, keep the players focused on running the offense and keep them from having lapses on defense in crunch time. They need you to be the one to step up for them. There is no one else, and if you're not up to the task, then get out, and we'll get someone in here that does care about K-State basketball, and not about how good he looks in his expensive suits and fake suntan.

Keith Tate
1989 K-State graduate

• READER SUGGESTS REMOVAL OF COLUMNIST FOR ARTICLE ON DIES, WAITS FOR APOLOGY.

Editor,

Todd Stewart should be removed from the Collegian staff for his column on Manny Dies. No collegiate student-athlete should be subjected to that kind of attack from his own school newspaper.



Dies has been thrown into a situation where there's not a lot of talent elsewhere at his position, and he's probably being asked to do more than he's capable of at this time. Not that my opinion counts for anything, but I actually think he has been one of the few bright spots recently. He has improved tremendously from the beginning of the season.

Blaming Dies for all the problems this team is having is ridiculous. One man alone cannot be responsible for the team shooting about 37 percent in conference games. Also, he is now probably one of the better free-throw shooters on the team. The percentages won't show it because he missed a lot early, but in the last month or so, he's probably well above 70 percent, which I'll take any day from the post position.

I could go on and on, but I'm sure you probably have a couple hundred other responses to read. Thank you for your time. I look forward to an apology from Stewart and the Collegian in tomorrow's issue.

Lynn Taylor
1989 K-State graduate

▶ TOLES

Comments or concerns. Email the Collegian at (collegn@spub.ksu.edu)

Chi Omega
would like to congratulate its new initiates

Carrie Barta
Holly Bozarth
Trisha Brown
Heather Buckley
Sara Buetzer
Taylor Colbert
Rikki Comfort
Amanda Compton
Connie Jo Craig
Anna Culbertson
Nicole Dautel
Shauna Davis
Courtney Dunbar
Stacey Ellebrecht
Erin Ferriter
Erin Gerdts
Sara Gooch
Carrie Groves
Elizabeth Ingram
Kristin Kemper
Molly Kingan
Diane Kley
Jenny Lee
Kylie Montague
Michelle Nafziger
Heather Osborne
Susan Penka
Elizabeth Penner
Leigh Peterson
Carin Preston
Liana Robben
Erin Schesser
Suzanne Seba
Molly Staab
Laura Swenson
Holly Voigts
Elizabeth Wells
Jamie Winter
Tina Wood
Rachel Yates

Welcome to the Family

FREMONT LAUNDRY
304 Fremont 539-3261
Full-Service Drop-off
You Dirty It - We wash, dry & fold it
Just Like Mom Did!
Reg. $155.80
Special
$88.80
COUPON BOOK
WE DO IT ALL Full Semester of Laundry
16 weeks
44% Savings
WASH, DRY, FOLD
QUALITY IS OUR TRADITION

Taco Tuesday at Bobby T's
50c Tacos (Chicken or Beef, Hard or Soft Shell)
$1 Margaritas (Reg. or Strawberry)
$1 Frosty Mugs
•Bobby T's•Candlewood Shopping Center•
Featuring Daily Drink & Food Specials 4:30-9:30 p.m.

Can you spot the fastest, easiest way to file your Kansas taxes?
Woof, WOOF!

File your taxes by phone

With Kansas Telefile, many people can now file their Kansas taxes by phone – in about 10 minutes.

Just fill out the simple Telefile worksheet in your 1996 Kansas Income Tax booklet, call the 800 number, follow the easy step-by-step instructions, and your tax or refund is figured right there on the phone – free. No tax tables. No hassle. And you'll get your refund faster, too.

If you didn't receive a 1996 Kansas Income Tax booklet, pick one up at the post office, library or in many grocery stores.

This year, file your Kansas taxes the fast and easy way – with Kansas Telefile.

Kansas Telefile
Easy. Does it.

Telefile worksheet available at www.ink.org/public/kdor

TOMORROW
COACH BILL SNYDER and the Wildcat football program have signed some of the nation's top high school players. Check Wednesday's Collegian to see how these players could improve the program.

SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY
e-mail: (weasol1@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
SPORTS
TUESDAY, JANUARY 28, 1997

BULLS' JORDAN FIRST PLAYER TO RECEIVE 2-MILLION VOTES

▶ Chicago Bulls star Michael Jordan is the first player in history to receive more than 2-million votes in the all-star balloting. Sunday the final results were released and Jordan tallied 2,451,136 votes. Jordan also leads the league in lifetime votes with more than 12 million.

"I don't want to say I'm Dennis Rodman, but I'm one of those Dennis Rodman types who goes out and does the dirty work. I get down there and bang with the big boys."

making the switch

Junior transfer tosses redshirt, looks to give team emotional boost

Marcus McCollough was fed up.

So fed up that on Jan. 13 he threw his redshirt aside and told Coach Tom Asbury he wanted to play basketball.

"Basically, I got to the point where I was just tired of sitting on the bench, and I was tired of nobody out there pumping the guys up," McCollough said.

"I talked to Coach and asked him if it'd be a good decision, and he did, so I just went out there and did it."

From the friendly confines of the K-State bench, McCollough endured some of K-State worst drubbings — two 41-point poundings via Xavier and Texas and a 32-point setback at Michigan State.

"The team was disorganized when we were losing those games. We are a much better team than that," McCollough said. "I can't explain how the team was feeling at that time, but we weren't acting and playing like our normal selves."

Those losses were just enough to move McCollough from the bench to the hard court in a matter of days, where McCollough has made his mark on a team that struggles to find the true meaning of the word victory.

"I feel I'm really aggressive, and I think the team pictures me as an aggressive player, too," he said. "I don't want to say I'm Dennis Rodman, but I'm one of those Dennis Rodman types who goes out and does the dirty work. I get down there and bang with the big boys."

McCollough transferred from Olney Central College in Olney, Ill., where he averaged 20 points a game.

McCollough said the change from junior college to NCAA Division I was a big turnaround.

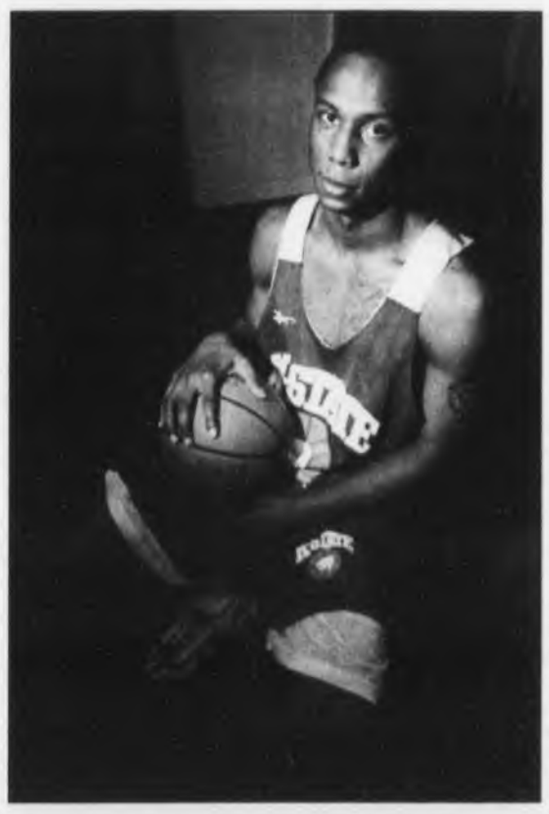
"It's another level here. Here, you have to do more of the little things," he said. "The level of play here is more tremendous, and that's why I chose to redshirt."

McCollough said when he came to K-State he resembled nothing but a skinny, little basketball player who wasn't prepared for this type of basketball.

"I came in with no jumpshot," he said. "I was extra skinny, but I developed so fast, so quick, and here I am."

Well, McCollough greeted the Big 12 in a big, bad way.

With the support of his mother, Marilea West, and brother, Thomas West, McCollough debuted in the conference against Nebraska on Jan. 15, and played 23 minutes, tallied six points, seven rebounds, two assists, two blocks and a steal.



"I felt I didn't play as well as I wanted to — I had six turnovers," he said. "Other than that, I feel that I have been doing my job by motivating the team."

At 6 feet, 7 inches, 195-pounds, Asbury said this aggressive guard can pretty much do everything on both ends of the court.

"Marcus is a basketball player. He's not afraid to get his knees bruised or get his hands dirty," Asbury said. "He's an old throw-back type of guy — he's the type of guy who'll do a little bit of everything."

McCollough, who attended Danbury High School in Danbury, Conn., where he competed in the state playoffs against NBA rookie Marcus Camby, said after coming back without a win under his belt he still is happy with his decision.

"There are ins and outs in every situation," McCollough said. "The only bad thing I can see at this point is that I missed some games earlier in the season. Other than that, I think it was a good decision, and I feel that I can help this team."

MARCUS MCCOLLOUGH, a community-college transfer, redshirted the first 12 games this season, but came off the bench against Nebraska. McCollough said he likes to think of himself as a motivator for the team.
JILL JARSULIC • Collegian

STEVE HEBERT/Collegian
MCCOLLOUGH (right) drives past Texas Tech's Gracen Averil during a game at Bramlage Coliseum.

STORY BY JEREMY KELLEY

Cats outperform Hawks, Tigers despite injuries

JEREMY KELLEY
sports editor

The K-State track squad competed in the Jayhawk Triangular meet featuring Kansas and Missouri this past weekend at the University of Kansas in the Anschutz Pavilion.

K-State won the overall competition by nearly 40 points, edging out in-state rival Kansas 257.5-219.5.

Coach Clifford Rovelto said that he was pleased with his team's overall performance.

"It was pretty average performance, especially on the men's side," he said.

"We really didn't care about points but were more concerned with our performance overall."

Both men's and women's teams were without a few key players on each side who were nursing preseason injuries; however, Rovelto said the meet was good for the younger competitors who got to perform.

"We were just putting bodies in events and letting people go," he said. "We didn't have to overextend people."

On the women's side, the Cats buried the Jayhawks 142-107. Vanitta Kinard won the long-jump and the triple-jump for the Cats while Renetta Seiler busted loose in the 20-pound weight throw.

"Seiler had her best throw at this high level. I felt comfortable in saying that she can go to the national level and score," Rovelto said.

Rovelto said the other two competitors in the meet, Missouri and Kansas, weren't in the upper echelon of competitors in the Big 12, but did offer the squad good competition.

"Unfortunately they're not up there," he said. "But this next weekend we get to meet those teams."

Rovelto said the Big 12 wasn't cut out for lower-caliber teams, but it is more like an only-the-strong-survive type of conference.

"In this league, the bottom line is average athletes aren't going to score. You have to be good," he said.

The track team continues its competition this weekend taking on some of the nation's best in Nebraska, Arkansas and Abilene Christian.

K-State track & field

Overall
(combined men and women)
K-State (1st)
KU (2nd)
Mizzou (3rd)

Men's Finals
KU (1st)
K-State (2nd)
Mizzou (3rd)

high jump
1. Ed Broxterman
3. Attila Zsivoczky
mile run
1. David Dominguez
55-m hurdles
1. Travis Livingston
400-m dash
3. Shawn Maxwell
35-pound weight throw
1. Matt Thompson
2. Gene Petersen
3. Scott Petersen
shot put
1. Gene Petersen
55-m dash
3. Harold Price
800-m run
2. Kevin Lewis
1000-m run
2. Chris May
200-m dash
3. Harold Price
3200-m relay
1. K-State
1600-m relay
3. K-State

Women's Finals
K-State (1st)
Mizzou (2nd)
KU (3rd)

20-pound weight throw
1. Renetta Seiler
3. Kirsten Schultz
high jump
1. Wanita Dykstra
2. Erin Anderson long jump
1. Varitta Kinard
3. Najah Adams
shotput
2. Kirsten Schultz
4. Renneta Seiler
triple jump
1. Vanitta Kinard
3. Najah Adams
mile run
2. Samantha McNamara
55-m hurdles
1. Angela Harris
3. Varitta Kinard
400-m dash
1. Belinda Hope
600-yard run
1. Emily Diederich
2. Karriema Stewart
55-m dash
1. Karrissa Stewart
800-m run
3. Alison Canny
1000-m run
3. Kelly Andra
200-m dash
2. Karissa Stewart
3200-m relay
2. K-State
1500 relay
1. K-State

ZACHARY BAZE/Collegian

Northwestern dominates women's tennis team

SHANE MCCORMICK
sports writer

Last weekend the women's tennis team, ranked 48th in the country, traveled to Chicago to battle Wildcats of another kind at Northwestern.

However, without senior Nikki Lagerstrom, who was nursing a back injury, the K-State women's tennis team did not get the results it hoped for against Northwestern. Playing their first dual meet of the spring season, the Cats fell to Northwestern 8-1.

Cat coach Steve Bietau said Northwestern's depth was the key to its victory.

"Northwestern isn't a great team but a good team," Bietau said. "They are solid because they are strong throughout their singles and doubles lineup."

The Cats' lone victory was at the No. 1 singles spot, where junior Yana Dorodnova carried over her good play from last season.

Dorodnova served up a 6-0, 6-0 victory over Marjorie Gantman of Northwestern.

Northwestern also beat the Cats in three-doubles matches to take the doubles points.

Bietau said Dorodnova's play at the beginning of the match was crucial.

"She did a tremendous job of taking away what Gantman wanted to do from the beginning," he said. "Gantman is not a bad player; it was a pretty good match up. Yana just played a tremendous match."

But Dorodnova's was the only positive play during the singles competition, where Northwestern dominated.

Dorodnova and junior Lena Piliptchak provided the closest doubles score, falling to Gantman and Katherine Nasser 8-4.

Piliptchak took Northwestern's Laura Guignon to three sets but faltered in the third set. Guignon took the match 6-4, 4-6, 6-0.

"We were definitely not rock solid in most of our positions," Bietau said. "We just have to be more competitive at more positions."

It was K-State's first loss on the spring season. The Wildcats take to the court again this Friday when they play host to Southwest Missouri State.

Ames, Iowa, road trip spawns random thoughts, predictions

Random thoughts that crossed my mind during the most boring drive ever— Manhattan to Ames, Iowa.

• The Kansas City Chiefs must sign free-agent quarterback Jeff George. If they don't, fans can expect another disappointing season out of the Chumps once again. The Chiefs are a replication of the K-State men's basketball team. Great defense, but a pathetic, non-existent offense.

SHANE McCORMICK is a senior in print journalism. You can e-mail comments to Shane at (shanem@ksu.edu).

It is quite obvious that the Chiefs are not going to make a run at the Super Bowl with Steve "Bobbling" Bono or Rich "My arm is not a" Gannon. George has met with the Chiefs and has a strong desire to play with the Chiefs. Forget about George's off-the-field incidents in the past. During those incidents, George was playing on losing teams that didn't have a winning attitude.

A Midwest environment that has a winning attitude is a perfect fit for George. Remember John Elway and his coaches did not get along at all during his brief stint with the Colts. Denver wasn't afraid of that, though, and things have worked out pretty well for them. Some cuts might have to be made to sign George. If you have to cut defensive end Neil Smith, then do so. Although he is a tremendous defensive force, he is getting older and an offensive spark is in greater demand. In the near future, we will see if Carl Peterson deserves to still be the General Manager of the Chiefs.

• I really question the St. Louis Rams decision to hire Dick Vermeil as their head coach. Yes, he turned around a Philadelphia Eagles team and took them to the 1980 Super Bowl, but he hasn't coached in 14 seasons.

Things are a little bit different now, Dick.

Unlike the 1980s, you now have to deal with a thing called the salary cap. Vermeil is also taking over a team that is young at the skilled positions. He's been out of the game way too long to be very productive for the Rams.

• Bill Parcells will not be back next year with the New England Patriots. He wants more control of the team, and he will not get it. Look for him to take over the New York Jets program. Parcells has always looked to turn around a losing program.

• The Dallas Cowboys are starting a deadly and long fall from success to despair and failure. If things do not change soon around this organization, key players will be gone. Many of the current players, who have not been in trouble off the field, are growing tired of the reputation the Cowboys are creating. Fullback Daryl "Moose" Johnston is a free agent this season, and has said he will look elsewhere because of the Cowboys' reputation.

Troy Aikman has said he is not ruling out retirement because the game isn't as fun as it once was. The once dominant offensive line is becoming old and outmatched. With absolutely no depth on the line, yards could come a lot tougher for running back Emmitt Smith in years to come. Changes have to start inside the organization and during draft day, where they desperately miss Jimmy Johnson.

• If you are looking to see some good fundamental basketball, set offensive plays and a Big 12 win, turn your attention to the Cats' basketball team — the women's team that is.

• Hilton Coliseum in Ames has got to be one of the worst facilities for a top-25 program. After driving a long six hours there, I became a little bit famished. I was expecting to be served something before the game, something like the sandwiches served at Bramlage Coliseum. To my shock, all that was served was some old, stale popcorn. Because I got there a little before the game started, I was fortunate to get a can of pop. But that was it — nothing else to drink for the whole game. The press room was crowded, with reporters waiting to use phones. The Cyclones may be a basketball powerhouse in the Big 12, but their media facilities are at a Division II level.

• As long as Michael Jordan is around, the Chicago Bulls are going to dominate the NBA. The Houston Rockets look tough now, but by the end of the season they will be tired and falter. You can only expect so much out of some old men.

• If I can find a way to be around Dennis Rodman for just five minutes, I bet I could become a millionaire and retire.

A&E EDITOR
PORTIA SISCO
e-mail: (andra@ksu.edu)

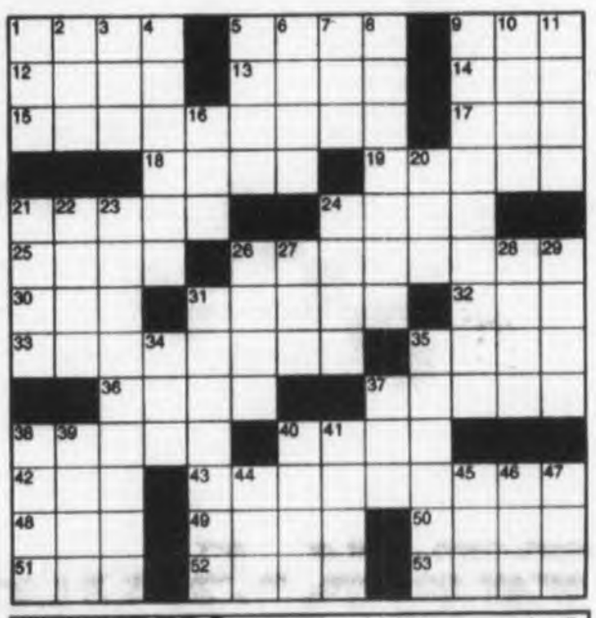
TOMORROW
Health&Sex
Get class credit and learn more about sexual behavior. Check out Health&Sex for the scoop. Questions or comments? E-mail the Collegian at (collegn@ksu.edu).

IT'S HU-U-U-GE! UPC SPONSORS MYSTERY SCIENCE THEATRE

▶ UPC will feature Mystery Science Theater 3000: The Movie at 7 and 9:30 p.m on Friday in Forum Hall as a part of UPC Feature Films. Admission is $1.75. Additional shows include 7 p.m. on Saturday and 8 p.m. on Sunday. On Sunday only, tickets are $1.

▶ DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 Jagger's trademark
5 Carson's predecessor
9 Upper bound
12 On
13 — mater
14 Future aves
15 Repeat request
17 "— for the million..."
18 Masticate
19 Burpee wares
21 Openers, often
24 Zhivago's love
25 Commotions
26 Ankle adornment
30 Aries
31 Boot of a Bentley
32 Wall climber
33 Libelist's method
35 Sans bumps
36 Skelton's Kadiddlehopper
37 Bel — cheese
38 Lily variety
40 Cupid's forte
42 Expert
43 "Stop that!"
48 Lingerie item
49 Campaign promises?
50 Desire
51 D.C. personage
52 "Born Free" heroine
53 Exemplar of crazi-ness



DOWN
1 Fond du —, Wisc.
2 News-making jurist
3 Lapdog, for short
4 Motes
5 Senate employee
6 "There oughta be —"
7 "— Blue?"
8 Rifle
9 Perk up
10 Eager
11 Go by
16 Oohs' mates
20 Previous to 21 Rattles
22 Leading man
23 Fess up
24 "Constant Craving" singer
26 Edge
27 Diamond score
28 December 24 and 31
29 Actress Daly
31 Molasses
34 Every last crumb
35 Scolding
37 Nanki- —
38 Urban fleet
39 Farm fraction
40 Iowa city
41 Arizona city
44 Tin Man's need
45 Back
46 "But — on forever" (Tennyson)
47 X

Solution time: 24 mins.

A	W	O	L		H	A	M		T	A	G	S
P	A	S	A	D	E	N	A		A	L	I	E
E	S	O	T	E	R	I	C		H	U	L	L
			H	A	D		A	N	I	M	A	L
W	O	M	E	N		T	R	E	T
O	D	O	R		D	I	O	X	I	D	E
N	E	T		C	A	B	O	T		I	W	O
	S	H	O	R	T	E	N		E	V	E	R
			B	E	A	T		C	L	A	R	K
Z	A	G	R	E	B		J	O	B
O	J	A	I		A	B	A	L	O	N	E	S
L	A	T	E		S	A	N	D	W	I	C	H
A	R	O	N		E	Y	E		S	L	U	E

Yesterday's answer

2-4

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

2-4

CRYPTOQUIP

Z BRXI CBXC NQXIC AIZQZJXGN ED ORJRIXGGH ORC NRJCRJARE CD HXGR CRIQN.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: MIGHT MOST VEGETABLE SHIPMENTS EVER BE SENT BY PARSLEY POST?

Today's Cryptoquip clue: Q equals M

▶ MELVIN VS. THE WORLD

Have an opinion?
E-mail it to the Collegian at (collegn@ksu.edu).

GOT A WEIGHT-LOSS RESOLUTION? NOW IT'S TIME TO BURN OFF THE

FAT

Exercise plan helps get extra pounds off

STORY BY TAMARA PETERSON

Norma Slagle, registered dietitian, helps people keep their New Year's resolutions to lose weight.

Slagle is one of more than 700 employees at Mercy Health Center on Sunset Avenue. The center is a private, not-for-profit organization created by the consolidation of Memorial Hospital and the Saint Mary Hospital in July 1996.

"People want a fast, easy way to get weight off. You must set your priorities. Everyone has the same 24 hours in a day," Slagle said.

Find 30 minutes to an hour for exercising at least five times a week. It will not only take pounds off but will improve your heart and lung capacity, Slagle said.

"Even walking around the block is better than nothing," Slagle said. "If a priority for you is to lose weight, you will take the time to eat right and exercise. But if you stop, you'll gain that weight back plus additional pounds at a faster rate than you lost it. It's a time commitment."

A regular exercise program helps decrease depression and boosts energy.

"There's an answer to every question, such as, are you exercising, have you kept food and calorie records and is your exercise rate enough to burn fat?" she said. "You'll initially gain weight — muscles rather than fat. Don't let the scales be your only feedback."

Measurements are an alternative to checking weight on a scale.

"If you lose muscle, you'll lose valuable material that shouldn't be lost," Slagle said. "In retrospect, shrink the fat cells so that muscles will not be used for energy. Muscle weighs more than fat; however, it burns more calories than fat. Lose weight in a smart way by increasing exercise and decrease calorie intake."

In the Nutrition Clinic at Mercy only licensed, registered dietitians provide guidance regarding weight, cholesterol levels, high blood pressure, diabetes and healthy eating habits for all ages.

The Fitness Center at the clinic is open to the public.

"It's best to avoid a program that sounds too good to be true," Slagle said.

Before joining a diet program, check the credentials of the people running the program. Extension office employees, dietitians and hospital employees with a solid background are qualified to help meet goals regarding health, diet and fitness.

"Red flags should pop up if a program is restrictive. Watch out for those single-food diets that are only double trouble," Slagle said.

The most detailed weight management program available at the hospital is the Lifesteps Weight Management Program. This 10-week program from the Dairy Council focuses on weight management. Topics discussed are changes in lifestyle and the benefits of lower fat types of food as opposed to taking a diet pill.

"Not everyone can use diet pills. However, if nothing else seems to work a doctor may prescribe diet pills," Slagle said.

The most popular diet pills prescribed today are Fenfluramine, sold as Pondimin, and Phentermine, sold as Lonamin and Fastin. These are often used together to decrease cravings and increase the level of serotonin in the brain.

Individuals using diet pills must measure a body mass index of more than 30. At Mercy, a dietitian can also test the percent of body fat, Slagle said.

"It's simple. If you're a fitness center member the percent-body-fat test is free," she said. "Non-members pay $10 for a percent-body-fat test. If you meet the qualification that diet pills require, they'll work with you if you follow two rules, increase exercise and decrease calorie consumption."

See WEIGHT, Page 8

▶ DILBERT

Your ad could appear on the Home Ec. page.
Call 532-6560 for details.

BOOMTOWN SOUND
PROFESSIONAL INSTALLATION AT LOW, LOW PRICES
J.V.C. • US Amps • Panasonic • Lanzar
KEYLESS ENTRY AND REMOTE START $149 PLUS INSTALLATION
Financing Available
CAR STEREOS - ALARMS SALES - SERVICE - INSTALLATION
The Best Sounds Around...Come From BOOMTOWN SOUND
OPEN 11-7 M-F, 11-5 SAT 539-7929 BEHIND HARDING GLASS

"No Coupon" Specials (NO coupon needed, NONE accepted)
Everyday Two-fers
2 - PIZZAS with 2 - TOPPINGS each 2 - COKES with ice
$9.12
Everyday Three-fers
3 - PIZZAS with 1 - TOPPING each 3 - COKES with ice
$11.23
Prices do not include sales taxes.
Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

AGGIE HAIR SHAPERS
Consider a gift certificate for a special someone...
Special- Until Feb. 14th
$20 full set of nails
$12 fills
1220 Moro - Aggieville 776-3600

End of the line

despite depot's closure, historic landmark has a future

STORY BY NICOLE KIRBY • PHOTOS BY CLIF PALMBERG

Nestled under the new bridge to Kansas Highway 177 sits the crumbling Union Pacific Depot.

Today, it is isolated by Fort Riley Boulevard and the new bridge. Its structure is deteriorating, marred by fire and time.

But 90 years ago, it was the gateway to Manhattan. Resplendent in its newly constructed glory, it saw 40 trains a day.

The depot in its nook under the bridge is still the first thing visitors and new K-State students see — the Statue of Liberty for the Little Apple.

The Past

By 1866, Manhattan already had streets, parks, a post office, a hotel, a town hall and a book store. Settlers had established the Methodist Episcopal Church and K-State's forerunner, Bluemont College.

Union Pacific Railroad picked the blossoming town as a stop on its new railroad, and in 1868, built a small depot. Merely a shed, the first depot was freight-oriented.

The railroad opened the door to Manhattan, and soon there were enough passenger trains to warrant another depot.

The new depot, which cost Union Pacific $10,000 to construct, was completed in December 1901. A one-story brick and stone structure, it had two waiting rooms, a baggage room and a wash room. The floors were hard maple and the walls were red brick from Kansas City. Outside, the walls were made of gray pressed-granite brick brought in from Nebraska.

Thanks to the depot, progress flooded into Manhattan on every train. People came for the manufacturing and agricultural opportunities the area promised.

"There is every reason to believe that Manhattan will double its present population within a very short time," Kansas Commercial News said in 1901. "It has railroad access and natural advantages — a location for a good manufacturing and wholesale town."

LEAD. THE UNION PACIFIC DEPOT, slowly falling apart in disrepair, shadows the new Kansas Highway 177 overpass. The depot has been out of operation for about a decade.

INSET. MANHATTAN, the stone nameplate that used to greet newcomers to the city, now overlooks a small lot scattered with debris.

By 1903, there were three railroad lines running through Manhattan, connecting the town to the west and east coasts. People of every description poured in and out of the depot.

On May 2, 1903, a huge crowd gathered at the depot to hear a 15-minute speech from Theodore Roosevelt, who had come to town on a special campaign train.

Ten years later, the depot was a hub of railroad travel and had positively affected Manhattan's economy. Bluemont College had become Kansas State Agricultural College, and it was connected to the depot by the Manhattan City and Intra Urban Railway, a trolley system started by William West and his four sons.

Trains continued to dominate long-distance travel, and the depot prospered for decades. It saw the arrival and departure of soldiers from World War I to Vietnam and students from Bluemont College to K-State.

In 1938, it was remodeled. There were new electric fixtures, a new heating plant, new furniture and an expanded ticket office. The interior was painted gray, beige, orange and silver, and the brick entry tower and chimney were removed because of storm and wind damage.

By the 1970s, trains were no longer the favored means of transportation, and the depot saw only four or five freight trains a day, with passenger trains few and far between. Amtrak discontinued Manhattan's passenger train schedules on May 1, 1971.

In 1981, a fire damaged the roof, and the original clay tiles had to be replaced with asphalt shingles. A wooden airlock was placed at the west entry.

By the 1990s, it was clear the depot had outlived its usefulness as a train station, and

See ROAD, Page 10

The tale of a depot

- 1855. Manhattan founded.
- 1863. Bluemont College selected for land grant.
- 1866. First trains come to Manhattan.
- 1868. First freight-oriented depot opens in Manhattan.
- 1901. New Manhattan depot constructed.
- 1938. Depot remodeled; entry tower, chimney removed.
- 1968. Original depot removed.
- 1971. Amtrak discontinued passenger train schedules.
- 1979. Depot placed on Kansas State Register of Historic Places.
- 1981. Fire damages structure.
- 1990. City acquires depot.

WEIGHT

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7

Several recommended weight programs include the American Heart Association, Slim for Life, the Food Guide Pyramid and Dietary Guideline for Americans.

"Food pyramid is great. I wouldn't change a thing," Slagle said. "Weight Watchers is sound. They use exchanges."

Avoid single-food diets, like cabbage soup or grapefruit diets.

"It's monotonous eating the same thing day after day. You shouldn't leave a food group out. Nutrients will become inadequate. A person needs 40 to 50 nutrients per day to be healthy," Slagle said.

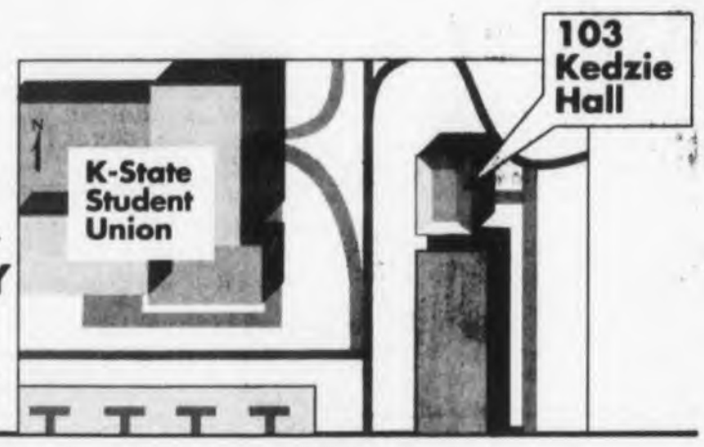
American Diabetes Association Exchange System focuses on the special needs of patients with diabetes. A list of the main food groups are selected by the individual with the required amount of servings each day. The amount of food is selective. Calories are counted to keep patients healthy.

"It's similar to the food pyramid. The exception is, the program is for people with diabetes," Slagle said.

Have a news tip?
Call 532-6556
and let us know.

Ristorante Marco Polo
Authentic Italian Food
Specializing in Pasta
Lunch
House Specials from
$3.75-$6.95
Dinner
Try Continental and French Cuisine
Tues-Thurs
Hours
11-2 and 4:30-9
6 days a week
Closed Mondays
West Plaza, Village Plaza
Manhattan
539-9300

Read•er (ree-der) n. 1. a person who reads. 2. a person who shops at Claflin Books and Copies



Mountain Bikes
starting at $214.95
All '96 models
ON SALE
the PATHFINDER 539-5639
301 Poyntz

Pregnancy
Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus
in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

TUESDAYS $2 PITCHERS
Scoreboard Sports Bar
The Total Sports Package

GREEK'S PIZZERIA
hours: 11 a.m.-10 p.m.
M-T 11 a.m. - midnight
F & Sat 11 a.m. - 2:30 a.m.
1124 Moro in Aggieville
FREE DELIVERY
539-1999
SUPER BOWL WEEK
ONE 16" EXTRA LARGE SINGLE TOPPING PIZZA $9.99 NO LIMIT - EXPIRES 2-2-97
TWO 16" EXTRA LARGE TWO TOPPING PIZZAS $18.98 NO LIMIT - EXPIRES 2-2-97
TWO 8" SINGLE TOPPING PIZZAS AND STIX $6.99 NO LIMIT - EXPIRES 2-2-97
Greek's Pizzeria
1124 Moro
In Aggieville
539-1999

CLASSIFIEDS

• DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classified display must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.

• HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an established account with Student Publications Inc.

Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks.

•CALL OR STOP BY

To place your classified, call 532-6555.

Place your classified ad in 103 Kedzie.

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING plus ground school for private, instrument and multi-engine ratings. K-State Flying Club approved instructor. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

ATTENTION ALL students!!! Grants and scholarships available from sponsors!!! No repayments, ever!!! $$$ Cash for college $$$ for information: (800)243-2435.

COLLEGE FINANCIAL AID -Student Financial Services has information on 3,400+ public and private sector funding sources. A must for anyone seeking financial aid! For information: 1-800-263-6495 ext.F57689.

Need some
Extra Cash
It's quick.
It's easy.
You can earn $80 a week, just by donating plasma. Ask our friendly staff for details.
Manhattan Biomedical Center NABI
776-9177
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-2 p.m.
1130 Gardenway

DISCOVER DIVING scuba lessons, college credit, low rates, Aggie Dive Shop 539-DIVE.

FAST FUNDRAISER- RAISE $500 IN FIVE DAYS- GREEKS, GROUPS, CLUBS, MOTIVATIONAL INDIVIDUALS. FAST, EASY- NO FINANCIAL OBLIGATION. (800)862-1982 EXT. 33.

GRADUATING OR need help with your resume? Information tips and sample resumes available. Guaranteed results. Send SASE to: Resemue Renovations P.O. Box 1384 Clemson, SC 29633.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 539-3733.

SCUBA DIVE Dreaming of those warm nights and clear waters... Learn to dive now for spring break and summer. Classes now forming. Call David Garvin, PADI, Creative Travel and Scuba, 539-0531.

WICHITA EAGLE SUNDAY ONLY 15-week semester subscription only $12. Call Colleen Hampton at 539-5934 to subscribe. Offer expires 1/28/97.

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

NEXT TO campus: one-bedroom in very nice complex. Sublease rate. 539-2702 call/ message.

NICE, LARGE, one-bedroom apartment, near KSU, 1531 Leavenworth, $275 includes heat, water and trash, 537-4977.

ONE-BEDROOM. ONE block to campus. Washer and dryer. Pets considered. 537-4947 after 6p.m.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO baths, fireplace, central air, washer and dryer, $550/ month. Water and trash included. No pets. 776-8914.

TWO-BEDROOM, ONE block east of campus. 539-6236.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

814 THURSTON studio apartment water/ trash paid. No pets, available now, $275. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE NOW. 915 Claflin, three-bedroom apartment heat, water, trash paid. Newly redecorated. No pets. $525. Call 539-3085.

AVAILABLE NOW. Leases through May. Rent negotiable. Most utilities paid. Cat ok. 537-8389, leave message please- will call as soon as possible.

AVAILABLE NOW. reduced rent through May. One, two and four-bedroom apartments. 587-0399.

GOLD KEY apartments, two-bedroom available now, 1419 Leavenworth, $450. Water and trash paid. Stove, refrigerator, washer and dryer provided. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom. Close to campus and City Park. $475/ month. Available immediately. 776-1771, Elaine.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, two blocks from campus. Water and trash paid. $345 per month. For more information call Nicole at 537-1023 or Diamond Management at 537-7701.

Leasing Now For August
- Fremont Apts
- Sandstone Apts
- College Heights
- Cambridge Square

Large 2-bedroom Units.
537-9064
Weekdays:
8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Sat. 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, large, clean, dishwasher, pool, in a quiet complex, $370. 539-2649.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT two-bedroom basement by campus. 537-9188. Lease until July 97 on.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE in February, 430 Vattier, $350. Water and trash paid. Stove and refrigerator. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM WITH study in Aggieville available now, 1130 Fremont, $275. Water and trash paid. Stove and refrigerator. Lawn care provided. Cats okay. Call MDI 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM. $275. Across from City park. Laundry facilities. No pets. Available now. 537-7542.

ONE-BEDROOM. CLOSE to campus. Water, trash, gas paid. No pets. Available, 539-1975.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS leasing one, two and three-bedroom apartments. Two pools, hot tub, horseshoes, volleyball. 539-2951.

PARKVIEW APARTMENTS, two-bedroom available in February, 1026 Osage, $495. Water and trash paid. Stove, refrigerator and dishwasher. On-site laundry and parking provided. Built in student desk in each bedroom. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

ROYAL TOWER Apartments, four-bedroom/ two bath available in February, $860. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances with dishwasher and microwave. Fitness room, jacuzzi, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

STUDIO APARTMENTS, one block from campus. (913)494-2240.

STUDIO APARTMENT. $215. All utilities except electricity paid. Lease and deposit required. Available now 537-7794.

THREE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. $395. Available now. 539-2450.

TWO AND Three-bedroom apartments. Close to campus. 539-1713

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, lower level, new carpet, large and in a quiet complex, $400. 539-2649.

TWO-BEDROOM. $350/ month. Central heat, air-conditioned. No pets. Water/ trash paid. Available now. 537-7542.

TWO-BEDROOM. $400. One-half block from campus. Central air/ central heat. Laundry facilities, water/ trash paid. No pets. Available now. 537-7542.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now, 1807 College Heights, $410. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now and February, 925 Denison, $410. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking. Newly remolded kithcens. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

115

Rooms Available

HALF OF trailer house. Laundry facilities, full kitchen, many extras. Quiet neighborhood, good study atmosphere. $225 a month. Call 537-4074, leave massage.

ONE-BEDROOM, TWO blocks from campus. Freshly redecorated. Washer/ dryer. 776-4130.

120

For Rent- Houses

FOUR TO five-bedroom house available June 1. One block to KSU, 539-1713.

ONE, TWO, three-bedroom for non-smoking, non-drinking, no pets. 539-1554.

ONE-BEDROOM HOUSE. Two blocks from campus. No pets. $350. Desperate to rent. Available now! 565-0797.

SEVEN-BEDROOM HOUSE. Close to KSU. 539-1713.

THREE-BEDROOM BRICK house. $570 per month. 537-8430.

TWO BLOCKS from campus. Three-bedroom, eat-in kitchen, living room, dining area, freshly redecorated, washer/ dryer. Second semester bargin. $600/ month. 776-4130.

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

1984 MOBILE home in Redbud estates; three-bedroom, two bath; all appliances include dishwasher, washer/ dryer; $12,000 negotiable; 537-7526.

TWO-BEDROOM, BATH and a half trailer in Manhattan. Includes washer/ dryer. 764-1182.

145

Roommate Wanted

$175/ MONTH plus one-half utilities. Own room in two-bedroom duplex. Available beginning January 1. 719 Leavenworth, 537-8651, leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE lease through July. West Chester Apartments 537-8423 or (913)451-0567.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for spring semester. Own bedroom, lots of closet and storage space. Close to campus (1850 Claflin) $230 plus one-third utilities January paid. Call 565-0160.

FEMALE ROOMMATE nonsmoker for two-bedroom mobile home. $175 plus one-half KPL. Cable, water and trash paid. 587-0157

FEMALE ROOMMATE, share four-bedroom, $209/ month, one-fourth utilities, GREAT ROOMMATES! 537-6291.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Very nice two-bedroom apartment, next to campus. Reasonable price, trash/ water paid. No smoking/ drinking/ pets. 565-9250 (leave message).

MALE WANTED for furnished basement. No smoking/ drinking/ pets, please. Walk to KSU. 539-1554.

MALE/ FEMALE roommate needed to share four-bedroom, two bath house near campus. Central air, washer/ dryer, dishwasher, $212.50/ month. All bills split. 530 Bluemont. Call Briana, (816)455-6542.

ROOMMATE FOR three-bedroom apartment across from campus. $230/ month. contact Niki, 537-2098.

ROOMMATE NEEDED as soon as possible. Woodway Apartments, four-bedroom, two bath. $204/ month plus one-fourth utilities. 537-4732.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for apartment close to campus and Aggieville. Rent/ lease negotiable. One-third utilities. 537-6297.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share two-bedroom apartment. Washer/ dryer. Cats allowed, rent negotiable. Call Rhonda at 776-2788 or 537-3819.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share nice two-bedroom mobile home in Redbud Estates. Call Guy at 539-3503, 587-5711 or e-mail at graffix@kansas.net

ROOMMATE TO share three-bedroom house three blocks from campus. Close to campus and Aggieville. $275, all utilities paid. Cable. Washer/ dryer. Joanna or Jen. 776-9548. February rent free.

ROOMMATE WANTED for farmhouse. Good, quiet location on all-weather road with horse facilities. $140/ month plus utilities, 539-2029.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share two-bedroom mobile home on one wooded acre. Washer/ dryer, $225/ month all utilities paid, pets allowed, 565-9694.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share three-bedroom house. $250/ month plus one-half utilities. Washer/ dryer. Pets allowed. Fenced yard. Carrie 776-6563.

ROOMMATE WANTED- Male/ female. Close to campus. $210/ month. Available now. Call Bill toll free (888)675-8464, leave message.

ROOMMATE WANTED. House close to campus. Own bedroom and bathroom. $215/ month plus one-fourth utilities. Call 776-3014.

ROOMMATE WANTED: One-half utilities, water/ trash paid. Very nice, $170/ month. Call 587-4645.

150

Sublease

$140/ MONTH. One-bedroom available in large four-bedroom house. Near campus plus the 'Ville. 539-7674.

AVAILABLE NOW! Female roommate needed to share two-bedroom apartment at Westchester Park. $244.50/ month plus one-half electricty. Call 776-8707 or 537-4666 Ext. 23. Ask for Joann.

ONE-BEDROOM ONE block from campus. Abailable immediately. Wildcat Mangement 537-2332.

ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO for sublease now until August. Rent is $200. Water, trash , electric paid. Call 539-4174 or (316)231-6854.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Own room with own bath and outside entry. Near campus and Aggieville $240/ month. No smokers. 565-0324.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Very spacious two-bedroom apartment. Walk-out patio. Pool. May 20 through July 31. 776-8711.

TWO ROOMS available in four-bedroom townhouse, no pets, washer/ dryer, all appliances, garage. Very nice, 3303 Abbey Circle. Call 587-8498 or 539-6358 to see.

200 SERVICE DIRECTORY

235

Child Care

NEW REGISTERED daycare now enrolling infants. If your in need of loving care please call 776-1596. ask for Sandy.

300 EMPLOYMENT/CAREERS

310

Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 537-0056.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. No experience required. Begin now. For info call (301)429-1326.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT -Fishing industry. Many earn up to $4000+/ month during peak season. Benefits often include transportation and/ or room and Board. For details: (206) 971-3510 ext-A57688.

CAMP COUNSELORS for educational camp south of Kansas City. Can lead fishing, canoeing, crafts, games, and many more activities while teaching children 8- 14 about the outdoors. Lifeguard helpful. June 7- August 10. Must be sophomore or older. $1600 plus room and board. For details, send inquiry before February 7, 1997 to Wildwood, 7095 W. 399th St., LaCygne, KS 66040.

CAMP OZARK, Christian Sports and Adventure Camp -- Seeking qualified counselors to work with boys and girls ages 8- 16. Employment terms for all or part of the summer. If remotely interested, come to our KSU informational video presentation 8:30pm, Monday, February 3 at K-State Union, Little Theater. Located Mount Ida, AR. (501)867-4131. Visit our website at www.campozark.com.

CAMP TAKAJO

for boys,
Outstanding Maine camp noted for magnificent lakefront setting and exceptional facilities. Over 100 positions for heads and assistants in tennis, baseball, basketball, soccer, lacrosse, golf, street hockey, roller hockey, swimming, sailing, canoeing, waterskiing, SCUBA, archery, riflery, weight training, journalism, photography, videography, woodworking, ceramics, crafts, drawing and painting, nature study, radio and electronics, dramatics, piano accompanist, music instrumentalist, band director, backpacking, rock climbing, whitewater canoeing, ropes course, general (w/ youngest campers), secretarial. June 16 - August 24. Top salaries, room and board, travel provided. Call 800-250-8252. Or WRITE Camp Takajo c/o Mike Sherbun 7366 Cascade Terrace Grand Rapids MI 49546. Or FAX resume to 616-954-2950. A camp representative will be in Union Room 207 Wed., Feb. 5 from 10am-4pm. Walk-ins are welcomed!

CAMP WEKEELA in Canton, Maine is hiring experienced dynamos to instruct tennis, swimming, outdoor trips, high-ropes, drama, dance, music, sailing, windsurfing, waterskiing, basketball, lacrosse, baseball, volleyball, gymnastics, soccer, horseback riding, photography, woodworking, ceramics and creative arts. Share your skills at one of the premier co-ed camps in the world. 2807 C Delmar Drive, Columbus, OH 43209 (800)959-3177.

CHELEY COLORADO Camps in the Rocky Mountains near Estes Park is hiring enthusiastic individuals to work with campers ages 9-17. Cooks/ dishwashers, Unit diresctors, drivers, office personnel, RNs, wranglers; Counselors with skills in horseback riding, mountain biking, climbing wall, challenge course, camping, sports, crafts, song leading, archery, or riflery. Room/ board, salary, travel allowance. Must be at least a sophomore and able to work June 9- August 12, 1997. On-campus interviews. For information, please contact Cheley Colorado Camps at (800)226-7386.

CRUISE SHIP EMPLOYMENT -Travel the world (Hawaii, Mexico, Caribbean) and earn an excellent income in the Cruise and Land- Tour industry. For details, call 1-206-971-3550 ext.C57689.

EARN $427 plus a week at home! Write for application: Generations, Dept. KSU, P.O. Box 13486, Atlanta, GA 300324, Genmarker@aol.com

EASTERN EUROPE/ ASIAN JOBS. Live in Prague, Budapest, Tokyo, etc. teaching simple conversational English. No languages/ teaching experience required. (919)918-7767, Ext. W161.

ENHANCED UNIVERSITY EXPERIENCE LEADERS are now being recruited by the Academic Assistance Center for the 1997 fall semester. Applicants should be good student role-models, be committed to the concept of academic success for all students, desire to teach other how to learn, be able to relate to a diverse group of people, have proven success in social science and/ or mathematics courses and have a minimum g.p.a. of 3.0. Undergraduates with sophomore status or higher are preferred. We have twelve positions for recitation/ social science study group leaders and two positions for study group leaders in Intermediate and College Algebra. All positions require a time commitment of 10 hours per week for a total salary of $750 for the fall semester. Selected applicants will be required to attend training sessions during the final eight weeks of the spring 1997 semester. Applications are available in Holton 101 prior to February 14.

EVENING AND WEEKEND CLASSES in hair design, ethnic hair design and nail technology. Start Feb. 4. Thousands in scholarships plus financial aid available. Free info. Call Crum's Beauty College @ 776-4794.

HIRING IMMEDIATELY! Student needed for part-time work demostrating Avery Dennison products on campus. Must be familiar with Miscrosoft Word and willing to use own personal computer with Windows software $10.00 per hour. Contact Lex Deines at 800-569-6461.

LEASING CONSULTANT. Upscale apartment complex seeking individual to assist with leasing. Part-time during school, full-time in summer. 3.0 GPA. Sales experience preferred. Outgoing personality and excellent people skills. Training provided. Send resume to: P.O. Box 483, Manhattan, KS 66505-0483.

LOSE WEIGHT without dieting. Call 537-6892.

NATIONAL PARK EMPLOYMENT -National Parks hire forestry workers, park rangers, firefighters, lifeguards, + volunteer and government positions. Excellent benefits + bonus potential. Call: 1-206-971-3620 ext.N57689.

NATIONAL PARKS HIRING. Also Beach Resorts, Ranches, Rafting Co.'s. Benefits, Bonuses! Nationwide summer openings. Call (919)918-7767, ext. R161.

PART-TIME DELIVERY help needed. Must be available in the afternoons. Apply at Homestead Rental, 2332 Sky-Vue Lane.

PREMIERE BROTHER-SISTER CAMPS IN MASSACHUSETTS. Counselor positions for talented and energetic students as Program Specialists in all Team Sports, especially Baseball, Basketball, Roller Hockey, Gymnastics, Field Hockey, Soccer, Volleyball; 30 Tennis openings; also Golf, Archery, Riflery, Pioneering/ Overnight Camping, Ropes and Rock Climbing, Weights/ Fitness and Cycling; other openings include Performing Arts, Fine Arts, Figure Skating, Newspaper, Photography, Yearbook, Radio Station, and Rocketry; All Waterfront/ Pool Activities (Swimming, Skiing, Sailing, Windsurfing, Canoeing/ Kayaking). Top salaries, room, board and travel. June 22nd- August 20th. Inquire: MAH-KEE-NAC (Boys): 1-800-753-9118. DANBEE (Girls): 1-800-392-3752.

SUMMER JOBS!!! Camp Birchwood and Gunflint Wilderness camp, two of Minnesota finest summer camps, seek college students to work as counselors and instructors. Activities include: Horseback riding (english & western), Sailing, Wilderness trips, tennis, arts & crafts, rifle, archery and more. Working with kids in a camp setting, is a chance to be part of something significant. Employment begins June 6th to August 12th or 22nd. For an application and to schedule an interview call (800)451-5270.

TIMBER LAKE/ TYLER HILL CAMPS. Top NY and PA resident camps have over 200 summer job openings for qualified students and faculty. Counselors, WSI, Arts, Athletics Specialists and more!!! Best salaries and travel allowance in addition to "the finest summer you'll ever have." On campus interview Thursday, February 6th. Call Career and Employment Services at 532-6506 for an application and an interview appointment.

TUTORS NEEDED for Managerial Reporting, Taxation, Accounting Research, Accounting for Non-Profit, Quantative Management, Intro. to Finance, US Politics. Graduate students should not have assistantships. Must have taken course and achieved an A/B. Salary based on experience. Contact Educational Supportive Services, Holton 201, 532-5642.

WANTED 100 students. Lose 5- 100 pounds. New metabolism breakthrough. RN assisted, free gift. $35 fee. (800)579-1634.

WANTED: FULL or part-time farm help. Skills in construction, machine repair, welding or equipment operation. (913)457-3440.

ZAP YOUR ZITS. Have the complexion you've always wanted! New Bio-Tech program. No animal ingredients or testing. Guaranteed results. 539-7336.

330

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

WORK FROM home. Twenty second commute! Serious income potential working from home. We provide training and support via revolutionary system. Call (toll free) 1-888-444-6242 for overview. Then call us live at 776-5429.

400 OPEN MARKET

410

Items for Sale

BEER SIGNS, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, antiques, collectibles, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

BROTHER WORD Processor. Disk access, monitor, example files. $150 or best offer. Oak computer stand $100 or best offer. 537-2090.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit $14.95. See ALL the channels (313)523-2769.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY Sale for Cash Pawn and Gun. Selling cd's $2 and $3 each. Movies for $4 each. Cassette tapes for $0.75 each. Sega and Super NES Systems for$49.00. 10% off all Spiderco knives. 20% off a large selection of items store wide. Lowest priced guns and jewelry. We buy sell and trade. Have money to loan. 1917 Fort Riley Blvd., 776-3332.

FOOSBALL TABLE $175, 565-9248.

FOR SALE: Radio Shack power graphic EC-4034 scientific calculator with manual. $50 or best offer. (913)456-2133.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

COMPUTER DESK with desk light and printer cart $45. Call 776-9847 after 7 p.m.

DRESSER WITH mirror, nightstand, headboard and bed frame set, $60. Coffee table and end tables, set $20. Large study table with four chairs, set $50. Call 776-1902.

430

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Flea Market 7000 square feet, 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

435

Computers

100MHZ PENTIUM system. Sound, mic, modem, CDROM, 1Gb HD, 24mb RAM, 2Mb video, monitor, keyboard, mouse, Win95, $1150. 587-8560.

486 PACKARD Bell computer. 8 Meg Ram. MS Office and Windows '95. Call . $750. 565-0509. Call after 5.

486DX50 8 MEG RAM, 340 meg HD, SVGA monitor, keyboard, mouse 586, 133MHZ MB with CPU, 16 meg RAM. Kevin, 537-1863.

INTERKAN.NET: MANHATTAN'S newest Internet Service Provider. Free setup software. Monthly rates: 10 hours @ $5, 30 hours @ $7.50, 90 hours @ $10, 200 hours @ $17.50. http://www.interkan.net or 565-0991.

MUST SELL laptop portable computer, sharp 5740. 6.20 DOS, 120MB hard drive, 256K video memory, excellent carrying case. Machine at 539-9238.

445

Music Instruments

DRUM SET for sale. Black Remo four-piece. Excellent condition. Call Brian 539-0870.

WELCOME BACK to The Music Co.! Best prices on new and used instruments and accessories. No pressure sales, we try to get what you need. Straight down 17th st from K-state Union, in the Midtown Plaza, 539-1958.

450

Pets and Supplies

AKC YELLOW labs, shots and warmed, ready for loving home. Call 776-8237 or weekends (913)584-6626.

REPTILE SALE! Lots of new reptiles! Mantella Frogs, Pac ManFrogs, Vromastyx, Water Dragons, Giant Leaf Tail Gecko, Egyptian, Dwarf Gecko, Leopard Gecko, Rock Pythons, Scorpions, Tarantulas and much more! Only at Animal House Pets 210 N.4th, 537-6111. Sale ends Sunday.

460

Stereo Equipment

ALPINE CD Changer with remote, excellent condition. 539-4058.

FOR SALE: Sanyo portable CD player. New car kit, adapters, headphones! 490 or best offer. Call 537-2531 and leave message.

INFINITY HOME theater subwoofer. Dual six and one-half 300 Watts RMS. Has satellite speaker inputs. Excellent condition. $210 Negotiable leave message. Ryan 537-9513.

MAGNAVOX HOME stereo for sale, sounds good and it's in great shape. For more information call Ken 537-1621.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1981 VW Rabbit AM/FM cassette. New alternator and battery. Runs good. 116,000 plus miles, $950 or best offer, 537-3925.

1985 LTD II wagon 30K on factory motor, auto, air-conditioned, cruise. $1100. 539-4069, call after 7p.m.

1988 HONDA Civic, five-speed, lots of new parts, $1300. 1983 Toyota Corolla automatic high miles runs great, $800. 532-7855 leave message.

1987 CHRYSLER LeBaron GTS. Looks good. Runs well. $1200. 539-2146.

1989 ESCORT GT loaded, five-speed, cruise, air-conditioned. $2500. 539-4069 after 7p.m.

1994 JEEP Wrangler, white/ black soft-top, six-cylinder, low mileage, excellent condition, extra's. $15,000. 776-6449.

1994 MAZDA Navajo LX, automatic, four-wheel drive in excellent condition. Power doors, windows, locks, power leather seats, sunroof, AM/FM cassette. Asking $16,800 or best offer. Owner must sell. 776-7025.

DODGE SHADOW ES Turbo. Good gas mileage, perfect condition, power everything. $3250. 776-1507.

FOR SALE: 1983 Z-28 Cross-fire Camero. Charcoal gray. Tinted windows. Looks and runs good, 93,000 miles. 587-4152.

OLDSMOBILE, TORONADO 1984. 108K miles, many options, very nice car, $2775 or best offer. Must sell. 587-0121.

600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

610

Tour Package

CANCUN- PADRE- MAZATLAN SPRING BREAK'S HOTTEST! 1-800-328-7513 Free food, drink and party special!?! Up To $200 discount Coupons on our Website www.studentadvtrav.com.

For all your needs, advertise in the Kansas State Collegian Classifieds. 532-6555

Nobody Does Spring Break Better!
SPRING BREAK '97
AS SEEN ON CBS NEWS "48 HOURS"
DRIVE YOURSELF & SAVE!
AFFORDABLE
"ROAD TRIP!"
16th Sellout Year!
'97 as low as
PARTY Sunchase
SOUTH PADRE ISLAND
PANAMA CITY BEACH
DAYTONA BEACH
STEAMBOAT
KEY WEST
HILTON HEAD ISLAND
* PER PERSON DEPENDING ON DESTINATION/BREAK DATES / LENGTH OF STAY.
1-800-SUNCHASE
TOLL FREE INFORMATION & RESERVATIONS
MY THE WEB AT: http://www.sunchase.com

FOR MORE INFORMATION
UNIVERSITY APARTMENTS
2215 COLLEGE AVE
CALL 539-0500
Now Leasing
"Stay in class at the University"
Leasing '97-'98 School Year
539-0500

ROAD

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8

in an effort to facilitate the Manhattan Town Center, the city traded the depot and the surrounding lands for other lands that were more peripheral to the developing commercial area.

Soon Fort Riley Boulevard and the K-177 bridge began to spring up around the depot, threatening its existence.

"It was determined that the depot was significant and should be saved and so the bridge was designed around it," said Karen Davis, director of community development for the city of Manhattan.

The bridge and the four-lane street surrounding the depot cut it off from accessibility. Now only the most adventurous sightseer can take a hard right off of Fort Riley Boulevard onto the grass in front of the building.

Courtesy of the RILEY COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY

IN THE EARLY PART of the century such dignitaries as Teddy Roosevelt visited the depot.

The Present

Although the depot now crumbles quietly beneath the bridge, the quest is on to bring it back.

Local citizens want to make it attractive and useful again. The only problem is how to pay for it.

A 1992 grant from the National Trust for Historic Preservation funded a feasibility study, which estimated it would cost $300,000 to repair and stabilize the dilapidated structure.

In 1993, the community development department applied for an Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act (ISTEA) grant, but was denied. A 1996 application for a Heritage Trust Fund grant was also unsuccessful.

"Heritage Trust Funds are extremely competitive," said Linda Glasgow, secretary for the Manhattan/Riley County Preservation Alliance Inc. "I think we came extremely close last year and that was disappointing."

Another ISTEA application in 1995 was accepted, but the funding will not be available unless the U.S. Congress decides to reauthorize it.

Now the department is in the process of applying for another Heritage Trust Fund. Due in February, it is a collaboration with the Preservation Alliance.

"We're doing what we can to strengthen the application," said Breta Bloomberg-Ellis, member of the Preservation Alliance board of directors. "The grant is not going to cover near what we need it to."

The city promised to match the grant if received, and the Preservation Alliance will donate $5,000 if the Heritage Trust Fund gives Manhattan the coveted grant.

The $5,000 is the result of a series of fundraisers launched by the Preservation Alliance for the depot. Members served barbecue in City Park, sold opportunities on an Amish quilt, gave a historic-homes tour and are selling limited-edition prints of a watercolor of the 1901 depot by local artist Richard Forsyth, professor of landscape architecture.

The Preservation Alliance also received a large donation from Modern Woodmen.

"They took $2,500 and turned it into $5,000," Glasgow said.

If the funding does comes through, there are priorities for spending the limited amount of cash.

"There's a lot of work to be done, but the urgency is to stabilize the exterior," said Linda Teener, executive director at UFM. UFM has also added its labors to the quest to save the depot.

Making it more attractive is also an eventual goal: many would like to see the original tile roof replaced and the wooden airlock removed, as well as a new paint job.

The Future

There have been many ideas proposed for the eventual use of the building, with some disagreement about whether the depot should be used for public or private purposes.

Local merchants like Blaine Thomas wanted to put a retail store in the depot, but others wanted it to be open for public use. However, the bridge's construction changed everything.

"We found that retail wasn't a good idea because of the access," Davis said. "The access is a problem for certain kinds of businesses."

Ray Weisenburger, local architect, had worked with K-State architecture students to come up with ideas for the depot's rehabilitation and eventual use by the Department of Architecture, but now the UFM is the only group working toward inhabiting the building.

UFM plans to use the depot for classes and meeting spaces, but it would also be open for public use.

"We want people to feel that it's their structure, that they can use it," Bloomberg-Ellis said.

Whatever it is used for, the building is now and will remain to be what it has always been: the first thing people see when they arrive in Manhattan.

"It was a symbol. It was the entrance to the city," Bloomberg-Ellis said. "It was what people first saw. It's still there. It's still a gateway to the city, especially with the ramps there. Just because it's not a train depot anymore doesn't mean it's not a symbol for Manhattan."

Get on the World Wide Web.
The Collegian is online and all of your news needs are a Web address away.
(http://collegian.ksu.edu)

Jazz legend to be honored for 7-decade career during K-State Jazz festival Saturday

RUSSELL FORTMEYER
senior staff writer

The first lady of song.

A singer's singer.

She's a legend among legends.

When you say it in those words, it's not hard to understand why the late Ella Fitzgerald will be honored at the K-State Jazz Festival on Saturday. Gov. Bill Graves has officially proclaimed Saturday as "Ella Fitzgerald Day" in Kansas.

Fitzgerald's career, spanning seven decades, came to an end last summer with her death from complications from diabetes. Her failing health in her later years never stopped her from performing or recording.

The few recordings that do exist from the last decade or so of her life include two, "A Classy Pair" and "A Perfect Match" (both 1979), with the Count Basie Orchestra, which headlines the festival for the second year in a row.

Fitzgerald established herself not as an interpreter of songs in the personal sense of a Billie Holiday, but as a singer of perfection who could brilliantly deliver a composition.

Alfred Cochran, associate professor of music, teaches the history of jazz and includes Fitzgerald in the course of study.

"Any composer would be delighted to have Ella Fitzgerald sing their tunes," Cochran said. "She was a consummate musician and used her voice in the most exquisite way to render everything that was possible in a song.

"There's no singer in the jazz scene today who doesn't owe Ella Fitzgerald a huge debt of gratitude."

Yet, her beginnings are humble. Born to unmarried parents on April 25, 1917, Fitzgerald was an early performer, giving impromptu dance and singing shows for school kids. It wasn't until 1934, now orphaned, that Benny Carter plucked her off the stage of the Apollo Theater to give her a musical audition.

After a few lean years, she eventually joined Chick Webb's Orchestra with whom she became a national and international sensation. Her career took an artistic leap in 1945 with her recording of "Flying Home," her first foray into the scat style of singing so beloved by fans and admired by colleagues.

In Stuart Nicholson's exhaustive book "Ella Fitzgerald" (1993), Fitzgerald's scat abilities are best described by Mel Torme, who said "A singer has to work double hard to emit those random notes in scat singing with perfect intonation. Well, I should say all singers except Ella. Her notes float out in perfect pitch, effortless and, most important of all, swinging."

And did she swing, with every jazz great of the century — Duke Ellington to Louis Armstrong to Billie Holiday to Count Basie.

Dennis Wilson, director of jazz studies and director of the festival, played with the Basie Band from 1977 to 1987, during which he performed countless times with Fitzgerald.

Wilson, who performed on both "A Classy Pair" and "A Perfect Match," remembers Fitzgerald as a very down-to-earth woman.

"As great as she was, she was very sensitive about how she looked," Wilson said. "I had to be complimentary as to how she looked. All she ever heard was you 'sound' great, but she's human. She's a woman. She liked to hear how great she looked.

"We hold them in such high esteem that we forget they are people just like us. At the time, she was the highest-paid jazz artist in the world. It wasn't money that she needed."

In Fitzgerald's later years, she lost her exquisite range and tone, but never her style.

"What she never lost was her style and delivery of the song," Wilson said. "She could still out-scat anybody. When I worked with her, although she started to deteriorate vocally, you didn't notice it."

It is often said of Fitzgerald that she could out-perform the band with which she was singing.

"Ella could just wipe you out," Wilson said. "With Basie, her swing style matched the hardest swinging band there was."

Wilson said he picked Fitzgerald to honor since he wanted to focus on a vocal musician for this year's festival in order to attract K-State vocalists. He also just happened to snag New York Voices, a vocal ensemble known for their Ella-style scat singing.

However, Fitzgerald's scat singing is not the singular contribution to jazz that is so admired — it's her purity of delivery.

Again in Nicholson's book, Betty Carter, herself a brilliant jazz vocalist, said of Fitzgerald "Ella sings a ballad pretty much how the composer wants a ballad sung, because she's going to sing it straight ... she may twist a little bit on the end. She's not going to deviate from the melody that much, but it's the way she approaches the melody is the important thing.

"Audiences liked that, they could always depend on Ella, the way she approached the melody, phrasing, the attack of the words, the way they sounded when she sang."

Ella Fitzgerald
1917-1996

During her seven-decade career, Ella Fitzgerald had countless recordings considered legendary.

1956
"Ella Sings the Cole Porter Songbook," Verve.
1959
"Ella Fitzgerald Sings the George and Ira Gershwin Songbook," Verve.
1960
"The Complete Ella in Berlin," Verve.
1963
"Ella and Basie!" Verve.
1974
"A Perfect Match," Pablo.

MEGAN LaRUE/Collegian

Stay in Class
UNIVERSITY COMMONS
Now leasing!
Brand New!
FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL NOW! (539-0500)
FEATURING:
Private bedrooms
Individual leases
Computer lab
Alarm systems
Reserved parking
Fully equipped kitchen
Washer & dryer
Fitness center/Rec room
Swimming pool
UNIVERSITY COMMONS
APARTMENTS
2215 COLLEGE AVE
WITH LOCATIONS AT: UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA, LSU, TEXAS A&M, UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH CAROLINA, UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA, UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA, OLE MISS, MIAMI OF OHIO, MISSISSIPPI STATE, PENN. STATE, FLORIDA STATE, UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY & KANSAS STATE

Exp. Date 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

JANUARY 29, 1997
WEDNESDAY

HIGH 34
LOW 12
Chance of snow in the late afternoon and early evening. By weekend, high around 60.

FORECAST PAGE 2

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN

MANHATTAN, KS 66506

VOL. 101 NO. 81

COLLEGIAN DIRECTORY
NEWSROOM 532-6556
DISPLAY ADVERTISING 532-6560
CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555
e-mail: (collegn@ksu.edu)
http://collegian.ksu.edu

OPINION PAGE COMMENTS SPARK COLUMNIST RESPONSE

▶ Rude reader feedback prompts Mary Renee Smith to challenge readers to digest the opinion page with an open mind.

See OPINION Page 4

ETC.

In today's paper
Briefs 2
Sports 6
In tomorrow's paper
Learn the ins and outs for financial aid in Currency.

READY FOR A TOPIC THAT'S NOT A USUAL LECTURE SUBJECT

▶ Psychology of Sexual Behavior discusses topics of interest including masturbation and hermaphrodites.

See HEALTH&SEX Page 7

Clinton calls on Congress to support him, schools

Clinton

▶ IN FIRST PRESS conference of second term, president addresses balanced budget.

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — President Clinton called the first news conference of his second term to talk about the balanced budget proposal he will submit to Congress next week. Specifically, Clinton called on Congress to support the education spending proposals that were centerpiece items of his re-election campaign agenda.

But when Clinton opened the floor to questions Tuesday, the education initiative was nearly forgotten as he was peppered with questions about campaign fundraising and several pressing foreign-policy matters. In answering them, Clinton sounded defensive at times, exasperated at others.

He took issue with the tone of a question about whether he had sold access to the White House for $250,000, but then acknowledged the costs of modern campaigns had invited excesses in fundraising.

"What they got from me is a respectful hearing if they have some concern about the issues," Clinton said. " ... I can tell you categorically no decisions came out of those coffees where I or anyone said, 'This person is a contributor: see what you can do.'"

Among the questions raised by Republicans is whether Clinton changed his position on an important immigration reform measure last year after being pressed by Asian American donors to the Democratic National Committee and his re-election campaign.

Also, some have questioned whether fundraising solicitations were made in the White House, which would be a violation of federal law. Many of those invited to the coffees with Clinton made big contributions to the DNC that same day or within a few days.

"There is no pattern or practice here of trying to push our system over the brink into corruption," Clinton said. "What happens is there is a race to get as much money as you can to keep from being buried by the other people and make sure you can get your message out. And at the edges errors are made. And when they're made they need to be confessed, and we need to assume responsibility for them. And that's what I'm trying to do today."

Clinton was also asked about the mysterious hiring of former Associate Attorney General Webster Hubbell by the Lippo Group, an Indonesia-based banking conglomerate at the center of a good deal of the questionable Democratic fundraising. Hubbell resigned in disgrace after admitting he overbilled legal clients back in Arkansas, and Whitewater prosecutors were seeking his cooperation at the time he took the job with Lippo.

Clinton said emphatically that he had no role in helping Hubbell find work and was not aware of the hiring until it was cited in news reports.

Clinton also defended his participation in White House receptions with Democratic donors and insisted administration policy was not for sale. "Nobody buys a guaranteed result — nor should they ever," Clinton said.

What's up? Not funds

▶ Get involved. Contact the United Way at 776-3779 to find out ways to contribute time or money and to inquire about internships.

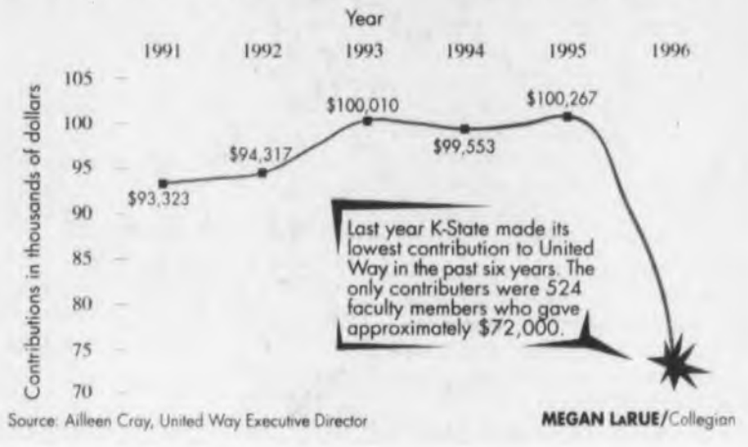
▶ Read the editorial. The editorial board suggests that the student body get involved in the community by volunteering.

▶ DONATION DECREASE LEADS Riley County United Way to become concerned.

JASON ELLIS
staff reporter

A decrease in donations from K-State cannot be explained, but has become a concern for United Way of Riley County.

This organization, which provides funding to 13 local agencies, has reported a decline in donations received from K-State for 1996 compared to 1995.



"All areas of the community were up except K-State, where we were down," Evan Howe, 1996 United Way of Riley County campaign chairperson, said.

Contributions from K-State to the United Way primarily come from the certified and uncertified personnel, Howe said.

"We realize students are not

See DONORS, Page 10

K-State United Way donations low

Source: Aileen Cray, United Way Executive Director

MEGAN LaRUE/Collegian

IS IT IN THE GENES?

STORY BY JOHN HENDERSON • PHOTO BY CLIF PALMBERG

▶ FORMER PROFESSOR DEVELOPS new methods to teach genetics to high-school students.

Boring textbooks don't make high-school students interested in genetics. There are a lot more interesting and entertaining ways to learn about this very important subject that need to be used in the classroom.

Tom Manney, former professor of physics, and his colleagues at K-State have been developing new methods as part of the Genetics Education NEtwork, known as the GENE Project.

"In textbooks, the emphasis is on the facts," Manney said. "Yet in science, you appreciate the facts much more when you understand how you came to know them."

The solution, he said, is to put emphasis on experiments with living organisms.

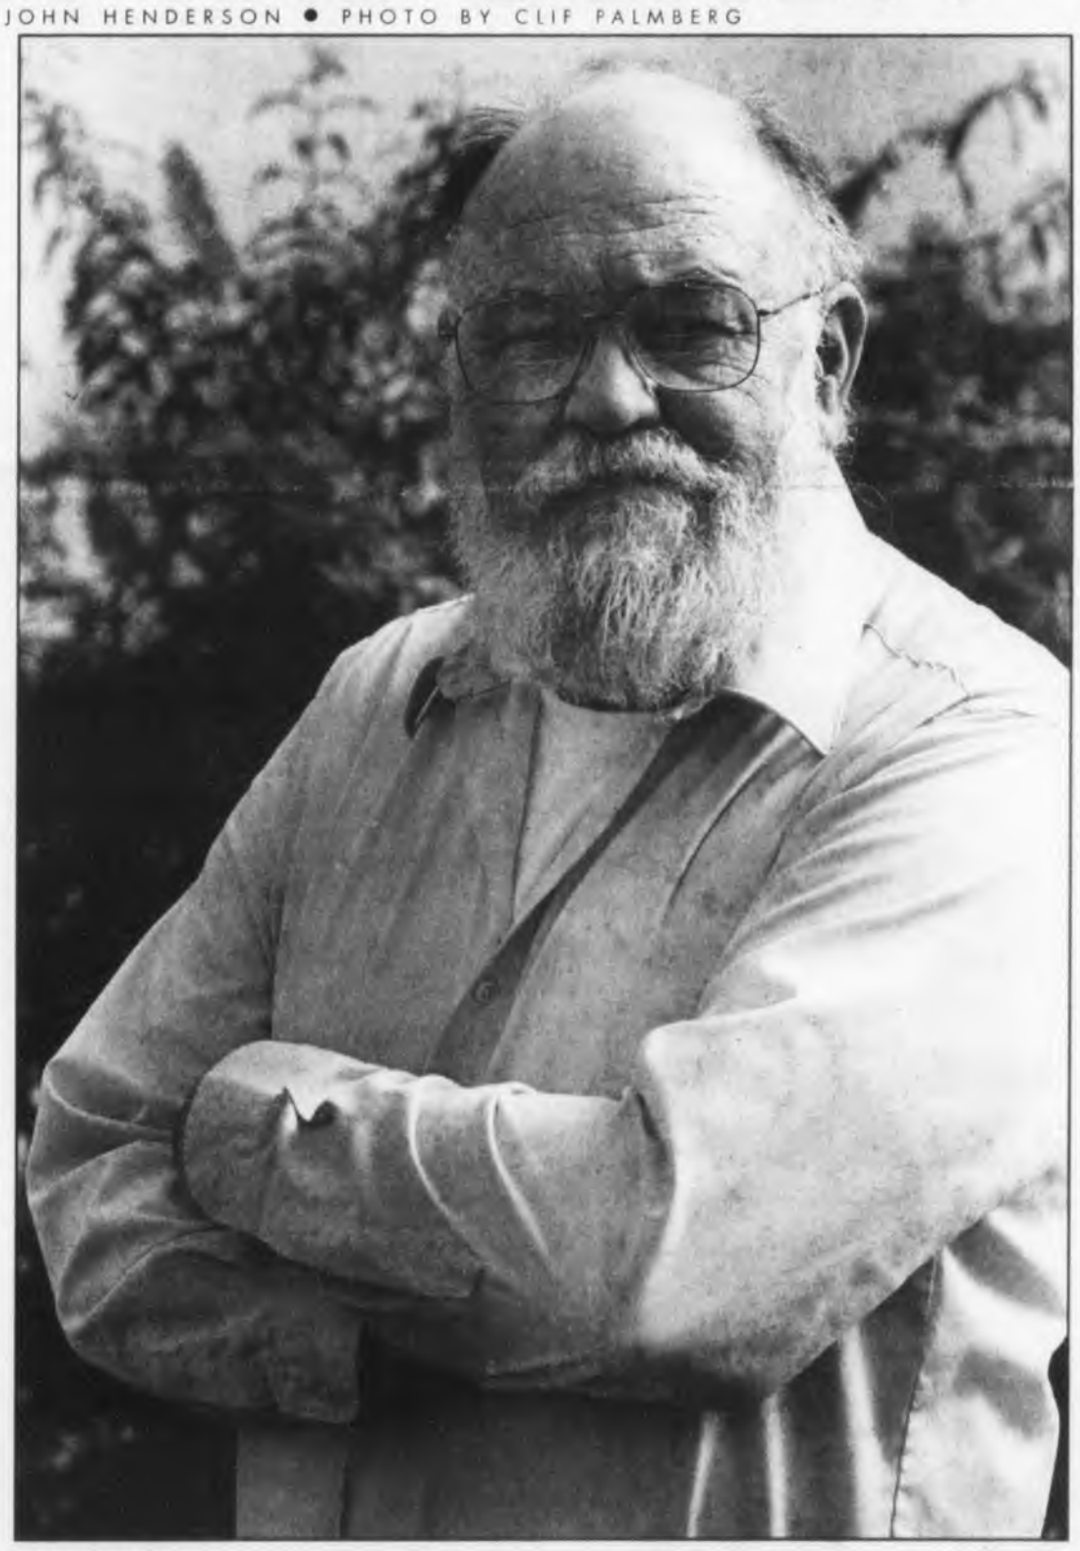
The project began in 1985 with a teacher enhancement program organized by the department of physics called Radiation and People. The program was meant to help secondary-school science teachers teach concepts involving radiation and its effect on living beings.

"At the time it was very much a joint project between myself and my wife, and research associate Monta," he said. "When we talked to the teachers we discovered that very few organisms were being used to teach."

The GENE Project was started in response to what both Manneys said they saw as a shortcoming. Over the years, the project has organized workshops for teachers of genetics, stressing the use of baker's yeast, flour beetles and Wisconsin FastPlants.

Beth Montelone, professor in biology, specializes in molecular biology and the biology of yeast. She said these three organisms are ideal for genetics experiments.

"Flour beetles are common pests," Montelone said. "Unlike fruit flies, which get used in lots of other genetics labs, these don't fly around."



Manney said all the little bugs need is a jar of flour to live in, whereas fruit flies need constant care and attention.

FastPlants are somewhat useful for teaching plant science and the genetics of their reproduction, Manney said, but they don't self-pollinate, which reduces their usefulness. The easiest organism to use is yeast, which reproduces asexually and can take more punishment, he said.

"The lab experiments allow high schools to get hands-on experience instead of a cookbook type of lab," Montelone said.

The project has produced a lab manual for teachers to use with the experiments, and has a World

See GENES, Page 10

TOM MANNEY, a former president of the Kansas Association of Teachers of Science, is one of the developers of Genetics Education NEtwork, or the GENE Project.

K-STATE STUDENTS browse through the selection of posters at the poster sale Tuesday afternoon in the K-State Student Union. The sale will last until Friday afternoon.
BEN WHITE
Collegian

Cost of reserved stalls raised, number of stalls may decrease

BRIAN SMOLLER
staff reporter

Faculty members will spend more money for their private parking stalls starting this summer.

On July 1, an increase of $100 will be added to the price of reserved stalls for next year.

This past Thursday, the Council on Parking Activities voted to send the revised regulations to a public hearing in April.

The new additions include the increase in reserved stalls, but no increase in the general parking fees.

The additional fee is a result of a report submitted by a parking task force in February 1994. The report recommended reducing the number of reserved stalls on campus.

"This is just one way to accomplish that," said John Lambert, director of public safety.

However, most faculty and staff members are unaware of the new price of their private spots.

"I don't think most people who own those stalls know about it," said James Mitchell, professor of psychology.

Some faculty and staff members who know about the increase are disappointed, but said they will keep their spots.

"I think it's way too high," said Jeri Slagle, the office specialist in the Department of English. "I probably will keep mine, but it'll hurt."

Slagle said her lunch hour was her only break in the day and she needed her spot because parking space is limited.

"I think that there should be less student parking on campus," Slagle said. "They should park over by Bramlage and walk over or be bussed."

Pat Swanigan, an office assistant in the Department of Entomology, said she would keep her spot despite

See PARKING, Page 10

DEADLINES
TO PLACE AN ITEM in the Daily Planner, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to (collegn@ksu.edu) by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

MANAGING EDITOR
MIRANDA KENNEDY
e-mail: (seahors@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
DIGEST
WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 29, 1997

NEED MORE MONEY? FILL OUT THOSE FINANCIAL AID FORMS

▶ K-State's scholarship deadline is Saturday. Pick up applications in the Office of Student Financial Assistance in Fairchild 104. Or apply online at(www.ksu.edu/sfa/application/scholarship_app.html).

▶ 24 HOURS IN REVIEW

These briefs encapsulate the news of the past 24 hours and are from staff reports, wire reports and other news services.

▶ NATION AND WORLD

• LAWYERS FINISH ARGUMENTS FOR SIMPSON CIVIL TRIAL.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — O.J. Simpson's fate was placed in the hands of a jury Tuesday after a final theatrical flourish from an attorney who waved a wad of bills at the football great and accused him of cheapening the lives of the victims.

The jury must decide whether Simpson should be held responsible and made to pay millions for the June 12, 1994, knife slayings of Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman.

It was the same crime Simpson was acquitted of a year and a half ago.

The jury deliberated for two hours Tuesday without reaching a verdict.

They were to return Wednesday.

In his final words to the jury, plaintiff attorney Daniel Petrocelli responded to defense claims that the wrongful death claim was baseless and that anyone can file such a lawsuit by paying a $200 fee.

He took out some bills and waved them in front of Simpson.

"In their zeal to get your verdict, have they become so insensitive to the greatest of human tragedies, the loss of life ... that they tell you it costs $200 to file a lawsuit?" Petrocelli said.

"Mr. Simpson, here's $200. Give ... my client back his son!"

Simpson's lawyer, Robert Baker, rose from his seat and yelled back, "Give it up! Give it up!"

"Give my client back his son and we will march out of here in a heartbeat," Petrocelli raged. Simpson showed no response.

• HOUSING RACIALLY SEGREGATED IN MIDWEST, NORTHEAST CITIES.

WASHINGTON — Older cities in the Northeast and Midwest are now the nation's most racially segregated and will probably stay that way without a Rust Belt revival in construction, says the author of a study on housing patterns.

America's most segregated city as of 1990 was Gary, Ind., according to the report by Reynolds Farley of the University of Michigan.

But city officials were quick to take exception.

Of the 15 most segregated metropolitan areas, 10 were old Midwestern industrial cities, Farley reported.

The least segregated tended to be in the South and the West, led by Jacksonville, N.C.

"The least segregated metropolitan areas are dominated by places where the U.S. armed forces provide the economic base," Farley observed in an article appearing in the February edition of Population Today.

Jacksonville, for example, is near the Marine Corps' Camp LeJeune.

• CHECHEN PRESIDENT ASSERTS REPUBLIC'S INDEPENDENCE.

GROZNY, Russia — The Chechen military commander who negotiated a triumphant peace with Russia emerged the winner Tuesday in the republic's presidential election.

While asserting Chechen independence, he acknowledged he still must convince the rest of the world of it.

Aslan Maskhadov's insistence that Chechnya already has won its freedom is all but certain to bring confrontations with Russia.

But Russia is unlikely to renew its disastrous war against Chechen separatists, and Maskhadov stressed he is willing to negotiate the highly charged issue of his republic's ultimate political status.

Moscow says it will not tolerate secession, and President Boris Yeltsin made clear Tuesday that Chechnya must remain part of Russia.

After a 20-month guerrilla war that led to the humiliating withdrawal of Russian troops, Chechens clearly feel they are in a strong negotiating position.

But Moscow is certain to place political, diplomatic and economic pressure on Chechnya, which can expect a struggle to win recognition from the international community.

▶ DAILY PLANNER

The Daily Planner is the Kansas State Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the planner can be published up to three times. Items may not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to (collegn@ksu.edu) by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

CHECK OUT THESE EVENTS

- The German Club/Kaffeeklatsch will meet at 7 tonight at Espresso Royale Caffe in Aggieville.
- KSU Aikido meets at 7 p.m. every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and at 10 a.m. every Saturday in Ahearn 301, the dance studio.
- The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Curtis Brungardt at 2 p.m. Thursday in Bluemont 257.
- Juniors can pick up applications for Mortar Board Senior Honor Society in the Office of Student Activities and Services. They are due in the OSAS, mailbox 26, by 5 p.m. Thursday.
- Kappa Omicron Nu will have a meeting at 7 Thursday night in Hoffman Lounge in Justin Hall.
- The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Gueorgui Zikratov at 1:30 p.m. Friday in King 004.
- People who are interested in signing up for a beef cook-off should sign up by Friday in Weber 134. The cook-off is sponsored by Collegiate Cattlewomen.
- The Adult Student Services Office will be open from 4:15 to 7:15 p.m. Monday in Bluemont Hall.
- CSP Tutoring will have an orientation meetings for all tutors at 7 Monday night in Union 205.
- The Adult Student Services Office will be open from 3 to 7 p.m. Feb. 4 in the K-State Student Union.

▶ POLICE BLOTTER

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

▶ K-STATE POLICE

- No reports of note were made.

▶ RILEY COUNTY POLICE DEPARTMENT

• MONDAY, JAN. 27

- At 9:47 a.m., Lwanga Bassude was arrested on a warrant for an assault that occurred last week. Bond was set at $300.
- At 12:20 p.m., a past vehicle burglary was reported at 1632 McCain Lane. A compact-disc player and 50 CDs were taken. Loss was estimated at $1,350.
- At 2:41 p.m., Louis T. Crabb, 528 Riley Lane, was arrested on warrants for worthless checks and failure to appear. Total bond was set at $3,200.
- At 2:52 p.m., Angela S. Coggins, 1228 Westloop Place, Apt. 196, was arrested on a warrant for possession of marijuana. Bond was set at $500.
- At 4:14 p.m., Clarence J. McAfee arrested on a warrant for failure to appear. Bond was set at $500.
- At 4:47 p.m., a past vehicle burglary was reported in the 900 block of Thurston Street. A radar detector, a compact-disc player and miscellaneous items were taken. Loss was estimated at $925.
- At 6:47 p.m., Amy Lynn Carmickle, 1432 N. Calhoun St., Apt. 2, Junction City, was arrested on a warrant for worthless checks. Bond was set at $250.
- At 11:04 p.m., a past theft was reported at 1100 Laramie St., Lucky Mac's Liquor. Three counterfeit $20 bills were used to purchase liquor. Loss was estimated to be $21 in liquor and $39 in cash.

▶ CORRECTIONS AND CLARIFICATIONS

In Monday's Collegian, a letter to the editor from Keith Ratzloff, University controller, read incorrectly that 8,090 student schedules were normally dropped every semester. This number should have read 809. The Collegian regrets the error.

▶ HOW TO CONTACT THE COLLEGIAN

• BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Advertising	532-6560
Classifieds	532-6555

• BY E-MAIL
(collegn@ksu.edu)

• ON THE WORLD WIDE WEB
(http://collegian.ksu.edu)

• BY SNAIL MAIL
Kansas State Collegian
116 Kedzie Hall
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

• IN PERSON
The Collegian newsroom office is located in Kedzie 116 (across from the K-State Student Union).

▶ STATEMENT OF PUBLICATION

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.
POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1997

Bake Sale Today!
3 to 5 p.m.
Shellenberger Hall
First Floor

Recreational Services
INTRAMURALS
Basketball
Captain's/Managers' Meeting
Wednesday, January 29
5 p.m., Union, Forum Hall
Basketballl schedules will be distributed at this meeting only.
All Captains/Managers Must Attend!
Recreational Services Office 532-6980

"No Coupon" Specials (NO coupon needed, NONE accepted)
Everyday Two-fers
2 - PIZZAS with
2 - TOPPINGS each
2 - COKES with ice
$9.12
Everyday Three-fers
3 - PIZZAS with
1 - TOPPING each
3 - COKES with ice
$11.23
Prices do not include sales taxes.
Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

ultimate out of class experience
u · p · c
UPC COMMITTEES: ARTS PROMOTIONS • FEATURE FILMS • ECLECTIC ENTERTAINMENT • ISSUES & IDEAS • KALEIDOSCOPE FILMS • MULTICULTURAL • SPECIAL EVENTS • OUTDOOR RECREATION • TRAVEL
UPC 532-6571

LECTURE: TOM RYAN
Presents: Job Market Sold Out
How to get a front row ticket to your career.
Tuesday, Feb. 4 at 7 p.m.
Forum Hall
K-State Student Union UPC Issues & Ideas Committee

Hip Hop Nite
Friday, Jan. 31 10 p.m. — 1 a.m.
FREE
UNION STATION

Distinguished Gentlemen
Three-man acapella group

Thursday, Feb. 13
8 p.m.
Union Station
K-State Student Union UPC Multicultural Committee

CAMP LOGAN
An off-Broadway theatrical drama based on the 1917 court-martial and execution of 19 black soldiers of the 24th infantry.
Tuesday, Feb. 11 — 7:30 p.m.
McCain Auditorium
Cost: $3.50 students, $7 faculty, staff, general public
K-State Student Union UPC Multicultural Committee

INTERNATIONAL COFFEE HOURS
Wednesday, Feb. 5 — 4 p.m.
International Student Center
Stephan Tubene: Zaire and the Mobutu Era: The Past, Present and Future
This speech will concentrate on giving insight into the challenges faced by the people of Zaire.
K-State Student Union UPC Issues & Ideas Committee

Jewell sues newspaper, college for Olympic bombing coverage

ASSOCIATED PRESS

ATLANTA — Richard Jewell sued the Atlanta Journal-Constitution and the college where he once worked as a security guard on Tuesday, accusing them of libeling him in stories linking him to the Olympic bombing.

Jewell's lawsuit, which seeks unspecified damages, accuses the newspapers of portraying him as a man with a bizarre employment history and an aberrant personality who likely was guilty of placing the bomb.

Those stories quoted Piedmont College President Ray Cleere as describing Jewell as a badge-wearing zealot who would write epic police reports for minor infractions, the lawsuit said.

Lin Wood, a lawyer for Jewell, said the lawsuit was the first step in what will be a long and hard-fought battle against a billion-dollar corporation that tried and convicted Jewell for a crime he did not commit.

Journal-Constitution publisher Roger Kintzel on Tuesday defended his newspapers' coverage of the bombing as fair, accurate and responsible.

"Noticeably lacking is any explanation of what is false about what we reported," Kintzel said at a news conference.

The newspapers will fight the lawsuit, he said.

"There has been no discussion of any settlement."

In December, the newspapers refused Jewell's demand to print a retraction to three stories about him while he was a suspect.

Meanwhile, Jewell and his mother settled a complaint against CNN for an undisclosed amount, according to a joint statement issued by CNN and Jewell's lawyers.

"CNN continues to believe that its coverage was a fair and accurate review of the events that unfolded following the Centennial Olympic Park explosion," the Atlanta-based network said in a statement.

Jewell, in an interview Tuesday with Atlanta radio station WGST-AM, said he was very satisfied with the CNN settlement.

"I'm not doing this just for me ...I want them to think about what they did to me and my mother and my attorneys," Jewell said about the lawsuits filed Tuesday. "I want them to get the story 100 percent before they put it out. I'm doing it so this won't happen to anybody else."

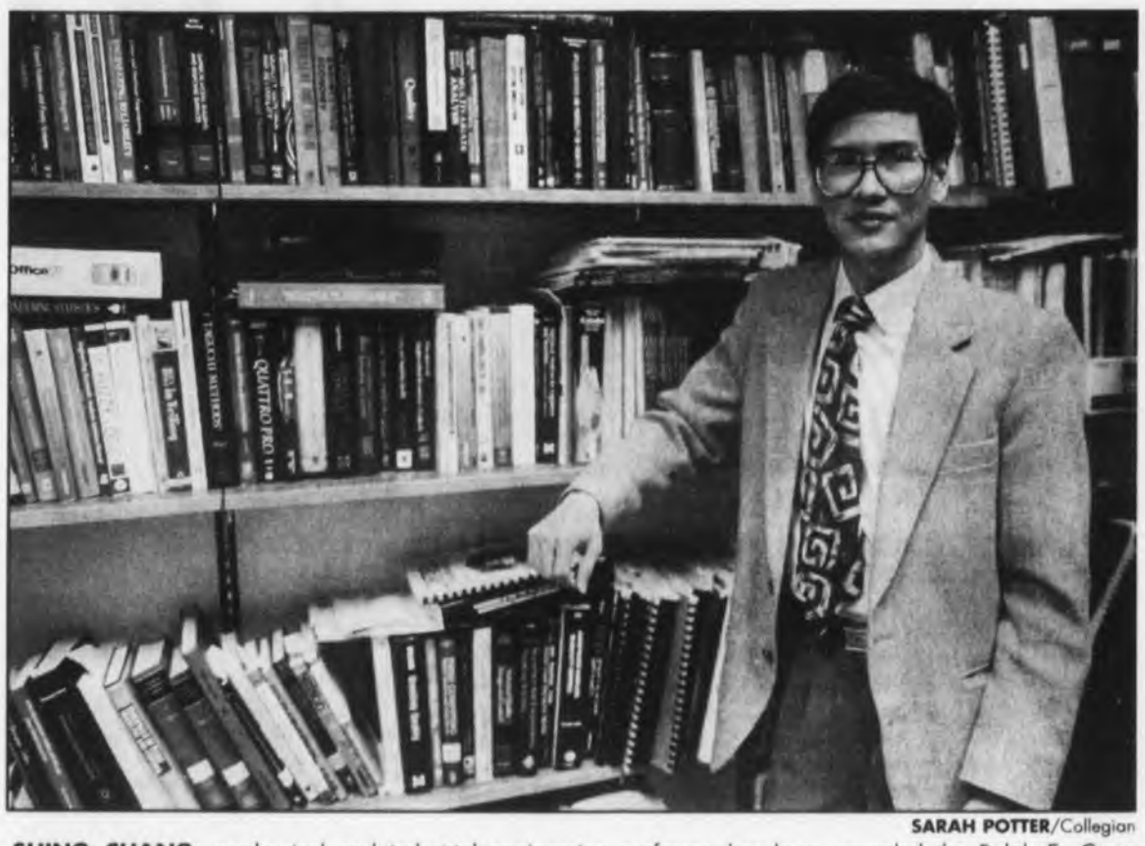
Last month, Jewell reached a settlement with NBC over comments anchorman Tom Brokaw made on the air about Jewell shortly after the bombing. The Wall Street Journal reported the settlement was worth $500,000.

Jewell, 34, was working as a private security guard in Centennial Olympic Park when a pipe bomb exploded before daybreak on July 27, 1996, killing one person and injuring more than 100.

$1.5 million in marijuana seized

ANDREW FRANCIS
city/government editor

A routine traffic stop by a Kansas Highway Patrol officer in Osage County this past Wednesday turned into a drug bust.



The traffic stop prevented the shipment of more than 860 pounds of marijuana from being delivered to drug dealers. The estimated street value of the marijuana is more than $1.5 million.

After stopping the driver of a 1992 Pace Arrow motor home for a traffic violation, the trooper became suspicious when he detected a strong odor of marijuana, Kansas Highway Patrol authorities said.

The trooper asked for and received permission to search the vehicle and discovered the drugs hidden in a compartment within the vehicle.

Two San Diego men, Ted Ozbirn, 63, and James Feldmann, 29, were taken into custody. Both will make their first appearance today in Osage County District Court.

The two men face charges of possession of marijuana with intent to distribute, conspiracy to sell marijuana and drug tax stamp violations.

SARAH POTTER/Collegian

SHING CHANG, mechanical and industrial engineering professor, has been awarded the Ralph E. Cross Outstanding Young Engineer Award from the Society of Manufacturing Engineers.

YOUNG LEADER

Chang honored for engineering research

MATT SPURGIN
staff writer

Shing Chang, mechanical and industrial engineering professor, has been awarded the Ralph E. Cross Outstanding Young Engineer Award from the Society of Manufacturing Engineers.

This award is to honor engineers younger than age 35 who have demonstrated leadership and made significant achievements in the field of manufacturing engineering.

Chang received the award for the new focus he has applied to his classes and his research in quality engineering.

He teaches the statistical quality-control class.

"When I first came to K-State, my first assignment was to teach that course," he said.

Chang said it was a crowded, lecture-style class.

"Sooner or later you will lose your focus. At that time I thought there must be some way you can mix hands-on activities and lectures together," Chang said.

Chang implemented a system in which students test different premanufactured parts and take the data they collect to decide whether the process that produced that part was good or bad.

The students also experiment with designs of cars and catapults figuring for gravity and other factors to make the object perform to its specifications based on their analysis with a tangible object and not just lecture.

He also does research in quality engineering. Chang said the idea behind this research is to prevent defects and problems in manufacturing before the products are made.

"One way to do that is to design it so well ... there is very little chance to mess it up," Chang said.

The second way to prevent problems, and the area Chang is researching, is to monitor the parts right after they are manufactured.

Chang said he is working to automate this process with the use of a computer program that takes the data from the production line and determines if the product is of good quality.

"It also makes an inference back to the process. Our idea is to see if the process is good, not only just the part," Chang said.

Chang will be presented with the award at a Society of Manufacturing Engineering conference May 20-23 in Lincoln, Neb.

Keep up-to-date on national and local news.
Read the Collegian daily.
It's good for you.

CUDDLE UP
SALE
ALL SALE ITEMS
1/2
PRICE
WARM OR SATIN
Patricia's UNDERCOVER Lingerie
OPEN 'TIL 7P.M. TONIGHT
AGGIEVILLE SINCE 1889

JOB OPPORTUNITIES
AT THE ACADEMIC AND CAREER INFORMATION CENTER
for students interested in helping other students starting the Fall semester.
REQUIREMENTS:
✓ Satisfactory academic standing with a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.75
✓ A team worker with good communication skills
✓ Ability to work with minimum supervision
✓ Time commitment of at least eight hours per week
MUST ATTEND ONE INFORMATIONAL MEETING
Mon. Feb. 3, 3:30-4:30 p.m., Holton Room 1
Tues Feb. 4, 6-7 p.m., Holton Room 1
For more information call 532-7494

"K-STATE FANS ARE YOU READY?"
Join Coach Snyder and the Wildcat Football Team
Friday, January 31 at 7:30 p.m.
McCain Auditorium
Awards Ceremony
For Tickets Call: 532-6428
$3 General Admission/$1 Students
Look Back at the most successful season in wildcat history with award presentations and video footage to commemorate a season to remember.

The Williams Companies is looking for talented, dedicated and creative employees to join us in our quest to be among corporate America's top performers. Building on a foundation of impressive growth and success, we are well-positioned to meet this aggressive goal.
THE WILLIAMS COMPANIES, INC.
Where talent meets opportunity
With headquarters in Tulsa, Oklahoma, we are a multi-billion-dollar corporation with operations in 47 states and international locations. Our companies consist of the nation's largest-volume system of interstate natural gas pipelines; business units offering a complete array of traditional and leading-edge energy solutions; and single-source providers of national business communications systems and international satellite and fiber-optic video services.
We offer competitive salaries and benefits, and the prestige of working for a company that plays a key role in shaping the future of the energy and communications industries.
We will be conducting interviews on campus on Wednesday, February 19th. We're looking for students majoring in computer science, and management information systems. Please notify the placement office if you are interested in scheduling an interview.
For more information about our company or job opportunities, visit our Internet site at http://www.twc.com.
THE WILLIAMS COMPANIES, INC.
P.O. Box 2400
Tulsa, Oklahoma 74102

$1 Wash PALACE Washers
INCREDIBLE SAVINGS! Now Receive 50% of drying time absolutely FREE!
• Coin Laundry
• Laundry drop-off service
• Professional dry cleaning & alterations
• Drive-up window and door
• Bargain laundry center w/large capacity washers
• Big screen TV • Pool Table • Snacks
3216 Kimball Ave. • Candlewood • Open 7 a.m. - midnight • 537-9833

OPINION EDITOR
KEVIN KLASSEN
e-mail: (kevkk@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
OPINION
WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 29, 1997

A GUIDE TO SECTIONS OF THE COLLEGIAN OPINION PAGE

▶ COLUMNS are opinions expressed by the columnists. The opinions are not necessarily the opinions of the Collegian.

OUR VIEW is an editorial written by the Collegian Editorial Board. The board meets every day and discusses editorial topics. The editorial is a compilation of those opinions and represents the opinion of the Collegian.

▶ OUR VIEW

What are you doing? Think about helping your community

Riley County United Way needs help.

K-State's contributions to the United Way of Riley County are down, and down in a big way.

Faculty contributions dropped more than $28,000 between 1995 and 1996.

While students might not have the resources to contribute a large amount of cash, the organizations that the United Way help could benefit simply from our time.

But a foregone night in Aggieville could make a nice chunk of change in the hands of someone who really needs it (especially if there are no specials). Heck, brown bag it for lunch one day. If you don't spend money on lunch in the K-State Student Union, you'll have plenty to give.

Agencies like Habitat for Humanity, Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Manhattan, the FONE Crisis Center and the Manhattan Emergency Shelter always need volunteers. Use the two to three hours a week that you don't use for studying (but should) and do something that will make yourself and a few others around you all warm and fuzzy. It's better than sleeping your days away.

Information about these services is not readily available for many students, but all you have to do is ask.

Not knowing where to go is not an excuse. These agencies are listed in the phone book, and the Collegian is running a weekly series on K-State students who take advantage of volunteer opportunities. The stories run every Thursday.

Now that you know opportunities exist, get up and get to it.

The official United Way fundraiser may be over, but it's never too late to give time or money to help someone in need.

Don't rely on the other guy to contribute. Count yourself in before you count on someone else.

It could be you someday.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR IN CHIEF
Kimberly Hefling
MANAGING EDITOR
Miranda Kennedy
NEWS EDITOR
Claudette Riley
PHOTO EDITOR
Steve Hebert
PRESENTATION EDITOR
Scott M. Ladd
COPY CHIEF
Tanya Nisly
OPINION EDITOR
Kevin Klassen
CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
Andrew Francis
CAMPUS EDITOR
Jill Story
SPORTS EDITOR
Jeremy Kelley
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR
Tara Wray
ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
Portia Sisco
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
Jill Jarsulic
INVESTIGATIONS EDITOR
Nicole Kirby
E-COLLEGIAN EDITOR
Kady Guyton
ASSISTANT E-COLLEGIAN EDITOR
Kelly Furnas
OTHER EDITORIAL BOARD MEMBERS
Russell Fortmeyer, senior in architectural engineering

Our View, an editorial selected and debated by a majority of the editorial board, is written by the editorial board after a concensus opinion is reached. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other students. For details on how you can become involved with the editorial board, contact Kevin Klassen, opinion editor.

▶ TOLES

▶ TOLES

In Manhattan, the debate continues regarding the importance and lack of

PUBLIC Art

It's been called a Tootsie Roll by fans.

Or it may be a few links in a complex DNA chain.

Critics could call it a waste of scrap iron.

Just what is Lee Luppers' "Spiral Jade" (1976) in front of Kedzie Hall?

It's one of very few examples of professional public art on campus and in Manhattan.

Progressive cities, or at least cities that wish to appear progressive, have come to realize over the years that public art has its place. It contributes to an overall feeling of pride and community well-being that is becoming more necessary as society fragments into so-called suburbs and cyberzones.

It's hard to imagine Washington, D.C. without its monumental core with which the city is oriented. The same can be said about the Eiffel Tower in Paris or the Gateway Arch in St. Louis.

But, you don't need an internationally recognizable, grand symbol to make public art matter.

Midwesterners might not appreciate public art as much as they should, but it may owe more to a lack of good examples than an ignorance.

Kansas City has included one percent of public building budgets for art projects. The most recent of the grand projects for Kansas City were the skycaps crowning the columns which support the cables for Bartle Hall Convention Center.

While the skycaps do their part to jazz up the otherwise bland convention center, they've hardly proven themselves as something readily embraced by the citizenry. To be entirely successful, it helps if public art is somehow interactive or usable.

People want to experience art, not gaze 500 feet away at tiny metal objects that look like U.F.O.s.

Lately, Wichita has tried to "polish" their cow-town image with their own public art entry.

The city's new "Wind Spirit Gateway," by East Coast artist Robert Roesch, straddles Main Street as it leads into the downtown business district.

It's an ambitious attempt on the city and artist's part, but the sculpture is amazingly underwhelming.

The piece, appearing as bookend ramps which peak near the street with an abstracted fan shape all fronted with very sharp stainless steel pyramidal shapes, is so consumed by the maze of city streets and the overhead Kellogg expressway, its importance is diminished.

The fear I, and some Wichita community members, have is for future accidents. The approximately 20 feet high sculpture almost welcomes skate-boarders and daredevil wannabes to tempt fate with wacky tricks. The sharp pyramids appear ready for their first impaling.

At least, you could say, Wichita has found a need for public art, unlike our dear Manhattan which is content with emblazoning our poor hills with self-referential letters.

> K-State's campus has a near monopoly on public art in Manhattan. But, unlike other campuses, our public art program is not alive.

K-State's campus has a near monopoly on public art in Manhattan. But, unlike other campuses, our public art program is not alive.

Wichita State University maintains one of the best campus art collections in the country, with pieces running the gamut of late 19th century sculptors to contemporary artists.

K-State's collection is mostly comprised of poorly-installed sculpture by former students and professors that was created in the 1950s and 1960s. The art department maintains the most vital sculpture garden (garden may be an exaggeration) near West Stadium, although, barring one or two pieces, it's mostly recent student work.

The reason the West Stadium garden works for Manhattan is that it is a drive-by experience. You can theoretically enjoy the sculptures while cruising by at 35 miles per hour. For most people, this is enough. You can't blame them for not wanting to walk through the highly-exposed and unpleasant garden.

In the coming years, K-State has the opportunity to create more public art possibilities in the new University Gardens project planned for the northwest corner of campus. A few installations of student, faculty or regional work would enhance the planned gardens.

VIEWPOINT

RUSSELL FORTMEYER

RUSSELL FORTMEYER is a senior in architectural engineering. You can e-mail comments to Russell at (rmf@ksu.edu).

However, public art should not be confined to a garden space that would be used for recreational and educational experiences only.

And K-State's public art program should not be confined to creating a sculpture court for the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art. Unlike paintings and crystal, outdoor sculpture can be enjoyed on campus at any time, in any place, under any circumstances.

K-State's sculpture collection should be an everyday experience to refresh overworked minds between classes and research. It should help to define our spaces by incorporating outdoor meeting places and benches, such as what could occur with the K-State Student Union plaza proposal.

It's time for this campus to develop an aggressive program to bring public art back to the landscape.

Opinions need to challenge, enlighten readers

If you say criticism doesn't hurt, you are a liar.

Whether it is a comment about your hair, your job performance or the size of your feet, it is hard to take criticism. It is especially hurtful when it's negative and meant to be personal.

I received a letter Monday via campus mail from a reader upset by my discussion of penises in my column last week. The nicely hand-written letter said the column was the most distasteful thing this person had ever read in the Collegian. The writer also threw in some personal insults for good measure.

Wow, I don't know how long many of you have been reading the Collegian, but to be named the most distasteful thing printed here is indeed an accomplishment. I could never have dreamed I would ever be more offensive than Kevyn Jacobs or Scott Allen Miller.

I don't know who nominated me for this dubious honor. The writer didn't sign a name to the letter. I guess there is security in being anonymous. I don't have that advantage. Anything I put into print has my name and my face attached to it.

All kidding aside, I'm upset. I'm shocked. I'm a little angry. I've considered crying. (It's probably just hormones, I'm usually a pretty tough cookie.) I have received my share of hate mail. I usually take it with a grain of salt.

People used to bitch and moan about Kevyn Jacobs' columns and I always had the same response. You might not like what he writes, you might not like him as person but you are still reading his stuff.

We don't agree with everything every columnist writes, not just Collegian columnists but Rush Limbaugh and all the others. We aren't supposed to.

But that is the reason we read them. We like to be challenged. We would much rather read something that draws some emotion out of us, be it anger or tears, than read something that just sits on the page.

Writing a column is not an easy job. I don't mean to be a whiner. I knew the perks and drawbacks of this job when I took the position four semesters ago. I know myself well enough to know what I write is not always going to be accepted with open arms.

Still, criticism is not easy to accept, no matter what you are doing or where it comes from. It is a fact of life. Positive criticism makes us better workers, better parents and better people overall. Negative criticism tears us down and kills the spirit.

As hard as I try not to take negative criticism personally, it is personal. These columns are a part of me.

Columns are like any other performance art, like acting or music. I give a piece of myself every week. Maybe I should stick to writing impersonal columns about international politics or distant events. Something less personal.

I know everyone's not going like my work. I know everyone is not going to like me. That's OK.

I didn't mean to offend anyone that much. I try to write pieces that amuse and enlighten. I like to make people laugh. Life is too serious.

Maybe I am not doing a good enough job of getting across the humor. Maybe I should just quit.

NO WAY!

I am doing what I have always wanted to do, make people laugh. Laughter connects us together and makes life worth living.

VIEWPOINT

MARY RENEE SMITH

MARY RENEE SMITH is a junior in theatre. You can e-mail your comments to Mary at (mojo@ksu.edu).

So ...This salesperson's driving through the country when he sees a three-legged pig. He decides he has to know about this pig. So he goes up to the farmhouse and knocks on the door. The farmer goes to the door and the salesperson asks, "I was driving by and noticed your remarkable pig. What's the story?"

"Oh, Wilbur? Yeah, he's a pretty special pig. One night while the family was sleeping, a fire started in the back of the house. Wilbur came into the house and woke us all up. That pig saved our lives."

"So he lost his leg in the fire?" the salesperson asked.

"No, no. And there was this other time my youngest boy was trapped under the tractor and Wilbur dug him out with his snout. Saved the boy's life."

"I see, he lost his leg in the tractor accident," the salesperson said.

"No, no," the farmer responded.

"Then how did he lose the leg?" the salesperson asked.

"Well," the farmer responded, "you don't eat a pig like that all at once."

MATT HAWKINS/Collegian

▶ YOUR VIEWS

• To submit a letter

- Visit the Collegian newsroom. Submit letters to Kevin Klassen at Kedzie 116.
- Drop it in the mail. Send letters to Letters to the Editor, c/o Kevin Klassen, Kansas State Collegian, Kedzie 116, Manhattan, KS 66506.
- Send it by e-mail. Our e-mail address is (collegn@spub.ksu.edu).
- Remember this. Letters should be addressed to the editor and include a name, address and phone number. A photo ID will be necessary for hand-delivered letters. No poetry will be accepted. Letters may be edited for length, clarity and grammar.

• READER BELIEVES BASKETBALL COVERAGE TO BE IN POOR TASTE.

Editor,

This is in response to the recent coverage of the K-State men's basketball team, in particular Todd Stewart's column about Manny Dies.

I would like to ask this question: What exactly is trying to be accomplished by these types of columns?

The coverage in last Thursday's paper with the "I'm frustrated and pissed off" quote plastered in large, bold type was, to say the least, in poor taste. It seemed to say, the women's team is winning, why isn't the men's team? This type of journalism is irresponsible and serves no constructive purpose.

It seems to me that when a team is struggling, the last thing a university paper should do is promote hostile feelings toward the team by turning a coach's quote into a letterhead banner for the sports page.

I don't blame coach Tom Asbury for saying this because it was the way he felt. But a journalist should be responsible enough to know what to write up and what not to. My same feelings go toward Stewart's column. A personal attack on a player is immature and, again, irresponsible.

Ranting and raving of this sort has no place in the University paper.

What we should do is support the team and serve our part in making our basketball team successful. Personal attacks and questionable journalism can only demoralize a team, especially a team who is struggling. So come on people, let's clean it up.

Ryan Beisner
junior in radio-TV broadcast

• STUDENT EMBARRASSED BY ATTACK ON DIES, FINDS COLUMN JUVENILE.

Editor,

This is in regards to the personal attack on Manny Dies in Todd Stewart's column in the Collegian Monday. As a senior at K-State, I am trying to remember a more juvenile column than this piece of journalistic trash.

It is also embarrassing and infuriating for me, as a student, to have one of my fellow students attacked with the news medium, which I helped fund. Is there so little to report about the University's numerous sports programs that the only thing Stewart can think of to do is act like a whiny little jerk?

It seems to me that the lack of talent which Stewart is so quick to attribute to Dies is Stewart's problem as well. It takes talent to report news with decency. To express one's opinions with a measure of respect and professionalism requires some ability as well. I saw none of this in Stewart's column. As a matter of fact, I have never seen it in any of the columns that he has written.

As many fans who have watched the men's basketball team play this year will agree, Dies' play has improved over the course of the season. Too bad we can't say that about Stewart's ability over the past year to write worthwhile sports columns.

I challenge Stewart to demonstrate something beyond prepubescence and show some respect for Dies and the human being, not punching bag, that he is. I believe that at least an apology is in order.

Dies, I'm one K-Stater who's glad you stayed and enjoys watching you and the team play game after game. Don't let the idiotic ramblings of one person ruin your time here at K-State.

Tim Collins
senior in business administration

• COLUMNIST LACKS KNOWLEDGE ACCORDING TO ALUMNUS.

Editor,

Where did the Collegian find sports columnist Todd Stewart? It is obvious that he has no knowledge of NCAA Division I basketball. Although all K-State basketball fans would love to see Manny Dies have a real breakout, any semi-knowledgeable fan of the game recognizes that he has steadily improved, especially defensively.

As for Stewart playing one-on-one with Dies, say something else to make me laugh. I really hope that this guy was being facetious! Dies would school this skinny kid from Overland Park and then some. I'd like to watch just for the laughs.

I'm not sure why I have spent the time to respond to the ridiculous statements that this basketball expert, in his own mind, made in his column, other than to say that uninformed statements such as his completely destroy the integrity of the Collegian.

I challenge the Collegian to find writers and editorialists that have minimal knowledge levels in both journalism and in the area in which they write.

Greg Krotz
1985 K-State graduate

• STUDENT SUGGESTS NEED FOR ART GALLERY IN EXPANDED UNION.

Editor,

Art or no art should not be a question on a college campus trying to update and beautify its student union. Shame on you, Patrick Carney, for being "not primarily concerned with student gallery space" or "academic concerns." If you are not concerned with students or academics, maybe being chairman of the Union Governing Board is not your niche.

You want to bring national shows to the K-State Student Union. We already have the beautiful Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art for that very reason: national touring shows. Why would you try to bleed funds twice to do the same thing? Use the gallery in the new Union for our talented students we are proud to have here at K-State!

Now you are working to either find other campus space for student work or squeezing art, architecture and the library into one shared space at Farrell Library. Farrell is a library that has not been designed to accommodate art or architecture. Give each the home they deserve and stop shuffling them about like they don't belong here on campus.

Art students deserve a gallery in our future Union, and the rest of the students deserve to be able to enjoy a gallery in our future Union. Students are here to learn, experience and expand their minds. Taking away the art and commercializing our Union does not broaden our University experience — it narrows it.

The Union belongs to the students. I suggest stopping to think what would benefit the students and K-State, not a council. We are lucky K-State has the funds to plan to update, redesign and modernize the Union.

With the Wildcat spirit in mind, strive to make it the best for our future Wildcats and keep the student art gallery!

Tracy Tapp
sophomore interior design

• TEAM RESPONSIBLE FOR RECORD, NOT JUST INDIVIDUAL PLAYERS.

Editor,

We are writing in response to Todd Stewart's column in the Jan. 27 Collegian.

We feel Stewart was out of line in singling out one particular player on the K-State men's basketball team for the problems on the team. In our opinion, one player is not responsible for the team's problems. The whole team, 12 players plus coaches, is responsible for the record.

It is unfair to say that Manny Dies is the sole reason for the problems of the basketball team. The problem might be that the fans do not support the team no matter what happens.

I have seen many people, both students and alumni, who leave a close game early just so they do not have to fight the crowd out of the parking lot. We feel sorry for those people who are leaving because they are missing a good basketball team play a game they love.

Yes, the team is having a hard time winning games this season, but there was a time not too long ago when UCLA had a hard time winning games. At one time the football team had a hard time winning games, but now no one would think of leaving a game early.

As for Dies being the worst player in the history of college basketball, we will take him over you, Stewart, because he is out on the court working his tail off. We would like to see you out on the court playing Dies' position against the likes of Scot Pollard and Kelvin Cato.

If you honestly think you can play his position, go talk to Coach Tom Asbury and see if he will give you a scholarship. Stewart, did you read Dies' line from Saturday's game?

He was 3-5 from the floor, 2-2 from the line, had four rebounds and only one turnover in 22 minutes of play. To us, that seems like a very good player.

Justin M. Webb
junior in accounting

Blaine R. Voth
senior in speech communications

• FORMER COLLEGIAN SPORTS EDITORS GIVE INSIDER'S POINT OF VIEW.

Editor,

As former Collegian sports editors, we felt it necessary to provide an insider's point of view explaining why Todd Stewart's column Monday should never have been published.

First and most important, it was factually incorrect or uninformed in a number of ways. It is obvious to any observer that Dies is not the worst player in the history of college basketball, or of NCAA Division I or of K-State. Nor is he anywhere close to the worst. And while the use of hyperbole to prove a point is often effective, we question both the point being made and the effect intended.

Was the column supposed to make the coaching staff release Dies or cut his playing time?

Surely Coach Tom Asbury has ignored advice from far more informed critics than Stewart. Was it intended to make Dies angry and motivate him to better performances? It might have accomplished the first part, but we have our doubts about the second.

It is also ridiculous for Stewart to accuse Dies of being uncoachable — and, by all accounts, far from being true. Other than last year's failed attempt to make Dies a small forward, what could possibly be the motive for such an accusation? And, that was a coaching decision that was not in line with Dies' natural talents, not a failure to accept coaching on Dies' part. After Asbury and his staff realized that was not Dies' game, they moved him back inside and his production improved immediately and considerably.

Stewart's challenge of a game of one-on-one for Dies' scholarship goes beyond the realm of the absurd into the realm of the insulting.

We question the decision that allowed this column to run.

No, it's not libelous. But the Co'!egian has edited or held copy before simply on the basis that it was incomplete (unresearched or ill-informed), inappropriate (use of language or tone) or simply not fit for print.

This column fits all three categories and would never have seen the page at any other paper in the state. Even our tongue-in-cheek pot-shots at the University of Kansas during football season were never this brutal or personal.

Journalists, both student and professional, make mistakes. We made our fair share in our days at the Collegian, and will likely continue throughout our professional careers. But true professionalism means owning up to those mistakes. Stewart should apologize to Dies for writing the column, and the editorial board should apologize for putting it in print.

Dan Lewerenz
fall 1995 Collegian sports editor

Shana Newell
spring, summer, fall 1996 Collegian sports editor

• READER FINDS COLUMN BIASED, URGES STUDENTS TO SUPPORT TEAM.

Editor,

I really believed you would have learned a lesson in taste after the Chris Avila story. However, after Todd Stewart's column on Manny Dies, I see that you must crave all the negative response. True, the Cats are going through a tough time right now, but it is not because of Dies, or any one player, for that matter.

I respect Stewart's opinion that Dies is not a good player, because there are many people who believe that certain athletes are not worthy of college play. This does not, however, give him or the Collegian staff the right to print an entire article that does nothing but bash a player.

I did not see coaching or anything near it listed as his major. Coach Tom Asbury has more coaching skills than Stewart will likely ever possess and makes his decisions based on knowledge, not contempt, as it is evident Stewart does.

This column is, in fact, so biased that it sounds almost as if Dies stole Stewart's place on the basketball team. But we all know that is not true.

If we want the Cats to improve in future games, we should support them, not point fingers at any one player. Our record has nothing to do with Dies — only with the entire team.

It is obvious that we have great potential for success after the near upset of the No. 1 team in the nation (whether or not the University of Kansas played well is not an issue.).

If Stewart played on a basketball team, which he must have because he believes he can play better than Dies, he would know it takes positive energy, fan support, but most of all, a close-knit team to win ball games. Stewart has done nothing else in these articles than try to destroy all of these.

So, for the rest of you students out there who are true fans, go to the games and support Dies and the rest of the guys. Support the team, because that's what they are, and not one individual can create a win or loss for any team.

Angela (Nikki) Howard freshman in family life and community services

Optical Perspectives
Eyeglasses as low as $59
Some restrictions apply
Repairs and free adjustments.
300 Poyntz • Downtown • 539-5105
2439 Claflin • Medical Center • 539-2555
We fill your hometown doctor's prescription.

Multi-Engine Flight Training
• Twin Comanche w/HSI, RMI, GPS
• 6,500-Hour ATP Instructor
• Reasonable Rates
• Hugh Irvin
539-3128

RUGBY
PLAYERS WANTED!
NO EXPERIENCE NECESSARY
INFORMATIONAL MEETING
WEDNESDAY, JAN. 29, 7 p.m.
UNION ROOM 206
CONTACT:
SCOTT CONORST 776-8348

Dilly's Deli
Try our nightly specials!
75¢ off Bowl of Soup
Exp. 2/12/97
1219 Bluemont • Aggieville

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Cali... appointm...
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

$1 ANYTHING
Let's Get Blotto !
SCOREBOARD Sports Bar
Premiums Bottles
Shots Draws
Wells Zim
Cans Etc.
$1 burgers and basket of ..., tots or onion rings!
...Moro* Keno Ticke... Available 776-7714

1996 mccain 1997
Count Basie Orchestra and The New York Voices
Back by popular demand! The boppingest big band swings back through town with the exciting vocals of The New York Voices. This special event is presented in conjunction with the KSU Jazz Festival.
Public: $25; Senior: $23; Student/Child: $12.50.
Saturday, February 1, 8 p.m.

Wolfgang Holzmair, baritone*
This remarkable artist is in such demand that his concert postponed from 1995 could be rescheduled only now. A 1996 Grammy nominee and an exclusive Philips recording artist who has a loyal following among those who know him from CDs, Holzmair has thrilled audiences at Covent Garden and La Scala. For McCain he sings an all-Schubert program to celebrate the composer's 200th birthday.
Public: $16; Senior: $14; Student/Child: $8.
Sunday, February 9, 3 p.m.

Winnie the Pooh*
Cleveland Signstage Theatre
Isn't it time to refresh your memories of Christopher Robin, Pooh and all their friends in the Hundred Acre Wood? Share an adventure with your family when CST brings A. A. Milne's lovable menagerie to life in sign language and words.
Corporate sponsor: Mercy Health Center of Manhattan
Public: $12; Senior: $10; Student/Child: $6.
Sunday, February 16, 3 p.m.

Call 532-6428 or come to the McCain box office.
Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. VISA and MC accepted. Tickets also available at the usual outlets.
Kansas State Bank ... free bus service to series events for patrons 55 years or older. For ... call 587-4000, 9 to 5 p.m. weekdays.
Persons with disabilities may call 532-6428 for accessibility information.
*Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency.
Events in the McCain Performance Series are supported by the K-State Fine Arts Fee.
All dates and artists subject to change without notice.

SPORTS EDITOR
JEREMY KELLEY
e-mail: (weasal1@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
SPORTS
WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 29, 1997

FOOTBALL PLAYERS HONORED BY COTTON BOWL AT HALFTIME

▶ The K-State football team will be honored by the Southwestern Bell Cotton Bowl at halftime of the men's game tonight. Also, selected players will be in the concourse, before the game, signing autographs

Conference sleepers will sneak into Big Dance

So here we are, smack-dab in the middle of NCAA basketball season, the perfect time to offer my smatterings and predictions for the unraveling future.

• At Monday's press conference, K-State Coach Tom Asbury openly talked about Colorado phenom Chauncey Billups, saying he was an excellent player and that he will get his in tonight's 7 o'clock tipoff.

VIEWPOINT

JEREMY KELLEY

JEREMY KELLEY is a sophomore in print journalism. You can e-mail your comments to Jeremy at (weasal1@ksu.edu).

Furthermore, Asbury said Billups was the second-best player to come out of George Washington High School in Denver. Asbury was a prep standout at Washington early in the 1960s and earned varsity letters in basketball, football and track.

Look for Billups to show the Cats the numbers he put up against Kansas last Sunday. After K-State takes the first half double-digit lead, count on this silky smooth sophomore to bust loose from behind the arc. K-State will hang with the 18th-ranked Buffaloes and end this ugly array of losses by toppling Colorado by six, 68-62.

• Is Kansas beatable? You bet, and without Kansas center Scot Pollard it will happen tonight against Tech. KU's first season loss will come at Texas Tech tonight in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum. Tech has lost just one game at home since the 1993-94 season where they were dealt an 88-89 setback courtesy of Texas A&M. Tech's one loss in that span came this year against Colorado. Tech's Tony Battie will overpower Raef LaFrentz to record the upset.

• My predictions for Final Four teams: Kansas, Wake Forest, Kentucky and the sleeper in Ohio — Cincinatti. KU will meet Wake in the championship game and it will be the battle of the two centers. Scot Pollard, with his lamb chops and painted fingernails, will have his way with Tim Duncan and Wake Forest and the Jayhawks will return the NCAA championship trophy to Lawrence. Beware of The Phog! Kansas will lose two games this year, tonight against Texas Tech and then they will drop the Big 12 championship game to Iowa State.

• The most-overrated award should go to the Clemson Tigers, who were recently ranked second in the nation but then were slapped silly by North Carolina. Sure, Clemson upset the Tarheels last year in the ACC tournament, but the Tarheels avenged the loss with a 61-48 setback. The Tigers also lost to the then second-ranked Wake Forest Demon Deacons, and are now 16-3 on the season and going straight to the bottom of the polls. Clemson has gone from the top to the bottom in a matter of a couple of games.

• My picks for the first team All-Big 12: the Jayhawks will again dominate, sporting three players: guard Jacque Vaughn; forward Paul Pierce, who edges out highly favored Texas guard Reggie Freeman; and forward LaFrentz, who will edge out teammate Pollard, out a month nursing his foot injury. The other two spots belong to that tandem down south — Battie and guard Cory Carr.

• Under the guidance of Asbury and Marcus McCollough, K-State will return to the NCAA tournament. McCollough, the apparent savior, will redirect the Cats in the right direction. K-State will go 8-2 in their next 10 games, suffering losses only to Kansas in Allen Fieldhouse and at Colorado. After a shocking performance in the the Big 12 tourney, losing to eventual champion Iowa State in the semi-final, the Cats will be the lame-duck in the north and receive a 13th-seed in the big show. It sounds real iffy now, but Mark Young will average 20-plus points over the next 10 games and be named to the Big 12 all-tournament team before getting into the big dance.

• Oh, by the way, don't be too surprised if either Iowa State or Texas Tech makes it deep into the NCAA tournament. It seems as if it's old hat for a representative from the Big 12 conference (or the Big 8) to be the sleeper in the tournament. My bet is that it will be the team with he best 1-2 punch in the Big 12 — Texas Tech.

Yeah, it all sounds kooky, but it's part of college basketball.

BUFFALO STANCE

Cats look for turnaround against No. 18 Colorado

JEREMY KELLEY
sports editor

Most call it basketball season.

But for K-State, it seems every time out is like a bland, overplayed cable rerun.

The Wildcats hopefully can turn off the sitcom and turnaround its basketball team when they face the 18th-ranked Colorado Buffaloes tonight at Bramlage Coliseum.

Colorado (15-4, 6-1) slipped into the Top 25 after surprising victories over Texas Tech and Iowa State. The Buffs defeated the then eighth-ranked Cyclones 70-45.

Colorado head coach Ricardo Patton said that, despite K-State's place in the Big 12, they were not going to overlook the Cats.

"I expect we'll see a really good Kansas State team, so we best be prepared," Patton said. "We don't have a team who is talented enough to go into anybody's arena and think we can win."

Patton said K-State's size in the middle will present a problem for the Buffaloes, whose center Charlie Melvin, is the Colorado's biggest man at 6 feet 10 inches.

"Gerald Eaker is a big kid who poses some real problems," Patton said. "We've been undersized all year long against Big 12 opponents, and they've got some guys in the middle that are a little bigger than our Fred Edmonds and Ronnie DeGray."

The Cats face another premiere player in the Big 12 in guard Chauncey Billups, who is averaging 18.4 points per game. Billups is coming off a 23-point outburst against No. 1-ranked Kansas Sunday which the Buffaloes lost, 77-68.

"He's maturing as a player this year," Coach Tom Asbury said. "We'll change things a bit to make sure he sees more people and to make sure we keep fresh troops on him. But, he'll get his."

Asbury said Colorado had great depth, which could help them as the ballgame wears old.

"They're real athletic. They play 10 guys 11 or more minutes," he said. "They get a life from their bench. The key to the game will be just handling their pressure."

K-State has lost seven straight games, the Cats' worst losing skid since the 1982-83 Jack Hartman campaign.

A usually outspoken Asbury has remained quiet in the last couple of weeks, but said his team has been in those games when it came down to the wire.

"We're 0-6, but that's five games that we have been right in — five games we had had control over the effect at the end of the game," Asbury said. "I'm not saying we should be 5-1, but we could be 5-1."

Asbury said he hopes the skid will end soon, but there wasn't a magical potion he could concoct to end the losing streak.

"There's no way of knowing. There isn't a magic button. You just have to play your way through it and get to the next game against your next opponent and hope you win the game," Asbury said.

BRANDON WHITE/Collegian

AYOME MAY and Marcus McCollough try to reach over Nebraska's Cookie Belcher for a rebound during first-half action at the Bob Devaney Center Jan. 15.

Cats could make statement with win against Buffs

SUN DEE MILLS
staff reporter

Coach Deb Patterson takes her women to Colorado tonight to play the Buffaloes, who are 5-2 in the Big 12.

Both the Wildcats and the Buffaloes are on the brink of making important statements about their respective ball clubs.

"Colorado is poised to make a statement about who they are," Patterson said. "It feels like they're capable of taking the league by the tail. They have to look at us as a must-win."

The Buffs beat Iowa State by two in double overtime, a team the Cats beat 62-54 this past Wednesday. However, the Buffs played Big 12 No. 2-ranked Kansas in Lawrence this past Saturday, losing by three.

"I don't know that anybody goes to Colorado and plays them at home, expecting to pull out a victory," Patterson said. "I think that we just have to go in there with the mentality to compete."

The Cats have to figure out a way to defend Buffs forwards Erin Scholz, who stands 6 feet 3 inches, and Reagan Scott, 6 feet 4 inches. Scholz was the 1996 Big 8 Tournament Most Valuable Player, and averages 16 points and 9 rebounds a game this season. Scott has blocked 20 shots to date, and averages 10 points and 7 boards a game.

"Both A.J. (Andria Jones) and Angie (Finkes) need to step up," Patterson said. "We're looking for A.J. to get her perimeter and inside shots to fall."

The Buffs list eight players who play an average of 20 minutes a game. Patterson said she would like to extend Colorado's talent while keeping them away from the free-throw line.

"It would be tremendous to be in a position to force Colorado to go deep down their bench," she said. "We are not a deep ball club. We have to be concerned about foul trouble. We are only playing six or seven deep with quality minutes."

Because of scheduling, the Cats have had to play top Big 12 teams Kansas and Texas Tech on the road. Patterson said Colorado fits into that category.

"Colorado is definitely a team in the top echelon in the league," she said. "We have played the upper-echelon teams on the road. We have to measure road games on a day-to-

See WOMEN Page 10

K-STATE'S Brit Jacobson struggles to gain possession of a loose ball Saturday night at Bramlage Coliseum. K-State defeated Texas A&M 73-61.

BRANDON WHITE
Collegian

Cats successful early in battle for recruits

SHANE MCCORMICK
sports writer

Although the K-State Wildcats football season is over, the battles with other colleges still continue.

The name of the game is recruiting, and it has become a heated battle off the playing field. K-State is enjoying some success early in the battle, receiving 18 verbal commitments from players.

Two of the Cats' recruits will come with all-America status. Linebackers Monty Beisel and Ben Leber have been named to this year's "Parade All-America High School Football Team." Beisel is a 6'4", 240-pound linebacker from Douglass, Kan. Leber is a 6'3", 225-pound linebacker from Vermillion, S.D.

The Cats seemed to have won the recruiting battles in the state of Oklahoma, grabbing five recruits from the state. Another blue-chip recruit reversed his decision to play at Oklahoma and committed to the Cats.

Jeff Kelly, a 6'3", 240-pound junior college all-America linebacker from Garden City Community College, had verbally committed to Oklahoma. But recently, Kelly changed his mind and decided to turn to the Cats.

Kelly originally backed off his commitment to the Wildcats a couple of weeks ago and pledged to OU. He then dropped out of Garden City and enrolled at Northeastern Oklahoma A&M in Miami, Okla. After one day there, Kelly returned to Garden City and finally committed to the Wildcats for good — at least they hope he did.

The Cats also dipped into Oklahoma to grab offensive lineman Devane Robinson. Robinson is 6 feet 4 inches and 260 pounds. He is labeled one of the three top prospects in Oklahoma this season. During his senior season, Robinson only allowed one sack and recorded 137 tackles and seven sacks on defense.

The Cats also looked to fill the departure of all-America Kevin Lockett, grabbing five wide receivers in the recruiting process. Cat fans can still expect to see the Lockett name on the playing field. Kevin Lockett's younger brother, Aaron, who is 5 feet 9 inches and 155 pounds, told Cat coaches he will be a Wildcat.

The Cats were also able to grab some size at the wide-receiver position, grabbing Valley Center receiver Brandon Clark. Clark is a 6'5", 205-pound receiver who has been a prep star while at Valley Center. Clark was also recruited by Nebraska, Tennessee, Oklahoma and Kansas. But after a few visits to K-State during the season, Clark made up his mind.

"After visiting with them, I knew that K-State was a first-class program with a tremendous head coach and great tradition," Clark said. "I like that they throw the ball a lot in their offense. I just want to be a part of that atmosphere."

Clark said K-State coaches have talked to him about possibly redshirting next season.

"They kind of left it up to me," Clark said. "I'm going to come and work out with the team during the summer. I'll evaluate what kind of role I would be playing and make my decision from that."

The Cats have also looked to fill the departure of their top four defensive backs with three commitments from cornerbacks.

Two recent commitments have come from Milton

See RECRUITS, Page 10

K-State verbal commitments

Name	Pos.	Hgt.	Wgt.	School
John Robertson	DL	6-6	255	Olathe East
Monty Beisel	DE	6-4	240	Douglass
Jerametrius Butler	DB	6-0	170	Dallas Carter, Texas
Julius McMillian	WR	5-11	170	Altus, Okla.
Aaron Lockett	WR-DB	5-9	155	Tulsa (Okla.) Washington
Brandon Clark	WR	6-5	205	Valley Center
Andy Eby	OL	6-4	250	Olathe East
Ahmed Kabba	WR	6-2	190	Moore Westmore, Okla.
Ben Leber	RB-LB	6-3	225	Vermillion, S. D.
Michael Bishop	QB	6-3	195	Blinn CC, Texas
Everett Burnett	WR	6-3	195	Kemper Military CC, Mo.
Jeff Kelly	LB	6-3	240	Garden City CC
Nialijah McCoy	DT	6-4	275	Dodge City CC
Darnell McDonald	WR	6-3	185	Garden City CC
Celhus Scott	SS	6-2	190	Garden City CC
Devane Robinson	OL	6-4	260	Midwest City, Okla.
Milton Proctor	CB	6-2	190	Hazelwood Central
Keith Black	CB	5-10	180	Kansas City, Kan. CC

DAN HOLMGREN/Collegian

A&E EDITOR
PORTIA SISCO
e-mail: (andra@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
HEALTH & SEX
WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 29, 1997

GET YOUR DANCING SHOES DUSTED OFF AND DANCE IT UP

▶ K-State Dance department will hold open auditions Thursday at 5:30 p.m. in Ahearn 304. No preparation is necessary. For more information, call 532-6887.

▶ ART BRIEFS

"Singin' in the Rain," part of the 1997 McCain performance series, has been canceled. The company was accidentally double-booked, which forced it to cancel the McCain performance scheduled for Feb. 28. The procedures for ticket refunds have not yet been determined. Patrons who have already bought tickets can expect a letter soon with refund options.

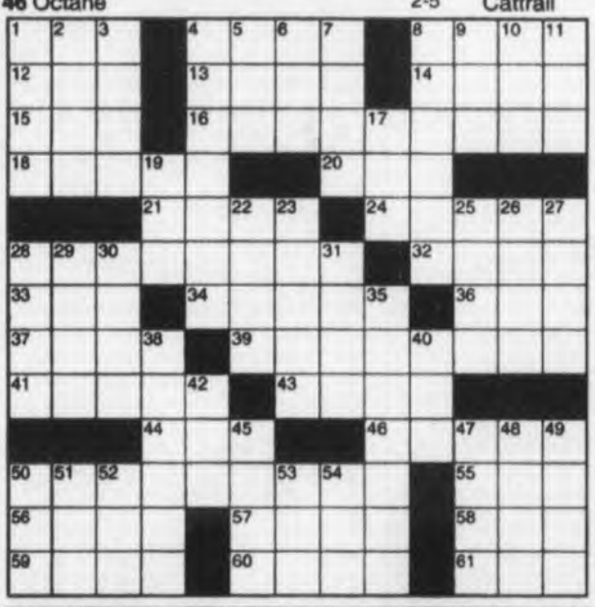
The 1997 K-State Jazz Festival Kick-Off Party will begin at 11:30 a.m. today at Manhattan Center for the Arts, 1520 Poyntz Ave. The K-State Jazz Quartet will perform in support of Dennis Wilson and the jazz festival.

Union Program Council Kaleidoscope Films will present "Trainspotting," based on a novel by Irvine Welsh, at 7 and 9 p.m. Thursday, and at 9:30 p.m. Saturday in Forum Hall. Admission is $1.75.

UPC Feature Films will present "Mystery Science Theatre 3000: The Movie" at 7 and 9:30 p.m. on Friday, 7 p.m. on Saturday. Admission is $1.75. It will also show at 8 p.m. on Sunday. Admission is $1.

▶ DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 Humongous
4 Bruce's missus
8 Hideaway
12 Dream Team logo
13 Film director Reitman
14 Verdi opera
15 Weir
16 "Brave-heart" star
18 Nerd
20 Lamb's dam
21 Simoleon
24 It's all some gardeners grow
28 Bugs' voice
32 Fast-food beverage
33 Man-mouse link
34 Baa-ed word?
36 Half of CIV
37 Favor one leg
39 "How about that" announcer
41 One to shun, long ago
43 Take out
44 Annoy
46 Octane
50 "Blazing Saddles" director
55 9mm sub-machine gun
56 Exam format
57 Legal document
58 Carpentry tool
59 Beckon on the PA system
60 Captain of the Nautilus
61 Numerical prefix



DOWN
1 Captain Vere's foretopman
2 "— Mom-my Kissing Santa Claus"
3 Ready for action
4 Foolish sort
5 She raised Cain
6 — de mer
7 "Bus Stop" playwright
8 Classifies
9 Unaus' kin
10 Bachelor's last words
11 Ske-daddled
17 — Jima
19 Decline
22 Tranquil
23 Poked patellarly
25 Sweetheart
26 Actress McClurg
27 Problem at Game 1, 1996 World Series
28 Gangster's gal
29 Pennsyl-vania port
30 Genie's home
31 Race driver Yarborough
35 Addresses
38 Little rock
40 Spy novelist Deighton
42 Capek play
45 Commence-ment wear
47 Eject
48 Despot
49 Chinese gooseberry
50 Swab
51 History chapter
52 Trail the pack
53 Raw rock
54 Actress Cattrall

Solution time: 28 mins.

L	I	P	S		P	A	A	R		C	A	P
A	T	O	P		A	L	M	A		O	V	A
C	O	M	E	A	G	A	I	N		M	I	S
			C	H	E	W		S	E	E	D	S
J	A	C	K	S			L	A	R	A
A	D	O	S		B	R	A	C	E	L	E	T
R	A	M		T	R	U	N	K		I	V	Y
S	M	E	A	R	I	N	G		E	V	E	N
		C	L	E	M			P	A	E	S	E
C	A	L	L	A		A	M	O	R
A	C	E		C	O	M	E	O	F	F	I	T
B	R	A		L	I	E	S		U	R	G	E
S	E	N		E	L	S	A		L	O	O	N

Yesterday's answer

2-5

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873! 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

2-5

CRYPTOQUIP

D C F B V J J Q F Y X A , E C X Q Y V Z W F B B V V - K X O V C J V X C Y Q Y W F K V X Y Z A F E J F B D V C O J .

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: I HEAR THAT SMART CRIMINALS DO GENERALLY GET SENTENCED TO YALE TERMS.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: A equals L

▶ MELVIN VS. THE WORLD

Let's talk about sex

psychology of sexual behavior offers educational opportunites

STORY BY CHARLE SIOUX CHARLETON • ILLUSTRATION BY MATT HAWKINS

When William Griffitt began teaching the Psychology of Sexual Behavior class in 1971, he wasn't sure what he could get away with.

"I started teaching it at a small level, not knowing exactly how it might go," Griffitt said. "We did not have classes like that, so I introduced it in a small seminar."

Griffitt said he wanted to get his act together and figure out what to include in the class. He said he was not certain what would be tolerated by the administration.

More than 25 years later, he's still teaching the class to as many as 250 students each fall and spring. This spring, Griffitt said the class seems small with only about 150 students.

"I get students from every discipline — agriculture, engineering, a lot from the College of Arts and Sciences — just about everybody," Griffitt said. "I know it fulfills a social science requirement."

Griffitt said there is some research published indicating what one might think of as a liberalization of sexual attitudes when students take a class like his.

In fact, it was research that led him to teach the class. Initially doing research on pornography, Griffitt realized there was little research in the field of human sexuality.

"Initially, I looked at the differences between the way the sexes reacted to pornography," he said.

Griffitt's psychology background is in interpersonal and social relationships, but his major professor from graduate school served on Lyndon Johnson's Commission on Obscenity and Pornography. He encouraged Griffitt to start doing research.

"Even those of us who research it and those of us who teach it don't know everything," Griffitt said.

When he first started teaching the course, there was only one undergraduate textbook devoted to human sexuality. Griffitt said he did not like the book, but it was good at that time.

His own textbook for the class evolved because no one else was saying anything from a psychological point.

"I started writing the book after teaching the class. It took quite a while for the book to be published," Griffitt said. "It was the first college-level textbook to have the word AIDS in it. At first I did not know much about AIDS at all."

AIDS is just one subject Griffitt added as his class developed over the years.

Griffitt said he used to give a test on knowledge at the beginning of the semester, hoping by the end of the semester students would have more knowledge. Now, because of talk shows, a lot of things are in the public view. But much of it, like transsexualism, is sensationalized.

"A lot of people who are transsexuals you would never know. They live very quiet lives," he said.

While he does cover a wide range of topics in the class, including transsexuals, transvestites and homosexuals, Griffitt said the purpose of the class is not to convert people, but to inform them.

Griffitt has three goals when he teaches the class. First he wants to help students be able to make sense of all the stuff they are exposed to by the media. He wants them to be able to tell the difference between research and opinion.

Secondly, he wants students to become familiarized with anatomy, physiology and psychology as they relate to sexuality.

Finally, he wants students to recognize the fact that people are different.

"Something I like, some other person does not. Tolerance is important," he said.

During the past 20 or 30 years, polls show consistently that 80 percent of the American people think homosexuality is abnormal, sinful and immoral. The more flamboyant gays on talk shows are the ones who fit the way people think all gays are, he said.

"We tend to have a distorted view of the lives of gay people and what they are all about," Griffitt said. "One of the things I've discovered is that males are much more upset than females by homosexual behaviors. I used to show films but male students would get angry. I don't show those films any more."

See SEX, Page 10

Star power detracts from 'In Love and War'

RUSSELL FORTMEYER
senior staff writer

There are two things remarkably wrong with the movie "In Love and War."

Chris O'Donnell and Sandra Bullock.

It's unfortunate too, because the two are the lead characters in the attempt-at-romance, true story of the relationship between 18-year-old Ernest Hemingway and a 26-year-old American Red Cross nurse, Agnes Von Kurowsky, in World War I Italy. The experience was later told in Hemingway's "A Farewell To Arms."

Movie Review

There's no reason this immensely romantic story should be anything but a romance. However, in the hands of director Richard Attenborough ("Gandhi," "Chaplin"), what could have been isn't.

After the two find love in Italy, young Hemingway returns to the States as a hero. He was the first American injury as a Red Cross volunteer on the Italian front.

He waits patiently for his love to return to him for marriage. When she prefers an Italian doctor to him, he withdraws to a Michigan lakeside cabin to begin his writing career — an emotionally spent person.

You can gather from what we know of Hemingway (brilliant writing career, four wives and finally committing suicide in 1961), the rejection probably intensified his depressive qualities, but again the film barely touches on the issue.

Rather, "In Love and War" is a passionless film vehicle for two hot Hollywood stars. Neither O'Donnell nor Bullock can muster the complex emotions these characters require. The second-rate supporting cast, aside from the sensitive doctor, only serves to make the deficiencies of the two stars more apparent.

The only tender scene in the movie is when Hemingway dictated to the nurse a letter to the parents of a badly injured soldier who had just committed suicide, instead of sending the bland, unemotional letter the soldier had earlier dictated.

As O'Donnell intensely speaks the bittersweet letter to a crying Bullock, overcome with the penetrating, real words he tells her, she is swept into the letter's raw emotion.

The moment between the two is as close as the film gets to understanding the complexities of Hemingway and the emotional vulnerability of the nurse — and it lasts all of three minutes.

The scene is further reinforced by Attenborough's decision to give us an up-close, intimate scene, instead of the frustrating, from-a-distance postcard views he gives us throughout the film.

▶ Find out more information. Go to these Web sites for more information: (http://www.loveandwar.com/) or (http://us.imdb.com/cache/title-exact/45431).

For example, when Bullock follows the Italian doctor to his palazzo in Venice, the camera begins to follow them down a narrow alleyway. That gives us a chance to experience the close, physical qualities of Italian urban design.

However, Attenborough switches back to the postcard view seconds later and the experience is flattened. Attenborough is too much the patient observer and not enough the active participant. Such are the inconsistencies of the film.

It's not too hard to see the film directed by a James Ivory or an Agnieska Holland, both of whom could give it the humanity and intimacy it deserves. Perhaps Attenborough, who is a good director nonetheless, should stick to his epic film style.

However, it is O'Donnell and Bullock who deserve the most criticism. "In Love and War" proves that both of them should stick to vapid Hollywood romances — like their other work attests — and leave acting to the professionals. Neither should be given the chance again to spoil a perfectly good film.

▶ DILBERT

So what do you think?
The Collegian is in the process of changing what used to be the Diversions page. Now there's more variety. E-mail your comments and story ideas to Portia Sisco at (andra@ksu.edu) or call 532-6556.

BEN WHITE/Collegian

SPECTATORS VIEW the artwork on display at the Willard art gallery Tuesday night. The works were done by graduate students in fine arts. More than 30 people showed up to see the exhibit.

ARTWORK UNDER

CRITICAL VIEW

A REVIEW

BRETT DePAOLA, right, and Itzhak Ben-Itzhak, associate professors in physics, examine a piece of art showing in Willard Gallery Tuesday. The exhibition runs through Feb. 7 in Willard 116.

MICAH ARMBRUSTER
Collegian

Willard Gallery exhibition offers diversity in artwork

RUSSELL FORTMEYER
senior staff writer

Paintings and sculptures and ceramics, oh my!

The diversity of this campus is exquisitely obvious in a new Willard Gallery art exhibition.

The show features 13 master's of fine arts students' work — a complimentary array of sculpture, ceramics, painting and graphic illustration. It's sort of an excitement-building preview. It's more of a way to see superb examples of student work.

Sonya PauKune superbly summed up the show when she said, "The graduate program is really thriving right now."

PauKune showed a few years ago in a now-defunct West Stadium sculpture gallery, but that show featured her work with teapots and vessels.

Her newer work keeps its ties with her organic approach, but explores new territory.

"Black Body Radiation" is a conglomeration of many different ceramic pieces, both hand-constructed and wheel-thrown, which have a distinctly oceanic appearance — like a piece of volcanic rock swarmed with barnacles and marine elements.

PauKune gives another interpretation — the organic nature of the pieces are representative of a Mother Earth sensibility.

"I think of them as organic mass that is growing," PauKune said. "That is the same with coral. It builds up layers and layers."

She said she sees the pieces as representing early forms of the planets — namely Earth — at least in a very condensed, massive fashion. There are some other familiar names in the show.

Tali Cohen's new work, a bronze piece that builds on her shaped-void ceramics of her master's of fine arts show last fall, introduces a new texture to her work while keeping similarities in her twisted, formal style.

"It was exciting to see this liquid temperature converting into something that was solid," Cohen said.

The sculpture, an explosion of bronze punched with negative space, appears more massive and earthbound than her earlier white, floating forms.

Nickie Mitchell's work in ceramics is well-represented with the piece "Caribbean Dune," which is awash in sandy marine colors so smoothly constructed they belie the speckled texture of the pieces.

Rich Bergen's continuing fascination with the childhood toy jacks is best seen in the witty "Jacks-n-Pollock" mixed media. The piece is a series of jack sculptures in flat white with a backdrop of an interesting take on Pollock's abstract expressionist drip paintings.

Taut rubber tire inner tubes securing Michael Hale's metal sculptures "The Dawn Sisters" produce a tense play between soft and hard surfaces.

The tubes, which Hale admits took two people to place on the sculptures and keep from snapping him in the face, gain a controlled smooth quality which alights the sculptures' structural components beneath. It's a refreshing way to look at a relatively unused medium.

Hale's pieces were meant to be studies for a different piece, but after working a few months on them, he got the three pieces into a form that worked.

"Most of my work deals with abstract figures," Hale said. "When you're thinking about it, most sculpture deals with abstract figures."

The three pieces stand upright on supportive frames or skeletons that continue into the guts of the figure, where the metal takes on a pattern of either circles, rectangles or octagons in what appears to be a nod to organic cell structures — which

See ART SHOW, Page 10

Location change helps trombonist's music

CLAUDETTE RILEY
news editor

Changing location has been influential in shaping a bass trombonist's experiences with music.

Chi-Chih "Paul" Chang, senior in music education, fell in love with music as a child in Taiwan.

"My family members are not musicians, but I always knew music was a part of me and what I wanted to be a part of," Chang said. "In first grade, my mom bought me a little violin, and I began to take lessons."

His form of musical expression changed when his family moved to Plainville, Conn. The director for his elementary school band, which didn't have a string section, said there was always a place for musicians playing low brass instruments.

Chang's interest in jazz as an art form came late in high school and while attending Syracuse University in Syracuse, N.Y.

"I want to be familiar with all different types of music. I always enjoyed listening to jazz but never had an opportunity to play," Chang said. "I played in jazz bands in high school but that was a limited experience. The only jazz opportunities at Syracuse was a vocal jazz ensemble."

When Chang transferred to K-State in 1994, he began expanding and exploring all his musical interests.

"The thing that's great about K-State is that we have an opportunity to try so many things. The department is small enough for students to branch out and try different things while getting all this hands-on experience," Chang said.

While attending K-State, Chang has become involved in Jazz Band, KSU Symphony Band, Brass Ensemble and practices with an independent, student brass quintet.

Chang's affection for conducting evolved from a hobby when William Harris, conductor of the Syracuse Symphony Orchestra, offered him private instruction. He continued to pursue conducting as member of the K-State Orchestra.

"The challenge of conducting is seeing the whole picture. When conducting, you're not concentrating on a single line but the whole process," Chang said. "It's an art. You have to be able to relay your interpretation to others."

Although the bass trombone is Chang's signature instrument, he is also proficient with the tenor trombone, violin and euphonium. Chang also sings with the K-State Choir.

"It's ingrained in my head that if you can sing it, you can play it. You have to be able to hear the pitch in your head. You want a musical phrase to sound like a

See MUSIC, Page 10

CLIF PALMBERG/Collegian

PAUL CHANG, senior in music education, performs trombone with various jazz groups. Chang also plays violin.

Farm Bureau Insurance
For insurance on your contents.
CALL 537-0339 AT... 2630 Farm Bureau Rd Manhattan, KS

A Wedding To Remember
•Bridal Gowns • Bridal Shoes •
•Bridal Accessories •
•Bridesmaid Fabric •
•Tuxedo Rentals •
Weisner's Bridal Boutique
314 Poyntz 776-6100

Happy Birthday Kansas
From the staff at Claflin Books and Copies

AMERICAN FAMILY INSURANCE
AUTO HOME BUSINESS HEALTH LIFE
KSU Grad '88
TIM ENGLE
"Call Us For A Quote"
3258 Kimball Ave. Manhattan, Ks. 537-4661

WEDNESDAY
Lunch & Dinner SPECIALS
10 oz. Top Sirloin with potatoes and Texas Toast $4.29
ALSO...
Six additional luncheon Specials daily Mon.-Sat.
$1.50 Premium Bottles
$1 Old Milwaukee Bottles
Mel's Tavern
Manhattan's Downtown Sports Bar & Grill

Campus Elections are fast approaching

Campus Elections are March 11 & 12

Assume leadership roles:

- Student Body President/Vice President
- Student Senator
- College Council Member
- Board of Student Publications
- Fine Arts Council
- Union Governing Board

Filing Forms are available in the Office of Student Activities and Services (532-6541) on the ground floor of the Student Union.

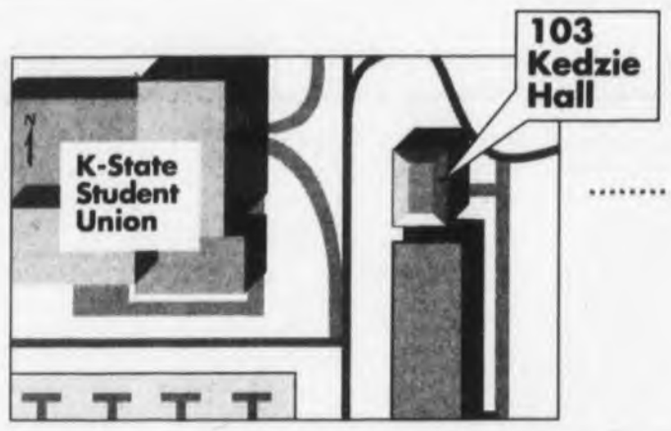
Filing Deadline is February 17!

Ben Franklin Crafts and Frame Shop
Need a Greek Paddle?
Get the Best!
The BEST Quality.
The BEST Selection.
The BEST Service.
Come see our great selectionof wood products and gifts for all occasions. Greek paddles and much more! We have the quality, selection, and service to meet your needs. When you buy from us, you have the best!

BEN FRANKLIN CRAFTS
1101 Westloop
Manhattan, Ks 66502
(913) 776-4910

Rose Muffler House & House of Tint
For Exhaust, Brakes, Shocks & Struts, Window Tinting, & Auto Accessories See
Jim, Mark, Brian, Wayne, Bill & Tim
2049 Ft. Riley Blvd. • Manhattan
776-8955 • 1-800-439-8956

Pro Fitness
In Aggieville 539-7095
12th & Laramie
20 Tans Free*
*Manhattan's Premier Fitness Center
*BEST RATES ON SUPPLEMENTS IN TOWN
*With purchase of Spring Membership



HANSEN NUTRITION CENTER
Diet Cures What Diet Causes
ATTENTION STUDENTS!
Improve Concentration AND Mental Performance
• THINK BARS
• BRAIN PEP
• SMART PILLS
3112 Anderson Ave ~ 9:30 -6p.m. Mon. - Sat. ~ 537-4571

RAOUL'S ESCONDIDO
MEXICAN RESTAURANT
"MANHATTAN'S TASTE OF MEXICO"
WEDNESDAY NIGHT
1/2 Price Appetizers
from 7 p.m. to close!
Mary's Famous Margaritas 10 oz. $.99!
Domestic Bottles $1.50
LIVE COUNTRY MUSIC
MARK MONROE
6:30 - 9:30
MARY SEZ:
MI CASA ES SU CASA!
Raoul's Escondido
215 S. SETH CHILD RD. IN MANHATTAN 539-3410

Fine Line Tattoo, Inc. & Body Piercing
• Quality work at reasonable prices
• One of the oldest and most reputable shops in Kansas
• Guaranteed for life
• Family owned and operated
• Over 25 years experience
238-8238 1028 W. 6th J.C., KS
233-8288 29th & Mass, Topeka, KS
"We Get Under Your Skin"

Always Fast, Fresh and Affordable!
SPAGHETTI JACK'S.
All Your Italian Favorites!
Lasagna Chicken Parmesan, Ravioli, Cheese Manicotti ,Spaghetti, Fettuccine Alfredo, Pizza, Baked Sandwiches, and much more 537-4000
620 Tuttle Creek Blvd.
SPAGHETTI JACK'S.
$3.99 Baked Lasagna with Meat Sauce
Served with Fresh Baked Garlic Bread
Dine-in or Carryout
Limit 2 special offers per coupon
1 coupon per customer per visit
Not valid with any other coupons or special offers.
537-4000
620 Tuttle Creek
Expires 2/28/97
www.spaghettijacks.com
© 1997 Stoico Restaurant Group, Inc.
SPAGHETTI JACK'S.
50¢ OFF
Any Pasta Entree, Pizza or Sandwich reg. $2.99-$5.59
Dine-in or Carryout
Limit 2 special offers per coupon
1 coupon per customer per visit
Not valid with any other coupons or special offers.
537-4000
620 Tuttle Creek
Expires 2/28/97
www.spaghettijacks.com
© 1997 Stoico Restaurant Group, Inc.

CLASSIFIEDS

•DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classified display must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.

•HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an established account with Student Publications Inc.

Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks.

•CALL US

To place your classified, call 532-6555

•STOP BY

Place your classified ad in Kedzie 103.

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING plus ground school for private, instrument and multi-engine ratings. K-State Flying Club approved instructor. Hugh Irvin, 539-3128.

ATTENTION ALL students!!! Grants and scholarships available from sponsors!!! No repayments, ever!!! $$$ Cash for college $$$ for information: (800)243-2435.

COLLEGE FINANCIAL AID -Student Financial Services has information on 3,400+ public and private sector funding sources. A must for anyone seeking financial aid! For information: 1-800-263-6495 ext.F57689.

DISCOVER DIVING scuba lessons, college credit, low rates, Aggie Dive Shop 539-DIVE.

FAST FUNDRAISER-RAISE $500 IN FIVE DAYS- GREEKS, GROUPS, CLUBS, MOTIVATIONAL INDIVIDUALS. FAST, EASY-NO FINANCIAL OBLIGATION. (800)862-1982 EXT. 33.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 539-3733.

SCUBA DIVE Dreaming of those warm nights and clear waters... Learn to dive now for spring break and summer. Classes now forming. Call David Garvin, PADI, Creative Travel and Scuba, 539-0531.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587-2440.

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

NEXT TO campus: one-bedroom in very nice complex. Sublease rate. 539-2702 call/ message.

ONE-BEDROOM. ONE block to campus. Washer and dryer. Pets considered. 537-4947 after 6p.m.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO baths, fireplace, central air, washer and dryer, $550/ month. Water and trash included. No pets. 776-8914.

TWO-BEDROOM, ONE block east of campus. 539-6236.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

814 THURSTON studio apartment water/ trash paid. No pets, available now, $275. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE NOW. Leases through May. Rent negotiable. Most utilities paid. Cat ok. 537-8389, leave message please- will call as soon as possible.

AVAILABLE NOW. reduced rent through May. One, two and four-bedroom apartments. 587-0399.

GOLD KEY apartments, two-bedrooms available now, 1419 Leavenworth, starting at $450. Water and trash paid. Stove, refrigerator, washer and dryer provided. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom. Close to campus and City Park. $475/ month. Available immediately. 776-1771, Elsine.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, two blocks from campus. Water and trash paid. $345 per month. For more information call Nicole at 537-1023 or Diamond Management at 537-7701.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, large, clean, dishwasher, pool, in a quiet complex, $370. 539-2649.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT two-bedroom basement by campus. 537-9188. Lease until July 97 on.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE in February, 430 Vattier, $350. Water and trash paid. Stove and refrigerator. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM. $275. Across from City park. Laundry facilities. No pets. Available now. 537-7542.

ONE-BEDROOM. CLOSE to campus. Water, trash, gas paid. No pets. Available, 539-1975.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS leasing one, two and three-bedroom apartments. Two pools, hot tub, horseshoes, volleyball. 539-2951.

PARKVIEW APARTMENTS, two-bedroom available in February, 1026 Osage, $495. Water and trash paid. Stove, refrigerator and dishwasher. On-site laundry and parking provided. Built in student desk in each bedroom. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

ROYAL TOWER Apartments, four-bedroom/ two bath available in February, $860. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances with dishwasher and microwave. Fitness room, jacuzzi, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

Leasing Now For August
• Fremont Apts
• Sandstone Apts
• College Heights
• Cambridge Square
Large 2-bedroom Units.
537-9064
Weekdays:
8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Sat. 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

STUDIO APARTMENT, one block from campus. (913)494-2240.

STUDIO APARTMENT. $215. All utilities except electricity paid. Lease and deposit required. Available now 537-7794.

THREE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. $395. Available now. 539-2450.

TWO AND Three-bedroom apartments. Close to campus. 539-1713

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, lower level, new carpet, large and in a quiet complex, $400. 539-2649.

TWO-BEDROOM. $350/ month. Central heat, air-conditioned. No pets. Water/ trash paid. Available now. 537-7542.

TWO-BEDROOM. $400. One-half block from campus. Central air/ central heat. Laundry facilities, water/ trash paid. No pets. Available now. 537-7542.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now, 1807 College Heights, $410. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now and February, 925 Denison, $410. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking. Newly remolded kithcens. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

115

Rooms Available

HALF OF trailer house. Laundry facilities, full kitchen, many extras. Quiet neighborhood, good study atmosphere. $225 a month. Call 537-4074, leave massage.

ONE-BEDROOM, TWO blocks from campus. Freshly redecorated. Washer/ dryer. 776-4130.

120

For Rent- Houses

FIVE-BEDROOM HOUSE. Off-street parking, washer/ dryer. Trash paid. Close to K-State. Lease now or May. 537-1566.

FOUR TO five-bedroom house available June 1. One block to KSU, 539-1713.

ONE, TWO, three-bedroom for non-smoking, non-drinking, no pets. 539-1554.

ONE-BEDROOM HOUSE. Two blocks from campus. No pets. $350. Desperate to rent. Available now! 565-0797.

SEVEN-BEDROOM HOUSE. Close to KSU. 539-1713.

THREE-BEDROOM BRICK house. $570 per month. 537-8430.

TWO BLOCKS from campus. Three-bedroom, eat-in kitchen, living room, dining area, freshly redecorated, washer/ dryer. Second semester bargin. $600/ month. 776-4130.

For all your needs, advertise in the Kansas State Collegian Classifieds. 532-6555

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

1984 MOBILE home in Redbud estates; three-bedroom, two bath; all appliances include dishwasher, washer/ dryer; $12,000 negotiable; 537-7526.

TWO-BEDROOM, BATH and a half trailer in Manhattan. Includes washer/ dryer. 764-1182.

145

Roommate Wanted

$175/ MONTH plus one-half utilities. Own room in two-bedroom duplex. Available beginning January 1. 719 Leavenworth, 537-8651, leave message.

$189/ MONTH. Trash, water, and gas paid. parking. Close to campus and 'Ville. Call 587-0889. Ask for Richard or leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE lease through July. West Chester Apartments 537-8423 or (913)451-0567.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for spring semester. Own bedroom, lots of closet and storage space. Close to campus (1850 Claflin) $230 plus one-third utilities January paid. Call 565-0160.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Immediately. Nice three-bedroom house. $210/ month plus one-third utilities. Call 539-0975.

FEMALE ROOMMATE, share four-bedroom, $209/ month, one-fourth utilities, GREAT ROOMMATES! 537-6291.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Very nice two-bedroom apartment, next to campus. Reasonable price, trash/ water paid. No smoking/ drinking/ pets. 565-9250 (leave message).

MALE WANTED for furnished basement. No smoking/ drinking/ pets, please. Walk to KSU. 539-1554.

MALE/ FEMALE roommate needed to share four-bedroom, two bath house near campus. Central air, washer/ dryer, dishwasher, $212.50/ month. All bills split. 530 Bluemont. Call Briana, (816)455-6542.

PRIVATE ROOM, private bath, private entrance, private phone in house near Aggieville. Washer/ dryer, garage. $280 plus one-half utilities. Female, no smoking/ pets. 537-8564.

ROOMMATE FOR three-bedroom apartment across from campus. $230/ month. contact Niki, 537-2098.

ROOMMATE NEEDED as soon as possible. Woodway Apartments, four-bedroom, two bath. $204/ month plus one-fourth utilities. 537-4732.

ROOMMATE NEEDED at 1230 Vattier- directly across from campus. Private bedroom, washer/ dryer, fireplace. $155 per month plus utilities, 539-1269.

ROOMMATE NEEDED at 824 Laramie. Private bedroom, washer, dryer provided. $185 per month plus utilities. 587-8338.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for apartment close to campus and Aggieville. Rent/ lease negotiable. One-third utilities. 537-6297.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share two-bedroom apartment. Washer/ dryer. Cats allowed, rent negotiable. Call Rhonda at 776-2788 or 537-3819.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share nice two-bedroom mobile home in Redbud Estates. Call Guy at 539-3503, 587-5711 or e-mail at graffix@kansas.net

ROOMMATE WANTED for farmhouse. Good, quiet location on all-weather road with horse facilities. $140/ month plus utilities, 539-2029.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share two-bedroom mobile home on one wooded acre. Washer/ dryer, $225/ month all utilities paid, pets allowed, 565-9694.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share three-bedroom house. $250/ month plus one-half utilities. Washer/ dryer. Pets allowed. Fenced yard. Carrie 776-6563.

ROOMMATE WANTED- Male/ female. Close to campus. $210/ month. Available now. Call Bill toll free (888)675-8464, leave message.

ROOMMATE WANTED. House close to campus. Own bedroom and bathroom. $215/ month plus one-fourth utilities. Call 776-3014.

ROOMMATE WANTED: One-half utilities, water/ trash paid. Very nice, $170/ month. Call 587-4645.

150

Sublease

AVAILABLE NOW! Female roommate needed to share two-bedroom apartment at Westchester Park. $244.50/ month plus one-half electricty. Call 776-8707 or 537-4666 Ext. 23. Ask for Joann.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share two-bedroom at Chase Manhattan Apartment. $297/ month plus one-half electricity. Available from March 1. Call 776-6733.

ONE-BEDROOM ONE block from campus. Abailable immediately. Wildcat Mangement 537-2332.

ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO for sublease now until August. Rent is $200. Water, trash , electric paid. Call 539-4174 or (316)231-6854.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Very spacious two-bedroom apartment. Walk-out patio. Pool. May 20 through July 31. 776-8711.

300 EMPLOYMENT/CAREERS

310

Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 537-0056.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

$1000'S POSSIBLE READING BOOKS. Part-time. At home. Toll free (800)218-9000 ext.R-1915 for listings.

$1000'S POSSIBLE TYPING. Part-time. At home. Toll free (800)218-9000 ext. T-1915 for listings.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. No experience required. Begin now. For info call (301)429-1326.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT -Fishing industry. Many earn up to $4000+/ month during peak season. Benefits often include transportation and/ or room and Board. For details: (206) 971-3510 ext-A57688.

CAMP COUNSELORS for educational camp south of Kansas City. Can lead fishing, canoeing, crafts, games, and many more activities while teaching children 8- 14 about the outdoors. Lifeguard helpful. June 7- August 10. Must be sophomore or older. $1600 plus room and board. For details, send inquiry before February 7, 1997 to Wildwood, 7095 W. 399th St., LaCygne, KS 66040.

CAMP OZARK, Christian Sports and Adventure Camp -- Seeking qualified counselors to work with boys and girls ages 8- 16. Employment terms for all or part of the summer. If remotely interested, come to our KSU informational video presentation 8:30pm, Monday, February 3 at K-State Union, Little Theater. Located Mount Ida, AR. (501)867-4131. Visit our website at www.campozark.com.

CAMP WEKEELA in Canton, Maine is hiring experienced dynamos to instruct tennis, swimming, outdoor trips, high-ropes, drama, dance, music, sailing, windsurfing, waterskiing, basketball, lacrosse, baseball, volleyball, gymnastics, soccer, horseback riding, photography, woodworking, ceramics and creative arts. Share your skills at one of the premier co-ed camps in the world. 2807 C Delmar Drive, Columbus, OH 43209 (800)959-3177.

CLERICAL ASSISTANTS: Temporary, part-time. Requires computer literacy and telephone/ customer service skills. Proficiency in WordPerfect and spreadsheet/ database programs desired. Hourly rate $5. Positions available immeditately. Send letter of application, resume and three references to: Area Agency on Aging, 437 Houston Street, Manhattan, KS 66502. Deadline is January 31, 1997. Note: These positions require Kansas Career Work Study eligibility. If you are unsure whether you are eligible, call Walt Cooper at 776-9294. EOE/AA.

CRUISE SHIP EMPLOYMENT -Travel the world (Hawaii, Mexico, Caribbean) and earn an excellent income in the Cruise and Land- Tour industry. For details, call 1-206-971-3550 ext.C57689.

EARN $427 plus a week at home! Write for application: Generations, Dept. KSU, P.O. Box 13486, Atlanta, GA 300324, Genmarker@aol.com

EASTERN EUROPE/ ASIAN JOBS. Live in Prague, Budapest, Tokyo, etc. teaching simple conversational English. No languages/ teaching experience required. (919)918-7767, Ext. W161.

EVENING AND WEEKEND CLASSES in hair design, ethnic hair design and nail technology. Start Feb. 4. Thousands in scholarships plus financial aid available. Free info. Call Crum's Beauty College @ 776-4794.

CAMP TAKAJO

for boys, Outstanding Maine camp noted for magnificent lakefront setting and exceptional facilities. Over 100 positions for heads and assistants in tennis, baseball, basketball, soccer, lacrosse, golf, street hockey, roller hockey, swimming, sailing, canoeing, waterskiing, SCUBA, archery, riflery, weight training, journalism, photography, videography, woodworking, ceramics, crafts, drawing and painting, nature study, radio and electronics, dramatics, piano accompanist, music instrumentalist, band director, backpacking, rock climbing, whitewater canoeing, ropes course, general (w/ youngest campers), secretarial. June 16 - August 24. Top salaries, room and board, travel provided. Call 800-250-8252. Or WRITE Camp Takajo c/o Mike Sherbun 7366 Cascade Terrace Grand Rapids MI 49546. Or FAX resume to 616-954-2950. A camp representative will be in Union Room 207 Wed., Feb. 5 from 10am-4pm. Walk-ins are welcomed!

FISCAL ASSISTANT: Temporary, part-time. Requires computer literacy and general office/ filing skills. Proficiency in QuattroPro or other spreadsheet programs and basic math skills preferred. Hourly rate $5. Positions available immediately. Send letter of application and resume and three references to: Area Agency on Aging, 437 Houston Street, Manhattan, KS 66502. Deadline is January 31, 1997. Note: These positions require Kansas Career Work Study eligibility. If you are unsure whether you are eligible, call Walt Cooper at 776-9294. EOE/AA.

HIRING IMMEDIATELY! Student needed for part-time work demostrating Avery Dennison products on campus. Must be familiar with Miscrosoft Word and willing to use own personal computer with Windows software $10.00 per hour. Contact Lex Deines at 800-569-6461.

LOSE WEIGHT without dieting. Call 537-6892.

NATIONAL PARK EMPLOYMENT -National Parks hire forestry workers, park rangers, firefighters, lifeguards, + volunteer and government positions. Excellent benefits + bonus potential. Call: 1-206-971-3620 ext.N57689.

NATIONAL PARKS HIRING. Also Beach Resorts, Ranches, Rafting Co.'s. Benefits, Bonuses! Nationwide summer openings. Call (919)918-7767, ext. R161.

PART-TIME DELIVERY help needed. Must be available in the afternoons. Apply at Homestead Rental, 2332 Sky-Vue Lane.

PREMIERE BROTHER-SISTER CAMPS IN MASSACHUSETTS. Counselor positions for talented and energetic students as Program Specialists in all Team Sports, especially Baseball, Basketball, Roller Hockey, Gymnastics, Field Hockey, Soccer, Volleyball; 30 Tennis openings; also Golf, Archery, Riflery, Pioneering/ Overnight Camping, Ropes and Rock Climbing, Weights/ Fitness and Cycling; other openings include Performing Arts, Fine Arts, Figure Skating, Newspaper, Photography, Yearbook, Radio Station, and Rocketry; All Waterfront/ Pool Activities (Swimming, Skiing, Sailing, Windsurfing, Canoeing/ Kayaking). Top salaries, room, board and travel. June 22nd- August 20th. Inquire: MAH-KEE-NAC (Boys): 1-800-753-9118. DANBEE (Girls): 1-800-392-3752.

SUMMER JOBS!!! Camp Birchwood and Gunflint Wilderness camp, two of Minnesota finest summer camps, seek college students to work as counselors and instructors. Activities include: Horseback riding (english & western), Sailing, Wilderness trips, tennis, arts & crafts, rifle, archery and more. Working with kids in a camp setting, is a chance to be part of something significant. Employment begins June 6th to August 12th or 22nd. For an application and to schedule an interview call (800)451-5270.

The RILEY COUNTY POLICE DEPARTMENT, an Equal Opportunity Employer, is accepting applications for the position of CORRECTIONS OFFICER from January 29 until February 14, 1997 at 4p.m. Starting salary is $1,791.15 per month, with several other employee benefits. Applicant must be a least 21 years of age, a high school graduate (or G.E.D. equivalent). Applicants must have the ability to understand and communicate some technical materials consisting of laws, regulations, and departmental policies and procedures. Applicants must have the ability to occasionally prepare factual written reports. The position requires a high level of problem solving ability and self initiative. Major duties involve caring for and maintaining the security and well being of prisoners. Candidates must maintain a physical and mental state of fitness and readiness which enables then to handle contact with potentially dangerous people. Successful applicants must have hearing ability correctable to a normal range and eyesight correctable to 20/ 20 in the strong eye and 20/ 30 in the weak eye. Uncorrected vision must be no worse than 20/ 100 in either eye for eye glass wearers or 20/ 200 for contact lens wearers. Applicant must not have any felony convictions or series of misdemeanor or traffic convictions, which tends to indicate a disrespect for the law. Applicant must be wiling and able to work any shift, as well as weekends. Applicant must pass an intensive background investigation, which includes a polygraph exam and a drug screening test. Applicants must demonstrate a typing ability of 16 words per minute net. Computer knowledge is desirable, but not mandatory. Applicants must successfully complete a typing examination, and commit to establishing residency within 30 miles of Police Department Headquarters upon appointment. Applications may be obtained at the JOB SERVICE CENTER 621 HUMBOLDT ST. MANHATTAN, Kansas, during normal hours of operation. For further information, contact the Administrative Services Division, Avie Roblyer (913)537-6100 weekdays between 8:30 and 11:30a.m. or 1:30 to 4:30p.m.

TUTORS NEEDED for Managerial Reporting, Taxation, Accounting Research, Accounting for Non-Profit, Quantative Management, Intro. to Finance, US Politics. Graduate students should not have assistantships. Must have taken course and achieved an A/B. Salary based on experience. Contact Educational Supportive Services, Holton 201, 532-5642.

WANTED 100 students. Lose 5- 100 pounds. New metabolism breakthrough. RN assisted, free gift. $35 fee. (800)579-1634.

ZAP YOUR ZITS. Have the complexion you've always wanted! New Bio-Tech program. No animal ingredients or testing. Guaranteed results. 539-7336.

330

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232-0454.

WORK FROM home. Twenty second commute! Serious income potential working from home. We provide training and support via revolutionary system. Call (toll free) 1-888-444-6242 for overview. Then call us live at 776-5429.

400 OPEN MARKET

410

Items for Sale

BEER SIGNS, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, antiques, collectibles, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

BROTHER WORD Processor. Disk access, monitor, example files. $150 or best offer. Oak computer stand $100 or best offer. 537-2090.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit $14.95. See ALL the channels (313)523-2769.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY Sale for Cash Pawn and Gun. Selling cd's $2 and $3 each. Movies for $4 each. Cassette tapes for $0.75 each. Sega and Super NES Systems for$49.00. 10% off all Spiderco knives. 20% off a large selection of items store wide. Lowest priced guns and jewelry. We buy sell and trade. Have money to loan. 1917 Fort Riley Blvd., 776-3332.

FOOSBALL TABLE $175, 565-9248.

NEED TO sell two Metallica tickets. Call 537-3396.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

COMPUTER DESK with desk light and printer cart $45. Call 776-9847 after 7 p.m.

DRESSER WITH mirror, nightstand, headboard and bed frame set, $60. Coffee table and end tables, set $20. Large study table with four chairs, set $50. Call 776-1902.

FOR MORE INFORMATION UNIVERSITY APARTMENTS 2215 COLLEGE AVE CALL 539-0500
Now Leasing
"Stay in class at the University"
Leasing '97-'98 School Year
539-0500

HELP WANTED PART-TIME
(2 days a month-2 weeks a year)
Great pay and excellent benefits!
Truck Drivers, Mechanics, Cooks, Medical Specialists, Military Police, Supply, Artillery and Armor Crewmen. Prior military service not required, we will train. Prior services may enter at last rank held up to E-6. No Basic Training!
For more information, call today!
537-4108; 537-4003
Kansas Army National Guard

430

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Flea Market 7000 square feet, 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539-4684.

435

Computers

100MHZ PENTIUM system. Sound, mic, modem, CDRom, 1Gb HD, 244mb, RAM, 2Mb video, monitor, keyboard, mouse, Win95, $1150. 587-8560.

486DX50 8 MEG RAM, 340 meg HD, SVGA monitor, keyboard, mouse 586, 133MHZ MB with CPU, 16 meg RAM. Kevin, 537-1863.

FREE- PACKARD Bell 286 computer with $250 purchase of 1994 USIT monitor. Call Amy @ 537-1442 before 9p.m.

INTERKAN.NET: MANHATTAN'S newest Internet Service Provider. Free setup software. Monthly rates: 10 hours @ $5, 30 hours @ $7.50, 90 hours @ $10, 200 hours @ $17.50. http://www.interkan.net or 565-0991.

445

Music Instruments

DRUM SET for sale. Black Remo four-piece. Excellent condition. Call Brian 539-0870.

WELCOME BACK to The Music Co.! Best prices on new and used instruments and accessories. No pressure sales, we try to get what you need. Straight down 17th st from K-state Union, in the Midtown Plaza, 539-1958.

450

Pets and Supplies

AKC YELLOW labs, shots and warmed, ready for loving home. Call 776-8237 or weekends (913)584-6626.

REPTILE SALE! Lots of new reptiles! Mantella Frogs, Pac Man Frogs, Uromastyx, Water Dragons, Giant Leaf Tail Gecko, Egyptian Dwarf Gecko, Leopard Gecko, Rock Pythons, Scorpions, Tarantulas and much more! Only at Animal House Pets 210 N.4th. 537-6111. Sale ends Sunday.

460

Stereo Equipment

ALPINE CD Changer with remote, excellent condition. 539-4058.

HI-FI HOME stereo system: Receiver, dual cassette deck, CD player, timer, equalizer, reverb, three-way speakers, turntable, accessories. Excellent condition, great price! 537-4512.

INFINITY HOME theater subwoofer. Dual six and one-half 300 Watts RMS. Has satellite speaker inputs. Excellent condition. $210 Negotiable leave message. Ryan 537-9513.

MAGNAVOX HOME stereo for sale, sounds good and it's in great shape. For more information call Ken 537-1621.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1981 VW Rabbit AM/FM cassette. New alternator and battery. Runs good. 116,000 plus miles, $950 or best offer, 537-3925.

1985 HONDA Civic, five-speed, lots of new parts, $1300. 1983 Toyota Corolla automatic high miles runs great, $800. 532-7855 leave message.

1985 MERCURY Lynx, four-doors, white, air-conditioned, automatic, good school car. Asking $950. 539-7508.

1990 T-BIRD SC, white. Automatic, 87K. Looks and runs like new. $6600. Call Isaku 587-9548.

1994 JEEP Wrangler, white/ black soft-top, six-cylinder, low mileage, excellent condition, extra's. $15,000. 776-6449.

1994 MAZDA Navajo LX, automatic, four-wheel drive in excellent condition. Power doors, windows, locks, power leather seats, sunroof, AM/FM cassette. Asking $16,800 or best offer. Owner must sell. 776-7025.

1987 CHRYSLER LeBaron GTS. Looks good. Runs well. $1200. 539-2146.

DODGE SHADOW ES Turbo. Good gas mileage, perfect condition, power everything. $3250. 776-1507.

FOR SALE: 1983 Z-28 Cross-fire Camero. Charcoal gray. Tinted windows. Looks and runs good, 93,000 miles. 587-4152.

OLDSMOBILE, TORONADO 1984. 108K miles, many options, very nice car, $2775 or best offer. Must sell. 587-0121.

SEIZED CARS from $175. Porsches, Cadillacs, Chevy, BMW's, Corvettes. Also Jeeps, 4WD's. Your area. Toll free (800)218-9000 ext.A-1915 for current listings.

WWW.SUPERIOR-ACURA.COM Pictures of pre-owned vehicles on the web. Many makes and models. (800)875-ACURA.

600 TRAVEL/TRIPS

610

Tour Package

CANCUN- PADRE- MAZATLAN SPRING BREAK'S HOTTEST! 1-800-328-7513 Free food, drink and party specials!?! Up To $200 discount Coupons on our Website www.studentadvtrav.com.

Nobody Does Spring Break Better!
SPRING BREAK '97
AS SEEN ON CBS NEWS "48 HOURS"
DRIVE YOURSELF & SAVE!
AFFORDABLE
"ROAD TRIP!"
16th Sellout Year!
$97 as low as
PARTY
SOUTH PADRE ISLAND
PANAMA CITY BEACH
DAYTONA BEACH
STEAMBOAT
KEY WEST
HILTON HEAD ISLAND
* PER PERSON DEPENDING ON DESTINATION / BREAK DATES / LENGTH OF STAY.
1-800-SUNCHASE
TOLL FREE INFORMATION & RESERVATIONS
ON THE WEB AT: http://www.sunchase.com

Commission discusses K-177 park near piers, neighborhood associations

JILL JARSULIC
staff reporter

Concerns about who to contact and what to do with neighborhood questions typified Manhattan citizens' comments at the City Commission work session Tuesday night.

Manhattan has a handbook for setting up neighborhood associations, but the Commission recommended calling it a guidebook instead.

Some residents voiced concern if stringent requirements were set for neighborhood associations. The requirements might be confusing as to what constitutes membership into the neighborhood association — residency or property ownership.

"A lot of these neighborhood issues are a matter of territory. It's turf," Steve Pfister, Manhattan resident, said. "Biologically, our caveman ancestors were that way, and so are we. We are all very sensitive about any intrusion on our neighborhood."

Pfister said he thought the City Commission should take the proposal made this past year at a November meeting and make necessary changes, but Manhattan resident Mark Knackendoffel said he thought the associations should be more informal.

"We have a very informal neighborhood association. In fact, I would say 90 percent of the people in our neighborhood don't even know we have an association," he said. "But, there have been a few issues that have come up, and we get together at somebody's house."

While neighborhood associations were officially on the agenda, the Citizen's Academy was discussed in conjunction with the associations.

"The academy would be a clearinghouse of information to help neighborhoods help themselves," City Manager Gary Greer said. "The academy isn't about neighborhood associations. It is to learn about city government."

Mayor Sydney Carlin gave the commission's suggestions for the associations.

"We need to put a handbook together, put it in the library, be careful about wording concerning residents or landowners and recognize entities that already exist," she said.

Carlin said these would simply be suggestions, not regulations.

Commissioner Justin Kastner presented a sketch for use of the old Kansas Highway 177 bridge piers and lights. The sketch was submitted from the Fairmont area master planners, and it incorporated the east and west piers on the river. Designs submitted in the past used only the east pier.

K-State Telecommunications offers pager rental service

▶ Get beeped.
Interesting in University pagers? Call K-State Telecommunications at 532-7003.

RYAN O'HALLORAN
staff reporter

If students are tired of missing calls during the day, K-State Telecommunications has the answer. For the past four years, the department has rented out pagers at less-than-retail prices for students, faculty and anyone else associated with the University.

Susan Schanks, an accounting specialist in the Telecommunications Department, is in charge of the pager rental. She said the program has been accepted well by students and faculty.

"It's been a success," she said. "It's grown every year."

People are renting 150 Motorola pagers from telecommunications.

Short-range and long-range pagers are available. The short-range pagers are good for seven miles outside of Manhattan. Users are charged $10 a month.

The long-range pagers are $15 a month and reach to Kansas City, Wichita and Salina.

The price difference between renting from K-State and a commercial retailer is distinct.

"A lot of times, you have to buy the pager and then there's a monthly service fee on top of that," Schanks said. "Ours is strictly month-to-month."

Schanks said a wide variety of students rent pagers.

"A lot of ones that are rented out are by parents who have small children and go to day care," Schanks said.

"For other people, it's just for others to get a hold of them easier when they're on campus."

Manhattan mayor decides against 2nd-term run for democratic sake

ERICA DUNCAN
staff writer

Manhattan will be under the leadership of a new mayor next term.

Mayor Sydney Carlin announced on Jan. 8 that she would not be running for re-election to the city commission.

Manhattan does not have an election for mayor. People run for city commissioner and of the five elected to commissioner one is chosen to serve as mayor.

The mayor presides over the city commission meetings. Mayors have no extra voting power, and their votes count the same as anyone else's, city manager, Gary Greer said.

Carlin said she believes that for a democracy to work the citizens must get involved.

When one person is in power for a long time it is difficult to get citizen participation, she said.

"The city has worked very hard with the mayor and has accomplished a lot in her tenure," Greer said.

Justin Kastner, city commissioner, served with Carlin for half of her term and said he was proud of the things the commission has done during her term as mayor.

Early in Kastner's term he said he was having a hard time getting used to the slowness of the legislative process and Carlin was very helpful.

"She told me to follow the process, and I'll always remember that," he said.

During Carlin's administration, K-State was annexed into the city, the Manhattan Airport was renovated and extensive work was done on the renovation of Kansas Highway 177. New land was purchased for a business park and legislation was passed to open a new baseball field at Eisenhower Middle School.

The commission also had to choose a new city manager.

"It was a hard decision to make, but it has been an exciting part of my life," Carlin said.

Carlin was elected to the city commission in April 1993 and was selected mayor in 1996. Carlin's term will be over in April 1997.

The mayor changes every year. Bruce Snead will probably be the next mayor since it is his turn in the rotation, Greer said.

With only one incumbent running there will be four new commissioners and many new ideas, Kastner said.

"It's good to have new ideas on the commission," Kastner said. "I wish I could have ran again and served with Bruce as mayor. Bruce will be a very progressive mayor."

PARKING
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

the additional charge.

"I think it's ridiculous and expensive," Swanigan. "It's just outrageous."

Suzi Auten, administrative assistant in the Office of the Provost, also said she would keep her stall even with the increase in fees.

"I'll pay it and just complain," Auten said.

Other changes to the parking regulations include an increase in the number of tickets allowed before wheel locks are imposed. Instead of three unpaid tickets, the new limit is five.

Stiffer penalties will be imposed for illegally displaying forged, stolen, altered or expired parking permits. Anyone found breaking these rules could receive a $100 fine and lose campus parking privileges for up to one year.

GENES
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Wide Web directory so teachers can get up-to-date information.

Manney, a former president of the Kansas Association of Teachers of Science, said ultimately the project hopes to make sure students don't get bored with the subject before reaching the collegiate level of study.

"The idea is the direct involvement of teachers in projects of this sort," he said. "The really interesting and exciting part (of genetics) is finding out how we came to know what we know."

Bob Johnson, who teaches seventh through 12th grade science at St. Xavier School in Junction City, is a research assistant with GENE. He said programs like GENE can help science teachers by bringing them together as fellows to pool resources and creativity.

"I like to think science people get paid to play," Johnson said. "Research is fun. When teachers get excited about the project, the students will get excited too."

When teachers come together because of the project, said Johnson, they're more likely to get excited and create open-ended ideas in the context of their own communities.

With the three organisms living and growing on the shelf, preparing for experiments to illustrate the solutions to questions is hassle free, Johnson said.

"When questions come up in study, it's a really easy and neat spin-off to answering the questions," he said. "It's not a big production."

Manney is presently in the process of retiring from the university, and the project's goal in lieu of his departure is to become self-sufficient. The project is currently under the auspices of the University.

"The trick," said Manney, "will be to find suppliers for all the materials."

The yeast, beetles and plants have to be made available by a supplier that is willing to work with the needs of individual teachers and be able to keep the organisms alive in shipping, he said.

DONORS
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

in the position to contribute money," he said.

The decrease in contributions may be attributed to a lack of distribution of information at K-State.

"There is not a good way to consistently market it on campus," said Ailleen Cray, United Way of Riley County executive director.

The agencies United Way works to provide K-State students with internships for classes and chances to serve the community as volunteers.

"United Way services here in town are utilized by K-State students," Howe said.

Agencies in Riley County supported by the United Way include the American Red Cross, Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Manhattan Inc., Boys and Girls Club of Manhattan, Consumer Credit Counseling Services, Crisis Center Inc., Flint Hills Legal Services, Kansas Children's Service League, Kaw Valley Girl Scout Council, Manhattan Day Care, Manhattan Emergency Shelter, Retired and Senior Volunteer Program, Salvation Army and the Sunflower CASA Project Inc.

"We touch people's lives at K-State in a variety of ways," Cray said.

There have been many success stories about K-State students who have benefited from what the United Way has been doing, Cray said.

MUSIC
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8

voice singing. It's all part of being a whole musician," Chang said.

Chang said that, even if he continues to pursue conducting in graduate school, his future will also involve being a music educator. Now, he is a staff member for the marching band.

"In education, music might be my expertise, but I want to impart a higher consciousness to the student and be there for them," he said.

As theater director at a camp in New England during the summer, Chang taught 400 boys from age six to 15 about theater and music.

"Music is just the vehicle for students being involved with some type of activity to express themselves in a way that no other discipline can offer. Music is an outlet," Chang said. "I really enjoy sharing my experience with the kids. The biggest high is when they understand a concept or idea."

Educational experiences have been important in shaping Chang as a musician.

"I think other musicians sometimes don't realize what great opportunities go on here in their building. Just because you're a singer doesn't mean you shouldn't go to a jazz concert and if you're a jazz student, you can still go to a choral concert," Chang said.

"You can observe and learn. I'm disappointed when people don't take advantage of what they have in their own university," he said.

Dennis Wilson, director of jazz studies, said he believes Chang can be successful.

"He takes care of business and when I tell him what I'm looking for, his eyes and ears are open," Wilson said. "Stability and a high level of musicianship — that's the best way to describe Paul. He is dependable, has high expectations and wants to see the best for K-State."

Wilson said Chang's involvement as a staff member, conductor, singer and performer has made him a stronger musician overall.

"He is what you call a well-rounded musician, and that will help him whether he's a performer or educator," Wilson said.

RECRUITS
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

Proctor, a 6'2", 190-pound cornerback from Hazelwood Central, and Keith Black, a 5'10", 180-pound cornerback from Kansas City Community College.

One big recruit the Cats lost was top California quarterback Greg Cicero. But they responded by pursuing the services of Bobby Gray, a 6'2", 195-pound quarterback from Aldine, Texas.

The recruiting signing period opens Feb. 5. The Cats can sign up to 25 players in February. Those who arrive early will count against last year's recruiting total.

WOMEN
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

day basis."

An even bigger challenge for the Cats will be putting a Big 12 road game in the win column, a feat they have yet to accomplish. Patterson said her team is ready to accept the challenge.

"I'm not sure we were ready to knock off No.-22 preseason Memphis or No.-12 Texas," she said. "It would be a monumental step to beat Colorado at home on the road. We're poised to make that move. We can go on the road and compete for 40 minutes and win."

SEX
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7

Griffitt said he does not want to embarrass anyone, so he warns them about slides or films that are graphic. Students are not required to watch and are not tested on the materials shown.

He said a lot of people's attitudes are based on things that are not scientific.

"I don't try to change, but to give information," he said. "One of the things I try to do, because some issues are sensitive, is try to introduce some humor."

You have to be careful, he said, because people are quick to get offended. He said some people may perceive things as sexual harassment.

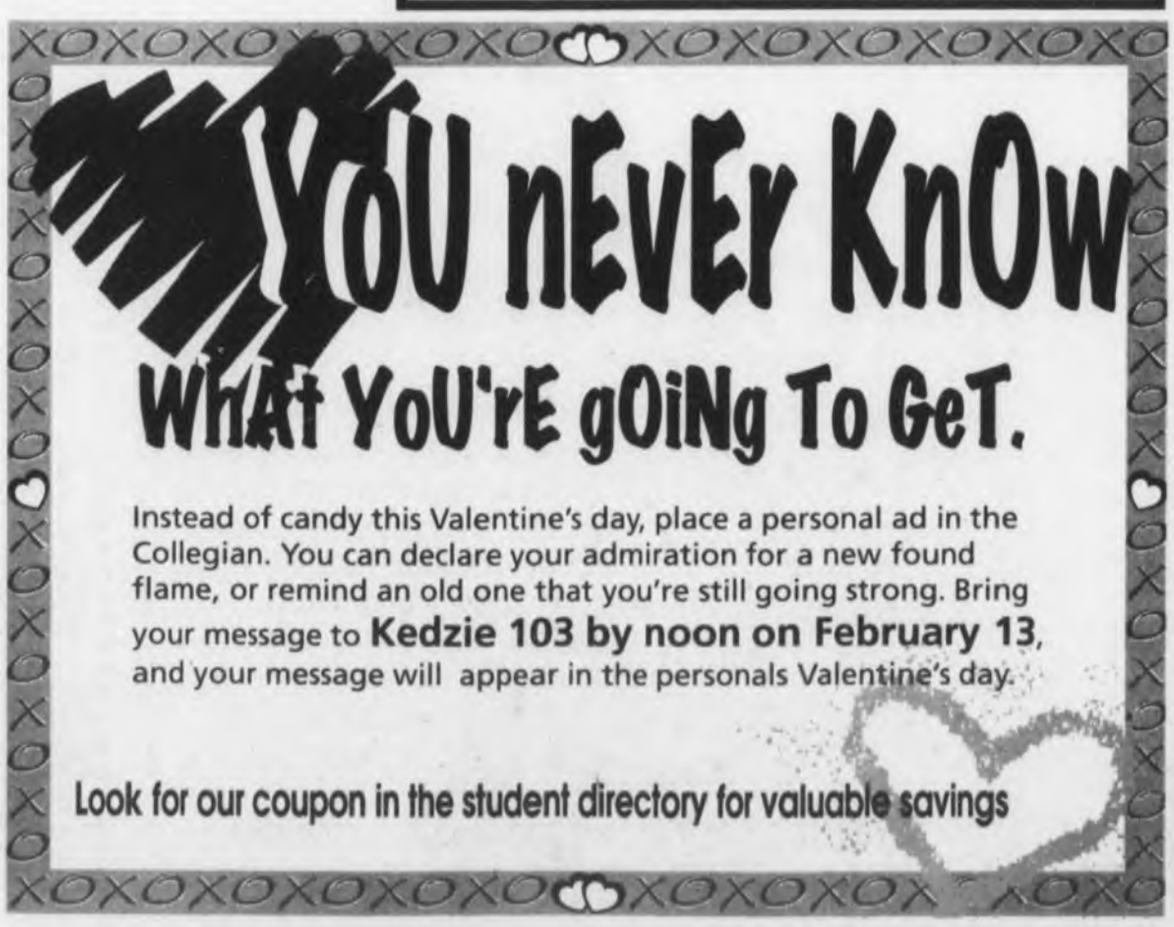
One thing that changed over the years is the sensitivity to gender issues. Griffitt said he tries to be careful. For example, sex differences that show up in research can be tied to the research methods.

"Mine is not the only class that does deal with human behavior and sexual behavior," he said. "Nowadays it is commonplace in big universities by necessity."

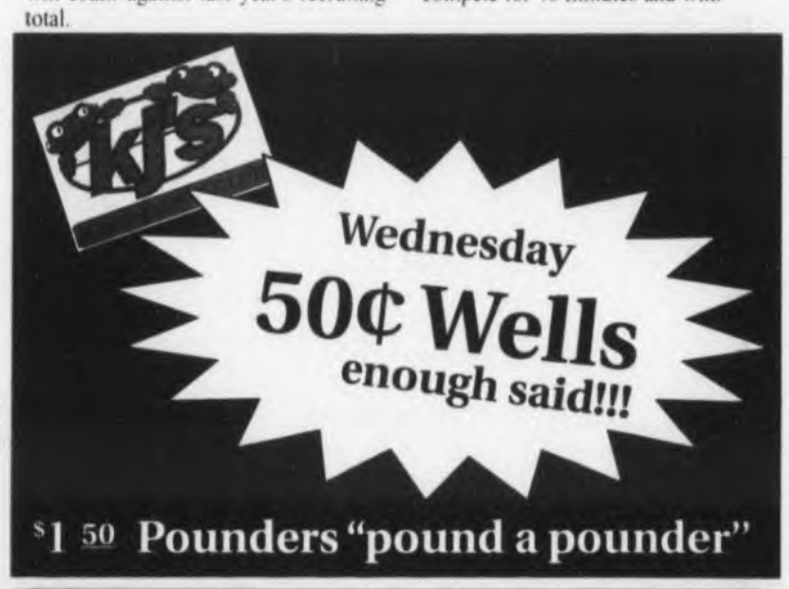
ART SHOW
CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8

isn't necessarily what the artist intended.

Hale said the piece is based on a science fiction book he read in which three space stations always appeared on the horizon at dawn, hence the name.



"Someone called them oddly organic," Hale said. "I was thinking much more mechanical. I was trying to keep a machine quality about them."



Other artists exhibiting in the show include Daryl Blasi, Marko Fields, Michael Lemke, Jeanette Neal, Suzanne Pugh, Christopher Wanner, B. Waterman-Peters and Justin Williams.

The opening reception, from 6 to 8 Tuesday night, was well-attended by a mixture of nearly 30 friends, faculty and students — testament to the interest in student work on this campus. If this exhibit proved anything, it's that each of these artists deserve a singular study in an exhibition of more of their work.

Open Dance Auditions
For Spring Dance '97
No Experience Necessary
Thursday, January 30, 1997
5:30 - 7:00 pm
304 Ahearn Gym
For further information contact the KSU Dance Office
(913) 532-6887

Need some
Extra Cash
It's qick.
It's easy.
You can earn $80 a week, just by donation plasma. Ask our friendly saff for details.
Manhattan Biomedical Center
776-9177
NABI The Quality Source
Mon-Fri. 9 a.m., Sat. 9 a.m.- 6:30 p.m.
1130 Gardenway

K-STATE SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATION DEADLINE FEBRUARY 1, 1997

Applications Are Now Being Accepted For K-State General, Departmental And College Scholarships

Pick Up An Application In The Office Of Student Financial Assistance 104 Fairchild Hall

OR

APPLY ON-LINE AT
www.ksu.edu/sfa/application/scholarship_app.html

Exp. Date 00/00
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
PO Box 3585
Topeka KS 66601

JANUARY 30, 1997
THURSDAY

HIGH 53
LOW 15
Much warmer and sunny today. Tomorrow it's shorts weather. High around 60.
FORECAST PAGE 2

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN

MANHATTAN, KS 66506

VOL. 101 No. 85

NEWSROOM 532-6556
DISPLAY ADVERTISING 532-6560
CLASSIFIEDS 532-6555
e-mail: (collegn@ksu.edu)
http://collegian.ksu.edu

LOOKING TO HELP OUT THE COMMUNITY? TRY THIS.

▶ Some students can fulfill graduation requirements by volunteering their time at the Manhattan Emergency Shelter.

See VOLUNTEER Page 3

ETC.

In today's paper
Sports 6
Currency 7
In tomorrow's paper
Get the low-down on Chick Scaletti, a local band, in Impulse.

READY FOR A TOPIC THAT'S NOT A USUAL LECTURE SUBJECT

▶ Justin Wild looks at potential censorship in schools when it comes to a controverial book series.

See OPINION Page 4

Schwarzkopf denies knowing of chemical risk

Schwarzkopf

▶ GULF WAR GENERAL APPEARS before Senate to answer accusations about Iraqi chemical-weapon threat.

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Retired Gen. Norman Schwarzkopf strongly denied Wednesday that he or his commanders ever knowingly placed American troops at risk of Iraqi chemical weapons during the Gulf War, saying such accusations were a blatant lie.

But Schwarzkopf, in Senate hearings, also said it was possible that chemical weapons were destroyed during attacks on Iraqi front-line positions or that U.S. commanders didn't recognize chemical agents during postwar cleanup operations.

Schwarzkopf, the commander of the coalition forces during the 1991 war, repeated the Pentagon position that there is no evidence the Iraqis used chemical weapons.

He said the suggestion that he or other commanders were covering up the chemical contamination of troops at best demonstrates an abysmal ignorance of the standards of conduct that are expected of all military leaders in the armed forces today, and at worst is a blatant lie.

At the committee's request, Schwarzkopf recently turned over his personal logs from the war as part of an ongoing investigation into what the military command knew of Iraq's chemical threat.

The general said he did not believe chemical agents were the sole cause of the illnesses afflicting so many Gulf War veterans. But he also noted that troops were exposed to a complex mix of pollutants, insecticides and vaccines, and "when you put all of this stuff together and the stress of combat, ... something obviously has made them sick."

Schwarzkopf was given a hero's welcome before the Senate Veterans' Affairs Committee, but was questioned at length about possible exposures to chemical agents, particularly at Iraq's Kamisiyah weapons depot that was

See GULF WAR, Page 8

Engineering selects MIT grad as dean

King

CLAUDETTE RILEY
news editor

Building on the College of Engineering's success, the in-coming dean wants to raise visibility and continue to emphasize education.

Terry King, chair of Iowa State University's Department of Chemical Engineering, will begin his duties in June. He will succeed Donald Rathbone, who has the longest tenure of any dean of engineering in the United States.

"I am not going to do anything to diminish the fine job Dr. Rathbone has done educating engineers. There's a whole lot of good things going on down there," King said. "One of the biggest challenges is getting the word out and raising the visibility outside of Kansas."

King earned his bachelor's degree from Iowa State in 1975 and his doctorate from Massachusetts Institute of Technology four years later.

In 1982, after three years as a research and senior engineer at Exxon Chemical Co., King joined Iowa State's chemical engineering faculty as an assistant professor.

As a professor of chemistry at Iowa State, education has remained central to his position.

"I am absolutely, positively committed to the job of being a teacher and am interested in helping students learn," King said.

During his 14 years at Iowa State, King acquired $3.7 million in funding from the U.S. Department of Energy and National Science Foundation. He has been awarded three

See KING, Page 8

Jazz festival to highlight national, area musicians

▶ Get involved.
The editorial board supports the K-State Jazz Festival. See why on Page 4.

▶ More coverage.
Interested in what's going on with the K-State Jazz Festival? See Page 5.

RACHAEL KRUEGER
staff reporter

The K-State Jazz Festival kick-off party sponsored by the Manhattan Center for the Arts Wednesday featured the K-State Jazz Quintet and the director of jazz studies, Dennis Wilson.

Wilson, who has been the festival executive director for the past three years, spoke to the small gathering of community business persons, art center members and members of the press.

"This year's festival is just huge," he said.

The festival will take place Saturday, starting with registration at 7:30 a.m. in the McCain Auditorium lobby.

"It's a loaded day," Wilson said.

The goal of this day is to educate all the participants, specifically K-State students. Musical talent is not mandatory for many of the seminars and lectures, just an appreciation

See KICKOFF, Page 5

THE MANHATTAN FIRE DEPARTMENT responded to a house fire Wednesday afternoon at 826 Pottawatomie Ave. Damages are estimated to be $40,000.

JILL JARSULIC
Collegian

Fire rips through house

▶ SUSPICIOUS FIRE causes $40,000 in damages to vacant, condemned house.

TANYA NISLY
staff reporter

An unoccupied and condemned house burned Wednesday afternoon.

The fire was reported at 2:10 p.m. at 826 Pottawatomie Ave.

The room of the house that the fire started in has been determined, but the cause of the fire is unknown.

"The fire started in the bedroom on the east side of the house," Battalion Chief Jerry Snyder said. "The fire is being listed as suspicious, because there was no gas or electricity in the house. There is no natural cause for the fire."

The house was destroyed.

Snyder said they are estimating the damages of the building to be $35,000 and the contents of the house at $5,000. The woman who previously lived in the house was still storing some of her belongings there.

Snyder said the house was plastered with signs that read, "Dangerous building. Do not enter."

"The house had not been lived in since October," Snyder said.

The house is owned by two brothers, Earl and Jerry Martin, who could not be reached for comment.

▶ Have a tip?
A fire caused nearly $40,000 in damages to an unoccupied and condemned house and is listed as suspicious. If you have a lead, contact Crime Stoppers at 539-7777.

at the playground

MICHELLE KILKENNY, junior in sociology, swings with third-grader Elisabeth McCrary during her playground supervising duties Wednesday at Eugene Field School. There are 35 K-State students who serve as lunchroom and playground supervisors at area elementary schools around Manhattan.

Students spend lunch on recess duty

STORY BY TRISHA LANGFORD • PHOTO BY STEVE HEBERT

Watching the "Young and the Restless" or taking a nap may seem like the ideal activity for the lunch period. But for 35 K-State students lunchtime has nothing to do with peace and quiet.

The Manhattan area public schools have hired K-State students as lunchroom and playground supervisors for about 20 years.

This semester the nine area elementary schools have supervisors working on Monday, Wednesday and Friday during the lunch period.

"We really depend on them. I think the kids really interact with them better at their age, rather than parents," said Joan Spiker, principal at Frank Bergman elementary.

Responsibilities of supervisors include keeping the students in line quietly, encouraging them to eat, answering questions and monitoring their safety on the playground.

Many of the student supervisors are elementary education majors working as aides for class credit. Others are supervisors working for $4.75 per hour.

Catherine Davis, sophomore in elementary education, was placed at Bergman as part of her Principles of Elementary Education class. As a student aide, Davis was performing the same tasks as the paid supervisors, so she decided to stay and get paid this semester.

"It encourages me to know that this is what I really want to do. I have learned discipline and patience from supervising," Davis said.

On my way there, I'm always thinking, I want to take a nap. But being there is refreshing, and their energy is contagious. When I leave there I'm always in a better mood.

Catherine Davis
sophomore in elementary education

Davis said she doesn't consider her job a burden.

"On my way there, I'm always thinking, I want to take a nap. But being there is refreshing, and their energy is contagious. When I leave there I'm always in a better mood," Davis said.

The student supervisors are not only appreciated and depended upon by the teachers and principals, but respected and looked to as role models by the students.

"They are adults. The students respect them as adults and role models, yet they are students so they can relate to the kids better," said Beth Bergsten, assisting teacher at Eugene Field School.

One K-State student is working as a supervisor and a parent. Eugene Field supervisor Michelle Kilkenny, sophomore in business administration, has a daughter who is a fifth-grade student at the school. Kilkenny schedules her classes around the elementary school's lunch period so she can be a supervisor and spend time with her daughter.

"I have a better relationship with my daughter because of this. It helps because she isn't away from me all day," Kilkenny said.

One student said she likes seeing Kilkenny during the lunch period.

"They're lots of fun. Ms. Kilkenny is somebody I can talk to. She's a supervisor that's loved," said Kakeia Cade, fifth grade student at Eugene Field.

DEADLINES
TO PLACE AN ITEM in the Daily Planner, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to (collegn@ksu.edu) by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

MANAGING EDITOR
MIRANDA KENNEDY
e-mail: (seahors@ksu.edu)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
DIGEST
THURSDAY, JANUARY 30, 1997

PLANNING TO GRADUATE? FILL OUT YOUR APPLICATION

▶ Applications for May 1997 undergraduate graduation are due in deans' offices no later than Feb. 7.

▶ 24 HOURS IN REVIEW

These briefs encapsulate the news of the past 24 hours and are from staff reports, wire reports and other news services.

▶ NATION AND WORLD

• JUDGE REFUSES TO LET MEDIA WATCH BOMB-TRIAL TELECAST.

DENVER — A judge Wednesday barred the news media from joining relatives of Oklahoma City bombing victims when they watch Timothy McVeigh's trial on closed-circuit television 500 miles away.

The telecast was authorized by a federal law passed last year to help crime victims watch trials that have been moved far away.

However, the law does not define who is eligible to watch.

• MEDICAL JOURNAL ENDORSES MEDICAL USE OF MARIJUANA.

BOSTON — The New England Journal of Medicine has come out in favor of allowing doctors to prescribe marijuana for medical purposes, calling the threat of government sanctions misguided, heavy-handed and inhumane.

After voters in Arizona and California passed propositions letting doctors prescribe pot for medical uses, Attorney General Janet Reno said doctors who do this could lose their prescription-writing privileges, be excluded from Medicare and Medicaid and even be prosecuted.

• 30 DIE IN HOTEL FIRE IN CHINA.

BEIJING — A pre-dawn fire Wednesday at a hotel in central China killed 30 people and injured dozens more, including several guests forced to jump out windows to escape the smoke and flames.

The blaze started on the second floor of the Yanshan Hotel in Changsha, capital of Hunan province, and quickly spread to the seventh floor, blocking all exits on six floors.

The flames took two hours to douse and more than 100 people were taken to a hospital, the agency said. Of those, 30 people died.

• SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS BENAZIR BHUTTO'S DISMISSAL.

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan — Benazir Bhutto lost a bid to regain office when Pakistan's highest court ruled Wednesday that her ousted government was corrupt.

New elections will be held as planned Monday.

A lawyer for the former prime minister called the ruling disappointing. Bhutto said it was expected.

President Farooq Leghari used his constitutional powers to dismiss Bhutto's government Nov. 5, two years before her term expired.

He accused her of driving Pakistan toward economic ruin, stealing billions from the national treasury and using police in the southern city of Karachi to quash a rival political movement.

• GANDHI'S ASHES ARRIVE IN HOLY CITY FOR IMMERSION IN RIVER.

ALLAHABAD, India — A train carrying a handful of Mohandas Gandhi's ashes rolled into this northern city Wednesday, where the remains will be immersed in the Ganges River on the 49th anniversary of his assassination.

The ashes will be immersed in the Ganges River today, according to Hindu practice.

Today is the 49th anniversary of the day a Hindu fanatic shot and killed the leader of India's independence campaign.

• WITNESS: DU PONT PULLED GUN ON HIM AFTER HE SHOT ATHLETE.

MEDIA, Pa. — John E. du Pont was in his car surveying storm damage on his estate when he fired three fatal shots at a wrestler, then pointed the gun at a security consultant seated beside him, the man said.

Consultant Patrick Goodale said he drew his own gun in response and leveled it at du Pont.

du Pont, 58, is on trial for killing Olympic wrestler Dave Schultz at the multimillionaire's Newtown Square estate on Jan. 26, 1996.

His lawyers don't dispute that he shot Schultz, arguing that he was insane when he did so.

▶ DAILY PLANNER

The Daily Planner is the Kansas State Collegian's campus bulletin board service. Items in the planner can be published up to three times. Items may not appear because of space constraints but are guaranteed to appear on the day of the activity. To place an item, stop by Kedzie 116 and fill out a form or e-mail it to (collegn@ksu.edu) by 11 a.m. two days before it is to run.

CHECK THESE EVENTS OUT

- The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Curtis Brungardt at 2 p.m. today in Bluemont 257.
- Juniors can pick up applications for Mortar Board Senior Honor Society in the Office of Student Activities and Services. Applications are due in the OSAS, mailbox 26, by 5 today.
- Greeks Advocations the Mature Management of Alcohol, will meet to discuss elections at 6 tonight in the Union Council Chamber.
- The College of Education will sponsor a trial pre-professional skills test at 6 tonight in Bluemont 101.
- Society of Professional Hispanic Engineers will meet at 6:30 tonight in Durland 274.
- Future Entrepreneurs will have an informational meeting at 6:30 tonight in Union 209.
- Kappa Omicron Nu will meet at 7 tonight in Hoffman Lounge in Justin Hall.
- American Society of Mechanical Engineers will meet at 7 tonight in Durland 334. All mechanical engineers are welcome.
- Rotaract Club will meet at 8:30 tonight in Union 206. Shiela Daniels will speak about business etiquette and Internet for business.
- The Graduate School announces the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Gueorgui Zikratov at 1:30 p.m. Friday in King 004.
- InterVarsity Christian Fellowship will meet at 7:30 Friday night in Throckmorton 1014.

▶ POLICE BLOTTER

Reports are taken directly from the K-State and Riley County police departments' daily logs. We do not list wheel locks or minor traffic violations because of space constraints.

▶ K-STATE POLICE

• TUESDAY, JAN. 28

- At 8:05 a.m., a two-vehicle accident with damage of more than $500 was reported at 17th Street and Anderson Avenue.
- At 4:16 p.m., a wedding ring was reported stolen from Ahearn Field House.
- At 11:50 p.m., a white vehicle was reported by K-State Police to have been driving through grass. Tire tracks were left but no other damage was apparent.

▶ RILEY COUNTY POLICE DEPARTMENT

• TUESDAY, JAN. 28

- At 8:18 a.m., Timothy R. Stockwell, Wichita, was arrested on a Sedgwick County warrant for failure to appear.
- At 11:40 a.m., a past theft was reported. A one-half karat diamond and gold ring was stolen. Loss was estimated at $1,200.
- At 2:16 p.m., a fire was reported on E. Kimball Avenue toward campus one block past Browning Avenue. Manhattan Fire Department was advised.
- At 2:26 p.m., Robert A. Corum, 112 S. Dartmouth Drive, was arrested on a warrant for a parole violation. Bond was set at $1,000.
- At 3:31 p.m., Jose Pagan was arrested on a Shawnee County warrant for failure to appear. Bond was set at $1,000.
- At 3:33 p.m., Jose Pagan was arrested on a Geary County warrant for failure to appear. Bond was set at $500.
- At 4:40 p.m., a past criminal damage to property report was filed for a vehicle that had been keyed. Loss was estimated at $300.
- At 6:30 p.m., a forgery was reported at MasterCuts in Manhattan Town Center. Loss was $10.
- At 7:44 p.m., the past theft of a cassette tape was reported at Streetside Records, 1231 Moro St. Loss was $11.
- At 9:22 p.m., Dennis P. Kramer, 1015 Kearney St., was arrested on a Geary County warrant for indecent solicitation of a child. Bond was set at $2,500.
- At 9:36 p.m., Sarah Catherine Brooks was arrested on a warrant for forgery/criminal use of a financial card. Bond was set at $3,000.

▶ HOW TO CONTACT THE COLLEGIAN

• BY PHONE

Newsroom	532-6556
Advertising	532-6560
Classifieds	532-6555

• BY E-MAIL
(collegn@ksu.edu)

• ON THE WORLD WIDE WEB
(http://collegian.ksu.edu)

• BY SNAIL MAIL
Kansas State Collegian
116 Kedzie Hall
Kansas State University
Manhattan, KS 66506

• IN PERSON
The Collegian newsroom office is located in Kedzie 116 (across from the K-State Student Union).

▶ STATEMENT OF PUBLICATION

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and twice a week through the summer. Periodical postage is paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, circulation desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

© KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN, 1997

Sorority Open Rush
Sign-up in 203 Holton Hall by Friday, Feb. 7
Participating Chapters:
Alpha Xi Delta
Sigma Kappa
Sigma Sigma Sigma
For further information call 532-5546

The Williams Companies is looking for talented, dedicated and creative employees to join us in our quest to be among corporate America's top performers. Building on a foundation of impressive growth and success, we are well-positioned to meet this aggressive goal.

THE WILLIAMS COMPANIES, INC.
Where talent meets opportunity

With headquarters in Tulsa, Oklahoma, we are a multi-billion-dollar corporation with operations in 47 states and international locations. Our companies consist of the nation's largest-volume system of interstate natural gas pipelines; business units offering a complete array of traditional and leading-edge energy solutions; and single-source providers of national business communications systems and international satellite and fiber-optic video services.

We offer competitive salaries and benefits, and the prestige of working for a company that plays a key role in shaping the future of the energy and communications industries.

We will be conducting interviews on campus on Wednesday, February 19th. We're looking for students majoring in computer science, and management information systems. Please notify the placement office if you are interested in scheduling an interview.

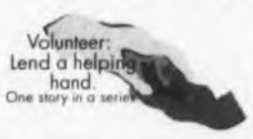
For more information about our company or job opportunities, visit our Internet site at http://www.twc.com.

THE WILLIAMS COMPANIES, INC.
P.O. Box 2400
Tulsa, Oklahoma 74102

BOMBERS
AGGIEVILLE
KSU
MANHATTAN,KS
99¢ DRINKS
99¢ DRINKS

Ladies Nite
No Cover for the guys before 10:30
99¢ DRINKS
99¢ DRINKS
LIVE
UPSTAIRS
Available for Private Parties on the Weekends
BOMBERS UPSTAIRS
* Margin of Error
* Gan Gan Daddy
99¢ DRINKS
Listen to Q103 & K Rock for Entertainment Updates
587-1850
18 to ENTER & 21 to DRINK

RACHEL BERROTH, senior in family life and community services, laughs at something Jennifer Dutt, senior in social work, said while they put together a bulletin board about tax forms. They volunteer at the Manhattan Emergency Shelter.



STUDENT VOLUNTEERS

individuals, groups help people make transitions

STORY BY DANEDRI THOMPSON • PHOTOS BY JILL JARSULIC

Students in several majors fulfill graduation requirements by volunteering their time at the Manhattan Emergency Shelter.

The shelter, which opened in 1985, provides temporary shelter and food to anyone in need. It offers educational programs to help the homeless or others who may want extra information.

"We offer special classes and programs that cover everything from baking and cooking to money management," said Junelle Norris, executive director of the shelter.

As a nonprofit organization, the shelter relies on the help of students.

Eleven percent of funding for the shelter comes from contributions and fundraisers. Many student organizations have yearly functions to help raise money.

"Silver Key does a sleep-out for the homeless, and Kappa Kappa Gamma does Earth Ball," Norris said.

Individual students also volunteer their time to help the shelter.

"We have three interns and a few students from human and family studies," Norris said. "This semester we have six interns, which is the most we have ever had."

The six students volunteer 20 to 30 hours each week.

Although they don't necessarily receive credit for a class, volunteer work is a graduation requirement for social-work majors.

Other volunteers work at the Manhattan Emergency Shelter as part of a class assignment.

"Hotel and restaurant management classes prepare the evening meal once a week. They learn from the experience," Norris said.

Sarah Brooks, junior in social work and a volunteer, said the interns and volunteers do different things each time they work.

"I do different things from filing to working with the people staying at the shelter," Brooks said. "If there are kids there, I play with them. It just depends on what needs to be done."

Brooks said she chose to volunteer at the shelter to meet social work requirements.

"We must do 100 hours of community service to graduate," Brooks said. "I chose to do 50 hours there, because I am from California and we have a much larger homeless population there."

The social work volunteers and the Manhattan Emergency Shelter focus their energies on helping those in transition.

"We recently opened our Sunflower Transitional Living Home," Norris said. "It is four-to-six month short-term housing that was created as a bridge between the Manhattan Emergency Shelter and independent living."

RACHEL BERROTH, senior in family life and community services; Jennifer Dutt, senior in social work; and Charlotte Abell, senior in family life and community services

Blues artist to perform foot-stomping music

YVONNE PEARSON
staff reporter

Catfish Keith is an internationally acclaimed delta blues singer, songwriter and slide guitarist.

He will be performing at 8 p.m. Friday at the Manhattan Center for the Arts, as part of the Birdhouse series.

"It's fresh and strong. It is where Led Zeppelin came from. It's where heavy metal came from. It is where all modern music came from. The Blues. It's a real treat to hear it played and presented well," said David Kamerer, Birdhouse board member of Catfish Keith's Music and the Blues.

Catfish has traveled all around the world playing the blues and has performed alongside John Lee Hooker, Robert Cray, B.B. King and many other artists. Recently his "Fresh Catfish" album earned a nomination for 1995's Acoustic Blues Album of the Year. He was also nominated for the W.C. Handy Award, which is similar to a Grammy Award for the blues.

Catfish said he would describe his music as foot-stomping, down home, delta blues.

"I play slide guitar, stomp my foot, sing and do some originals, all inspired by old-time country blues," said Catfish.

Catfish said he was inspired by Booker White, Muddy Waters, Son House and many others.

"When I was a little kid, I heard it being played on the radio," said Catfish. "My dad played the blues all the time around the house. I remember listening to Buddy Guy and Muddy Waters. I heard blues my whole life."

Catfish said that when he picked up the guitar as a teen-ager, he was inspired to pursue the delta blues after listening to recordings of Son House. He has been playing ever since.

"Playing the blues isn't hard, but playing it well is hard," said Kamerer. "What you have to do is communicate emotional feelings of the music. What Catfish has done best, I think, is to communicate the emotional core of the music.

"A big part of that is the rhythmic drive that is the blues, and he does that by pounding the guitar and his foot. He screams. He howls. He totally lives inside those songs and that's what makes it so awesome to watch."

Catfish's concert is the first of the spring series at the Birdhouse. Tickets are available at the door or in advance at the Dusty Bookshelf in Aggieville and the Manhattan Center for the Arts. General admission is $8 for students and $6 for senior citizens.

Saturday at noon, Catfish will also be offering a guitar workshop at the Birdhouse for $20. The hands on, two-hour workshop teaches slide and finger picking blues to all levels of guitar players. For more information, contact David Kamerer at 532-7064.

Local school may rework classes to block schedules

KELLY FLYNN
staff reporter

Manhattan High School students' schedules may be changing in the future.

The new block scheduling would affect Wednesdays and Thursdays, and the rest of the weekly schedule would stay the same.

The Wednesday schedule would include a 90-minute first period, 70-minute seminar period, 90-minute third period, 90-minute fifth period and a 25-minute planning period.

The Thursday schedule would be the same, but students would go to their second-, fourth- and sixth-period classes.

Classes are now one hour long.

The Alternative Scheduling Task Force, which was formed to address community and faculty concerns about the new schedule, presented advantages of the block schedule: reduced classroom interruptions, greater variety of learning mediums, minimized time loss and a seminar period where students could receive help from a teacher in a difficult subject.

"(The task force) felt there was a need to have longer periods of time for labs," Clark Reinke, associate superintendent for the Manhattan-Ogden USD 383, said.

With block scheduling, teachers could invite guest speakers to talk to classes or teach labs in one class period.

Normally, this would take two or three days, due to preparation and clean up.

The seminar period would be embedded into the middle of the school day to deter students from skipping class.

"The seminar period will have an academic focus," Reinke said.

In addition to using the seminar period to help low-achieving students with their school work, the task force suggested the time be used to teach labs, take pictures for yearbook or have club meetings.

The task force also proposed some problem-solving strategies for this time period, such as dividing the period, creating hall passes and giving teachers grade updates for the students.

The task force also advised students to carry planners to help plan what activities or club meetings they need to attend during the seminar period.

The size of the seminar classes was still being considered at the school board meeting.

The task force suggested the students be broken into small groups by class or by activity.

Reinke said the school board was in favor of the proposal last year when the block scheduling was first introduced and still is in favor of block scheduling.

RESTAURANT & CLUB GUIDE

"No Coupon" Specials (NO coupon needed, NONE accepted)
Everyday Two-fers
2 - PIZZAS with
2 - TOPPINGS each
2 - COKES with ice
$9.12
Everyday Three-fers
3 - PIZZAS with
1 - TOPPING each
3 - COKES with ice
$11.23
Prices do not include sales taxes.
Pizza Shuttle 776-5577

RAOUL'S ESCONDIDO
MEXICAN RESTAURANT
"MANHATTAN'S TASTE OF MEXICO"
Mary sez:
Great Dinner Specials
MONDAY: All You Can Eat Pocket Tacos $4.49
TUESDAY: Tacos & Tostadas 75¢ each
$1.50 Corona & Corona Light
WEDNESDAY: Live Country Music
½ Price Appetizers, 7 p.m.-close
Buy One Dinner (#1-10),
Get The Second For ½ Price
10 oz. Lime Margaritas on the rocks 99¢
THURSDAY: Chicken Fajita Buffet $7.25
FRIDAY: Fajitas for Two $15.99
Raoul's Escondido
215 S. SETH CHILD RD.
IN MANHATTAN
539-3410

Ristorante Marco Polo
Authentic Italian Food
Specializing in Pasta
Lunch
House Specials from
$3.75-$6.95
Dinner
Try Continental and French Cuisine
Tues-Thurs
Hours
11-2 and 4:30-9
6 days a week
Closed Mondays
West Plaza, Village Plaza
Manhattan
539-9300

Burgers & Beer
at Bobby T's
"Calling All Comedians and Singers"
Open Mike Night
Any Burger, Fries & Beer
Every Thursday
$1 pilsners
$3.25
•Bobby T's•Candlewood Shopping Center•
Featuring Daily Drink & Food Specials

International PASTA
100 Bluemont Ave.
(next to Wal-Mart)
(913)537-4700
$4.99 Lunch Buffet
All you can eat from 11 a.m.-2 p.m.
Choose from spaghetti, fettucini alfredo, meat & marinara sauce, tomato sauce, fresh soups and more.
$6.99 Sunday Brunch
All you can eat from 11:30 a.m.-2 p.m.
Come try our pasta ometlette bar! Includes sausage, chicken, beef and your choice of vegetables.
Come try our sauces from around the world.
We feature several different soups and special menu items
(free bread included).
10% OFF with this ad

A GUIDE TO SECTIONS OF THE COLLEGIAN OPINION PAGE

▶ COLUMNS are opinions expressed by the columnists. The opinions are not necessarily the opinions of the Collegian.

OUR VIEW is an editorial written by the Collegian Editorial Board. The board meets every day and discusses editorial topics. The editorial is a compilation of those opinions and represents the opinion of the Collegian.

▶ OUR VIEW

Weekend jazz event generates energy, so become a part of it

At the conclusion of last year's Count Basie Orchestra concert in McCain Auditorium, the audience shouted with glee for an encore.

This weekend, they are getting their wish.

The Count Basie Orchestra is back again for the second year in a row on Saturday for the third annual K-State Jazz Festival.

This time around, the orchestra is bringing New York Voices, a vocal jazz group hailed as one of the best new groups in the country.

There's more to the festival than the concert. Events begin as early as 8 a.m., with a special "Breakfast Jazz and Donuts" at the McCain fountain at 8:30 a.m. Check Friday's Collegian for a complete schedule.

Dennis Wilson, director of jazz studies and the festival, and others in the Department of Music have worked to make this year's festival the biggest ever.

Saturday's festival will attract 26 college and high school jazz vocal and music groups for adjudication, workshops and performances. This translates to almost 700 potential recruits to the K-State music program.

The festival is also interesting potential corporate sponsors that may be willing to contribute money for future festivals and for purchasing new electronic musical lab equipment for the music department.

The Saturday night concert is almost sold out, which means the city of Manhattan has a hot attraction in its hands, bringing in jazz enthusiasts from throughout the region.

With the encroaching good weather of the weekend, the festival will be a good reason to get out and do the fine arts thing with friends. Don't forget, though, that the festival means more to K-State than a day of entertainment.

EDITORIAL BOARD

EDITOR IN CHIEF
Kimberly Hefling
MANAGING EDITOR
Miranda Kennedy
NEWS EDITOR
Claudette Riley
PHOTO EDITOR
Steve Hebert
PRESENTATION EDITOR
Scott M. Ladd
COPY CHIEF
Tanya Nisly
OPINION EDITOR
Kevin Klassen
CITY/GOVERNMENT EDITOR
Andrew Francis
CAMPUS EDITOR
Jill Story
SPORTS EDITOR
Jeremy Kelley
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR
Tara Wray
ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
Portia Sisco
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
Jill Jarvilic
INVESTIGATIONS EDITOR
Nicole Kirby
E-COLLEGIAN EDITOR
Kady Guyton
ASSISTANT E-COLLEGIAN EDITOR
Kelly Furnas
OTHER EDITORIAL BOARD MEMBERS
Russell Fortmeyer, senior in architectural engineering

Our View, an editorial selected and debated by a majority of the editorial board, is written by the editorial board after a concensus opinion is reached. The editorial board consists of Collegian editors and other students. For details on how you can become involved with the editorial board, contact Kevin Klassen, opinion editor.

Things that go Bump in the Night

"An idea that is not dangerous is unworthy of being called an idea at all." - Oscar Wilde

One of my most treasured possessions is language. Obviously, as a columnist, I use it every week. My enjoyment, however, goes beyond my weekly column. Since I was a small child, I have loved to read and write. And, like any writer, I feel protective of not only what I create, but also of my right as an American to express myself in whatever manner I wish.

VIEWPOINT

JUSTIN WILD

JUSTIN WILD is a senior in English and education. You can your e-mail comments to Justin at (justone@ksu.edu).

It is my protective view of the written and spoken word which causes me to feel revulsion at a recurrent issue in American schools, that issue being banned books.

Last week in Coon Rapids, Minn., a suburb of Minneapolis, R.L. Stine's series "Goosebumps" was attacked by parents with the intent to ban the books from elementary school libraries. Stine's books are watered down tales of the supernatural, and they are wildly popular with children.

It is the other-worldly nature of the books, as well as the violence within them, which have caused parents to push the school board to ban the books.

This is not the first time children's literature has been under attack. "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland" was banned in China in 1931 because the author, Lewis Carroll, gave animals language. It was deemed improper to put animals on the same level as human beings. In 1990, Maryland's Howard Country school system banned C.S. Lewis' book "The Lion, the Witch, and the Wardrobe" because the content was deemed supernatural and might frighten some students.

The truth is, the violence of America itself is far more detrimental to a child than any book. Watching Rodney King being beaten or hearing a description of Nicole Brown's fatal wounds is by far uglier than any vampire or werewolf.

While many may argue about the literary quality of Stine's books when compared to the two aforementioned novels, I feel that isn't the issue at hand. Stine has a right to express himself.

I respect that right, and I also respect the right of the students to read what they wish. Above all, I value the concept of the idea.

While I dislike anyone being sheltered from reading and writing, a parent does have the right to govern the development of their children. They do not, though, have the right to govern the development of the other students within the school.

If a parent feels that the books are detrimental to their child's mind, then they shouldn't allow the books in their home. They do not have autonomy over the school, and they do not have autonomy over all the students within the school.

Many students and teachers expressed dismay over the attempted censorship of "Goosebumps." The books fostered an interest in reading within the students, possibly leading to an even greater love of reading and writing.

The purpose of education is to broaden the mind. When ideas — any ideas — are suppressed, a person is robbed of the opportunity to process them and weigh them against other ideas. The price the parents of Coon Rapids will pay for banning books might well turn out to be high. If Stine's books are no longer in the library, will students continue to go there?

Sadly, I believe the answer is no.

After spending a summer teaching children, I came to respect their rationale. They are much, much more intelligent than most people would think. And, as an educator, I have the obligation to not only defend their intelligence, but to nurture it as well.

One does not open another's mind by closing their eyes, ears and mouth.

MATT HAWKINS/Collegian

▶ YOUR VIEWS

• SOURCE CLEARS UP ART MUSEUM COMMENTS.

Editor,

I feel that it is necessary to write this letter so that the issues and facts of the recent K-State Student Union art gallery discussion are clearly and accurately brought to light.

In the Jan. 28 article, several supposed quotes were made by myself and then erroneously reported by Russell Fortmeyer in the above mentioned article.

First, the article stated, in quotes, that "We felt it was important to bring big national shows into the gallery, and we did not feel the academic concerns were of primary concern."

While this quote looks good on paper and would certainly raise a certain amount of controversy, it was not what transpired in my interview with Fortmeyer. At best, this is an exaggerated summarization of our conversation, and it places a very inaccurate slant on the art gallery discussion.

As I told Fortmeyer in the interview, the Union has never been an academic building, which establishes its criteria according to the direction of any academic department on the campus.

Thus, the direction of Union Governing Board is to maintain a gallery that is capable of sponsoring national shows which are brought to K-State.

Unfortunately, neither of these accurate statements were reported in the Jan. 28 article, but were in fact summarized to make it appear that UGB is out to shut down the art department's involvement with the Union art gallery.

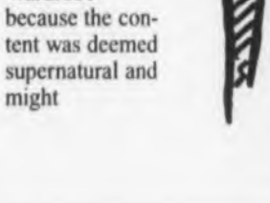
Furthermore, while we are not an academic building, UGB and the Union Program Council have both fostered strong relationships with the art department in their use of the gallery to show student works which also relate back to their academic requirements.

It is my hope that as the Union renovation project progresses along, the reporting of those individuals covering this issue will improve greatly, as the past article reflects an attempt to drum up controversy and possibly derail a project that has been in planning stages for several years.

Finally, as I told Fortmeyer, in our envy, UGB has created and passed policy which ensures the presence of the art gallery in the Union, which is what I believe all interested parties are finally concerned with.

As to the use of this gallery for student art work, the partnership between the art department and the UPC Arts Committee will continue, as it has in the past, with both parties working closely with one another to schedule their events.

As for the article on the art gallery, it is my hope that those who were distressed by it will contact me if they have any questions and take what was reported with about 100 grains of salt.



Patrick Carney
UGB president

Wichita Eagle columnist misses mark on Snyder, K-State football

When I first read Bob Lutz's column, "Wildcats, MAC, er, non-league schedule is way too tough," in the Wichita Eagle, I was so mad I could have spit on a referee or kicked a camera man. Then I sat back, thought about it and couldn't help but laugh. I felt foolish for taking him seriously.

I could just picture the birth of this column. It was a slow day in Wichita. Lutz, with the remains of his three-donut snack still evident on his face, kicks up his feet and says, "I think I will attack one of the greatest figures in football."

VIEWPOINT

VALERI CRENSHAW

VALERI CRENSHAW is a graduate student in print journalism. You can e-mail your comments to Valeri at (vrc4359@ksu.edu).

Lutz senselessly ripped out phrases like: "Checked out that Kansas State non-conference football schedule next season? It's difficult. Much too difficult. Snyder, wisely in my opinion, is scampering."

Then he gnawed on the foot in his mouth some more. "Bill Snyder usually gets what he wants. He has been able to get everything to go his way, except he can't quite figure a plan to mix up the bus drivers for Nebraska and Colorado so they get lost on their way to the stadium."

In his usual sarcastic tone, Lutz attempts to ridicule Bill Snyder's manipulation of the 1997 football schedule and his scheduling in the past.

Bob, Bob, Bob. Please tell me you were just having a bad donut day.

I chuckled at the thought of anyone criticizing Bill Snyder on his coaching ability. Many would agree that he is the best coach to grace the plains of this state.

Oh sure, there are always those Jayhawk loyalists who would stand firmly behind Roy Williams, but how hard is it to take over a successful program and keep it there? Big deal. With 12 all-Americans, I could keep it a top-ranked program — just give me a key to Allen Field House. Williams is one of these coaches who landed on third base and thinks he hit a triple.

Bob, maybe you don't understand football. Obviously you don't understand scheduling, so please let me help you. If done correctly, non-conference scheduling can slow injuries, allow other teams to face Big 12 teams and generate money. If done incorrectly, non-conference scheduling can kill a football program ... um like, er, Wichita State for example.

While I've got your attention, take my crash course in what Snyder has done for our football program. Imagine my four fingers. 1, 2, 3, 4. These represent the four people who sat in Memorial Stadium to watch K-State lose 20 some games in the '80s. Now imagine those fingers today. They all have bowl rings on them. We've done our job.

Criticizing Snyder is like criticizing the crew of Apollo 13. Both got where they wanted to with the props they were given. It was painful to get there, but they did.

Bob, why don't you criticize Abraham Lincoln while you are at it? Why didn't someone else do it if it could be done?

Bill Snyder is absolutely the most successful architect of football. Criticizing Snyder is like criticizing the builders of the Egyptian pyramids. After all, they just went from the Sahara sands to one of the Seven Wonders of the World.

Do you get what I am saying, Bob?

Bob Lutz advising Bill Snyder on running a football program is like Dennis Rodman advising Mother Teresa to tone it down or Tim Allen advising Michelangelo on painting the Sistine Chapel.

You're way out of your league here, Bob. I don't think you quite grasp the magnitude of K-State's football program. The Wildcats were within three plays of defeating every opponent except Nebraska.

I don't know about you other K-Staters, but I would have followed Moses to the Red Sea and even stayed until the water reached my nose, but at that point I would have said, "I'll get back with you." Now, if Snyder would have called on me, I would have followed him all the way and even left my purple poncho at home.

Bob, maybe you missed the purple caravan to Dallas, but that was proof that more than just the players believe Snyder can part the Red Sea.

I'm just a lowly 21-year-old college student, but I do know you are ignorant, Bob. And to top it off, you advertise your ignorance in one of the state's largest newspapers. I have to thank you. Now us journalism majors have proof the job market isn't that tough.

I am embarrassed I wasted so much space on such an arrogant sportswriter, so I close with the words of my hero, Cosmo Kramer: Bob, "you stupid, little man."

BILL KRAAI/Collegian

ROB ROMAN, keyboard; Paul Schimming, sax; Michael T. Brown, bass; and Brian Brooks,drums, entertain those in attendance at the pre-Jazz Festival meeting at the Manhattan Center for the Arts Wednesday afternoon. The four, along with one other artist, make up the K-State Jazz Quintet, which will be performing Saturday morning.

CLIF PALMBERG/Collegian

Jazz festival grows with new acts, sponsors

RUSSELL FORTMEYER
senior staff writer

If a successful music festival is measured on how large it gets each year, the 1997 K-State Jazz Festival is a success.

Not only is the Count Basie Orchestra returning, they are bringing with them New York Voices, a vocal jazz group. The festival musical clinics will also feature Tony Escueta, an electronic music specialist with Yamaha, and 26 different musical and vocal jazz groups are participating in the adjudication.

Music Review

Although it may be hard to top that line-up, the real changes in the festival for 1997 are behind the scenes.

Dennis Wilson, director of jazz studies and the festival, has worked to gain more company sponsorship of the festival as a way to increase the event programming this year.

"Yamaha is giving us the look-over this weekend," Wilson said. "And Yamaha is extremely big in the music industry."

The Yamaha Corporation is sponsoring specialist Escueta for $2,500, but could be interested in making a much more substantial contribution for next year's festival or for an electronic music lab for the music department.

"Our music department is quite archaic when it comes to that part," Wilson said. "I want to bring K-State up to the modern times with electronic equipment."

Other sponsors of the festival include Harry's Uptown Supper Club, Glenn's Music, Auntie Mae's Parlor, 12th Street Pub and the Marianna Kistler Beach Museum of Art. Wilson said when the K-State Concert Jazz Band is asked to perform for different events or charities, he always asks that the organization donate money to the festival.

"I want them to make a contribution to the jazz festival so K-State students can see big-name acts," he said.

Wilson said the festival does not cost the music department much more than postage and some supplies because the Basie concert is presented by McCain Auditorium.

He is also working with other potential corporate sponsors, most of which he has contacted while performing with the Carnegie Hall Jazz Band.

Wilson said that, because the K-State festival has been successful, he has something substantial to show potential sponsors.

A recent Carnegie trip to Holland, for example, netted Wilson a meeting with the head of marketing for the Heineken Corp. Alcohol companies have a long tradition of sponsoring musical theater and jazz festivals.

Last semester's trip to see Tony Bennett in Kansas City, Mo., offered Wilson a chance to establish contacts with Bravo Corp., a credit card company.

The allure of working in a clinic with the Count Basie Orchestra or with the New York Voices has secured the highest number of jazz groups ever to attend the festival.

"I want to put on a program that is so strong, no one can afford not to come," Wilson said.

The one-day event has gotten so jampacked with events, the festival will almost have to expand to two days next year, Wilson said.

Performances at this year's festival include two other collegiate bands from Hutchinson Community College and Friends University of Wichita.

Wilson has also been building up Saturday's festival with the hopeful announcement of a secret he's been keeping to himself. Wilson has dropped hints throughout the past year — claiming he'd like to bring Tony Bennett to the festival — but he has not given enough clues, yet. He only said that it's "going to for jazz.

KICKOFF

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Wilson said he hoped for a large attendance at the annual Historical Lecture Series held at 2 p.m. in All Faiths Chapel. This year the late vocal jazz singer Ella Fitzgerald will be honored by a panel of her personal friends, including Wilson.

"This is not the kind of information you can find in a book," Wilson said. "These people really knew her, have been over to her house, have eaten things she cooked."

Kansas Gov. Bill Graves honored Fitzgerald with a proclamation naming Feb. 1 Ella Fitzgerald Day.

A representative from the governor's office will read the proclamation at the 8 p.m. concert finale in McCain Auditorium, featuring the Count Basie Orchestra and critically acclaimed jazz vocal ensemble New York Voices.

"You just can't get any better than that," Wilson said of the two groups.

Those who want to see the Count Basie Orchestra and New York Voices other than on the stage can do so earlier in the day. At 1 p.m. in the K-State Student Union Courtyard, the two groups will attend an autograph session for about an hour.

Wilson said his goal is to give students as much one-on-one contact as possible with these great artists. During the autograph signing, a $4 New Orleans buffet will be available in Union Station in the Union.

Next year, Wilson said he hopes to turn the festival into a two-day event with corporate sponsors. The K-State Jazz Festival is put together without a budget. He said the success of the festival is due to the students.

Men's & Women's
Sterling Silver Bands
$6 to $25
Krystallos
Ring Sale 1/2 Price Trays
708 N. Manhattan

Open Dance Auditions
For Spring Dance '97
No Experience Necessary
Thursday, January 30, 1997
5:30 - 7:00 pm
304 Ahearn Gym
For further information contact the KSU Dance Office
(913) 532-6887

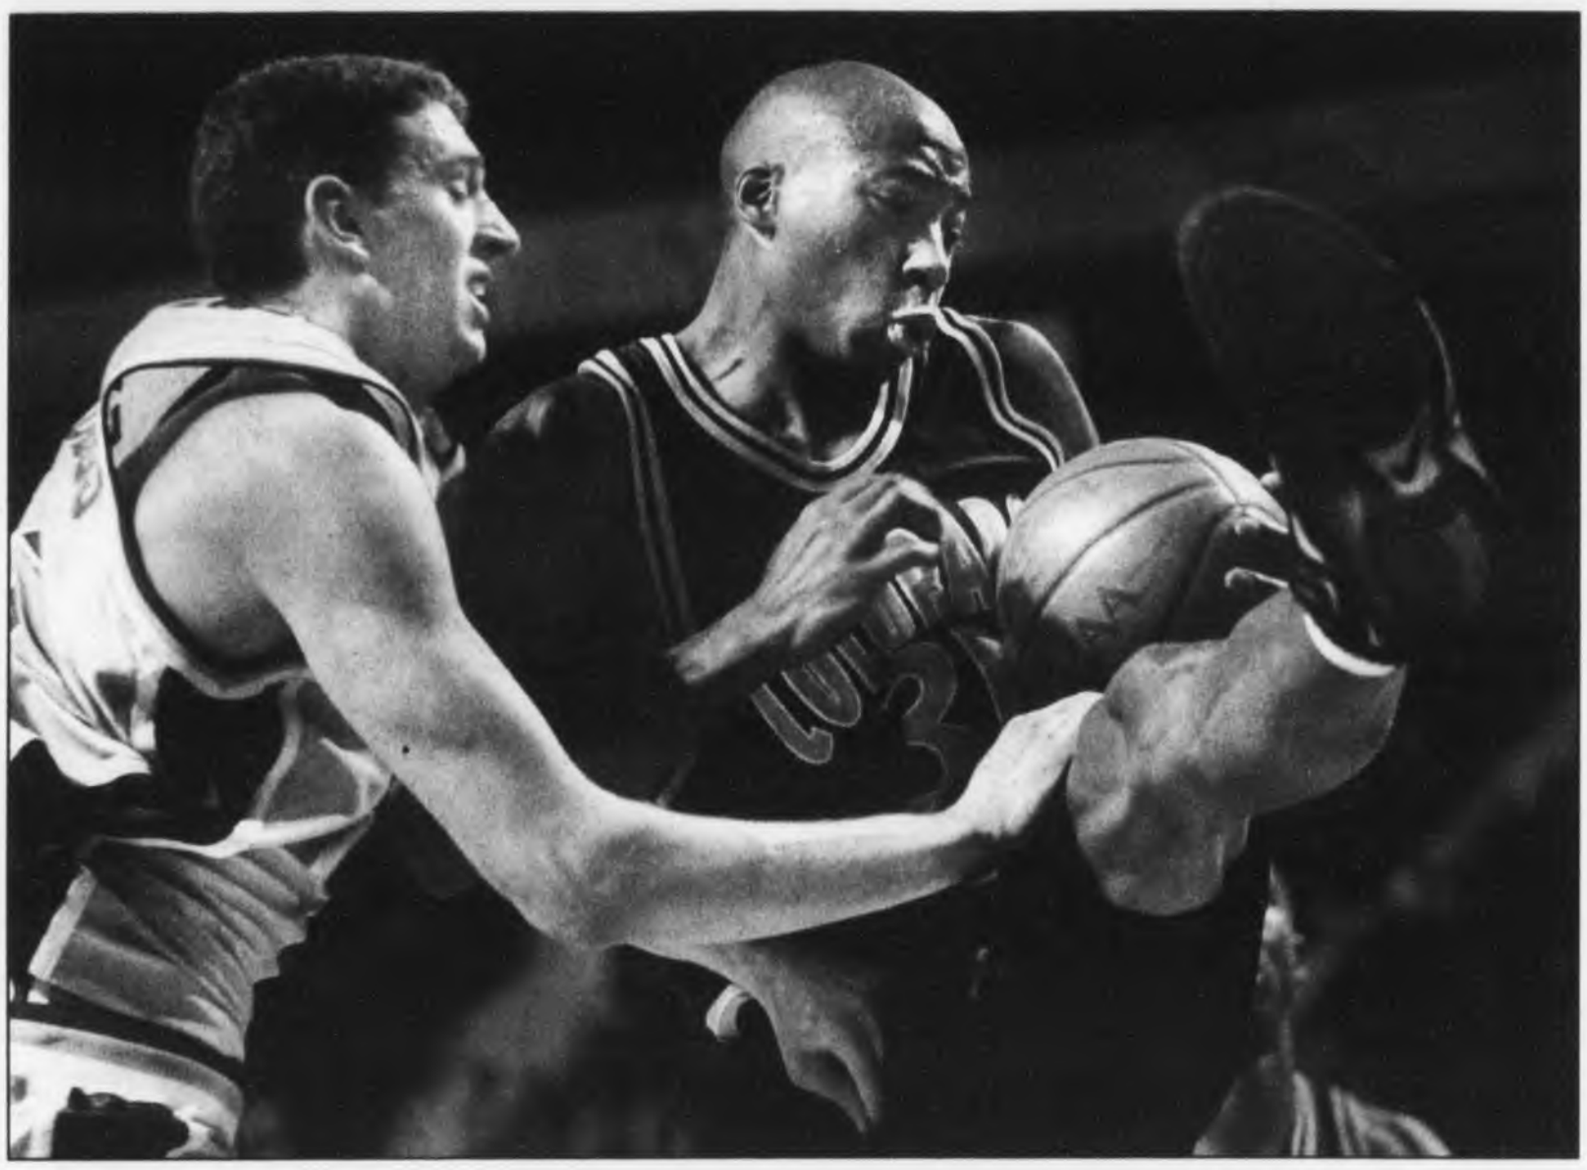
Joyce's Hair Tamers
We tame the tough ones
Perms Reg. $40-$48
On Sale Now!
$30-$38
Haircuts
Shampoo & Style
Gals $12.50
Guys $8.50
539-TAME
2026 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

SCOREBOARD Sports Bar
The Total Sports Package
Thursday Night
NCAA Basketball
Massachusetts vs. George Washington
Cincinnati vs. Louisville
$1.00 Bottles
776-7714 1119 MORO

THE PURPLE PIG
Manhattan's Newest Beer Tavern
THE PURPLE PIG EST. 1996
Thursday Specials
Big Beers
$2.50
Friday Specials
Big Beers
$2.75
539-7444 Open 4 p.m. Mon.-Sat. 424 Houston St.- Downtown

MYSTERY SCIENCE THEATER 3000: THE MOVIE
FRIDAY, JAN. 31 7:00 & 9:30 PM
SATURDAY, FEB. 1, 7:00 PM
SUNDAY, FEB. 2, 8:00 PM
K-State Student Union UPC Feature Films Committee
FORUM HALL
Admission $1.75
Sundays only $1.00

FUTURE ENTREPRENEURS
Would Like to Congratulate Its New Officers
President: Brian Glaves
Vice President: Matt Runte
Treasure: Nick Bollinger
Secretary: Aimee Bass
Events: Karl McIntosh
Publicity: Spencer Gardner
Advisor: Richard K. Burke
Info Meeting Thursday, Jan. 30 • 6:30 pm • Union 209



K-STATE SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATION DEADLINE FEBRUARY 1, 1997
Applications Are Now Being Accepted For K-State General, Departmental And College Scholarships
Pick Up An Application In The Office Of Student Financial Assistance 104 Fairchild Hall
OR
APPLY ON-LINE AT
www.ksu.edu/sfa/application/scholarship_app.html

JOIN THE KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY AND MANHATTAN COMMUNITIES AT THE BLACK HISTORY MONTH KICKOFF CELEBRATION
SUNDAY FEB. 2, 1997
K-STATE STUDENT UNION STATION
7 p.m.
NO COST
FEATURING
"Ngoma"
An African American Drum and Dance Group St. Louis, Mo
FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT THE OFFICE OF DIVERSITY AND DUAL CAREER DEVELOPMENT.
913/532-6276

SILVERADO SALOON
THURSDAY
· Ladies Night
. .No cover for the ladies
· $1 longnecks
FRIDAY
·$2 pitchers!!!
·$1.75 Tequila Rose shots
bring in this ad for free cover Thurs.-Sat!!!
SATURDAY
·$1 TQ Hot Shots
·Party with B104's JMJ
539-0230 AGGIEVILLE

YANKEE MANAGER TO RECEIVE MORE THAN $2 MILLION RAISE

▶ New York Yankee manager and World Series hero, Joe Torre has reportedly agreed to a two-year contract extension with the Yankees. The deal includes a raise that is worth more than $2 million.

COLORADO'S, Fred Edmonds pulls down a rebound over K-State's Shawn Rhodes during the first half of action Wednesday night at Bramlage Coliseum. 18-ranked Colorado beat K-State, 69-60.
STEVE HEBERT
Collegian

Cats get buffed late

Colorado sinks key shots down stretch, takes game

JEREMY KELLEY
sports editor

Same book, different chapter. Except this time K-State never led.

Colorado squeaked out a win at Bramlage Coliseum Wednesday night against K-State to deliver the Cats their eighth loss in a row, 69-60.

Nothing could change the Cats' slump. Not new gray uniforms or a new starting lineup featuring Marcus McCollough.

It was just not their night.

"Maybe it just comes down to knocking down shots at the end of the game. They didn't, and we did," Colorado coach Ricardo Patton said.

If that doesn't sum up the game, nothing else will. But throughout the game the Cats kept plugging away at the Buffaloe lead.

With Colorado enjoying an 11-point lead with 13:33 left, something clicked inside of K-State guard Aaron Swartzendruber.

"I just started hitting," he said. "I just started playing hard. I wasn't going to back down, and I felt like I needed to step up."

Swartzendruber busted loose for nine points during a 35-second stretch in the middle of the second half via two three-pointers and a three-point play that shortened the deficit, 40-47.

But unlike past games, K-State was in the ballgame with 3 minutes, 12 seconds left.

Colorado guard Chauncey Billups was called for a double-dribble in the backcourt with 3:31, which gave K-State an opportunity to get within three — the closest margin since the first half when the Cats trailed 13-12.

Swartzendruber drove to the bucket and was fouled by Billups. Swartzendruber hit one free throw and the Cats were down by just four, 55-59.

But then Billups redeemed himself when he nailed a three-ball with three minutes left and increased the Buffs' lead 55-62.

But rather then folding like a pitch tent, K-State didn't back down and guard Mark Young's lay-in with 1:33 gave the Cat faithfuls hope as K-State trailed by just six, 60-66.

But as he had done all night, Billups traveled the length of the court with just seven seconds on the shot clock and hit another three-pointer that accounted for the final tally.

"Chauncey comes, raises up — Boom! He just cuts your heart out with a couple of those threes at the end," Coach Tom Asbury said. "I think their coach will tell you that Chauncey's leading the brigade on this."

It was Billups who kept delivering the dagger that punctured the Cats' spirits. The all-American chipped in 25 points including 4-9 from behind the stripe.

K-State shot a lackluster 35 percent from the field and a mere 50 percent from the free-throw line. Asbury said those combinations were the reason his team fell to the 18th-ranked team in the country.

"Again it goes down to that one number — if you shoot 35 percent you are not going to win," Asbury said. "Two things loom out there is that Chauncey makes giant plays, and we shoot 35 percent."

Forward Shawn Rhodes paced the Cats with a double-double: 16 points and 10 rebounds. Swartzendruber chipped in 10 and Young added 11 for the Cats who recorded their seventh straight Big 12 loss.

The Cats travel to Missouri on Saturday searching for their first Big 12 win. Asbury said he hopes the team doesn't lose its confidence after the disappointing loss.

"We don't gain confidence. Hopefully we don't lose it," he said. "We have the greatest guys in the world. I just don't think we're there."

BILLUPS STICKS CATS WITH THREE-POINTERS

Before the game, K-State students held a sign that read: "Hey Chauncey, Dial 1-800-COLLECT." Colorado guard Chauncey Billups dialed and collected a 69-60 win for the 18th-ranked Buffaloes Wednesday night at Bramlage Coliseum.

Billups came into the game averaging 18.4 points a game this season. Against the Cats, he erupted for 25 points. Perhaps his biggest basket of the night came with just 56 seconds left in the game.

The scenario: The Cats pulled to within six, 66-60 on a fast-break dunk by Cat forward Mark Young. The Cat defense pressured the Buffaloes on the following possession, with Young tipping the ball away with seven seconds on the shot clock.

The crowd erupted, cheering on the defensive effort by the Cats. But with seven seconds left on the shot clock, Billups calmly dribbled down the court, stopped at the three-point line and drained a three-pointer. The crucial shot put the Buffaloes up 69-60 and killed any last second hopes for the Cats.

"Chauncey just raised up and boom, drilled the three," Cat coach Tom Asbury said. "It just cut our hearts out."

On the play, Billups said the team had not called a set play to get him the ball.

"It wasn't anything we set up. I just tried to go with the flow. I was fortunate that it went in. It took the air out of them."

The Cats limited Billups to just 11 points on 3-5 shooting from the field in the first half. Two of his shots came from behind the three-point line with Cat defenders in his face.

"I thought we did a fairly good job on him," Asbury said. "But he's a big-time player. He's leading the brigade on this team."

With three minutes left in the game, Billups killed another Cat rally. After the Cats had pulled to within four points on Aaron Swartzendruber's three-point play, Billups canned another three-pointer to put the Buffaloes up 62-55.

"He just hit the big shots in the end that were crucial," Swartzendruber said. "He showed why he is an all-American tonight."

Twenty-one of Billups' shots came from behind the lines, the three-point line and the free-throw line. Billups hit four of nine three-pointers and connected on nine of 10 free throws.

"My teammates just have a lot of confidence in me to come up with the big shots," Billups said. "I just try to get into the flow of the offense every game and produce for my team."

STORY BY SHANE McCORMICK

Intramural favorites prepare for new season

CORY MORGAN
staff reporter

The hype of March Madness is just around the corner, but the hype of Manhattan Madness is already here. Hey, sports fans, it's that time of the year once again.

The intramural basketball season is underway with four leagues: men's league, women's league, co-recreation league and a six-foot and under league, which begin tonight.

In the men's league, the preseason favorite is the Legion of Doom, led by senior captain Jarrett Grosdidier. The team won the all-University championship, but they lost a key guard from that team.

"We picked up a couple of guys from the football team to replace the guy we lost, so we look to be as good or even better than last year," Grosdidier said.

Grosdidier said he likes the intramural basketball program at K-State and thinks the system is very well-organized and put together.

Danielle Frieling, junior in nutrition, exercise science and pre-physical therapy, said he agreed with Grosdidier.

"This is a great opportunity for teams to compete against other high quality teams and have fun while doing so."

In the women's league, the preseason favorite is the Champs, who are led by their captain, Frieling.

"Our team looks forward to competing in intramural basketball this year, and we hope that we can make it to the final," Frieling said.

In the co-Rec league, the preseason favorite is the Nads, who are led by senior Lyle Hays.

ZACHARY BAZE/Collegian

"We are looking forward to the season. The last two years we have been in the championship game but came up short," Hays said. "This year we hope that a third time is the charm."

In the six-foot and under league, the preseason favorite is Go Chicken Go, a team consisting of Sigma Chi fraternity members.

Brian Conley, junior in human resource management, said their team hasn't changed a bit from last year's team.

"Go Chicken Go is the same team as last year, except they added a couple of freshman. I think they will be just as strong as last year," Conley said.

Conley, a member of Sigma Chi fraternity and captain of the Sigma Chi house team, also said the Sigma Chi house team has everyone returning from last year, plus a couple of guys who are stepping up from the independent team.

Sigma Chi is ranked second in the preseason behind the Legion of Doom.

"We are looking to winning everything in both divisions this season," Conley said.

Last year, Sigma Chi won the fraternity league championship, but lost in the finals of the all-University championship to Grosdidier's team.

Faithful fan offers prescriptions of success for Cats' glum year

Remember a time when all was well in the basketball universe and Willie frolicked happily inside the confines of Bramlage Coliseum? Well Wildcat kids, these happy days have become good times gone by recently, due to lop-sided road losses and blown opportunities in major conference games. I realize that the Cats' hoop plight has been discussed more than Dick Vitale's decibel level, but maybe it's time to quit sulking and start solving.

VIEWPOINT

JON BALMER

JON BALMER is a freshman in pre-journalsim and mass communications. You can e-mail your comments to Jon at (jkb2004@ksu.edu).

Instead of shifting all the blame onto Coach Tom Asbury, perhaps it's time to unite under the common goal of success and join together in a glorious rendition of "We are family." On that note, I offer my contribution of possible prescriptions for success. I'm no Dr. Cliff Huxtable mind you, but a potent dose of the following ideas may provide enough momentum to sneak into the Big Dance and cure the team of round-ball Cat-tastrophy.

1. The Nostalgic approach: In this age of advanced technology and futuristic design, the secret to sports success seems to lie in the past. Throw-back stadiums are all the rage (Camden Yards, Jacobs Field), and some have stood the test of time and weather in becoming the symbol of the franchise (Wrigley Field). Many teams that grace the court in relic-like uniforms (Boston Celtics, Indiana Hoosiers), have landed on top decade after decade. This could just be the answer for Asbury's assassins. By dipping into the past, present success could be discovered. Imagine the possibilities. A return to Ahearn Field House: throw-back jerseys that fit like a glove and socks that ride higher than a hitchhiking Deadhead. This concoction of old-school flavor could erase the current losing mentality by using the "blast-from-the-past" idea as a starting over point. All the heartache could be forgotten by incorporating the "Then" into the "Now."

2. The Unity approach: This is a commonly adopted strategy towards reversing one's fortunes. Michigan had the baggy shorts and black socks. Kansas spit into the Mississippi River. Now it's time for the Cats to adopt one of their own.

One possible solution could not only promote unity, but at the same time degrade KU and mock the Hawks. Anyone who's seen a KU game this season must have been knocked upside the head by the sight of center Scot Pollard's sideburns. The man has a pair of wicked muttonchops, and that's putting it lightly. There's no doubt this pair of oversized head decor must have distracted the Cats when Roy's Boys came to town earlier this year. Now, it's time to strike back.

My unity proposal is this: Have every member of the team start sprouting some fierce facial hair right now, giving it time to blossom into something reminiscent of a "Grizzly Adams" reunion show. When the time comes to make the yearly trek to Lawrence, the mass display of muttonchops will destroy the focus of Pollard and the rest of his teammates and will lead the charge for an upset bid. With confidence brimming from the 'burns, the Cats can keep clawing towards an at-large bid or possible conference tournament victory. Plus, think of all the Sports Center air time these 'chops will receive. Promotion and progress, the perfect combination.

3. The "Gipper" approach: There are always figures in sports whose tragic scenario has provided the team with motivation for victory, as evident by the "win one for the Gipper" campaign. However, K-State has yet to utilize this springboard for success. If ever there was a time for this figure to emerge, it is now.

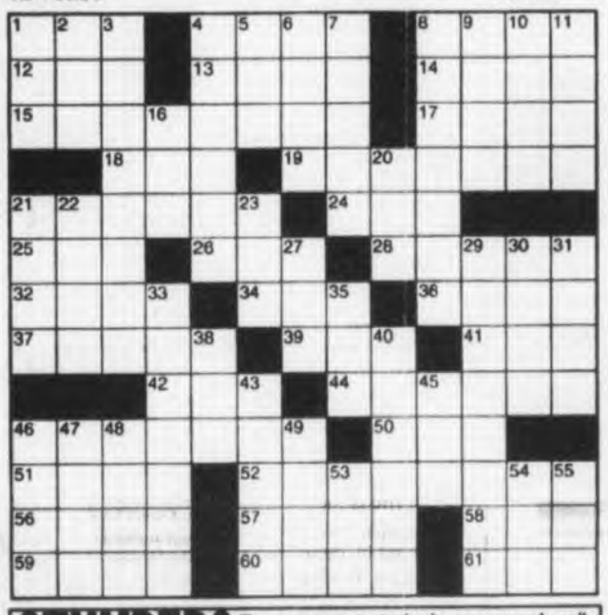
But who provides the elements needed for a successful Gipper? Current injured hooper Pero Vasiljevic makes a case, and the accomplishments of Manhattan legend Johnny Kaw cannot be forgotten, but there is indeed a more worthy figure that could formulate a win streak: Morris the cat. Yes, this fellow feline's fall from grace holds all the elements needed to lead the Cats toward victory. The former "9 Lives" spokesman's tragic story contains all the elements Asbury needs to rally his troops. With a role model like this leading from above, there's no reason the Cats can't win one for Morris, game after game.

While there are other strategys that could be used to ignite a victory run, the above-mentioned three stand polished and ready.

Be it nostalgia, muttonchops or Morris, the results equal bona fide success.

▶ DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 Ring tactic
4 Hula Hoop supporters
8 Signet
12 Portraitist's choice
13 Provo is here
14 Meat-stamp letters
15 Prude
17 Catch red-handed
18 Future phalarope
19 Audrey Hepburn movie
21 Tape
24 Egg-yung link
25 Essen expletive
26 Archery-bow wood
28 Special-interest group
32 Send
34 Peruke
36 Chimney channel
37 Was optimistic
39 Pitch
41 Grecian vessel
42 Tease
44 Jimmies, e.g.
46 Reno's river
50 Bawl
51 Mandlikova of tennis
52 Rink divider
56 Satan's specialty
57 Pelion pile-on partner
58 Unrefined
59 Apportion, with "out"
60 Pizza paddle
61 Turn blue, maybe



DOWN
1 Biblical sufferer
2 Have a bug
3 Low-risk, as an investment
4 Famished
5 "Who am — judge?"
6 Impersonate successfully
7 Bundle of wheat
8 Car-buyer's option
9 Actor Morales
10 Situation for 51 Across
11 Tra trail
16 Freudian subject
20 Manute of basketball
21 Impetuous
22 Canyon comeback
23 Morning moisture
27 Oscar Wilde's sine qua non
29 Happiness emblem
30 Hamilton's foe
31 Longings
33 Bedsheet material
35 Guy's mate
38 Cartoonist Browne
40 Close back up
43 Jazzy style
45 Book-binding abbr.
46 Him and her
47 Carry on so
48 Monad
49 Otherwise
53 Put to work
54 Unfavorable vote
55 Ram's ma'am

Solution time: 23 mins.

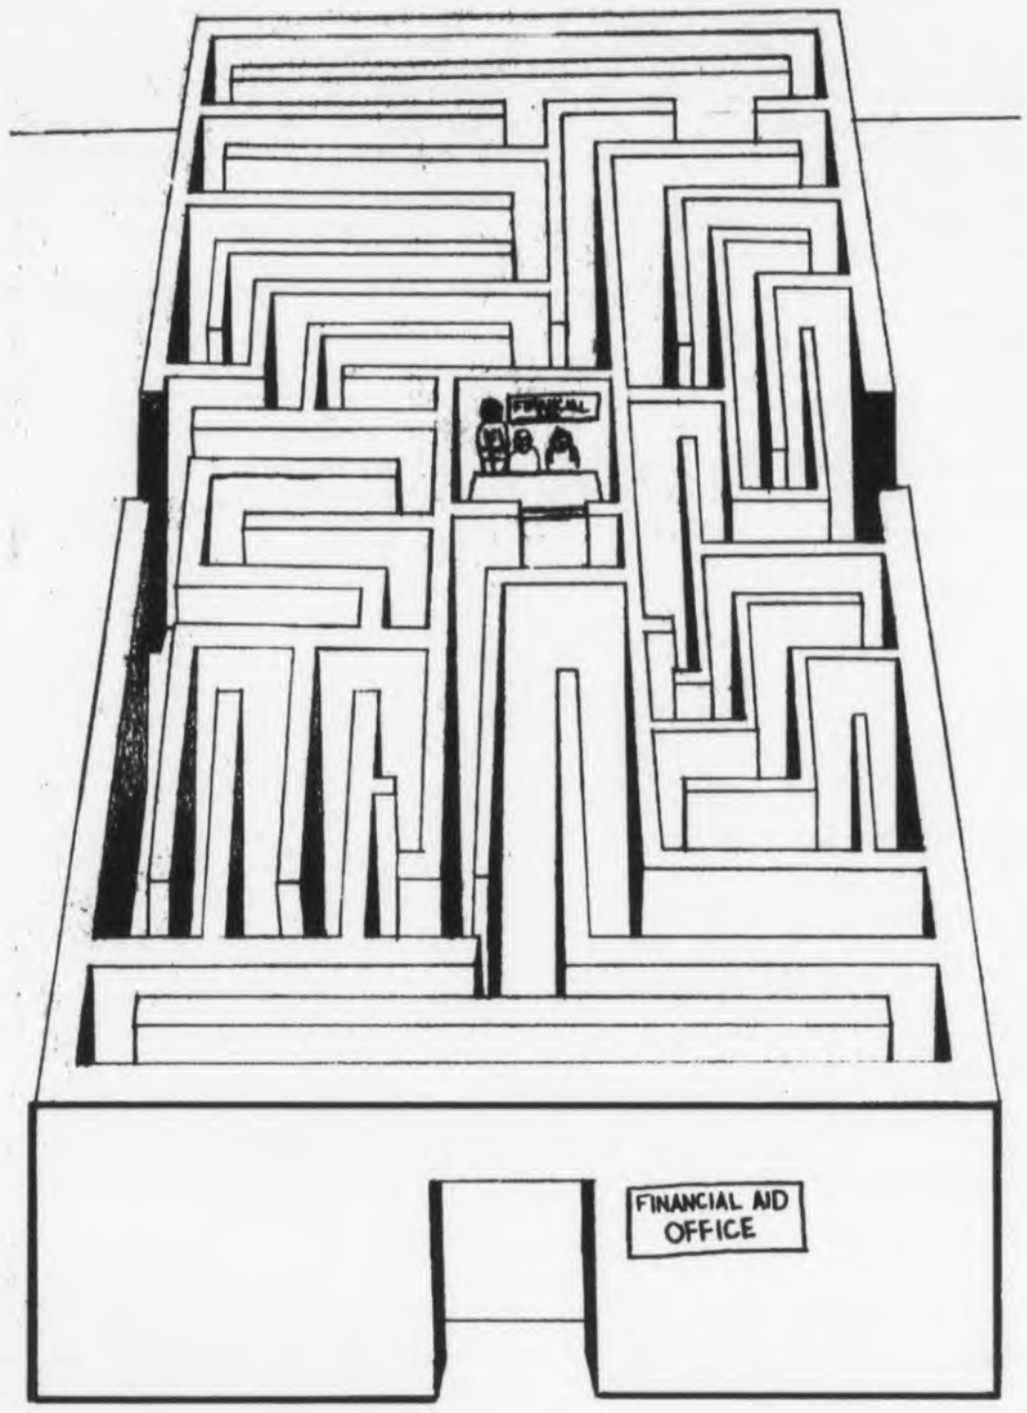
B	I	G		D	E	M	I		L	A	I	R
U	S	A		I	V	A	N		A	I	D	A
D	A	M		M	E	L	G	I	B	S	O	N
D	W	E	E	B			E	W	E
			B	U	C	K		O	L	D	E	R
M	E	L	B	L	A	N	C		S	O	D	A
O	R	A		B	L	E	A	T		L	I	I
L	I	M	P		M	E	L	A	L	L	E	N
L	E	P	E	R		D	E	L	E
			B	U	G			K	N	O	C	K
M	E	L	B	R	O	O	K	S		U	Z	I
O	R	A	L		W	R	I	T		S	A	W
P	A	G	E		N	E	M	O		T	R	I

Yesterday's answer

2-6

STUMPED? For answers to today's crossword, call 1-900-454-6873 | 99¢ per minute, touch-tone / rotary phones. (18+ only.) A King Features service, NYC.

2-6 CRYPTOQUIP



W J Z X L Z W N A W N W E E J U E U C H Z Z V U Y H N X Z V U A Y Z A L C U H Z.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: PROFESSIONAL, TRAINED COFFEE-MAKERS EARN INCOME AND LOTS OF PERKS.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: Y equals B

▶ MELVIN VS. THE WORLD

It's financial aid application time again.
The process can be tough and tedious, yet it is possible to acquire the funds.

survive the maze

STORY BY CHARLE SIOUX CHARLETON • ILLUSTRATION BY DERAY GAMBLE

Financial aid. Two little words capable of striking terror in the hearts of many.

Two little words that conjure up visions of pencils and forms, headaches and hassles. But there is one type of financial aid that might make life easier — scholarships.

Scholarships are offered to students at K-State for a number of reasons, and they are not all based on academics or athletics.

A person does not have to be a star to qualify either. Financial need is the basis for some scholarships.

There are scholarships for agricultural, architectural, engineering, and human ecology students, as well as artists. The College of Technology at Salina offers scholarships, also.

Family heritage, a parent's employer, a diversity of interests and even where people live can be factors that qualify people for a scholarship.

There is one thing all scholarships have in common: a deadline. The deadline for scholarship applications, February 1, is approaching fast.

"Definitely all students should try to meet the deadline. You should apply even if you are not sure you can get one. Let your academic department or college make that determination," Larry Moeder, director of student financial assistance, said.

Luckily for K-State students, there is a quick way to apply. Now you can simply type in the address (www.ksu.edu/sfa/application/scholarship_app.html).

"The address might seem a little long, but it speeds up the process," Moeder said. "The Internet has made the scholarship application very efficient."

For those less technologically advanced, there are still forms available to fill out by hand. They can be picked up at the Office of Student Financial Assistance, which is located at Fairchild 104. The main phone number is 532-6420.

No matter how you go about it, it is a small amount of effort to put forth. The end result is reaping a reward anyone can appreciate.

"K-State gives out about five million dollars in scholarships," Moeder said. "We will receive about 6,800 scholarship applications and, of those applying, about 4,100 will receive a scholarship."

In addition to scholarships, K-State offers other types of financial aid.

Federal Pell Grants vary from $400 to $2,470 per year and are available to undergraduate students. They do not have to be repaid.

Like all financial aid, Pell Grant eligibility is based on family income. For those seeking more information, there are student workers who can answer immediate questions at the information counter in the financial aid office.

More detailed information is available through financial aid counselors, usually by appointment.

Neither Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants nor Federal College Work Study must be repaid. SEOGs range from $100 to $1,200, while a student with work study may earn between $800-$2,000 yearly working

See MONEY, Page 8

▶ DILBERT

So what do you think?
The Collegian is in the process of changing what used to be the Diversions page. Now there's more variety. E-mail your comments and story ideas to Portia Sisco at (andra@ksu.edu) or call 532-6556.

TRAINSPOTTING

Thursday, Jan. 30
7:00 & 9:30 PM

Saturday, Feb. 1
9:30 PM

Forum Hall
K-State Student Union

Receive 75¢ off
"Shallow Grave" pass with purchase of a "Trainspotting" ticket. Only available in the K-State Student Union.

UPC KALEIDOSCOPE FILMS COMMITTEE

Thursday ..... Ladies Night

Largest 2 level dance floor in the Ville

$1.50 Damn Fine Beer bottles
$2 Captain Morgans
$2 Jose Cuervo Mistico shots

HOME OF THE WALL OF SHAME

Damn Fine Beer & Jose Cuervo t-shirts FREE

VOTING ON THE WALL TONIGHT
5 p.m. - 11:30 p.m.
We're sendng someone to Vegas!

Friday Night
$1.50 Key Lite Bottles
$1.95 Domestics
$2.50 Captains

Saturday Night
$1.50 Key Lite Bottles
$1.95 Domestics
$2.75 Big Beers
$4 Large Captains

Man sentenced in deaths of 9 women

ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Henry Louis Wallace said nothing during his trial for murdering and raping nine women. After being sentenced Wednesday to die for the crimes, he broke his silence to apologize.

"None of these women, none of your daughters, mothers, sisters or family members in any way deserved what they got. They did nothing to me that warranted their death," he read from a three-page statement, as relatives of his victims sobbed.

Wallace sat down as a victim's cousin shouted, "Why did you kill them?"

Prosecutors said Wallace, 31, a former fast-food worker, was a calculating, cold-blooded killer who preyed on friends and co-workers and hid his crimes by meticulously cleaning up murder scenes.

The defense didn't deny Wallace strangled or stabbed the women between 1991 and 1994, but said he was mentally ill.

During the long trial and sentencing hearing, Wallace's only words to the court were heard in 10 hours of tape-recorded confessions to police.

Superior Court Judge Robert Johnston allowed Wallace to speak after imposing the nine death sentences, but before sentencing him to 10 life sentences plus 322 years for 20 other crimes.

Several relatives refused to accept Wallace's apology.

"I don't believe he's sorry. He wouldn't have lied to me for two years while my sister was missing and then killed all those other women," said Kathy Love, whose sister disappeared while she was a roommate of Wallace's girlfriend.

The mother of victim Debra Slaughter said she didn't believe that Wallace was contrite.

"But I forgive him," Lovie Slaughter said. "Justice was served, and he was making his last plea for forgiveness."

Foreman Robbie Grier said jurors discussed Wallace's troubled life, including his impoverished youth and evidence of sexual abuse and mental illness. But in the end, he said, the jury felt he was aware of his actions.

GULF WAR

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

destroyed after the war and was revealed last year to contain some chemical warheads.

Sen. Jay Rockefeller of West Virginia, the ranking Democrat on the committee, asked why field officers at Kamisiyah didn't make more of an effort to ascertain whether the weapons they were destroying were chemicals.

"They either didn't recognize them or see them at the time," Schwarzkopf said, noting that the Americans were under pressure to withdraw quickly from the area in southern Iraq. He said he didn't learn of the chemical presence until last year.

"Nobody was more surprised than I was," he said.

Rockefeller also said he was shocked by Schwarzkopf's remarks that he did not know that pyridostigmine bromide, an anti-nerve gas tablet administered to U.S. troops, was not approved by the Food and Drug Administration. There have been theories that the drug may be a contributing factor to the health problems of veterans.

In his testimony, the general recalled how he had faced a moral dilemma in deciding, during the air war, whether to destroy chemical and biological plants in central Iraq and possibly contaminate thousands of Iraqi civilians.

"It was a problem that we agonized over for many months," Schwarzkopf said. He said that special munitions were used to destroy the plants with minimal dispersion of agents and that the winds were such at the time of the attacks that there was no possibility of endangering the innocent civilian population or our troops.

The Americans knew the Iraqis had chemical weapons in front-line positions in Kuwait and Iraq, but not the exact locations, he said. It was a very real possibility that allied aircraft bombed Iraqi bunkers where chemicals were stored, he said.

KING

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

patents and remains an active industry consultant for several national and international companies.

As a researcher, King has worked in the area of fundamental catalysis and surface science, surface thermodynamics and reaction engineering. He has published more than 60 articles in his field and directed 20 graduate and post-doctoral students.

King has visited K-State twice since December. He said he is excited to continue working with Midwest students with strong work ethics.

"The college, as any institution, has room to improve, and I'm excited to join the team and work toward common goals," King said.

King said one goal of his will be to integrate more research into the undergraduate studies.

"What I found at K-State was a college that has focused very well on undergraduate education," King said. "As with most land-grant colleges, K-State is there to educate, but also emphasizes research and service."

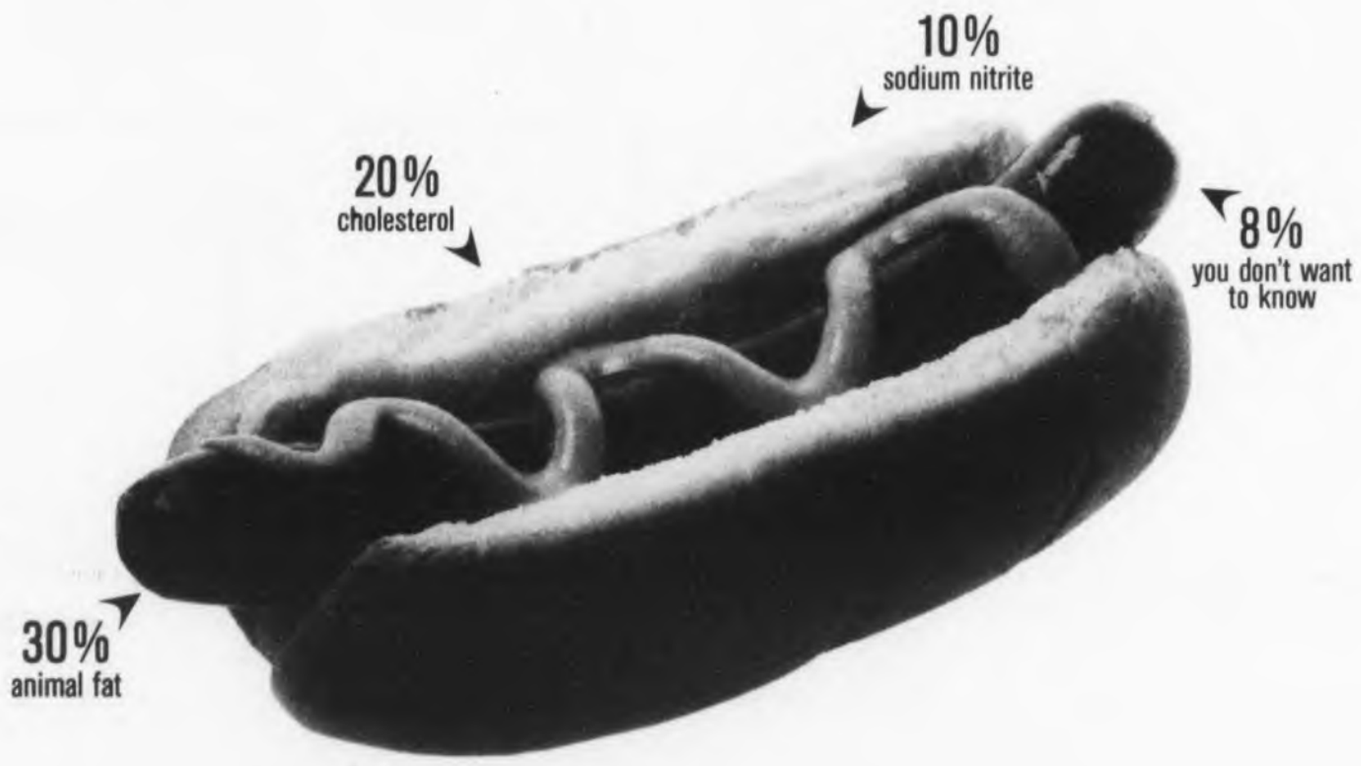
King has received many awards, most recently the Iowa State University Alumni Association Faculty Citation, in recognition of outstanding and inspiring service to the university. Other honors include the H.A. Webber Award for Outstanding Teacher in Chemical Engineering and the Innovation Recognition Program from the Union Carbide Corp.

His professional affiliations include the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, American Chemical Society, American Society of Engineering Education and the Council for Chemical Research.

King will begin his duties at K-State in June, where he will lead nine departments and 179 faculty members.

"I'm looking forward to having a lot of fun there. Of course, education is a lot of hard work, but when it stops being fun, that's when I'll get out," King said.

MONEY



CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7

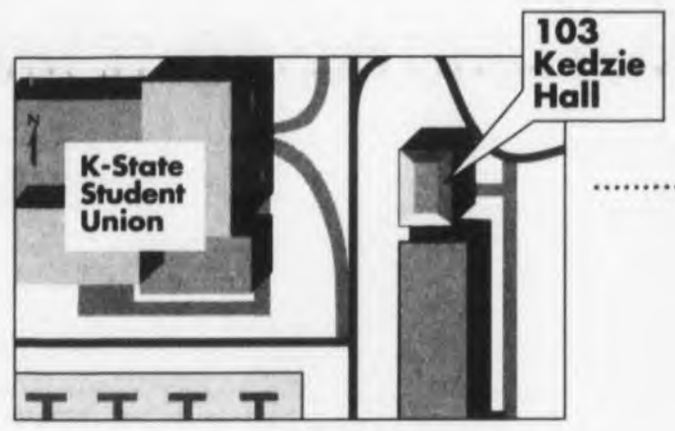
on campus.

Financial aid that students will need to repay, usually following graduation, include several types of loans. While grants and scholarships are preferable, loans are sometimes necessary to make it through school.

"We do take scholarships into consideration," Judy Bonjour, student loan representative at Kansas State Bank, said. "We may reduce the amount of a loan, depending on the cost of education."

CUDDLE UP
SALE
ALL SALE ITEMS
1/2 PRICE
WARM OR SATIN
Patricia's UNDERCOVER Lingerie
OPEN 'TIL 7P.M. TONIGHT
AGGIEVILLE SINCE 1869

1-800-COLLECT®



44% SAVINGS

Dial 1-800-COLLECT and save up to 44%.*

*For long-distance calls. Savings based on a 3-minute AT&T operator-dialed interstate call.

CLASSIFIEDS

• Office Hours
MON. - FRI.
8-5 P.M.
Except holidays

• Phone
532-6555

• Fax
532-6236

• Or write
COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIEDS
Kansas State Collegian
Kedzie 103
Manhattan, Kan. 66506

1 DAY 20 words or less — $7
each word over 20 — $.20 per word

2 DAYS 20 words or less — $8.25
each word over 20 — $.25 per word

3 DAYS 20 words or less — $9.25
each word over 20 — $.30 per word

4 DAYS 20 words or less — $10
each word over 20 — $.35 per word

5 DAYS 20 words or less — $10.50
each word over 20 — $.40 per word
(consecutive day rate)

• FREE FOUND ADS

As a service to you, we run found ads for three days free of charge.

• HOW TO PAY

All classifieds must be paid in advance unless you have an established account with Student Publications Inc.

Cash, check, MasterCard or Visa are accepted. There is a $10 service charge on all returned checks.

We reserve the right to edit, reject or properly classify any ad.

• DEADLINES

Classified ads must be placed by noon the day before the date you want your ad to run. Classified display ads must be placed by 4 p.m. two working days prior to the date you want your ad to run.

• CANCELLATIONS

If you sell your item before your ad has expired, we will refund you for the remaining days.

You must call us before noon the day the ad is to be published.

• HEADLINES

For an extra charge, we'll put a headline above your ad to catch the reader's attention.

• CORRECTIONS

If you find an error in your ad, please call us. We accept responsibility only for the first wrong insertion.

000 BULLETIN BOARD

010

Announcements

ADVANCED FLIGHT TRAINING plus ground school for private, instrument and multi-engine ratings. K-State Flying Club approved instructor. Hugh Irvin, 539–3128.

ATTENTION ALL students!!! Grants and scholarships available from sponsors!!! No repayments, ever!!! $$$ Cash for college $$$ for information: (800)243-2435.

COLLEGE FINANCIAL AID -Student Financial Services has information on 3,400+ public and private sector funding sources. A must for anyone seeking financial aid! For information: 1-800-263-6495 ext.F57689.

DISCOVER DIVING scuba lessons, college credit, low rates, Aggie Dive Shop 539–DIVE.

FAST FUNDRAISER- RAISE $500 IN FIVE DAYS- GREEKS, GROUPS, CLUBS, MOTIVATIONAL INDIVIDUALS. FAST, EASY- NO FINANCIAL OBLIGATION. (800)862-1982 EXT. 33.

LEARN TO FLY! K-State Flying Club has five airplanes, lowest rates. For information call 539–3733.

SCUBA DIVE Dreaming of those warm nights and clear waters... Learn to dive now for spring break and summer. Classes now forming. Call David Garvin, PADI, Creative Travel and Scuba, 539–0531.

100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in housing without distinction on account of race, sex, familial status, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 587–2440.

105

For Rent- Apts. Furnished

NEXT TO campus: one-bedroom in very nice complex. Sublease rate. 539–2702 call/ message.

ONE-BEDROOM. ONE block to campus. Washer and dryer. Pets considered. 537–4947 after 6p.m.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO baths, fireplace, central air, washer and dryer, $550/ month. Water and trash included. No pets. 776-8914.

TWO-BEDROOM, ONE block east of campus. 539–6236.

110

For Rent- Apt. Unfurnished

Leasing Now For August
- Fremont Apts
- Sandstone Apts
- College Heights
- Cambridge Square

Large 2-bedroom Units.
537-9064
Weekdays:
8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Sat. 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

814 THURSTON studio apartment water/ trash paid. No pets, available now, $275. 539–6136.

AVAILABLE NOW. Leases through May. Rent negotiable. Most utilities paid. Cat ok. 537–8389, leave message please– will call as soon as possible.

AVAILABLE NOW. reduced rent through May. One, two and four-bedroom apartments. 587–0399.

GOLD KEY apartments, two-bedrooms available now, 1419 Leavenworth, starting at $450. Water and trash paid. Stove, refrigerator, washer and dryer provided. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776–3804.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom. Close to campus and City Park. $475/ month. Available immediately. 776–1771, Elaine.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT, two blocks from campus. Water and trash paid. $345 per month. For more information call Nicole at 537–1023 or Diamond Management at 537–7701.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT two-bedroom basement by campus. 537–9188. Lease until July 97 on.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE in February, 430 Vattier, $350. Water and trash paid. Stove and refrigerator. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM. $275. Across from City park. Laundry facilities. No pets. Available now. 537–7542.

ONE-BEDROOM. CLOSE to campus. Water, trash, gas paid. No pets. Available, 539–1975.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS leasing one, two and three-bedroom apartments. Two pools, hot tub, horseshoes, volleyball. 539-2951.

PARKVIEW APARTMENTS, two-bedroom available in February, 1026 Osage, $495. Water and trash paid. Stove, refrigerator and dishwasher. On-site laundry and parking provided. Built in student desk in each bedroom. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776-3804.

ROYAL TOWER Apartments, four-bedroom/ two bath available in February, $860. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances with dishwasher and microwave. Fitness room, jacuzzi, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776–3804.

STUDIO APARTMENT, one block from campus. Clean and well maintained. Call collect (913)494–2240.

STUDIO APARTMENT, one block from campus. (913)494–2240.

STUDIO APARTMENT. $215. All utilities except electricity paid. Lease and deposit required. Available now 537-7794.

THREE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. $395. Available now. 539–1713.

TWO AND Three-bedroom apartments. Close to campus. 539–1713

TWO-BEDROOM. $350/ month. Central heat, air-conditioned. No pets. WATER/ trash paid. Available now. 537–7542.

TWO-BEDROOM. $400. One-half block from campus. Central air/ central heat. Laundry facilities, water/ trash paid. No pets. Available now. 537–7542.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now, 1807 College Heights, $410. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776–3804.

WILDCAT INN one-bedroom available now and February, 925 Denison, $410. Water and trash paid. Kitchen appliances plus dishwasher, on-site laundry and parking. Newly remolded kithcens. Walk to KSU. No pets. Call MDI 776–3804.

115

Rooms Available

HALF OF trailer house. Laundry facilities, full kitchen, many extras. Quiet neighborhood, good study atmosphere. $225 a month. Call 537–4074, leave massage.

ONE-BEDROOM, TWO blocks from campus. Freshly redecorated. Washer/ dryer. 776–4130.

120

For Rent- Houses

FIVE-BEDROOM HOUSE. Off-street parking, washer/ dryer. Trash paid. Close to K-State. Lease now or May. 537–1566.

FOUR TO five-bedroom house available June 1. One block to KSU, 539–1713.

LOVELY, LARGE, well-furnished four-bedroom, two bath adjacent to campus. No smoking or pets. Stockwell Real Estate, 539–4073.

NICE FOUR-BEDROOM house. Two blocks from campus. Large living room with modern fireplace. Laundry facility. Available June 1. 537–7848

ONE, TWO, three-bedroom for non-smoking, non-drinking, no pets. 539–1554.

ONE-BEDROOM HOUSE. Two blocks from campus. No pets. $350. Desperate to rent. Available now! 565-0797.

SEVEN-BEDROOM HOUSE. Close to KSU. 539–1713.

THREE-BEDROOM BRICK house. $570 per month. 537–8430.

TWO BLOCKS from campus. Three-bedroom, eat-in kitchen, living room, dining area, freshly redecorated, washer/ dryer. Second semester bargin. $600/ month. 776–4130.

135

For Sale- Mobile Homes

1984 MOBILE home in Redbud estates; three-bedroom, two bath; all appliances include dishwasher, washer/ dryer; $12,000 negotiable; 537–7526.

TWO-BEDROOM, BATH and a half trailer in Manhattan. Includes washer/ dryer. 764-1182.

145

Roommate Wanted

$175/ MONTH plus one-half utilities. Own room in two-bedroom duplex. Available beginning January 1. 719 Leavenworth, 537–8651, leave message.

$189/ MONTH. Trash, water, and gas paid. parking. Close to campus and 'Ville. Call 587–0889. Ask for Richard or leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE lease through July. West Chester Apartments 537–8423 or (913)451–0567.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. Immediately. Nice three-bedroom house. $210/ month plus one-third utilities. Call 539–0975.

FEMALE ROOMMATE, share four-bedroom, $209/ month, one-fourth utilities, GREAT ROOMMATES! 537-6291.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. Very nice two-bedroom apartment, next to campus. Reasonable price, trash/ water paid. No smoking/ drinking/ pets. 565–9250 (leave message).

MALE WANTED for furnished basement. No smoking/ drinking/ pets, please. Walk to KSU. 539–1554.

MALE/ FEMALE roommate needed to share four-bedroom, two bath house near campus. Central air, washer/ dryer, dishwasher, $212.50/ month. All bills split. 530 Bluemont. Call Briana, (816)455-6542.

ONE TO Two-bedrooms near campus/ Aggieville. $175/ month plus utilities. Call Chris 776–3209.

PRIVATE ROOM, private bath, private entrance, private phone in house near Aggieville. Washer/ dryer, garage. $280 plus one-half utilities. Female, no smoking/ pets. 537–8564.

ROOMMATE NEEDED at 1230 Vattier- directly across from campus. Private bedroom, washer/ dryer, fireplace. $155 per month plus utilities, 539–1269.

ROOMMATE NEEDED at 824 Laramie. Private bedroom, washer, dryer provided. $185 per month plus utilities. 587–8338.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for apartment close to campus and Aggieville. Rent/ lease negotiable. One-third utilities. 537-6297.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share two-bedroom apartment. Washer/ dryer. Cats allowed, rent negotiable. Call Rhonda at 776–2788 or 537–3819.

ROOMMATE NEEDED to share nice two-bedroom mobile home in Redbud Estates. Call Guy at 539–3503, 587–5711 or e-mail at graffix@kansas.net

ROOMMATE WANTED to share two-bedroom mobile home on one wooded acre. Washer/ dryer, $225/ month all utilities paid, pets allowed, 565–9694.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share three-bedroom house. $250/ month plus one-half utilities. Washer/ dryer. Pets allowed. Fenced yard. Carrie 776–6563.

ROOMMATE WANTED. House close to campus. Own bedroom and bathroom. $215/ month plus one-fourth utilities. Call 776-3014.

ROOMMATE WANTED: One-half utilities, water/ trash paid. Very nice, $170/ month. Call 587-4645.

150

Sublease

AVAILABLE NOW! Female roommate needed to share two-bedroom apartment at Westchester Park. $244.50/ month plus one-half electricty. Call 776-8707 or 537-4666 Ext. 23. Ask for Joann.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share two-bedroom at Chase Manhattan Apartment. $297/ month plus one-half electricity. Available from March 1. Call 776-6733.

ONE-BEDROOM ONE block from campus. Abailable immediately. Wildcat Mangement 537-2332.

ONE-BEDROOM STUDIO for sublease now until August. Rent is $200. Water, trash , electric paid. Call 539–4174 or (316)231–6854.

SUMMER SUBLEASE: Very spacious two-bedroom apartment. Walk-out patio. Pool. May 20 through July 31. 776–8711.

300 EMPLOYMENT/CAREERS

310

Help Wanted

Manhattan City Ordinance 4814 assures every person equal opportunity in securing and holding employment in any field of work or labor for which he/ she is properly qualified regardless of race, sex, military status, disability, religion, age, color, national origin or ancestry. Violations should be reported to the Director of Human Resources at City Hall, 537–0056.

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232–0454.

$1500 WEEKLY potential mailing our circulars. No experience required. Begin now. For info call (301)429-1326.

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT -Fishing industry. Many earn up to $4000+/ month during peak season. Benefits often include transportation and/ or room and Board. For details: (206) 971–3510 ext-A57688.

CAMP COUNSELORS for educational camp south of Kansas City. Can lead fishing, canoeing, crafts, games, and many more activities while teaching children 8– 14 about the outdoors. Lifeguard helpful. June 7– August 10. Must be sophomore or older. $1600 plus room and board. For details, send inquiry before February 7, 1997 to Wildwood, 7095 W. 399th St., LaCygne, KS 66040.

CAMP OZARK, Christian Sports and Adventure Camp -- Seeking qualified counselors to work with boys and girls ages 8- 16. Employment terms for all or part of the summer. If remotely interested, come to our KSU informational video presentation 8:30pm, Monday, February 3 at K-State Union, Little Theater. Located Mount Ida, AR. (501)867-4131. Visit our website at www.campozark.com.

CAMP WEKEELA in Canton, Maine is hiring experienced dynamos to instruct tennis, swimming, outdoor trips, high-ropes, drama, dance, music, sailing, windsurfing, waterskiing, basketball, lacrosse, baseball, volleyball, gymnastics, soccer, horseback riding, photography, woodworking, ceramics and creative arts. Share your skills at one of the premier co-ed camps in the world. 2807 C Delmar Drive, Columbus, OH 43209 (800)959-3177.

CRUISE SHIP EMPLOYMENT -Travel the world (Hawaii, Mexico, Caribbean) and earn an excellent income in the Cruise and Land- Tour industry. For details, call 1-206-971-3550 ext.C57689.

EARN $427 plus a week at home! Write for application: Generations, Dept. KSU, P.O. Box 13486, Atlanta, GA 300324, Genmarker@aol.com

EASTERN EUROPE/ ASIAN JOBS. Live in Prague, Budapest, Tokyo, etc. teaching simple conversational English. No languages/ teaching experience required. (919)918-7767, Ext. W161.

EVENING AND WEEKEND CLASSES in hair design, ethnic hair design and nail technology. Start Feb. 4. Thousands in scholarships plus financial aid available. Free info. Call Crum's Beauty College @ 776-4794.

HIRING IMMEDIATELY! Student needed for part-time work demostrating Avery Dennison products on campus. Must be familiar with Miscrosoft Word and willing to use own personal computer with Windows software $10.00 per hour. Contact Lex Deines at 800-569-6461.

LOSE WEIGHT without dieting. Call 537–6892.

NATIONAL PARK EMPLOYMENT -National Parks hire forestry workers, park rangers, firefighters, lifeguards, + volunteer and government positions. Excellent benefits + bonus potential. Call: 1-206-971-3620 ext.N57689.

CAMP TAKAJO
for boys,
Outstanding Maine camp noted for magnificent lakefront setting and exceptional facilities. Over 100 positions for heads and assistants in tennis, baseball, basketball, soccer, lacrosse, golf, street hockey, roller hockey, swimming, sailing, canoeing, waterskiing, SCUBA, archery, riflery, weight training, journalism, photography, videography, woodworking, ceramics, crafts, drawing and painting, nature study, radio and electronics, dramatics, piano accompanist, music instrumentalist, band director, backpacking, rock climbing, whitewater canoeing, ropes course, general (w/ youngest campers), secretarial. June 16 - August 24. Top salaries, room and board, travel provided. Call 800-250-8252. Or WRITE Camp Takajo c/o Mike Sherbun 7366 Cascade Terrace Grand Rapids MI 49546. Or FAX resume to 616-954-2950. A camp representative will be in Union Room 207 Wed., Feb. 5 from 10am-4pm. Walk-ins are welcomed!

NATIONAL PARKS HIRING. Also Beach Resorts, Ranches, Rafting Co.'s. Benefits, Bonuses! Nationwide summer openings. Call (919)918-7767, ext. R161.

ORGANIST OR pianist needed for Lutheran Church Service at 8:00a.m. Please call 537–4016.

PART-TIME DELIVERY help needed. Must be available in the afternoons. Apply at Homestead Rental, 2332 Sky-Vue Lane.

PREMIERE BROTHER-SISTER CAMPS IN MASSACHUSETTS. Counselor positions for talented and energetic students as Program Specialists in all Team Sports, especially Baseball, Basketball, Roller Hockey, Gymnastics, Field Hockey, Soccer, Volleyball; 30 Tennis openings; also Golf, Archery, Riflery, Pioneering/ Overnight Camping, Ropes and Rock Climbing, Weights/ Fitness and Cycling; other openings include Performing Arts, Fine Arts, Figure Skating, Newspaper, Photography, Yearbook, Radio Station, and Rocketry; All Waterfront/ Pool Activities (Swimming, Skiing, Sailing, Windsurfing, Canoeing/ Kayaking). Top salaries, room, board and travel. June 22nd- August 20th. Inquire: MAH-KEE-NAC (Boys): 1-800-753-9118. DANBEE (Girls): 1-800-392-3752.

SUMMER JOBS!!! Camp Birchwood and Gunflint Wilderness camp, two of Minnesota finest summer camps, seek college students to work as counselors and instructors. Activities include: Horseback riding (english & western), Sailing, Wilderness trips, tennis, arts & crafts, rifle, archery and more. Working with kids in a camp setting, is a chance to be part of something significant. Employment begins June 6th to August 12th or 22nd. For an application and to schedule an interview call (800)451–5270.

TIMBER LAKE/ TYLER HILL CAMPS. Top NY and PA resident camps have over 200 summer job openings for qualified students and faculty. Counselors, WSI, Arts, Athletics Specialists and more!!! Best salaries and travel allowance in addition to "the finest summer you'll ever have." On campus interview Thursday, February 6th. Call Career and Employment Services at 532–6506 for an application and an interview appointment.

WANTED 100 students. Lose 5- 100 pounds. New metabolism breakthrough. RN assisted, free gift. $35 fee. (800)579-1634.

ZAP YOUR ZITS. Have the complexion you've always wanted! New Bio-Tech program. No animal ingredients or testing. Guaranteed results. 539–7336.

330

Business Opportunities

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment/Career classification. Readers are advised to approach any such business opportunity with reasonable caution. The Collegian urges our readers to contact the Better Business Bureau, 501 SE Jefferson, Topeka, KS 66607-1190. (913)232–0454.

Be Your Own Boss Earn $$$
IHI
Revolutionary New DIRECT SALES PLAN
- Ground Floor
- Fortune 500 Leadership
- Product EVERYONE Wants!

Call
1-800-231-6525
Independent Sales Representative

WORK FROM home. Twenty second commute! Serious income potential working from home. We provide training and support via revolutionary system. Call (toll free) 1-888-444-6242 for overview. Then call us live at 776-5429.

000 BULLETIN BOARD

410

Items for Sale

BEER SIGNS, tools, books, furniture, estate jewelry, antiques, collectibles, thousands of curious goods. Time Machine Antique Maul and Flea Market. 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539–4684.

CABLE DESCRAMBLER kit $14.95. See ALL the channels (313)523-2769.

BUY SELL TRADE
Video Games & Computer CD Roms
PLAYSTATION, SEGA, NINTENDO, ETC.
GAME GUY
709 N. 12th
Aggieville
537-0989
www.flinthills.com/~gameguy

FIRST ANNIVERSARY Sale for Cash Pawn and Gun. Selling cd's $2 and $3 each. Movies for $4 each. Cassette tapes for $0.75 each. Sega and Super NES Systems for$49.00. 10% off all Spiderco knives. 20% off a large selection of items store wide. Lowest priced guns and jewelry. We buy sell and trade. Have money to loan. 1917 Fort Riley Blvd., 776–3332.

NEED TO sell two Metallica tickets. Call 537–3396.

415

Furniture to Buy/Sell

COMPUTER DESK with desk light and printer cart $45. Call 776–9847 after 7 p.m.

430

Antiques

TIME MACHINE Antique Maul and Flea Market 7000 square feet, 4910 Skyway Dr. between Briggs and airport. 539–4684.

435

Computers

100MHZ PENTIUM system. Sound, mic, modem, CDRom, 1Gb HD, 24mb, RAM, 2Mb video, monitor, keyboard, mouse, Win95, $1150. 587–8560.

FREE- PACKARD Bell 286 computer with $250 purchase of 1994 USIT monitor. Call Amy @ 537–1442 before 9p.m.

INTERKAN.NET: MANHATTAN'S newest Internet Service Provider. Free setup software. Monthly rates: 10 hours @ $5, 30 hours @ $7.50, 90 hours @ $10, 200 hours @ $17.50. http://www.interkan.net or 565–0991.

MAC CLASSIC II Computer with personal laser writer printer $700. Todd 537–6851.

MACINTOSH PERFORMA 450 MS Word, Clarisworks, Aldus pageMaker, 5.0 Quicken StyleWriter II printer, modem $650 negotiable, 776–3244.

445

Music Instruments

DRUM SET for sale. Black Remo four-piece. Excellent condition. Call Brian 539–0870.

WELCOME BACK to The Music Co.! Best prices on new and used instruments and accessories. No pressure sales, we try to get what you need. Straight down 17th st from K-state Union, in the Midtown Plaza, 539–1958.

450

Pets and Supplies

REPTILE SALE! Lots of new reptiles! Mantella Frogs, Pac Man Frogs, Uromastyx, Water Dragons, Giant Leaf Tail Gecko, Egyptian Dwarf Gecko, Leopard Gecko, Rock Pythons, Scorpions, Tarantulas and much more! Only at Animal House Pets 210 N.4th. 537–6111. Sale ends Sunday.

460

Stereo Equipment

ALPINE CD Changer with remote, excellent condition. 539–4058.

HI-FI HOME stereo system: Receiver, dual cassette deck, CD player, timer, equalizer, reverb, three-way speakers, turntable, accessories. Excellent condition, great price! 537–4512.

MAGNAVOX HOME stereo for sale, sounds good and it's in great shape. For more information call Ken 537–1621.

465

Tickets to Buy/Sell

TWO MARYLIN MANSON floor tickets for Friday Feb. 7th in K.C. Highest bidder takes 'em. Call Dave at 776–9016.

500 TRANSPORTATION

510

Automobiles

1981 VW Rabbit AM/FM cassette. New alternator and battery. Runs good. 116,000 plus miles, $950 or best offer, 537–3925.

1985 HONDA Civic, five-speed, lots of new parts, $1300. 1983 Toyota Corolla automatic high miles runs great, $800. 532–7855 leave message.

1985 MERCURY Lynx, four-doors, white, air-conditioned, automatic, good school car. Asking $950. 539–7508.

1990 T-BIRD SC, white. Automatic, ABS, leather seats, sunroof, nice sound system. Looks and runs like new. 87K. $6400. Call Isaku 587-9548.

1994 JEEP Wrangler, white/ black soft-top, six-cylinder, low mileage, excellent condition, extra's. $15,000. 776-6449.

1987 CHRYSLER LeBaron GTS. Looks good. Runs well. $1200. 539–2146.

DODGE SHADOW ES Turbo. Good gas mileage, perfect condition, power everything. $3250. 776–1507.

FOR SALE: 1983 Z-28 Cross-fire Camero. Charcoal gray. Tinted windows. Looks and runs good, 93,000 miles. 587-4152.

OLDSMOBILE, TORONADO 1984. 108K miles, many options, very nice car, $2775 or best offer. Must sell. 587–0121.

WWW.SUPERIOR-ACURA.COM Pictures of pre-owned vehicles on the web. Many makes and models. (800)875–ACURA.

000 TRAVEL/TRIPS

610

Tour Package

CANCUN- PADRE- MAZATLAN SPRING BREAK'S HOTTEST! 1-800-328-7513 Free food, drink and party special!?! Up To $200 discount Coupons on our Website www.studentadvtrav.com.

WE KICK ADS
Advertise with the Collegian

Now Leasing
"Stay in class at the University"
UNIVERSITY APARTMENTS
2215 COLLEGE AVE
CALL 539-0500
FOR MORE INFORMATION
Leasing '97-'98 School Year
539-0500

Meet your match

Want to meet that cute guy in your anatomy class? Advertise in the Collegian personals. Only $8.85 for up to 20 words. You'll meet your match in no time.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
103 Kedzie (east of the Union) 532-6555

CLASSIFIEDS DIRECTORY

000 BULLETIN BOARD
200 SERVICE DIRECTORY
000 BULLETIN BOARD
TRAVEL/TRIPS
100 HOUSING/REAL ESTATE
300 EMPLOYMENT/CAREERS
500 TRANSPORTATION

To place your classified, call 532-6555

AOL agrees to refunds for irate customers

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Threatened with lawsuits across the country, America Online agreed Wednesday to give refunds to customers who haven't been able to log on because of the overwhelming demand created by AOL's flat $19.95-a-month rate.

Customers will be offered either cash or a month of free service. AOL had no immediate estimate of how much the settlement will cost.

However, if every member were able to get a full refund for the two months, a highly unlikely scenario, the agreement would cost America Online about $320 million.

The settlement was reached with 36 state attorneys general but applies to all 8 million of AOL's customers nationwide. Several of the states had threatened to sue America Online unless it promised refunds.

The nation's largest online service also agreed to make it easier for dissatisfied customers to cancel and said it will suspend its advertising for a month.

America Online, based in Dulles, Va., previously said it was selectively giving refunds. But it had refused to give blanket reimbursements.

The states had complained that AOL signed up hundreds of thousands of new customers without the means to accommodate the heavy usage.

Some computer users trying to get online have gotten busy signals for hours on end.

"Under the consumer fraud laws of this state and many other states, you can't offer something to a subscriber and then not be able to deliver," Illinois Attorney General James Ryan said.

AOL chief executive Steve Case acknowledged that the company underestimated its ability to handle the increased usage. The company previously said it plans to spend $350 million by June on new equipment and staff to handle the demand.

Analysts viewed the settlement as a necessary move by America Online to get past a barrage of negative publicity at a time when its online service is threatened by people's easy access to the Internet.

"A long, drawn-out litigation would inevitably distract management at a time when AOL needs to critically focus on the right mix of gaining new customers and retaining existing customers in the threat of the wild frontier of the Internet," said Peter Kastner, an analyst at Boston-based Aberdeen Group.

America Online stock shot up 5.7 percent, or $2 a share, to $37.25 on the New York Stock Exchange.

In addition to the busy signals, AOL users have also seen a recent rash of technical glitches such as e-mail brownouts that occurred while America Online was trying to upgrade its network to accommodate the new users.

Refunds will be based on how much a customer was able to access AOL during December and January.

Customers will get a full refund for each month in which they connected for less than two hours. Customers who used less than eight hours during the two months will get back 50 percent.

People who connected for more than eight hours but less than 15 will receive 25-percent refunds. Anyone who used more than 15 hours will not be eligible for a refund.

Instead of a refund, a customer can make a written request for a free month of service.

AOL will suspend advertising during February and add a disclaimer to ads thereafter warning that people may encounter delays logging on.

In addition, the company agreed to make it easier for unhappy online customers to drop out, including adding more phone operators, more lines for faxed cancellations and detailed online instructions.

This space for rent.

Really.

Contact the Collegian advertising staff for details on how to place an ad.
532-6560

Multi-Engine Flight Training
• Twin Comanche w/HSI, RMI, GPS
• 6,500-Hour ATP Instructor
• Reasonable Rates
• Hugh Irvin
539-3128

Winston Place Apartments
"The Place You Can Come Home To"
Spacious studio, one and two bedroom apartments
•Water/Trash Paid
•Small Pets OK
•Pool/Weight Room
•Laundry on-site
539-9339
Kimball & Seaton Avenue

MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR
3 doors up the alley from Downtown Burger King
$ 1.00 OFF
FOR EACH PAIR OF HEELS
Expires February 15, 1997
(Good only at 315 B Poyntz Location)
Tuesday thru Friday 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Saturday 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.
315 B Poyntz - Back Door Manhattan, KS 776-1193
Vibram Authorized Dealer
•One Coupon Per Customer
•Must Present With Shoes
•Void With Other Offers

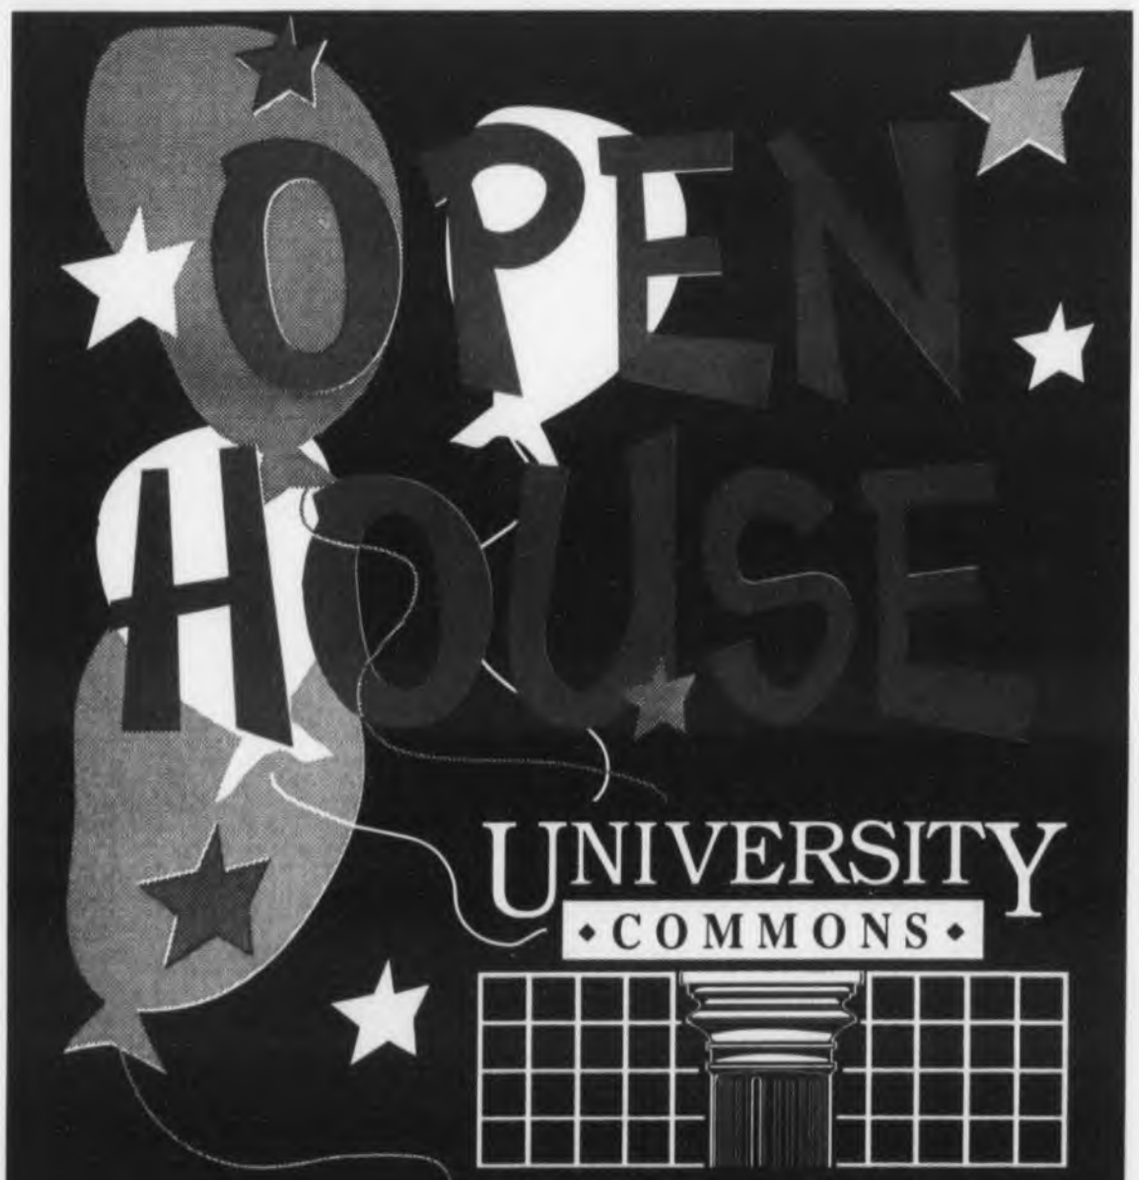
FAX SERVICE
If you really should have mailed it yesterday
Claflin Books and Copies

SAVE BIG $$$
On Closeout Cannondale, Schwinn, Specialized Bianchi and Raleigh Bikes
the PATHFINDER 539-5639 304 Poyntz

Ramblers STEAK HOUSE & SALOON
Thursday Night Steak Special
12 oz. USDA Choice Top Sirloin
Baked Potato
Salad
Texas Toast
$5.99
$1 Draws
East Hiway 24 & State Lake Rd.

AMERICA'S #1 STUDENT TOUR OPERATOR
SPRING BREAK '97
Cancun from $399
Jamaica from $429
Florida from $119
Book with Creative Travel and receive $50 off SCUBA certification!!!
SPACE IS LIMITED SO CALL TODAY!!!
STS STUDENT TRAVEL SERVICES
1344 Ashton Rd. Hanover, MD 21076
http://ststravel.com/
CALL CREATIVE TRAVEL @ 539-0531

Sigma Kappa Congratulates Its New Officers



President	Amanda Perdaris
Vice President	Amy Carpenter
Vice President of Pledge Education	Malinda Settle
Assistant Pledge Educators	Kim Willingham, Megan Thomann
Vice President of Membership	Suzanne Jones
Vice President of Alumni Relations	Amanda Denny
Recording Secretary	Anne Johnston
Assistant Recording Secretary	Stacey Bohn
Treasurer	Janelle Koman
Assistant Treasurer	Kelly Arvin
Senior Panhellenic Representative	Lindsay Cochran
Junior Panhellenic Representative	April Spence
Continuing Open Bidding	Jody Mathews
Ritual	Karoline Jarr
Parent's Club	Amy Christner
Parlimentarian	Jody Nicewonger
Sisterhood	SusanNeumann
Social	Sarah Jones
Assistant Social	Jennifer Healy
Activities	Kim Essig
Public Relations	Cait Purinton
Historian	Sandra Prieto
Philanthropies	Lindsey Elliott
Corresponding Secretary	Christen Hornback
Intermurals	Lori Miller
House Manager	Kimberly Kasper
Assistant House Manager	Ashley Swift
Triangle Correspondent	Mindy Whistler
Foundation	Laurie Lovitch
Designated Driver	Melissa Crotts, Kristi Gier
GAMMA Representatives	Tosha Whitfield, Kristi Davis
Participation	Courtney Stewart
Out of House	Melanie Thoman
Song Chair	Susan Wilson

SIGMA KAPPA SORORITY
ΣK

Pregnancy Testing Center
539-3338
•Free pregnancy testing
•Totally confidential service
•Same day results
•Call for appointment
Located across from campus in Anderson Village
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

MONO
Have you had mononucleosis within the last month? If so, your plasma could make a valuable contribution to research and earn you $50 at the same time. You may qualify to $$$ incentives for the second donation in a week.
For more information call
Manhattan Biomedical Center
776-9177
1130 Gardenway
NABI

JOB OPPORTUNITIES
AT THE ACADEMIC AND CAREER INFORMATION CENTER
for students interested in helping other students starting the Fall semester.
REQUIREMENTS:
✓ Satisfactory academic standing with a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.75
✓ A team worker with good communication skills
✓ Ability to work with minimum supervision
✓ Time commitment of at least eight hours per week
MUST ATTEND ONE INFORMATIONAL MEETING
Mon. Feb. 3, 3:30-4:30 p.m., Holton Room 1
Tues Feb. 4, 6-7 p.m., Holton Room 1
For more information call 532-7494

Fully furnished
Computer lab, copier, fax available
2& 4 bedroom apartments
Individual leases/private bedrooms
Fully equipped kitchen
Full size washer & dryer
Electronic alarm system
Fire protection monitor
Swimming pool & hot tub
Pool tables, fittness room
Basketball, volleyball, tennis
Free reserved parking
★2215 COLLEGE AVENUE
539-0500
Hours: M-F 9-6, Sat 10-4, Sun 1-5

THURSDAY JAN 30
Live Music at Last Chance
Back Porch Mary
Rusty's LAST CHANCE SALOON
• 50¢ off Imports
• 25¢ Burgers from 5-8
1209 Moro • Aggieville